RURAL AID LAW HELD INVALID

Four Cities Seek Andrews Roads

INJUNCTION GRANTED

Hundreds Of Schools In State Face Being Closed

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 25. (AP)—A temporary injunction restraining the state from using the $5,000,000 Texas rural school aid fund, which had been sought by Mrs. Louise Mumme of Medina county, was granted here today by Judge R. B. Minor.

The ruling held that the rural aid bill was unconstitutional and that it violated the state and federal constitutions. It further was ruled that it denied constitutional rights to a taxpayer.

Notice of appeal was given.

AUSTIN, Jan. 25. (AP)—Several thousand students will be forced from high schools and several hundred rural schools must shut down as a result of the injunction granted in San Antonio today. L. W. Rogers, first assistant state superintendent, said the state was enjoined from spending the $5,000,000 appropriation for rural aid made by the 41st legislature, for the current biennium.

Rogers said that all those schools which had used their district funds

Big Spring high school has approximately 80 students from other districts whose tuition, under terms of the rural aid law, is paid to the city schools by the state. If the law is held unconstitutional approximately $45 for each of these pupils will be lost by the local system, said Supt. W. C. Blankenship on being informed of the San Antonio court's decision.

Effect of the decision upon rural schools of Howard county was expected to be more serious.

and the regular staff apportionment of $17.50 per pupil and which were depending on appropriations from the enjoined fund would have to shut down.

The whole rural aid division of the department is paralyzed by the decision," he said, "since all salaries in it come from this fund."

He estimated the number of schools affected at 3,600.

The legislature made the special appropriation to supplement the regular school funds in order that all schools of the state might be guaranteed a term of six and one-half months. The department planned to use $2,500,000 of the fund this year, an approximately $500,000 of it had been spent.

"It complicates matters for those districts which have been sending pupils to other high schools, depending on that fund for the tuition fees," said Rogers. "The payment by the state has not been made, it having been the plan to pay at the end of the term."

Teachers' Meeting Date Advanced

The regular monthly meeting of the Howard county teachers' association originally scheduled for the second Saturday in February has been advanced one week to Feb. 1, next Saturday, according to announcement from Pauline Cantrell, superintendent of county schools.

Fact that the county basketball tournament is scheduled for the second week-end in February caused the advancement of meeting date to permit teachers who may have teams entered in the Saturday games or who may be interested in seeing the final game to attend. To delay the meeting until the third week-end in February conflicted with the district basketball tournament to be held in Big Spring Friday and Saturday, Feb. 14 and 15.

The Rev. Carson Taylor, who was scheduled for the principal address of the evening, is out of the city and a substitute speaker will be on the program next Saturday, Miss Cantrell said.

Boy Of 14 Hangs Himself At Wink

MIDLAND, Texas, Jan. 25. (AP)—John Roselle, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Roselle of Wink, was found hanging in a clothes closet at his home today. Neighbors said they had heard the boy whistling in the yard late this afternoon.

A doctor's inquest rendered a verdict of suicide.

Chicago's "Mrs. Snyder" Freed

Although the state unexpectedly demanded the death penalty for the murder of her husband, Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien, who went on trial at Chicago, only 36 hours after her alleged lover, Samuel Howard Dorr, had been sentenced to life imprisonment in the same courtroom she was acquitted Friday. The two were alleged to have conspired to kill Mrs. O'Brien's husband, in another Snyder-Gray case. Above, Mrs. O'Brien is shown with her attorneys, Samuel Hoffman, left, and Charles Dougherty, right. Below, in court.

Sentiment For Marriage License Rapidly Dwindling

The marriage license has lost its sentimental value, it would seem from announcements made by employes in the office of the Howard county clerk.

About half of the marriage licenses issued are never called for after the ceremony when they are returned to the office of the county clerk, by the person performing the ceremony.

Persons deem it sufficient proof of wedlock if the record is kept in the office of the clerk, they say.

The recently passed new marriage law in Texas has some effect on the number of marriage licenses issued here, with only about a ten percent falling off from records of past years. Howard county is some distance from the state boundary and only a few couples can spare the time and expense of avoiding the requirements of the new law by obtaining licenses in other states.

Nearly all couples who take out an intention to marry, return for the license, according to those in the office of the county clerk. In fact, the county clerk has no record of a couple failing to carry out their intention to wed, once the preliminary step has been taken, at least three days before time of the ceremony.

Dwelling Burns; Autoists Fail To Obey Ordinance

The home of T. S. Wilkins at 1100 East Third Street, near Camp Coleman, was partially destroyed by fire which originated at 8 o'clock Saturday night. The alarm was received at the Big Spring fire department station in the city hall at 8 o'clock and the fire apparatus was out more than one hour.

Roof of the dwelling was totally destroyed and the interior and contents of the house was severely damaged by water from two hose connections necessary to control the blaze. A stiff breeze whipping flames from one portion of the house to another caused firemen some trouble in extinguishing the blaze. Mr. Wilkins said insurance partially covered the loss.

After the fire Saturday night, Police Chief Harry Lees condemned the motoring public that disregards ordinance to stop when the fire whistle is sounded. Chief Lees predicted serious accidents will occur in Big Spring if drivers do not heed the law to park when the fire warning is sounded.

AWARDING OF VIADUCT JOB IS POSTPONED

ENGINEER IS UNABLE TO COMPLETE PLANS BY FEBRUARY 24

Announcement made here Friday that contract for construction of the second railroad viaduct crossing on Benton street would be let Feb. 24, was postponed Saturday by a telegram from E. F. Mitchell of Dallas, chief engineer for the Texas and Pacific railroad company.

In asking that a delay announcement be issued, Mr. Mitchell stated detailed plans on which bids must be based can not be completed before March 1. A rough sketch of the project is already completed and has been endorsed by Howard county, the city of Big Spring and the Texas and Pacific railroad company.

Detailed description of the viaduct will include strength of materials, exact dimensions of steel and concrete footings, the required mixtures and other items. The engineering department drawing plans has not had sufficient time to compute the detailed figuring necessary.

The telegram received by H. R. Debenport, Howard county judge, read: "As detail plans on which bids must be based Benton Street viaduct not yet made and can not be completed before March 1, request you cancel notice to bidders."

"In no way does this message mean that plans are abandoned for the project," said Judge Debenport. "It simply means that a slight delay will be experienced. Howard county has funds available to pay cash for its 35 per cent of construction cost. There will be no warrants issued and as soon as the Texas and Pacific engineering staff has completed detailed plans, the viaduct bids will be received and opened in the shortest time permissible by law," he said.

McDowells Sell Six Hundred Steers

L. S. McDowell and Son of Big Spring, operators of a large, modern ranch south of the city, have just sold to the Standard Livestock Commission company of Kansas City and Wichita Falls 600 head of coming one and two-year-old steers at $55 per head for the coming one and $75 per head for the coming two.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Dave Shado, New York, outpointed Joe Roche, San Francisco, (10).

COALITION IS FORMED

Big Spring, Midland, Lamesa And Stanton Represented

Four delegations representing Big Spring, Stanton, Lamesa and Midland chambers of commerce appealed to the Andrews county commissioners' court Friday afternoon for assistance in obtaining rights-of-way and construction of highways to the Andrews county line in three directions.

Lamesa, northeast of Andrews, Big Spring, directly east, and Midland, southeast all sought routes from the Andrews county seat.

Big Spring There Big Spring was represented by the members of the chamber of commerce highway committee composed of R. L. Cook, Joye Fisher, G. R. Porter, M. H. Morrison, and Buck Richardson. During the discussion of proposed routes, Paul T. Vickers, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, is reported to have offered Andrews county commissioners $1,000 for the purpose of securing and constructing a highway southeast from Andrews to Midland. After the information reached the Big Spring delegation, Mr. Cook placed a higher premium on the road by offering the commissioners' court anything they needed to build the road. He told Andrews county commissioners, in behalf of the Big Spring citizenship and chamber of commerce highway committee, that an attorney to condemn land and secure easements would be furnished if desired.

Lamesa asked that a road be constructed from the city of Andrews to the northeastern portion of Andrews county, through university lands, which would be joined by a highway from Lamesa in Dickinson county.

Get Together Big Spring, Stanton and Lamesa finally formed a coalition and agreed on a common highway location from the city of Andrews to the county line which will be intersected by similar highways from both Lamesa and this city.

Martin county, represented by members of the commissioners' court and the Stanton Chamber of Commerce, agreed with Lamesa and Big Spring on one highway directly east from Andrews leading to the Woodward school house in western Martin county.

There was no definite decision returned by Andrews county commissioners, but members of the court promised to consider the question immediately, study the proposed routes, the feasibility of construction and to render a decision as soon as possible.

Pastors' Meeting Scheduled Monday

Pastors of every church in Big Spring are asked to meet in the Chamber of Commerce offices at 2 p. m. Monday for a discussion of a practical method of handling charity work here.

Meriwether Finishes Underreaming Work

Drilling was to be resumed Sunday or Monday from a total depth of 1,755 feet in Meriwether Oil Company's No. 1 Smith, semi-wildcat test in southern Howard county, three miles north of the Coffee-Phillips pool in northern Glasscock county.

Operators had some underreaming work to do before drilling could be started. Six inch casing is being carried from 1,600 feet. The first salt water was encountered in the well at 1,730 feet. Some believed the salt water an accurate check, in which case No. 1 Smith is said to be running approximately 30 feet higher than Glasscock Brothers' No. 1 Edwards and about five feet lower than most producers in the Coffee-Phillips pool. The well is located 150 feet from the south line and 2,400 feet from the west line of section 45, block 25, township 2 south, T&P Ry. Co. survey.

FIRST PICTURE OF BUS CRASH, FATAL TO ELEVEN

There was a piercing whistle, a deafening crash, the screams of mangled children, the grind of mighty brakes... and another unguarded railroad crossing had claimed its toll. This picture shows the wreckage of a school bus in which 10 children and the driver met death when it was struck by a fast New York Central train near Berea, Ohio, 15 miles from Cleveland. Wreckage and bodies were hurled for many feet. It is believed that frozen moisture on the windshield blinded John Taylor, the driver, and he failed to see the oncoming train.

University May Be Exempt From Land Suits

AUSTIN, Jan. 25. (AP)—Exemption for the University of Texas from all suits against it as the owner of oil lands was seen here tonight by Assistant Attorney General R. D. Cox, Jr., in the affirmation Thursday of the appeal which was taken from Ector county to the El Paso court of civil appeals in the suit of York vs. Alley.

He based his opinion on the fact that the decision places the ownership of all such lands with the state of Texas, and not with the University or its regents. The regents hold the funds in trust for the state.

METCALFE TO RUN AGAIN

ACTIVITIES IN FIRST TERM LISTED BY 91ST DISTRICT MEMBER

In a letter accompanying a formal statement in which he announced he would, following receipt of a petition signed by many citizens of the district, offer for election to the lower house of the state legislature for a second term Penrose B. Metcalfe of San Angelo, representing the 91st district, comprising Glasscock, Howard, Sterling, Reagan, Irion and Tom Green counties, told The Herald he was anxious to do his best toward effecting passage in the present called session of a bill providing remuneration to farmers in the pink bollworm restricted district for losses incurred because of the rules.

He also pledged his best efforts toward obtaining an appropriation for a stock feeding project at the local government farm experiment station.

Both bills, however, must be submitted to the special session by the governor, who has expressed willingness to submit such local or territorial bills as soon as prison relocation and fee system reform have been disposed of.

Mr. Metcalfe's formal statement follows:

The petitions which appeared in Thursday's San Angelo Standard and other newspapers of the 91st district, signed by many citizens of the district, together with numerous requests which have come to me from persons all over the district indicating that the service which I have rendered this section has met with approval of my constituents are very much appreciated.

In compliance with the request of so many citizens, not only here, but throughout the district, that I represent them a second term, I have decided to announce my candidacy for re-election, subject of course to the Democratic primaries next July.

Service in the forty-first legislature has been of a peculiarly test-ful one. I have had the opportunity to visit many of the most important sections of the state, and to see the conditions of the people in various parts of the state. I have also had the opportunity to see the work of the various departments of the state government, and to see the work of the various agencies of the state government.

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

Well, well. The City Federation has stepped right out and voted to begin at once preparations to sponsor a sure-enough all-city celebration that will offer entertainment not only to local people but draw thousands from throughout West Texas.

And, when we get those thousands here we'll have a chance to show a lot of the kind of folks it helps to have in a town just what kind of a town we have.

That feature, however, will not be so important as will be the chance of getting all our own people together on one big, all-city project in which there will be plenty of fun, and profit.

Now, what are we going to call this celebration?

Will it be the Big Spring Cotton-Oil Carnival or something like that or what?

That's just what you're going to get a chance to say.

From now until February 15 The Herald will receive, for the City Federation and other organizations that are expected to join it in putting the thing over, suggestions of a name for the celebration.

These suggestions will be turned over to a central committee appointed from various organizations.

To the person who suggests the name adopted will go a cash prize of $25.

How's that?

All right. Let 'em come. Mail your suggestions to the CONTEST EDITOR, care of The Herald.

This program, it is planned, will extend over several days. It will employ hundreds of local people, old and young, in various feature attractions. For one thing, hundreds of school children will appear. It will be Home Town Mardi Gras if you please.

REAL ESTATE BOARD HERE REORGANIZED

F. A. MILLER, PRESIDENT, 26 PERSONS ATTEND MEETING

Reorganization of the Big Spring Real Estate Board was made possible Friday evening when 26 persons answered the summons to a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office.

F. H. Miller was elected president of the reorganized body, M. N. Meiner was elected vice-president and Mrs. W. A. Earnest was made secretary-treasurer, the position she formerly held before the former real estate board was disbanded.

The board of directors is composed of Fox Striplin, B. F. Robbins, R. F. Scheig, H. Clay Read and Rube S. Martin. So enthusiastic was the response to the called meeting that those present predicted a live organization would be developed immediately and plans to affiliate with the national board of realtors were talked at the first assembly.

The meeting was called by C. T. Watson, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce to discuss means of effective advertising for the city and for the agricultural possibilities of Howard county. Several made suggestions along advertising lines, but the general trend of discussion led to an optimistic future outlook in the market for city property and farming lands in this county. Mr. Robbins, one of the directors elected, told of a trip he has just completed through middle western and northern cities and told Big Spring real estate dealers that he passed through only one city on the entire trip that seemed on a par with Big Spring for business activity and general building projects.

Officers and directors of the reorganized board will meet Tuesday evening in the offices of Cook & Scheig in the Petroleum Building.

The first regular meeting of the entire group will be held next

Salvation Army To Administer Fund For Charity

The balance of the 1929 Christmas Goodfellow Fund subscribed by local people for charity work at that time, amounting to $501.38, has been turned over to the local unit of the Salvation Army. It has been announced by F. C. Scott, who is in charge here of that organization. The action was taken by the Goodfellow central committee by consent of local organizations which led the campaign to raise the fund.

This money will be spent entirely in Big Spring for charitable purposes after thorough investigation of each case by Mr. and Mrs. Scott, they declared. They reside at 1604 Young street.

Mr. Scott also announced that a Salvation Army meeting, under direction of Envoy Self, "The Georgia Firecracker," will be held here beginning February 4. This meeting will have no connection with charity work made possible by the $501 fund.

Steve D. Ford, general treasurer of the Goodfellow organization holds the order for the action taken by the central committee.

Oil Compromise May Be Reached

HOUSTON, Jan. 25. (AP)—Possibility of a compromise between independent oil operators in the mid-continent fields and the refiners on the price of crude was predicted by oil men after a committee meeting here yesterday with W. S. Farish, president of the Humble Oil and Refining Company.

The committee was named by the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

Farish would not discuss the meeting, but it was reported the subject under discussion was the recent cut in prices of crude oil to producers by the Humble Company.

LONDON ACTRESS TO WEAR QUEEN VICTORIA'S HOSE

LONDON (AP).—A pair of Queen Victoria's stockings are soon to make their London stage debut. The hose, which are of a delicate old ivory shade and of very fine silk with an open-work lace design down the front, will be worn by Renee Kelly when she opens in the lead part of "Almost a Honey-moon."

They were given to Walter Ellis, producer of the play, by a relative who held a position in the royal household during Queen Victoria's lifetime.

PORTUGUESE WOMEN TAKE POSTS IN MEN'S DOMAIN

Hundreds of girl students are graduated every year from the country's universities and join men in professions, hitherto held exclusively by them.

SPORTS ON PARADE

HAM SANDWICHES

What's this old saying about breads cast upon the waters will return in the form of ham sandwiches? Well, to make a long story short, we made a few caustic remarks last Wednesday about Colorado fans that indulged in the favorite small town sport of hissing and booing a visiting basketball player while in the act of trying for point after a personal foul.

WE WONDER

What was the matter with Captain Buren Edwards? That question was on the lips of two or three hundred basketball fans that attended both Cisco-Steers games the past week end. Frankly, we are no mind reader and, consequently do not know just why Cap Edwards failed to show his usual form, but we rather imagine the boy was suffering some ailment.

MAY BE NEEDED

What happened Friday and Saturday nights in the high school gymnasium may be the very thing that will make something of our Steers. If the boys had become a little chesky and if they were inclined to think they were getting pretty fair, all such ideas should be buried deep under the family wood pile by this morning.

WORK CUT OUT

The glowing mistakes that appeared in the two memorable battles with Cisco should help Coach Stevens and Brown in their practice campaigns this next week. There must be a quick breaking offense. This business of making one long pass from a floor guard to a forward or center waiting under the basket for a short shot will not work against a team that's playing heads-up basketball.

PROPER SYSTEM

Cisco made pass after pass with in the Steer foul line and finally succeeded in getting men in the clear for open shots. That's the type of game that must be developed by Big Spring if the boys expect to go beyond the county finals.

SWAPPING MEN

Another mistake that was committed frequently against Cisco Friday and Saturday nights was the unfortunate practice of guards swapping men. Sippy Smith was perhaps the most guilty offender for his experience should teach him that such is a grave error.

LON CHANEY

One of the most amusing parts of the recent Cisco series, (oh, yes there is always something amusing happens regardless of the final score) was the assortment of expressions on the countenance of Leonard (Slime) Hill, Cisco coach.

LOBOES SWEEP STEER SERIES

VISITORS' SHARP PASSING SMOTHERS LOCALS IN LAST BOUT HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

A mesmerized Steer basketball club fluttered under its sublime undefeated pinnacle like a wounded bird Friday and Saturday nights as a sharp passing band of Big Dam Lobos from Cisco, including Captain Ray, the sweetest guard looked upon this season, administered two sound thrashings 23 to 20 Friday night and 35 to 19 Saturday night. Fortunately for the Steers the series ended with the latter score.

Perhaps the impressive 13 under the word "won" on the all-time Steer record in the local gymnasium, had its share in the domestics' downfall. Three factors contributed to the dual defeat suffered from Cisco. First, there was too much Captain Ray, backbone of the Lobos' machine and a second team all-state basketball guard last year.

In the first game Friday night, the Steers started off with a rush piling up 12 points to Cisco's four when the initial quarter closed. Soon after the second quarter was underway, Cisco shaved the lead to one field goal and finally pulled up alongside the faltering domestics at the half. The nip and tuck battle continued through the third period which ended 17 each. Then Captain Ray, who works better under pressure than when the going is more simple, started his orgy of sinking field goals. He was finally ruled from the game, but it was too late then for the Steers to recuperate.

Saturday's game was about the same, only more so. The local quietest never had a look in during the final game. At one stage of the contest Big Spring stood within four points of the flying Lobos, but thereafter never threatened a gradual increasing lead.

Elmer Pardue turned in a brilliant exhibition of basket shooting Friday night amassing a total of five field goals and two free tosses, but he received no support from his mates and consequently the combined efforts of five Lobos from the Big Dam city could not be denied. Pardue's exhibition Saturday night was nearly as poor as that of the previous evening was good.

Ability to hit the hoop from the foul mark really won Friday's game for Cisco as the Steers connected only four times for the grants points out of 14 tries. On the other hand Cisco converted seven of its free chances out of a possible 13. The longhorned tribe improved its free throwing Saturday evening hitting the ring 11 times out of a possible 17 while the Lobos registered 6 points out of 14 trials.

Hogged The Show This Captain Ray referred to numerous times above, hogged the show Saturday night with five field goals and six free throws that were perfect. He faltered only one time from the wide black line. Buster Bell, a regular forward of last season's club, who has spent most of the time this year on the bench, copped what little glory there was left for the Steers after Ray filled his pockets.

Details of the two and yarns appears below:

Polish Runner Wins Match In American Debut

BOSTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Stanislaw Petkiewicz, the Polish runner, made his bow to the American track public here tonight by winning the Leo Larabee invitation two mile run, the feature event, of the Knights of Columbus Proul memorial games from a mediocre field of 16 starters.

His time was slow, nine minute 39 2-5 seconds, for the 24 laps. The Polish runner who defeated Paavo Nurmi at Berlin last summer, had one worthy opponent, Russell E. Jellison, of the Boston A. A. who pressed him hard for 22 laps. When less than two laps from the tape Petkiewicz spurred strongly and had a quarter lap lead on Jellison when he broke the tape.

The Pole, who ran the entire race on his heels, appeared to possess plenty of power and strength. His style, however, was decidedly unimpressive. The sensation of the meet was Bernard McCaferly of Holy Cross who raced a thrilling 440 yards to win the William C. Pout memorial trophy from an impressive field.

Cauliflower Followers Scramble For Poke At Giant Primo Carnera

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—The business of fighting Primo Carnera, regardless of the outcome, threatens to develop a "Nouvea Riche" among the aimless wanderers in cauliflower patches from Maine to Mexico.

Like the gold rush of the Art Shires days, slightly frayed leather workers tore in upon the heels of Big Boy Peterson today to take their cuts at the mammoth Italian as well as the magnificent gate receipts that promise to greet his tour of the fistle centers. Some of the eagerness was genuine desire to take a sock at such a huge target, 270 pounds of still undeveloped heavyweights, but most of it followed the revelation of the earnings of Carnera and Peterson for one minute and 10 seconds of jousting in Madison Square Garden last night.

Peterson, it was solemnly announced, took his place among the highest of all paid athletes of the ring by drawing down $10,684 for

Two Successful Cage Mentors Did Not Play Game While In School

FORT WORTH, Jan. 25 (AP)—Two of the most successful basketball coaches in the Southwest never played on a college team.

Francis A. Schmidt, present mentor of the Texas Christian University court squad, who earned the title of "Miracle Coach" while guiding the Arkansas University Razorbacks to four consecutive Southwest Conference titles, played intramural basketball while at the University of Nebraska, but was never on the varsity squad.

S. D. Burton, coach of the West Texas Teachers at Canyon, never played a game of basketball in his life, yet his teams over a period of eight years have won 143 games while losing only 27. His teams never fail to put up a strong fight for the T. I. A. A. title.

"Basketball was just becoming popular when I was in school," explained Schmidt. "I made letters in football, track and baseball, so

Baylor No Match For Fast Moving Texans; Rice Outfights TCU

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 25 (AP)—The University of Texas stepped into the undisputed lead of the Southwest conference basketball race by trouncing Baylor here tonight 42 to 25. The team which forced the Longhorns to play two over time periods at Waco before they emerged victorious was never in the lead tonight.

Baylor did not score until 13 minutes of the game had elapsed. The Bruins rallied late in the first half to bring the score to 16-11, but Texas came back at the start of the second period to run its score to 32 and put the game on ice before Baylor tallied.

Fomy was high individual scorer with five field goals and four free throws.

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 25 (AP)—Rice here Saturday night staged a superb rally in the last ten minutes to beat the T. C. U. Horned Frog basketballers, 24 to 23.

Barbers in the large city auditorium crowd wept for joy as Coach "One Point" Daugherty's charges fought their way to victory. The heavily bearded Owls had sworn not to shave until they won two conference games, and they achieved that goal tonight.

The Owls outfought the visitors to gain the decision in perhaps the most bitterly contested basketball game ever staged here.

Cy Leland Will Run Dash Event In East

FORT WORTH, Jan. 25 (AP)—Cy Leland, Texas Christian University track and gridiron star, will run at New York Feb. 8 against C. H. Wildermuth of Georgetown and Jack Elder of Notre Dame in a 60-yard sprint, it has been announced here.

BISCHOFF RELEASED DALLAS, Jan. 24 (AP)—George Bischoff, veteran catcher, signed as a free agent by the Dallas Steers last season, has been released unconditionally by the Steers, according to an announcement by Bob Taitton, business manager.

Champion Gains Most Of Margin On Fines Assessed Opponent

ABILENE, Tex., Jan. 25 (AP)—Bob Crosby of Abilene, who claims the title of world's champion cowboy, successfully defended his calf roping title this afternoon in a special match with Allen Holder of Rankin.

Crosby's margin, gained largely on fines assessed against Holder, was 45 3-5 seconds for twenty calves. The winning average was 28.84 seconds. The event was a farewell party for Crosby who will move to Phoenix, Ariz., next week.

Schoonover Receives Grantland Rice Award

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 25 (AP)—Wear Schoonover, Arkansas end, has received from Grantland Rice, sport writer, an engraved grain of rice, emblematic of Schoonover's selection on Rice's all-American football team.

The grain carries the words: "Colliers All-American Football Team, 1929, Wear Schoonover, Arkansas End, Grantland Rice."

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 25 (AP)—Playing the first match in the second round of the low goal event of the Seventh Annual Southwestern mid-winter polo tournament, the Rainbows defeated the Concho Kids 10 to 9, on Pershing Field Saturday afternoon.

Both teams are from San Angelo. The Rainbows scored six goals from scratch, being favored with three by handicap.

Three games are scheduled for Sunday as follows: Cisco vs San Antonio, Pershing field, 10 a. m. Air Corps vs Artillery, Brackenridge Park, field, 3 p. m. Fort Worth vs Austin, Miller field, 3:30 p. m.

Waite Hoyt May Go To Detroit Tigers

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—The New York World says today that Manager Bob Shawkey of the Yankees is closing a deal with Bucky Harris, Detroit pilot, at Miami for the transfer of Waite Hoyt to the Tigers. Owen Carroll, pitcher, and Harry Rice, outfielder, would be given in return for Hoyt, a leading Yankee hurler for ten years. Confirmation of the deal has not been made.

ENLARGED HOME SERVICE FACILITIES ARE ESTABLISHED BY SOUTHERN ICE & UTILITIES. Through her lectures and demonstrations during the past two years, the ladies of Big Spring have come to know and value Miss Edith Cox, former occupant of the chair of Home Economics at the Oklahoma A. & M., which post she relinquished in order to organize the Home Service Department of "Southern Ice." The importance of the refrigeration of foods to the health of the home, as well as the particular means of applying it in refrigerators with the greatest measure of economy and efficiency, were scarcely realized by the American housewife up to within the past two years. Indeed, the underlying principles themselves were hardly known in this application, even to the technical world, until the National Association of Ice Industries in 1924 organized and capitalized its Household Refrigeration Bureau. This bureau had nothing to do with merchandising or with "propaganda." It was purely technical and investigatory, working often through the medium of the laboratories of Columbia University, and its ripening results are now becoming available to the homes of America, just as they have already been incorporated in radical changes in the specifications for refrigerators. To impart this knowledge everywhere in our territory; to make available the unsuspected wealth of delicious dishes which can be prepared with the aid of refrigeration; and finally to keep a skilled agent in constant touch with every family using ice, so as to insure to them the best and cheapest results and the early detection of any inadequacies in our own service, is the purpose of the departmental work which has been organized through the aid of Miss Cox, and which, after two seasons of preparatory try-out, has now been expanded to include eleven young women in its service throughout the territory. These ladies have recently participated in a course of intensive training at Dallas, and are now stationed in their various fields. For this work in West Texas we have secured the services of Mrs. J. B. Delbridge of Big Spring, especially qualified through her long experience in similar domestic supervision work for one of the great corporations of the United States, and we bespeak for her the confidence and the cooperation of the ladies of our city, and county, for she will be completely at their service. Home Service is just what its name implies—a free service offered to those interested in the problems of the household, where they may get advice to aid in solving the many problems that confront them, and particularly those problems relating to the kitchen, the dining room and the preparation of foods. The Home Service Department wants to help everyone interested by planning social functions for church groups, by suggesting new and tried recipes, by planning menus, and by giving lectures or demonstrations to schools or ladies' clubs on special subjects relating to foods and their keeping. The Home Service Department is not a merchandising department, for it has nothing to sell. What it does offer is a free and practical educational service in the upbuilding of the efficiency and safety of the American home. EDWIN A. KELLEY, Manager, Southern Ice & Utilities Co. ## IT'S WORTH MORE THAN $1000 TO HER, SAYS MRS. LAFOON

"I Haven't Been Entirely Well Before In Six Years," Declares Breckenridge Housewife; Orgatone Restored Her Health

"I wouldn't take a thousand dollars cash for the good Orgatone has done me," said Mrs. H. L. Lafoon, wife of a well known employee of the Webster Wholesale Grocery Co., and residing at 604 N. Parks, Breckenridge, Tex.

"It may sound strange, but I had suffered with stomach and kidney trouble and a general run-down condition, until I got to the place where I felt like nothing would ever do me any good. Everything I ate soured on my stomach and made trouble for me, and in addition to the kidney trouble I was nervous and restless and unable to get a full night's rest. I just lived in misery all the time and couldn't get any relief.

"I have just finished my first bottle of Orgatone, and it's surprising the way I have improved considering that I haven't been entirely well for six years. The pains in my back and kidneys are gone, my stomach is all right and I can eat anything I want and digest it. I have gained some in weight, and am able to do my work and feel good all the time. I want everybody to know what Orgatone did for me."

ing sort, because there was such a myriad of matters considered and so many cross currents to contend with. While no one ever succeeds in doing all that he would like to, I was fortunate in being able to secure the cooperation of my fellow members and this enabled me to secure passage of many measures which were of importance to this section and to the state as a whole.

Among some of the measures in whose passage I was instrumental were the increase of the per capita allotment for schools from $15 to $17.50, which is the highest ever made; an appropriation of nearly double the former amount for rural school-aid; lowering the scholastic age to six years; for the very efficient and worthy state tuberculosis sanatorium, located in this district, an appropriation of over a million dollars, which included the allotment for a children's unit, something that is badly needed and that will be of great future benefit to the state; seventy thousand dollars each year, or one hundred and forty thousand dollars for the biennium for the control and extermination of predatory animals, an item of importance to the entire ranch and stock raising industry; against very stubborn opposition, a bill providing for state-wide eradication of the cattle fever tick; a live-stock sanitary code which will enable our authorities to protect our stock from contamination and prevent our being the dumping ground for diseased live stock of all sorts from other states; a bill to regulate the transportation of live

Vealmoor Will Sell Building

West Tex Teachers Smother A.C.C. 53-17

CANYON, TEXAS, Jan. 25 (AP)—Continuing the onslaught that started last night, the West Texas Teachers here tonight defeated Abilene Christian College 53 to 17. Two of the Christians left the floor because of fouls.

Henry Jordan of Pine Bluff, Ark., who has been timing leading sport events in Arkansas for 25 years, is going to put his watch away and be a spectator from now on.

stock in trucks and automobiles, that works no hardship on the honest man and will serve to reduce the theft of live stock through these means; a material reduction in the license fees of automobiles; removal to some extent of the objections to the former search and seizure law; changing the terms of court in the Thirty-second Judicial district, thereby giving Howard county double the former amount of court service; a complete revision of the law governing the leasing for oil and gas of the vast acreage of University land in western Texas, that will doubtless result in much increase in revenue to the University; a law alleviating the plight of the farmers in the pink bollworm area; twice passed an appropriation of $150,000 to pay claims for farmers and gins incurred by reason of compliance with the pink bollworm regulations, this item more workable and comprehensive law providing for junior colleges; a bill simplifying procedure in the office of the secretary of state; the very important law validating title to surveys crossing streams; I introduced and led the fight for the submission of an amendment to the constitution providing for the taxation of University land in West Texas, which resolution was adopted by both houses almost unanimously; in addition to these affirmative accomplishments, there were many bills whose passage would have been detrimental to our people and in whose defeat I took part.

If the people, whom I have represented conscientiously and diligently during my term of office in the Forty-first legislature, by their mandate express the desire that I serve them for a second term, I shall be glad to do so to the best of my ability and shall continue to be ready to respond to the needs and requests of all the people.

Later in the year, after the close of the present called session, I expect to make as extensive a campaign of the district as possible, in order to consult with my constituents as to their needs and desires, and to renew the very pleasant associations formerly made, for, after all, the greatest recompense one gets from political service is the contact and friendship of good people over this great state of ours.

ONA BEAGAN PARSONS

'A FAREWELL TO ARMS' By Ernest Hemingway (Charles Scribner's Sons, $2.50)

I am often surprised how many good books I can review without any feeling of presumption on my part; this, however, is one that I do not consider myself worthy to review.

The great impression of simplicity that it leaves is not what prospective readers want to hear; yet that is an outstanding characteristic of the book. It is like a modern painting. Here, Hemingway tells us, in an episode of the war, a love affair of a young American, who had enlisted in the Italian army, with an English nurse; it is important enough for us to concentrate on it and it only; let us separate it as much as possible from everything else and find in it the essence of the tragedy of war.

A ten-volume picture of war could not make war's tragedy any more distinct than this one little story. Yet one does not feel depressed at the end of the story as one does after reading some of the war-novels. It is because, I think, the story is so clearly an episode and any ending to an affair so brief and passionate must necessarily strike one with the force of tragedy; it was merely for the author to choose which unhappy close was inevitable.

The dialogue reaches heights in its fidelity to life which no author that I have ever read has achieved. In the conversation between the characters one is again struck with the marvelous simplicity of the writer; with his aiming for a single effect and his uncanny knowledge of what to leave out. The story deals with an American and an Englishwoman so they use the simple Anglo-Saxon words that most of us use in speech. I would like to quote, but a single quotation doesn't give the same effect that pages upon pages do; so you will have to read the book for yourself to get a really worthwhile impression.

It is remarkable how the author, in so small a compass, has managed to convey the many sidedness of war. He reports only one attack and that at the beginning of the book. This attack leaves the central character wounded and sends him to a hospital where his affair with the English nurse gains its momentum. When the man returns to fight the Italian army is in retreat. The retreat, told in the simple, moving style that Hemingway has popularized for generations of coming writers to follow, is one of the unforgettable chapters in the book.

If young writers of this author's school can emerge, like Hemingway, out of the fog of their excessive individuality, we shall find ourselves possessors of a literature more valuable than the most optimistic of us have dared to dream of possessing.

'WEIR MITCHELL; HIS LIFE AND LETTERS' By Anna Robeson Burr (Duffield and Co.)

Many years ago when I was young enough to play card-games (not red and black ones) I remember being given a set of "Authors" for Christmas. Possibly many of you once played that same game. Among the authors was Dr. Weir Mitchell and "Hugh Wynne" was his book.

Big Spring's Future

Emily Eugenia was a visitor here when this picture was made—she has frequently been the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bradley and her aunt, Miss Emily Bradley, of 1700 Main street. Emily Eugenia is the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Stratton now living in Del Rio. She is a pretty child with light curly hair and a broad smile. She also possesses pretty dark gray eyes and is a rather fluent conversationalist for so young a person. Emily Eugenia plans to make Big Spring and her grandparents another visit soon.

what others thought. She has laid bare the mental processes of the doctor as far as she could without trespassing (he was truly a gentleman of the old school who would not have stood much trespassing). She took time for a chapter on ancestry which did its part in explaining the man.

It will interest many readers to learn that in his youth Dr. Mitchell did not consider himself cut out for a physician. Close application and the death of his father, which threw the responsibility of family on his shoulders developed his ability along that line. His father, who was a successful doctor, did not approve of his son's selection of a profession. Literature then was much lower as a profession, but there is no indication that the doctor thought seriously of it until he was along in years.

Pretty Sue Presides As First Lady For Virginia Governor

By SUE McNAMARA (AP) Feature Service Writer

RICHMOND (AP)—She was bred in old Virginia, was Sue Pollard, but, like the "Sue" of old Kentucky—"where the meadow grass is blue, there's the sunshine of the country in her face and manner, too!"

In a blue evening gown, with her dark hair, fair complexion and winsome ways, Sue Pollard is what college boys would term "a riot."

There's always a "stag line" waiting to dance with Sue, despite the fact—perhaps because of it—that she likes to sew and prefers Shakespeare and Barrie to the more modern authors.

She has a somewhat shy smile, and blue eyes opened wide—eyes just matching the blue dress 'round which she holds her evening cape. She's a maid of few words. Yet you go away convinced that Sue Pollard is not only the youngest, but the most charming first lady Virginia ever had.

Being head of a household and receiving guests is no novelty to her. Mrs. Pollard has been an invalid for years and the daughter has "run" the family home in Williamsburg, Va., where her father has been dean of law in William and Mary college.

As head of the governor's mansion in Virginia, her duties are of many involvements. She has charge of many servants.

NOTRE DAME ORGAN PLAYED FOR FIRST TIME BY WOMAN

PARIS (AP)—A woman for the first time has played the great organ of Notre Dame cathedral, an instrument two centuries old, and played at Napoleon's coronation.

The woman really is a girl, Renée Nizan, 16 years old, but already a noted organist, often applauded at concerts.

The aged blind organist, Louis Vierne, listened while the girl manipulated the keys of five manuals with their 110 stops and brought music from the organ's 6,000 pipes.

Even during the days of the revolution, when Notre Dame was sacked and turned into a "Temple of Reason," with a ballet dancer receiving there as "Liberty" and later during the Commune, no woman so far as recorded ever touched the old organ.

Winter Lubrication

MOTORS are worn out in winter. With less than half the mileage, you probably put twice the strain on your engine in cold weather. This process has marked advantages over other methods. It preserves all the lubricating bodies of the crude oil just as they occur in nature. There is positively no blending of light and heavy oils to produce various grades. It removes all the paraffine wax. Ordinary, paraffine-base lubricating oil is like a jelly at freezing temperatures and is solid at zero. This means difficult starting that strains the starter and battery, and it means no bearing or cylinder lubrication until the heat of the engine reduces the solid mass of oil to a fluid. A few minutes turning over without lubrication will cause more wear on the engine than many miles of driving. TP-Oils are the latest development in scientific lubrication. They are produced from pure, paraffine-base crude by a process for which patents are pending. WAX FREE 45c QUART ZERO FLOW

SCORES OF STARS APPEAR IN "SHOW OF SHOWS"

WARNER BROTHERS' CROWNING ACHIEVEMENT COMES TO RITZ

An event of prime importance in the local entertainment world is the coming of Warner Bros. talking, singing, dancing, natural color super-revue, the "Show of Shows," which arrives at the Ritz Sunday for a three-day standing, in addition to a midnight matinee Saturday.

This spectacular production includes scores upon scores of stars of stage and screen and supporting people numbering over half a thousand.

Every form of the dance known, and many new creations by those wizards of the light-fantastic, Ceballos and Haskell, are included in the glittering and melodious numbers of the extravaganza. Every sort of theatrics has its special "spot" during the panorama of tinselled glory.

Health Film Shown At Ritz

"New Ways for Old" an educational film depicting the means of preventing diphtheria among school children, is being shown at the Ritz Theater. The film is being shown through courtesy of the theater management and under auspices of the Howard County health committee, according to a statement made by Mrs. M. R. Showalter, county health nurse. An effort is being made to have the film shown at each theater in order to reach the greatest possible number of persons.

"One Scar or Many" showing the folly of neglect concerning immunization against smallpox, has been shown in the Ritz theater. Statistical diagrams and figures showing the number of smallpox cases in various parts of the country and the folly of allowing the disease to spread, make up the film.

These films are released by the extension department of the bureau of education in the University of Texas.

"South-Sea Rose" Features Ulic

A Fox Movietone unit, headed by George Schneiderman, chief cameraman, and Archie Buchanan, director, braved the perils of the South Seas to record the striking scenes of the tropics which are revealed in "South Sea Rose." Lenore Ulic's starring all talking picture coming to the Lyric Theatre Saturday.

The expiring party docked at scores of unnamed islands in its search for authentic scenes to be utilized in several sequences of "South Sea Rose." South Sea dances and tribal ceremonies were obtained.

"South Sea Rose" is a comedy drama revolving around Miss Ulic as a vivacious islander. She is supported by Charles Bickford and others in the supporting cast are Kenneth MacKenzie, Tom Patricola, Farrell Macdonald, Elizabeth Patterson and Daphne Pollard.

DE MILLE PACKS DRAMA IN TALKING PREMIERE

Cecil B. De Mille's office at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio is reminiscent of the various big productions which he has made since he started his picture career at the "barn" on Vine street in December, 1913.

Armor worn by Wallace Reid, replicas of settings used in "The Ten Commandments," and "The Holy Grail of King of Kings," are some of the many reminders of the fifty-four silent pictures De Mille has made. When asked the question, "Why did you choose the story of 'Dynamite' as your first talking production?" De Mille smiled at the interviewer across his big desk.

"When Jeanie MacPherson and I first discussed this story I told her some one would ask me that question," he said. "However, it is easily answered. 'Dynamite' is sharp clear melodrama with an undercurrent of interesting comedy. It has two central situations of unusual dramatic power. Either one of these sequences would make an audience slide out to the ends of their seats. By combining the two of them I felt absolutely certain that I would get the full attention of every one who saw the picture. In other words, I picked 'Dynamite' because the subject was direct, powerful, and lent itself specifically to the problems of dialogue drama. "The two situations are, first, the marriage of a girl to a condemned murderer seven hours before he was scheduled to be hanged for murder; second, the purchase of a husband for $100,000 by a society debutante. The mingling of these two episodes permitted me to touch both sides of life: first, state's prison and a grimy mining town; second, a very fashionable country club, and a modern 'wild party' of the most interesting type.

"When 'Dynamite' is released the spectrograph will see not a photographed stage play—but a motion picture which talks. There is a very great difference between the two types.

"The technique of talking pictures, you see, is not that of either stage or screen. It has something of each medium, but it has a great deal of material that is distinctly its own.

"For instance, in our mine explosion we get the reactions of this disaster in the faces of Conrad Nagel, Charles Bickford and Kay Johnson for a hundred feet or more before we show the crashing of the tunnel supports. Again in a scene where the mine doctor is waiting the return of Kay Johnson with a surgeon, we hear dramatic dialogue, but we see only the busy fingers of the doctor. And in a race between Kay Johnson and Julia Faye in huge zero wheels we actually have a spirited dialogue while the two girls are revolving, upside down. Again, in three separate instances, the radio and the telephone are used in new and interesting ways to get hitherto impossible dramatic effects.

"Dynamite" was a most interesting story to do. It is quite different, of course, from the costume spectacles of "The Ten Commandments" and "King of Kings." It is strictly and definitely modern, as were "Manlaughter," "Male and Female" and "Why Change Your Wife?" It discusses a modern story in modern language spoken by modern people.

This ended the interview with Cecil B. De Mille. It all bears out the advance statements that in "Dynamite," which comes to the Lyric Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, De Mille was abandoning for the moment the semi-religious themes of his past pictures, returning in this film to the be-gowned and be-gilded vehicles which were so prominent and so successful in the past. It even has a glass bathtub.

Many Seeking Rides In New Ford Models

"Requests for demonstration rides in the new Model A Fords have been swamping our telephone since the new bodies were shown to the public of Big Spring for the first time December 31st," said W. E. Bonham, with local Ford dealer here.

We are glad to accommodate any resident of this city who may wish the experience of a trial ride in the new bodies that now adorn the Model A Ford Chassis.

"It is an experience that we have not enjoyed yet ourselves," continued Mr. Bonham. "So great is the interest of the public in the beautiful Model A that the types on display in our showrooms have been too busily occupied holding the center of attention to permit of their being taken off the floor for the time being.

However, note is being made of requests for demonstrations, and, as soon as we are in position practically to satisfy such requests, we shall be more than glad to give our friends the pleasure of riding in this car."

"Love Racket" Is Mackaill Vehicle

One of the most dramatic situations ever shown on the screen forms the crux of "The Love Racket," the new First National and Vitaphone production starring Dorothy Mackaill which comes to the Lyric theatre next Thursday.

This situation is that of a woman who finds herself on a jury trying another woman for murder. On the same jury is the man she hopes to marry. The murdered man had, several years previously, dishonored her and refused to marry her. She herself had attempted to kill him at the time of her betrayal.

Risking the loss of the man she loves with herself standing alone for acquittal, the woman tells her story to the eleven men and thus secures acquittal and freedom for the woman on trial. This role is played by Dorothy Mackaill, that of the man she loves by Sidney Blackmer, and that of the villain by Edmund Burns.

The story was adapted by John Goodrich from the stage play "The Woman on the Jury" by Bernard K. Burns. It was directed by William A. Seiter with a supporting cast including Alice Day, Martha Mattox, Mary Steadman and Edith Yorke.

Local Dealers Exhibiting New Oakland Models

Recent rumors of new developments in the Oakland-Pontiac line of 1930 found ample basis here last week with the first display of the latest products of the Oakland Motor Car Company by Wentz Motor Sales, local dealer.

While retaining its established position in the six cylinder field with the New Series Pontiac Big Six which presents many mechanical refinements the company now has entered the eight cylinder field with a moderate-priced high-powered type Oakland that offers new walks of power, speed and acceleration. The new Oakland is the only motor car in its price field powered with a "V" engine.

Developed during three years of intensive experiment and research the sturdy compact new Oakland engine employs many new but thoroughly proved principles of design which enable it to establish remarkable standards of performance.

Entirely without torsional vibration at any engine speed, the new power plant develops 85 horsepower at 3000 r.p.m. from a displacement of 251 cubic inches. This remarkable output of power is due to several new factors, including the complete down draft type of combustion, the new type of high compression two-plane cylinder heads and the horizontal valve design.

These features and many others permit the development of 85 horsepower with a gasoline economy approximately the same as that of the previous Oakland Six which was rated at 68 brake horsepower. The comparatively short design of the "V" engine which is the new Oakland is only 25 9-16 inches long, as enabled the Oakland engineers to retain the 117 inch wheelbase of the Oakland Six while allowing ten more passenger room. The new Oakland's tremendous power in a chassis of moderate weight gives a ratio of one horsepower to each 37 pounds of car weight—the forest of the high speed, fast acceleration and flexibility of which the new car is capable.

The simple compactness of the V-type engine has been highly capitalized by the adoption of a "square" bore to stroke ratio. The bore of 3 7-16 inches is slightly greater than the stroke of 3 3-8 inches. The short stroke greatly reduces the development of inertia forces by reciprocating parts inside the engine. The V design also permits the use of ample cooling passages around the widely spaced cylinders and valves.

Another new development is the fact that both blocks of cylinders

Driver's License Tax Sought For State Park System

EL PASO, Jan. 25.—Support of an automobile driver's license tax, funds from which would be used to purchase state park sites, is being sought by H. L. Birney, president of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce, and regional director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, throughout this section of West Texas. He has covered at least one-third of the state by letters to interested communities, and is consistently urging that other sections of the state give support to the plan. Birney has been collaborating with D. E. Colp, chairman of the Texas state parks board, in this work, and word from Colp indicates that much encouragement of the project is being received. Chambers of Commerce throughout the state are being urged to get behind the movement and write state representatives and and the crankcase are formed in a single, solid, compact, heavily-ribbed casting, affording a rigid foundation for the big crankshaft bearings. Full adjustable pressure lubrication is provided to all vital parts of the engine.

Again meriting its long reputation as an automotive pioneer, Oakland has developed an entirely new type of engine mounting for the eight. The two forward engine mountings are designed in the form of flat laminated springs. While rear rubber mountings restrain the engine from motion relative to the car frame, these front spring type mountings serve to absorb the normal reactions of engine operation. In order to prevent the spring type mountings from permitting the engine to respond to road shocks a new device—the "synchronizer" was invented. It provides a lateral tie rod, solidly bolted to the right side of the frame and extending through an opening into the crankcase. There its points of contact with the engine is a vertical rocker arm which is moved slightly from side to side by a cam on the forward end of the camshaft. These are but a few of the improved features.

Sensors asking them to support it. The driver's license should provide a great protection to both pedestrians and motorists on the highways, from irresponsible and incompetent drivers, Birney said, while at the same time, the fees received from this license could be used to the greatest advantage in purchasing sites for state parks. The proposition has been before the directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and every possible help for carrying out the plan to the fullest extent, may be expected from that organization.

There are four sites at the present time, in which particular interest is being shown. These are the Palo Duro Canyon site, the Gaudalupe Mountain site in Mc-

Kittick Canyon, the Davis Mountain site and the Caddo Lake site. The development of these sites would bring millions of tourist dollars into Texas. Already millions are being spent each year by tourists who travel through the state. With state parks at various points, many of these tourists would spend several days longer in Texas. Carlsbad Caverns attracts tens of thousands of tourists every year, and the greater part of them drive through Texas.

State parks would attract many of these, as well as many additional ones, and would also provide spots of interest to Texans themselves.

All of the proposed park sites are located at strategic points to catch the tourist travel as well as being accessible to Texans over good highways.

McKittick Canyon is not distant from the Carlsbad Caverns and may be reached over the Dal-Paso Caverns Highway; U. S. 80, by turning off at Pecos or Van Horn, and over the Old Spanish Trail or the Border Highway by turning off at Van Horn. Thousands of acres of virgin pine cover the top of the Gaudalupe range in which this canyon is located.

Likewise Davis Mountain Park site is within reach over good roads and is in one of the most scenic parts of West Texas. Roads lead to this section from all parts of Texas. The Palo Duro Canyon site is near Amarillo. With this park established, tourist coming into the Panhandle district would have their first park to visit, swinging south to Roswell on U. S. Highway 365, to Roswell, thence south to Carlsbad Caverns, they could visit the McKittick Canyon Park, and then again farther south the Davis Mountain Park.

The Caddo Lake park would provide the eastern side of Texas with a splendid tourist attraction.

This park would lie along the Louisiana line and be easily accessible from the main motor highways from the east into Texas.

The Colp plan of using fees from driver's licenses to buy and improve these park sites would raise ample funds to acquire and build the parks. The money thus invested would bring in returns to Texas many times greater than the original investment.

Not until you drive the new Chevrolet Six can you appreciate what a wonderful improvement has been made in its famous six-cylinder valve-in-head engine. With its capacity increased to 50 horsepower, it has great reserve energy for sweeping up the steepest hills—for swift acceleration—and for sustained high speeds. Its power flows evenly and smoothly. And it is extremely flexible in traffic. In fact—it does everything you could possibly want a motor to do. Yet it is remarkably economical in its use of gasoline and oil. mation has not been made public. A report just issued by the assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, Clarence M. Young, is illuminating with respect to accident responsibility in general.

The explanations as to causes of accidents reveal that nearly 60 per cent were attributed to personnel, to mistakes or incompetency of pilots.

As other reports have brought out similar conditions it seems evident that the outstanding requirements for more safety in the air relate primarily to pilots and after that to the motive power of planes.

Faubel Criticizes Senate Authority

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—After asserting that the actions of the senate lobby committee seemed so useless a proceeding, Arthur L. Faubel, secretary of the American Tariff League, surprised the committee today with the assertion that the senate should take a subordinate position to the house of representatives in the English system of government.

"This whole to do and discuss," he said, "didn't seem to me to make very much difference."

The league secretary said he approved the statement of Joseph R. Grundy, now senator from Pennsylvania, before the committee that "backward" states should talk "darned small" in tariff matters.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Calendar simplification is rapidly becoming an issue of more immediate interest and the champions of simplification are working for results by 1933, which will be the easiest year to change the calendar this side of 1939.

Why Change Is Urged

The main arguments for substituting such a calendar for the one we have now are these: Business and economic life has to measure its progress in months and weeks. Statistical comparisons are now not so good because there are months of 28, 29, 30 and 31 days and each year a given date falls on a different day of the week.

Statistics are so vital in these days that all this means a great deal to business.

Confusion, complications and expense would result from calendar change. The number 12 is not divisible by two, three, four or six, the quarters of the 12-month year do not contain a whole number of months, 12 would involve increased book-keeping, Friday, the 13th would come 13 times a year in the face of superstitious difficulty to overcome, the regular occurrence of the seventh day Sunday would be interrupted each year and twice in leap years.

Jewish rabbis are among the bitterest foes of this proposed calendar, basing their convictions on the Old Testament and the continuity of the sequence of the seventh-day Sabbath.

The chief arguments in opposition are: Confusion, complications and expense would result from calendar change. The number 12 is not divisible by two, three, four or six, the quarters of the 12-month year do not contain a whole number of months, 12 would involve increased book-keeping, Friday, the 13th would come 13 times a year in the face of superstitious difficulty to overcome, the regular occurrence of the seventh day Sunday would be interrupted each year and twice in leap years.

A QUESTION of HONOR

by Ruth Cross

SYNOPSIS: Love calls to Anne Wilmet and sends her flying thru the night to warn Scott Glenn of a bold plot to destroy his irrigation dam. She overhears Leon Morse, whom she has promised to marry for his money, discussing the plot with his attorney, Robert Douglas, at the Lodge. Accompanied by Shet, the young engineer rushes to the dam site. He quells a strike of workmen inspired by an offer of double wages from Morse's agents. She surprises Tony, a Mexican, and thwarts his attempt to dynamite the dam. Glenn returns to his cabin and a hastily summoned priest marries Glenn and Anne. Glenn then returns to the dam to supervise its completion.

LOVE WEIGHS INCHES
The morning brought two surprises—the first a pleasant one. Anne had just finished the stage in her house-cleaning, where things looked infinitely worse than they had before she started. She was going back and forth in a perfect frenzy of housewifely zeal, putting out bedding, rugs, curtains—everything that could by any conceivable chance need sunning.

On one of these trips to the front porch, she spied two figures coming up the trail—three, if Japheth was to be counted. Suddenly, she dropped the rug she was shaking, and started joyfully down the steps. Without a doubt, the figure behind Shet was Delphine! In that moment, Anne forgave the vociferous, tyrannical Frenchwoman everything. Never in her whole life had she been so glad to see anybody.

Delphine had already darted around Shet, who was clumping along, stolidly resigned, with a huge suitcase in either hand. She rushed up to Anne and flung her arms around her, sobbing and laughing and talking all in the same breath. Her presence was quickly and volubly explained.

She had seen "M'sieur Shet" when he came to bring the note—she cast her expressive eyes heavenward, what a consternation, what a hubbub, what a row! And "M'sieur Morse" all dressed up waiting for the priest that had gone somewhere else! Oh, it was too delicious! Delphine fairly spilled over into laughter. Well, she had seen "M'sieur Shet."

It had come to her like out of the sky—madame must have clothes of course. She must have a maid. She, Delphine, would come. M'sieur Shet could carry the suitcases—whether it pleased him or not. She had overtaken him a short distance from the Lodge; of course no one had seen her leave—she had taken care for that. Now she was here, she meant to stay.

An hour later, Anne, clad in a simple dark dress with one of Delphine's pretty aprons over it stood atop of a teetering eminence composed of a kitchen chair with boxes piled on it. She was handing things down to Delphine from the top pantry shelf. Her sleeves were rolled high above white elbows, her hair ruffled, her cheeks brightly flushed. For the first time in her life, she was reveling in the primal woman's joy of pursuing dirt to its last top-shelf-in-the-corner infringement.

Of a sudden Delphine halted in her regular back and forth trot between pantry and cook table and muttered something in French. She held up her hand warningly to Anne and quickly disappeared towards the front of the house. She came back almost immediately, her eyes wide and startled, her face the picture of calamity. Before she could speak, Anne guessed the truth.

She climbed down slowly from her swaying perch, rolled down her sleeves and patted her hair thoughtfully into place. Delphine looked after her as she went toward the living-room, with mingled awe and pity. "Pauvre enfant!" she muttered fervently to herself. Then she climbed up on the boxes and began rummaging about.

In the living room Mrs. Wilmet sat on the edge of a chair, fanning herself with her handkerchief and frankly panting.

"What's Delphine doing up here?" the older woman began without preface or greeting.

"She came back with Shet when he went to take my note," Anne explained, dropping down on a chair near the table.

"Well, she'll have to whistle for her quarter's salary, but that of course is no concern of mine. And so—this is where you expect to live, is it?" Mrs. Wilmet's single, ironic glance about the room made it seem actually to shrink; to look almost mean and insignificant.

"Yes," she said, "this is where I expect to live. Delphine and I have just cleaned it from floor to ceiling. It's been the best fun I've ever had in my life, and it does look dear and liveable, doesn't it?"

Mrs. Wilmet grunted enigmatically. "I always knew," she observed at last in a perfectly matter of fact tone, "that you were a fool. But that's neither here nor there. There was a postscript to your note this morning from this—"

"From my husband, Mr. Glenn," Anne suggested quietly.

The other woman looked at her sharply, but passed over that intimation for the time. "I don't know his name and I don't want to know it," she said. "At all events, there was some high-sounding talk or other about paying me for your upbringing—"

Anne leaned forward interestedly. "Let me see it, Auntie; the note."

Mrs. Wilmet reached into her hand bag, took out a crumpled sheet and tossed it to her. Anne smoothed it out with hurrying fingers. "Glenn had said that he would make things right, but she had supposed that he meant to pay a little at a time—"

"Your upbringing indeed!" her aunt went on with unmitigated scorn. "He couldn't pay for your face cream. But that's not what I've come about either. You are married?"

Anne nodded rather absently. "This morning at 8 o'clock, Aunt Emily," she added, looking up from the note, "he says in this that he's going to pay you in full, and he will. He would never have written that if he hadn't known he could do it somehow."

Mrs. Wilmet glanced at her sharply. "He hasn't any money has he?"

"I don't think so—only his salary or whatever he gets for his work. But perhaps he means to borrow it."

"Humph, very likely! Where was this—man last night?"

Anne met her glance squarely. "Leon ought to be able to tell you that," she said.

"And where has he been today?" The blood rushed up hotly into Anne's face. "He went away 10 minutes after we were married. I have not seen him since."

The older woman's face registered unmistakable relief. "In that case," she said, "all is not yet lost."

A divorce can easily be arranged and the whole disgraceful affair pushed up. Leon, she leaned forward impressively, "is still willing to marry you!"

Anne stared back dumbly at that placid, self-assured old face. Then she got slowly to her feet, steadying herself against the table. "I'm sorry I've disappointed and failed you, Auntie. I think it's just possible," she looked away from the bright little eyes which seemed to be boring mercilessly into her soul. "If you could know how that thought has tortured me, you would not feel quite so bitter—But I did the only thing I could under the circumstances—it wasn't premeditated—I scarcely had time to think even— At all events, now that it's done, I mean to stand by it, and I haven't the slightest intention of getting a divorce."

"You haven't, eh?" Mrs. Wilmet did not appear particularly discomposed. She was on the point of expressing herself further, however, when the quiet was broken by a piercing scream. A second scream, a clatter of things falling and tumbling, told Anne that the leaning tower of boxes in the kitchen pantry had probably collapsed with Delphine. She excused herself hurriedly and went toward the kitchen.

Willys-Overland Reduces Prices On Whippet Line

Price cuts of $45 to $80 on all 1930 model Whippet 4-cylinder cars were announced yesterday here through Homer McNew of the McNew-Overland Company, local dealer.

This move by Willys-Overland makes the Whippet four-door sedan the lowest priced 4-cylinder sedan of that type in America and is important in indicating the trend toward greater economy benefits to motor car purchasers in the low price range.

New Whippet prices are: Sedan, $585; sedan deluxe, $645; coupe, two-passenger, $525; coupe, rumble seat, $555; roadster, two-passenger, $475; roadster, rumble seat, $505; coach, $525; touring car, $475; commercial chassis, $360.

These prices are now effective here.

is under the management of Mr. Adams. The new firm will store cars, sell gasoline and oils and will do washing and greasing of automobiles.

Dodge Production
Substantial increases in production schedules for January were announced yesterday by Dodge Brothers, according to H. L. Bohannon, of Hendrix-Woldert, local dealer. Orders placed by Dodge Brothers dealers at their recent convention in Detroit and the splendid reception the New Six and the New Eight received from the public at the New York Automobile Show, has made necessary an increase of 33 per cent in the original production schedule of the new low-priced six, and an 83 per cent increase in the original production schedule of the eight-cylinder models.

"These increased production schedules," said C. W. Matheson, the general sales manager, "bring to light the interesting fact that American industry apparently is returning to its normal stride more rapidly than was anticipated in appraisals made prior to January 1st by business and industrial leaders in all parts of the country."
