These crashes resulted in one person killed, three persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $5,125.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first seven months of 1969 shows a total of 42 accidents resulting in four persons killed, 39 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $43,992.00.

The 1969 Texas Legislature has provided for a year-round Motor Vehicle Inspection program. Beginning September 1, 1969, the present 1969 inspection stickers will have a numeral insert corresponding to the month of issuance that will be inserted on the face of the sticker corresponding to the month of issuance. School Board Reviews Budget For 69-70 At Board Meeting

The Tahoka ISD Board of Education met Thursday, August 18, 1969, for the regular monthly meeting. Minutes of July meetings were approved as were the monthly bills.

The Board certified Superintendent Harold Reynolds as the school system's representative to the Joint Committee of the Revision XVII Education Service Center.

Resignations were accepted for Mrs. Katrina Robinson, who has taught fourth grade at North Elementary School for the past three years, and Mr. Robert Abbe, Tax Assessor Collector for the school district since 1963. The Board approved the employment of Mrs. Mary Abbe a spring graduate of Texas Tech, as a replacement for Mrs. Robinson. Mrs. Peggy Elliott, who has been in charge of accounting and other business aspects of the school system since 1963, was appointed to replace Robert Abbe as Tax Assessor Collector, thereby combining the tax operation with the other business operations of the school district. Beginning September 1, the Tahoka ISD Tax Office will be located in the south suite of offices of the Fenton Building next door to the Fenton Insurance Agency.

Approval was given for the sale of one 1963 Dodge School bus chassis to Southwest Body Works of Sweetwater, Texas, for $150. In other action, the Board approved an increase in rental fees for school owned instruments. Rental fees were raised from $7.50 to $12.50 per semester. Such fees are earmarked for the repair and or replacement of band equipment.

The Board continued to review the proposed budget for the 1969-70 school year and set Monday, August 25, as the date for public hearing and final approval of the budget.

Routine reports were presented to the Board by the Superintendent.

Students Safety And Traffic Flow Improved At Schools

New signs and diagonal lines on the streets adjacent to Tahoka Schools should help traffic flow at morning and afternoon rush hours and should provide safer street crossing for school children. Patrons are reminded that Avenue P is a one-way street with traffic going south during school hours. Just east of the high school gym on Avenue P, a crosswalk has been painted so that pupils going to and from the North Elementary Gym and the High School Gym can cross at this point. A sign (Stop for Children in Crosswalk) has been placed at this point. A crosswalk has also been painted on Avenue O on the south side of Third Street for children walking east on Third Street before and after school. There is a stop sign at the intersection.

Diagonal lines have been painted across Avenue P in front of the High School. This area is to be used as a crosswalk and kept free of congestion. Patrons are requested to stop for loading and unloading passengers either North or South of this marked area. School employees will park only on the east side of Avenue P or in specifically designated areas on the south side of Third Street. Any visitors and patrons loading and unloading children may park on the west side of Avenue P but are requested not to park or unload where curb is painted red or where diagonal lines are painted on the street.

Observance of these signs and restricted areas and stopping at crosswalks for pedestrians should insure more safety for our children and a more orderly flow of traffic.

"TWO BITS WORTH" JOHNNY VALENTINE

Surprising how few citizens have compelling enough to make their feelings in a letter to the editor. It is probably not to be assumed that the editor will be led to assume that the citizen's care. We do not believe this to be the case, rather it is probably a sign of not wanting to express oneself publicly. This is always the proper attitude. Your paper can realize on a subject it feels importance to the community. But this is not as effective as the expressed opinions of citizens themselves.

Do not hesitate to write on any subject of general interest. The important thing is that the people who make up the community say what they think to make it a better place in which to live.

TBW Scientists will be carefully studying moon rocks brought back from the moon by astronauts in the past few months. Knowledge from the examination undoubtedly be of great practical value.

In assessing the moon rocks should be exercised to exaggerate the immediate benefit to mankind. Whether the moon was formed by a great cataclysm or that, and just how many were formed, is interesting, and important, but not as important, for example, as ending the war in Vietnam or ending hunger for the millions of starving Americans.

Mr. Graham was probably when he mildly chastised the President for describing the moon landing as the greatest day in man's history. It is a great day, for science, for the U.S. space effort, for the thrill at the completion of a brave and historic expedition.

Whether the result of this landing will make July 1969, the greatest day in history, as far as the benefits to people on earth remains to be seen. Certain problems on earth are immediate problems that should concentrate on them we have meant to put ourselves on the moon concerning the landing, wonderful as it is.

Othell Meeks And Family Visit Atomic Museum

Mr. and Mrs. Othell Meeks, Jerry, Karen and Randy of Tahoka, Texas recently visited the American Museum of Atomic Energy (Oak Ridge Hall of Science), Oak Ridge, Tenn., which features demonstrations and displays on peaceful uses of the atom.

The Museum, operated for the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission by Oak Ridge Associated Universities, is the first such institution in the nation devoted to nuclear science. Especially trained lecture-demonstrators show how the power of the atom is utilized in medicine, industry, and agriculture.

A lecture in the Museum's radioisotopes or "tracer atoms" are used in diagnosis and treatment of thyroid disturstances and cancer. Mechanical hands of the type used in Oak Ridge laboratories and operated by the tour guide show visitors how radioactive materials may be handled safely. A huge reactor model is used in still another area to describe the workings and purposes of the various types of nuclear reactors.

Dozens of other exhibits and electronic devices, many operated by the spectator, are available to Museum visitors. They include a cutaway model of the nuclear cargo ship "Savannah," a cloud chamber illustrating the use in physics research of vapor trails such as those left by jet planes, a large of fame for scientists, visitors operated tests of materials for radioactivity, the workings of uranium mine, and devices equipped with earphones and tape recordings describing atomic structure.

Purchasing Power

A NOTED FINANCIER once said about money, "It's called cold cash because we don't keep it long enough to get it warm."

This statement is even more true nowadays with higher taxes, increased Social Security deductions, and inflationary trends taking bigger bites out of take-home pay.

A monthly newsletter on consumer behavior shows just how quickly money comes and goes.

THE NEWSLETTER points out that a man who earned $5,000-$10,000 in 1949 would now have to earn about 60 per cent more today, to maintain the same purchasing power.

A MARRIED COUPLE with two children and a $5,000 income in 1949, paid $344 for Federal income and social security taxes, leaving $4,656 in net income.

To have the same purchasing power in 1969, this couple would need $8,100 before taxes.

Prices have increased 50 per cent and $2,306 has been lost through inflation.

SOCIAL SECURITY deductions have increased from $30 to $374.40, and combined with the Federal income tax, the total of these two types of taxes at current rates would be $1,138 this year.

To equal the purchasing power of a $10,000 income in 1949, the married couple with two children would need $15,920 in 1969.

New Trends

THERE'S AN ARTICLE in this week's Life magazine that shakes me up a good deal. It's about experiments in marriage (and non-marriage) in Scandinavia.

Now it's gotten to where nothing that Scandinavians, in particular the Swedes, do surprises me anymore. The shaking up comes from the beginning of these different things I think I see over here in my own country.

BUT SURELY I'm imagining things. Tell me I am, please.

First there's the "group marriage" explanation. In the one used to illustrate, there's nine members, four men and five women (I think). They all consider themselves spiritually married to one another.

Now two of the couples had been traditionally married, but divorces quickly took care of that little obstacle. Now they're all spiritually married, but emphasize that sexual relationships are kept monogamous.

OH THERE'S BEEN a few shifts in partners, but it's all monogamous!

They hasten to add that their "group marriage" thing is much more intimate than the communes springing up in America.

And then there's the unwed mothers. There's whole new apartment developments and compounds for them, complete with kindergartens and schools to keep their fatherless children for 12 hours while they work or take government sponsored training to work.

THEY ARE UNDER no pressure to marry to gain either financial security or respectability on account of they already have both.

These child care centers are something. The $50-a-month tuition is underwritten by the state and is manned by trained personnel. Psychologists (it doesn't say which psychologists) claim that children who develop in care centers emerge better balanced than children who grow up in the home (and again it doesn't say what kind of home).

EACH CHILD NAPS at the same time, in identical cribs, blankets, clothing, etc. All toilet train at the same time on identical potties, etc. Sort of like the Army, you know.

There's also beginning to emerge a strange phenomena—the house husband.

In case the wife is bored with housework and kids and likes to work at a job and the husband is bored with a job but likes housework and kids, presto! They change places.

IT'S ALL PART of something called "women's rights".

One woman, divorced and pregnant by the man with whom she now lives, believes that marriage ceased to be meaningful when society industrialized and the source of production moved out of the family.

She's not just an ordinary run-of-the-mill person, I guess. She's a Swedish legislator.

THEN THERE'S this female spokesman for women's rights in the Danish parliament that says a housewife's role is pointless. "Cleaning and cooking—it's all so easy nowadays. It's hard just getting through a day. It's wrong for women to think of marriage as a job."

Another female, a Swedish writer, says "keeping the woman in the house is inhuman and economically insane."

NOW ALONG COMES a gallant male, a Swedish politician, who helps run his own house when parliament is not in session. Says he: "The life of a housewife is frustrating. A family should not be based on having the wife at home all day."

Well, there you are. That should be enough! And I'm still waiting for someone to tell me I'm wrong when I say I'm afraid I see the seeds of similarity to that situation in my own beloved country.

I THINK I'LL close by quoting St. Paul, who always had some pretty hard things to say about women. But he did all the time, anyhow. This is from Titus 2:4, 5. (modern translation, which helps a little.)

"These older women must train the younger women to live quietly, to love their husbands and their children, and to be sensible and clean minded, spending their time in their own homes, being kind and obedient to their husbands...."

Paul wasn't exactly a spokesman for "women's rights".

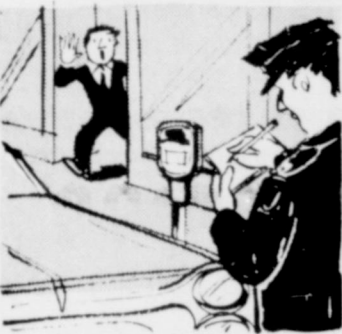

SWORN IN—State Representative E. L. Short is shown here as he becomes a member of the 61st Texas Legislature representing Andrews, Dawson, Gaines, Lynn, Martin and Yoakum Counties, District 73. Left to right, Speaker of the House Gus Mutscher and Representative Short. Representative Short, a farmer, rancher, and businessman, was elected in a special election August 5th to fill the seat formerly held by Representative Randy Pendleton who was appointed by Governor Preston Smith to serve on his staff in Washington, D. C.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Challenging the Parking Meter

Ed stopped his car at a parking meter, found no change in his pockets, and headed for the nearest store to get some. By the time he returned, a policeman was already writing out a ticket. Outraged, Ed took the matter to court. "It is true," he told the judge, "that our city ordinance says the coin must be put in 'immediately.' But that is ridiculous. Surely I am entitled to enough time to get change."

However, the court ordered him to pay the fine. The judge felt that, for the sake of administrative efficiency, the city could indeed insist on immediate payment—without leaving any loopholes at all.

There is something about parking meters that at times awakens the rebel in a rugged individualist. Nevertheless, in assorted courtroom confrontations between citizen and meter, the law has usually upheld the meter. As one judge put it:

"Some hardships must be undergone by those who enjoy the benefits of life in large communities."

Thus, in another case, a court found nothing wrong with parking meters that sold 12-minute intervals for the first hour—but only an undivided one-hour's worth for the second hour. If this was discrimination against second-hour users, as a citizen charged, it was held not to be unreasonable discrimination.

Another citizen, attacking from a different direction, refused to accept a parking ticket from a "meter maid." He argued that the city could not use anything less than a regular policeman for law enforcement. But again, the court decided a city had this much leeway in running its parking meter system.

Still, the law won't tolerate everything. For example, meters cannot ordinarily be used as a means of raising money for purposes outside the field of traffic control. Accordingly, a court decided that a city had no right to pay for harbor improvements out of parking meter income.

And another court added this warning: "A municipality cannot turn parking meters into a business for profit. It cannot establish a commercial enterprise on the public easement."

THE PHILOSOPHER

Dull Jobs

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reflects on various dull jobs this week, mostly from a theoretical viewpoint.)

Dear editor:

I was reading a three-weeks-old copy of The Avalanche Journal yesterday, when a man is confronted with the job of fixing a fence in the middle of August, he'll read anything he can get his hands on, and ran into an article that said that "picking grapes in the blazing sun is one of the dullest jobs a man can have."

I have never picked grapes, unless you count pulling off one or two from a bunch in the grocery store just to sample, and don't intend to, just as I don't intend to do a lot of things around this Johnson grass farm, on the theory that a public-spirited man, recognizing that everybody is entitled to a job, will leave some work for the next generation.

But I got to thinking. What is the dullest job a person can have in or out of the blazing sun?

Even if it is out of the weather, I've never been able to imagine a monotonously duller job than acting two afternoons and six nights a week in the same Broadway play for three years on end.

I know people who'd choose grape-picking every time over proof-reading, and proof-reading over playing golf, and playing golf over selling insurance.

As much as I manage to avoid it, I'd take going up one row and down another on a tractor to following a candidate for three months and listening to the same speech three times a day.

Crawling under a low-slung house to fix a leaky pipe is so dull I've let one go for months without doing anything about it.

I've heard people say grape-picking would be delightful compared with the monotony of Army life. Some bachelors say the same about married life, and some married people say the same about bachelorhood.

But I believe I'd nominate for first place the job the space scientists are planning for some astronaut. They say that by mid-August of 1981 they'll have a man leaving for Mars, arriving there after 12 months of sailing through nothing, spending three months on the planet, swinging past Venus in 1982 and returning to Earth in 1983.

I'm afraid spending two years in a capsule millions of miles out in space is going to make grape-picking sound exciting.

Linda Huffaker,
CHD Agent, Says.....

Everyone knows it takes weeks of careful planning to have a successful dinner party. Therefore, a hostess who can entertain guests for dinner with just an hour's notice is hailed as a genius. It can be done, but it takes advanced planning, a survival kit and a small bag of tricks. If you are occasionally faced with unexpected dinner guests, or would like to toss off, "Say why don't you all come over to our house for dinner tonight?" it pays to learn these tricks.

First and foremost, you just keep in stock certain basics that are not to be used except for emergencies and quickly replenished when they are used. These form part of your survival kit will include supplies for three areas that require attention; the house in general, the table and the food to be served.

THE HOUSE: Guest towels with a supply always on hand for unexpected guests. Extra bars of soap...nothing adds more spark to a bathroom than a sweet fresh cake on a clean soap dish. It says "Welcome!"

A few brightly colored extravagant paper flowers, that add a gay note to the coffee table or mantel, will give the room a lift. You may not have time to get fresh flowers.

THE TABLE: A clean tablecloth, hung on a hanger that has been lined with a towel to minimize folds, then wrapped in a plastic bag. This will eliminate any wrinkling or last minute ironing. Matching napkins, too, kept in a plastic bag will be fresh when needed.

A pair of new candles and amusing candlesticks used only for surprise guests are a festive mood.

If you have "company" dishes, wash them in sudsy water, rinse, dry, and wrap in storage bags so that they can go from shelf to table.

THE DINNER: Offer a menu that consists of soup, main course, salad, and dessert. You will be preparing dinner in a hurry, therefore, soup is a good idea because it gives your main dish a little more time to cook. You will have stocked the major ingredients; good suggestions are frozen, cleaned, and de-iced shrimp; pan-fried pre-cooked ham, tuna fish or salmon.

Rehearse the dinner with your family first, taking note of all ingredients required and preparation time. Scan recipes to find one that seems a little exotic, yet easy to prepare. Here are some suggestions: The soup can be cream of chicken. In summer, add mashed avocado and served chilled with lemon slices. In winter, add a little curry powder and slivered almonds.

Since you may not always have fresh greens on hand for salad, consider some of the canned vegetables. Try sliced pickled beets and string beans served with a dollop of mayonnaise. Artichoke hearts, asparagus, and tiny peas make delicious salads and can be kept on the pantry shelf for months.

Your main course should be a casserole, preferably one that simmers in the oven for an hour or so while you go about your other chores. Tuna and noodles shrimp and rice, ham jambalaya, all are tasty, quick and very impressive. For dessert, nothing surpasses branded peaches with or without ice cream.

Don't forget that the secret to making an impromptu dinner party a success is the art of making it all seem effortless. Maintain the illusion by 1) donning a pretty hostess gown; 2) keeping a sink full of soapy water so dishes can be washed and rinsed as they are used; 3) filling pots and pans with sudsy water and tucking them out of sight for a more thorough cleansing later. Your guests will feel a little guilty about imposing on you and will want to come into the kitchen to help you clear up. They'll be convinced you're a magician when you can show them a kitchen clear of pans and dirty dishes.

Sit back and enjoy your party and your reputation as a fabulous hostess.

"Irrigating cotton later than the recommended cutoff date can be a costly practice," says Leon New, area irrigation specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Late irrigation will produce lay maturity and set late bolls which will be caught by the first freeze, explains New. This will lower the micronaire, and with higher discounts for low "Mike" cotton this year, up to $21.75 per bale, several dollars per acre could be lost through late watering.

"August 20 is the irrigation cutoff date for cotton north of Lubbock," says New. "Cutoff south of Lubbock can be delayed until August 25."

For late maturing varieties such as Acales, the cutoff date should be a little earlier, but cutoff can be delayed a few days with early varieties.

"Early maturing varieties irrigated after September 1 will be pushed to reach maturity," points out New. "Research shows that water applied after September 1 seldom contributes to yield and will often lower lint quality."

These irrigation cutoff guides have been established from research on the cotton plant's growth pattern and water requirement. The results were then related to late season temperatures by geographical locations, explains the specialist.

"These cutoff dates will normally allow sufficient time for cotton fibers to fully mature prior to the established frost dates. A vegetative growth surge caused by late irrigation will often delay fiber maturing. Late irrigation may reduce her than increase yields," says New.

"Even with this year's dry summer, these cotton irrigation cutoff guides following them can mean big savings and higher quality cotton," concludes the specialist.

Cabbage loopers have caused considerable concern among farmers during the past week. The Cabbage Loopers do not rag leaves unless the population is very high. Most of the damage to date is holes in leaves. This damage is not until damage to leaves is observed. A 1.0 lb. actual is the recommended control.

Boll worms are causing damage in late planted cotton. Particularly cotton planted after June 10th. Tied very close to the high level of resistance to most of the former effective chemicals, bollworm and the loopers must be controlled by methods that they reach 1/4 inch in length (about 5 days old).

In most cases you must recognize that a minimum of 3 to 5 applications may be required to bring an infestation under control. If the yield is not sufficient to justify this expense, then probably should never make the application. A single application may merely aggravate the situation and be of little benefit.

Mrs. Roy Sief is in the Methodist Hospital seriously ill. She is on the 4th floor. Nora Luallin, Mrs. Sief's sister is here visiting from Roso, New Mexico.

Mrs. Louise Green and two boys of Uless were here Friday until Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Carter. Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Carter of Hereford, and Mrs. Glen Williams of Lubbock visited in the Carter home.

As usual the people of our communities turned out in great numbers to attend the 31st. Annual meeting of the Lyntegar Electric Coop. Inc. Tuesday evening. Enjoying the fine food, and program, visiting with neighbors and seeing again friends of "yester-year" bringing home our share of the prizes given and looking forward to receiving the refund dividend checks in the mall.

Since our farming area has so many irrigation wells on electricity, as well as the buslines and homes in town and country this refund amounts to a goodly sum.

The New Home Farmers Coop. has the distinction of receiving the largest capital credit refund check issued by the Lyntegar, R.E.A. the amount of this check being $5,223.40.

Mrs. C.E. Gannaway and Mrs. Jack Rogers returned last week from a ten days trip to Colorado. Where they visited many places of interest. Going over the million dollar highway, they had reservations at Lake City. There they visited with Mrs. Jake Jacobs and daughters, also her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill. They met people they knew in every place they stopped, in Delta, Red Stone, Crusted Butte, Gunnison, and in Sella they visited with Rev. Paul McClund and family. One place where they were 13,000 ft. above sea level they saw it sleet, snow and rain in the same afternoon, they report a very enjoyable trip.

Miss Cynthia Haley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Haley of New Home is in room 42 in Mercy Hospital in Slaton, for treatment of neck pelets, a slight concussion, cuts, and bruises received in a two car collision Wednesday at 2:45 p.m. Cynthia's car going north on Slide Road was struck when a car failed to stop coming off 42nd. Reddy's electric climate engineers can show you how.

This Costs Texans $ 2 MILLION A DAY

YOU HELP PAY THE BILL

The way cars are being wrecked and the way folks are being injured and killed in traffic accidents, it looks like this year's Texas traffic toll will top $800 million. This figures out to be more than $2 million a day and that is a lot of money!

When you pay for your auto insurance you help pay this bill because most of your insurance rate is for the amount of money insurance companies pay for traffic accidents. Add to this the amount they pay for autos destroyed or damaged by collision, fire, hail, theft and pilferage. Lower these amounts and your insurance costs will go down. Raise these amounts that insurance companies must pay and your auto insurance costs will have to go up. It is as simple as that.

Here are three ways to cut your auto insurance costs.

1. Help reduce the number of Texas traffic accidents. You can do this by driving the very best you can and by insisting that traffic laws are enforced in your town, county, and state. Let your Mayor, County Officials and Governor Smith know that you want all traffic laws enforced.
2. Help cut down on car thefts and vandalism by locking your car and taking the keys whenever you park. Always try to park your car in a safe place.
3. Ask your insurance agent to show you how you can save money on your auto insurance by taking full advantage of the Driver Education, Two Car and other discounts now offered in Texas.

Auto insurance costs will be cut in Texas after accidents and their costs go down. You and other motorists of Texas can bring this about... if you really want to. IT IS UP TO YOU!

Past Days In Lynn County

Copied from the September 10, 1937 issue of the Lynn County News:

Under order of the city council, the curbs in the business section of Tahoka have been marked so as to indicate the space in which cars are to be parked.

The general public is requested to take note of these markings and to park their cars accordingly.

City Marshal Milt Finch is charged with duty of seeing that these regulations are observed.

Everyone has his own estimate on the crowd in Tahoka Thursday, the second day of the festival.

One ultra-conservative citizen said there were not more than 3,000. Another almost got mad when he questioned his estimate of 20,000.

Walter Anglin, one of those in charge of serving the barbeque, says slightly over 8,000 went through the chutes. This not include those who filled extra plates for relatives or others. Arnold Houston said 750 people were served from one of the ten chutes. There were possibly a few who did not partake of the barbeque, for the cages were doing a fair business.

Anyway, it must have been the biggest crowd of people Tahoka has ever entertained in a single day.

Copied from the September 17, 1937 issue of the Lynn County News:

Gas consumers have received notice this week that in compliance with rules and regulations recently prescribed by the Railroad Commission, effective on or about September 20, 1937, all gas supplied the consumer will have been odorized with a harmless malodorant.

This is done for the protection of the consumers, so that any unusual odors may be easily detected. If such unusual odors should be thereafter detected by any consumer, such consumer should immediately communicate with the company. This is a precaution which has been required and is being observed by the gas companies in order to guard against any such disaster as visited the New London community a few months ago.

Copied from the September 24, 1937 issue of the Lynn County News:

The Lone Star Construction Company is this week spreading the asphalt topping on highway No. 84 west of Tahoka from the Terry County line eastward to the end of the pavement five miles west of Tahoka.

The work will probably be finished this week.

The completion of this work will give a continuous stretch of paved highway all the way from Tahoka to Brownfield. Highway No. 84 is also being improved in Garza County east of Post, and preparations are being made for its improvement west of Brownfield. It is already hardsurfaced through Kent County east of Post, and preparations are being made for its improvement west of Brownfield. It is already hardsurfaced through Kent County. The Highway Department is also repairing to improve the road from Asperment to Haskell.

It is particularly important to residents of Garza, Lynn, Terry, and Yoakum counties as well as to tourists that this highway be completed across the South Plains as early date as possible.

Mrs. Ferrell Farrington, editor of the O'Donnell Index, is again ill, we are informed, and will probably be confined to her bed several months upon the order of her physicians.

Miss Jim Ellen Wells of O'Donnell will serve as substitute editor during Mrs. Farrington's illness, we understand. Miss Wells has served in this capacity before and is well qualified to do the work. The News hopes that Mrs. Farrington may speedily and completely recover from her illness.
