INDIAN STORY OF CREATION

Bellef Beems to Be Oddly Connected With Both Biblical Story and Mythical Legend.

Some of the tribes of North American Indians had a belief concerning the creation of the world and man that sounds like a combination of the Bible story of the events in the lives of the first couple on earth, and the mythical story of Pandora's box and the evil spirits.

The Indians believed that heavenly beings came down and made the world, after which they made a man and a woman of clay. The intention of the Creater was that men should live always. But the Sun, when he passed over told them that there was not land enough, and that people had better

At length the daughter of the Sun was bitten by a snake and died. The Sun, however,-whom they worshiped as a god-consented that human be ings might live always. He entrusted to their care a box, charging that they should not open it. However, Impelled by euriesity, they opened it, contrary to the injunction of the Sun, and the spirit it contained escaped, and then the fate of all men-that they must die-was decided.
