Terrific Blast Destroys Boat, Takes One Life

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—One man was killed and three were believed drowned, two seriously injured, when a terrific blast wrecked a fishing boat moored at embarcadero here Tuesday. Cause of the explosion was undetermined.

Force of the blast, which rocked a wide area, apparently broke the feed line from underground gasoline tanks at a service station and flaming boat moored at Embarcadero.

The dead man was identified as Frank Principalo. Pasquel Corras and his brother, Charles, also aboard craft were burned and bruised. Three other men, listed as members of the boat's crew were unaccounted for and officials believe they drowned.

WASHINGTON—By George Durno
Line-Up—New Dealers are going to have to sit down together very shortly and make up their minds definitely what sort of a political future they shall pursue.

The problem is whether a bold bid should be made to realign the two old parties into "liberal" and "conservative" camps, or whether it would be safer to swim along recognizing Democratic and Republican labels as in the past.

Divergence of opinion within the administration is all the more serious because of the names piling up on each side of the fence.

President Roosevelt himself has given plenty of public indications he would like to break down the old barriers and traditions and start from a new political scratch.

Against the advice of his most ardent political lieutenants Mr. Roosevelt has put a tacit stamp of approval on the candidacies of such men as Senator Bob LaFollette, of Wisconsin, running for reelection on a new Progressive ticket; Senator Henry Shipstead, of Minnesota, a Farmer-Laborite, and Senator Bronson Cutting, of New Mexico, a Progressive Republican who supported FDR for election in 1932.

Earlier, the New Deal—at the President's direction—gave Senator H. Johnson, Republican, of California, an official blessing. Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, is another Republican with New Deal beliefs who is counted on as a blood brother.

Since inauguration FDR has run the government more on a basis of his own campaign speeches than on the Democratic platform adopted at Chicago. In many respects they coincided, because the Roosevelt forces were in the saddle at Chicago, but the speeches—if carefully analyzed—go much farther.

Cheering the President along this indicated path are two of his cabinet officers, Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes and Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace. Both are insurgent Republicans who left their party to follow the Roosevelt trail.

Among the so-called Brain Trust you will find the boys cheering in almost perfect chorus for a new deal in political alignments. Opposed to this idea are the "practically" politicians headed by Postmaster General-Democratic National Chairman, Jim Farley.

Farley and his aids did the tedious spade work that led to Mr. Roosevelt's nomination and election. Promises were made that hardly can be ignored according to the rules. Further, as old-liners who believe the spoils ought to be tucked into deserving hip pockets, this group—both large and important—has an abiding conviction that the 44 furrows best can be

Trio Arrested For Abducting French Seaman

Sailor Tortured After Tossing Away Package Containing Narcotics

NEW YORK, (AP)—Kidnaping of a French seaman by an international smuggling gang and his torture during a month of captivity, were disclosed Tuesday after 20 government agents, armed with machine guns, arrested two men and a woman.

William Rosen, seaman on the French liner, Champlain, was abducted because he threw a package into the sea, believing it contained opium.

Actually, it held narcotics valued at 40,000 francs.

Agents raided the apartment where Rosen said he was held captive, arresting Salvatore Mancuso, his wife, Nellie, and Dominick Gelferno.

All were charged with kidnaping and conspiracy.

Rosen said the gang seared his forehead with cigarettes, kept him tied tightly.

Staff of CCC Camp Attend Special Tour

Five Inspect Davis Mountain Project; Return Here Tuesday

Members of the technical staff of the CCC camp located on the scenic Mountain project here returned Tuesday morning from a week-end excursion into the Davis and Cheves mountains.

They were guests on a tour of the project in the mountainous region where a camp is located.

Attending from here were Thompson R. Richardson, camp superintendent and wife, Harry G. Newton, Joseph A. Lodge, and V. J. Eckelkamp.

Richardson described some phenomenal sights and told of clouds diving over the Casa Grande peak like water over a giant fall.

In places the roads were so narrow and steep that they could be traversed only by animals. Mrs. Richardson did not accompany the group on these excursions, she said. "I told them that Big Spring was good enough for me," she explained.

D. E. Colp, chairman of the state park board, was among the notable present for the inspection tour.

Dralc, president of Texas Chiropractic College of San Antonio, have notified the program committee they will be present to appear on the program.

A feature of the convention will be a "Most Perfect Back Contest" with suitable prizes awarded the winners. Eliminations are to be held in each of the seven districts of the State and the winners will compete in the State contest.

Chiropractors from Big Spring present at the San Angelo meeting Sunday were Drs. Brittie Cox and Kennedy.

Flyer Crashes To Death At Terrific Clip

Doug Davis Making 250 Miles Per Hour When Ship Plough Into Earth

CLEVELAND, (UP)—Crashing to earth in a plane traveling at a 250-mile an hour pace, Doug Davis, noted speed pilot of Atlanta, was killed late Monday in America's premier air competition—the $10,000 Thompson Trophy race.

More than 125,000 spectators were present when Davis' plane crashed behind the big grandstands on the back stretch of the quadrangular course. A few minutes later Col. Roscoe Turner shot his Weddell-Williams plane across the finish mark to win the race at an average speed of 248.129 miles an hour.

Davis was leading the field of eight planes when he cut inside a pylon on the back stretch of the course. He had been gaining speed over Turner all the while.

Earlier in the day Davis roared over a three kilometer straightaway at 306.215 miles an hour, exceeding by almost two miles an hour the world's land speed record set by the late Jimmy Weddell.

Davis crashed about two miles from the grandstands. The crash could be heard easily in the stands. While the seven other racers roared around the course, ambulances were sent to the scene.

Body Badly Mangled
Colonel Turner, a close personal friend of Davis, brought his plane toward the stands and asked at once about the Atlanta speed flyer. Turner was visibly shaken.

A physician who was one of the first to reach Davis said he had never seen a body so badly mangled.

Opening Day Of Rodeo Attracts Huge Audience

Big Spring's first annual cowboy reunion and rodeo took off to a grand start here Monday, with some 75 contestants competing for prizes in the usual rodeo events, before a crowd of approximately 4,500 for the afternoon show and 3,000 for the night show. The rodeo events were held in the spacious new arena located near Washington Place.

The arena, one of the best to be found in this area, could hardly accommodate the crowds.

Although such large crowds were not expected, officials in charge did anticipate good attendance for Tuesday performance. Especially did they expect a large number for the final show beginning at 8:30 p. m.

The afternoon show was preceded by a big parade headed by Jess Slaughter, Howard county "cowboy" sheriff and Ira Driver and followed by a large number of West Texas cowboys who treated the crowds in the downtown section of the city with stunts in trick riding and roping.

John Lindsey, rodeo clown, and his educated mule were one of the features of the parade and show. They kept the crowd in an uproar with their antics.

Another feature of the show was Ollie Cox, owner of the Double Heart Ranch located near Sweetwater, and his educated horse. The horse is young but showed remarkable talent. He does everything from shaking hands with his master to honking an automobile horn.

Wild Broncs
The horses used in the bronc riding contests were secured from the Eldorado ranch and are considered to be some of the worst bucking stock in this section of the country. A number of the contestants in the bronc riding verify this statement.

Calves used in the calf roping contests were Brahma stock from the Double Hart ranch. They were good sized animals and showed a distinct dislike to being tied after the contestants had roped them and fought a good fight all the way. Many of the contestants were unable to get hold of their calf at all.

Brahmas were also used in the cow milking and steer riding contests and "they were no picnic."

Prize Awards.
Prizes in the steer and bronc riding are $25, $15 and $10. For first, second and third. In the cow milking, bell and calf roping four prizes are given for the four contestants making the best time for the day. They are $50, $30, $20 and $10. In addition to the daily prizes the contestants making the best average time for the entire rodeo will receive a saddle valued at $150 as first prize; Stetson hat for second and pair of boots for third.

All prizes are awarded to winners of events for the entire day. Those working in the afternoon show do not work in the night show. Those working in afternoon show Monday will work at night performance Tuesday and those working Monday night will work Tuesday afternoon.

The judges for the show are Noble Reed, Big Spring; F. D. Alley of Pecos and Jess Slaughter, Big Spring; assisted by Ira Driver and J. L. Hudson. Time keepers are Marion Edwards and Bob Middleton.

Results of first day are: Steer Riding—Blanket Simms.

Textile And Labor Figures Differ Widely

Houston Only Texas City Affected, Half Of Workers Are Idle

By The Associated Press
The first big day of the general textile strike was hailed by union leaders Tuesday as "a tremendous success," while employers declared a poll of the industry in New England indicated a majority of the workers were opposed to the strike.

Reports from New England mills tabulated by the National association of cotton manufacturers showed approximately 65 per cent of the cotton operatives working.

In New England mills employing an aggregate of 125,000, union leaders reported at least 50,000 idle.

Eighty thousand textile workers stood in the Carolinas strike lines, with 230 mills closed. Twenty were open with skeleton shifts and new close downs were occurring. In a dozen or more other textile states affected, indications were that at least half of the workers were idle.

Most disorder was reported at Macon, Ga., where fist fights were numerous and an automobile load of mill office workers was overturned in a picket line clash.

It was estimated that approximately one-third of 600,000 mill workers in a dozen states were idle. Houston was the only Texas point affected, strikers numbering 300 picketed mill and engaged in fist fights.

Eddie Morgan Defeated 1 Up

Golfers Swap Back And Forth in Blistering Match

J. J. Neal of Hobbs, N. M. edged out young Eddie Morgan 1 up Monday to take the championship of the fourth annual invitational golf tournament of the Big Spring Country Club.

Both golfers were blistering on Man Par, and they came to the ninth all square. They swapped back and forth and Neal took the 17th to go one up. He took the match when the 18th was halved with par fours.

Neal took his semi-final match 7-6 from Vernon Mason, Municipal champ, who was unable to cope with the steady, smooth shooting Hobbs player.

Bays Bryant, medalist, had putting trouble in his semi-final and lost to Morgan, 5-3. Morgan is a hard hitting youngster who can smack his drives straight down the middle three hundred yards or better. Morgan's semi-final was a slugfest from start to finish, but he was able to handle his putter to better advantage than the Lubbock ace.

SPORT LINES

By TOM BEASLEY

On September 14 Big Spring football fans will have their first opportunity to get a good line on the 1934 edition of Steer football teams. It is on that date that the Lamesa Golden-Tornadoes are due down to combat the locals; however, there has been some mix-up and Principal George Gentry has not been able to make definite arrangements with the Lamesans.

Coach Bristow has been quoted as saying he did not think the training trip did much good. The department is inclined to believe likewise. The trip was a mess from several viewpoints, but we wouldn't say it was an absolute failure. It did enable the coaches to get a glance on possible line-ups and the boys were probably toughened a bit physically.

Before the week is gone hard work on the grid will be a daily habit. One thing that Bristow will have this year that he hasn't had before will be a goodly array of reserves—reserves that can be used without weakening the team to any appreciable degree.

A few days ago Principal Gentry received a letter from Roy Henderson of the Interscholastic League asking for a list of the boys who played with the Athens Hornets basketball team here a year ago. Must be an eligibility squabble.

All of which reminds that the district three committee will get steamed up again here Friday. With Slime Hill (formerly McCamey mentor) out of the way the session should not be as torrid as usual. One thing that seems to be worrying Brother Kenley down at San Angelo is the rule against playing two games in one week. Kenley wants to know what to do in case of a tie. Outside of that, the only other problems will be routine matters—it is hoped.

Head Coach Marlin Hayhurst and Assistant Coach Jim Bardin of McCamey launched the Badger work-outs last week, according to reports from the Upton county town. Two sessions will be held each day until the opening of school. The Badgers knock the lid off with the Pecos Eagles Sept. 22.

Hayhurst recently attended a coaching school in Oklahoma and Bardin attended the A. & M. coaching school at College Station last week.

Doc Bennett tells the boys Curly Hays is all fixed up to enter Tulane University. Curly was the power-house on the Angelo Bobcat team last year.

Fete Castello, another star from the championship San Angelo team, has picked up 16 pounds and come in at 205. He is in Tulsa and bids for a berth on the Tulsa University freshman eleven. Castello writes back to all his San Angelo friends that for all of his 205 pounds he is the smallest of the football vaqueros at the school.

GAME FRIDAY
The Kiwanis softball team and the Couden Pipeliners from Forsan will play a practice game on the City Park diamond Friday night.

The task of measuring 750,000 cotton, tobacco and corn fields to determine whether they are within the requirements of the AAA crop control contracts is under way in North Carolina.

D. H. Cowan, a farmer residing near Charlotte, N. C., has harvested Irish potatoes from the same field for 48 years without replanting.

Teams Froth 20 Innings

Ft. Worth And Oklahoma City Turn Up All Square Monday

FORT WORTH—Fort Worth and Oklahoma City turned Monday into a day of labor, with 20 innings of toil in the afternoon that left them all square when the curfew sounded. Thirteen innings were consumed by the Cats in beating the Indians, 7 to 6 in the first game, while the nightcap went to the Redskins 5-2 in the regulation seven rounds.

MISSIONS 10-1, EXPORTS 6-5
SAN ANTONIO — Beaumont's Shippers tamed the Missions in the second game Monday night, 5-1, after losing the opener, 10-6 and the league leading Padres continued to hold their one game margin over the Galveston Bucs who were idle because of rain.

The second contest found Schulz limiting the clouting-Missions to six hits and narrowly missing a shutout. He defeated Ash Hillin, the league's leading hurler.

Howard Mills stopped the Exporters in the opener.

STEERS 4-3, TULSA 3-1
DALLAS — The Dallas Steers climbed up to fourth place in the Texas league Monday night by winning a double header from Tulsa, which dropped out of first division. After the Herd, had shed out a 4-3 decision, in twelve innings, the Oilers were put down, 3 to 1, in an abbreviated second match. Both games were played at night.

CUBS 6-3; REDS 4-6
CINCINNATI—Training by four runs and seemingly whipped, the Cincinnati Reds came back to take the second game of a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs 6-4, Monday after dropping the first game 6-3.

In the nightcap Koenig's triple with the bases loaded tied the score in the seventh and Bottomley's triple drove in Koenig to put the Reds ahead. Lombardi's homer in the eighth only made the game more secure.

The Reds were having the best of a pitching duel between Frey and Warneke in the first game until Gabby Hartnett tied the score at three-all with his homer in the ninth. The Cubs bunched three winning runs in the tenth.

Sens Lose In Several Ways

Defeated By Boston 6-3; Manager Cronin Breaks Right Arm

WASHINGTON—The Washington Senators, one of the hard luck teams of the current season, Monday dropped the first game of a double header to Boston, 6-3, had the second game called 4-4 on account of darkness and lost the playing services of their manager for the rest of the season.

Joseph Cronin, Washington shortstop and pilot, fractured his right arm in the eighth inning of the first game. He was forced to turn over the management of the team to third base coach Al Schach and remained here with his arm in a cast when the team left for St. Louis.

Cronin was running out an infield hit to Morgan in the eighth inning. Pitcher Wesley Ferrell covered first and he and Cronin tangled. The Senator shortstop was thrown to the ground.

Cronin played out the rest of the first game, but his arm became so painful before the start of the second contest that Ossie Bluzge, former third baseman, was sent in to play for him. Cecil Travis, although suffering from a charley horse, went in at third.

INDIANS 9-6, BROWNS 5-4
ST. LOUIS—The Cleveland Indians took both games of Monday's doubleheader with the Browns, speeding the first, 9-5, when the St. Louis defense collapsed and marking up the second, 6-4, behind Willis Hudlin's nice pitching.

Hudlin gave up nine hits in the nightcap, but they were well scattered.

George Blacholder failed to finish the first freak inning of the opening contest.

YANKS 11-3, MACKS 7-10
NEW YORK—With the aid of some very lusty clubbing on the part of his teammates, Vernon Gomez, Yankees southpaw ace and the major league's leading hurler, won his tenth straight and his 24th game of the season as New York and the Philadelphia Athletics split one of the most exciting bills ever played, in threatening weather before a crowd of 30,000. In Monday's doubleheader, the Yanks won the opening contest 11-7 and the A's took the nightcap, 10-3.

Gomez, hurling the first game, was touched for five runs on three hits and as many bases on balls in the second inning but the lanky southpaw steadied and held the Athletics to two runs during the remainder of the game. Meanwhile, the Yankees gradually pecked away at Bill Dietrich, after Babe Ruth had hit his twenty-first home run of the season in the first inning.

The New Yorkers staged a four run rampage in the eighth to put the game on ice.

Jimmy Foxx, hitting his 40th home run of the season, Roger Cramer and Bob Johnson drove in nine of the Athletics runs off Johnny Broaca, Charley Ruffing and Johnny Allen in the second contest. Merritt (Sugar) Cain went the route for Philadelphia.

A regular schedule of work will be mapped out for the gridders within a few days.

Hayhurst And Bardin Start Badger Squad

Portion Of Prospect '34 Team Working Out Twice Daily

McCAMEY — Football training, preparatory to the opening of the 1934 football season, got underway at McCamey High school this week with two practice sessions being held each day, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. The two daily sessions will continue until the opening of the fall term of school on Sept. 10, when the morning sessions will be dropped. Twenty candidates for berths on this year's Badger eleven are out for practice this week and it is likely that 12 or 15 more boys will join the squad the first of next week. Coaches Marlin Hayhurst and Jim Bardin earnestly request that all high school boys desirous of playing football this year report at the high school athletic field for practice as soon as possible.

Training has consisted mainly of limbering up exercises and calisthenics, but the boys will get down to some strenuous workouts next week. The coaches face quite a task in getting their material in shape for the first game of the season Sept. 22, and the candidates will have to work long and hard in order to be in shape. Neither Hayhurst nor Bardin would offer comments on their squad this week, but both fully realize the job that faces them in whipping the green material into shape. The coaches are none too optimistic in the impression one gains after talking to them.

This poster at Mannheim, in the Saar, shows the propaganda machine is working, as that region prepares for a plebiscite in January to determine whether it joins Germany, France or remains with the League of Nations. New poster will be displayed this fall by the Girl Scouts as part of a national campaign for more and recreation to be conducted by the allied social agencies under the auspices of the 1934 Mobilization for Human Needs. The way to make good citizens is to give children a good time outdoors, the Girl Scouts believe.

Cooks Without A Kitchen

A few sticks and stones and the Girl Scouts have all the equipment they need to cook a camp dinner. How the trick is turned is shown by this group, part of the cast in the film feature, "Girl Scout Week-ends," soon to be released in the motion picture theatres.

TIGER ISLAND

By Gouverneur Morris

Chapter Six THE BARGAIN

"Oh," said the animal trainer, "we ran out of food and the money to buy food, so I kissed them good-bye and let them go."

"That's where you made a mistake," said Bowers. "You need a trainer yourself, young woman, or a guardian, or a nurse, or something of that kind. Don't you know that the price of tigers is way up in G at the moment? For instance, I would have bought them myself."

"As for instance?" suggested Bowers.

"Why," she said, "when they are hungry, you feed them." Then suddenly she smiled for the first time. It was just a flicker of a smile, but there was in it a hint of gaiety and mischief.

"When their heads ache," she said, "you give them aspirin; and when they are naughty, you slap them."

Bowers fell into her mood with a chuckle, and she continued:

"The worst times, of course," she said, "are when they get homesick for the jungle."

"That must be awful," said Bowers. "What do you do for them then?"

"Just what you would do for a man who was down on his luck. You flatter them."

"I suppose I am dumb," said Bowers, "but even if I made up my mind to flatter a tiger, I wouldn't know how to go about it."

"Oh," she said, "just praise them. Tell them how handsome they are, make them feel important and self-satisfied. At such times, I often recite Blake's poem to them." And she recited Blake's poem to them.

"But McLeod said to hire a man."

"Oh, no, you wouldn't," said she. "Why wouldn't I?"

"Because you don't sell the things you love. You starve first."

It was her first phrase in which there was any expression of sentiment; and it began to dawn on him that she had a personality of many sides; a callous, hard-boiled personality to show to the world, and others in which sentiment, fancy and high motives played a part.

"When you opened the cages and let them out," he asked, "weren't you frightened?"

"Not!" she exclaimed. "Me frightened?"

she quoted:

"Tiger, tiger, burning bright
In the forests of the night,
What immortal hand or eye
Could frame thy fearful symmetry?"

"That's the stuff that makes a tiger feel good all over."

Bowers was secretly astonished and delighted. He had never imagined that animal trainers had a sense of humor and read literature.

"When I came in just now," he said, "and you were rude to me without meaning to be, I was hurt. I didn't like you a bit. But that's all ancient history. I think you'd get my manager to Singapore in great shape, and if it weren't for poor McLeod, I'd give you the job like a shot."

"McLeod?" she said. "Angus? the collector? What's he got to do with it?"

"It's his manager," said Bowers. "He is in the hospital, and just about now they are separating him from his appendix."

"Still," said she, "I don't see what he's got to do with it. I am competent, and I need the job. Why can't I have it?"

RADIO PICTURES ROYAL LOVERS

Telephoned to London and thence sent by radio to The Associated Press in New York, this picture shows Prince George of England and Princess Marina of Greece motoring near the summer home of Prince Paul of Yugoslavia. It was made shortly after announcement of the couple's betrothal came from the royal palace in London.

just about kill him. But couldn't you do for him what everybody does for the sick? The friend for the sick friend, the doctor for the sick patient; the patient for the sick child; the animal trainer for the sick monkey?"

"I am not bright," said Bowers. "I don't understand."

"Why of course you do," said she. "Couldn't you lie to him?"

"The Boldero was a slow ship, and the ocean-rod to Singapore was long, and it cannot be denied that thought of having this particular young woman for a companion during the voyage, played an unfair part in his decision to engage her. It is not to his credit to think, nay, to be humanly certain that if she had been plain and unattractive, he would have made his excuses and sought elsewhere. A kind of liquid light came into his eyes, and he said:

"Of course I could lie to him. I shall, I will."

Her eyes grew meltingly soft. This was occasioned largely by a sudden economic relief, and a little by gratitude. But Bowers mistook the cause of the melting look. Stupidly and conceitedly he attributed it to some undeserved and fortuitous quality in himself which made him extraordinarily attractive to women. He said the wrong thing, and it turned her cold as a stone.

"Even if you weren't an animal trainer," he said, "I'd like to have you take this trip."

Rodeo Same Old Drawing Card As In Years Past, With Riders As Skillful, Even If They Do Not Dress In Oldtime Chaps

Once the chief entertainment of West Texas, the rodeo of Labor Day proved by its crowds Monday afternoon that it has lost none of its attraction. Not 2900 but nearly 5000 people crowded around the arena to view the stunts.

To the few who can recall the first competitive events of this nature there might have been an artificial note in roping calves trained to dodge the rope. But to most of the 5000—including brand new doc-ers from the East—the events were well worth craning one's neck for.

If, however, a tenderfoot western magazine fan had dropped in, much as he might have appreciated the riding, he would surely have been disappointed in the cowboys. Dungearex which were the most popular leg covering Monday, have not the swashbuckling romance of chaps. Lacking were the brilliant handkerchiefs around cowboy necks, guns and cartridge belts around their waists; also sunburned faces, in a few instances. Even the brim of the modern cowboy hat was narrowed down. In fact the cowboy of today lacks the dash and picturesque quality of his famous grandpa.

Paint echoes of this erstwhile dash added color to the side-lines, as youngsters rode about on their ponies. Little Edward Fisher sported the red handkerchief around the neck; little Gary Bivrow wore the swellest pair of chaps on the ground, long white wooly ones. But Jess Slaughter Jr., a member of coming features, was as tamely dressed as any real cowboy.

It was largely a gathering of men, but women were plentiful. Even a few cowgirls strutted their jodhpurs. Mrs. Ollie Cox, cowgirl in her own right and wife of one of the owners of the Brahma cattle, swung her shapely legs from the judge's stand where she sat during the show.

Never was a day more perfect for a rodeo. The rain of Sunday had done a good job of laying the dust and the sun was pleasantly worn to the backs of those who wore their summer clothes, although it might have been a little hot on the sisters who used this as an occasion to display new fall dresses. There was no dust from the arena in the afternoon and vision was perfect—that is, if a man or a telephone pole was not in the way.

People crowded all around the wire that enclosed the arena; people stood on the tops of cars and benches because arrangements are to be made for the hike Friday night.

TEXAS TOPICS

By Raymond Brooks

Forty-four million dollars in the next eight months is the relief bill the Texas relief administration laid before the Texas legislature Friday of the first week of the session.

This is in addition to the $22,000,000 spent since FERA came into existence. Texas has put up $10,500,000 so far, and has $9,500,000 more bonds to issue.

The report did not say how the next eight months' money will be split as between federal and state sources. Texas will not be able to put up half of its half if a 50-50 straight matching is required. But such matching has not been required in the past, except for direct relief. The federal government has put up all the overhead and administrative costs, has borne drought relief entirely; has put up money for work projects where relief labor was used, as in road building; has financed the surplus commodities, beef canning, and many particular types of work without involving state aid.

The massive possible product of a big staff working overtime, night and day, was visualized in the report of the relief administration to the legislature. Two hundred copies of a report of nearly 300 pages, nearly all statistical tables, were prepared. These tables were drawn from records of the auditing staff and the sheets were mimeographed.

As it was being made, the legislative officials to tell it verbally about the work and to discuss the mass of figures in detail. Clerk and auditors worked until past 2 a. m. three mornings successively and numbers of them worked throughout the night, getting the statistical data ready for the report.

Poultry experts have found that fowl pox, commonly known as "sorehead," is caused by a microscopic germ affecting the skin and mucous membranes of the fowls.

It's time to take down the screens

MOST of us hate to see Summer go. We miss the freedom that comes from being out-of-doors. We dread being bottled up in heated houses—wearing heavy clothes—fighting colds and all the impositions of Winter.

Since we have to live indoors, let's be gay and make indoors attractive. A new rug will brighten the living-room and the one it displaces can go upstairs to cheer up a bedroom. Some colored curtains will accentuate the pale winter sun. A new kitchen screen or sink will take the gloom out of that much-used workshop. Some comfortable chairs will help you relax during the long evenings.

A little money will go a long way today in renovating your home. Just watch the advertisements in this newspaper—there are amazing bargains in furniture, lamps, curtains, rugs and kitchen equipment. You're always more certain to get full value for your money when you buy products advertised by dependable merchants and manufacturers.

Glen Golden
Married To Miss Maloney
Ceremony Held Monday Morning At Rectory

Glen Golden and Miss Mary Elizabeth Maloney of Wichita, Kans., were married Monday morning at 9 o'clock at the St. Thomas Rectory with Rev. Theodore Frances as officiating minister.

The bride was attired in an ensemble of navy blue triple sheer with navy blue accessories. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Eleanor Hodge. Her father gave her away.

Attending the groom was R. W. Fischer, terminal manager of the local airport.

Mrs. Golden arrived in Big Spring late Sunday evening accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Maloney, and her sister, Mrs. Hodge. She has made her home in Wichita, Kansas, until now, being graduated from the high school of that city. She attended Wichita University, and was a prominent member of the Matrix Society, a journalistic organization of the University.

Mr. Golden is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Golden of Newton, Kans. He has been located in Big Spring for the past two years as dispatcher at the airport. He was transferred here from Atlanta, Ga. Previous to that time he had been with the Stearnman Airport Co. in Wichita. He also attended Wichita University.

Mr. and Mrs. Golden were the honor guests at a breakfast given for them by Mr. and Mrs. Maloney Monday morning following the ceremony, also at a dinner given in the evening by Messrs. Raymond W. Fischer, Jack Cummings and Arthur Crowshaw. Guests of the breakfast in addition to the family and honorees were: Messrs. Fischer, Cummings, Crowshaw, Father Frances and Miss Lucille Rix.

Mr. and Mrs. Golden plan to make their home at the Crawford Hotel. They will not leave on their wedding trip for two weeks, due to airport arrangements. Then they plan to fly to Los Angeles and Catalina, Calif.

This was the scene in San Francisco as the federal government began movement of gold stocks estimated as high as $2,000,000,000 from the mint here to the mint at Denver. Federal troops, government agents, police and detectives combined to protect the transfer to the mail trucks, each of which carried a hand-truck loaded with a ton of the precious metal. "Education, however desirable and effective in dealing with certain aspects of the temperance question will never solve our problem. Those who think so fail to grasp the nature of alcohol, its narcotic effect, and its habit-forming power."—Dr. A. J. Irwin, of Canada.

"There is no single disease in the world of which alcohol is the cure. This fact is well known to science, and is generally admitted by progressive members of the medical profession, but is rarely made clear to the layman. The purpose of medicine is to cure disease. Since alcohol cures no disease, it is not a medicine. It has no place in medical practice."—Dr. Howard A. Kelly.

SPORT SLANTS
 By ALAN GOULD

For a wagering man with sufficient loose change, imbued with the spirit of a rising tide of sporting activity, there's plenty of opportunity to do a brisk business within the forthcoming few weeks.

Playing a few hunches, along with our personal convictions, we would be inclined:

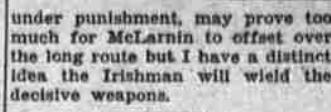

1. To back Jimmy McLarnin in his fight to regain the world welterweight title from flashing-eyed Barney Ross.
2. To expect the West to take the East over the polo hurdles in two straight matches.
3. To figure Frederick J. Perry entirely capable of resisting all attempts to wrest the national tennis championship from the hands of the agile British ace.
4. To pick 'em out of a hat so far as chances are concerned in the all-match play tournament for the National amateur golf title at Brookline.
5. To figure either Rainbow or Yankee capable of turning back the formidable challenge of Tom Sopwith's Endeavour, for the classic America's Cup.
6. To figure the New York Giants with a decisive pitching edge over the Detroit Tigers in the world series, despite the prowess of the distinguished Master Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe.
7. To regard Princeton's football powerhouse as "tops" in the East pending some of the late-November returns along the gridiron front.

Kallio To Defend Title On Thursday

AMARILLO (Sp.)—Gus Kallio, stalwart son of Finland, will defend his middleweight wrestling championship here next Thursday night against the powerful Heinie of Broadway, Vic Webber.

Kallio, fresh from a year's tour of Europe and Africa where he successfully defended his title sev-

You can also figure, on the other hand, that McLarnin has hit the downward path while Ross's star is unquestionably in the ascendant. Barney's speed, if he can sustain it under punishment, may prove too much for McLarnin to offset over the long route but I have a distinct idea the Irishman will wield the decisive weapons.

IT PAID TO LOSE—

It's even money so far in Doyle's book on the America's Cup races. This is itself is the tipoff on how well the Endeavour's challenge is regarded this year, especially by the contrast of one-sided defeats administered in the past to most British contenders for the old mug. There hasn't been a close contest for so long that none but the most ancient mariners can recall one.

"This affair should be a great betting event for the reason that people generally are taking Sopwith more seriously than they did Lipton," says Doyle. "It may be doing them an injustice but one can easily figure that those English yacht builders were not breaking their necks to build the tea merchant a winning boat. If so they would singly lose a fine customer who was spending a million dollars every couple of years to buy losers. Why build him a winner?"

eral times, will be making his first title defense in the United States in over one year.

The challenger, Webber, won the Amarillo tournament over the most formidable field of middleweights ever assembled in the Southwest. Such outstanding contenders as Don Hill, Otis Clingman, Danny McShain, Rod Fenton, Charlie Carr, and Shiek Marallah took part in the tourney. In topping this field, Webber displayed a willingness to mix it on any terms. He is truly a contender, and despite betting odds being against him, there are many who believe he can take Kallio into camp.

The count was knotted 2-2 in the seventh when T. Shoultz went home on a hit by Byrd.

The Pipeliners were weak at short, where several errors were made.

FORSAN—The Humble softball team defeated Moody 9 to 1 in a game here Monday.

FASHION NOTES

COATS FOR FALL
COME KNITTED, TOO

PARIS (Sp.)—Knitted capes, coats and hats are part of the scheme this fall. A knitted field-green hunting suit with a divided skirt is topped by a three-quarter length knit coat of terra cotta brown, and a wine red hip-length cape completes a frock of the same color. Most of the knitted hats follow the line which pitches over the forehead and rises in the back.

LOCH NESS MONSTER
INSPIRES WINTER OUTFIT

PARIS (Sp.)—The "Loch Ness monster" which roamed around the Scottish lake last season has inspired the name of a new winter costume. The ensemble, named "Loch Ness," combines a slender dark green wool frock with a hip-length jacket of the same fabric.

HAT MODEL 'WORK OF ART'
FRENCH COURT DECREES

PARIS (Sp.)—A model hat is a work of art in France and unauthorized copies are punishable counterfeits, a French court has decreed.

The ninth chamber of the court of appeals here has just ruled that any unauthorized reproduction of an original model constitutes a piracy punishable by fine.

The decision, based on the law of 1793, climaxed a suit brought by several leading modistes here against a group of Parisian copyists, who, they alleged, illegally copied their original designs and sold them both in France and foreign countries.

WASHINGTON HAT
A HIT FOR WINTER

PARIS (Sp.)—The three-cornered "George Washington hat" which the French call "Marquise" is a "big hit" in feminine winter headgear this season. It comes in felt or panne velvet and is generally designed with a flat crown and a brim which rolls sharply back in the three-cornered shape. Sometimes it is worn with a veil. Black is the favorite color.

ELASTICIZED LACE USED

PARIS (Sp.)—Elasticized lace is something new and interesting in fall fabrics. It comes in sheer black or white weaves resembling Chantilly, elasticized to give a foamy or bubbly appearance. Other

Profit System Best Served By Higher Wages—Perkins

BOSTON (Sp.)—Secretary Perkins told the nation Monday that the profit system in business and industry could best be served by keeping wages at a high level.

The labor department chief said in a Labor Day speech, "we can build up internal expansion of our markets which is so essential for utilization of our idle capital and employment of unemployed labor, and steady flow of profits to those who have the ingenuity and courage to step forward into manufacturing and distribution in new fields."

Of course the brewers are jubilant. The exchange they have made of 10,000,000 barrels of swill for half a million dollars of cash has enabled them to pile up some handsome bank deposits, every dollar of which has been taken from the families of American citizens without rendering them anything valuable in return. Billions which should have been expended for food, clothing, better homes, education, for individual and community betterment, have been fished from the pockets of honest but unformed Americans under the hypocritical pretense of patriotism.

Coleman holds the world's record in outboard racing of 61.75 miles an hour. She has been entered.

J. E. Herbert of Jackson, Miss., also will be entered.

THE BOOZE RACKET
John Harvey Kellogg, M. D.

Booze, with all the misery, disease, shame and crime which go with it, is coming back. Beer is already here. The brewers are boasting that between the fifteen weeks that elapsed since April 7, when 3.2 per cent beer was legalized, the Federal beer taxes amounted to more than $54,000,000.

This fact is pointed to as proof that beer is going to render great service to the whole country by lightening the tax burden. No mention is made of the fact, incidentally, that in order to be able to pay the Federal Government $54,000,000, our beer drinking citizens swallow some 10,000,000 barrels of intoxicating liquor, for which they paid in cash nearly $500,000,000, every penny of which was worse than wasted.

Of course the brewers are jubilant. The exchange they have made of 10,000,000 barrels of swill for half a million dollars of cash has enabled them to pile up some handsome bank deposits, every dollar of which has been taken from the families of American citizens without rendering them anything valuable in return. Billions which should have been expended for food, clothing, better homes, education, for individual and community betterment, have been fished from the pockets of honest but unformed Americans under the hypocritical pretense of patriotism.

I'M ALL ALONE!

Jack Doyle's book makes Ross the odds-on-favorite, at 3 to 5, in his return 15-round scrap with McLarnin but I can not escape the conviction that the Irishman, despite his defeat earlier in the season, has too many big guns and too great a weight advantage to be whipped twice in a row by even so brilliant a youngster as the Chicago Jewish star.

It seemed to me that McLarnin was a bit stale, likewise, overconfident in their first bout. Jimmy rated his pace so badly that he did not have the punching power he needed to resist the surge of Ross in the last few rounds. I figured McLarnin to win that time but I did not think it was even close, at the end of 15 rounds, despite the fact that one Irish judge, Tom Mobilgrease eliminates error and neglect as far as it is humanly possible to do so. The Magnolia Man who lubricates your car is a trained Mobilgrease specialist. Even with all his knowledge he does not trust to memory. He uses a chart of your automobile and applies the special Mobilgrease as recommended by the engineers who built your car. Every grease fitting gets the right amount of the right Mobilgrease... Your car is lubricated as it should be.

The difference in cost between Mobilgrease and the average "hit-or-miss" grease job is negligible. For your own safety and the protection of your family and friends who ride with you, have your car Mobilgreased at Magnolia Stations and Dealers.
