Germans Routed In Two Points Near Budapest

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Russian troops wheeling on Budapest from the southeast in a new all-out offensive, have broken through German-Hungarian lines at two points in the Cegled area, 35 miles from the Hungarian capital, Berlin announced tonight.

Marshal Tito's headquarters announced another important development in the south where Russian and Yugoslav troops crossed the Danube river on a 37-mile front between Baja and Apatin in a drive on the large strategic Hungarian city of Pecs, 34 miles west of Baja and 99 miles southwest of Budapest.

Meanwhile the Ankara radio, broadcasting a report from the Turkish news agency's correspondent inside Budapest, said there was "continued pitched street fighting" in Pest, the part of the capital on the east bank of the Danube.

The German military commentator, Col. Ernst von Hammer, said that the new Russian drive on Budapest was launched north of the 18-mile rail line between Russian-held Cegled and Ssolnok, and apparently was aimed both at Budapest and toward a juncture with other Soviet forces that had crossed the middle Tisza river, cut the Budapest-Miskolc railway connecting Budapest with eastern Slovakia, and threatened Budapest from the east and north-east.

Von Hammer said the Russians "were stemmed and forced to bring up reserves" after initial gains.

In addition, the German commentator, Lt. Col. Alfred Oberger, reported that Gen. Ivan Petrov's Fourth Ukrainian army, fighting in eastern Czechoslovakia, "plans to advance on Budapest from Slovakia."

German V-2 Rocket Faster Than Sound

By E. V. W. JONES
LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The German V-2 rocket bomb, described as a 13 1-2 ton wingless projectile which cuts through space at a maximum speed of 3,500 miles an hour, has been falling in Allied sectors in Belgium and France as well as in Britain, front dispatches permitted through censorship said tonight.

A number of these new vengeance weapons, which cannot be heard coming because they are faster than sound, fell in one U. S. Army sector alone in less than two days, and the rate has increased at various intervals, said a dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Austin Bealmer. The censor deleted the origin of the dispatch.

At least 38 persons have been killed or badly injured by the V-2 bombardment of Britain, a check of casualties in reported incidents showed.

BOMB INCREASES JAP LIST

AT A LEYTE AIRBASE, Philippines, Sunday, Nov. 12 (AP)—Major Richard I. Bong, of Poplar, Wis., America's ace of aces ran his string to 3 today, downing two more Japanese planes in the skies above Ormoc. Three other pilots helped boost the score of the fighting 49th fighter group to 555 enemy planes. They included Second Lt. Fernley H. Dahstgen, of Olivia, Tex., who got one.

any case. We are opposed to academic license. "The board has not failed to recognize the proper relationships between it and President Rainey. The best evidence of this is that after six years as president he is able to find only 16 points or instances wherein the board has differed from his recommendations."

Rainey in his appearance before the faculty listed 16 instances of what he called actual or attempted restrictive measures which he said the board had imposed on him. Bullington said the board in discharging Rainey "acted after the most careful and earnest consideration of all questions involved, that they knew 'serious repercussions were certain to follow. They are prepared to accept and do accept full responsibility for the results of their action.'"

The board discharged Rainey at a meeting in Houston Nov. 1, and Regents John H. Bickett, H. H. Weibelt, and Dan Harrison then resigned.

Churchill Visits French Capital

By GLADWIN HILL
PARIS, Nov. 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, returning to Paris for the first time since the black days of 1940, opened conferences on this Armistice Day with the French provisional government which are expected to center on the restoration of France as a first-rate world power.

His visit coincided with announcement that the United States, Britain, and Russia had invited the De Gaulle government to assume full membership on the European advisory commission, which is studying the problems of peace. Churchill, who paused long enough to take part in the first Armistice Day celebration in France in five years, was believed to have brought at least informally qualified assurances from the "big four"—the United States, Britain, Russia and China—of what France is most anxious about:

France's early resumption of a bigger role in settling the future of Germany, and in establishing a world security organization. The resumption of normal economic relations between France and Britain has been widely mentioned as prominent on the agenda, but this is reliably viewed as being forced into the background because France's domestic economy has been paralyzed by war.

More pressing are such matters as France's part in the occupation of Germany, France's collaboration in the war in the Pacific, and her views on stabilization of world peace. The occupation question as far as France was concerned was not clarified at the Quebec conference and Churchill, fresh from Moscow, was likely to be at least an informal emissary.

A statement issued by the American embassy said the ambassadors of the U. S., Britain and Russia "expressed their conviction that co-operation of the representatives of their countries on the commission with their French colleagues will help prepare the way for a solid and durable peace in Europe founded upon democracy, order and justice."

A statement published simultaneously by the Quai d'Orsay said France would be on "a basis of perfect equality" with the three other powers on the commission.

American Planes Attack Reichland

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—German anti-aircraft gunners offered only meager to moderate resistance today when 2,000 American planes attacked the Reich in bad weather from west and south, hitting poorly-defended targets in Italy, Austria and western Germany.

Lt. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz' U.S. strategic air forces coordinated strikes with the Fifteenth air force in Italy, sending out 700 heavy bombers, which hit synthetic oil plants in Czechoslovakia, a steel plant at Linz, Austria, and bridges in northern Italy. The Liberators and Fortresses from Italy were escorted by 450 fighters.

Suggesting the RAF was on its way back to Germany tonight, Berlin radio warned of the approach of "enemy border formations" over Heligoland Bay approaching northwestern Germany.

Four bombers and one fighter failed to return from today's raids.

Flier Killed in Crash

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Lt. Lambert A. Wood, 24, of Oracle, Ariz., was killed yesterday in a plane crash near Weslaco.

Four Transports Sunk; Remnants Only Get Ashore

By RAY CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor

The wiping out of four troop-laden Japanese transports and six destroyers as they attempted to carry 8,000 reinforcements to Leyte island in the central Philippines, was reported today (Sunday) by Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur.

The general said the convoy was destroyed by Third fleet carrier pilots. The previous day Yank army airmen sank three transports and seven destroyers while they were on a similar mission in Leyte's Ormoc Bay.

MacArthur declared that only remnants of the 8,000 Japanese fighting men in the second ill-fated convoy reached shore. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, reporting on the same operation, listed four transports, two destroyers and a destroyer escort sunk, two destroyers probably sunk and one damaged. He added 13 Japanese planes shot down and five probably destroyed by carrier pilots to the 19 reported shot down by Army fliers. Two Nippon planes were blasted out of the air near Third fleet carriers.

On Leyte fighting fronts spearheads of dismounted Yank cavalry men pushed into the rugged mountains east of Ormoc road. Fighting raged eight miles southwest of Carigara Bay, starting point of a southward drive by the First cavalry division Doughboys maintained pressure against the stubborn Japanese along the road south of Pinamporan, also on the bay. Heavy rains slowed operations.

A large task force of B-29s, employing secret instruments to locate targets through clouds, were reported by the 20th U. S. Airforce command to have hit the Omura aircraft factory at Omura, on Japan's home island of Kyushu. They also raided dock and loading facilities at Nanking and military storage and trans-shipment installations at Shanghai.

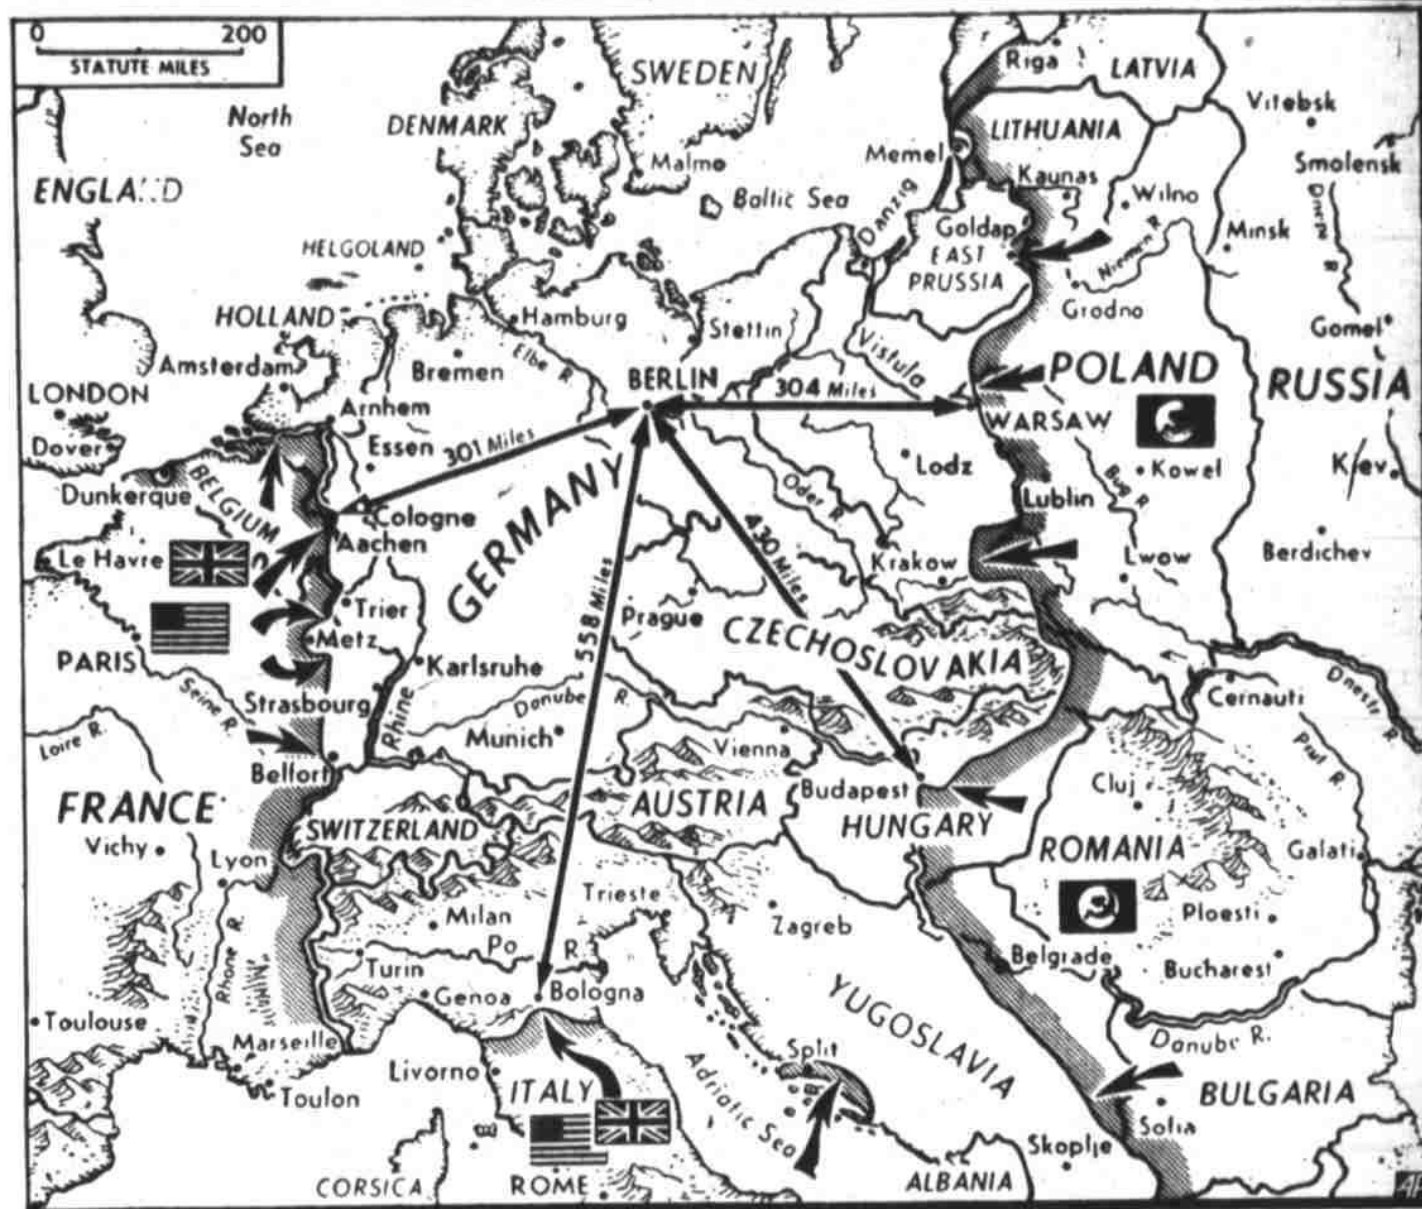

China's military position darkened considerably as the Japanese, admittedly 350,000 strong in vital Kwangsi province, threw a column westward some 80 miles south of Luichow. This force was within 7 1-2 miles of Chungking, on the highway leading to Yungning (Nanning). Capture of Yungning would place the Japanese only 105 miles from their forces in French Indo-China.

China Has Post-War Air Travel Plans

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (AP)—China disclosed today her ambitions to participate in postwar international air travel and her intention to open China skies to other nations. At the same time China took a stand in line with United States views on the international civil aviation conference.

Kia-Ngou Chang, former Chinese minister of communications and head of a delegation to the conference, presented his country's views at a press conference. He said in brief: "The virtual exclusion of foreign airlines by China before the war was due to fear of Japanese penetration, and a revised policy would be adopted after the war. China is prepared to welcome foreign operators on a non-discriminatory basis, with rights to be granted through mutual understanding."

China's immediate postwar concern will be rebuilding of domestic services, with parallel activity to develop a network of air services to neighboring countries, and eventually to all the world.

Americans Make Five-Mile Gains Into Metz Defenses

Pacific Naval Forces Growing

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Nov. 11 (AP)—The American Pacific fleet fast carrier task force is becoming increasingly stronger and in a very few months will have twice as many carriers operating in the western Pacific as it had six months ago, Rear Admiral George D. Murray said today.

As of six months ago this fleet could put at least 1,000 planes in the air. Admiral Murray, naval air commander in the Pacific, also reported that all U.S. naval aircraft and pilot losses of the last two months had been replaced. This included losses in the great naval battles of the Philippines October 24 and 25.

War Chest Lacks $2500 Howard County Response

The Howard County Community War Chest lacks about $2500 of meeting the 1944 quota of $28,890, General Chairman R. R. McEwen said Saturday.

McEwen reported that $1,881.51 was turned in to county headquarters Saturday from the Big Spring Bombardier school. This brings the total contribution from the post to $3,392.89 for officers, enlisted men and civilian employees. Of this amount officers gave $1,716, $356.13 was collected at the enlisted men's pay window, and the civilian personnel contributed $320.25. It is expected that about $200 more will be added to the civilian employees contributions.

Chairman McEwen made a last minute appeal to the many who have intended to contribute and have not gotten around to it, to send the checks to him, G. H. Hayward, or some other member of the committee.

"I want to thank not only the public for their cooperation and general attitude toward the drive," the chairman said, "but also the workers who have taken off from their business at a tremendously busy time."

He also expressed his appreciation to the special gifts committee which has raised approximately $20,000 of the quota.

Returns From Texas Counties Favor FDR

DALLAS, Nov. 11 (AP)—Returns to the Texas Election Bureau tonight from all of Texas' 254 counties, 213 complete, showed 813,986 votes for Roosevelt and 188,157 for Dewey.

The Texas Regulars (anti-Roosevelt) had 129,285; Socialists, 551; Prohibitionists 858 and America Firsts 245.

Nazis Stiffen Resistance But Are Forced Back

By LEWIS HAWKINS
WITH U. S. THIRD ARMY IN FRANCE, Nov. 11 (AP)—American tanks and infantry slashed five miles deeper into the defenses of Metz today, fighting up to the Nied river nine miles east and slightly south of the fortress and breaking across the stream at one point.

While German resistance stiffened, gains of five and seven miles were racked up on this Armistice Day—the fourth day of a drive which might well develop into the last great push on the western front.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., celebrating his birthday, had split the German defenders south of the fort-ringed city and had tanks marauding 18 miles from the Saar border near Saarbrücken, where they had cut one of Metz's rail lines by which it is supplied from the east.

(Although there was no armistice on any section of the 450-mile front, the only other major activity reported was on the U. S. front army sector, where the doughboys still were slugging it out with the Germans southeast of Aachen in Hurtgen forest.)

A German high command spokesman said Patton "has now engaged about two-thirds of his tank forces on the right wing" and that "here his progress is notable."

German forces cut off from their comrades south of Metz were falling back on the city, and the Fifth Infantry was bearing down on Pommérieux, only seven miles from the outskirts.

These forces were but about 14 miles away from the 95th division, which edged forward to slightly four miles north of Metz, despite heavy shelling of their positions west of the Moselle river.

The Sixth armored division sent tank vanguards across the Nied through Han-sur-Nied, 14 miles southeast of Metz. Another column reached the river at Lemud, nine miles east of Metz after overrunning the nearby village of Aube—12 miles beyond the jump-off positions of four days ago. The Lemud thrust was the deepest penetration yet.

ENGINEERS END WORK
HILLSBORO, Nov. 11 (AP)—F. T. Johnston, senior geologist in the Galveston office of the U. S. Engineers, said today that the Hillsboro unit of the organization would end its work next week on the proposed Brazos river dam at Whitney, Hill county. Since July engineers have been engaged in foundation exploration of the proposed site.

Big Spring Readies For Sixth War Loan

Machinery will be set up Wednesday for rallying Howard county quickly to achievement of its Sixth War Loan quota of $1,420,000.

Ted O. Groehl, war loan chairman, Saturday sent out executive committee appointments and called a meeting of the unit for Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at the chamber of commerce office.

Even as plans were being outlined for the campaign, the sixth special drive here was well underway. Saturday a $55,000 sale was reported, which ran the overall sales to $69,543. Of the amount, approximately $13,000 has been sold towards the series E quota of $365,000.

Previously, Ira Thurman, county bond chairman, had placed particular stress on E bond purchases, declaring it was not only the duty of the county to meet its quota but to make up for the deficit incurred during the past three months. This would entail exceeding the quota by nearly $100,000.

The Sixth War Loan drive officially opens on Nov. 20 and continues to Dec. 10, but sales from Nov. 1 count toward the quota.

Reviewing The Big Spring -Week-

Joe Pickle

We've heard the question of whether to close on Armistice Day (particularly when it fell on Saturday) argued here for the past dozen years. Usually, it ended with everybody closing. Saturday, however, what has been impending for so these many years came to pass and we had a spotted picture. By next year, either sentiment will be set concerning Armistice Day, which marked end of the last war or anyhow it will fall on will be for the double holiday.

Officially our community chest drive is over, but since it fell short a couple of thousand dollars, it will go on unofficially until reached. Many, many people did not find ways to give. If there are such who read these lines, mail your check into us. We will acknowledge your gift and place it in the war fund treasurer's hands.

Another campaign now faces us—the Sixth War Loan drive. Quotas are $1,420,000 over-all, $365,000 of it in E bonds. This is less than the previous quota and ought to be easily within our grasp.

Regent Gives Reasons For Firing Rainey

iversity of Texas Regent Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls said today that Dr. Homer P. Rainey was discharged as president because the board of regents "believed his removal was absolutely essential to the welfare and full progress of the university."

The 30-page statement, issued by Bullington in behalf of himself and Regents H. L. Lutzer, Stark, D. F. Strickland, and W. Scott Schreiner, on reasons for Rainey's discharge, answered in detail 16 criticisms of the board made by Rainey before the university faculty Oct. 12, and asserted:

"Neither I nor any other board member opposes academic freedom, and we have not denied it in any case. We are opposed to academic license. "The board has not failed to recognize the proper relationships between it and President Rainey. The best evidence of this is that after six years as president he is able to find only 16 points or instances wherein the board has differed from his recommendations."

Rainey in his appearance before the faculty listed 16 instances of what he called actual or attempted restrictive measures which he said the board had imposed on him. Bullington said the board in discharging Rainey "acted after the most careful and earnest consideration of all questions involved, that they knew 'serious repercussions were certain to follow. They are prepared to accept and do accept full responsibility for the results of their action.'"

The board discharged Rainey at a meeting in Houston Nov. 1, and Regents John H. Bickett, H. H. Weibelt, and Dan Harrison then resigned.

Bullington, saying that the University was "the peoples university," said the regents had "sustained and defeated many attacks upon its authority and independence which came from without, but the board was never called upon to repeal such an attack from within" until Oct. 12, when "some of its appointees, led by Dr. Homer Price Rainey, x x x launched an unexpected and unprovoked attack upon it."

He denied unequivocally that the board was unfavorable to faculty tenure, pointing to the adoption of "the present excellent tenure rule" passed last year, admitting it "does not guarantee lifetime employment x x x but does declare x x x safeguards and procedure for the faculty."

Transfer from director of public relations to an associated professorship in the department of journalism was due to a feeling that "all state schools could well eliminate public relations expense."

He hit at charges that the board had looked with disfavor on research appropriations, asserting that only social science research proposed by Dr. Rainey had been denied pending an appropriation of it by the legislature. Dr. Rainey's charge that the bureau of mutation "does not guarantee lifetime employment x x x but does declare x x x safeguards and procedure for the faculty."

"Dragon Seed" At Ritz Is "Must See Picture"

From the same studio that gave you "The Good Earth," "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Mrs. Miniver" and "Random Harvest" comes another outstanding film. This one is called "Dragon Seed" and it is based on the celebrated novel by Pearl Buck, author also of "The Good Earth."

It must be said immediately that "Dragon Seed" is a great picture, an outstanding production measured by any standards in the great tradition of Hollywood.

"Dragon Seed," which is now playing at the Ritz Theatre, is a story of China and of the valiant Chinese people. It is a sweeping, epic story of their struggles against the marauding Japanese invaders, of a peaceful people who have shown that they know how to fight for the country and their lives against the most tremendous odds in history.

It is also a story of love and devotion, with Katharine Hepburn, following her triumphs in "Woman of the Year" and "The Philadelphia Story," revealing her great versatility in the role of Jade. Walter Huston plays Ling Tan, head of the house of Ling, and other roles are dramatically and superbly played by such outstanding performers as Aline MacMahon, Akim Tamiroff, Turhan Bey, Hurd Hatfield and many, many others.

Katharine Hepburn and Turhan Bey in a scene from "Dragon Seed" now showing at the Ritz and based on the novel by Pearl S. Buck, with Walter Huston and Aline MacMahon.

standing performers as Aline MacMahon, Akim Tamiroff, Turhan Bey, Hurd Hatfield and many, many others.

Filed on the same grand scale as "The Good Earth," the present film is even more far-reaching and powerful in its effect. It has been magnificently directed by Jack Conway produced by Pandro S. Berman.

"Dragon Seed" is one of those pictures which comes along too seldom, a production that proves that Hollywood is capable of the greatest kind of art that is at once the greatest kind of entertainment.

Every man, woman and child will find in "Dragon Seed" the picture about our Chinese friends and allies that he or she has been waiting for.

"Dragon Seed" is a "must see picture!"

Lyric Feature Of Falcon Is Best Of Series

A fast-moving drama of thrills and suspense, laid amidst beautiful surroundings of Old Mexico, is told in "The Falcon in Mexico," RKO Radio's latest addition to The Falcon series, with Tom Conway again portraying his accustomed role of The Falcon, master sleuth, now showing today and Monday at the Lyric theatre.

The chain of mystery starts in a New York art gallery late at night, where the Falcon comes upon a beautiful Mexican girl trying to steal a portrait of herself, alleged to have been painted by an artist who apparently had died many years before. Nearby lies the body of the gallery owner. The Falcon has inadvertently released a burglar alarm, and when the police turn up the girl has disappeared and he is arrested for murder. He manages to escape with the painting, and trace the daughter of the dead artist to a New York apartment. She doesn't believe her father is really dead, and persuades The Falcon to take her to Mexico City, where her father used to make his home. He does so, and runs into two more murders. After a series of thrilling adventures, The Falcon solves the mysteries of the murders and of the artist.

Added interest is afforded by the beauty of the Mexican settings, particularly the scenes of a candlelight fiesta in a small village, and the sequences on the shores of Lake Patcuaro with its famous fleet of butterfly fishing boats.

Joe Morton of the Federal Works Agency was inspecting the Big Spring water supply project Friday.

Robert Young seems a bit disapproving of what's going on between Betty Grable and Reginald Gardiner in a scene from "Sweet Rosie O'Grady" currently billed at the State for today and tomorrow.

Betty Grable In Another Smash Technicolor Hit Today At State

Plot: An American burlesque queen of the exciting '80's, has graduated to fame on the London stage, and lines up a Duke who is on the verge of proposing just as she sails back to New York to make a Broadway debut. Aboard ship she learns of sensational stories of her past appearing in the Police Gazette, all profusely illustrated with her burlesque photos from the days when she was just the plain Rosie O'Grady.

Outraged, she plans to "fix" the Duke. Tricked by McGee at the pier, he whisks her off in a carriage and McGee gets the story of her romance with the Duke. From here on in it is a battle of wits between the two with their moves vividly commanding the headlines. McGee is fired and rehired and fired some more by the Gazette and his stories rise and fall. Of course they are falling in love meanwhile and when the Duke who was supposed to marry her for her money arrives on the scene in New York and learns of the scandal both he and McGee, kicked out by Rosie, proceed to get plastered. It works out all right before the finale with the Duke engaged to Rosie's wealthy girl friend and McGee and Rosie on the way to matrimony.

Comment: Back again we go to the gas footlights and Betty in bustles for another of those nostalgic moments of music and memories. The story has all the necessary elements of romantic competition set to a good old Irish sense of humor (and temper) that will make the reels of this film roll by all too quickly. The color is up to 20th Century - Fox's enviable standard and the music combines the old and the new to delight the oldsters and youngsters. The song, My Heart Tells Me, is strictly hit-parade in character while the barber shop quartet delightfully murder some of your old favorites. Slightly risqué from the pink lights standpoint, the story and handling keep the picture respectable. If you did all right with "Coney Island" (and who didn't) here is another platter of the same. While shorter in footage than most of these shows from Twentieth this picture does not suffer from brevity but will leave the audience calling for more. It apparently has been cropped to keep the feud between Grable and Robert Young moving at top speed. By the way, Robert Young does a swell job in the meatiest of his more recent roles. This picture is currently showing at the State theatre today and Monday.

Plot: An American burlesque queen of the exciting '80's, has graduated to fame on the London stage, and lines up a Duke who is on the verge of proposing just as she sails back to New York to make a Broadway debut. Aboard ship she learns of sensational stories of her past appearing in the Police Gazette, all profusely illustrated with her burlesque photos from the days when she was just the plain Rosie O'Grady.

McCamey Had Luck All Within A Single Day

(Editor's Note—This is one of a series of the romance of Texas oil in connection with the 25th anniversary of the Texas Mid-Continential Oil and Gas Association.)

A land where the loneliness and silence were broken occasionally only by a band of roving Indians engaged in stealing horses and cattle—such was a vast part of West Texas. Today, it is a region with many prosperous, happy towns and cities; and this all occurred within the span of one man's lifetime.

For it was in 1867 that Charles Goodnight blazed a trail from Palo Pinto county, south and west past the present city of Abilene, up the Middle of Concho (Close to where San Angelo now stands) and then made a desperate dash of nearly a hundred miles across the desert to Horsehead Crossing of the Pecos, thence along the river to New Mexico. Three days and nights were required to make the journey from the Concho to the Pecos and 300 head of cattle died of thirst and exhaustion while newborn calves were shot because they could not keep up.

Abilene, San Angelo, Lubbock and Amarillo were yet unborn. But Goodnight, the man who blazed this trail, was still living in 1925 when George McCamey of Fort Worth completed a wildcat in Upton County, and, from the development that followed, churches, modern stores and enduring towns with schools, homes arose in what had been almost trackless waste.

To discover a great oil field and to become the father of a son all in one day are thrills that perhaps no other operator in the history of oil has ever known—but such was McCamey's experience. For 20 years, he had sought unsuccessfully to strike oil for himself—he had drilled splendid wells for others, as a contractor and for half that length of time he had hoped for a boy—(three daughters having come to bless the home)—and he admits that he had about given up hope of ever drilling an oil well of his own or having a son. And then both events took place on September 27, 1925.

George B. McCamey was born in Ridgeway, Pennsylvania. His father had worked in the oil fields in the early days of the industry. The lad attended public schools until algebra ran him away from home and he became a "news butch" on a train, worked in a sawmill, then became an oil field roustabout, tool-dresser, driller and contractor.

About the first of August, 1925, McCamey and his partner, J. P. Johnson, started a wildcat on the Baker ranch in the general vicinity of the trail over which Goodnight had driven his herd on the frantic hundred-mile dash—a trail marked with the bones of cattle-men and Indians, as white man and red struggled for supremacy in the Southwest.

Nearest town was Rankin, 30 miles east, unless the tiny settlement of Given, 12 miles west, was counted. The nearest oil production was the Big Lake field, 40 miles east. The lease cost McCamey and his partner nothing. The Marland and the Dixie gave them about 4,000 acres on condition that they put down a test. When asked what impelled them to go into the undertaking, McCamey said, with a twinkle in his eye: "We just wanted to drill a well." He added, however, that Marland geologists had said there might be oil there.

Four miles from the well was the Orient Railroad. When McCamey wanted a switch installed, a railway official said the line was "hard up" but would put in a two-car siding if McCamey and Johnson would pay for the labor, which was done. In addition, the Orient representative promised, if oil was struck, to bring in a boxcar for a depot and call the place "McCamey."

On a Sunday morning, McCamey—after having spent the night at Best—was enroute to his wildcat when he saw a line of cars coming in his direction. He thought it was a crowd getting home for Sunday dinner. Not until he reached the derrick did he learn the truth—that the cars had contained oil companies' scouts hurrying to telephones and telegraph offices to send out the news that the well had struck oil!

Production of about 60 barrels a day was encountered around 2,350 feet.

Returning to Best, McCamey put in a long distance call to Fort Worth and learned that his wife had gone to the hospital. The operator deserted his new well to drive to Fort Worth. Stopping in San Angelo long enough to phone the hospital in Fort Worth, he was told, "It's a boy!"

Major companies had purchased acreage from McCamey and Johnson while the well was being drilled and they sold their remaining holdings to the Republic Production Company for $500,000.

The drill later proved that the discovery was an edge well and, had a location a thousand feet west been selected, a dry hole would have resulted. Another interesting fact was that, through a surveyor's error, McCamey almost missed his lease, the location being just seven feet inside the property line!

After the oil strike, the Orient put a boxcar into service as a depot, with a freshly-painted sign, "McCamey." As a drilling campaign by various companies got under way, oil workers, merchants and "camp followers" of booms arrived so that, by the close of 1927, it was estimated that 10,000 persons were living in and around the town of McCamey.

The first known shipment of petroleum occurred in 1790 from Oil Creek to Pittsburgh, Pa., in two five gallon kegs carried on horseback by Nathaniel Carry, who traded the petroleum for provisions.

Stalin Rumored As Invited To London

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Marshal Stalin is believed to have been invited to London for the big three talks expected before Christmas, but the best available information today was that he likely would agree to meet President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill somewhere in the Middle East. There was speculation that Roosevelt might come first to London and accompany Churchill to Paris, and that they would go from there to the rendezvous with Stalin. Never cut up or peel fruits and vegetables ahead of the time you are planning to serve them—you'll lose certain vitamins.

WAC Officials Are Visitors At Post

Lt. Col. Betty Bandel, chief Air WAC officer on the staff of General H. H. Arnold, accompanied by Major Wilma Hague, WAC staff director of the AAF Central Training Command, and Major Mary C. Freeman, WAC staff director of the AAF Training Command, visited the Big Spring Bombardier School last week while on a tour of WAC detachments in this service command.

Second highest ranking officer in the WAC, Col. Bandel wears the North African campaign ribbon and WAC service ribbon. While accompanying Col. Ovetta Culp Hobby on an extensive tour inspecting conditions in the WAC overseas.

A former newspaperwoman from Tucson, Ariz., Col. Bandel remarked in an informal speech to the local WACs, that morale was highest and the WACs worked hardest in spots where living conditions were the most uncomfortable.

The commanding officer of one detachment, quartered in a museum, was required to sign a maintenance receipt for every statue in the building.

"They were fine old masterpieces — but undraped," the colonel said. "The CO told me that her WACs had not been there long when she came marching through the museum one day to find all the statues clothed in diapers."

Shirley Howard Will Be On Trial Monday

Shirley Howard of Midland, will go on trial Monday in Odessa at the 70th district court, for the fatal shooting of J. A. Whittendon, Midland school custodian, in 1942. This is Howard's second trial.

A Midland county district court jury convicted Howard and he was sentenced to 45 years in prison. The case was reversed and remanded by the court of criminal appeals in Austin and it was sent to Odessa on a change of venue.

November 11 Quiet In City Court Here

November 11 was a quiet day in city court, with only one charge of drunkenness being brought up. The total cases for the week included 12 drunkenness charges, 6 traffic violations, three affray and two assaults. In addition there were five charges for vagrancy, one petty theft, one burglary, two disturbance of the peace and two women were picked up for VD check ups.

PAPER SALVAGE: Scrap paper is being bound into bales after being compressed into bundles of 200 pounds at the Big Spring Bombardier school.

Twenty-one Thousand Pounds Of Paper Required Weekly By Army

Twenty one thousand tons of paper a week are used by the United States army for food and medical containers, army officials revealed recently, and for this reason the Big Spring Bombardier school is conducting a paper salvage drive with contests in the public schools of Big Spring and surrounding communities.

A quota of 250,000 pounds of scrap paper has been set by the Salvage office for the four weeks period of the contest. All clean, used paper is acceptable for salvage, but waxed paper, carbon paper and dirty or greasy paper cannot be used.

After the paper is collected, it is taken to the post to be baled in bales of approximately 200 pounds. The paper is compressed in tight bundles and then bound with baling wire for shipment. Corrugated cardboard and craft paper are banded separately in bales weighing about the same as the paper bales.

The honor roll for collection in the Big Spring schools for last week includes: West ward, 1st grade, Bobbie Thomas and Clifton Smith, Durwood Myrick, Carroll Tranham, Buddy Clevinger,

Minnesota Surprises Indiana 19 To 14

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 11 (AP)—Minnesota closed its home football season with a 19 to 14 surprise Western conference victory over Indiana's powerhouse today, turning in its most consistent performance of the year on Memorial stadium turf.
Bob Hoernschmeyer, Indiana's versatile halfback, sparked the Hoosiers all the way but he was unable to elude Minnesota's vastly improved defense successfully. Dick Deraney also played a big part in Indiana's offensive play.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women, for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy... it helps keep the skin soft and pliable... thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

Mother's Friend Highly praised by nurses, many doctors and nurses. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin lubricant. Try it tonight.

Howard-Glasscock Field Reports Two Completions; Another Near

Two completions were reported in the Howard-Glasscock field and another was nearing completion in extreme eastern Howard county last week.

Continental No. 4-S Settles, section 133-29, W&NW, shallow test bottomed at 1,296 feet after topping pay at 1,255 feet, was completed for 84 barrels oil with no water on a 24-hour test.

Continental No. 1-D Settles, first Ordovician test for the field in 10 years, made considerable hole during the week and was below 5,030 feet in lime Friday.

Western Mitchell county, another Ordovician test, Magnolia No. 22 Mary Foster, section 17-29-1a, T&P, was at 8,311 feet in lime and chert after returning three inches of lime and chert in a core from 8-295-96 feet with no shows.

Cosden Petroleum Corp. No. 3-A Read, section 48-30-1n, T&P, was shot with 120 quarts from 2,748-2,777 feet in lime Friday, carrying a 550-foot oil load on gravel lamp. Saturday the test was cleaning out. Cosden No. 2 W. L. Foster, 330 feet from the north and east lines of section 40-30-1n, T&P, was at 2,620 after cementing seven-inch string at 2,585 feet.

North of Coahoma, Lilly Oil No. 1 B. F. McKinney, section 42-30-1n, T&P, scheduled for 3,500 feet, was reported at 225 feet in redbeds. In the E&W Howard pool, the Sinclair No. 4 Emma Davis, section 43-30-1n, T&P, was at 1,780 feet.

Drilling was resumed on Warren Petroleum No. 1 Chester L. Jones, northwest Mitchell wildcat in search of Vincent pay, with plug drilled at 4,289 feet and the hole bailed out. It is located in section 9-28, H&TC.

Near Big Spring, the John I. Moore No. 1 Cosden, Clear Fork wildcat, was drilling ahead at 2,672 feet in anhydrite. Located next to Cosden refinery. It is in section 38-32-1n, T&P.

Location is 330 feet from the north and 2,325 feet from the west lines of section 31-34-2n, T&P.

John Gist Dies Of Illness In Amarillo

AMARILLO, Nov. 11 (AP)—John M. Gist, 80-year-old pioneer West Texas rancher, died today in an Amarillo hospital following a brief illness.

Known as "Uncle John," Gist was a native of Bolivar, Denton county. He brought some of the first Hereford cattle to this state and was one of the first presidents of the Hereford cattle association of Texas.

Gist was a founder of 4-H club cattle shows. Funeral services will be conducted here Monday morning.

Marcus Gist, Odessa, son of J. M. Gist, passed through here Saturday, enroute to Amarillo.

Road From Abilene To Get Repaving

Pavement of 60 miles of U. S. highway 80 from Abilene to west of Colorado City, will be widened immediately from 18 to 24 feet, at a cost of $424,000.

Most of the 18-foot concrete paving was constructed 15 to 20 years ago and the lifting of load limits necessitates a heavy maintenance emergency job for which materials have been granted by the War Production Board.

The work will extend from Abilene through Merkel, Trent, Sweetwater, Roscoe, Lorraine, Colorado City and Westbrook, except for 18 miles of asphalt surface in Mitchell county.

Dr. Rainey angrily threatened to resign when the board informed him that Dr. Spies would not be re-elected and later lectured the board at length on duties of regents, Bullington continued.

He also charged that Dr. Rainey had "tragically failed to exercise proper care in discharging (the) most important trust (of selecting a faculty of the first class)."

Bullington scored Dr. Rainey's "sensational interview, calculated to discredit the board with the people, students, and the faculty" on this charge.

While the board may delegate to administrative officers statutory duties imposed on it, it may not abandon its duty to supervise the manner in which such duties are performed," he observed.

"Neither the University of Texas, or any other educational institution supported by public funds secured by taxation should be made subject to the will of one man, whose acts are free from any supervision or control by representatives of the people who provide the funds," he added.

"Whether in or out of the class rooms, no member of the faculty or any educational institution, public or otherwise, has academic or any other sort of freedom to violate the law, or fail or refuse to observe generally accepted standards of courtesy, morality and common decency."

"There can be little doubt that powerful forces in and outside of Texas have inspired and are directing this attack upon the freedom and independence of the university," said Bullington.

"The attacks will succeed, he said, unless x x x the people, the ex-students and the faculty and the students come to the rescue."

Bullington indicated he had no intention of resigning from the board.

Frances Maudine McLeod, Activities Sgt. Dean Holden Wed at the USO In Candlelight Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Francis Maudine McLeod, daughter of E. W. McLeod of Forsan, to Sgt. Dean Henry Holden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holden of Tincandara, N. Y., was solemnized Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Forsan Baptist Church.

The double-ring ceremony was read by Rev. J. W. Arnett before an improvised archway of mums with baskets of autumn flowers and lighted cathedral tapers. Strands holding white tapers were arranged to form an arch to complete the background for the wedding party.

Gene Smith played a cornet solo, "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Orvil Robinson played "Because" by D'Hardot. During the ceremony Mrs. Nelson Lowe played softly.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a slate blue suit with black and white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. For the traditional something old was a pair of nylon hose presented as a gift. Something borrowed was a cameo brooch belonging to the bride's stepmother, something blue was a blue ribbon.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mary Laverne McLeod who wore a white wool dress with black accessories, and a halo of red sweetheart roses.

Sgt. James A. Doyle, Big Spring Army Air Field, was best man and ushers were Danabelle McRae and Eva Smith who wore duplicate dresses, one blue and the other green.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of

Mrs. Bill Johnson for members of the wedding party and guests.

The bridal table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake embossed with gardenias and lilies-of-the-valley and topped with a miniature uniformed groom and bride.

Mrs. E. W. McLeod, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Holden and Mary Francis Holden were in the receiving line. Danabelle McRae and Eva Smith alternated at the punch bowl. Mrs. Bill Johnson was at the bride's book. The wedding party all wore shoulder corsages of chrysanthemums.

Immediately following the reception a shower was held for the bride and the couple left for a short wedding trip to San Angelo, Lubbock and Abilene.

The bride was graduated from San Angelo high school and attended Big Spring business college.

The groom graduated from Tincandara high school and was attending college in Albany N. Y., at the time of his induction into the army. Sgt. Holden is first sergeant of the 778th squadron of the Big Spring Bombardier school.

Those attending the wedding were Billie Marie Boatler, Mrs. Rube McNew, Mrs. Etta Miles, Mr. and Mrs. A. Thieme, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Peek, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peek, Grace Arnett, Sgt. and Mrs. J. R. Cunningham, Sgt. Sherman L. Transen, Sgt. James A. Doyle, H. W. Bartlett, Marjorie Oglesby, Dorothy Jean Gressett, Dorothy Prichard, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Arnett and family, Bobby Lou Caughart, Mrs. G. Todd, Cecil Ray Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Oglesby and Betty, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Oglesby, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Robinson, Gene Smith, George O'Bar, Mrs. Pearl Scud-day, Kernie Sue Scudday, Virginia Chambers, Mary L. Brown, Mary L. McLeod, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson and Treva, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Owens, Sgt. and Mrs. Walter E. Heideman, Mrs. O'Bar Smith, Eva Smith, Tommy Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lowe, Kathleen Butler, Mr. and Mrs. John Butler, Mrs. Floyd Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Butler, Mrs. Etchil Bartlett and Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Hood Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith and Jimmie and the wedding party.

Rook Club Meets

Members of the Rook Club met in the home of Mrs. W. H. Power Friday afternoon with Mrs. J. R. Manion winning club high and Mrs. Dora Pike winning guest high.

A short business meeting was held following the afternoon spent playing rook. Members voted to have a Christmas party December 15th with a 1 o'clock luncheon which will be held in the home of Mrs. D. C. Sadler. Gifts will be exchanged.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Ray Wilcox, Mrs. S. P. Jones, Mrs. G. S. True, Mrs. A. C. Bass, Mrs. W. L. Warren, Mrs. M. L. Musgrove, Mrs. P. M. Simms, Mrs. W. A. Miller, Mrs. D. C. Sadler, Mrs. Manion, and guests, Mrs. Dora Pike and Mrs. H. J. Petefish.

Big Spring Women Attend Parent-Teachers State Meet

The 36th annual convention of Texas Congress of Parent and Teachers got underway Wednesday morning at the First Christian church in Fort Worth with seven Big Spring women representing the Big Spring Parents and Teachers association.

Mrs. Bill Early, vice-president, and Mrs. W. P. Edwards, program chairman, represented College Heights; Mrs. Leslie Roberts, radio chairman, represented East Ward; Mrs. Robert Hill, district yearbook chairman, represented West Ward; Mrs. Tracy Smith, treasurer, represented Central Ward; Mrs. Vernon Logan, vice-president, represented South Ward; Mrs. J. E. Brigham, president of the City Council, was official representative of the Big Spring Parent-Teacher Association.

The theme of the convention was "That They May Live", and Mrs. L. W. Hughes of Tennessee, national vice-president, gave three addresses during the convention. State officers were elected to serve three years. Mrs. D. G. Byerly of Midland, 8th state vice-president, was elected third state vice-president. District Six (Big Spring district) presented her with a national life membership of the Parents and Teachers Association.

Mrs. Jack Little of Dallas is the retiring State president and Mrs. E. H. Becker of Dallas was elected to take her place. When Mrs. Becker made her inauguration speech the state board of managers presented her with a national life membership.

More than 30 people from this district were present and 1168 persons registered. Around 19 Big Spring girls went out to the Sad Sack Shack Thursday night to get acquainted with some of those good looking non-coms that check your passes when you go to the bombardier school. Mrs. R. E. Blount was hostess for the dance and the guys and gals had a good time dancing to the jukebox and eating refreshments.

Fashion Sketches From Paris

FROM FASHIONS TO FIGHTERS—Howell Dodd, head of the Newsfeatures art staff, took time out to cover the fashion whirl in Paris while in France sketching the war and its sidelights. The result—exclusive sketches of some of the first Parisian fall fashions to reach this country since the liberation of the French capital. Janette Colombar designed these hats, sketched in her salon by Howell Dodd. Top left is a towering draped black velvet turban trimmed with a giant cluster of chateaux velvet roses. Center top is a lace snood with halo brim, outlined by a band of black velvet ribbon tied in a bow at front. Top right is a velvet turban in "pea-soup green," trimmed in clusters of grapes of the same color. Lower left is newest Dutch bonnet in black velvet with rolled-back brim, a new silhouette for fall. It is trimmed with black tulle. Lower right is the liberation influence in a Scots Guard beret, in putty-colored felt trimmed with flamboyant black and red feathers. A head band and bow of green velvet complements the picture.

Big Spring Pastor's Association Meets

The Big Spring Pastors' Association met in a called session Friday morning in the study of the First Christian church. The meeting was opened with a prayer by Rev. Ivy Bohannon. Minutes of the October meeting were read and approved. Rev. Coley Arender, educational director of the East 4th Street Baptist church, was received as a member of the association by an unanimous vote of the members present. Rev. James E. Moore made a report that discussion and consideration had been given for the

Barlow - Weaver Vows Read At High Noon

Miss Lina V. Barlow, daughter of Mrs. Love Barlow, became the bride of Lt. Charles Weaver at high noon Saturday in a double-ring ceremony at the Post Chapel with Chaplain Roy Allen reading the vows.

MRS. CHARLES WEAVER

The bride wore a white woolen jersey street length dress with brown accessories. For something old and borrowed she wore her mother's engagement ring, for something blue was a hat and she wore a penny in her shoe. The bride carried a white Bible topped with an orchid.

The only attendant was the bride's sister, Mildred Barlow, who wore a blue woolen suit with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The groom was attended by Lt. Jake Webster.

Sgt. Russell Krutzer played the wedding march and the chaplain presented the couple with a white Bible. Following the wedding a luncheon was given at the Settles hotel by Lt. Jake Webster for the wedding party.

A reception was held Saturday night at the Settles where the bride and groom will live. Lt. Weaver is a pilot at the Big Spring Bombardier School.

Positive Results Shown In TB Tests

Mrs. Ann Fisher, city-county health nurse, said Friday that a large number of the students who showed positive reactions to the tuberculosis patch tests are not availing themselves of the opportunity to have the disease.

It is very dangerous to allow the disease to go unchecked and it is for this reason that the county Tuberculosis association pays for the making of the X-rays, Mrs. Fisher said. A card is issued to each child showing a positive reaction which entitles him to the X-ray without charge.

Mrs. Fisher reported that she has given patch tests to each child in all of the public schools of the county with the exception of high school and colored school students.

Church Of God To Hold District Meet Here This Week

The Big Spring congregation is to be host to the west Texas Ministers association at the Main Street Church of God here Monday and Tuesday.

Upwards of 30 ministers and laymen from the denomination are expected to participate in the convocation which also is open to the public at 8 P. M. Sunday.

Mrs. J. R. Petty has returned from Brownwood where she attended the funeral services of her mother, Mrs. J. D. Moore. Mrs. Moore succumbed at her home in Brownwood last Tuesday.

California Drops 0-7 Tilt To UCLA

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11 (AP)—Two successive pass interference penalties against California in the second quarter enabled UCLA to whip the Golden Bears in the rain today, 7 to 0.

Most of the ball game was played in a heavy downpour and the crowd, under 3,000, was the smallest that ever watched a Pacific Coast conference contest in the 103,000 capacity memorial coliseum.

The game itself was as drab as its setting. Footing was so precarious that the linemen were in on the ball carrier before he could get under way, and the reverses and attempted end runs resulted in losses more often than not.

Waterfield's superlative punting, despite weather conditions, kept California on the defensive through the first half and the Bruins eventually capitalized on a break in the second quarter for a touchdown. Waterfield lobbed one into the end zone to Nelson King, substitute right end, then added the extra point.

Fullback Graham Leads Invaders To Easy Victory

Rolling along smoothly and easily toward their second consecutive District No. 3 title the San Angelo Bobcats lived up to all pre-game publicity here Friday night against a completely outclassed group of Big Spring Steers, who fought gamely but without a chance of stopping the defending state champions, and romped to an easy 53-0 victory behind the high scoring of George Graham, one of the most potent fullbacks to tread area grids in recent years.

The vaunted Cat machine rolled up 27 points in the first period, coasted through with 6 in the second, came back for 14 in the third and added six more in the final period. Graham racked up five extra points to score 35 of the 53 points tallied by the invaders. It was his superb playing that kept the Bobcat offensive rolling easily and kept the Steers with their backs to the wall most of the time.

In the big Bobcat forward wall it was George Hughes, 190-pound rugged guard, who was by far the outstanding player, along with tackle Dennis Doyle. Hughes charged through the local line to block a punt in the first quarter and score, and time and again was in the Big Spring backfield breaking up offensive plays and smothering passing attempts.

For the locals it was mostly Hugh Cochran who turned in the best game of the year for himself and distinguished his play by an outstanding performance against opposition that outweighed him in every position. Cochran brought comments and praise from onlookers by his sterling defensive play, as well as being the spark in the local offense.

In the line, however, Gerald Harris and Ladd Smith turned in a couple of good performances with both lads being most consistent in their defensive play and Smith coming in for more than his share of tackles from his linebacker post.

In the first period the Steers received the opening kickoff and in four downs were forced to punt. On the fourth play after they received the ball on the 50, Graham romped 26 yards to paydirt and then converted.

Only a few plays later Hughes and Vernie Horner, Bobcat end, went tearing through the Steer line to smother a punt and Hughes chased it across the goal for the score. Again Graham kicked the point.

Still in the first period the Bobcats once again came in possession of the ball and marched downfield with Wayne Dodson carrying over from the one. Graham added another point.

Not through with their scoring spree the Bobcats moved again across the double stripe during the opening period with Graham accounting for most of their yardage and scoring the touchdown. His kick missed and the quarter ended.

Forsan Turns Back Garden City 26-19

FORSAN, Nov. 11—Fumbles came near costing Forsan Buffaloes a game here Friday before a third-quarter offensive click to turn back Garden City 26-19 in a six-man league game.

Although Gressett had skirted right end for a counter and Milliken had taken a pass from Painter for a tally, Garden City led 13-12 at the half thanks to heads up play by Hunt, left end for the visitors. He scooped up one fumble and ran it 30 yards for a tally and another 40 yards to count.

In the third, however, Painter whipped one to Smith, who dashed 20 yards to score and then Milliken got loose for another with Painter drop kicking for two points. Garden City counted in the closing frame when Whetsel took a punt and ran through the Forsan team to pay dirt. Forsan led in first downs, 5-3.

Starting line-ups:
Forsan Pos. Garden City
 Patterson LE Hunt
 Smith C Overton
 Painter RE Frizzell
 Milliken QB Cox
 Wash HB Calverley
 Gressett FB Baker
Subs: Forsan—Gandy, Prater, Williams, McAllen; Garden City—Morgan, Willeke, Rye, Whetsel.

PLAY SCORELESS TIE
CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 11—North Carolina and William and Mary contributed nothing to their unimpressive season records today by playing a scoreless tie in a Southern conference tussle marked by fumbles, intercepted passes and only three drives deep into enemy territory.

In the second period Graham again sparked a scoring drive and crashed over from the two for the final score of the first half, as his attempted conversion went wide. The half ended with the locals trailing 0-33.

Roaring back in the third period Graham scored two more touchdowns to bring his night's total to 35 with two more placements when he crashed over the goal twice from the two yard line, each time having led long drives with nice running, along with some very capable help from Dodson who stepped around end for 54 yards on one play and exhibited some more than good broken-field running.

In the closing quarter the invaders moved across the double-stripe but once when Dodson crashed over from the one. This climaxed a 44 yard march in which Dodson heaved a pass to end Ellis who was knocked out on the one yard marker after a gain of 17 yards. The kick missed and that was all, and enough with points to spare for the invaders' scoring spree of the evening. This brought the final tally to 53 for San Angelo and nothing for the Steers.

Sliding Down The Sports Chute

with BILL

Little comment is needed on the game Friday night out in Steer stadium. The Bobcats proved true to form and lived up to all pre-game publicity, even as high as Blonds Cross can rate them. There is little difference in the first two teams on the champions' squad, with the exception of Graham, Hughes and Doyle.

George Graham is one of the finest high school fullbacks I have ever seen, and by far the finest I have seen this year. He has speed, power and deception and is about as hard to stop as it is to find the needle in the haystack. He ran wild over every Steer out there, and although most folks say that isn't much of a claim to fame, some pretty good backs have found themselves going the wrong way this season when hit by such men as Pete Cook and Leo Rusk. Graham had no trouble in keeping his nose aimed at the goal line and crossing it so many times I thought he was the score keeper.

As for George Hughes, he is another lad who deserves all the praise and honor that could be given him. The big guard was too much for the locals to handle and his line play certainly set a fast pace for his teammates to follow, which they tried their best to do. Hughes looks, I might add, about as mean as he plays with that black glove and nose guard twisting his features into something akin to Dracula. He certainly proved a horror to the local offensive Friday night.

Doyle also is just as good as folks claim. He got the first tackle in the game the other night and from then on was hanging onto Steer shirt-tails on every play that Hughes or some other Cat did not beat him to. He was all-district and seven men wide Friday night and I imagine that local fans can understand how he earned his name as a rugged player with ability to spare.

These three men have my vote for the all-district team sewed up. They are all the type ball players that coaches dream about but do not dare hope will appear. As for all-state honors I have no doubt that the three will find their names at the top of any list compiled by sports writers who see them in action. They will most certainly receive this corner's vote in any kind of poll, both for ability and good clean outstanding play... they have it all.

To the Steers it might be said that they have suffered no disgraceful defeat. They played a hard tough ball game, and received not one penalty, but were just outclassed. They were beaten by one of the finest teams in the history of the district and that most certainly is nothing to blush about. The Bobcats perhaps are over-confident and cocky but they have every right to be, and the Steers have every right to lay claim to the fact that, though soundly beaten, they gave the best they had until the final gun.

For the night's outstanding performance I would like to cite Hugh Cochran. Hugh has played fine ball all season but has been more or less overshadowed by Pete Cook and Leo Rusk. Last night he outshone them both. Once out there he tackled Graham so hard he drove the big fullback in the other direction before he hit the ground with him. When one boy spots another one 30 pounds and does that, especially against the type runner Graham is, friends,

Army Tramples Irish 59-0 In Worst Defeat

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
 NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Army, kept from the victory column for 13 years by Notre Dame, unleashed all its pent-up fury today and played patty-cake on the Irish goal line while rambling to a 59 to 0 triumph—worst defeat ever suffered by Notre Dame.

Notre Dame, apparently set to stop the slam-bang thrusts of Felix (Doc) Blanchard, 205 lb. fullback, was almost driven out of Yankee Stadium by the speed of Glenn Davis, Max Minor, Doug Kenna, Dale Hall and a horde of other backs.

Blanchard, employed primarily as a decoy in the army attack, played a sensational game, bursting half the eardrums of the 74,437 spectators in the third period with a block that made possible Minor's 61-yard scoring return of a punt.

Two more tallies were tacked on the scoreboard the first period, Kenna setting up the first of them by intercepting one of Boley Dancer's tosses on the Irish 41 and totting it 15 yards before being stopped. On the next play Minor broke over his left tackle for the score.

A 35-yard Kenna to End Raffalko pass was the scoring play for the next marker which followed Blanchard's interception of Bob Kelly's attempted forward.

Only second after the second period got underway Davis grabbed another Notre Dame aerial and lugged it 39 yards to that the Irish seven from where he scored on the next formation. A 34-yard punt return, by Kenna, set up by a resounding block by Dewitt Clouter, made possible the final tally of the half by Davis.

It wasn't until the count had mounted to 33 to 0 against them that the Irish registered their first down, getting two in succession on spot passes by Dancerwicz. Minor's long run and a Kenna to Dick Pitzer pass produced scores in the third period but the two most spectacular counters were reserved for the last quarter.

Aggies Trample Methodists Easily In Explosive 39-6 Win From Ponies

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
 DALLAS, Nov. 11 (AP)—A high-powered offense that had been hobbled by fumbles roared unhindered today as Texas A. and M. crushed Southern Methodist 39-6 in the worst defeat handed to the Mustangs by a Cadet team in 26 years.

The Aggies dropped the ball just one time. It cost them a touchdown. But they held on to it the rest of the way and stormed for more than 350 yards on the ground and in the air to smash the Methodists down into the cellar regions of the Southwest conference.

In the first period the passing combination of Jim Cashion to the Clarence (Cotton) Howell swung into action. First it was for 20 yards. Cashion flipped to Howell on the Mustang 23 and Jim Parcer cracked left guard for six. Cashion then circled right end and cut back for a touchdown. Art Abraham kicked the extra point.

A. and M. scored again shortly afterward, with Cashion and Howell again doing most of the work. It was a 27-yard heave over the goal line that climaxed a 52-yard march. Abraham's try for point was blocked by R. O. McWilliams.

The Aggies scored again the next time they got the ball. Cashion lateraled to Goff who ran around right end and cut back to go unmolesed to a touchdown. Abraham converted.

A. and M. got another touchdown in the third period on a 57-yard gallop by Goff, who took the ball from Cashion on a lateral. The long dash followed a punt from L. B. Cox that Cashion had caught on his 43.

The next two Aggie touchdowns were scored within five minutes of the fourth period. The Aggies had the ball on the Methodist 40 as the third quarter closed. Tom Daniel lost a yard attempting to pass but he tried again and this time Joe Scott grabbed the ball in the clear and lumbered across. Abraham's try for point was wide.

The Mustangs took the kick-off on their 35. A pass failed, then Grant Darnell picked up the ball and raced across for the score. McAllister added the extra point.

Okla. Aggies Roar From Behind To Trip Longhorns With 13-8 Win

By DAVE CHEAVENS
MEMORIAL STADIUM, Austin, Nov. 11 (AP)—Two last-minute touchdowns by Cecil Hankins, with Bob Fenimore on the throwing end, gave the Cowboys of Oklahoma A. and M. a 13 to 8 victory over the University of Texas Longhorns today.

Up until the last period, when a Texas second team was sent on the field, the Longhorns held a firm offensive upper hand, keeping the Cowboys out of their end of the field by the simple expedient of retaining the ball. While the Aggies' first score was made against the Texas second team, the rampaging Cowboys just as effectively ran over the first team that was sent back into the game, and was threatening to score again as the contest ended with the ball on the Longhorn five yard line.

Texas drew first blood with an automatic safety in the first period. Big Harlan Wetz, Longhorn tackle, barged through to block Fenimore's punt. Fenimore was standing behind his own goal line and the ball bounded out of the end zone, making it count two points for Texas.

Ohio State Wins 54-19 Over Pitt

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 11 (AP)—Ohio State University's football power house needed the services of its regulars for less than a quarter of the game today as it walloped the University of Pittsburgh, 54 to 19, for the seventh straight victory of the season.

The hapless Panthers didn't have a look in until acting Head Coach Carroll Widdoes began sweeping the bench clean of substitutes. The Buck regulars rolled up a 20 to 0 lead in less than 15 minutes of action and spent the afternoon on the bench.

Texas' touchdown came in the third period. Bell returned the kick off 34 yards to his own 45, then he and Milk alternated at carrying to the Aggie 42.

Passes and off-tackle slashes put the Longhorns in scoring position on the 12. Bell handed a shovel pass to Roger Evans who made it to the two-yard line. Then Milk jammed through the center of the line for a touchdown. Billy Andrews failed to add the extra point.

Second stringers did just about as well and the count mounted to 47 to 0 before the Panthers finally found their way to scoring territory. That was the third period and Pitt scored twice after that against an array of third and fourth string Ohioans.

The Longhorns coasted through the balance of the third, and Coach Dana Bible sent in 11 second-stringers. The Aggies first pay-off drive started on their own 35 yard line against this crew. Fenimore went back as if to punt, then cut off to his own left and dashed to the Texas 38 through a field of tacklers who appeared too shocked to do anything much about stopping him. He then passed 10 yards to Hankins, who dodged three tacklers and was finally brought down by two Longhorns just as he crossed the goal line. Creager's placekick was wide.

GRAHAM SPARKS 'BUSTERS'
ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 11 (AP)—Peerless Otto Graham, the former all-America back from Northwestern, passed and ran North Carolina Navy Cloudusters to a 33 to 18 victory over the Georgia Sky Crackers this afternoon.

Graham tossed the leather for three touchdowns, carried the ball across himself for another and set up the fifth with his accurate heaving and his weaving running.

The Aggies took the ball on their own 40, where Charlie Tatom had caught a pass from Milk, run a few steps, then fumbled as he was hit. Jim Spavital carried all the way down to the Texas 35 on a slithering run, and in two more off-tackle plays put the ball on the Texas 25. Fenimore then passed to Hankins for the Cowboys' second score. Creager's kick was good.

Georgia Tech Takes 34-7 Win Off Wave

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 11 (AP)—Combining the brilliant running of Allen "Dinky" Bowen and the accurate passing of Frank Broyles, Georgia Tech made another bid for its third straight bowl invitation by overwhelming a versatile Tulane eleven today, 34-7.

Bowen, with long punt returns and sizeable scrimmage runs, set up most of the scores. Broyles threw four strikes, two to George Matthews, good for touchdowns. Tex Ritter, with a 44 yard run, added the final touchdown in the fourth period, after Charles Murdoch and Billy Williams had also gathered in scoring passes from Broyles.

Tulsa Roms To 51-6 Win Over Pirates

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 11 (AP)—Tulsa's Golden Hurricane, with third and fourth string players in action much of the time, stormed past the Southwestern University Pirates today, 51-6 to end a two-game losing streak.

The Tulsons fumbled away three touchdowns and on two other occasions were stopped close to the Southwestern goal by pass interceptions.

One of the fumbles and two pass interceptions kept the Hurricanes from scoring in the first period but Henry Frnk's men, with the veteran Red Wade, leading a whirlwind aerial attack, got four touchdowns in the second quarter to clinch the decision.

Wilson, Tulsa's line-ripping fullback battered across from the 2-yard line for the initial score after a 30-yard drive before Wade came into the game and got down to some serious pitching.

The rambling redhead threw three touchdown passes in rapid-fire order.

Michigan Wins 14-0 Over Tough Illini
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 11 (AP)—Topping Illinois' speedster left halfback, Claude (Buddy) Young, except for a pair of mid-field sprints in the first period, Michigan defeated Illinois, 14 to 0, for its fifth straight football victory today before a crowd of 42,200 fans.

The Wolverines stuck to the ground in marching 84 yards in seven plays for their first touchdown less than four minutes after receiving the opening kickoff. Fullback Don Lund carried it over from the four-yard line and quarterback Joe Ponsetto converted.

Don Greenwood's fumble trying to receive a Michigan punt, set up the Wolverines' other tally in the final period. On the ninth play halfback Jack Weisenberger swept the Illini right end to score from the two. Ponsetto converted his eighth straight point after touchdown.

Currants grow profusely on the Ionian islands.

Alabama's line, especially in the opening period, had a wide margin and only sharp tackling by the Rebel backs kept the score from going much higher.

Alabama's great advantage in the line was reflected in the team's 265 yards on running plays, as against 81 for the Rebels.

Denver Smothers New Mexico 41-6
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 11 (AP)—With Fullback Johnny Adams pitching deliberate passes behind an unyielding line, Denver University smothered New Mexico University, 41-6.

Adams tossed four touchdown passes and Harkins another, to Receivers Brafford, Hazelhurst, Latcham and Karamigios. The remaining tally was set up by a heaving from Brafford to Harkins, with Hazelhurst going over.

New Mexico, completely out-classed, scored late in the final period after the Denver Pioneers kicked short from their own one-yard line to the 20.

A pass, a run and a holding penalty put the ball on the two from which Fullback Hildebrandt plunged over.

Bi-District Champs To Be Settled Soon
AUSTIN, Nov. 11 (AP)—Bi-district championships for University of Texas Intercollegiate League conference football must be played not later than December 9, and district championships must be determined and certified by December 2, R. J. Kidd, athletic director, announced today.

The bi-district schedules are not mandatory, Kidd said, and no school can claim a forfeit or bi-district championship honors because a neighboring school refuses to extend competition beyond the district schedule.

In conference A, the survivors in each region will play for the regional championship no later than December 16, Kidd advised.

Duke Wins 34 To 0 Over Wake Forest

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 11 (AP)—Little Wake Forest College, defending an unbeaten and untied record and shooting for a possible bowl bid, ran into the powerful Duke Blue Devils today and was crushed, 34-0 in a game jam-packed with brilliant running by the fleet Duke backs.

Frogs Down Raiders In 14-0 Win

By MARVIN BRAU
FORT WORTH, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Texas Christian Horned Frogs, underdogs before the initial kick-off, played a fighting brand of football to uphold Southwest conference prestige and defeat the Texas Tech Red Raiders from Lubbock, 14 to 0, in an Armistice Day grid tilt.

Led by big Norman Cox, a 195-pound fullback from Grandfalls, Texas, the Christians, who took the field minus some of their early season stars who were lost in a Navy V-12 shuffle, scored a touchdown in each of the first and third periods to account for the win which gave them five victories and a tie in seven starts.

For the most part, the game was a battle of lines. Ball carriers on each side were constantly rushed and in many instances thrown for substantial losses. The exchange of punts were numerous.

Only two or three times were the Raiders able to penetrate close to paydirt. An offside penalty robbed them of one golden opportunity. In an exchange of punts, Cecil Norris, a subbing back for Tech, took the ball on his 10-yard line and raced the field before being overtaken on the Christians' 10, but the off-side penalty cancelled the run and gave the Christians a first down instead.

One serious injury marred the game. In the second period Jim Taylor, right end for Tech, took a pass good for seven yards, but suffered a head injury when tackled and was carried from the field on a stretcher. He was rushed to the Methodist Hospital.

In first downs, the teams were tied, 7 to 7 but in yards gained on the ground Tech had the advantage, 115 to 74. Nevertheless, the Christians managed to gain through the line when in sight of the goal marker. Both of Cox's touchdowns were registered through the middle of the Tech defense.

Tech went into the air nine times to complete five aerials for 25 yards, and the Christians completed four out of eight tries for 63 yards. No passes were intercepted.

Big Walter Schlinkman, who last week engineered the Rice Owls' downfall at the hands of the Raiders, also played a great game against the Christians. He was aided by Cecil Norris and Arthur Shahan in Tech's ball-carrying duties.

Second String Guard Gives Arkansas Porkers 12-7 Victory Over Rice Owls

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 11 (AP)—Frank Lambright, an alert second string guard from Ashdown, Ark., stepped into the hero role today to lead the surprising Arkansas Razorbacks to a 12-7 upset win over the high flying Rice Owls.

The fleet-footed Walmsey threatened all afternoon, getting away for several nice gains but always found a stubborn Razorback between him and the goal.

As was the case last Saturday when the Razorbacks upset the Texas Aggies, Arkansas came out second best in yardage gained. Rice gained 286 yards in rushing plays to 153 for Arkansas but the Porkers were more effective in the airways completing four of 17 passes for 89 yards while Rice was completing two of seven for 13 yards.

A crowd of 9,000 was among the largest at the Razorback stadium in many years. The game followed a parade and homecoming ceremonies.

With the Porkers trailing 0 to 7 in the third quarter, Lambright broke through the Rice line, scooped up an Owl fumble and raced 38 yards for the first Arkansas touchdown. Later in the fourth quarter he broke up a Rice scoring threat by intercepting an Owl pass.

Arkansas scored both its touchdowns in the third quarter after Rice had counted Buddy Russ' smash through left tackle from the one yard line following a dazzling 88-yard broken field run by the Owls' highly-touted George Walmsey. Big Mike Schumchik raced with Walmsey down the field and finally caught him just short of the goal. Lawrence converted.

Scrappy Lamar Dingle, Arkansas' first string end, set up the second Arkansas touchdown by blocking Russ' kick on the Rice 17 with the Razorbacks recovering. Little Louie Bayne went over from the six inch line after a series of running plays.

Jim Young, whose extra point kicks brought Arkansas one point victories over Missouri and the Texas Aggies, failed in both conversion attempts.

HERE'S A GOOD "TIRE BUY"!
(NO CERTIFICATE NEEDED)

Good "tire buys" nowadays are hard to find. Yet here's a way that you can enjoy months and months of extra tire mileage... and you don't need a certificate to get it. Just bring us a good tire carcass with the tread worn smooth... and without breaks or bruises. We'll build you a new tread that will give your old tire a new lease on life. The cost is low, much lower than a new tire, and you get the benefit of new, non-skid protection on the wheels of your car... right now. The important thing is... DON'T WAIT. When the tread on just one tire is worn smooth bring it to us for a tire-saving quality recap.

Michigan Wins 14-0 Over Tough Illini
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 11 (AP)—Topping Illinois' speedster left halfback, Claude (Buddy) Young, except for a pair of mid-field sprints in the first period, Michigan defeated Illinois, 14 to 0, for its fifth straight football victory today before a crowd of 42,200 fans.

The Wolverines stuck to the ground in marching 84 yards in seven plays for their first touchdown less than four minutes after receiving the opening kickoff. Fullback Don Lund carried it over from the four-yard line and quarterback Joe Ponsetto converted.

Don Greenwood's fumble trying to receive a Michigan punt, set up the Wolverines' other tally in the final period. On the ninth play halfback Jack Weisenberger swept the Illini right end to score from the two. Ponsetto converted his eighth straight point after touchdown.

Bi-District Champs To Be Settled Soon
AUSTIN, Nov. 11 (AP)—Bi-district championships for University of Texas Intercollegiate League conference football must be played not later than December 9, and district championships must be determined and certified by December 2, R. J. Kidd, athletic director, announced today.

The bi-district schedules are not mandatory, Kidd said, and no school can claim a forfeit or bi-district championship honors because a neighboring school refuses to extend competition beyond the district schedule.

In conference A, the survivors in each region will play for the regional championship no later than December 16, Kidd advised.

Meet Demand For Action

War Turns One Good

By FRANK GRIMES
Herald Writer

Medical and surgical care of the sick and wounded have improved in this war beyond all imagining. We have come a long way since Florence Nightingale reached Scutari in 1854 in time to meet the wounded from the battle of Balaklava which Tennyson immortalized in "The Charge of the Light Brigade." She fought the army authorities and everyone else who got in her way, but she was unstoppable. For the first time in history men who fell in battle got a decent chance for survival. In February 1855, when Florence Nightingale took charge of the Scutari pigsty where men had been dying like flies, the death rate was almost 50 percent. By June it had declined to two percent.

Six years later when the American Civil War began the world's armies were still backward medically. Conditions in both armies were frightful. The Good Gray Poet, Walt Whitman, fought the war as a nurse in Federal hospitals, carrying on the gospel of decency and cleanliness according to Saint Florence. But the mortality from wounds and disease was appalling. Those who survived were apt to have a leg or an arm missing, or to be pursued by wretched health as long as they lived.

As late as the Spanish-American war the care of the sick and wounded left much to be desired. Men died of disease in every camp and bivouac. Sanitary conditions were terrible. The "embalmed beef" scandal scarcely created a ripple on the surface of a placid people.

We did better in the first world war, but not good enough. It remained for the second global conflict to develop medicine and surgery to their present high estate among the world's armies. In part this improvement is due to new discoveries, such as the sulfas and penicillin, but mostly it is due to better methods and a keener concern for the welfare of our men.

Speed in getting help to the wounded and in hospitalizing them has contributed a great deal in cutting down the mortality rate. The medical aid men and stretcher-bearers, the first aid posts, the field hospitals, the evacuation hospitals play vital roles—none more vital than the medic who gets there first with his first aid kit.

And this concern, this efficiency and devotion, in the care of the sick and wounded continues all the way through to the casualty's final discharge from the army. A grateful veteran are not going to turn the wounded or sick veteran loose to shift for himself. His welfare will be the concern of his government as long as he lives.

Thus we mitigate the horrors of war with a great deal more sympathy, understanding and efficiency than anyone dared hope for a generation

We should like to keep alive the idea of some systematic planning for Big Spring and surrounding area. Admittedly, we have been slow in this field—perhaps too slow. There has been some justification. Until we did something about our water situation, about all we could have done was to envision. Now, with that obstacle virtually out of the way, we can not only envision but we can get to work to give some of these plans substance.

At this time, we are facing another agricultural census. If we are wise, we will tie this into our planning and make the most of the findings, capitalizing on our good points and setting to work to overcome the weak spots.

We need also to strain at every point to improve our housing problem. We need to be on the alert for getting every industry large and small which will be economically sound, which will utilize our products and resources and which may be practically marketed.

But the thing we need most of all is to bear in mind that we need to do something. When 1945 rolls around, let us, as an American community determined to do something about its own problems, pitch seriously into this business.

Heartening Announcement

It is heartening to follow the announcement of General Electric in the wake of talk about necessarily higher prices for consumer goods in the days after the war. While there has been considerable speculation that prices would have to be upped by 25 percent, this big company, through its president, Charles E. Wilson, says "there have been too many statements, in my opinion, that consumer products and services will have to cost 25 to 30 percent more after the war because labor costs are up. So far as our organization is concerned, we have no intention of accepting this kind of thinking... we are putting aside all ideas of a limited two-cylinder production and placing our faith in volume and wide distribution."

Best Laugh Of Week

Best laugh of the week came from cocky General Yamashita, who announced he would demand unconditional surrender of General Douglas MacArthur. Sort of like the guy on the bottom yelling: "Give up!"

It is reported that he is the same Japanese general in charge of the Malayan campaign and who negotiated the surrender of the British garrison at Singapore with a terse demand: "All I want to hear from you is yes or no." About all we want to hear out of Yamashita is nothing.

or two ago. And of all the money cost that war entails, the people who pay those costs in the form of taxes begrudge the money spent in behalf of sick and wounded not at all.

Florence Nightingale breathed the spirit of compassion into a callous generation, and showed us the way. And this concern for the wreckage of war can but inspire us with renewed determination to so order our affairs that wars will be no more.

Vet Administration Bumps Along

By JACK S. ELLIOTT
(Substituting for Jack Stinnett, who is ill.)

WASHINGTON—In a day of high-powered, fast-talking, be-lettered agencies, the old-line Veterans Administration is whipping along at a swift clip over one of the bumpiest of legislative spind. But if it were VA's say-so, few would know it was even in the running.

Most objective viewers believe that VA is doing a pretty good job with perhaps the biggest lending program in the history of the nation. Potentially, every serviceman will be entitled to a loan for a home, farm, or new business. VA will handle the bulk of it. And there have been no particular complaints about its other work—compensation, hospitalization, guardianship, insurance and a multitude of other chores, many affecting veterans of wars as far back as the Spanish-American.

But in Washington today such a bureau is a rare avis. About its only bow to the times is its gear-up to present a day veteran's problems, a scattering of bare-legged or bobby-sox girl clerks, and automatic drinking fountains in the corridors of the 25-year-old building.

The Thrill That Comes Once In A Lifetime

Mirrors Of Austin—

Poll Tax May Face Battle Before Next Legislature

By PAUL BOLTOON
Herald Austin Correspondent

There are a number of imminent tax possibilities for the coming session of the legislature, and the legislative representatives of business and industry, otherwise known as lobbyists, are fully aware of the possibilities.

First is the general overall picture: Greater demands upon the government than ever before coupled with a new constitutional restriction which forbids the legislature to vote any appropriation unless the money definitely is in sight. This is a well known situation.

Here is a fact less well known but which has been thoroughly considered in the few short days since it developed.

The attorney general has ruled that all the laws setting up poll tax exemptions for certain classes of citizens... i.e., disabled war veterans—are in violation of the constitution, at least insofar as concerns the $1 constitutional poll tax provision. What will be the obvious reaction of the legislature to that?

Obviously, a drive for a constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax. The legislators will be stumbling all over each other—whether their motives be political expediency or unalloyed patriotism—to do what they can for the returning service men. And the poll tax actually is out of date, anyway. It serves no useful purpose today excepting the approximately $1.2 millions it brings in every year. There is more chance of the next legislature repealing the poll tax than in many years.

(Incidentally, the poll tax, so often confused with the right of ballot, was not originally conceived for any such purpose. The poll tax had been in the constitution many years when, in the early part of this century, it was made a qualification to vote. And according to the memory of a supreme court commissioner, the purpose then was to put a quietus on the importation of Mexican voters in the lower valley to swing close elections, in the Jim Wells days.)

drive to increase the tax load on business, through increased franchise taxes, for this season:

The public generally—and that means legislators, too—have been reading and hearing a lot about "excess profits tax." The argument generally is that companies having to pay an excess profits tax get to keep only $5 out of every $100, the rest going to the federal government. So they reason, why should not that money, or a part of it, be kept by the state government? Particularly since the corporation won't be hurt, as the corporation can deduct its state taxes before reporting to the federal government.

The fallacy of such reasoning lies in the thesis that getting a tax law off the statute books is much harder than pulling teeth. The days of high war profits will end, but the higher franchise tax will go on forever. Nobody has yet devised a method for Texas of relating the tax load to the net profits. And to do such a job now would be next to impossible without completely rewriting the tax laws.

And this lobbyist frankly admits the belief that school teachers, and a good many lower-salaried state employees, are underpaid today and should have increases from the next legislature.

Speaking of utilities and tax burdens, figures have been compiled in Austin showing that out of every dollar spent by the purchaser of electric power, 26 cents go to taxes—local, state and federal. There is no comparative figures to show what other industries pay.

And in that connection, an interesting breakdown is made of the 17 mills which the average Texas privately owned utility gets for a kilowatt of power.

Taxes, 4.4 mills; payrolls, 3.4 mills; depreciation, 2.5 mills; fuel, 1.7 mills; "other," (including such things as lawyers fees) 1 mill; and return on investment, 4 mills.

Stated otherwise, the government is making more out of the private utility than the investors, which, some would argue, is a good thing.

Ernie Pyle: Liberation Of Paris Changes Mind Of Correspondent About War Station

Editor's Note:— This is the 53rd of the Ernie Pyle war dispatches that are being reprinted during Ernie's vacation.

By ERNIE PYLE
PARIS, Aug. 28, 1944— I had thought that for me there could never again be any etation in war. But I had reckoned without remembering that I might be a part of this richly historic day.

We are in Paris — on the first day— on of the great days of all time. This is being written, as other correspondents are writing their pieces, under an emotional tension, a pent-up semi-delirium.

Our approach to Paris was hectic. We had waited for three days in a nearby town while hourly our reports on what was going on in Paris changed and contradicted themselves. Of a morning it would look as though we were about to break through the German ring around Paris and come to the aid of the brave French Forces of the Interior who were holding parts of the city. By afternoon it would seem the enemy had reinforced until another Stalingrad was developing. We could not bear to think of the destruction of Paris, and yet at times it seemed desperately inevitable.

That was the situation this morning when we left Rambouillet and decided to feel our way timidly toward the very outskirts of Paris. And then, when we were within about eight miles, rumors began to circulate that the French Second Armored Division was in the city. We argued for half an hour at a crossroads with a French captain who was holding us up, and finally he freed us and waved us on.

For 15 minutes we drove through a flat gardenlike country under a magnificent bright sun and amidst greenery, with distant banks of smoke pillaring the horizon ahead and to our left. And then we came gradually into the suburbs, and soon into Paris itself and a pandemonium of surely the greatest mass joy that has ever happened.

The streets were lined as by Fourth of July parade crowds at home, only this crowd was almost hysterical. The streets of Paris are very wide, and they were packed on each side. The women were all brightly dressed in white or red blouses and colorful peasant skirts, with flowers in their hair and big flashy earrings. Everybody was throwing flowers, and even serpentine.

As our jeep eased through the crowds, thousands of people crowded up, leaving only a narrow corridor, and frantic men, women and children grabbed us and kissed us and shook our hands and beat on our shoulders and slapped our backs and shouted their joy as we passed.

I was in a jeep with Henry Gorrall of the United Press, Capt. Carl Perlinger of Washington, D. C., and Corp. Alexander Beion, of Amherst, Mass. We all got kissed until we were literally red in face, and I must say we enjoyed it.

Once when the jeep was simply swamped in human traffic and had to stop, we were swarmed over and hugged and kissed and torn at. Everybody, even beautiful girls, insisted on kissing you on both cheeks. Somehow I got started kissing babies that were held up by their parents, and for a while it looked like a baby-kissing politician going down the street. The fact that I hadn't shaved for days, and was gray-bearded as well as baldheaded, made no difference. Once when we came to a stop some Frenchman told us there were still snipers shooting, so we put our steel helmets back on.

The people certainly looked well fed and well dressed. The streets were lined with green trees and modern buildings. All the stores were closed in holiday. Bicycles were so thick I have an idea there have been plenty accidents today, with tanks and jeeps overrunning the populace.

We entered Paris via Rue Aristide, Briand and Rue d' Orleans. We were slightly apprehensive, but decided it was all right to keep going along as long as there were crowds. But finally we were stymied by the people in the

Supporters Of Sweater Go To Blouses

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Even if you're of the school that insists screen glamor comes in sweaters or in skin-tight gowns, I think you'll cotton to today's example of glamor in a middy-blouse: Margaret O'Brien. There's an enchanting little creature.

Miss O'Brien, who is almost eight, met me for lunch in Beverly Hills. Accompanied by Awnty (otherwise pretty, red-haired Margaret) Flores O'Brien, who has movie contract herself now, Miss Margaret arrived in middy and skirt, a cocky sailor hat set primly over her long brown hair. In the high-ceilinged restaurant she looked no bigger than the w.k. minute, with those big eyes constituting at least 20 seconds of same.

In no time Miss Margaret was faced with a small mountain of her favorite food, spaghetti minus meatballs, and with lady-like but efficient attack proceeded to wrap herself around it while we talked of her current favorite subject, Mexico. The O'Briens, Mother, Awnty, and Miss Margaret, went vacationing there after her latest film, "Music for Millions," and had quite a time, visiting churches mainly because Margaret, said Awnty, has always been very religious.

With a little coaxing Miss Margaret shyly detailed for her shining impressions of Mexico: the beautiful churches, the nice children, the pretty villas, the beautiful enchiladas. "I can't talk very loud," she confessed, "because my brace gets in the way." (The brace is behind her upper teeth, invisible.)

Little Miss O'Brien, considering her size, has an almost disproportionate interest in the subject of food. Awnty said the spaghetti was a treat, that at home Margaret gets her juices, vegetables, and balanced diet, even likes her spinach though she is not fond of milk. Margaret took her milk now through a straw, the end of which she soon managed with no visible drain on the fluid in her glass.

Murder Charges Filed Against Wichita Woman

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 10 (AP)—Assistant County Attorney Woodward Bass filed a charge of murder today against Miss Jewel Brinkley, 20, in connection with the fatal stabbing last midnight of Mrs. Caroline June Geno, 18.

Mrs. Geno, wife of a soldier now overseas, was stabbed during an altercation at a cafe. She died a half hour later in Wichita Falls hospital. The charge was filed in Justice of the Peace Nat L. Inges' court.

Lubbock And Lamb Tests Have Shows

By JOHN B. BREWER
SAN ANGELO, Nov. 11—Flowing of oil from the Devonian by Sun Oil Co. No. 1 R. A. Wheeler, southwest outpost to the Wheeler-Ellenburger field in eastern Winkler county; swabbing of five to six barrels of oil hourly by Humble No. 1 J. A. Jackson, southeastern Lamb county wildcat, and showing of free oil in the Clear Fork by Seaboard and Stanolind No. 1 Lulu Mae Cravens, Lubbock county wildcat, featured West Texas oil development this week. Six wildcats were staked in as many counties.

Sun No. 1 Wheeler in Winkler started to flow while pulling drill pipe following a one-hour drill-stem test of the Devonian from 8,524 to 8,610 feet on which 1,160 feet of gas-cut mud, 630 feet of gas and oil-cut mud and 400 feet of free oil were recovered. Devonian production was indicated on an earlier test from 8,275 to 8,527 feet when the test cleaned itself while drillpipe was being drawn. Drilling continued below 8,628 feet in lime and chert to explore the Ellenburger. Location is the C NE SE 12-B7-pst, west offset to Stanolind-Shell No. 2 Blue, a producer. Extending the Wheeler pool one-half mile south from No. 2 Blue, Stanolind-Shell No. 1-B Wheeler, C NW NW 16-46-1s-T&P, was finished with a daily flowing potential of 563 barrels of 45 gravity oil. It had been treated with 2,000 gallons of acid through perforations in 5 1-2 inch casing cemented on bottom at 10,643 feet.

Humble No. 1 J. A. Jackson in southeastern Lamb county, C NE NW 119-A-R. M. Thompson, appeared to be the most northerly producer in the Permian Basin in the making in swabbing five to six barrels of oil hourly. It then was shut in for five hours and oil rose to the top and stopped over the casing. The Clear Fork lime between 7-inch casing at 5,352 feet and the top of a liner at 7,101 feet had been acidized with 5,000 gallons. Retirement was reported planned. The well drilled to granite at 7,191 feet and plugged back. Stanolind-Seaboard No. 1 Cravens, northern Lubbock county wildcat, C SW SW 18-D-L&SV, was credited with recovering two feet of free oil and 60 feet of heavily oil-cut drilling fluid on a one-hour drillstem test from 6,050 to 6,116 feet. Coring was resumed. Stanolind acquired a half interest in the prospect and the 160-acre lease on which it is located, nine miles north of Lubbock, after completion of the original 5,500-foot contract. When the depth was 5,768 feet in lime, the application to drill was amended to deepen to 6,000 feet and casing was run to the bottom. Skelly No. 1 W. S. Hodges, west central Yoakum county wildcat C NW NW 466-D-John H. Gibson, swabbed two barrels of oil hourly after treating with 1,000 gallons of acid through casing perforations from 5,250-75 feet. It continued testing. Stanolind spotted No. 1-B Texas Land & Mortgage Co., slated 7,500-foot wildcat in southern Terry county C NW SW 17 C37-pst, 12 miles south of Brownfield. Humble No. 1 M. S. Doss, Permian lime discovery in southern Gaines county, C SW SW 9-A24-pst averaged 12 barrels of oil hourly in flowing 14 hours, bot-tomized at 7,080 feet. Rowan Drilling Co. staked No. 1 H. C. Shumaker, scheduled 3,000-foot wildcat in southeastern Gaines county 21 miles southeast of Seminole, 510 feet out of the southwest corner of league 298, Reagan county school land survey. Honolulu and Devonian prepared to start No. 1 S. C. Storie, projected 4,000-foot wildcat in north central Garza county C NW SE 1303-1-EL&RR, 2 1-2 miles southeast of their No. 1 R. E. Payton a pool opener. Marking a short east extension to the south part of the Fullerton field in northwestern Andrews county, Frankel Bros. No. 2-D University, C NE SE 3-13-U, was finished with a daily flowing potential of 1,686 barrels from pay at 6,470 to 6,655 feet which had been treated with 10,000 gallons of acid. Amon G. Carter No. 1 E. W. Hyatt, northwestern Martin county wildcat being drilled "light," was reported preparing to run casing after encountering shows in drilling to around 4,700 feet. Phillips Petroleum staked No. 1-A TXL, scheduled 10,000-foot wildcat in northwestern Ector county C NW NW 21-45-1s-T&P, 1 3-4 miles southeast of Shell and Cities Service No. 1 TXL, indicated Devonian lime discovery.

The latter had passed 9,676 feet in lime, slated to explore the Ellenburger. Phillips' test will be the sixth in an area five miles long and two miles wide, probably the largest number ever drilled in West Texas before completion of the discovery. Lion Oil Refining Co. applied for permits to drill three more tests near its No. 1-B University, Delaware sand strike and recent opener of the Lion pool in Ward county four miles west of Pote.

R. L. Newsom reported to Big Spring police that his car was stolen Thursday night at approximately 10:30 p. m. The automobile was a blue 1940 Ford.

SWARTZ'S

Only 35 days Shopping 'til Christmas ... WE'RE READY!

What a joyous feeling when church bells are pealing,
When children are dreaming of Santa Claus stealing
With pack on his back ... a gift laden sack.
And faces of grown-ups their thoughts are revealing,
"A nightgown for mother ... some neckties for brother
Oh, isn't it fun to give gifts to each other!
Yes, this is the time when hearts are in rhyme ...
When the spirit of Christmas is truly sublime!
