Tahoka is still pestered with reckless automobile drivers. It seems that someone will have to be convicted of manslaughter before these speed maniacs can be curbed. It is no uncommon thing to see some bird racing down any our streets at a 40 mile clip and with his muffler wide open to let folks know he is in town, so it seems. The News does not understand why people take such chances when they surely know that they are endangering the lives of pedestrians who are missed by an inch on our principal streets every day. Cut it out, Mr. Speedster, before you have cause to regret killing someone. The city and county officials should impose a heavy fine upon every automobile who travels over fifteen miles per hour. This would soon put a stop to this menace.

CANADIAN RIVER BRIDGE IS WASHED OUT

Six hundred feet of the approach on the Canadian River bridge of the Panhandle & Santa Fe Railway was washed out at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The washout of 43 bents in the approach will interrupt the service on the road for a week or possibly more, depending entirely on the fall in the present rise of the river caused by the heavy rains over the Panhandle Thursday and Friday. — Amarillo Daily News.

BLAMING YOURSELF

IT IS always easy to find somebody to blame for your mistakes. You are probably misunderstood. Everybody is. You are probably a square peg in a round hole. So is every other unsuccessful person. Doubtless the world is blind to your talent. It was blind to Shakespeare's talent for many years. But Shakespeare died a rich and successful man.

The temptation to "pass the buck" is often almost irresistible. But yield to it till it becomes a habit and you might as well quit now. You will never get anywhere.

While most bicycle repairers in one large city were blaming the collapse of the bicycle boom for their hard luck, Fisher and Orville Wright were at work on a vehicle that would as far surpass the bicycle as the eagle surpasses the tortoise.

They didn't blame anybody but themselves, and they blamed themselves severely when they made costly mistakes.

By and by they found a way to escape their own blame. Then they began to succeed.

In every office there are clerks that blame the boss for their lack of opportunity. They find an excuse for all their bad work, for the results of their idleness. And they are so busy finding excuses that they never have time to find the opportunities that are around them.

If you don't want other people to criticize you, be your own critic. Don't be an easy one either. Make your own standard higher than he expects, or a great deal more than he expects and you will attract his attention. If you don't attract his attention except unfavorably, he'll begin to hunt for somebody who will.

There are of course people who are abused as much as they think they are, but you can write on a postage stamp the names of all such persons you know. You and nobody else are to blame for your failures or responsible for your success. Be unsparing of the blame. Check up every day's work and see if it would satisfy you if you were the boss. If it wouldn't, do better work the next day.

Nobody will be interested in your excuses or your "alibis." Everybody will be interested in what you really accomplish. You can get somewhere in the world if you try. But you'll have to try extremely hard, for there will be abundant competition.

LITTLE HOP-SKIPPER

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

LITTLE HOP-SKIPPER come in through the gate, Up through the garden and over the lawn;

Little Hop-Skipper is fearfully late— Over an hour of the morning is gone. There is so much for Hop-Skipper to do!

Roses to smell of, and berries to find, All of the orchard for wandering through, Acres or daisies a garland to wind.

Little Hop-Skipper goes skipping all day; Watching the swallows or wading the grass, Helping the fluffy, wee kitten to play— Little Hop-Skipper's the busiest lass.

But, when the shadows grow long by the wall, When the gray twilight brings childish alarms, Then comes the happiest moment of all— Little Hop-Skipper creeps into my arms.

Community Building

CAN SERVE TWO PURPOSES

Ornamental Trees Should Be Planted With a View to the Comfort of Feathered Friends.

Planting of ornamental trees can be done in such a manner that it will serve both ornamental purposes and the conservation of bird life, according to authorities in the department of city forestry at the New York State College of Forestry, Syracuse university.

Prof. Alan F. Arnold says that owners in planting trees, shrubs and vines might profitably take into consideration the idea of growing plants that will attract birds, inasmuch as the possibility exists of many of our native birds disappearing for lack of food and shelter, and that birds are always welcome in every out-of-door place.

The list of trees, shrubs and vines attractive to birds includes many of our most ornamental plants. There is no more valuable evergreen tree for ornamental purposes than the native red cedar; it also provides the best shelter and nesting sites for birds, while they obtain food from the berries and insects commonly found on the tree.

The native flowering dogwood and the Chinese crabapple are two particularly beautiful trees that are favorites with the birds. The gray-stemmed dogwood, honeysuckle, American elder and sheepsbush are also serviceable to the birds, as well as ornamental. The Virginia creeper, one of the most popular vines, furnishes nesting sites and draws the attention of the birds away from grapes, apples and peaches.

"If one has a place where plants of a wilder sort can be introduced," said Professor Arnold, "and wishes to make a special point of attracting birds, there is a great variety of native plants that could not perhaps be used for more finished effects, but here would be just the thing."

ORNAMENTS FOR THE GARDEN

Essentials That Are of a Great Deal More Importance Than Are Generally Considered.

Many beautifully arranged gardens in which the color and performance of the plants are beyond reproach lack a certain sparkle, a definite point of interest, which may be supplied with a well-placed bit of ornament or a grouping of furniture. The ornament may be anything from a pair of warmed, gracefully shaped, yet inexpensive terra cotta jars, to a finely designed sundial or bird-bath. The furniture, depending upon the character of the garden, may be anything from a simple bench of stained oak to a smart and stylish array of painted-wood or French-iron chairs, settees and tables.

Of course, it is advisable in any instance to give the article some semblance of being used or, at least, usable. The urn might hold a plant suitable to its shape and color; the sundial should indicate the time with a fair degree of accuracy; the bird-bath should be one in which birds will be apt to bathe in their delightful, fluttering way, and the furniture should be comfortable and inviting. Yet things will always be essentially decorative. Their usefulness should be shared by an equal amount of beauty and appropriateness.

Shrubs.

For foundation planting, use barberry thumberg, coralberry, dogwoods, Morrow's honeysuckle, hydrangeas, Japanese quince, rhodotyphos, Regal's privet, snowberry, rugosa roses, spiraea and weigela.

For borders use flowering almonds, caraganna, dogwoods, forsythia, upright honeysuckles, Philadelphus, flowering currants, viburnums.

For screens use Tartarian honeysuckles, buckthorns, elders, illicia, Russian olive and evergreens.

For sterile soil use forsythias, elders, native trees, coralberry and matrimony vine.

For shady places, use barberry thumberg, dogwoods, viburnums and all yellow-folliaged shrubs.

Make your home look as though someone lived there.—Recommended by the Des Moines Garden Club.

Georgia's "Dad's Nights."

"Get dad in." is the slogan of the Georgia Parent-Teacher associations, the members believing that the work needs the strength, weight and influence of father as well as the untiring inspiration of mother. One organization of Columbus, Ga., recently held the most successful and enthusiastic meeting of its history when it had a "Dad's Night," with decorations and refreshments, a spelling bee, with prizes and speeches by the fathers.

Made Proper Plans for Future. Indianapolis. It is claimed, has the best downtown district of any city in the country. Indianapolis does not have the problem of widening and opening streets in the downtown section because the original planners of the city took care of that problem.

Progressive Work in Detroit. Detroit has adopted a new safety measure on its municipal street cars by the installation of stop lights similar to those commonly used by automobiles.

RESPONSIBILITY

NOT until you have arrived at the place of life where you can show willingness and ability to shoulder responsibility will you be in a position to step step with the noble men and women who are moving steadily forward toward success.

You can never hope to get at the top remaining at the bottom of the ladder in sulks. Nor can you rise from the low level where the complaining masses are without first making sacrifices and fitting yourself for the ascent. There must be within you superior will, which you know, as well as those above and below you know, cannot be required except by tireless diligence and continuous effort in the right direction.

To dare responsibility without being properly equipped, both mentally and physically, is to make a hazardous venture with all the fates arrayed against you.

To lead others you must be qualified to find your own way when the dark clouds and the storms rage.

You are not fit to assume responsibility of any sort until you have mastered your own stubborn spirit, learned your lesson in patience, and practiced the principles set forth in the Golden Rule.

Your first test in leadership will come the truth of these words, in spite of an egotism you may have, or of any fancied power of excellence.

Those who cannot accept orders from their superiors with becoming grace, will at every turn in their pathway pig-headedly dispute the right of authority, who openly show disrespect of law and order, the things which govern everything from atom to sphere, can never hope successfully to assume responsibility or rise from the common level.

If you will look into the causes of failure and discouragement, you will find that ignorance, false pride, obstinacy and selfishness were the fatal stumbling blocks.

These are the things which ambitious men and women must do their utmost to avoid, otherwise their progress will be retarded and they will be forever barred from a seat among the world's leaders, who assume responsibilities seriously, conscious of their own frailties, but confident of their ability to hold steadfastly to the true course in all kinds of weather.

Has Anyone Laughed At You Because

By ETHEL R. PEYSER

You hate housekeeping? Does anyone laugh at your men friends because they like to do different things? You probably do your job better than you possibly could do housekeeping. It takes aptitude and knowledge for housekeeping, and you are wise to let some one do it for you, who does it well. Every one can't be perfect at house economy any more than everyone can be good bank-ers. You are wise to know your limitations and cling to the work you can do. Your home is better well run, than sloppily managed.

SO Your get-away here is: People don't laugh at men because all of them don't like about-clerking.

British Honduras

Typical Honduranian Family.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

British Honduras, often known as "Belize," from the name of its capital city, is one of the least known and one of the most neglected patches of the British empire. With its vastly more important sister country, Canada, it shares the distinction of being the only British territory on the continent of North America.

British Honduras is a part of Central America, and its real bid to fame has been that it was 100 per cent revolutionary. Though in many ways it is neglected, British law and order hover over it; and it has been, to a certain extent, like the Dutch West Indian colony of Curacao, an asylum for political leaders of neighboring lands who were more revolutionary than successful.

The country's 45,000 inhabitants include probably less than 1,000 whites. The remainder of the population is made up of negroes and mulattos and Spanish Indians, the latter living chiefly in the back country. But in the capital, Belize, throughout the whole coast country, and wherever governmental machinery has been set up, the atmosphere, whether it be made up of business, government, or sport, is unmistakably British.

Few concessions have been made to the climate, which may be described as tropical, tempered by rather steady sea breezes. The two and three-story houses that line the main residence street of Belize are of accepted British architecture. Coal-black policemen are clothed much like the London "Bobby," and bewigged and begowned judges sit in the courts. In the open spaces cricket matches will often be found in progress, and boxing bouts are preferred by the broad-pronounced negroes to the cock-fights and bull-fights of their Latinized neighbors.

Geographic names tell of the sudden transition from the lands of Spanish culture to this little patch of the Spanish Main that has been Anglicized. One leaves Puerto Cortez, Honduras, or Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, to sail a few miles farther on past the Coxcomb mountains, All Pines, and Stann creek. Inland are Middlesex and Orange Walk. Belize is one of the few exceptions, and even that is said to be a corruption of the surname of an early Scotch settler, Wallis. Direct English nomenclature reaches its apex in Belize where the ferry is called "the haul-over."

British Honduras, a trifle larger than Massachusetts or New Jersey, is wedged in between the Mexican states of the Yucatan peninsula on the north and Guatemala on the west and south, while Honduras, Nicaragua, Salvador and Costa Rica are near by. It is due west of Jamaica, some 600 miles across the Caribbean, and has always been, to a certain extent, under the wing of that British island.

Mahogany Industry Important

The mahogany industry is justly commemorated on the flag of British Honduras by the representation there of the tools of the trade. Mahogany lured early settlers to the coast; put money in their purses; furnished something for them and their backer, Great Britain, to fight the Spaniards about; and has always been chiefly responsible for the land's main industry, lumbering.

The people of the colony even tell solemnly how the lowest portions of the city of Belize, once a seemingly bottomless swamp, have been filled in and made usable by the millions of mahogany chips hacked there from logs which must be roughly squared before they are ready for market. Assisting the chips in the work of stabilization—they tell with equal solemnity—were the thousands of empty rum bottles thrown aside by the axemen.

At first the timber industry was a very casual affair. Ships anchored off the coast, the crew cut the trees near the beach, loaded them and sailed away. Later the timber along the river was cut and floated down to the coast. Most of the easily accessible timber has been cut now and transportation is more of a problem. Some tremendous logs are handled weighing 20 to 30 tons each. A unique scene is the "snaking out" of these logs from the forests by ox-teams in the cool of the night by the light of torches. After the logs reach the coast they are squared and lashed together into huge rafts. There is a great coral barrier reef about ten miles off the coast of British Honduras outside which the largest ships must anchor. The great rafts are towed out to the ships by steel cables and winches. They are then broken up and the separate timbers hoisted aboard by cranes.

Spain Tried to Take It.

British Honduras came under the British flag largely through the well-known "squatters' rights," grown to international stature. Spain claimed the entire "Main," or mainland, from the time of the earliest explorers. But she was interested chiefly in gold and silver; mere trees seemed beneath notice. So British and other adventurers who cut timber on the eastern coast of Yucatan, the present British Honduras, and the Mosquito country, farther south, were not molested at first.

When the settlers were seen to be making a good thing of their mahogany trade, the Spanish changed their policy and began harassing them. A series of wars and treaties between Spain and Great Britain followed. In 1798 the Spanish made a supreme effort to drive what they considered the "squatters" out of Belize. But the settlers, with cannon mounted on rafts and flat-boats, had the best of the strategic situation and won a signal victory. From that time the British claim to the territory rested on conquest as well as settlement. In 1862 the "settlement" was declared a "colony" and was given a lieutenant governor acting under the governor of Jamaica. In 1884 it was made a separate crown colony.

Belize, like the other countries along the east side of Central America, has a low-lying region along the coast with highlands farther inland. Its dense tropical forests have discouraged agriculture. Growth is so rapid that it is a task of the utmost difficulty to keep trails open. Most travel is along rivers, and little is known of the interior away from the streams. There are rumors, however, of the existence near the western boundary of extensive Maya ruins like those of Yucatan and Guatemala. The one important exception in the matter of inland development is the southern region tapped by the only railroad, along which thousands of acres of banana plantations have been established to supply a part of the market in the United States.

There is much tropical scenic beauty in Belize. Its coast region is a maze of intensely blue lagoons and channels of calm water—a paradise for the yachtsman and pleasure-boatman. Everywhere are gem-like coral islands covered with coconut trees which in many cases grow to their very edges and hang mirrored in the surrounding waters.

Down the rivers of British Honduras millions of dollars' worth of mahogany and log-wood have been floated during the life of the colony. In late years tens of thousands of bales of chiclé, the raw material of chewing-gum, have joined the stream, to be shipped north to keep busy the restless jaws of America.

For this outflow to America there is an inflow not wholly confined to money and goods. Some British leaders complain that the colony is becoming "Americanized." Newspapers and magazines from the United States far outnumber those from England. American agents gain much business in competition with the more leisurely methods of the British; and a number of representatives of the younger generation, going to America for their higher education, tend on their return to look to America for their intellectual leadership. The official money unit of the colony is the American gold dollar.

THE COUNTY WEEKLY

By Phebe K. Warner

Piled up around me at this moment is a stack of County Weekly newspapers. I have been wading through them for hours and studying them diligently trying to find something in them to find fault of. You hear so many folks criticizing their home paper that one is often led to doubt if there can be anything good in the home paper. So we decided to make a real study of the county weekly publication and find out what ails it if anything.

These papers range in size from eight to twenty pages of six columns each. They range in price all the way from $1.50 to $2.00 per year. Let's see. 52 copies at $1.50 a year is 2 23-26 cents each and 52 copies at $2.00 a year is 3 22-26 cents a copy. At this price is there anybody in your county who does not take his home paper? Surely the price is not in the way. It is worth that for wrapping paper and to use on the pantry shelves if you never read a word in it.

Picking up the first one in the pile we are giving a summary of the items of interest on the first page: At the top of the first column the first thing is a good write up of the Methodist revival. And we happen to know that the editor of this particular paper is a real all over Baptist. But he is not running the revival. He is running the county paper. The next item is a wedding. The next an item of interest to the medical profession. And then they follow like this: Somebody has company from another town, big community meeting in the country with lots of music, preaching and eating. Next a base ball game followed by a big business exchange. More visitors and more base ball. Interscholastic district meet, giving all the home winners as well as those who defeated them. Pie supper to light the school house in the country. $1,500,000 ranch sale. Old-time family gets tired of their new home and move back to the old home town. Business house in town being enlarged. Oil news next. Accident and a broken arm for somebody. Home boy leaves to take charge of big business somewhere. Old resident improving after long illness. But pshaw, that is just half the items on the first page of this weekly.

Turning on through that county weekly we found it chock full of good things about the home town, the home county and the home people. There was not one word of gossip or scandal or slander from kiver to kiver. And we have gone through the whole pile and we find the same loyalty to the home town, the home county and all the people. And we wonder if the home paper should talk about folks like some folks talk about it what would some folks do?

We know of no other person or institution that goes on boosting its knockers like the home editor and the home paper. It is one of the cleanest sheets printed. Pick up your daily paper and no matter how conservative the publishers try to be as a rule the front pages are filled with unhappy and the unclean things of life. Why anybody puts such things on the front page of anything we can not understand. It seems they are afraid everybody may not see the bad unless it is on the front page. Oh, of course, they do not put all the bad on the front page. There is not room for it there. But the county weekly does not have room for it anywhere. True, the big dailies cover the nation and the world. Too bad they do. There is a lot of stuff that would have a better influence if it was put where the editor acted like he was ashamed to publish it.

Then there is all the school news and church news and farm news and business news and the home news in general. Suppose your child plays his part well in the school play, the city paper has no room to let the world know how well your child did. But the home paper gives him room and gives him a boost that nothing else could give. And then how many of us would be remembered when we are dead and gone? The big city paper might say we were born and died a certain day if somebody was paid to send the item in. Not so with the home paper. It will give you the best write up you ever had and run in a whole page of nice things about you whether they are so or not, realizing this is their last chance to do you a favor.

From an educational viewpoint the county weekly newspaper is the greatest text-book in America. It is great because it tells the most truth about the most people. It comes the nearest covering the news of the nation. And it has the fewest duplications in it. You might take a dozen of our great daily publications but most of the news in them would be the same. Same storms, same accidents, same murders, same divorcees, same features to a large degree. The county weekly culls the cream of such news and gives all the rest of its space to the people and their special interests.

Have you ever noticed the difference in the spiritual effect of the great daily paper and the home county weekly paper in your own life and that of your family? Where do most of us get the idea that the world is going to the bow-wows and everything is growing worse everyday? You get it from the big head lines of the big city papers. And it does look like it sometimes, when the crime of the whole world is crowded into a few pages of a single paper. Then is the time to pick up your own home paper and note the crime in its columns. Your county paper is by far a more normal reflection of the crime conditions than the big city papers. The world is more like your home county than it is like the picture you see in the front pages of the city paper. You see crime collected and condensed in the big papers. You see it as it really is in the home paper. And you have a far better understanding as to its cause there and can pass a more rational and just verdict.

One of the best and most far reaching educational moves at this time would be a campaign to put the home paper in every home in this nation. It is the only transportation of thought that is within the reach of all the people. What would it mean in our nation in a few years if the information contained in the county weekly could reach every home in the county every week? Think how it would inspire the county weekly itself to be the best possible piece of literature on the market.

DENTON WINS BATTLE IN FOUR ROUNDS

Clever Joe Denton of Tahoka, shaded Bill Bentley, of McLean in their four round fuss at the Amarillo Gym last night. Despite the downpour a good crowd turned out for the fight and were well entertained with some hard pushing of the mits on almost even terms. Denton had a hard go of it to outpoint the tall boy with the long arms from McLean. However, he seemed to have something in reserve and some that he was merely giving the McLean lad a good boxing lesson.—The Amarillo Daily News.

The Tahoka Terror has a sniff the wind from which is stronger than the punch most fellows in the fight game have in their system.

Joe is not tough, but he is fast enough to beat, "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight," on his opponents stomach and "Turkey in the Straw," on his face. He is a cross between a machine gun attack and a tiger with an elephant's bray. His beauty lies in the distance he is away from the light. His kick is a combination of a trip hammer and a falling planet. Bring on the Red Cross Service he fights a heavy-weight Tuesday night at the Legion meeting.

Joe worked out Wildcat Monte and the Wildcat has been a Maltese kitten ever since. He had his picture made and you couldn't see his face for the ridges of muscles on his shoulder. Joe shuts one eye when he fights around here. He doesn't need the other.—Amarillo Daily News.

41-4te WILSON 13; TAHOKA 12

The husky base ball team from Wilson crossed bats with the locals at the park in South Tahoka Sunday afternoon. It took 13 innings to decide the contest, Wilson winning the game 13 to 12. It was an interesting game throughout, according to the verdict of several hundred fans in attendance. The game tied in the ninth and again in the twelfth inning. Tahoka made a hard fight for the honors but were unfortunate when hits meant runs. Wilson is fortunate this season in having a fast ball club.

SCURRY COUNTY GETS FIRST OIL WELL

Snyder, June 7.—The Loutex Corporation's No. 1 Moore drilled into 40 feet of pay sand today, making a dark colored oil of extremely high gasoline content, at 1,775 feet. Production has been variously estimated at from 50 to 200 barrels daily. Officials of the company are preparing to give a careful test tomorrow.

This is the first commercial oil production in Scurry County and is north of the Colorado River on what is known as the Ira structure, about 14 miles southwest of Snyder. This production is being found on a horizon about 700 feet above the Westbrook field.

MADE ATTACK ON ST. JOHN

During Raid of Massachusetts Men Had Consequences That Were Felt for Many Years.

Stephen Smith of Machias, Maine, a delegate to the Massachusetts congress, made a raid on St. John, N. B., in August, 1778. He burned the barracks and destroyed the fort, which was protected by only four men, and captured a brig, of 120 tons, laden with oxen, sheep and swine, which were intended for the British troops at Boston.

This sudden raid had the effect of putting the British authorities on the alert, and vessels of war were sent to cruise in the Bay of Fundy to protect the settlements along its shores.

The people of Machias, emboldened by the success which attended their first raid, attempted to seize and hold the fort at St. John, but were driven away by a force sent from Halifax.

In consequence of this second raid on St. John, a block house and stockades were erected on a hill overlooking the harbor, and dignified by the name of Fort Howe. Two years after this event about 800 Indians assembled at the mouth of the Jemseg for the purpose of destroying the settlement of Mauderville, but the people escaped across the river to Oromocto, where a fort had been erected.

This was the last threat of Indian war, and in the following year, 1780, numbers of Indians assembled at Fort Howe and swore allegiance to King George.

TOM ROSS AND MILT GOOD MURDER CASE WILL BE TRIED ON 18th

The June term of District Court for Lubbock county convenes in Lubbock, Monday, June 11, with Judge Clark M. Mullican, presiding.

Approximately 150 civil cases are on the civil docket to come up during the June term, in addition to 80 cases on the criminal docket.

The outstanding cases to be tried during this term are the Milt Good and Tom Ross cases, charged separately with the murder of Dave Allison and Horace Robertson, on the night of April 1st at Seminole and transferred to Lubbock county on the Court's own motion for trial. These cases are set for trial on June 18th.

Ed. George, charged with the killing of Went Vaughn in Lubbock on February 17th, will in all probability be tried following the trial of Ross and Good.

The 72nd Judicial District of which Lubbock is a part, is the largest Judicial District in West Texas, comprising ten of the fastest growing counties in the State of Texas, and the major cases are always transferred to Lubbock county, as it is much easier to secure a jury owing to the fact the population is greater.

The position occupied by the District Judge is not an easy one, to say the least, only two weeks during the 12 months of the year are unused in the District, and when the County of Cochran is finally organized, the entire twelve months will be consumed, a condition that should be remedied at an early date.

To date the State and defense's witnesses, number 250, divided equally between them. The largest crowd of cattlemen and ranchers ever assembled in West Texas will be present in Lubbock on June 18. Weeks ago, hotel accommodations were being wired in, several cow outfits from the Midland and other sections are coming strong, and even intend to bring the old chuck wagon and camp during the trial.

Early Days of the United States.

Virtuous early geographers of the United States did not confine their unflattering portrayals to lands across the sea. Benjamin Davies, in 1813, had this to say about his own country in "Manners and Customs in the United States."

Travelers have observed a want of urbanity, particularly in Philadelphia; and in all the capital cities an eager pursuit of wealth, by adventurous speculations in commerce, by land-jobbing, banks, insurance offices and lotteries. The multiplication of inns, taverns and dram shops is an obvious national evil that calls loudly for legislative interference; for in no country are they more numerous or more universally baneful. Schools are spread everywhere through the well-settled parts of the country, yet the domestic regulation of children and youth is not duly regarded.
