While it is true that the school is only one of the agencies that contribute to the child's proper degelopment, all intelligent people will agree that it is one of the strong agencies. While the school cannot be a substitute for the home, and the teacher's care and guidance a substitute for a mother's love, still for long years during the most impressionable and plastic period of the child's life the school is stamping its influence for good or ill upon his mind and heart. Good schools. therefore, are not only an index to the intelligence and earnestness of a community, but they represent as no other institution this thought and striving for higher things which should characterize all the efforts of modern society.

If good schools are an index of the intelligence and earnestness of a community, my it not be said that the school building itself, to some degree, reflects upon the intelligence and earnestness of a community? If this be a conceded fact, is this not an opportune time for Tahoka to take steps for a modern school building to meet the growing Tahok Tahoka have the best possible.

The amusing thing however is to have the man who has told us that it would do him no good to carry an ad in The News, tell us that we ought not advertise Lubbock. If it would do him no good to advertise in The News, what good would it do the other man? Or what harm would it do, looking at it from his standpoint, if we fill The News with outside advertising?

Another argument our Tahoka non-advertisers use, is that "It will do me no good to put an ad in The News right in a column with three or four others." Last week we had 29 ads scattered through the paper, and in one of these ads were 45 ads all in a bunch.

It takes money to run a news paper. A newspaper has to sell its space to get the money. The advertisers who buy the space derive the benefit. And it is up to the people of Tahoka to avail themselves of the benefit of the advertising space in the Lynn County

This week we heard of a Taho ka citizen carrying around a subscription list to get money to grade one of the principle streets. This is a move in the right direction all right, but the county commissioners should purchase a road grader and then it would be no trouble to raise enough money to grade the four principal streets clear across the section. Money could not be spent in a more profitable way than that of grading our streets.

Mr. H. C. Crie, Dear Sir and Friend:

I have been thinking for several days that I would write you.

We have been in this land of terprise does not agree with the flowers (the tropics) a little more than two weeks. This climate is delightful beyond description. The fruit trees are burdened with various kinds of luscious tropical fruits; and this great river is alive with numerous kinds of fish. The weather has been very pleasant ever since we arrived here. are stopping for the time in the beautiful city of Tlocotalpom, situated on the north bank of the Popalowapam River, which is one of the largest rivers in Mexico. As I now view it, this country only needs American development to make it a veritable earthly Paradise. Health conditions appear to be of the first order. It appears to me that great opportunities are here, ripe for enterprising Americans, who will muster courage to come and seize them. This country is now in the midst of growing crops, blooming flowers, with vegetation and vegetables of best quality and every description. Since arriving here, all the weather has been more delightful than the most agreeable season of the year on the Plains; no dust, no drought, no frost, no severe winds, and no severe weather.

We buy in the market every morning, fresh supplies of vegetables and other provisions for our daily consumption. Living is a little high here. This town, where we are stopping for the present, is about 40 miles from the land we own. Some time next ns spent some days last week on the land of our future homes. None of us have seen an American newspaper since we arrived here.

anxious to learn how things are moving along in that part of the world.

DEATH OF THE OLD YEAR.

BY CHARLOTTE BEAUMONT JARVIS

Miserere! tell the bell, Let the earth send forth a knell, For a great soul takes his flight, None knows whither, in the night-

Stretched upon his enewy hier, Dying lies the good Old Year; And upon the midnight gale All may hear his parting wall-

In the old hing's chequered reign There were mingled joy and pain; Friends proved false, while fees Steners many, mints-a few-

There were hearts that suffered wrong. Bore it bravely, and were strong; Hearts there were, so black within, Satan wondered at their sin-Miserere!

Garners full of fruitful store, Measures pressed, and running e'er; amine in the streets at night. Doing deeds too dark for light-

Rang the church bells for the wed, Tolled they also for the dead; In one home a joy was born, From another joy was torn—

Such earth's sorrow, such its sin, All must end where they begin; Snew which wraps the New Year's feet Is the Old Year's winding sheet-

Now his spirit goeth fast, Midnight hour will be his last; To your knees, earth's worn and weary-Miserere! Miserere!

But no place in the civilized world wants them.

The ideal retreat would be a quiet, peaceful, thoroughly dead town, in a hot climate, where the houses have no doors, and lawn mowers, baby carriages, wheelbarrows, apple carts and ideas have never been introduced, and where, therefore, it is unnecessary to push anything.

THE FOOLISH CHILD.

Story of a Little Boy Who Lived In a Glass House.

There was once a little boy who lived in a house all made of glass. He lived with his mother and his father and his nurse, and he used to have a lovely time sliding on the glass floors. And everything went well while he was good, but one day be wasn't. He was cross. When he slipped on the glass door, instead of thinking it fun he was angry, and when he went down to breakfast he slid down the glass banisters, which be ought not to have done. And he spilled his milk on the glass table and made marks all over the glass walls with soap. And finally he looked out of the win-1 mean the wall, for, of course, all the walls were windows-and saw some children playing and making lots of noise. That made him crosser, so be went down to the back yard and collected a lot of stones and went upstairs again and threw them at the children, which was the naughtiest thing yet. He couldn't dodge out of sight, because the whole wall was glass, so when the children looked up they saw him there. They were quite indignant, so they picked up the stones and threw them back at the little boy. They hit the house in all directions and made such alarming jagged holes that the little boy's mother and father came running in and, taking the little boy's hands, ran downstairs and out as quickly as possible. The minute they got outside their beautiful house collapsed completely. The father shook his head.

"We'll have to take a brick cottage," he said. "Oh, my boy, don't you know that people who live in glass houses shouldn's throw stones?" - Chicago News.

MOVING PICTURES.

A Homemade Apparatus That Will Provide a Good Show.

Simple moving pictures may be made as follows: Hang a sheet across an open doorway, the wider the better: seat your spectators on one side of the sheet and set up your apparatus on the other-that is, in another room. From a large sheet of cardboard cut out your figures. Two or three will be enough, but they should be different and as funny as you can make them. If you cannot draw, paste pictures from comic papers on the cardboard and cut along the outlines of the figures. Place a light behind the cardboard and put out the other lights in both rooms. The figures will appear on the sheet as bright patches surrounded by darknees. The darkness is the shadow of the cardboard, and if it does not cover the sheet the cardboard must be patched out with other pieces.

Two lights will give you two groups of figures on the sheet, and so on, and the figures will not become less bright as you multiply them. A simple and very effective arrangement of lights is shown in the illustration.

Soap Bubble Parties.

These are most interesting for all sises and ages. Good clay pipes and castile soap and bowls enough to go around are the needful things; also a room which will not be hurt by a sprinkling of soapsuds. And one thing more-the smaller the child the bigger the aprou to cover him.

A little glycerin in the lukewarm soapsuds will make the bubbles brighter, and more durable, and if a thick shawl is spread on the floor they will bounce upon it like rubber balls.

A bubble tournament is great fun. Arrange sides, with leaders. Let one side step forward in a line with pipes and bowls. Then the leader starts and sees how many bubbles he can make with one dip of his pipe. Rach of his followers does likewise, while some one not in the game keeps the score. Then the other side takes its turn, and the side which blows the greatest number is the prise winner.

Ball on Horseback.

For this game half the players must be mounted on the backs of the other half. Catchball is then played in the ordinary way, the riders doing the throwing and catching, while the steeds do their best to help them by running to where the ball seems likely to fall.

The stronger boys should be the horses and take the smaller once for riders, Conundrums.

Why is love like a potato? It grows less by paring (pairing). Why is it that it cannot rain two days in succession? Because there is a night between. Why is the letter U a great joker?

Because it is always in fun. What sort of a day would be good for a cup race? A muggy day.

SUFFRAGETTE ATTIRE.

Women Who Would Vote Now Carry Walking Sticks.

Now that women here and there are wearing a little pin with "Votes For Women" on it, suffragette fashions may be expected to boom.

Several of them have already appeared, but they were classed among the freaks because they weren't really practical. Thus the divided skirt with the long train is seen only on the stage, and you don't have to go and see it there unless you want to, so sensible women are spared the spectacle of seeing others of their sex maneuver in these bifurcated and most inartistic garments.

Some other suffragette fashions have been equally short lived, but here are two novelties which because they serve a distinct purpose are expected to last at least throughout the strenuous suffrage season.

The first is the walking stick. The second is the hat that stays on Any woman with the vaguest suspicion of a limp has an excuse to get a walking stick and to carry it constantly, or she may adopt the Mar quise de Pompadour's excuse - very high heels and carry a long cane to belp her over the treacherous comble stones. Not matter for what reason she carries it-tight shoes or manly principles-the walking stick is distinctly effective, and since men have carried it for centuries in some form or other it has uses other than the display of vanity.

As Mme. de Pompadour well knew. nothing shows off a costume so effectively as the grand gesture produced by the graceful use of the walking

It is a long cry from suffragette fashions to evening gowns, but even the shrieking sisterhood condescend to array themselves in the most stunning of frocks upon occasions. The costume illustrated is a Parislan creation of oyster white satin. A noticeable feature of the design is the great fullness that is brought into the skirt at the back. Over the satin fourreau is a close fitting tunic made of a latticework of silver cords and opals, an opal being set wherever the cords cross each other. The tunic falls in a deep point almost to the feet in front. The upper part of the bodice is very original. It gives the fichu effect of being merely a draped affair of pale rose chiffon and old lace which is all in one with the gathered sleeves that barely reach the elbow. The corselet is a very high one, and the folds of the fichu bodice are tucked into it. There are no bretelles to continue the line over the shoulders.

Few Women Stop to Consider Trifles. If every woman stopped when she makes up her mind to buy a thing and asked herself. "Is it practical?" "Will it wash and will it wear?" "Is it worth the price?" many concerns now prospering and flourishing would have to go out of business. But the average woman does not do her shopping in that way. She sees something that she likes, something pretty, something that takes her fancy, and she buys it. And many of the shops where fancy trifles are to be had count upon this as one of their surest sources of big receipts. Like the man who drinks-it is not what he eats that costs the money, it is what he drinks. And with womankind in their dress it is not the staples of life which cost the most; it is the luxuries.

Improvised Bascinet.

A mother who found herself without a crib for ber infant daughter when on a visit bought an oblong wicker basket, such as are used by bakers to pack loaves of bread.

This was lined with several layers of cotton batting slipped between muslin ides and bottoms the exact size of the basket. The lining was tied in by small ribbons sewed, so it could be taken out and washed.

Not only could baby sleep in its bread basket at night, but it was just the thing to take out on the porch, to stand on a chair out of drafts or even to put on the grass on a rubber blanket when nurse or family were out is the woods or on the beach.

Have You Planted Stark Delicious?

If not make it the first and biggest item on your next order—you'll never regret it. Delicious is the most wonderful apple known to horticulture for quality, keeping qualities and selling value. This year at the sale of the Wenatchee Valley Fruit Growers' Ass'n (Washington) Delicious brought $3.00 per box f. o. b. there (the present market value is $4.00), while Spitzenburg brought only $2.50 Wineself while Spitzenburg brought only $2.50, Winesap $2.25, Jonathan $1.90, Black Ben $1.75, (now $2.00 -selling with Jonathan), Baldwin $1.15, Ben Davis $1.40, Gano $1.50, etc.

Luther Burbank, Wizard of Horticulture, says: "Delicious is a gem, the finest apple in all the world. It is the best in quality of any apple I have so far tested"—and Luther Burbank knows.

Delicious Brings $2,000 Per Acre 100 seven year old Stark Delicious apple trees in the Bailey Orchard, Chelan Co., Washington, earned $2,000 for their owner last year and when prices were low—or an average of $20 per tree for one season's crop. Delicious is today making more profits—big profits, for the long-headed, far-sighted orchardists who have planted it than any other variety. Write for "The Apple Stark Delicious" a booklet giving its full history and the opinions of the world's greatest horticulturists and successful orchardists. It will convince you. Last year we sold 1,250,000 trees of Delicious alone and could have sold another million had we had them. Planters now-a-days do not buy a variety at that rate unless there's a reason. And there is one-send for the booklet.

Stark King David Apple You should plant it along with Delicious plant it largely—you'll never regret it. It's a money maker, and a big one. It has highest quality, is a long keeper, very hardy, and has beautiful color. Sells at highest prices. Many planters think it better

"In my opinion King David will surpass Delicious as a commercial apple. It is fine as silk."—Rev. T. H. Atkinson, Entiat, Washington.

Was in Mr. Olde' orchard last week. His King David 3-yr. old trees will bear quite a lot of fruit this year. I consider them far ahead of Jonathan—the fruit is larger, has better color and flavor and is a better keeper.—D. J. Hayden, Chelan Co., Washington.

King David stood 25 degrees below zero last winter without injury while Ben Davis suffered severely.—R. G. McDougali, Chelan Co., Washington.

R. G. McDougali, Chelan Co., Washington.

King David, a very rich red, makes a most beautiful apple. Hangs on the tree well, equal to Ben Davis and just as productive; quality is equal to Spitzenburg; picked three boxes from one scion gratted on Ben Davis. It is the finest apple you have for this part of the country; the most beautiful apple grown; can't help but sell anywhere, and shead of all others. Have heard nothing but King David all this season. Have had to date fifty-two parties at my place to see these apples.—F. Dando, Chelan Co., Washington.

Include King David in your next order. You'll never regret it and will want more when you see its

Stark Early Elberta Peach

One of the good things you can not afford to overlook. It is winning golden opinions from experienced fruit men the country over. Better quality than Elberta and ripens ten days to two weeks earlier, reaching the markets when all other good peaches are scarce and thus commanding high prices. A great shipping peach, surpassing Elberta.

I believe Early Elberta is one of the best varieties introduced since the first Elberta came. In Early Elberta one has all of the good qualities of Elberta, and the additional feature of early ripening. When this is taken into consideration, and when it is planted along with the original Elberta, much of the strain and confession which comes with peach harvest will be greatly reduced. The shipping season will be lengthened.—E. H. Favor, Ass't Horticulturist, Davis Co., Utah.

Having tested its shipping and keeping qualities theroughly, without doubt it is the most valuable addition to the commercial peach list introduced in recent years; an excellent shipper and as a keeper it has no rival.—L. Marsh, Hort. Inspector, Davis Co., Utah. J. H. Hale (The Peach King) wrote me that he took some Early Elberta home from Georgia and that they kept nearly twice as long as Elberta.—Dr. Sumner Gleason (Originator of Stark Early Elberta) Davis Co., Utah.

Early Elberta is all right. Two trees bore fine, yellow, spicy fruit and although not a full crop, it was more than was produced by 50 Elberta trees in the same orchard. Ripened with Carman.—E. H. Riehl, (III. Experiment Station) Pres. Alton Horticultural Society, Madison Co., III.

Stark Early Elberta is worthy of your utmost confidence—plant it largely and reap the harvest of profits which will surely follow. The true Stark Early Elberta can be had only of us. We purchased the exclusive propagating right from the originator, Dr. Sumner Gleason.

Other Western Varieties

The success of an orchard is dependent upon the judgment displayed in the selection of varieties the profit paying kind. And profit in fruit growing means quality. Quality and color are the two things that the great fruit consuming public pay their money for. That's certain—you can't deny it.

Increase your orchard profits—do it by planting the splendid tested special sorts of Stark Trees. Begin now-don't wait until next season. Plant now and be that much nearer a big profit paying erect than you would be by waiting 6 months or a year

Here is a brief list of varieties highly adapted to western conditions-the kind that will make a model orchard which will yield profitable returns. Apple Grape
