T—NEWS

We are proud to say that we have started the New Year with a larger force of farmers in our community than ever before. A number of new houses have gone up, as if by magic. Plows are running full force now, preparing the land for another crop. Our Sunday school was well attended. Several new members were added to our roll of which we are indeed proud. Bro. Eldridge, of O'Donnell, preached a very fine sermon Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Kile Bohannon and family of Redwine, were visiting G. W. Short Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaylock are visiting Mrs. Blaylock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Waldrip, this week.

Lafayette Ferguson has returned to school at Clarendon, after spending the holidays with home folks.

Oren Short has been on the sick list the past week.

Beulah and Annie Bell Estes visited Viola and Jessie Lee Poe Sunday.

IT PAYS

A good friend of the editor but not a subscriber to the Record stated Saturday that he did not consider a paper worth $2.00 a year to him. The conservation changed and in about a moment he mentioned that he had wanted to purchase a certain article if the price had been right; then the coke was on him, for that very article had been advertised in the Canadian Record at a bargain price that would have let the saving pay his subscription to the Record and then left him some money to buy groceries with. There is a good moral to this. If that one little transaction would have saved him money, how many times during the year would he have profited by being a reader of the Record. A man can't afford in justice to himself to not be a reader of his home paper.—Canadian Record.

The Baptist denomination of Tahoka recently appointed a building committee and are making plans toward the erection of a modern edifice on the lots now occupied by the old structure. There is great need of better and bigger church buildings in Tahoka. The town is far ahead of the present structures. The present buildings are not large enough to accommodate the crowds during a special gathering and the Sunday School equipment is sadly lacking in all. A town that grows and prospers it is imperative that it have churches and schools. Tahoka has the school building,—let's have better churches.

ALL IN ONE LIFETIME

A scientist has figured out that an average man of seventy has slept 23 years four months; worked 19 years eight months; has had ten years and two months of recreation and religious devotion (how is that for a combination?); and spent six years, ten months eating and drinking; six years traveling; two years dressing and undressing, and has been ill four years. The scientist has left out one important item. It is the number of years the average man spends hunting for a match.—Floating.

COUNTY OR TOWN?

BY PHEBE K. WARNER

Which is growing in the most natural way, your whole county or just your town? Which is growing the faster? Which is improving the most? Which represents the most capital invested? Which represents the most energy and brains? Which has the best homes? Which has the best churches? Which has the best schools? Which pays the most tax? Which has the best citizens? Which produces the most wealth? Which produces the most crime? Which costs the most to maintain? Which are your producers? Which are your consumers? Which are your most contented folks?

Which are the most dependent upon the other for existence? Which could not exist at all without the other? Which furnishes all the raw materials that keep the wheels of every industry buzzing? Which was made first? Which should be developed first? Which are we doing? Which offers the greatest opportunity to our youth today? Which are the most of them seeking? Which flashes the most temptation in their way? What are any of us doing to counteract that temptation?

What is the relation between your town and your county? Which is the greater? Which is the whole social unit and which is only a part? What is the commercial relation between your town and county? What is the social and educational relation? Is there any or are they each an independent unrelated part of nothing else? What is the moral relation between the towns in your county and your county itself?

Is it necessary for town and county to work together to promote commercial prosperity? Suppose the country folks never patronized the town folks in their own county? What would happen in most of our towns? Suppose the town folks voted unanimously to patronize your country folks more in your home county and in every county, would it eventually have any effect on the markets of the world and the freight rates? Do you suppose the country people in your county could produce and conserve enough food in your county to feed your county if they actually KNEW the home town people would buy it from them and save their freight bills and a dozen or more commissions? Do you suppose the people in your county would plant more and raise more and learn how to prepare it for market better if they knew the home folks would buy it so they would have the cash to fix up their homes and build up their schools like the town folks do? Does your county feed itself? Where does most of your canned corn and beans and peas and meat come from? Can't you raise these things in your county? Why are your merchants shelves loaded down with products from other States that could be produced in your county while your own farm folks grow discouraged and disheartened and shrivel up or move away?

How much do you suppose YOUR COUNTY spent for food shipped in from other States last year that could have been produced and preserved and marketed by your OWN CUSTOMERS in your own county if there had been a county plan and county co-operation between all the people both in the towns and in the country? If you will go to the trouble to make this estimate in any county you will discover that enough cash was paid out of your county into the pockets of other States last year for the very things that could have been produced and marketed by the home people to have put modern conveniences in every country home and to have built good consolidated modern schools in every part of the county where they are needed, which in turn would have brought contentment and happiness to the country people. But instead of this being done in most of our counties the same old thing went on. The money in the towns and cities made off of the country people went to purchase food to sell again to the farmer and his family while his soil and sunshine and the rain and often his children and sometimes himself went to waste or perhaps the children drifted into town to find an over-worked job.

Just a few hundred dollars of the money spent for foreign food could be spent in every county for a Home Demonstrator to help the women and children to grow better products and teach them how to can and preserve them for commercial use it would do more to make the county independent and encourage production at home and home consumption within the county than any thing else that could be done. If you do not believe this ask come county that has given the work a fair trial and prove for yourself that the home demonstrator has helped the county to feed itself, helped to bring useful domestic and commercial education to the country people and helped them to meet more happily and scientifically the problems of life.

If we would all work together in every county to help solve this one problem of home production and home consumption between the town and the county that in turn would help solve the problem of better homes in the country, better schools in the country, more contented people on the farm, less longing for the towns and cities, less crime in the city caused by the streets being flooded with idle people from the country looking for cash jobs. It would help to stem the tide of immorality caused by innocent girls seeking the city for work and finding themselves stranded for lack of means to live.

Solve the commercial problem between the town and the county by building up every interest in the entire county as a whole unit instead of town folks working for themselves and nobody else and country folks working alone, each family has a separate and unrelated unit, and then we will then solve the social and educational problems of the country as well as the moral and industrial problems of the town. We are all members of one body and that body is OUR COUNTRY.

Make the county the unit of our activities. Harmonize and utilize all the forces for development in our county, and soon the imaginary lines between town and country will cease to exist even in the imagination and we will find ourselves a united contented people throughout the entire country.

J. I. CASE

J. I. CASE NON-SKID LISTER

You can list your cotton in straight rows without bare spots or bunching. You can have your choice of four different quantities of seed per acre without changing plates—or twelve changes by only three changes of plates, which can be done instantly. Only in the J. I. Case machines has the cell drop principle been successfully applied to cotton planting. You save half your seed and the labor of replanting. Chopping the uniform rows is easier and the straight row permits more thorough cultivation, which of course, means bigger, better crops.

WE HAVE ANOTHER CAR OF LISTERS ON THE ROAD.

ITEMS FROM THE GRASSLAND COMMUNITY

Bro. Johnson, of Wilson, filled his appointment with the Methodist congregation here Sunday.

The teachers' home has been completed and is a credit to the school and community.

W. R. Thomas has returned from a business trip to east Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Beasley of Cleburne, have moved to Grassland. Mr. Beasley has purchased land east of town, and has also purchased a town lot on which he will erect a residence at an early date.

Mr. John Warwick is erecting a nice residence in the west part of town.

Mr. Jones of Tahoka, has been drilling wells in our community the past two weeks.

Brother Horn, of Post, filled his appointment at Central Baptist Church Sunday. An offering was made to Buckner's Orphan Home amounting to $90.00.

Our teachers report a very crowded condition at school, due to so many settlers moving into the community. When the building was enlarged in the summer and a third teacher added it was thought that the situation could be handled for some time to come, but it is evident now that more room and more teachers will soon be needed.

J. C. Walker is rejoicing over the recovery of a very valuable dog which was lost.

Farmers are very busy preparing their land for another crop. A large acreage of new land is being put in and new houses are to be seen in every direction.

SCRIBE.
