

'Economic Opportunity Loans' Offered Here By FHA

So far nobody here has actually made application for such loans but several have made inquiries concerning the President's "Economic Opportunity Loans", a part of the vast "war on poverty" program.

"We've had a number of persons drop by the office," says Clinton Kennedy, FHA manager here, "to inquire about such loans, and probably some will make application within the near future."

Meantime, on a state basis, 309 loans to individual families have been made under provisions of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, says L. J. Cappelman, state FHA chief. Kennedy said the loans made to farm families "who operate a farm they own or lease." They must produce at least a portion of their subsistence from crops and livestock. He said a rural resident is classified as one living in a town of not more than 2500 population. He explained the program as follows:

Economic Opportunity Loans to farmers maybe made to improve their farming operations; to buy more land, livestock, machinery and equipment; construct needed farm buildings and to pay annual operating expenses for feed, seed, and fertilizer. These loans may be obtained by farm and rural families to finance rural - based, but non - agricultural enterprises. Funds may be used to purchase land, construct buildings, buy and install equipment and pay normal operating expenses of a variety of non - agricultural enterprises such as a farm machinery repair shop; TV and radio repair shop; ladders, spraying equipment and tools to be used by painters and carpenters; blacksmith shop; septic tank and sewage disposal system servicing; custom grass setting and land preparation; saw and lawn mower sharpening shop; post and wood cutting equipment; portable sheep and goat shearing equipment, etc.

Economic Opportunity Loans are for the purpose of helping low - income rural families raise their income level. Rural families who need a small amount of capital to improve their incomes may borrow up to $2500 for 15 years at 4-8 percent interest. These loans are secured by a promissory note by the borrower and a loan agreement scheduled in accordance with his ability to repay.

Families and single individuals with incomes which are too low to cover basic needs, and who, with the assistance of the Farmers Home Administration county supervisor, are successful in developing a plan of operation which will provide a reasonable prospect of increasing their earnings through a small amount of credit from a farming operation or other non - agricultural enterprise, and who are unable to obtain adequate credit on reasonable terms elsewhere, are eligible to receive the loans.

Cappelman also advises that Economic Opportunity Loans may be made to finance processing, marketing, purchasing and service type cooperatives which directly benefit low - income families living in rural areas. These loans may be scheduled for repayment over periods up to 30 years at an interest rate of 4-8 percent. The cooperative must pledge as security for the loan a property lien and pledge of revenue.

Some examples of cooperatives which might receive a loan are those packing, selling and shipping products grown on members' farms; marketing items constructed in home workshops of members, such as handcraft items; processing farm products; providing custom farm work for members; and wholesale buying of essential farm operating items such as machinery, seed, and fertilizer. These loans may be made to established or newly formed cooperative associations made up of a membership 23 of whom are low - income rural families, and serving predominantly families in this group.

Cappelman stated that additional information concerning this program may be obtained from county Farmers Home Administration personnel, County and Home Demonstration Agents, Vocational Agriculture teachers, Soil Conservation Service and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service representatives, and other United States Department of Agriculture agencies as well as State agencies. Applications may be filed in any local Farmers Home Administration County Office in the State. There are 133 County Offices, servicing every county in Texas. Applications are usually filed in the county in which the farm family or rural resident resides.

"The Community of Opportunity — Where Water Makes the Difference"

Expert Says Junior College Here by 1967 is Possible

There's an outside chance that the Muleshoe area will have a junior college ready to open its doors by the autumn of 1967, but there are a lot of "ifs".

It would take fast work but a lot of people, including the state board of education, to make the 1967 date possible, "but it could be done if everything goes well."

That's the word of Dr. C. C. Colvert, "Mr. Junior College of Texas" who was in Muleshoe this past week from Austin to survey the situation here. He talked in a public forum at the high school auditorium Thursday night, pointing out the steps necessary to secure a junior college, and also highlighting the advantages such a college would offer.

Dr. Colvert outlined these steps in procuring a junior college:

1. Interest. The area to be served by the college, the junior college district, must show intense interest in such a proposal.
 2. Survey. A survey which Dr. Colvert will make, must show there are sufficient pupils in the area to be served to provide a minimum enrollment of 500 within four years. (He said all such colleges started, including South Plains in Levelland, have far exceeded the minimum by the time the school has been in existence for four years).
 3. Cost estimates. The survey must provide an estimate of operating costs.
 4. Buildings. An adequate survey of the building needs.
 5. The Tax and bond rates necessary must be figured.
 6. Petition. At least 10 percent of the persons living in the proposed district must petition for an election to vote on the proposed junior college issue.
- The petition must show the boundaries of the proposed district, the tax rate and the bond issue.
- This same information must be included on the ballot, together with the names of board member candidates.
- After all these conditions have been met and the petition has been submitted to the State Board of Education, a second round of inspections and surveys will be necessary, this later one made by members of the state board. They also will examine a scrap book containing all publicity on the proposal.
- When the state board gives its ok to the project, the local junior college board proceeds to name a president for the school and hires an architect.

The local board picks the actual site for the school.

Dr. Colvert, who is a specialist on junior colleges with the University of Texas, pointed out the many advantages such a school has to offer.

He pointed out that while a junior college offers full accreditation for students pursuing a college degree, it also serves as a "training school" where people, even those without a high school diploma, may take courses in trades as well as scholastic courses. Those who are high school graduates and make passing grades in junior college may transfer all their credits to a four - year school.

These are some of the courses offered: Pre - law, pre - engineering, pre - medicine, adult education courses, accounting, conversational Spanish, business law, agriculture, child care, home nursing (for registered nurses' training), home nursing, child care, home landscaping, English, six - weeks

Teacher Attends State Conference For Principals

Elizabeth Watson, Curriculum Director of the Mulashoe Schools, attended the Texas Elementary Principals and Supervisors Association Spring Conference at the Rice Hotel, Houston, April 7, 8, 9.

The theme for the conference was "A Wonderland of New Ideas in Elementary Education." A school visitation, a boat trip down the ship channel, and a visit to the new National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Manned Spacecraft Center (NASAS-C) were special events sponsored by the host city.

Dr. Hanne Hicks, Director of Instruction at Indiana University, gave the keynote addresses on "Performing the Vital Tasks" and "Providing the Vital Spark." Dr. Hicks said, "The most vital task that principals and supervisors can perform is to furnish proper leadership in helping teachers and as leaders, are experimenting the vital tasks that confront us today? To do so, we must have an open and imaginative mind. We should have the human touch as well as to give our own infectious enthusiasm and continue to be truly professional in all our commitments," he further stated.

Dr. John Goodlad, Director of Elementary Education of the University of California at Los Angeles, stressed, "Teach less and develop concepts, and to know data about students." He emphasized that educators should diagnose student ills, and understand their abilities.

Dr. Hollis A. Moore, Jr., Director of the Kellogg Foundation, Battle Creek, Michigan, pointed out that active and forceful leadership by the principal is an absolute for any change. "As a leader," he asked, "do you release the creative in your faculty, try the unexpected, consider with ideas, find imaginative designs, and give change a chance?"

Dr. Charles Allen, minister of the First Methodist Church in Houston spoke on "The Importance of One Person" at the conference banquet. Dr. Allen challenged the conferees to never lose sight of the worth of the individual in our complex society.

Small assemblies were held in specific areas of the elementary school program. The Non-Graded school, Reading Techniques, New Teaching Media were presented. Approximately 85 exhibitors displayed educational materials.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reacts to the latest claim out of Russia in his letter this week.

You never can tell about something that comes out of Russia. They have their own brands of truth over there and they switch brands twice a week, but according to an article I read in a newspaper day before yesterday, a couple of Russian scientists believe they have heard radio signals from a planet millions of miles away indicating there's a form of "higher civilization" out there, and while the scientists later said it was too early to be sure about these signals, still they're picking up something.

I don't know whether there is a higher form of civilized life somewhere out in space or not and if it's left up to me to go see, man will never find out, but what interests me is the Russians' guess that the radio signals indicated a higher form of civilization.

What I mean is, turn it around. If there are people out in space and they're picking up radio broadcasts from our planet, you reckon they'd interpret what they hear as a higher form of civilization?

You really think such people out there would spend billions of dollars building rocket ships to come down here to earth to find out what's making all that noise on radio?

It's my theory that there are intelligent people millions of miles out in space, that they have heard our radio broadcasts and they're exploring space in the opposite direction. What is there about electric guitar music every fifteen minutes and world wars every fifteen years that'd make a higher form of civilized life want to come down here and get acquainted? Or, what is there about this Johnson grass farm that'd attract a man who had to travel a billion miles to see it? I know lots of people who wouldn't travel 10 miles to see it.

My general theory about space is that if there aren't any intelligent creatures out there, we may reach the point where there's no sense in exploring on barren planet after another, and if there are intelligent creatures out there, let them look me up, provided I haven't ruined the chance by broadcasting to the universe what we're up to down here.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER FROM SENATOR JOHN TOWER

DEFENSE PREPAREDNESS

Our nation's military establishment, and military posture have long been of deep concern for Texans. Our state's long history of involvement in national defense, dating from frontier days, and in military preparedness, dating from the establishment of training camps in Texas because of climatic and geographical factors. Texas now is part of 29 Air Force bases, six Navy installations, and six Army posts. In addition, we are concerned about space affairs because of the huge NASA installation at Houston.

The war in Vietnam now serves to accent Texans' concern with military preparedness. The Vietnam situation proves, just as has been proven by every military encounter in which America has been engaged, that we must maintain an "ability of power" in our favor at all times if we are to avoid major wars.

Committee Restore Cutbacks

The Armed Services Committee, upon which I serve, has recently concluded its studies of the airplane, ship and equipment requests of the Department of Defense for the next year. The Committee was concerned with certain cutbacks by the Secretary of Defense and felt that in several cases the cuts were damaging to America's defense posture.

Therefore, I am pleased to report that the Committee has called for procurement of several things cut by the Administration. Among the major items restored by my committee were the new submarines and funds for initial development of a totally new and radically improved manned bomber. In addition, the House of Representatives Armed Services Committee has restored funds for building a new nuclear-powered frigate. I hope all these restorations will be retained by the full Senate. They are a vital addition to our nation's defenses in a time when we know not how serious the Vietnam war may become. (Seapower is cru-

J.W. Jarman, 94, Dies, Funeral Held Saturday

Funeral services for Joseph Willis Jarman, 94, who died at Muleshoe Nursing Home Thursday, were held at the Muleshoe Church of Christ at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, conducted by the pastor, D. L. Thompson, and Ebb Randol, Farwell, Burial, Singleton Funeral home in charge of arrangements, was in the Lazbuddie cemetery.

Pallbearers were Gene Paul Jarman, Damon Carter, Merlin Neel, Joe Dean Rice, Douglas Grubb and Don L. Grantham. Survivors include his widow, one son, Orby Jarman, Muleshoe; three daughters, Mrs. Faye Carter, Tulsa, Mrs. Wanda Mongram, Anaheim, Calif., and Mrs. Maggie Lynn, Shawnee, Okla.; one sister, Mrs. Ella Bryson, Hollis, Okla.; two brothers, Claude Jarman, Pauls Valley, Okla., and Lee Jarman, Fresno, Calif., and by eight grandchildren, and 15 great grandchildren.

Jarman was born in Rusk county, Jan. 31, 1871, and had lived in Marlo, Okla. and later Lazbuddie. He had lived in this area since 1928. He was a farmer.

Gins Planning Friday Meeting, 400 Expected

Twelfth annual stockholders meeting of Muleshoe cooperative Gins will be held next Friday, starting at noon, Earl Richards, manager, has announced.

Three directors are to be elected, and dividend checks are to be distributed, Richards said.

Richards, in his report, will tell the 400-odd stockholders in the co-operative gins that the organization has continued to grow throughout the years, and with this year's refunds, will have paid out $713,813.02 to its members.

This year's refunds will total $79,440.33 which, Richards says, "is a far cry from that first year's payments in 1954 - 55 cotton year when we made cash refunds of $13,963.67." The 1964 - 65 payment, it was pointed out, is exceptionally high in view of the fact that this was not a "good cotton year."

All members and their wives are invited to attend the meeting at American Legion Hall, starting with a luncheon. Four-hundred persons are expected. Luncheon music will be provided by Ray Martin at the organ.

cial in that far-off battle.) New Manned Bomber

In addition, the Senate committee indicated support for the concept of a B-111 manned bomber and urged the Department of Defense to give serious consideration to initiating B-111 development in next year's budget.

The B-111 would be developed from the F-111 aircraft being built now at Fort Worth. It would serve as an interim manned bomber to assure that there is no bomber gap in the 1970's when our present strategic aircraft are phased out as obsolete and before any totally new bomber could be operational.

I had hoped that funds for the B-111 development could be added this year, but information available to the Armed Services Committee indicates that if the plane is started by next year, it will be ready in time to prevent a bomber gap. One key factor in this postponement capability is the fact that Texans already are producing the fighter version from which the bomber would be drawn. Thus, the B-111 need not be started from scratch, but will benefit from much of the work already being done at Fort Worth.

I believe the nation's defense needs require the B-111, and will continue to support its development.

Military Production Schedules

There is some question as to whether our current production schedules for military aircraft and helicopters is adequate to meet the attrition rate (planes lost and damaged), which we now are experiencing in Vietnam. I hope our committee can look into this matter at an early date. There is a distinct possibility that funds will have to be provided to speed production of a "follow-on" version of present Navy attack aircraft being used in the Vietnam conflict. The presently planned new attack plane is the A7A, which will be built in Dallas.

LEGISLATION

I'd like to report to you this month about the legislation I've introduced in this new session of the Congress. My last newsletter mentioned some of the key bills I've submitted this year, but there are many others - a total of 67, in fact - which concern matters of interest and importance to Texans.

As you know, senators support legislation in two ways. Bills of which I am the author are called "sponsored" bills. Bills authored or written by other senators and upon which my name appears as an expression of mutual support, are called "co-sponsored" bills.

Sixty-seven bills and resolutions is a large number for any single senator to be supporting in a congressional session only three months old. But the breadth of our state's interests and economy concerns. Texans with many more matters than a smaller, less active state.

We are concerned with foreign affairs, imports, exports, military forces and bases, crops of all kinds, education, taxation and conservation - just to mention a few. And the legislation I am supporting reflects these interests. This legislation is designed to further those principles of national, state and local affairs which I feel most Texans support.

VA HOSPITAL CLOSINGS

I am pleased to report that the Administration is considering reversal of its unwise plan to close McKinney Veterans Hospital. When the Administration announced plans to close a number of the VA facilities, consolidate others, and change the Regional status of others, Congress made its own position known very emphatically. It gained some time, during which the Administration took a second look, and, judging from press reports, came to the conclusion that some of the closings would not be in the public interest. I am hopeful that this will prove so, for I do not believe it is in the public interest, and particularly in the interest of our veterans, to close smaller hospitals for the sole purpose of forcing veteran patients into larger hospitals in a more distant city.

On March 10 of this year I testified, with other Texas officials, before the Department of Interior hearings on foreign oil imports. On that occasion I pointed out to the Secretary of the Interior that "total oil imports must be frozen, or rolled back if feasible, until the health of the domestic oil producing industry has been restored and the trend toward greater exploratory drilling assured. In addition, appropriate means must be found and applied to neutralize the economic advantage of foreign produced oil brought into this country. The present system is not working, and additional patchwork in what is already a crazy quilt of special deals is not the answer."

Almost everyone in Texas realizes the importance of a healthy domestic petroleum industry. It contributes greatly to our educational system. It paves our highways. It provides jobs and opportunities for hundreds of thousands of Texans.

Recently we received at least a partial answer to our pleas. Residual fuel oil imports will not be cut. In fact, they will be increased. The next allocation period for imports of crude oil and other petroleum products starts in July. I hope that the Secretary of Interior's attitude as it relates to residual fuel oil imports does not carry over into the total crude oil picture. The Administration's foreign oil import allocation is very damaging to the domestic petroleum industry, particularly in Texas where we have such a large number of independent producers. I hope he will heed the pleas of our domestic producers for curtailment of imports.

Said Dr. Colvert: "Every adult in every community should enroll in a course or have a first-class funeral."

He pointed to such things as six weeks' courses in flower arrangements. In Levelland, hundreds of persons have taken short courses.

"While the college would provide aesthetic values for all the community, it also will make it possible for these people to make a better living — and live at home," he declared.

It's economically good since the students, for the most part, live at home and commute to and from college, thus cutting out board bills. By such a method, he said, many students have saved enough money to permit them to go on for their third and fourth years in a senior college.

Dr. Colvert spent Friday and Saturday surveying the territory. A junior college district, to be a success in such sparsely settled areas as this, must enroll more than the public school district, he said. He suggested that the proposed college here include all of Bailey county, and parts of Lamb, Parmer and Castro counties.

As to the operating cost, Dr. Colvert said "junior college taxes are the lowest taxes any taxpayer pays. The state has figured that the average cost is $700 per pupil for the two years, and of this the state pays $400. Pupils pay $50 per semester as tuition."

The local community in which the college is located furnishes the buildings, grounds, etc. "When the cost is figured on the basis of the increased income of the students, the cost is indeed small," he pointed out. "We know that the earning capacity of a junior college graduate is $500 a year greater than that of the high school graduate."

Dr. Colvert will return to Austin to prepare his written report, and then will return to Muleshoe.

Texas Education Agency Compares Teacher Pay Increase Proposals

AUSTIN — The Texas Education Agency this week released to the authors of the two teacher salary increase bills a computation showing how each bill would affect every school district in the state.

This official computation developed by IBM machines from the records of the Texas Education Agency confirms that the "45 for '65" program would make available to teachers a salary increase more than twice as great as that provided under the alternate proposal recommended by Governor Connally.

It also reveals that the local districts, through the requirement in the alternate bill that they pay a portion of the cost of textbooks and of matching funds for teacher retirement deposits, would be required to provide an average of 60 per cent or more of the inadequate salary raise which would be made available, L. P. Sturgeon, Director of Public Relations, Texas State Teachers Association, announced today.

For example, the two programs would affect Dallas County in this way: S. B. 124 by Senator Strong would provide for all the districts of that county an increase of $419,263 for Foundation Program salary raises, and the taxpayers of the Muleshoe within a week or two to present that report again at a public forum.

From all indications, he is optimistic over the prospects of a junior college in the Muleshoe area.

Ellis

The club is planning a mammoth celebration in September marking the 25th anniversary of Lions club in Muleshoe. The event will be held in the new Muleshoe high school cafeteria, due to be completed in August.

combined school district of Dallas County would increase their local support $1,413,384. Teachers would get less than a $200 raise under this proposal, and the local districts would be required to pay 77 percent of that raise while the state would pay only 23 percent.

Local districts would match the state increase and then be required to raise an additional million dollars primarily to pay for the added cost of textbooks and teacher retirement.

"45 for '65", sponsored by Senator Aikin and Representative Hinson, would provide the school districts of Dallas County $2,791,424 for Foundation Program teacher salary raises, and the districts would increase their own effort $965,238.

"45 for '65" program would provide $405 raise for teachers and the state would pay 74 percent of the cost, with the Dallas County school districts paying the remaining 26 percent.

There are at least two districts in Dallas County which would receive less money under S. B. 124 than they would receive under the present law with no salary increases provided for teachers. In other words, the local district would pay full cost of any increases granted and would receive less money from the state than they are getting at the present time.

"This illustration is typical of almost every county in the state," Sturgeon stated. For example, in Harrison County, the Governor's plan would provide $26,108 for salary increases, and local districts would raise their effort by $85,400. Under S. B. 4-H B. 5, the "45 for '65" program, all schools of Harrison County would receive $149,215 for teacher salary raises and would increase their own effort by $58,323.

In Wood County, the computation reveals that all the districts combined would receive $23,875 for salary raises under S. B. 124, and the local district would raise its effort by $41,537. Under the Aikin-Hinson program, Wood County schools would receive $38,570 and would increase their local fund effort by $28,357.

Every superintendent in Texas should request from the Texas Education Agency a copy of the computations for his district so that he and his board may determine for themselves exactly what effect the two programs would have on their individual districts.

"This would give their objective, official information, and they can make up their own minds as to which program offers the most to the teachers in improved salaries and which program will require additional funds collected from taxes on homes, businesses, and personal property to pay for textbooks and teacher retirement.

"We have no doubt as to the choice that will be made if the facts are ascertained," Sturgeon stated.

Choir Planning Annual Program Variety Show

Muleshoe high school choir, under the direction of Leasel Richardson, will present its annual program next Thursday night in the High school auditorium.

This year's show will be a variety program, with the 844 title of "Supercalifragilisticexpialidocious."

Appearing on the program will be the entire choir, a battle band, a newly-formed string group, the Blue Mules Stage band, and individual solos by choir members.

Proceeds will be used to help pay the choir's expenses to the Enid, Okla. Tri-State band and choir festival in May, it was explained.

Admission fees are $1 for adults with students' tickets costing 75 cents. The tickets may be purchased from any choir member, and home delivery service also is being provided. Persons wishing to buy tickets via phone may call 8-1949 and the tickets will be delivered, choir members said.

EASTER PARADE IN MULESHOE

Carrying out the Easter tradition of pretty clothes and Easter bunnies are Mrs. Bernard Phelps, Matt 6, and two daughters, Rebecca 13, and Ann 16. Mr. and Mrs. Phelps and family are members of the First Methodist Church. The Phelps will be spending the holidays with Mrs. Phelps' sister in Rotan, N.M.

It's Easter again!

It's the time of awakening, the bright season, the happy season.

It's the time for the new-new clothes, new flowers, new bunnies, new, new, new.

Easter means the awakening. The whole Christian World takes this day to mark that awakening. It's the day that gives meaning to the entire Christian faith - to the birth of Christ, his ministry, his resurrection!

It also means happy children, brightly colored Easter eggs, frilly dresses, gay hats.

It means all this. It's a happy day, the happiest day in the entire year for folks who believe in Easter and Christianity.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mann and daughters Devonna 5, and Donette 9, are shown in the Chapel of the First Methodist Church where they are members.

They will be a part of the Easter services Sunday. The Holy Cross is a symbol of Christ's victory over death.

Displaying their Easter baskets on the court house lawn after an Easter Egg hunt, are the Kindergarten group of Mrs. Cecil Tate. Egg traditionally represent the new life that returns to nature-sign of spring in green grass, new blossoms, tiny green leaves and warm sunshine-push aside winter and 40 days of Lent.

Shown entering the First Baptist Church are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hodges, Teresa 4, Randall 8, and David 11. Randall is in the third grade and David is in the sixth grade at Richland Hills.

Exotic Floral Designs Beavers Flowerland

Some of the most beautiful arrangements to be found anywhere can be seen at Beaver's Flowerland, 520 S. First St., in Muleshoe.

Cut flowers, pot plants and artificial flowers for weddings, homes, hospitals, funerals and churches are here in abundance. The artificial arrangements look so real you can hardly tell the difference between them and the live plants.

Artificial flowers and pot plants have become very popular in recent years and they are preferred by many people. They can be made to order by Mrs. Phyllis Beavers whose artistic talent has created some of the loveliest floral arrangements ever seen.

A large stock of cut flowers, roses, mums, gladioli, carnations and many others can be found here at all times. Flowers for hospital patients can be delivered in a short time and brings great joy to the person receiving it.

A corsage for a dance or high school graduation makes a lovely gift and is greatly appreciated by the young lady wearing it. Weddings get special treatment here and Mrs. Beavers can work all the floral arrangements so that the home or church will be most beautiful and attractive. Bouquets carried by bride and bridesmaids are assured of prompt service and made according to the customer's order.

Flowers can be wired anywhere in the world through Telefloral Wire Service to which this firm subscribes. Just call Muleshoe 3-1160 and tell them the kind of flowers you want sent and give the name and address.

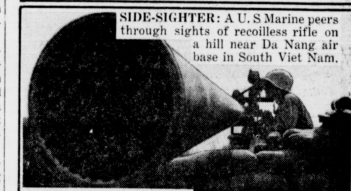

Mrs. Beavers has four employees assisting her in running this business. Rheata Peeler, Willie Hail, Jewel Pool, and Bobbie Fender and customers are assured of prompt service at all times. When you say it with flowers from Beaver's Flowerland, it is beautifully and promptly said. Why not beautify your home or office with some lovely blossoms from this shop. They will give your spirit a "lift" and make the day seem more cheerful.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Beavers started this business in 1958 and have enjoyed a large volume of business since that time. The business has shown a steady growth and handle as much business as many floral shops in larger towns.

Mr. Beavers is the local Post master and well known through out this area.

Floral Designs—Some of the beautiful floral designs are pictured above at Beavers Flowerland 520 S. First Street, Muleshoe. This firm has a large stock of real and artificial flowers for all occasions.

Greater numbers of wives are deciding each day whether to hold a job as a paid worker outside the home, in addition to their usual role as homemaker.

Many considerations enter into such a decision, including questions of the psychological and economic effects on the family.

An important economical consideration is how much further ahead the family will be financially if the wife takes a job.

There will be some additional expenses if the wife decides to work - and families need to do some detailed figuring to decide how much these new expenses will take from the paycheck.

The net income is the gross income, minus the total expenses. It is the net income and not the gross which will determine the amount of additional income the family will have to use.

If additional income is the main reason for the wife seeking employment, make a check list to help determine extra income that can be expected, along with expenses.

Here are some possible expenses: Social Security tax, income taxes, contributions to other retirement plans; meals and snacks at work; transportation to and from work; special work clothing, including care; dues to unions, professional and business organizations, professional and business publications; employee clubs; professional and business meetings, conventions; educational expenses related to employment; tools and licenses required for job; gifts and flowers for fellow employees; parties, special meals with fellow employees; extra money spent on general - wear clothing; extra spent for personal care; extra spent for help for household tasks; other expenses for specific job.

The net income is the gross income, minus the total expenses. It is the net income and not the gross which will determine the amount of additional income the family will have to use.

"...ME- ADVERTISE?"

If You Think Your Business Doesn't Need To Advertise... Then—

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

- MANY BUSINESSES OFFER THE SAME GOODS SERVICES—SOMETIMES AT VARIED PRICES?
- GASOLINE PRICES DIFFER WIDELY AT CERTAIN STATIONS?
- YOU CAN ACTUALLY SAVE MONEY BY SHOPPING AROUND TOWN BEFORE YOU BUY MAJOR APPLIANCES?
- YOUR KEY TO THE BEST BUYS IS THE MULESHOE JOURNAL AND THE BAILEY COUNTY JOURNAL?

PREACHERS — Should preach only one sermon a year..... we are all against sin anyway, so why harp on it?

TRAFFIC LIGHTS — Should be turned off at dangerous intersections to save electricity. Everybody knows it's a dangerous spot and that should be sufficient.

TEACHERS — No need to review lessons. Tell the children only once and they'll never forget?

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN — Stop driving up and down, no need to caution drivers for they know the law and should obey.

MAIL ORDER FIRMS — That send catalogues are wasting their money. Everyone knows what is sold at stores in town and of course they'll shop at home.

IF YOU ARE one of the foolish kind like the Notre Dame Cathedral that has stood for six centuries but still rings the bell every day to let people know it is there, and if you believe in consistent, profitable advertising, then you will.
