

FD Silent On Constitutional Amendment

Congress Will Be Democratic Four To One

Huge Majority May Prove Unwieldy For The Administration

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (UP)—Virtually complete returns showed today democrats will outnumber republicans in both house and senate by about four to one, and administration leaders began to worry lest these huge majorities prove unwieldy and hard to keep in line.

Latest returns indicated the senate would be composed of 75 democrats, 17 republicans, two farmer-laborites from Minnesota, one progressive (LaFollette of Wisconsin) and one independent (Norris of Nebraska).

This indicated democrats captured six republican seats and lost but one of their own, providing Sen. W. J. Bulow, (D), maintains his lead in a close battle in South Dakota against J. Chandler Gurney, republican.

333 Seats In House

Democrats had captured 333 seats, a gain of 11 over the 1934 huge majority, while republicans were sure of only 87 seats, a loss of 16 seats.

Wisconsin's progressives kept their seven seats, while Minnesota's farm-labor party captured five, a gain of one, and had a 50-50 chance at another. If the democrats win their two remaining contests and the republicans win a Minnesota race with the farmer-laborites, the house line-up will be: Democrats, 335; republicans, 88; progressives, 7; farm-labor, 5. Total 435 seats.

New Deal Critics Lose

Many of the arch-critics of the "new deal" were defeated. Among these were Senators Lester J. Dickinson of Iowa, Jesse H. Metcalfe, Rhode Island, Daniel O. Hastings, Del. W. Warren Barbour, New Jersey, Robert D. Carey, Wyoming. Similarly house republicans lost some of their best leaders including Rep. Chester Bolton, Ohio, Rep. John Hollister, Ohio, Rep. Schuyler Merritt, Conn., and Rep. Isaac Bacharach, New Jersey.

There was little change in third party strength in congress. Senator George Norris of Nebraska returns to the next congress as an independent, and two farmer-laborites and one progressive will be in the senate with him.

In the house seven progressives came back from Wisconsin while there was a chance of the farmer-laborites picking up a seat in Minnesota to increase their strength from three to four.

Solid democratic delegations from 21 states were due for the next house. Outside of the "solid south" states which will have complete democratic representation are Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Rhode Island, Utah and Wyoming.

Texan Runs As Floor Leader

Rayburn Lining Up Support For High Party Position In House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (UP)—A three-cornered contest for the leadership of the house was in full swing today before the last ballots had been counted in the electoral upheaval which gave democratic representatives an unprecedented majority in the next congress.

The speakership, highest house post, was not at issue because of the expected re-election of Representative William B. Bankhead of Alabama. The developing contest was for floor leader.

Predicts Victory
Predicting victory for himself Representative Rayburn (D-Tex) opened his campaign with a series of conferences with congressional leaders.

A battery of secretaries already was busy sending his appeals for support to each of the 334 democratic members of the new house.

Representative O'Connor (D-N.Y.) chairman of the powerful rule committee and acting leader in the final weeks of the last session, was a candidate, expected by house attaches to mount a strong backing in Franklin in race.

A spokesman for a southern group, Representative Rankin (D-Miss) announced he had launched his drive for the leadership and had a "tentative organization" already set up.

Some representatives privately said Rayburn faced a possible handicap in the fact that Texan already held many key positions in Washington.

Rayburn was expected to draw some administration support, however, since he is an intimate friend of Vice-President Garner and was a leader in the fight for the administration's holding company legislation.

FASCISTS CHECKED AS FIERCE BATTLE RAGES

WPA Chief's Kin Killed In Car Crash

F. G. Drought Victim; 3 Others Injured As Autos Collide

WACO, Nov. 6 (AP)—Frederick Gerald Drought of San Antonio, brother of H. P. Drought, state Works Progress administrator, was killed, and a woman companion, Miss Shirley Johns of Waco and two men identified as being from Illinois, were seriously injured today in an auto collision on the Waco-Temple highway.

Officers said the two men in the auto figuring in the collision with the Drought car were from Mt. Vernon, Illinois, according to papers found in their belongings.

They were put under technical arrest for "suspected theft of an auto belonging to R. E. Ford Reagan. Officers said the men were in the stolen car when the accident occurred.

Drought was employed by the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district, with headquarters at Temple.

Later officers filed charges against Charles Hoefner and Aleck Wagner, who figured in the crash, with theft of over $50.

DRIVER IS CHARGED AFTER ROAD MISHAP

Bruce Nutter was held here today on a charge of driving while intoxicated as the result of a crash which badly damaged his car and demolished an automobile and trailer belonging to U. Hitchcock of St. Louis near the airport west of town Thursday afternoon.

Bond was set at $750 by Justice of Peace J. H. Hoffer after continuing trial had been waived this morning.

Hitchcock and his three children miraculously escaped injury when their machine overturned several times, wrecking it almost beyond repair. The trailer was shattered.

FIVE LOSE LIVES AS FIRE DESTROYS HOME

CAMBRIDGE, O., Nov. 6 (AP)—Five persons were burned to death today in a fire that destroyed their home here.

The dead were George Sayre Mrs. Mary Wiley and two children and a sister of Mrs. Wiley.

IMPRESSIVE SAFETY RECORD IS CHALKED UP BY WPA WORKERS

Less than two-tenths of one percent of the total time worked lost from accidents in the impressive record of safety on WPA projects in District No. 18 since the first project was started October 2, 1935.

Records of these projects, released Friday by the district office, show that of 1,150,000 hours worked, only 21 accidents, all of minor character, have resulted in the loss of 2,013 hours.

Dawson county's state highway-WPA project heads the safety list with a perfect record. Since it began operation in February 14, it has had no accident of any description despite the fact that it has employed an average of 56 men daily. In fact, the safety kit issued for the job has never been opened.

Three of the largest road projects in the district, involving a total of 192,000 work hours, have not had mishaps resulting in loss of time by any worker.

Of the comparatively few accidents reported during more than a year of operation, none have been serious enough to cause permanent disability or result fatally.

WPA officials explained the record as the result of an attempt to make the WPA program one for the benefit of workers. If the workers were to be helped, they must be in good condition and on the job, it was reasoned.

To this end, they have sought to demonstrate that "accidents can be prevented." At the same time, they have exercised preparedness with prevention, keeping first aid materials on hand for every project at all times.

Outskirts Of Capital Shelled By Artillery

(By the Associated Press)

Advancing insurgent troops were temporarily halted at suburban Carabanchel today by socialist fighting desperately to save their capital.

Artillery battles between fascist and government batteries continued to fill the air with blasting shells on the outskirts of Madrid. Capital advisers, however, denied earlier reports that insurgent shells were falling in the heart of the city. Rebelion guards were fighting militiamen in the streets. Madrid women joined their men in the defense of the city.

Planes Shot Down

It was reported that two additional insurgent planes were shot down during fights in the Alcala de Henares and Leganes sectors. Fascists had captured El Cerro de Los Angeles, two miles southeast of Getafe.

Some of Madrid's terrified residents, their ears ringing with the sounds of nearby battle, sought refuge in subway kiosks and basements, while others ran through the streets beside their men marching to the front.

The insurgent attack, for weeks an ever-harrowing semi-circle south of Madrid, was converted into a solid front driving toward the heart of Madrid through Getafe, eight miles south of the capital, where one of Madrid's two major air-dromes was located.

Carrying the aerial battle to the enemy for the first time during the bloody civil war, government planes bombed fascist infantry units in Alcorcon county, west of Madrid.

Getafe In Ruins

In retaliation, insurgent airmen splattered machine gun bullets on concentrations of Madrid's defenders falling back through the city's environs.

Getafe, its 4,500 population evacuated several days ago, was in smoldering ruins. Its streets and homes were the targets for gunners of both sides during the week. Thousands of government militiamen poured back from Getafe and forward from Madrid to consolidate their lines just outside the city limits.

THEFT OF HARNESS IS REPORTED HERE

Theft of harness from a barn at the Marvin Robinson place, four miles east of Big Spring, has been reported to officers here. The harness was property of Walter Robinson. The theft occurred Wednesday night.

Future Plans Not Disclosed By President

Employment Campaign May Follow Lines Similar To Those Of NRA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Whether a constitutional amendment to carry out some new deal objectives will be proposed remained unanswered today by President Roosevelt, given an uproarious welcome upon his return to the capital after a sweeping election victory.

He laughingly parried inquiries. He did say, however, that he was considering a trip to Buenos Aires for the opening of the Inter-American peace conference on December 1; and that he would talk today with members of the Maritime commission and Secretary of Labor Perkins regarding the Pacific coast strike.

Budget Balance His Aim

The chief executive said he had given no thought to new cabinet appointments, and the filling of other important posts now vacant.

The president had declared, before leaving Hyde Park last night, he was going "to try to balance the budget, thereby carrying out the first campaign pledge."

There were reports that the administration might essay an attack on the unemployment problem along NRA lines. Officials were reluctant, however, to discuss the program.

Inquiries were referred to campaign speeches and the democratic platform for light on what President Roosevelt might say. It was recalled by some that he praised NRA as an instrument of progress. While calling the emergency over, he was clearly mindful of the heavy relief burden and the necessity for reducing the ranks of an estimated 11,000,000 unemployed if the budget balancing he promised was to be realized.

Higher Wages Announced As Stocks Gain

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (AP)—News of higher wages, dividends, heavy freight movement, advancing prices of metals, and selected securities came today.

Chrysler corporation announced a $4,000,000 bonus for its employees. Columbia Steel company announced a 10 per cent wage increase. Standard Oil company of New Jersey ordered an extra dividend of 75 cents a share and Standard Oil of Indiana ordered an extra dollar.

Bethlehem Steel corporation joined in the better business parade with announcement of a wage increase.

Metals showed substantial gains on the day's trading while selected securities closed out strong, reflecting confidence in the market and contributing to a continuation of an upward trend since Wednesday, the day following the presidential election.

Thursday was one of the broadest markets since 1929 saw stocks whirl up to a new recovery peak with gains of one to five or more points.

Brokers attributed the second buying rush since the election largely to a revival of optimism for business and industry. Whether there was an inflationary tinge to the proceedings was a matter of argument.

A rally in utilities aided sentiment and coppers continued to draw support. Selected motors, aircrafts, oils, sugars and specialties were conspicuous on the upside. Transfers totaled 3,619,809 shares, the largest volume since February 19, last. The Associated Press average of 80 stocks was up .5 of a point at 72.5, a new top since April 20, 1931.

Seek Shift In Payroll Tax

Labor Leaders Want All Of Burden Placed On Employers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—American Federation of Labor leaders disclosed today they expect to ask the next congress to shift the entire social security payroll tax to employers.

They expressed confidence republican campaign attacks on the old age pensions tax on employees' wages would add them considerably in rallying congressional support for the shift.

The labor spokesmen said privately they will submit their proposal to the federation's annual convention in Tampa, Fla., this month.

During the last several weeks of the campaign, much republican speech-making was centered on the social security act. Governor Alf M. Landon, in his St. Louis speech Oct. 31, said that the act would place "a tax burden" on employees "throughout their working lives."

The social security act provides for a graduated tax on payrolls starting next Jan. 1, for old age pensions. Next year the tax will be two per cent, half to be paid by employers and half by employees. By degrees, the tax will be increased to six per cent by 1949. Old age benefits, to persons over 65 years old, will range from $12 to $85 a month.

The federation quietly tried when the act was first considered to have the employer pay the entire tax.

Vet Plunges To Death From Window Of Hotel

FDR May Visit Pan-American Peace Parley

Plans Cruise, But Plans Not Definite On Call At Buenos Aires

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt today indicated he might attend the opening of the Pan-American peace conference at Buenos Aires December 1, but White House attaches said final decision would be reserved until the latter part of the week.

Marvin H. McIntyre, secretary to the president, told newspapermen the president would leave from a southern port Nov. 17 for a sea trip, and that it was possible, but by no means definitely determined the cruise would be extended a week or more for a one-day stop at the Argentine capital.

If he goes to Buenos Aires where Secretary Hull and six others will represent the United States at the party of western hemisphere republics, the secretary said the president would not return to Washington before Dec. 13 or 14.

It was said the president was being urged to make the trip to Argentina by officials of South American countries and by some of his closest advisers and friends in the United States.

Jury Out In Aged Woman Title Suit

70th District Court Ends Term In Glascock, To Come Here Monday

Seventieth district court, concluding a one week term at Gardiner City today, will move to Big Spring Monday for a fourth and final session in Howard county during 1936.

Friday morning a jury which had the case of Samuel Greer versus Albert Johnson, et al., suit to try title, under consideration since Thursday afternoon, had been unable to reach a verdict.

Thomas and McDonald of Big Spring represented Greer in the suit while Upton and Upton and Travis Baker of San Angelo served as counsel for the defendants.

The court will be faced by a very light docket, both criminal and civil, when it opens its four week term here Monday. Principal civil business will be carry-over cases from the September term.

JOB INSURANCE ACT GETS US APPROVAL

AUSTIN, Nov. 6 (UP)—Gov. James V. Alford's office today notified that the federal social security board has approved the Texas unemployment insurance act for participation in the federal program.

Under that program employers in states whose acts are approved may receive credit on their federal payroll taxes for the amounts paid into a state unemployment insurance system up to 90 per cent of the federal tax.

The state tax scale is fixed so it will not exceed that 90 per cent.

FD FOLLOWERS SEE IMPROVED WORLD RELATIONS FOR THE U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (UP)—Administration leaders claimed today that President Roosevelt, because of the overwhelming popular approval of his policies, stands as the most powerful figure for peace among world statesmen.

Recalling his speech on foreign affairs at Chautauque, N. Y., last summer in which he voiced his personal hatred of war and his determination that this country should not be dragged into another foreign war, state department officials confidently anticipated vigorous administration during the coming year to isolate this country further from the world's political troubles.

Co-related steps in this direction, they believed, will be:

1. Continuation of the reciprocal trade treaties program.
2. Consolidation of the peace machinery among the 21 nations of the western hemisphere, not only to make war next to impossible in this hemisphere, but also to enable the American nations to present a solid front against involvement in wars in other parts of the world.
3. Strengthening of the present neutrality law, which expires next May, to assure further enforced neutrality of the United States in foreign wars through granting of additional discretionary powers to the president in the matter of embargoing exports of war materials of all kinds from this country to warring nations.

While administration officials appear optimistic over the results to be anticipated from the Pan-American peace conference at Buenos Aires on December 1 to revise the peace machinery of this hemisphere, they frankly look to the extension of the trade treaties program and strengthening of the existing neutrality law as likely to have more immediate and far-reaching influence upon world peace than the results of the Buenos Aires conference.

Administration leaders believe the recently concluded exchange stabilization agreement paved the way for extension of reciprocal trade treaties to a number of nations which heretofore have shown little interest in these treaties, due to internal economic and foreign exchange difficulties.

Survivors, besides Mrs. Hull, are three sons, Douglas and Clarence Thompson of Big Spring and Winford Thompson of Lampasas county; four other daughters, Mrs. T. P. Archer, Buffalo Gap; Mrs. W. L. Farmer, Cisco; Mrs. W. A. Archer, Hamlin, and Mrs. Roy Galson of Evans, Texas; a sister, Mrs. M. A. Kidd of Tuscola, and a brother, Joe W. Shelton of Ardmore, Okla. Mrs. Thompson's husband died in 1931 and is buried at Cisco.

TENANCY LEGISLATION PREDICTED BY JONES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Enactment of "some kind of farm tenancy legislation," at the next session of congress was viewed as a certainty today by Chairman Jones (D-Tex.) of the house agriculture committee.

He said the measure approved "probably will differ materially" from the Bankhead-Jones bill for financing farm purchases by tenants, which failed of passage in the last session.

President Roosevelt has expressed interest repeatedly in helping tenants to farm ownership and asked Jones and Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) to work on legislation for next session.

Get Away From Celery And Nuts Surprise Your Guests With New, Fancy Hors d'Oeuvre Selection

By MATHA LOGAN
Appetizers, often called by their French name, hors d'oeuvres, are exactly what the name implies. They are served at the beginning of a meal to whet the appetite for the more substantial foods to follow.

In the United States, canapes, cocktails, celery, radishes, and olives are the most common components of the hors d'oeuvres, but in some countries the utmost skill of the chef is exhibited in an inviting array of unusual delicacies. If you have eaten in Italy or in an Italian restaurant, you are familiar with the inevitable "antipasto" with its bits of tomato, fish, and vegetables. In France an assortment of dainty tidbits is offered to each guest, who makes his own selection. Sweden is famous for its numerous appetizers, called Smorgasbord, or translated "sandwich table." In homes, this table of delicacies is often in the dining room. The guests usually pass around the table, and make their selection.

In a Swedish hotel or restaurant, there will be a great variety of appetizers, often as many as 20 or 30. They are served at the table as the first course. This Smorgasbord is composed of relishes, especially cucumbers, beets, and onions; salads, usually fish or vegetable salads mixed liberally with mayonnaise; fish of every variety and prepared in every way; many types of sausage sliced paper thin; cold meats, notably cold sliced tongue, and pork; and jellied meats of all kinds; cheese of several varieties; eggs, in omelets or suffed; mushrooms; sliced tomatoes, celery, and other vegetables.

The average American, accustomed as he is to the inevitable celery and olives, is rather discomfited by such an array of foods and usually eats so much that he is unable to do justice to the meat that follows.

One of the finest hotels in New York City offers hors d'oeuvres on a specially constructed portable table manned by the French chef who fashions the dainty morsels. This is rolled to every table after the guests are seated and from this they make their choice. Some select their entire luncheon from the hors d'oeuvres table, and well they might.

Such a plan suggests one of the pretties and most delicious of courses to precede a luncheon or dinner. For this purpose one may use a relish dish, which is divided into compartments, or the hors d'oeuvres may be arranged on a large silver platter or any kind of large plate. Its attractiveness and its success will depend both upon the general appearance of the platter and the super-savory taste of its contents.

Do not keep these dainties for company meals only, but treat the family to them once in a while. They will enjoy them and it is a most pleasing way to use bits of leftovers.

Hors d'oeuvres may be substantial or very light, and either hot or cold. Here are several delicious appetizers for you to try.

Nut Tempters
Roll small cubes of pimiento in very finely ground nuts to make small, nut-covered balls. Serve as hors d'oeuvres.

Emerald Isles
Cut small cubes of cheese. Roll in minced parsley and serve as hors d'oeuvres.

Dried Beef Rolls
Mix two teaspoons of minced onion or chives with a package of cream cheese. Make into small rolls and wrap each one with a slice of dried beef. Fasten with toothpicks. Chill before serving.

Another delicious hors d'oeuvres is made by combining Roquefort and cream cheese in equal amounts. Spread potato chips or "waffle" potatoes with the well-blended mixture and sprinkle with minced parsley or paprika.

Hot Dried Beef Rolls
Roll thin slices of dried beef with the following filling: Mix 3 ounces of cream cheese, 1 teaspoon horse-radish, salt, and 1 teaspoon chopped parsley. With sharp knife, trim off ends of roll to give neat appearance. Heat in a moderate oven (350 degree F.). Serve hot. (To be eaten with fork.)

Tongue Appetizer
Cut tongue with a crescent-shaped cookie cutter. Place on rye bread cut same shape, toasted and spread with mayonnaise. Pipe fancy border of anchovy paste around

YES, THIS FOOD ENDS YOUR CONSTIPATION

Look out for those half-sick days, when you feel listless, headachy, out-of-sorts. Your trouble may be constipation. The real cause of common constipation is too little "bulk" in meals. Your system misses its regular exercise.

Get this needed "bulk" in a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Within the body, its "bulk" absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently sponges out the system.

Why keep on feeling bad when you can feel good? Millions of people use ALL-BRAN. Tests prove it's safe and effective. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Serve as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into recipes. Remember, ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Certainly you'd rather eat a food than take pills and drugs. Buy ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Liver Sausage Appetizer
Fill celery stick with liver sausage. Sprinkle with paprika. Decorate with a line of caviar down center of celery stick.

Ham Appetizer
Cut four one-fourth inch slices of white bread and spread with mayonnaise. Put together alternate with sliced ham, cream cheese mixed with chopped stuffed olives. Press firmly together. Wrap in a slightly dampened towel and chill in refrigerator. When ready to serve, trim off crusts and cut in one-fourth inch slices.

Dry Sausage Appetizer
Cut dry sausage with diamond shape cookie cutter. Garnish opposite corners with grated egg white and the other corners with green peppers. Place on white bread, cut same shape and slightly toasted, and spread with mayonnaise.

Forepine Grapefruit
Place grapefruit in the center of a compartment dish. Place toothpicks in the top half of the grapefruit about one and one-half inches apart, which have been stuck into the following appetizers:

Bacon, wrapped around stuffed olives and broiled.

Tiny pork sausages, browned.

3-4 inch ham cubes with tiny pickled onions.

3-4 inch tongue cubes with half stuffed olives.

Cosden Traffic Cop On Air Saturday

May girls belong to the Cosden Traffic Cop club? That's a question that will be settled once and for all by the Cosden Traffic Cop when he talks to his Little Pal on his program over WBAP at 7 o'clock Saturday night. Cy Leland will again be featured in a resume of Southwest Conference and other Saturday football games and will interview one of the star players in the T. C. U.-Texas U. game at Fort Worth. The Higher Octanes have arranged an especially attractive program of musical numbers. The program will open with Ted singing "Bye, Bye, Baby." Lee and the Humming Birds will repeat "South Sea Island Magpie" by popular request. Prissy will be featured in "Fool That I Am" and "I Can't Escape From You."

Chevrolet To Be On View

Big Spring and vicinity will get the first view, tomorrow, of the new 1937 Chevrolet. It will go on public display at the Carter Chevrolet Co. at 7 a. m., immediately after the breakfast which Ben R. Carter is holding at the Hotel Settles in honor of his sales organization and department heads.

The breakfast is one of some 10,000 similar affairs being held throughout the country just before the new models go on view.

It was arranged in acknowledgment of the unusual cooperation displayed by Chevrolet dealer employees this past year. Their emphasis on owner satisfaction, Carter asserted, has been an important factor, not only in the year's sales record, but in the unparalleled bank of advance orders received for 1937 models. An exceptionally large bank of such orders is on file this year, he said, as a result of the public's experience with the 1936 Chevrolet.

Immediately after the breakfast, the salesroom will be thrown open, and an open house atmosphere will prevail all day. Cars will be delivered to purchasers in the rotation in which the orders are received.

Carter said, adding that production in the ten Chevrolet assembly plants is now going on at the rate which assures prompt delivery on all orders.

Intimate Glimpses Of President Given In March Of Time

Right on the release date, the Ritz theatre Friday and Saturday is offering the newest issue of "The March of Time" (20th release) which is significantly at this time includes among its subjects an episode entitled "The Presidency." It is a comprehensive yet intimate presentation of the problems and routine that daily face the nation's chief executive during his term of office.

Its companion piece—the result of six weeks intensive coverage of schools from coast to coast—is a survey of the progressive trends in U. S. elementary schools during the past 30 years.

In filming the presidential review, the March of Time became the first motion picture company ever to be granted full photographic privileges in the White House.

Guided by Chester Bayard and T. Muir, a camera crew spent an entire week within the executive mansion, home of U. S. presidents since John Adams in 1800.

The result is an absorbing document. Of the hundreds of thousands of Washington visitors, few have ever reached the White House doors, and none but intimate friends of the chief executive have had the privilege of seeing what the camera reveals—the charming second-floor living quarters of the president and his family.

Here, for the first time, are shown the stately upstairs living rooms, rich in memorabilia and historic associations, where the president may relax in privacy. In his study beyond, the camera has recorded the intimate surroundings

Trains Guarded On Strike-Ridden Line

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 6 (UP)—Crack passenger trains of the strike-ridden Louisiana and Arkansas railroad completed their north and south runs across a heavily guarded right-of-way without incident today.

Strike sympathizers who have been the line with murderous attacks for six weeks made no appearance. Tuesday night one man was killed and two wounded when a barrage of bullets poured into the engine cab of the southbound passenger train called the "Hustler" near Winfield.

The northbound "Hustler" reached Shreveport yesterday an hour and a quarter late because of engine trouble. Paul Sipple, vice president of the railroad, said the engine was not insulated for the cold and consequently was unable to raise steam pressure.

The southbound passenger train reached New Orleans 15 minutes late but the crew said it had not been molested.

SCIENCE LOOKS INTO PROVERB ABOUT BEAUTY

LEIPZIG, Nov. 6 (UP)—A new scientific beauty treatment that avoids artificial mediums and surface applications and attacks the problem below the surface has been introduced here.

It is based on electrical radiation. A soothing relaxation is said to follow the applications of the electrical current and the circulation of the blood is quickened.

The face to be treated is covered with a silk mask over which skin, cheek and forehead electrodes, enabling the current to penetrate to a considerable depth below the skin's surface. The amount of electricity applied is carefully regulated.

The new process is based on the familiar proverb that beauty is more than skin deep. Scientific tests of the electrical beauty treatment have been carried out at the Leipzig Fair.

MODERN MONOGRAMS EASILY MADE

Individual Taste In Arranging Letters Considered Smart

By ELIZABETH MAY BLONDEL
Prepared by McCall's Magazine for The Herald

The etiquette of monograms isn't what it used to be. Not only have the styles of letters become interestingly modern, but the arrangements no longer have to follow the rules of our grandmothers.

It is all because it is now possible for anybody to embroider "letter-perfect" and distinguished-looking monograms on all kinds of house linens. That is why monogramming has become so popular.

With one of the new inexpensive transfer patterns and a hot iron, you can stamp your initials in less time than it takes to tell; and the right such is really very simple.

Individualism Correct

With the increasing popularity of make-your-own monograms, it is now "correct" to use your own individual taste in arrangements and color schemes. And there is a wide range of letter styles from which to choose.

"Modern style" letters are the "last word" in smartness for tablecloths, napkins, pillowcases, sheets, towels, washcloths, etc. The letters can be selected in the best size for each type of article. The monogram for a large tablecloth is usually 4 1/4 inches high; the three-inch size is good for sheets and the two-inch for smaller things.

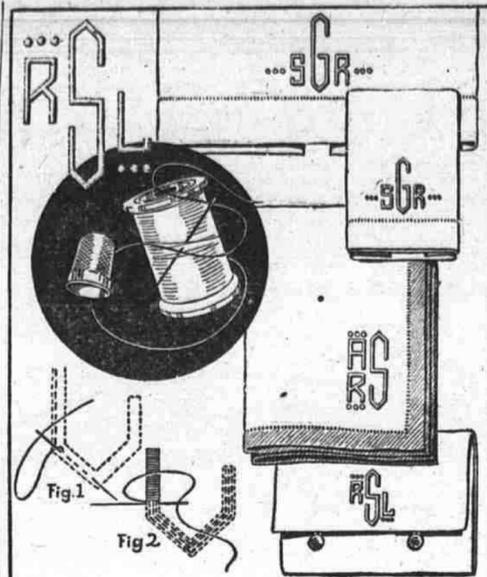

In arranging, the initials may be in straight sequence, as in your name; they should be all the same size for this. If you prefer two sizes, the surname initial should be the largest and in the center, with a smaller one on each side. Or the large initial may come last, with the smaller letters in front, one above the other, with dots to fill out the rectangular block.

For a dinner cloth, the monogram is often placed on opposite ends, in the center facing the ends of the table, and far enough in to be just above the service; or at opposite right-hand corners, about 15 inches diagonally in from the corner of the table. A small cloth uses only one monogram at the head of the table, about 15 inches in from the right-hand corner. Napkins may be marked in the exact center and wide in thirds lengthwise then crosswise; or marked in one corner and folded into quarters. Sheets are marked in the center, from one to four inches above the hem, and pillowcases in the center about one inch above the hem.

Colored embroidery on white linens and contrasting colors on colored linens is the fascinating modern trend. Some of the best combinations are light and dark green on green linen; light and dark blue on blue, etc. Brown on maize, gray on wine shades or deep blue, dark blue on rose and strong colors generally are increasingly popular.

GARNETTS ON TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Garnett left this afternoon for Abilene where they will attend the radio show they will hold there this afternoon and tonight. Tomorrow they will continue on to Tulsa, Okla., where they will be the guests of Mrs. Garnett's relatives. Monday they plan to motor to Ponca City to attend the district convention of the American Business clubs which will continue through Tuesday.

TAKE NEEDLE AND THREAD

Modern style letters like these can be embroidered at home with little effort. First outline the stamped initial in running stitch (figure 1), making a short stitch on the wrong side and a longer one on the right side. Then pad the space between these lines with lengthwise rows of running stitch, alternating the stitches in the rows. Cover the surface several times in this way and make the padding higher in the center. Then work in satin stitch (figure 2) over this padding, laying stitches evenly and carefully. For the best effects, use an embroidery hoop.

Plans, Reports And a Party Feature Grand International Auxiliary Meet

Plans for the big anniversary party, reports from the Grand International Auxiliary Convention and a visit with the only living charter member of the auxiliary in this district were highlights in the meeting held yesterday at the W. O. W. hall.

On the 19th the auxiliary will honor all of those members whose birthday anniversaries are celebrated in this month or in December. A committee composed of Mrs. R. L. Rogers, Mrs. L. L. Freeman and Mrs. A. R. Kavanaugh will have charge of the party arrangements.

Mrs. Charles Koberg gave an interesting report of the auxiliary convention which was held in Fort Worth late last month. Mrs. C. J. Redwine, Mrs. Susie Wiesen and Mrs. Schwarzenbach attended in addition to Mrs. Koberg. Next year's assembly will be held in St. Louis and the golden anniversary of the G. L. A. will be held in Chicago.

At the close of the business session the group went in a body to the home of Mrs. S. E. Deats, only living charter member of the auxiliary in this district, who celebrated her 77th year on the 4th. She was presented with many handkerchiefs and a potted plant.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Deats, Mrs. Lamar Smith, Mrs. W. C. Bird, Mrs. L. L. Freeman, Mrs. A. R. Kavanaugh, Mrs. D. S. Orr, Mrs. C. J. Redwine, Mrs. R. L. Rogers, Mrs. Charles Koberg and Mrs. Charles Vines.

Reading And Writing

By John Selby

When "The Furies" appeared, there was a rather loud chorus of praise on both sides of the Atlantic, meaning, of course, in England and America. James Hanley was the author, and James Hanley, it was agreed, had a future.

Mr. Hanley has succumbed to the trilogy bug. He is writing three novels about the Furies, and now the second is upon us. He calls it "The Secret Journey." Many of the people in "The Furies" are in it, but the emphasis is considerably altered. Besides the mother, the chief characters are the son, Peter, and Mrs. Ragner, who is the usurper into whose power the Furies have fallen. These and Sheila, who is the woman Peter loves and also the wife of Peter's brother.

It is evident from the first page that Mr. Hanley's seafaring town of Gelton holds nothing for the Fury's but tragedy. Peter has been a disappointment to his mother, who had intended him for the priesthood. Peter went to sea instead, but not before he had an education beyond his class. When he came home, still a boy, he returned with the curiously intense love of late adolescence for the girl who married his dull brother—married him for a reason Peter does not understand.

He returned also to the knowledge that his mother gradually was being emptied of her force by Mrs. Ragner, who lived comfortably amid the scents of the neighboring pickle factory on the money stolen by quasigal means from the poor about her. And these matters have their tragic effect on Peter—in just what way it is Mr. Hanley's business to tell, not mine.

The prospective reader should know, however, that although he will not regret it, he is in for a pretty harsh and difficult experience before he finishes "The Secret Journey." On his way, he will find several exasperations—two of these concern Mr. Hanley's habit of writing himself and his own rather sophisticated reactions into characters which are unlikely to sustain them, and his worse habit of leaving pronouns hanging, other references unclear.

"The Secret Journey," by James Hanley (Macmillan).

Finds Way to Have Young-Looking Skin at 35!

It's utterly wonderful how quickly this scientific cream has away "sun-baked" skin in only 5 minutes! At 30-35-40, even, women now stand with rose-petal soft, smooth, youthfully clear skin. This Golden Poreo's Skin Cream sets the new way to look like a young girl. It's the only way to have young-looking skin. It's the only way to have young-looking skin. It's the only way to have young-looking skin.

Center Point HD Club Has Achievement Day Function At Church

Members of the Center Point Home Demonstration club Tuesday afternoon displayed the fruits of a year-around program in their Achievement Day function at the Center Point Methodist church.

The room, decorated appropriately with green and white, colors and cut flowers, contained six booths. Each booth was devoted to two months of the year and stressed goods put up by members during that particular month.

In addition there were several pieces of needlework, dainty hand made gifts and garments shown. An antique exhibit attracted much attention.

For extra entertainment, the members staged a side show and gave several musical selections. Coffee and cakes were served to approximately 70 members and visitors who called during the afternoon.

Bed Jacket After Franz Hals

By RUTH ORR
Pattern No. 370

The idea for this bed jacket was taken from the portrait by Franz Hals in the Metropolitan Museum, New York. We decided to crochet it. We recommend it because the wide cape collar and cuffs give added comfort as you hold your book, or sit up in bed to talk with a visitor when you are convalescing.

It is crocheted in three-fold Saxony yarn with a narrow edging of Angora around the collar and top of the cuffs. It could be made entirely in white, or of a pale color with white collar and cuffs or, for a more practical jacket, of some deeper shade, like rose.

The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand, illustrated directions, with diagrams to aid you; also what crochet hook and what material and how much you will need.

To obtain this pattern send for No. 370 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address Big Spring Herald, Needlework Dept., P. O. Box 200, Station D, New York, N. Y.

Peter Banks Is Married

Peter Banks and Miss Lois White were married Thursday evening at the home of Rev. R. E. Day, First Baptist minister.

The bridegroom is a driver for the Seven Seven Taxi company.

The couple left soon after the ceremony for a short honeymoon trip to Dallas.

Another Question About CARDUI

MOTHERS RECOMMEND IT

"Why do so many MOTHERS recommend Cardui to their daughters?"

Isn't it but natural that any good mother should tell her daughters about Cardui if the mother herself felt that she had been benefited by this medicine?

It is impressive that so many women report having taken Cardui on the advice of their mothers.

Cardui has been found to benefit women when weakened by malnutrition (poor nourishment); and it helps to relieve much discomfort at monthly periods.

Thousands of women testify Cardui helped them. Of course, if it does not help you, consult a physician.—adv.

Straw Polls Bat 500 In Forecast Of Winner In Presidential Race

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (UP)—Two of five national straw vote polls were correct in selecting President Roosevelt, two were wrong and one said the contest would be close, a comparison of their predictions with actual results showed today.

The quarterly survey of Fortune Magazine and the Institute of Public Opinion poll made Mr. Roosevelt the favorite.

The Literary Digest and the Farm Journal in Philadelphia forecast the election of Gov. Alf M. Landon by a comfortable margin. The Crossley poll, in Hearst newspapers, declared "not since 1816 has there been so much doubt about the eventual outcome." This poll accorded Mr. Roosevelt 250 electoral votes, and left the way open for him to win the other 16 necessary for victory.

The October issue of Fortune showed that 69.2 per cent of all persons it queried thought the president would be reelected. Gov. Landon's supporters numbered 22.3 per cent with the balance divided between William Lemke, Norman Thomas and "don't know."

The public opinion institute predicted last Sunday that Mr. Roosevelt would win with 315 electoral ballots from 21 "sure" democratic states. Gov. Landon was given the 12 electoral ballots from Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire.

The institute said the other 12 states and their 204 electoral votes were "too close for prediction." Actually, the president has won of held a lead in all the poll's doubtful states. He won New Hampshire also.

The Literary Digest, which has been conducting presidential polls since 1924, predicted in its final tabulation that Gov. Landon would win with 370 electoral votes from 32 states. The poll gave Mr. Roosevelt the other 16 states and their 161 electoral ballots.

Willfred J. Funk, the Literary Digest editor, issued this statement: "We may not have reached a representative cross-section of the population in distributing the ballots," he said. "On the other hand, there may have been some last minute shift to account for the discrepancy."

"I am thoroughly astonished; I don't know how to account for it. I certainly thought that in any case the result would be much closer as to the popular total. It's possible the public had a revolution against the republican candidates in the last few weeks when it was too late to show in our poll."

The University of Georgia and Alabama Poly football teams have met 41 times on the gridiron.

Shirley Star At The Ritz

Frank Morgan With Child Player In New Film, 'Dimples'

Singing, dancing and dimpling her way to new triumphs, Shirley Temple appears again on the local screen program, being starred in the Ritz offering, "Dimples," scheduled Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday. The picture introduces new songs and dance steps by Shirley.

A strong cast, headed by Frank Morgan, supports Shirley. The players include Helen Westley, Robert Kent, Astrid Allwyn, Delma Byren, the Hall Johnson choir and Stepin Fetchit.

With its share of laughter, romance and drama, "Dimples" tells the story of Shirley as a lovable little street minstrel and her incorrigible but irresistibly funny guardian, Morgan. Shirley entertains and Morgan takes up a collection from the street crowds. Morgan has a penchant for other people's belongings and his nimble fingers fasten on anything of value with which they come in contact. This eventually leads him into trouble but he goes free due to Shirley's help.

With Shirley mothering the irresponsible scamp, the film moves through an entertaining story. A highlight of the film is the little star's appearance in a presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Shirley again shows her ability as a dancer and sings several appealing new songs.

Film Adaptation Of Peter B. Kyne Story Offered At Queen

Three escaped convicts, with courage born of desperation and despair, seeking a wealthy conspirator who has hidden a fortune in stolen bank notes, the theft of which sent the three to prison are the focal point of dramatic action in "Valley of Wanted Men," the Friday-Saturday attraction at the Queen theatre.

The story is based on a Peter B. Kyne story. Action starts suddenly as the trio breaks prison, and goes in climatic fashion as the fugitives recover the stolen fortune and return it to its rightful owner.

Cast of the picture includes Frankie Darro, Roy Mason, Russell Hopton, Grant Withers, Drue Layton, Paul Fix, Walter Miller, Al Bridges, Jack Rothwell and Slim Whitaker.

Darro, one of Hollywood's ablest juvenile players, appears as a youngster who helps the three convicts in their plot to trap the real thief—for whose crime they were sentenced—and to bring justice to all involved.

PRESIDENT READY TO BE FRIENDS WITH ALL POLITICAL OPPONENTS

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 6 (UP)—President Roosevelt, through his advisers, held out his hand today to his political opponents.

His advisers said he hoped sincerely all the bitterness of the campaign would be forgotten so the United States could be made "a richer, freer, happier country."

He issued this brief statement to the nation: "I find myself nearly buried by an avalanche of thousands of letters and telegrams. It is heartening to have this assurance that we are going forward together. I would like to thank each of you individually for your confidence and pledges of loyal support. Will each of you accept this as my acknowledgment and my thanks for your message?"

WITH THE ALL-AMERICANS

June Travis and Phillip Huston provide the romantic interest in a story that principally is concerned with football. It is "The Big Game," featured offering at the Ritz Friday and Saturday which presents several of last year's All-American gridgers, including Bobby Wilson of SMU.

STARRED IN PICTURE AT LYRIC

Susanne Karen and Johnny Mack Brown in a scene from "Undercover Man," a new starring vehicle for Brown which plays at the Lyric Friday and Saturday. Johnny appears as a federal agent of earlier days, when the officers' task was to protect the transcontinental mail. He gets the lawless and gets the girl.

MIKE, 5, FRETS OVER HOSPITAL BAN ON CIGARS

McKEESPORT, Pa., Nov. 6 (UP)—Nurses and doctors at McKeesport hospital would acclaim 5-year-old Mike Olexik as "the perfect patient" if it were not for Mike's intense desire to get a stogie between his teeth every now and then.

Young Mike who has attained the maturity of five years and some odd months, suffered a broken leg. Mike wants to leave the hospital and go home so he can enjoy a smoke.

Mrs. Olexik, the boy's mother, said Mike has been smoking cigars, cigarettes and pipes since he was a year and a half old—and added that Mike won't refuse a chew of tobacco if it is offered. To stop Mike from picking up discarded cigars and cigarettes, Mrs. Olexik said, she had to buy the boy a package of cigarettes every few days. Hospital authorities have been adamant. Mike will get no cigarettes.

AT QUEEN

Frankie Darro and Larry Doyle, two of the featured players in an action melodrama, "Valley of Wanted Men," which plays at the Queen Friday and Saturday. The film play, about three unjustly accused convicts who prove their innocence, was adapted from a Peter B. Kyne novel.

Football Film Is Scheduled

Bobby Wilson One Of Grid Heroes To Be Seen In 'The Big Game'

Football fans of the southwest will be interested to know that Bobby Wilson, the 145-pound All-American halfback from SMU and the Ross Bowl hero, has a prominent part in the RKO-Radio production, "The Big Game," coming to the Ritz theatre Friday and Saturday.

Along with Wilson are seven other of the 1935 football greats, giving the picture a real collegiate atmosphere.

Jay Berwanger, the greatest footballer in the history of the University of Chicago, performs with Wilson in the secondary as does Bill Shapshere, Notre Dame's kicking and passing sensation, Frank Alustiza, Stanford quarterback, and Bones Hamilton, Stanford halfback.

Linebackers who are pictured are Irvin "King Kong" Klein, NYU tackle and basketball star, Monk Moscrip, Stanford end, and Gomar Jones, the Big Ten's great center from Ohio State.

Phillip Huston makes his debut in the romantic lead opposite June Travis while James Gleason, Bruce Cabot and Andy Devine lend their talents in making the opus a success. Miss Travis and Devine should be at home in the atmosphere of "The Big Game." The young lady attended college in Illinois and is constantly associated with athletes since her father is vice president of the Chicago White Sox. Devine gained honorable mention as All-American during his schooling at Santa Clara.

The story was written by Francis Wallace and directed by George Nicholls, Jr.

WEST CANADA EXPECTS BOOM

LONDON, Nov. 6. (UP)—Alberta and British Columbia have the room and the natural resources—agricultural, mineral, and timber—to support a population of 100,000,000, Mayor G. G. McGeer, M. P., of Vancouver, declared here.

Mayor McGeer is in London to return the visit of the Lord Mayor, Sir Percy Vincent, to the Vancouver Jubilee celebrations.

"We are on the verge of the greatest era of prosperity in our history," McGeer said, "but at the moment it is being retarded by urgent financial problems. I hope to have during my stay an opportunity of conferring with the British bondholders who hold nearly $200,000,000 worth of Vancouver bonds. Vancouver is overburdened with high interest bearing debt. Something must be done to give prosperity a chance."

Rosy Period Foreseen If these financial problems can be solved, McGeer looks forward to an era of unparalleled prosperity on the Pacific coast. Immigration and expansion went in circles, he said. Manitoba and Saskatchewan had been riddled with the coming of the railway, Alberta and British Columbia had then been too far away. With the development of Pacific trade it is their turn now.

McGeer pointed out that in the three middle western provinces of Canada 60 per cent of the population is of European or American origin. British Columbia is almost entirely British and desires to remain so.

"Canada needs settlers as much today as she ever did, not only on the farms but in the mines and in trade," he said. "Skilled labor is in demand, and any boom in the building trade will reveal a shortage."

Want 'Able-Bodied Men' He pointed particularly to the Peace River Valley as a district suitable for development on a large scale. "All we want are men who are physically fit, of reasonable intelligence and willing to make sacrifices and to work," he said. "In the next 25 to 50 years the Pacific is going to play the same part that the Atlantic played in the last century. The British Empire long has been established in the Pacific, and it must continue."

Sadler Show Here 3 Days

New Type Society Circus Booked In Big Spring Nov. 16 To 18

R. M. Harvey of Chicago, well known in the circus world, now associated with Harley Sadler, who has toured Texas for years with popular theatrical ventures, is in the city arranging for the presentation of the Sadler & Harvey Society Circus Nov. 18. The V. F. W. Auxiliary here is to sponsor the event.

Sadler has shifted his amusement activities to the circus field and is entering into it in a big way, Harvey says. Production of the London Hippodrome Circus was an accomplishment of Harvey in metropolitan centers. The two, by combining, have been able to procure some feature acts from foreign countries. The show will tour Texas this winter. The small circus that Sadler once owned has been disbanded, and the organization coming here this time is larger, offering superior acts. The winter circus unit is new in this area, but Sadler hopes to popularize it as he did his theatricals.

The circus will come here from San Angelo. Popular prices prevail, and advance sale of tickets here will start the morning of November 16. Bookings include Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Waco, Houston, Galveston and San Antonio.

to play an active part in the new developments. If Canada has the assistance of Great Britain, with her immense prestige and influence, her men and her money, success is assured."

Six Women Named In New Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (UP)—Six women, one a newcomer, will serve in the 75th congress. There were eight in the last, but Mrs. Rose McConnell Long, widow of Senator Huey P. Long, D., La., and Mrs. Isabella Greenway, D., Ark., are retiring voluntarily from the senate and house respectively.

Of the six others who served in the last congress only Mrs. Florence Kahn, San Francisco republican, failed to win re-election. She was defeated by Frank R. Havener, D.

A democrat from Oregon—Nanny Wood Honeymoon—will step into this gap in the feminine contingent.

One other woman carried a major party nomination but lost. She was Agnes C. Reavey, D., Mass.

Two women who came to congress the same year as Mrs. Kahn—1924—will remain. They are Mrs. Mary Teresa Norton, D., N. J., and Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, R., Mass.

Miss Caroline O'Day, D., N. Y., for whom Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt campaigned personally two years ago, won re-election as representative at large, and Mrs. Virginia Jencks, D., Ind., was named for her third term.

The only woman in the senate next year will be Mrs. Hattie Caraway, D., Ark., whose seat was not at stake in this election.

Start Collection On State's New Liquor Tax Rates

AUSTIN, Nov. 6 (UP)—The state liquor control board today began setting up the collection system for the new scale of tax rates on liquor and wine passed by the last session of the legislature.

Tax increases were from 80 cents to 90 cents a gallon on liquor; 2 to 10 cents a gallon on 14 per cent wine and 3 to 20 cents a gallon on 24 per cent wine.

All stamped liquor in stock on November 30 must bear the new stamps, Liquor Administrator Charles R. Miller announced. At that time a sworn inventory of the stock on hand must be made to the board. Failure of dealers to comply subjects their permits to cancellation and permits to criminal prosecution.

The inventories also must be made on unstamped stocks in warehouses. Deadline for the filing of inventories is midnight December 1st.

Order forms for new stamps and inventory blanks will be mailed out at once, Miller said.

Miller promised strict enforcement of the new tax rates as soon as the law becomes effective.

The bill includes one of the widest varieties of entertainment ever presented in this area in the space of approximately one hour.

Several of the Colorado performers have won prizes either at the Colorado or Sweetwater amateur hours.

Superintendent Urges School Patrons To See March Of Time Issue

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of city schools, urged school patrons to see the current issue of the March of Time now showing at the Ritz theatre because it contains a chapter on the history of American education.

The superintendent said it was appropriate and timely since it antedates American Educational Week which comes this month. The chapter deals with the development of educational methods since the early days of the nation.

Cities Conflict In State School Laws

AUSTIN, Nov. 6 (UP)—Conflicts in school laws make it necessary for administrative officers to violate one law to comply with another, state senators learned today.

C. M. Elwell, director of the equalization division of the state department of education, testified before a state senate committee whose chairman, Sen. Clay Cotten, Palestine, will report to the 45th legislature.

An example was given of conflict. One act requires two teachers for each 35 pupils; another specifies one teacher for 35. One calls for distribution of the state rural aid fund to schools on a basis of daily attendance; another calls for distribution based on scholastic population. Elwell was asked for a recommendation. He favored a combination. He suggested distribution of the scholastic census with a requirement that the average attendance must be 70 per cent of the non-combatants.

Reports of a mediation appeal with France to Madrid were discounted.

STATE READY TO PAY ON WARRANTS

AUSTIN, Nov. 6 (UP)—The Texas treasury, which passed the October 20 "call" period today announced that outstanding warrants for a total of $104,302 will be paid on presentation. The call is for warrants issued up to April 7, 1936.

The treasury statement showed that the deficit in the general revenue fund has increased to $13,138,527 from $11,132,449 on October 5th.

The Confederate pension fund deficit is $5,346,551. Confederate number of scholastics.

Loss of $18,000,000 a year in local school funds has resulted in greater demands being made for state aid, Elwell said.

LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Great Britain has asked the Spanish insurgent junta to confine bombings to purely military objectives, it was learned today.

The request was described as "gentle but firm." It was explained that the British representative at Madrid was unsuccessful in efforts to mitigate the suffering of 10,000 hostages held there.

It was stated that England was gravely disturbed by the peril to both her own nationals and Span-

Lubbock district, W. M. Pearce presiding elder, reported 1,000 additions, 318 on profession of faith; 50 per cent of salary and 80 per cent of benevolences raised.

There is a definite place and opportunity for service for young business men in Big Spring, W. T. Strange, Jr., manager of the chamber of commerce, told members of the American Business club at their weekly luncheon Friday.

Inherent enthusiasm and zest of the younger business men makes them an invaluable asset to a community, he declared.

Durward Carnett was named official delegate from the club to the district convention convening in Ponca City, Okla., Nov. 9-10, and was instructed to seek the district convention for Big Spring next year.

OTHER COMPLAINTS FILED IN DRIVE ON ILLEGAL TRUCKING

Two more complaints were filed in justice court today by Cam H. Murray, inspector for the railroad commission, motor bus division, in his campaign against operation of illegal truck and passenger carriers to reduce the number of accidents along highway No. 1.

One was for operating a truck without a railroad commission permit and the other was for operating a car for compensation without a chauffeur's license.

Only one crash was reported near here Thursday, but a truck or illicit passenger carrier did not figure in it. None was seriously injured.

Since Monday night eight motor car crashes have been reported near here.

TICKETS FOR the Armistice Day football brawl between San Angelo's Bobcats and the Big Spring high school Steers are going at a fair clip, Gentry reports. They are on sale in the lobby of the Sattles Hotel.

BLONDY CROSS, the Concho scribe, spouts off at Gentry: "The obstinate Mr. George Gentry, Big Spring high school's principal and champion of the marauding debaters, is climbing into the driver's seat of Concho school again and stirring around. The refractory one stubbornly has held San Angelo officials to a holiday price agreement. Your Mr. Kenley tells this suburban correspondent it has been custom to tax the public 75 cents general entry fee or $1 per reservation for Big Spring-San Angelo holiday football games. But your Mr. Kenley, also, your Mr. F. E. Smith (they are yours; you keep them) sought this season to lower the levy.

"The San Angelo school dictators, considering the inconspicuous display of the Big Springers to date this year in the battle lists, deemed it would be only fair to John Public, also, the athletic exchequers of the two schools, to lower the gate rate.

"The football teams of San Angelo high and Big Spring high are to resume contact next Wednesday afternoon (Armistice Day) on San Angelo's cemetery gridiron. "The game from this vantage point certainly does not loom as one of local proportions. I would say, if you will pardon my talking the liberty of making a say, by the grandest extension and expansion of one's imagination he hardly could envisage the impending brawl as deserving of more than a 50-cent nod. In fact, it really isn't worth more than 25 cents as a spectacle.

No San Angelo fan of modest means possibly could obtain a dollar's worth of fun out of seeing San Angelo's sassy Bobcats slash and slice the woefully inadequate Big Spring team about the premises. And surely, no Big Spring fan, dollar or no dollar, could enjoy such a debacle.

"But because of the pertinacity of Big Spring's George Gentry, sturdily supported by a man named Blankenship or something similar in the Big Spring school system, that is the calendar for the football customers' Armistice Day football in San Angelo.

"Why, for a dollar on this occasion there are numerous folk who would stay home and even crucify themselves to the extent of trying

COLORADO HERE NEXT THURSDAY

Gene Gardner's junior high school Broncos more than evened matters with Dalton Hill's Roscoe boys yesterday afternoon when they dashed out a 39 to 0 victory. The Roscoe team had won in '34 and '35.

The Broncos stuck to the ground and scored almost at will. They tumbled only one time. Reaves, Bronco quarterback, ran over three touchdowns, and Brummett scored two. Brummett scrambled 35 yards off tackle for one of his tallies. Creek chalked up a touchdown and Stinson ran around end 16 yards for another counter.

Roscoe threatened early in the second quarter but the Broncos held them for downs on the five-yard line.

The Broncos play Colorado here next Thursday and Roscoe here the following week. The Bronco starting lineup: Ends—Caldron and Campbell. Tackles—H. Bostick and Hount. Guards—Knappe and Russ. Center—Kasch. Quarterback—Reaves. Fullback—Creek. Halfbacks—Brummett and Stinson.

Olie Scampers Against Texas

By DICK FREEMAN

HOUSTON, Nov. 6. (Sp.)—Olie Cordill, Rice Institute freshman from Big Spring (No. 41) is shown as he lugged the mail against the first year men from the University of Texas.

Cordill is one of the greatest freeback backs I have ever seen. I wouldn't trade him for Charley Haus, the Corpus Christi flash who is in Texas. It was quite a duel between Olie and Charley when the frosh teams met, and I think Olie had much the best of it.

Along with Ernie Lain, the great passer from Mexico, I think the pair will make the Owls one of the best teams in the country, offensively, next year, as they have just about the whole backfield back next season. Sam Flowers, another boy from Big Spring, is considered a fine prospect, but he's going to have a lot of competition next year. Harry Arthur and Herman Price will be back for two more years, and Husbands and Whitlow are fine prospects on the frosh team as well as Flowers.

Carmen Brandon, Big Spring high school's assistant coach, is probably the worst shot I ever hunted with—almost as bad as I am, although he'll deny that.

Bierman Does The Worrying For Gophers

'Unemotional Football' Is Keynote Of University Of Minnesota Team

By RICHARD POWERS
MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 6. (UP)—"Unemotional football" is the keynote of the University of Minnesota team, which was upset into the defeated ranks by Northwestern after running up an amazing string of 21 consecutive victories.

But Coach Bernis Bierman, the man behind the triumphant march that stretched through three full seasons and up to October 31 of this campaign, is a worrier of the first order.

Right now Bierman prays plaintively that his Galloping Gophers don't stumble again as they head the November stretch, with three troublesome rivals ahead.

"Don't forget that we have two Big Ten teams and one with a strong Southwest conference eleven," Bierman warns, after declaring Northwestern deserved to overtake his Gophers on the muddy gridiron at Evanston.

"You can't count those games with Iowa, the University of Texas and Wisconsin in the win column until the scores are posted. I hope we get lucky."

The Gophers this season defeated the Washington Huskies at Seattle in their opener, Nebraska, Michigan and Purdue, then lost to uprisings Northwestern, 9-6, when the "odds" caught up with them. They had weathered 26 games without a loss, but were tied four times in the 1933 campaign.

Pep Talks Out
Minnesota is favored in its three remaining games, but Bierman points out that they were supposed to whip Northwestern—and that last year, heavily favored over Iowa, his men barely pulled out a 13-6 win.

Grid critics have paid tribute to the "poise" of the Gophers along their long victory march, and have called it an outstanding characteristic of the team.

Bierman is an exponent of "unemotional" football, refusing to key his men up before any game and admitting entirely any pep talks at intermission.

Back in 1934 at Pittsburgh, when the Gophers tangled with Jock Sutherland's Panthers, Minnesota trailed, 0-7, with 16 minutes remaining.

Then in seven lightning thrusts they scored twice to win by 13-7. Bierman hadn't even appeared in the Gopher dressing room between halves until they were ready to go back to the gridiron.

He said simply, "you have just 30 minutes left."

Mix Up Plays
The fastest backfield and the heaviest line in Minnesota's history put a heavy load on opposing defenses. A mixture of quick thrusts with laterals on the end, a good passing game and straight powerhouse plays keeps the defense scattered—and as a result all are effective.

Andy Uram, triple-threat left halfback is one of the fastest men who ever wore the Maroon and Gold. Teaming with Julius Alfonso at tight half, behind great blocking, he offers a touchdown threat from any position on the gridiron.

One of the most effective weapons so far has been a thrust by Uram into the line and then a lateral to Alfonso, breaking fast around end.

Eud Wilkinson not only is a brilliant signal caller but is a brutal blocker and pass snatcher. Four fullbacks, Whitman Rork, Vic Spadaccini, Larry Bulger and George Faust furnish the fullback punch.

Meet Mustangs Saturday, Dons On Wednesday

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 6.—The Texas Aggies had one last workout today at Dallas on the eve of the toughest five-day period in their current football season.

Two games and the longest grid trip of Aggie record are listed on their schedule. After playing Southern Methodist Saturday at Dallas, the Aggies, who left here Thursday night 34 strong, will "hop a rattler" to carry the Southwest conference type of grid battle to San Francisco, Cal., for an Armistice Day game with the University of San Francisco Dons. The trip will mark the Aggies' first visit to the Pacific coast.

The Cadets have had nearly a week to recover from their 0-18 loss to Arkansas and to prepare for Southern Methodist. They will have only train meetings and a light workout at San Francisco Nov. 10 as preparation for the Dons, who, in comparison, left their schedule open from their past week's 19-0 victory over Portland until the Aggie game.

The S. M. U. Mustangs, first opponent in the five-day period, are current conference bell wethers and have won four of five games. Their lone loss, a 6-7 reverse at the hands of Fordham in New York, came on an intercepted pass after the Ponies had outplayed the Aggies all the way. The Dons, second opponent, have won three, tied two and lost two. The Aggies have won four, tied one and lost one.

Although the Dons' record does not appear impressive in a percentage column, they have been the

Steers Are Putting In Long Hours Training For The BOBCATS

By HANK HART

Realizing that a good offense as well as a stonewall defense will be needed to triumph over Harry Taylor's Bobcats' Armistice Day, mentors Brown and Brandon are moulting what they hope will be a shifty, hard-driving running attack that the Concho eleven will be unable to slow down, and they are building that offense around some of the best blocking ever seen at Big Spring high school.

For the past two years the two elevens have fought to a scoreless deadlock. The scoreless games resulted from instructions to go out on the field and play defensive football. Now Taylor and Brown have taken a different attitude.

Taylor's charges will be a three or four touchdown favorite over the locals, and the Bobcats can naturally be expected to put on quite a touchdown show. They have scored on every one of their opponents this season and have triumphed over supposedly better teams than the Longhorns.

It's do or die with the Steers. They've got the balls to count if they can get them in the open, and they intend to do just that. The mass blocking they executed against Comanche last Friday gave the local fans just a "look in" on what is to be expected from now on.

From the way the locals have been pointing for the Hays last through the week's practice, the Angelo youngster is in for a rough and disappointing afternoon on Wednesday of next week. The Big Spring eleven encountered a pair of backs during the Breckenridge affair by the name of Magnus and Rector who have the reputation of being on a par with any in the

Revolta To Defend Title November 16

First National Golf Tournament At Famous Winter Resort Spot

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 6. (UP)—When Johnny Revolta tees off November 16 to defend the P. G. A. championship he won in Oklahoma City last year, it will be the first time the famous winter resort has staged a national golf championship.

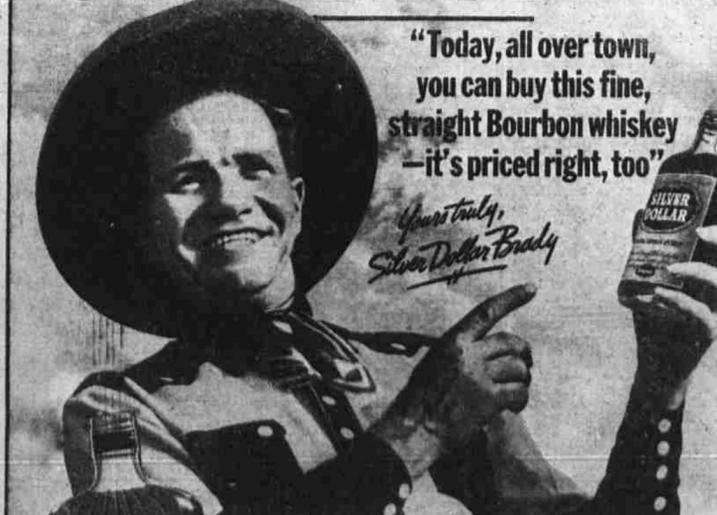

The Pinehurst club is one of the oldest in the country. The first course was built there more than 40 years ago by Leonard Tufts and Dr. George Carver. Donald J. Ross has been the home pro on the famous No. 1 course since it was built. While the original course has long been noted for its sand greens, the P. G. A. championship will be decided on the No. 2, which has the regulation grass greens.

The P. G. A. title meeting was first held 20 years ago at Swanoy, N. Y., when Jim Barnes was the winner. It has been held every year since, with the exception of the war years, 1917-18. Walter Hagen holds the record for winning P. G. A. titles. Walter first won the championship in 1921 and then repeated in 1924, '25, '26 and '27. Gene Sarazen won the title in 1922, '23 and then, 10 years later, in 1933, regained the crown. Jim Barnes and Leo Diegel are the only other golfers to repeat.

Revolta defeated Tommy Armour, 5 and 4, in taking the championship.

COUNTIES AND SALARIES

County judges and commissioners in session at Dallas recently found that the salary bill enacted by the legislature, following adoption of the amendment abolishing fees for county officers, was not satisfactory. They resolved to back another amendment which would put the matter again before the voters.

Argument when the amendment was submitted was that it would result in less county expenditure, but under the bill which the legislature enacted the reverse is the case in many counties. Those largely populated counties, which have plenty of business to produce fees in excess of the salaries set, are doing all right, but the slimly populated counties are having to go into their general county funds to pay the officers, which was not at all the intention of the voters in adopting the amendment.

The legislature should have left to the commissioners courts of the various counties the fixing of salaries for county officials. Each court would have known the ability of the county to pay and a salary list in consonance would have been adopted. But when the legislature enacted a statute, lumping counties regardless of their ability to pay, they created the condition that now is, in many instances, unsatisfactory.

There is no reason why an official in a county of small population should receive the same pay as an official in a larger and more populous county. Not only is the source of income less, but the official in the smaller county does not have so much work to do and does not deserve so much pay. The legislature can cure this condition by repealing the statute and enacting one that will be fair to all counties, leaving the commissioners to fix the pay of the men employed by the voters of their county. That would be sensible and equitable.

NEW YORK—If one weren't conscious of the multiple achievements demanded of pilots who fly the big transport planes out of New York, a pertinent suggestion would be a perusal of events mandatory to any flying day.

So, herewith, a day in the life of Captain Bill Devries crack TWA pilot — friend, counselor, meteorologist and guide—who has 5,500 hours in the air and who takes you today on flight No. 9 from New York to Kansas City.

10 a. m.—Curses alarm clock—rolls out of bed—thinks better of it and rolls right back into bed.

10:20 a. m.—Thanks Filipino gratefully for pot of black coffee. Has three cups in bed.

11:02 a. m.—Still clad in pajamas and dressing robe, he calls airport—checks flight time—contemplates his day over breakfast, reads morning paper.

1:26 p. m.—Dons uniform—takes brisk stroll through neighborhood—drops into a movie and is vastly amused at heroics displayed by hero of an aviation thriller.

Leaves Hour Early

3:04 p. m.—Hops into roadster and drives to airport. (Note: his flight is for 4:40 p. m. and he must check in one hour early.)

3:30 p. m.—Arrives at airport—goes into administration building, smiles approvingly at pretty hostess—tosses his coat over a convenient peg.

3:35 p. m.—Goes into consultation with John Tomlinson, flight dispatcher and chief meteorologist — and Tommy shows him several vast charts which look like Chinese puzzles, with intricate red and blue markings. But these are only the weather maps, showing temperatures, air currents, and atmospheric conditions that prevail along the route. Appraises maps, rapidly calculating areas over which best time can be made at least expense of power.

3:51—Makes out flight plan—notes wind directions, charts various flight levels and decides that 2,000 feet is best elevation between New York and Pittsburgh.

4:30—Climbs into plane—checks with dispatcher—receives information from radio signal operator, gets starting signal from flight dispatcher, taxis down run-way, turns, roars into the sunset.

5:30 5:30—It's a non-stop flight to Chicago this first lap of the journey. As co-pilot talks with radio operators along the line, Captain Devries consults his "plan," eases his plane up another 1,000 feet.

6:21—Accepts tray of sandwiches and coffee from hostess, listens carefully to purr of his twin motors.

8:30—Swoops down like a great silver bird in Chicago. Gets out, stretches. Two movie actresses and a New England educator leave plane. Three detectives, off on a man-hunt, climb aboard.

K. C. Next

8:45—Lifts plane gracefully into midwestern gloom and points her nose towards Kansas City.

9:40—Hostess brings additional refreshments—chickens, chocolate, salad, hot rolls.

10:23—Climbs to 6,000 feet, holds her there for 80 miles, drops down to 2,000 feet.

10:40—Acknowledges report of K. C. radio pilot—notes wind directions.

12:00—Lands at K. C. airport, on time, checks in to flight dispatcher. Bids hostess and co-pilot buenos notches. Taxis quickly to private club near Hotel Kansas Citian. Brushes teeth, takes shower. Hops into bed and drops instantly into sound slumber.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Now that the roar and smoky of the election has subsided, the chief question in the mind of the country is: WHICH WAY ROOSEVELT?

Will he go left or right? Will he continue on a radical-liberal course? Or will he become more conservative?

To give an inclusive and categorical answer to this question would be sheer pretence and bluff, for the reason that Roosevelt himself probably does not know just what attitude he will take on all issues.

The best answer is that Roosevelt will continue about as he has. He is a catch-as-catch-can fighter. He himself once compared his attack on the depression to the tactics of a football team—an end run, a line charge, a back-field fuddle.

Continuing the comparison, Roosevelt is best as a broken-field runner. He can zig-zag and dodge, but he keeps his goal-post pretty well in sight. And through one play or another, he makes progress toward them.

That is more or less what he is going to do for the next four years. He may yield here, or pull his punches there, according to the reaction of public opinion. But you can mark it down in the book that he will continue a definite left-of-center course along the general line he has followed so far.

To be more specific, here are some of the big issues sure to arise during the next four years, and the general policy which Roosevelt's closest friends expect him to follow.

SUPREME COURT—He will buck the court. Some months ago John L. Lewis urged him to make the court an issue during the campaign. To this the president replied: "Now is not the time, John. Wait until after elections."

The degree of Roosevelt opposition will depend upon the degree to which the Nine Old Men oppose his policies. If the opposition is a stubborn Dutch temper is aroused, he will strike and strike hard.

SOCIAL SECURITY, MINIMUM WAGES—On this Roosevelt will go left, and emphatically so. The action of the supreme court in throwing out the New York minimum wage act and the NRA deeply aroused him, almost as much as the republican attack on the social security act. The latter he considered "contemptible," "unpatriotic" and "vicious." He would have passed more legislation on this anyway, but he is doubly sure to do so now, and more drastic measures than otherwise.

THE BLUE EAGLE—There will be no new NRA, but some of the basic features of the NRA will be put forward again, such as minimum wages, maximum hours, and child labor restrictions.

THE GUFFEY COAL ACT—On this the president will go left. This law, meat-axed by the supreme court last spring, is one of the first on the Roosevelt "must" list. He gave this promise to John L. Lewis last June, on the night Senate Democratic Floor Leader Robinson refused to keep Congress in session in order to break the filibuster against the revised Guffey act.

Lewis delivered the miners and other labor groups 100 per cent for the president on November 3, and he is not the kind who fails to collect on his I.O.U.'s.

TAXES—On this Roosevelt will go right, if he can. He believes it will be possible to hold down taxes because of increased revenues resulting from better business. In any event, he will go easy on taxes for the time being.

HOUSING—Roosevelt came out for a big-scale housing program when he dedicated Roosevelt park, a PWA project in Manhattan's teeming East Side. One thing he forgot to mention at the time of making this pledge was that he alone was responsible for blocking the Wagner housing bill in the last session of congress.

Aside from the humanitarian aspects, Roosevelt considers a giant building program important as a further spur to the wheels of industry.

SOCIALIZED MEDICINE—This was knocked out of the social security act by pressure from organized physicians, but it is now on the president's list of "things to be done," and the American Medical society can get ready for a knock-down and drag-out battle.

PURE FOOD AND DRUG ACT—This will come up again, though not in its original drastic form as written by Professor Tugwell. It will be more moderate, but still contain plenty of teeth.

BANKING LEGISLATION—On this the president will go right. He believes that his present banking legislation is working well, and he will mark time. The general monetary situation also will continue as it is, unless changed by world developments.

NATIONAL DEFENSE—Here Roosevelt will continue to work for a big navy, which is his chief pride; also will build up the army.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS—The chief aim in this field will be to strengthen inter-American relations. The neutrality act also may be revised, the president hoping to obtain the right to use his own discretion on arms embargoes.

Roosevelt has been seriously considering a move to try to head off war in Europe. This would be in the nature of an international conference at which all nations would agree to keep armaments at the status quo, at the same time accepted Roosevelt's previously proposed definition of an aggressor—namely, any nation which sends its armed forces outside its own borders. In the event of aggression all nations — including the United States — would agree to shut off credits and war materials to the aggressor.

This is a long shot, but the al-

King's Marriage His Own Affair, Was Counsel Of 4 Centuries Ago

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (UP)—A king's marriage is his own private matter, and whoever will make him a good wife is honorable enough whatever her birth. This counsel, along with much else pertinent to 1936, was written four centuries ago by the great humanist, Erasmus, to his pupil, the future Emperor Charles V of Spain. It is contained in Erasmus' famous book, "The Education of a Christian Prince," now republished in its first complete English translation by Columbia University Press. The translation, with an introduction, is by Lester K. Born.

The work was for centuries a textbook for the education of European rulers, and Erasmus himself sent a copy to the much-married Henry the Eighth of England. His advice to Prince Charles on picking a bride was this:

"For my part, I should think that it would be by far most beneficial to the state if the marriage alliances of princes were confined within the limits of their own kingdoms or, if they had to go beyond their boundaries, within their nearest neighbors, and then only those who warrant faithful friendship. But, they say, it is not right for the daughter of a king to marry anyone except a king or a king's son. Those are merely the fancies of individuals to raise their own kin to as high a position as they can, and the prince should have no sympathy with them at all.

"The marriage of princes is really a private matter of their own. It is called the greatest of human affairs, so that we too often have a recurrence of what happened to the Greeks and the Trojans because of Helen.

"But if you please to make a choice becoming a prince, your wife should be selected from all women for her integrity, modesty and wisdom, and one who would be an obedient wife to a good prince and would bear him children worthy both of their parents and the state. She is honorable enough, whatever her birth, who will make a good wife for the good prince.

Erasmus added that a good prince "does not consider his own affairs prosperous unless he looks out for the welfare of the state." Warning that unwise alliances with foreign princesses often produced wars, he added:

"Although I am aware that this custom is too long accepted for one to hope to be able to uproot it, yet I thought it best to give my advice in case things should turn out beyond my hopes."

Rancher Claims Highway

VALE, Ore., (UP)—A R. Hollingshead, Little Valley rancher, was determined to press his claim the ownership of a half-mile of right-of-way along the central Oregon highway was recognized. State highway officials found Hollingshead had barricaded the road with a sign reading, "Slow-Private Property." He permitted motorists to proceed as soon as they asked his permission to go ahead.

Lewis Unions Meet To Map Out Campaign

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 6 (UP)—Labor's epic battle—craft unionism versus industrial unionism—may reach a decisive stage here on Nov. 7-8 when the John L. Lewis Committee for Industrial Organization meets to intensify its campaign among steel, automobile and rubber workers.

Obviously, the purpose of the meeting is to push the organizing drives into high gear.

But significantly, the C. I. O. conference is timed to precede by only one week the American Federation of Labor convention at Tampa, Fla. The A. F. of L. will be asked at Tampa to consider the action of its executive council in suspending Lewis and nine other so-called "rebel" leaders on charges of promoting dual unionism.

CIO Conference Opens In Pittsburgh Week Before AFOL Session

Three industries marked Lewis called the C. I. O. meeting to give "special consideration to advancing the union organization campaigns in the steel, rubber and automobile industries," which are among the industries he hopes to organize on an industrial basis. His insistence upon organizing each of the mass production industries into "one big union" conflicted with the traditional craft policy of the Federation of Labor and its president, William Green.

No one believes Lewis will make the first move to restore peace. He has declined consistently to enter peace negotiations until the A. F. of L. revokes the suspension order. And the A. F. of L. although it has appointed a committee to attempt to negotiate with the C. I. O., has given no indication of rescinding the suspension.

Union Heads Summoned

Summoned to meet here with Lewis are the leaders of the unions pledged to support the industrial union campaign: Sidney Hillman, Amalgamated Clothing Workers; David Dubinsky, International Ladies' Garmment Workers; Thomas F. McMahon, United Textile Workers; Harvey C. Fremming, Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers; Max Zaritsky, United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers; Dan Orlich, International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers; Glenn W. McCabe, Federation of Flat Glass Workers; Michael F. Fichte, Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers; Homer Martin, United Automobile Workers; S. H. Dalrymple, United Rubber Workers; Heywood Brown, American Newspaper Guild.

Along with those leaders will come Charles P. Howard, International Typographical Union, secretary of the C. I. O.; John Brophy, director; and scores of regional directors and organizers from the various industries, notably the steel industry.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

Chapter 21 DEATH STRUGGLE

With that it seemed the man's patience came to an end. His large fists clenched; he took half a pace forward; and at that Mahony's pistol came out of his pocket and he pointed it at the man's stomach.

"Better not," he said curtly. At the sight of the pistol pointed at him the Irishman paused. But only for a moment.

"So that's the game—twist me out of my money and threaten me with a gun!" he exclaimed in a tone of outraged astonishment. "Shoot, then, me foinse gentleman, if you've the pluck, and if you kill me, may you swing for it."

At that, with an agility astonishing in a man of his bulk, he darted suddenly sideways, in order to confuse Mahony's aim, and then sprang, his huge hands outstretched towards Mahony's throat.

Mahony did not fire. The last thing he wanted was the noise of a shot, which would attract the attention of the whole neighborhood, including the police, to the house.

He ducked quickly under those outstretched hands, stepped nimbly to one side, and slipped the pistol back into his pocket. Then, as his opponent turned for another spring, Mahony stepped in and brought his right over in a crisp, hard punch to the man's face.

The man's head went back; before he could recover himself Mahony had hit him again with the left in the stomach and the right in the jaw, both good solid hefty punches that might easily have knocked an ordinary man out.

The big Irishman took them without flinching; then he gathered himself together and sprang again.

Once more Mahony slipped lightly to one side; again his fist thudded into his opponent's face. The big man's right cheek was cut; one of his eyes was fast closing; his lower lip was considerably swollen. It seemed that he had learnt his lesson; he no longer indulged in those mad rushes.

Instead he adopted a half crouching attitude and began to advance quite slowly across the room towards Mahony, watching him like a cat the while. His intention was evident; he meant to crowd Mahony into a corner where he could pin him and get a grip on him.

But Mahony was not having any. He realized very well that once he came to grips with his Herculean opponent he would stand little chance.

Snack, smack, his fists landed in rapid succession in the man's face, and he slipped away out of range. But the Irishman, it seemed, also knew something of boxing; though he could not avoid the blows altogether, he managed to turn his head slightly, so that none of them reached a vital spot.

Slowly, remorselessly, he shuffled after Mahony, taking all the punishment that Mahony dealt out to him, waiting his chance to come to close quarters and get a grip on Mahony with those huge hands.

His chance came as Mahony, stepping back quickly out of range, caught his heel in the edge of a rug. For a moment Mahony staggered, off his balance, and in that moment the Irishman leaped.

Mahony twisted desperately, trying to get out of range; he almost succeeded, but not quite. The Irishman's left hand got a good grip on Mahony's coat; with a sudden jerk he drew Mahony near to him; and his right hand, like a snake striking, closed round Mahony's throat.

"Now, me foinse gentleman, we can continue the argument more comfortably," said the Irishman in a triumphant tone. For a moment, in that tremendous grip, Mahony felt utterly helpless. He struggled, hitting out with both fists at his opponent's body, but it was like battering at a brick wall. The Irishman was smiling, his eyes were blazing with a light of victorious exultation. Mahony's struggles grew weaker.

And then the rug which had been his undoing proved his salvation. As the two men struggled, the loose rug, which had become thoroughly rucked up, became entangled between their feet. Still holding Mahony, the big Irishman tripped; the two men together staggered into a small chair, knocked it over, and came crashing to the ground.

As he fell, the Irishman had instinctively released his grip and flung out one arm to try to retain his balance. Mahony gave a desperate wriggle and got clear.

The two men rose to their feet almost simultaneously. Mahony's back was against a corner of the wall; his breath was coming painfully in sobbing gasps; and the Irishman barred his exit from the corner. In another moment that terrible grip would close on Mahony's throat again. Mahony had neither the energy nor the breath remaining to dodge. There was only one thing to do, and he did it. As the Irishman sprang in again to the attack, he marshalled all his strength in one supreme effort and sprang to meet him.

And this time, either from sheer carelessness, or because he thought that his opponent was exhausted, the Irishman left a vital spot unguarded. Mahony's fist, with all the skill and timing learned during many hours of boxing, and with every bit of bone and muscle in his body, and all the strength of desperation behind the blow, crashed fairly on to the angle of the big man's jaw.

The Irishman, coming forward at full speed, was knocked clean over in his tracks, landing on the flat of his back with a crash that seemed to shake the building. Mahony, panting and exhausted, leaned back against the wall. His right hand felt as though every bone in it was broken. The Irishman lay still.

From outside in the street came a sound of voices and a car drawing up. The big Irishman stirred. Slowly and feebly he raised himself into a sitting position. Mahony stepped forward from the wall. It came to him that any more trouble he meant to use the butt of his pistol.

The big man, sitting on the floor, stared up at him in a bewildered manner, his eyes wide with wonder. A hideous smile twisted his battered lips.

"That was a foinse punch, Mister," he said. "I know—no admiration. I don't know that anybody ever hit me as hard as that before."

"I'll hit you a damned sight harder, with the butt of this pistol, if you try to get up," said Mahony bluntly.

The Irishman raised a protesting hand.

"Be aisy," he said. "You can keep the money. I know—no admiration. I don't know that anybody ever hit me as hard as that before."

He was interrupted by a knocking on the front door below. Mahony turned swiftly to the window and looked out. A car was drawn up in front of the house, and by it was standing a uniformed policeman; another was standing a few yards away down the street. Both of them were looking at the house.

"Hell! The Police!" exclaimed Mahony. "What's that?" exclaimed the Irishman.

With an effort he staggered to his feet, and looked round him. The smile had left his lips; his expression was that of a hunted man. "It will be me they're after," he went on. "Some dirty traitor must have seen me come here and given them the wire. Get me out of this, mister—you'll get me out of it, won't you? Sure, a man like you, a fighin' man, wouldn't see a poor devil of a fellow sent to jail without stirring a finger."

"I don't know the blasted way out myself; I don't want to be caught here any more than you do," replied Mahony. "From what I can see, the place is surrounded. It will be no good going downstairs; I'm going to try my luck upwards. You can come if you like."

"I'm with you," said the Irishman.

He reached out his hand, lifted the whiskey from the table, and took a mighty swig. "Ah," he said, taking a deep breath. "Now I feel like a man again."

They left the room swiftly and ran up the dark, narrow staircase. From down below came a sound of loud thudding on the front door. The police were no longer content with knocking; they were breaking in.

At the top of the stairs was a small landing. And in the middle of it a narrow wooden ladder leading up to a trapdoor in the flat roof of the house. Mahony ran up the ladder. To his dismay the trapdoor was securely locked with a padlock.

From down below came a loud crash as the front door burst open. Mahony seized the padlock and gave it a wrench. But it was a good strong lock and securely fixed; it did not move.

Terence makes a thrilling dash for liberty across the housetops tomorrow.

World's Most Persistent Aviator Goes Up Every Day For 7 Years

IT'LL SOON BE 2,557 Dr. John D. Brock steps out of his plane after one of the flights he's been making daily since 1929. He'll celebrate the seventh anniversary of his daily flights November 15.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 6 (AP)—On a foggy day here Nov. 16, 1929, Dr. John D. Brock climbed into the cockpit of his private plane to start the most unusual record in aviation.

Daily since then, in foul weather or fair, the "flying Doc" has taken his plane into the air for at least half an hour. While Charles Lindbergh, Amelia Earhart and others were thrilling the world with daring exploits, the quiet-spoken optical manufacturer was piling up a safety record unapproached anywhere in the annals of flying.

The Gehrig Of Aviation
What "Lou" Gehrig, New York Yankee first baseman, is to baseball, Dr. Brock is to aviation. Gehrig has played in more than 1,800 consecutive games—Dr. Brock is rounding out his seventh year of daily flights. On November 15 he will take his 2,557th consecutive air trip.

The world's most persistent flier has been an aviation enthusiast since his first ride as a passenger in 1911. He was taught to fly in 1924 by the veteran "Tex" La-Gro, whose whimsical ambition is to be the "oldest LIVING pilot." Perhaps that was why Brock from the beginning was cautious at the controls.

In 1929 he started flying daily to prove his contention the weather was never too bad for at least a short spin each day. He flew through sunshine, rain, fog, snow, sleet and high winds to win his point. At the close of the first year Dr. Brock, who used the same plane and engine each time, had probably done more than any other individual to prove the reliability of modern aircraft.

No other flier has ever threatened the unique record since hung up by the sportsman pilot. The "Doc" himself has no idea how long he will continue to fly. "Perhaps I'll quit at the end of the 10-year mark," he smiles. "Perhaps not."

Brock, who keeps a chart of each flight, estimates he was in the air 425 hours and flew 50,000 miles the first year. He swelled the mileage in 1931 with a nation-wide air tour. On October 1 of this year his log book showed 6,125 flying hours — and 600,000 air miles covered in 2,513 flights.

By now as much at home in the air as on the ground, Brock shaves with an electric razor while piloting. He files one of his three planes regularly on long business and pleasure trips. To keep his daily flights from conflicting with fishing, his other hobby, he purchased a 2,700-acre tract in the Ozark mountains in 1934 and built his own airport.
