BAPTIST REVIVAL IN PROGRESS THIS WEEK

The revival meeting at the Baptist church, which began last Monday morning with the eleven o'clock service, is growing in interest with each service. Rev. J. M. Doshier, the pastor, has been doing some wonderful preaching, and while not many have accepted salvation, the effect of his preaching has had a powerful effect upon those who have heard him at each service. It is probable that a number will be saved from the ranks of the whole church and from other denominations. The church will be revived and pledge anew allegiance to the King. The least attractive feature of the meeting has been the wonderful music that has resulted from the leadership of S. B. Hett, assisted by Mrs. Frank Ver, pianist, and Miss Lena King and Buddie Knight, vocalists. Mr. Hatchett is a fine meeting singer and choir leader, and those of the sweet voices of the city have lent to the service an interest and enthusiasm. Persons attending pronounce the sermons delivered by the pastor the most spiritual they ever heard. The meetings are given to understand will continue throughout next week. We feel that the meeting will be another epoch in the annals of Tahoka's religious history.

PACKER EMPLOYEES ORDERED TO STRIKE

WALKOUT IS ANNOUNCED FOR THIS WEEK BY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

45,000 WILL BE AFFECTED

Fort Worth Is Included Among Cities Where Workers Are Organized and Will Go Out.

Chicago, Ill.—A strike of all union packing house employees in all plants where wage reductions were put into effect last Monday was ordered for this week by the executive committee of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America. The strike, which affects all union crafts employed in the packing industry, will involve about 45,000 workers in fifteen cities, according to Cornelius Hayes, president of the Butcher Workmen's Union.

Dennie Lane, secretary of the Butcher Workmen's Union issued the following statement on the action of the executive committee: "All attempts to negotiate a fair adjustment of wage rates by offering an agreement providing for arbitration between the packers and the employees have failed. The joint executive committee representing all international unions affected do now advise, in accordance with the strike vote of the rank and file that all packing house employees in all plants where wage reductions were arbitrarily ordered into effect Monday, Nov. 28, or any date thereafter, cease work at 6 o'clock Monday morning, Dec. 5."

Cities where the packing house employees are organized are Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Sioux City, Omaha, Denver, Nebraska City, St. Joseph, Mo., Kansas City, Wichita, Oklahoma City, Fort Worth, East St. Louis, St. Louis, Albert Lea, Austin, Minn., Cedar Rapids and Dubuque, Iowa.

VIENNA IS LOOTED AND DAMAGED BY LAWLESS

Hostelries Where Foreigners Make Homes Assaulted as Police Stand and Watch.

Vienna.—In the wide-spread rioting which took place in Vienna Thursday many Americans staying at the hotels were attacked and some of them were subjected to rough treatment.

Mrs. Hand, the wife of a Colonel of the United States Army, and her daughter were robbed of furs and clothing, but on the same floor Colonel and Mrs. Miller, U. S. A., displayed the American flag and spoke English and the rioters withdrew from their room.

Of the hotels the New Bristol and the Old Bristol suffered most. They were partially wrecked and were looted to the second floor.

Inquiries at the hotels disclosed that many guests were robbed of clothing and jewels and in some instances the jewels being torn from the ears.

Seemingly the most roudy element swept through the inner city. They were joined by the worst criminal classes, committing all kinds of excesses.

$50,000,000 IS CUT FROM RAIL PAYROLLS

Chicago, Ill.—Fifty million dollars is trimmed from railroad payrolls by the decision of the United States Railroad Labor Board, announcing the new working rules for six shop craft federations.

While the decision is in the main a pronounced victory for the carriers, as it greatly modifies the majority of the working rules granted the shop crafts under Federal control, not all of the requests of the carriers are granted and some of the older rules sanctioned by long experience are retained practically unchanged. The new rules go into effect immediately.

This decision is regarded by the Railroad Board as the most significant work it has done to date. These rules, and others about to be announced, had to be formulated before wage considerations could be taken up.

Hellum-Borne Shio Flight Successful.

Norfolk, Va.—The first official test of helium gas in large airships was successfully completed Thursday when the naval dirigible C-7 returned to her station here after two long flights. THEATRE COLLAPSES; SEVERAL ARE KILLED

ROOF AND ONE WALL OF BIG STRUCTURE IN BROOKLYN FALL IN.

New York.—Collapse Tuesday of the steel-girded roof and one brick wall of a theater under construction in Brooklyn killed at least seven workmen and injured more than a score.

Firemen and police, working among the ruins with axes, crowbars and gas torches, may find more bodies that will bring the list to fifteen or twenty, according to one of the owners.

Inside the building when the crash came were between fifty and sixty mechanics and laborers, putting the interior finishing work in place. Working on scaffolding swung from the roof girders and braced against the side walls of what was to be the auditorium, they had no chance to escape, eyewitnesses who escaped said.

The owners, Samuel Moskowitz and Sylvester Rosenthal, said the building was being constructed by them through subcontractors. The owners, as well as the six subcontractors, were summoned before District Attorney Lewis of Brooklyn for questioning. The owners declared the work had frequently been approved by building inspectors.

Ignoring the danger of further collapse, city employees pressed their search of the debris on a report reaching Fire Chief Martin that seven workmen still were deeply buried.

GERMANY MAY GET INTO CONFERENCE

Washington.—Between now and the time the arms conference recesses or adjourns for the holidays four things are expected to happen which may have even a more far-reaching effect upon world stabilization than any agreements for limiting naval armaments.

First, Premier Lloyd George of England will probably come to Washington. Second, M. Viviani, now head of the French delegation, will return to France Dec. 14, sufficiently in advance of the conference close to report in person and get the reaction of French leaders to pending proposals particularly affecting France.

Third, Premier Briand of France hopes to return to Washington so as to be here at the same time as Lloyd George. Fourth, Germany, either indirectly or directly, through a representative, appears likely to be drawn into the conference.

T. & P. Asks Wage Reduction Talks. Dallas.—Desire of officials of the Texas & Pacific Railroad to confer with subordinate employees of the company with regard to the proposed wage reduction was expressed in a bulletin issued from the office of J. L. Lancaster, receiver, Tuesday morning. With such a reduction of employees' wages in effect, according to the bulletin, attention of the railroad may then be turned toward a reduction in transportation rates.

HERO OF THE "LOST BATTALION" MISSING

New York.—Lieut. Col. Charles W. Whittlesey, 36 and unmarried, leader of the famous "lost battalion" of the Seventy-Seventh Division and one of the outstanding commanders of the American Army during the world war, is reported to have disappeared from the United Fruit Liner Toloa, bound from New York to Havana.

A radiogram from Captain Grant of the Toloa said Whittlesey vanished mysteriously Sunday afternoon. He boarded the steamer on Saturday, it was said, after telling friends he was going to attend the Army-Navy football game.

According to the radio message, Whittlesey left several letters addressed to friends in his stateroom, his executor, John B. Prunty with whom he was at one time associated in the law business, said the Colonel had suffered from fits of melancholia since his harrowing experiences in the Argonne drive, and that he had been particularly depressed since attending the burial of the "unknown soldier" at Arlington Cemetery on Armistice Day.

CHINA'S CLAIMS ARE FURTHER ADVANCED

TROOPS REMOVAL SOUGHT—JURISTS, HEADED BY LODGE, TO MAKE REPORT ON LAWS.

Washington.—China won other concessions Tuesday in the conference of the nine powers on questions affecting the Pacific and the Far East.

In conformity with the Root resolutions declaring the territorial and administrative integrity of China, the Pacific and Far Eastern committee adopted resolutions looking to the abandonment of foreign courts in China.

The resolution drafted by the subcommittee, headed by Senator Lodge, provide for an international commission of jurists which is to report within a year whether the Chinese laws and court practices warrant abandonment of the foreign courts created under treaties granting extraterritorial rights in China.

Immediately after these resolutions were adopted the Chinese delegates pressed another of their "ten points" that declaring withdrawal of all foreign troops from Chinese soil and also for abandonment of foreign telegraph, radio and police wire systems.

Dr. Sze, Chinese Minister here and delegate to the conference, presented detailed information regarding the number of troops and extent of foreign wire systems in which the Japanese predominate, and there was wide discussion of the questions by all delegates behind closed doors.

Washington.—Taking its first direction toward the liberation of China from foreign influences, the arms conference has agreed on the withdrawal of foreign post offices and postal stations from Chinese soil.

The decision was conditioned only on the maintenance by China of postal facilities of her own, including retention of the present domestic organization, by which a French co-director general acts as adviser to the Chinese postal authorities. Jan. 1, 1923, virtually was agreed upon as the date of withdrawal, the Japanese alone withholding final approval on that point pending consultation with Tokio.

Constituting the first concrete application of the principle of Chinese administrative integrity as delineated in the "four points" of Elihu Root, the postal agreement is expected to be followed by another providing for gradual abolition of the system of extra territorial rights under which a dozen foreign governments have set up their own courts in China and by a discussion of China's request that foreign troops quartered within her borders without treaty sanction be withdrawn.

The question of troop withdrawal may lead the delegates into some of the most troublesome questions of the Far East. Some of the forces which the Chinese declare are in China without authority are Japanese quartered along the line of the Shantung Railway and others are within the debated territory of South Manchuria.

Thus the negotiations promise to touch upon the Shantung and Manchurian controversies for the first time, although it is considered likely that the real issues of these two problems will be put over for discussion when the conference takes up, in the very near future, the specific subject of railway leases.

The Chinese also will ask for consideration of the status of certain foreign telegraph and wireless systems which they declare exist in China without her consent.

ne held out his hand. I laid mine in it—we stood hand in hand, comrades at last. Without more words he turned away and strode over to the council of three.

The group dissolved and moved rapidly toward us. Miss Browne, exultant, beaming, was in the van. She set her substantial feet down like a charger pawing the earth. You might almost have said that Violet pranced. Aunt Jane was round-eyed and twittering. Mr. Tubbs wore a look of suppressed astonishment, almost of perturbation. "What's his game?" was the question in the sophisticated eye of Mr. Tubbs. But the Scotchman had, when he chose, a perfect poker face. The great game of bluff would have suited him to a nicety.

Miss Browne advanced on Cuthbert Vane and seized both his hands in an ardent clasp.

"Mr. Vane," she said with solemnity, "I thank you—in the name of this expedition I thank you—for the influence you have exerted upon your friends."

And this seemed to be the noble youth the most stunning of all the shocks of that eventful morning.

Now came the matter of drawing up the new agreement. It was a canny Scot indeed, who, acting on the hint I had just given him, finally settled its terms. In the first place, the previous agreement was declared null and void.

In the second, Mr. Tubbs was to have his fourth only if the treasure were discovered through his direct agency. And it was under this condition and no other that Dugald Shaw bound himself to relinquish his original claim. Virginia Harding signed a new renunciatory clause, but it bore only on treasure discovered by Mr. Tubbs.

Indeed, the entire contract was of force only if Mr. Tubbs fulfilled his part of it, and fell to pieces if he did not. Which was exactly what I wanted.

No difficulty was made of the absence of Captain Magnus, as his interests were unaffected by the change. Space was left for his signature. Mine came last of all, as that of a mere interloper and hanger-on.

My demonstrations of joy at this happy issue of my hopes had to be confined to a smile—in which for a startled instant Violet had seemed to sense the triumph. It was still on my lips as with a general movement we rose from the table about which we had been grouped during the absorbing business of drawing up the contract. Cookie had been clamoring for us to leave, that he might spread the table for lunch. I had opened my mouth to call him, "All right, Cookie!" when a shrill volley of barks from Cruso shattered the stillness of the drowsy air. In the same instant the voice of Cookie, raised to a sharp note of alarm, rang through the camp:

"My Gawd, what all dis yere mean?"

I turned, to look into the muzzle of a rifle.

CHAPTER XV.

Like a Chapter From the Past.

Five men had emerged from the woods behind the clearing, so quietly that they were in the center of the camp before Cruso's shrill bark, or the outcry of the cook, warned us of their presence. By that time they had us covered. Three of them carried rifles, the other two revolvers. One of these was Captain Magnus.

Advancing a step or two before the others, he ordered us to throw up our hands. Perhaps he meant only the men—but my hands and Aunt Jane's and Miss Higglesby-Browne's also went up with celerity. He grinned into our astounded faces with a wolfish baring of his yellow teeth.

"Never guessed I wasn't here! Just to do the shovel work, but might have my own little side-show to bring off, hey?" he inquired of no one in particular. "Here, Slinker, help me truss 'em up."

The man addressed thrust his pistol in his belt and came forward, and with his help the hands of the Scotchman, Cuthbert Vane and Mr. Tubbs were securely tied. They were searched for arms, and the sheath-knives which Mr. Shaw and Cuthbert carried at their belts were taken away. The three prisoners were then ordered to seat themselves in a row on the trunk of a prostrate palm.

The whole thing had happened in the strangest silence. Except for a feeble moaning from Aunt Jane, like the bleating of a sheep, which broke forth at intervals, nobody spoke or made a sound. The three riflemen in the background, standing like images with their weapons raised, looked like a well-trained chorus in an opera.

And indeed it was all extraordinarily like something on a stage. Slinker, for instance, he had a prowling, sidelong fashion of moving about, and enormous yellow mustaches like a Viking. And the burly fellow in the background, with the black whiskers—too bad he'd forgotten his earrings.

But I awoke to the horrid reality of it all as Captain Magnus, smiling his wolfish smile, turned and approached me.

"Well, boys," he remarked to his followers, who had lowered their weapons and were standing about at ease, "here's the little pippin I was tellin' of. 'Fraid we give her a little scare bustin' in so sudden, so she ain't quite so bright and smilin' as I like to see. It's all right, girly; you'll soon cheer up when you find out you're goin' to be the little queen o' this camp. Things will be all your own way now—so long as you treat me right." And the abominable creature thrust forth a hairy paw and deliberately chucked me under the chin.

I heard a roar from the log—and coincidentally from Captain Magnus. For with the instant response of an automaton—consciously I had nothing at all to do with it—I had reached up and briskly boxed the captain's ears.

Furiously he caught my wrist. "Ah, you red-headed little devil, you'll pay for this! I ain't pretty, oh, no! I ain't a handsome noonaif like the Honorable; I ain't got a title, nor girly pink cheeks, nor fine gentlemanly ways. No walks with the likes o' me, no tatey-tates in the woods—oh, no! Well, it's goin' to be another story now, girly. I guess you can learn to like my looks, with a little help from my fist now and then, just as well as you done the Honorable's. I guess it won't be long before I have you crawlin' on your knees to me for a word o' kindness. I guess—"

"Aw, stow that soft stuff, Magnus," advised Slinker. "You can do your spoonin' with the gal later on. We're here to git that gold, and don't you forget it. Plenty of time afterward to spark the wimmen."

"That's the talk," chimed in Blackbeard. "Don't run us on a lee shore for the sake of a skirt. Skirts is thicker'n herring in every port, ain't they?"

"I got a score to settle with this one," growled Magnus sullenly, but his grasp loosened on my arm, and I slipped from him and fled to Aunt Jane—yes, to Aunt Jane—and clung to her convulsively. Miss Higglesby-Browne seemed to have perturbed. Her skin had a withered look, and a fine network of lines showed on it, suddenly clear, like a tracery on parchment. Beyond her I saw the face of Dugald Shaw, gray with a steely wrath. A gun had been trained anew on him and Cuthbert, and the bearer thereof was arguing with them profanely. I suppose the prisoners had threatened outbreak at the spectacle of the chin-chucking.

No one had bothered to secure Cookie, and he knelt among the pots and pans of his open-air kitchen, pouring forth petitions in a steady stream, burst into a loud guffaw.

"Ha, ha! Look at old Soot-and-Cinders gittin' hisself ready for glory!" He approached the negro and aimed at him a kick which Cookie, arising with unexpected nimbleness, contrived to dodge. "Looky here, darky, git busy dishin' up the grub, will you? I could stand one good feed after the forecastle slops we been livin' on."

Blackbeard, whom his companions addressed indiscriminately as "Captain," or "Tony," seemed to exercise a certain authority. He went over to the prisoners on the log and inspected their bonds.

"You'll do; can't git loose nohow," he announced. Then, with a savage frown, "But no monkey business. First o' that I see, it's a dose o' cold lead for youse, savvy?"

He turned to us women.

"Well, chickabiddies, we ain't treated you harsh, I hope? Now I don't care about tyn' youse up, in case we can help it, so just be good girls, and I'll let youse run around loose for a while."

But Magnus struck in with an oath. "Loose? You're turbin' soft, I say. The future Mrs. M. there—which I mean to make her if she behaves right—she's a handful, she is. There ain't no low trick she won't play on us if she gets the chance. Better treat her up, I say."

"Magnus," responded Tony with severity, "it'd make a person think to hear you talk that you wasn't no gentleman. If you can't keep little Red-top in order without you tie her, why, then hand her over to a guy what can I bet I wouldn't have a speck o' trouble with her—her and me would git along as sweet as two turtle-doves."

"You dry up, Tony," said Magnus, lowering. "I'll look after my own affairs of the heart. Anyway, here's them two old hens what have been makin' me sick with their jabber and nonsense all these weeks. Ain't I goin' to have a chance to get square?"

"Here, youse!" struck in Slinker "quit your jawin'! Here's a feed we ain't seen the like of in weeks."

Energy Needs in Calories.

According to the United States Department of Agriculture, a family consisting of a father, mother and three children requires approximately 12,000 calories a day. The diet is best balanced by considering 120 units of 100 calories each. On this basis, fruits and vegetables should supply 24 units; milk, eggs and meat, 36; cereals and legumes, 30; sugar and starchy foods, 12, and fats and fatty foods, 18.

FUR TRIMMED WRAPS; FOR EVENING WEAR

THE style compass points to voluminous cloth wraps, luxuriously trimmed in fur. In these interesting semi-fur wraps, fashion pilots along a course which is mapped through a maze of thrilling ideas. There is, for instance, the latest fur collar. Fashion prefers that it shall be of fur on both sides, and it often is of tremendous size. It either rolls or stands high, as it shelters the throat in its furry depth. Then there is the new broad fur cuff. At times, it forms almost half the sleeve.

These wraps are of wondrous cloth, and with their accompaniment of fur, all but take precedence over the wrap entirely of fur. One of the elegant

Not only the party frocks of youth, but the stately evening gowns of matrons as well, are flower bedecked. Artificial flower makers are giving much attention to the designing of flower pieces for dress adornment.

Art emulates nature, not only in flowers but in fruits as well. A prevailing fashion is that of wearing festoons of golden grapes in connection with the girdle. An effect of great color beauty is attained with gold grape clusters on quaint gowns of the new Paisley brocade silks, some of which are interwoven with metal threads.

new weaves, with that deep soft pile, which is the great charm of this season's materials, is called panverlaine. It looks almost like velvet but is strictly all wool.

The picturesque envalier cape, which is really more for effect, although it does in a measure add to the warmth, is inspired by the romantic styles, "when knighthood was in flower." These extra little capes fall to the back, just as you see in the embroidered and fur trimmed wrap above.

The cape part is bordered with Hudson seal to match the large collar, as shown in the illustration.

The fur shoulder cape idea is cleverly introduced into the dolman—like flowers are relied upon to give the necessary "touch of color." Very effective flower trimmings may be hand-made of bits of silk and chiffon to blend with the lighter silk gown. While the trailing girdle effects lead in interest and popularity, other ideas are also noted. For instance, a changeable silk gown (rose to gray) has semi-wreaths of hand-made roses festooned about the skirt, forming an applied trimming to the dress.

Fancy headress is noted at all evening functions. These range from the simplest circlet of flowers to imposing coronet jewel effects. The narrow band idea, often of silver or gold laurel leaves, is a preferred style. Here the wrap shown to right above. This is an idea very often noted in the newer modes. Mole-skin with taupe cloth forms this handsome semi-fur wrap.

Very new indeed is the reversible wrap, one side being of cloth or velvet and the other fur. Black velours circular capes, full length, are lined with squirrel.

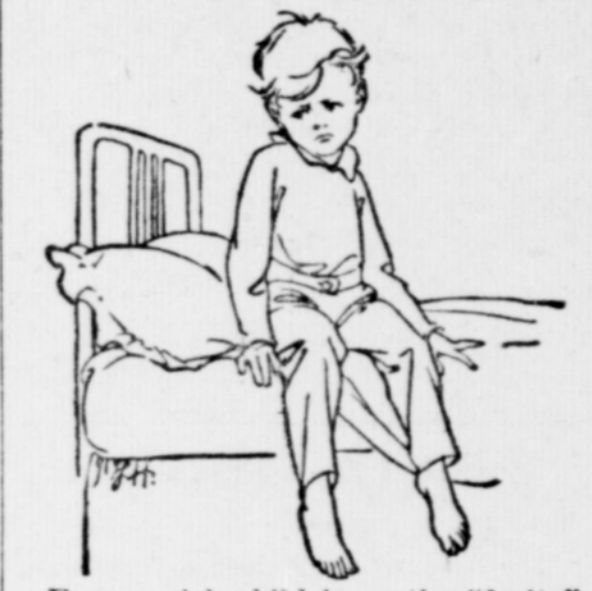

Caracul in the new cafe au lait (coffee color) makes a handsome lining for a beige marvella cape.

The way of society maids and matrons this season is literally "a path of roses," for fashion decrees that evening gowns be garnished with flowers, matched with dainty flower bandeaux for the hair. The very poetry of dress is expressed in the lovely evening frocks which have at their waist trailing clusters of exquisite flowers, stems and buds.

Blankets. The reason blankets shrink after washing is that they are dried too near the fire. Always hang blankets in a cool, shady place, but not in the sun.

Lynn County
Farmer is Successful Cotton Grower

M. F. Ballew, of Lynn County, a brother of Will E. Ballew, of Lubbock, was here Saturday, talking agricultural problems with our farmers. Mr. Ballew has made a success cotton raising on the plains, having been in Lynn county for the past fourteen years. He is a great believer in the plains, and is sure that as soon as our farmers join hands in developing the garde best suited for this soil they will get better prices and make the plains better known as a cotton producing section.

There is from one to five cents difference in the price received for the long staples and the ordinary kind most raised here, and Mr. Ballew in forceful language expressed himself as absolutely displeased with the situation as it exists here. "The plains of Texas are just as fine as any land anywhere, and when we produce an off staple we are only making it hard on ourselves, and robbing this county of the place it rightfully owns as a cotton producer" Mr. Ballew said in the presence of an Avlanche reporter.

The fact that the long staple is hard to gin with the ordinary equipment was sited as one difficulty to encounter in bringing it to this county by Mr. Ballew, and is sincere in the belief that as soon as the farmers are awake to the loss they are sustaining in growing the off staples, there will be a great demand for Mebane and other improved long staples and after it is once cultivated here will spread in popularity until all our farmers will demand only the genuine in selecting their seed.

Mr. Ballew is a successful farmer who has learned the business through the hard school of experience, together with close application and study of its many characteristics, and is aware of the fact that cooton being a feakish plant, will be hard to cultivate here unless some proven system is worked out. The plains offers a splendid field for men like Mr. Ballew, and we are glad to see him so interested in the development of cotton raising. His long experience will be of great help to his neighbor and we hope that he will receive their cooperation in his undertaking of bringing about a new and better system of cotton raising to the plains county.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Lubbock Baby Burned to Death Last Week

Lubbock, Nov. 25—Verlyn Embry, the four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Embry, living four miles from this city, was burned to death in their home Thursday morning. The little girl, with her older sister, about six years of age, was playing with fire in the kitchen stove when the younger child's dress caught fire. The older sister ran to the nearby cotton field to summon her parents and when they arrived the clothing was burned entirely from the baby. She died three hours later from the burns sustained.

IS YOUR HEALTH GRADUALLY SLIPPING?

Interesting Experience of a Texas Lady Who Declares That if More Women Knew About Cardui They Would Be Spared Much Sickness and Worry.

Navasota, Texas.—Mrs. W. M. Peden, of this place, relates the following interesting account of how she recovered her strength, having realized that she was actually losing her health:

"Health is the greatest thing in the world, and when you feel that gradually slipping away from you, you certainly sit up and take notice. That is what I did some time ago when I found myself in a very nervous, run-down condition of health. I was so tired and felt so lifeless I could hardly go at all.

"I was just no account for work. I would get a bucket of water and would feel so weak I would have to set it down before I felt like I could lift it to the shelf. In this condition, of course, to do even my housework was a task almost impossible to accomplish.

"I was . . . nervous and easily upset.

I couldn't rest well at night and was . . . just lifeless.

"I heard of Cardui and after reading I decided I had some female trouble that was pulling me down. I sent for Cardui and began it . . .

"In a very short while after I began the Cardui Home Treatment I saw an improvement and it wasn't long until I was all right—good appetite, splendid rest, and much stronger so that I easily did my house work.

"Later I took a bottle of Cardui as a tonic. I can recommend Cardui and gladly do so, for if more women knew, it would save a great deal of worry and sickness."

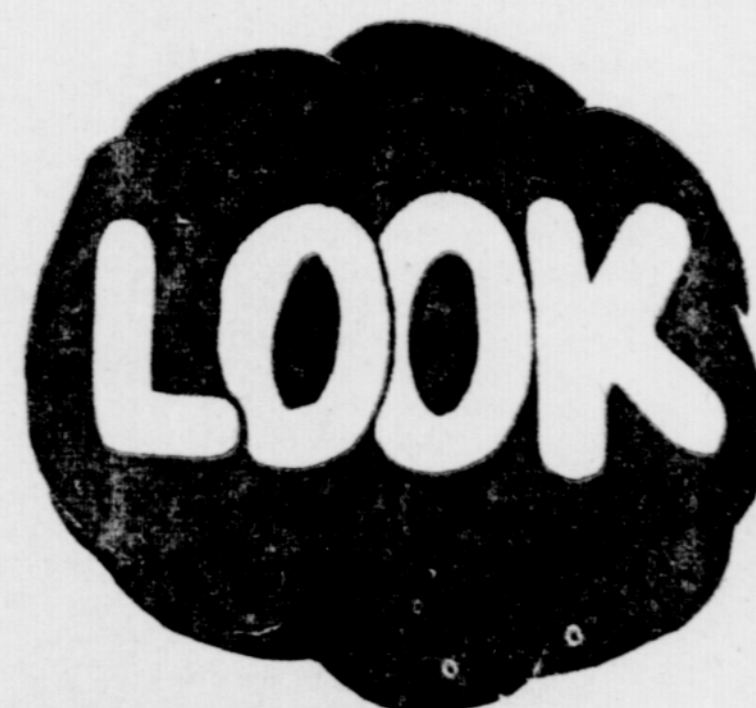

The enthusiastic praise of thousands of other women who have found Cardui helpful should convince you that it is worth trying. All druggists sell it.

"Old Nest" Coming To Star Thratre Dec. 29th.

Star Cast Appears In Hughes' Story Of Mother Love.

picture which may be truly characterized as a slice out of so genuine and simple and human are its figures, incident and ail, is the Goldwyn feature, "The Old Nest," which will be attraction at the Palace being today. Rupert Hughes wrote the story and adapted it to the screen.

It is a plea to write often or to take the folks back home to them a thought as one passes out of the lives into the busy world. The lesson is brought in a story without a plot, a series of richly human episodes which invite one to look in on a typical American family and watch the divine mother love in eternal cooing over her nest. The mother is seen in her task of bringing up six children in a small country town. It is an arduous task but one entered in with spirit and self-sacrifice. The film is filled with sentiment but Mr. Hughes has seen to it that it never become mawkish. For every tug at the heart there is a balancing note of humor, for tears and laughter are closely related. It sizes the humanities.

the other three boys scatter out in the world. The children are really lesser figures since the interest of the story revolves about mother's place in the home, her happiness and grief, her work and heartaches. Father is a little stern, a trifle inclined to reprimand the children, and she jumps to the rescue with the fury of a shewolf. She turns to the window when they have grown up, and, addressing a mother bird feeding its young, says, "Feed them now, shove the food down their throats, mother bird, they will soon fly away and leave you." The title is eloquent.

Indeed the captioning of the picture is exceptional. What is said or described is real and human. It offers mute testimony of the supreme mother love.

And here is where Mary Alden comes into recognition. It is a portrayal seemingly inspired. She does not act, she lives the part of mother. Dwight Crittenden is splendid as the father, and other members of the cast are Cullen Landis, Helene Chadwick, Richard Tucker, Louise Lovely, William B. Flynn, Johnny Jones, Lucille Rickson, and Molly Malone.

MRS. LAURA M. HOYT RECOMMENDS CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS.

"I have frequently used Chamberlain's Tablets, during the past three years, and have found them splendid for headache and bilious attacks. I am only too pleased, at any time, to speak a word in praise of them," writes Mrs. Laura M. Hoyt, Rockport, N. Y.

TAKING DESPERATE CHANCES

It is true that many contract severe colds and recover from them without taking any precaution or treatment, and a knowledge of this fact leads others to take their chances instead of giving their colds the needed attention. It should be borne in mind that every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality, makes the system less able to withstand each succeeding attack and pave the way for the more serious diseases. Can you afford to take such desperate chances when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of bad colds may be had for a trifle?

A remedy that will penetrate is necessary in the treatment of rheumatism. Ballard's Snow Liniment goes right through the flesh to the bone and relieves promptly. Three sizes, 30c, 60c, and $1.20 per bottle. Sold by Thomas Bros.

W. M. S.

The Womans Missionary Society held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. J. A. Brashear, Monday afternoon.

Devotional services led by Mrs. J. J. Atkinson. This being a business meeting no lesson was heard. The last chapter in our present study book, will be our lesson for Monday. For the coming year we have for study 1200 Bible Questions, by J. J. Hill, which promise to be very interesting and instructive. At this meeting the society obligated itself to pay $1.00 per member for this year, on the dormitory at the State University, owned by the Methodists of this State.

The residents of this Dormitory receive religious instruction.

The State University gives no religious training at all.

At this meeting, it was decided that one Monday should be designated as "Social Day" in order that the members of the society become better acquainted, accordingly, the third Monday was so designated. The first Monday is to be turned over to business matters entirely and the intervening Mondays are to be devoted to study.

The members present at this meeting being, Mesdames C. A. Thomas, F. E. Redwine, John Thomas, Robinson, Poppelwell, Atkinson, Dickson, Montgomery, Lee, Cain, Jno. Donaldson, Ballard, Jones, Brashear and Northcross.

Announcement of the next place of meeting will be made at the church next Sunday.

WHEN YOU ARE CONSTIPATED.

To insure a healthy action of the bowels and correct disorders of the liver, take two of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper. They will not only cause a gentle movement of the bowels, without unpleasant effects, but banish that dull, stupid feeling, that often accompanies constipation.

Irregularity in the bowel movements makes you feel uncomfortable and leads to a constipated habit which is bad. Herbine is the remedy you need.

It restores healthy regularity. Price, 60c. Sold by Thomas Bros.

The value of baking powder is based on its leavening strength. You can't judge it by the size of the can—or by the amount you get for your money. You must estimate it by the amount of baking powder used in each baking and the results you get.

is the greatest value ever offered in Baking Powder—it has greater raising "force"—it goes further than many of the other brands. You use only a rounded or heaping teaspoonful where many others call for two teaspoonfuls or more.

But Baking Powder is not all you'll save when using Calumet. You save baking materials. Calumet never fails. The last level teaspoonful is as powerful as the first. Calumet is perfectly manufactured—keeps perfectly—and is moderate in price.

You save when you buy it—You save when you use it. One trial will satisfy you of these facts—and demonstrate beyond doubt that "Calumet spells economy."

Your grocer sells it on a guarantee of money back if you are not pleased with results.

Calumet contains only such ingredients as have been approved officially by the U. S. Food Authorities.

OBSERVE THIS

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz cans instead of 16 oz. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

AGE-OLD WISDOM

Be careful of your thoughts, for they are liable to break out into words or deeds at any time.

The woman who always tells the truth tells about nine unpleasant ones out of a possible ten.

A thrifty wife saves her pocket money by taking her husband along when she goes shopping.

The world yet seeks a man. It is easier to be anything else in all the world than to be a man.

Husbands and wives should never lead a cat-and-dog life. The odds are 9 to 1 in favor of the cat.

If a young man can't decide what kind of work he wants to do, circumstances will decide for him.

A Fair Substitute.

"Hey there!" shouted an acquaintance, peering in through the open doorway of an Arkansas domicile, wherein the head of the family was beating on a tin wash boiler and yelling at the top of his voice, while half a dozen or more dogs sat around and howled in admiration. "What in torment is coming off? Have you lost your mind?"

"Nope!" replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark. "But wife has took the children to visit their grandma over beyond Mount Piggy, and I'm so lonesome that I've just nacherly got to do something."—Kansas City Star.

Trees Know Winter.

The great buds of the horse chestnut have a most elaborate arrangement for the winter protection of the delicate parts within, says the American Forestry Magazine. The baby flower cluster is covered by the downy growth of the undeveloped leaves. The latter are surrounded by the tough, hard scale, and these are varnished over to keep out the water.

Glacier Movements Differ.

The most rapidly moving glacier of the Alps, the Mer de Glace, travels at the rate of 3 1/2 inches a day. The slowest Alpine glaciers travel less than an inch a day. Much faster movements are found in the polar regions. The Upernivik glacier, in Greenland, travels 99 feet a day near the end where it reaches the sea.

True.

Customer—What's good for a bald head? Barber—Hair!

Preventing Disease.

More and more, disease is being cured before it begins. Typhus, which drove Napoleon from Moscow and destroyed his army, is now being wiped out by soap and hot water. Smallpox once with measles as a deadly but inevitable child's disease, is being ended by tiny tubes of vaccine. Lead poisoning in potteries is being markedly checked by the workmen eating outside their workrooms and washing the lead glaze off their hands before eating at all. Children by thousands are being saved from slow starvation by attention to their teeth, which enables them to eat and to digest their food. Wherever modern public health work is in progress, lives are longer and safer than they were.

Legend of Giant's Causeway.

The north coast of the County Antrim, in Ireland, is notable for a promontory of columnar basalt which is called the Giant's Causeway. These pillars are close-fitting, irregular hexagons in section, and made up of jointed lifts varying from a few inches in height to some few feet. These portions are convex or concave at their upper or lower ends, so that they fit neatly into one another. The Causeway may be characterized as volcanic in origin and lavatic in composition. Just what induced the molten matter to solidify in this curious columnar form, however, is more or less of a mystery.

Better Than Water.

An invalid whose mouth becomes dry and parched during the night, or a fever patient, will find that an orange, cut into small pieces and placed within easy reach of the bed so that a piece may be held in the mouth from time to time, will be more beneficial than water. It has the added advantage that a patient can manage the piece of orange more easily than he could a glass of water.

Oracular.

"Mr. Pompleigh has an oracular way of delivering the most trivial opinion." "Yes. When Mr. Pompleigh remarks that he thinks it's going to rain he talks like a man who would be mightily offended if it didn't."

Why Nutt Is in the Hospital.

"Now, I wonder," mused Nutt. "Wonder what?" asked Bolt. "If a lady cashier embezzled the bank's funds, could you call her a short skirt?" queried Nutt.
