Drives Ajax 100 Hours

"Dare-Devil Red" Mauney proved the reliability of the new Ajax car when he drove about Orlando recently 100 continuous hours without leaving the car. The driver was handcuffed to the steering wheel. On the trip Mr. Mauney made 22.4 miles to the gallon, which is exceptionally good for city driving because of the numerous stops necessary because of traffic jams. He ate 29 eggs while the motor was using the gasoline. The oil consumption of the motor was at the rate of one quart for every 625 miles.

M. E. Missionary Society Hold Meeting

The Methodist Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. E. E. Callaway Monday afternoon with fourteen present. In the absence of Mrs. Eldridge, Mrs. Fenton very ably conducted the lesson "Backgrounds" in our New Study book "From Over the Border." Mrs. Childers began the lesson with quite an interesting paper on Mexico up to the landing of the Spanish in 1519. Mrs. Stewart followed with an account of Spanish settlements and conquests until Mexico won her independence from Spain. Then Mrs. Sanders told much of the history down to the present date. The difference between Spanish speaking Americans and Mexicans of the United States was freely discussed. Much can be learned about our Mexican subjects that will help us to understand them, and sympathize with and help them to better themselves. They are watching us and it is up to us, as Christians to meet them before they are met by unscrupulous employment agencies, "shyster lawyers," pawnbrokers, etc.

The Bible lesson for the afternoon was Matthew 26: 34-40, which was read and commented on by Mrs. Fenton. Mrs. A. L. Jones closed the lesson with prayer.

Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Callaway served delicious refreshments of raisin pie and whipped cream and Russian tea. The next lesson will be Chapter III in "From Over the Border."

LYNN CITY NEWS

Well, we had about three days of sandstorm, or a west Texas rain. It was not very nice to be out in.

There was very small attendance at our Sunday School Sunday morning. I guess everybody had gone visiting or were sick. Brother Dunn preached in the afternoon, and there were just thirteen persons and four dogs present.

Mr. Rowland, the gin man, and his family went to Lorraine Saturday on business. Uncle Shorty Bartley was left in charge of the gin. While ginning a bale of cotton we struck fire in the upper part of the machinery somewhere. We had some time putting it out. Shorty says he is a good boss but not much of a gin man. He got things so hot they took fire.

Uncle Bill Bartley is on the puny list this week.

A. A. Huff and family are all down with the "flu", but three. They are some better at this writing.

Well, the Methodist will hold their quarterly conference Saturday and will have dinner on the ground. We are expecting a square meal on that day.

Our boys lost the championship of the county playing ball. They said they were out of luck that day. Of course they were. That's the reason I am not rich; I have always been out of luck—could not get money fast enough.

We are having a well dug on the school ground so we can water them and not let them rundry. Maybe they will do better.

T. J. Wade says if he is elected marshal of Lynn City he will enforce all the city laws to the letter. Uncle Bill Bartley says that if the marshal of Lynn City he will ensure will put the fine on. So boys, be careful. All cars must cut out the muffler and stop so much fuss while going through town.

Well, as it's cool this morning, will ring off.

Your Uncle Tom.

B. M. Whiteker, of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Clayborne Harvey, secretary of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, were here Tuesday in the interest of the district meeting to be held at Littlefield next Monday. A number of our people should attend this meeting.

Uncle Jim Issues Uncle Tom Challenge

Say, Mr. Editor, please help me to force Uncle Tom out in the open. He signs "Uncle Tom" it might be "Aunt Tom," don't know. Don't be afraid to keep your identity hid. Don't try to hiss the editor on me.

Say, Uncle Tom, come on and let's exchange a few rounds. Say, don't stay hid in Lynn City. I can't find you and do not know who I am fussing with; nevertheless I like to read your items from Lynn.

Say, Uncle Tom, you spoke of the Lynn ball team. T-Bar has a ball team they would like to try the Lynn team a round.

Yes, Uncle Tom, I said the horse knew more than the people of this generation. Say, Uncle Tom, if you feel lucky, come out from the jungles of Lynn City and let's have a few rounds.

Nazarene Revival Grows In Interest

The Nazarene Revival continues with increasing interest. Crowds are increasing every service. We so much appreciate the presence and help of Brother Montandon and his church from O'Donnell and some of the Grassland and Lynn Chapel people. We also appreciate the presence and co-operation of the people of the town of Tahoka, representing the different churches.

Brother Hamric, our evangelist, is bringing some good, timely gospel messages. He is the old type of preacher, preaching the simple, powerful gospel of Jesus.

The services will continue until Sunday night, and at the close of the meeting a Church of the Nazarene will be organized. Let those of our faith who wish to unite with us and become a charter member of the new church in Tahoka be present Sunday night. There will be three services Sunday, the closing day, at 11 A. M., 3 P. M. and 7:45 P. M. Rev. Hamric, our evangelist, will speak at 3 o'clock P. M. Sunday on The Single Standard or Jesus the Friend of Sinners. This will be known as a rescue service, held in the interest of Rest Cottage at Pilot Point, Texas, one of our institutions for fallen girls. All are welcome to these services. Rev. Hamric will speak Saturday eve at 7:45 on God's Last Call to Man; Sunday at 11 A. M. on Our Redemption Perfected; Sunday eve, 7:45, on Heaven.

Pray for us. Reporter.

6,500 Poll Taxes Paid At Lubbock

County Tax Collector I. F. Holland yesterday stated that more than 6,500 poll taxes had been paid for 1926 by citizens of Lubbock county, a high mark for poll tax payments having been reached by this figure as only 5,075 poll taxes were paid for 1925, while for 1924, a general election year, 5,500 poll taxes were paid.

The figures just cited indicate a large increase in population for Lubbock County over the two-year period, and is ample proof that Lubbock county is making forward strides in population development that are not beaten in many counties of the state.—Lubbock Avalanche

School Tuition Case Goes To High Court

Austin, Texas, Feb. 4.—A question of the highest importance to the large school districts of Texas was certified to the Supreme Court Wednesday by the Third Court of Civil Appeals in the proceeding styled Dan Slocumb et al. vs. Cameron Independent School District, wherein the Slocombs are endeavoring to force the Cameron school district to accept the Slocomb children without the payment of tuition. Certification to the Supreme Court was had at the instance of the school district and expedites the case to a quicker decision.

E. A. Camp of Rockdale, J. M. Patterson and W. A. Barlow of Austin appeared for the Slocombs, while the Cameron School District was represented by Allan D. Sanford of Waco, E. A. Wallace and Hill of Cameron. The case was submitted to the appellate court Wednesday and when called the certificate to the Supreme Court was arranged.

The gist of the question submitted is whether or not the school trustees have a right to charge tuition for children who have been transferred under the general law of the State, principally Art. 2760, Statutes of 1911. The cities have resisted school transfers without payment of tuition. As a former term the appellate court held that tuition could not be charged but later set aside that judgment and the case was not further prosecuted, having been styled Huck vs. City of Austin. Thus no final judgment has ever been made on the question.

It is the contention of the large city districts that the citizens vote large taxes for modern equipment, fireproof buildings and excellent facilities and that a tuition is there-by justified from pupils transferred from another district. The State apportionment follows a transferred pupil, but that is augmented in the city districts by the local school tax. Whether or not these large districts can collect tuitions from transferred pupils is the question to be decided by the Supreme Court in answer to the certificate.

There were but forty-four rural free delivery routes in the United States on July 1, 1900.

The Vegetarian

SOME people, apparently, were intended to be vegetarians. Meat does not agree with them, and they should not eat it. On vegetables, however, they thrive—either because vegetables are a less concentrated food or because of their medicinal properties.

To keep such people satisfied with a vegetarian diet, it is essential to serve some of the vegetables crisped and brown, or in loaves and croquettes as appetizing as meats.

As spinach and stringless beans contain iron and furnish important bulk without being at all fattening, they are useful in any diet, and especially so in that of the vegetarian.

They may be served as meat substitutes. For instance, when baking a casserole of macaroni and cheese, put a layer of spinach just under the cheese layer. Or make spinach croquettes by mixing thoroughly a No. 2 1/4 can of finely chopped, well-drained spinach, with two hard-boiled eggs, chopped, two tablespoons of salt, a quarter teaspoon of pepper. Form into flat cakes, cover with crumbs and brown in hot fat. Serve with onion sauce made by adding two cups of chopped boiled onion with two cups of white sauce. When draining canned vegetables always save the juice for soups.

For stringless bean croquettes, mix a can of drained stringless beans with three cups hot boiled rice, three tablespoons chopped onion, cup of grated cheese, teaspoon salt, half a teaspoon pepper, two well-beaten eggs, and two-thirds cup of fine crumbs. Cool, form into croquettes, roll in crumbs, and brown in hot fat.

An excellent vegetarian menu consists of:—Cream of corn soup, stringless bean croquettes, with tomato sauce, sweet potatoes en casserole, lettuce salad, apple whip and coffee. All these ingredients can be had in cans, saving much of the labor of preparation.

O'Donnell Needs School Building

Do not forget that the taxpayers of O'Donnell Independent School District will be given an opportunity to vote for or against the insurance of bonds in the sum of $65,000 on the 2nd day of March, the proceeds of the bonds to be issued in the construction of a school building. There have been many important issues before the people in the past, but none more important than the issue involved in this order. The future progress of the O'Donnell school hinges on the result of the election. To defeat the bonds means to retard the development of the schools and set them back at least five years. The school is crowded now and there will be many next fall without seats if this new building is not provided. The only thing that will defeat the issuance of these bonds, and that will be for you to fail to vote. The fellow who is against the issuance of the bonds is sure to vote. We must have that new school building.

Good schools make your property worth more.

Good schools make better business.

Good schools make better wages.

Good schools make work plentiful.

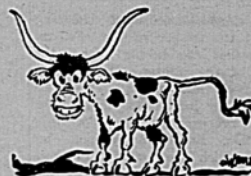

Good schools make better citizens.

Good schools cannot be carried on in crowded buildings.

Make up your mind to vote for the issuance of the school bonds—VOTE—O'Donnell Index.

Farmers of That Section Strong For Progressive Methods.

That progressive farming will be the program of the people in rural districts around Merkel in 1926 was the opinion expressed Thursday morning by County Agent J. R. Masterson, who returned from a two-day visit to that section Wednesday night. A live interest is being shown there in farm terracing, the planting of sweet clover and experimental farming in the schools, are projects which Mr. Masterson is now promoting.

The county agent spent Tuesday and Wednesday demonstrating farm terracing to the farmers of that territory. More than fifty farmers were present to see the work conducted, and to acquaint themselves with the methods of promoting this activity. Three of those present requested Mr. Masterson to order terracing machines for them.

A large number of those attending the demonstration also placed orders with the county agent for sweet clover seeds. Because this legume will be planted over various sections of the county by different farmers, enough tests will be made to determine the practicability of clover for Taylor county.

The county agent attended the Merkel Luncheon Club Tuesday evening and was assured by that organization that liberal premiums would be offered to member of boys' and girls' clubs for next fall's exhibit at the Merkel Fair. This organization strongly endorsed the program of farm diversification being vigorously promoted by the county agent and Abilene Chamber of Commerce.

Any erroneous reflection upon reputation or standing of any individual, firm or corporation, that may appear in the columns of the News, will be gladly corrected when called to our attention.

The alarmists are busy alarming against the danger of the Federal Government encroaching upon the rights of the states. It is true that purely local matters should be regulated by local laws. Many other matters are proper matters for state regulation. But there are some interests which are national in their scope. We see no reason why the national government should not have jurisdiction over such matters as well as the state. For instance railroads scarcely ever stop at state lines. All the big trunk lines pass through several states. In this day of automobiles, national highways have become a necessity, highways that extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific or from Canada to the Gulf. It would be preposterous to depend upon the various counties through which these highways pass to keep them in repair. It has been found to be unwise to depend even on the states through which they pass. Since they are interstate arteries of transportation and travel, why should not the Federal Government assume the task of building and repairing them?
In fact, any matter of national concern should be proper matter for federal regulation and control. No need to get excited when the Federal Government legislates with reference to such matters. The "State Rights" alarmists are on a cold trail.

The primary election law of Texas is the target for much adverse criticism these days. The critics, however, close their eyes to the glaring evils and defects of the old convention system superseded by the present system, and decline to propose a better plan. Imperfect though it be, the present primary election law with its majority requirement ascertains and enforces the will of the majority better than any plan that preceded or is likely to supersede it. —Rogers News.

It is often pointed out by those who oppose the primary election system that when the conventional method of nominating candidates was in vogue the best material was nominated. They recall that Ross and Hogg and Curran and others scarcely less noted were each nominated for governor by a convention. All this is true, out it is also true that before the convention method of nominating candidates passed into history, the hard-ways and other special interests were beginning to wield an enormous power in the conventions in the nomination of candidates. At best, the convention nominee was not the nominee of the masses but of the politicians. The primary system has partially failed because the people can choose at the ballot box only between those who offer for the nominations and sometimes they must choose between two evils. A partial remedy for this defect would be the adoption of a preferential primary system, whereby each voter could express his first and second choice for the respective offices. We believe the next legislature should pass a preferential primary election law.

We have been asked several times if the Board of Trustees of the Ta-hoka Independent School District were not going to make some kind of a campaign in favor of the school bonds. As we understand it, the board of trustees do not feel that it is incumbent upon them to do so.
Our school is not their school. It is the people's school. If the people want an efficient school, they will certainly provide the necessary buildings. If they don't want an efficient school, or if they are not willing to pay the price for one, then it is up to them to say so. The News would like to say however that nothing is a greater asset to a town than adequate and commodious school buildings with good schools conducted therein. Nothing will give a town a black eye quicker than out-of-date and inadequate school buildings or unsightly wooden shacks in which the pupils must be housed. Tahoka is up against a crisis. If she meets it successfully, all is well. If she fails, she has given herself a knock-out blow that will take a long time to recover from. The question is not What are the Board of Trustees going to do? but What are you going to do about it?

The editor had occasion to pass by the new school building at Draw a few days ago. It is an attractive six-room structure with a spacious auditorium; and as we looked at this handsome building and thought of our own inadequate structure here in Tahoka, we really felt ashamed of our building, and we wondered whether the people of Tahoka were going to prove themselves to be as progressive as this rural community or were going to join the "moss-back" crowd and refuse to make adequate provision for the education of their children. We don't know.
We hear some complaining about the cost. Taxes are already too high, they say. We are going to defeat the bonds and continue to crowd our children into the present building, continue to compel them to use the auditorium as a study hall. Let the board build some wooden structures, some say. The board can not do that without the issuance of bonds.
Besides, we want to know if Tahoka is going to be content to send her children to school in wooden shacks for a half dozen years? As we see it, the crisis in the growth and progress of our town has come. Are we going to retreat? Men and women of Tahoka, you can answer the question on March 6.

JUST ANOTHER BUGABOO.

A call has been issued by certain State Senators and Representatives for a mass meeting of "States Rights" Democrats at Dallas today. "States Rights" was at one time a shibboleth of mighty magic in the Southland.
But with many thoughtful people that lay has permanently passed. Have we not heard the one-time sacred call of "State Rights" used as a camouflage for every evil that has cursed America? Have we not seen the banner of "State Rights" unfurled over the ramparts of every wrong that has been entrenched in our native land.
Better watch a bunch when they bring out the banner of "State Rights." Better take a peep under the cover! — Rogers News.

Eminently correct. The doctrine of "States Rights" was born when the colonies had just thrown off the yoke of the British monarchy and when everybody was afraid of a "centralized" government. Popular government had not been fully tried out in this country, and the fullest measure of local self-government was desired.
The sentiment against a "centralized" government was so strong that the first attempt to form a federal government was an utter failure. The states reserved so much power to themselves and granted so little power to the general "government" under the articles of confederation that it was no government at all. But with a century and a quarter of representative government, we have learned that the government at Washington is no more dangerous to the Liberties of the people than our own government at Austin or the government of the other several states. Why should it be? Our Federal Congress is made up of Representatives and Senators elected by the people. Our state legislature are made up of Senators and Representatives elected by the people.
Are our representatives at Washington any less intelligent or any less patriotic than our representatives at Austin? Do the gentlemen who met at Dallas last Friday and delivered their harangues against the "encroachments" of the Federal Government believe that our Congressmen and Senators at Washington have any designs against the liberties or the well-being of the people of this country? Is it not a fact, rather, that these gentlemen are holding up this so-called danger of federal encroachment merely as a scarecrow in order that they may create sentiment against certain federal laws that have already been passed? Is not national prohibition their real grievance? If you will look closely, you will find that most of these fellows who are shouting themselves hoarse against Federal encroachments and in favor of "States Rights" are standing on a whisky barrel or a beer keg while they shout. They either favor the repeal outright of the Volstead Act or the modification of it so as to permit the sale of light wines and beer. It is true that they have seized upon the Federal Inheritance Tax law as a pretext for their protests, but with many it is merely a pretext. Their chief grievance is national prohibition. Others joining in this tirade represent the predatory interests. It is a confederation of the liquor interests and the big rich who are instigating his hue and cry against Federal encroachments and in favor of States Rights. We have no sympathy with the movement. We have just as much confidence in the honesty and patriotism and wisdom of Morris Sheppard and Earle B. Mayfield and Tom Connolly and John Garner and Hatton Sumners and Marvin Jones and the other Representatives at Washington as we have in Lee Satter-white and John Davis and the other senators and representatives at Austin. The bugaboo of Federal Encroachments no fear in use, gentlemen. Don't try to spread your propaganda in these parts.

The News stands for a clean town, materially and morally. Those things which tend to corrupt the morals of the young should be frowned upon by all good citizens. He who harbors unclean things for business reasons should be taught that it is unprofitable to do so. We are for a cleaner Tahoka, materially and morally.

This is election year. Factional differences ought to be forgotten and the very best and most competent men offering for office should be elected. The whole public suffers when an official is incompetent.

Let's fill our offices, county and state, with the very best and most able men available and thus make our government function in the most efficient manner possible.
Calm deliberation and intense patriotism and not malice prejudice or passion should govern us when we cast a vote.
Many farmers are becoming interested in the diversified farming program which is being agitated through the press and otherwise.
There can be no doubt that in this land of maize and kaffir the raising of hogs and chickens and the production of milk and butter ought to be a profitable business. Cotton is usually a good money crop, but experience has shown that the one-crop farmer is not the most successful farmer.

UNCLE JIM THANKS HIS FRIENDS

The health of the community is improving. The flu and bad colds seems to be an epidemic going through our country.

Our literary school is doing fine. T-Bar and Three Lakes schools played basket ball Friday evening, the T-Bar teams winning. One of the T-Bar's best players in the girls team had the mumps and could not play. We can say one thing for Three Lakes. They have as impartial a referee as we have ever seen.

We want to take this opportunity of thanking our many friends, both small and great, for their sympathy and attention given us in our affliction. I can say not only a friend but friends in need have proved to me friends indeed. Friends in need are worth more than all the money that can be stacked up. It matters not where my lot shall be cast, or where I shall go, I shall never forget the kindness and sympathy showed to me by my many friends of T-Bar.

Uncle Jim

The pronghorned antelope, the swiftest four-footed animal of our western plains, is native only to America.

Dutchman, a horse that made a three-mile trotting record that stood for thirty years, was once a brickyard worker, but was "discovered" on an election day when his owner pressed him into the service of carrying the free and independent voters to the polls."

$1.50 For State Aid In Texas

In 1924, 4,109 rural and small town schools in Texas were able to maintain a term of from one to two months longer than formerly because the State appropriated one and one-half million dollars special aid; 180 schools received $250 each for instruction in the practical arts; 438 children living in one-teacher school districts had high school training; and 18 consolidations were traceable to the bonus provided for consolidating small and contiguous districts.

The "rural aid" law of Texas helps country in four ways. It makes a longer school term possible in certain districts by providing not to exceed $150 per teacher employed to subsidize salaries. It encourages the addition of practical arts subjects to the curriculum by granting not to exceed $250 to each school of two or more teachers which offers instruction in these subjects. It aids in extending high school instruction to boys and girls who live in districts which do not maintain high schools by providing for the payment of their tuition in neighboring districts not exceeding $10 per month per pupil. It induces districts to consolidate by offering $1,000 for each consolidation resulting in a school of not less than four teachers. The law further stimulates local initiative, for in order to receive a share of this million and one-half dollars of State aid school districts must meet certain standards relating to buildings, equipment, courses of study, and local tax.

The "rural aid" law has been on the statutes of Texas since 1915. That it is popular is evinced by the substantial increase in its appropriation from a half million a year in 1915 to one and one-half million in 1925.

T-BAR

The Three Lakes basket ball teams visited the T-Bar courts Friday afternoon, the girls' score being 16 to 4 in favor of T-Bar. The senior boys' score was 24 to 6 in T-Bar's favor. The junior boys' score was 5 to 10 in T-Bar's favor. Everybody seemed to enjoy the games, but on account of so much sickness not a very large crowd attended.

Jamie and J. C. McCauley have just recovered from the mumps. Mabel and Mildred Crews have had the mumps the past week.

We are very glad to say that Uncle Jim Nichols is able to be up again, after a severe attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. M. A. Dorman has been on the sick list the past week.

A large crowd attended prayer meeting last Sunday night.

Rev. Brother Hicks, our pastor, will fill his appointment here Sunday.

There were several from this community who attended the singing convention at Wells last Sunday and enjoyed the good singing very much.

Our school has an enrollment of about sixty.

Mrs. Dee Henderson and little girl spent Wednesday night with their daughter and sister, Mrs. L. C. Crews.

Mr. Jim Adams has returned to T-Bar. He has been visiting down in east Texas.

Vivian Moore and Iola Wilkinson took dinner with Mabel Crews Sunday.

Ruby Moore took dinner with Gladys Moore last Sunday.

Several young people from South Ward attended prayer meeting here last Sunday night. They have a hearty welcome to come back to any of our T-Bar entertainments.

Grassland Man Not A One Crop Farmer

The editor had occasion Monday afternoon to drive out with W. L. Knight to the home of H. P. Burkhalter at Grassland. There we found an ideal country home. Evidences of prosperity were all about. Ten fine Poland China shoats were feeding in the hog pasture and at the call of Mr Burkhalter came to be interviewed by the editor and companion. They were fine fellows and we were glad to make their acquaintance. About fifteen Jersey milk cows were feeding in the field while a bunch of heifers lay by the lot fence contentedly chewing their cuds. Forty or fifty beautiful Rhode Island Red hens were basking in the sunshine or scratching for bugs about the lots. Plows and farming implements of every description used in this country were found on the premises. A gasoline motor driven washing machine and wringer was being prepared for use to cleanse the week's washing. High above the roof of the home was a radio aerial. All of which gave ample evidence that the family lived at home 365 days in the year, while at will, through the mysterious forces of nature, by the mere touch of a button, as it were, they got in communication with the outside world and enjoyed a concert rendered, mayhap, in Kansas City or Los Angeles or Miami or at any one of a hundred other points in America.

Mr. Burkhalter makes a lot of money selling cream. He feeds the milk to his shoats, and a little later on he is going to have a few hogs and a whole bunch of pigs to sell to his neighbors, while his hens furnish all the eggs and chicken meat that the family can consume and Mrs. Burkhalter has many eggs to sell. In addition to all this Mr. Burkhalter raises a lot of cotton every year and finds plenty of time to drive in to Tahoka, 13 miles away, to Sunday School and Church every Sunday morning.

Col. French doesn't need to preach diversification to this prosperous farmer.

Texas University Is Given Over Million

Paris, Feb. 12.—The will of William J. McDonald, filed here today for probate, after making bequests to totaling $120,000 to relatives, gives the remainder of the estate of about $1,500,000 to the University of Texas to be used in building an astronomical observatory to be known as the W. J. McDonald Astronomical Observatory.

Austin, Feb. 12.— Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, president of the University and Dean H. Y. Benedict, Professor of astronomy at that institution, expressed great delight when news of the McDonald bequest was given to them tonight.

"It is a wonderful thing," dean Benedict declared. "Why that will give the University an observatory larger than the famous lick observatory." "That is a remarkable bequest to the University and enables the study of a branch of pure science that cannot very well be undertaken without private endowment." Dr. Splawn declared. "It is a timely and creditable bequest because here in the southwest where climate conditions are most favorable for observation little study has been done in astronomy because telescopes were not available."

Child Makes Cotton-Pulling Record

Some time ago we published a story of some record-breaking cotton picking done by some small children and remarked that we would like to know the color of the kid's hair that could beat it.

Little J. P. Benson Jr., son of J. P. Benson who lived a short distance east of town last year but who has removed to a place just north of town, is some cotton picker himself. He is only six years of age but recently he pulled 311 pounds of snaps in a single day, and he sends word to the editor that his hair is black. If there is another black-haired boy or even a tow-headed boy any where in the country six years of age who has beat this record, tell it to the News.

W. D. Benson decided that he wanted some good reading cheap for another year and so he came in Saturday and planked down one dollar and four bits and he will henceforth be a regular reader of the News.

Railroad Engineer's Accidents at Crossing

Edward D. Wilcox is an engineer on the I. & G. N. road out of Houston. He has been running an engine on that road 41 years, the last 30 of which he has been running a passenger train.

He appeared before the city council of Houston last week and pleaded for the making of overhead crossings at several dangerous places in that city.

Wilcox had a right to plead. Nineteen times during his career as an engineer he has struck conveyances with his engine and 20 lives had been snuffed out.

And during all those 41 years he never received a demerit in his service as engineer and in all that long career he has never been censured by an official.

But he stood there pleading that something might be done to keep him from hearing the cries of death. Hear what he said to the Houston council: "And I guess I have seen my part of these tragedies. But the public doesn't know. It can't understand the feelings of us men of the rail. It's a fearful feeling to see the front of your engine strike a human being, or maybe an automobile full of men, women and children. It's a sound I won't forget. There's the grinding of the brakes—a crash—sometimes the rending and tearing of the broken car under the wheels, and maybe the sickening sound of grinding bones, and always these awful shrieks that come too late. Waving arms and terror-stricken faces. Sometimes when the speeding engine strikes you see nothing. It seems as if the world had swallowed up those you hit.

"But always you stop, and then the awful going back to see that harvest of death. Often the screams of terror are hushed. Sometimes there are the wails of pain and death. I've pulled them from the engine, mangled, bloody forms, still gasping and already dead. And in the lot were three little children. And I have a wife and a child, and how many times have I thought of them as I picked up in my arms a dying child, blood-spattered—maybe a minute before the member of a happy party on the way to a picnic—its laughter all gone. It's hard I tell you, and it makes you think of your own. And it takes a man with iron nerve to hold that throttle for the rest of the journey. Sometimes our men can't do it, and then when they get in they lay off. But I don't care if you live a thousand years you just can't forget. Horrible pictures come into your mind."

Two Men Shot At Brownfield—Almost

What if a red haired, red-faced, red-eyed, drunken cuss, armed with a big 40 some odd Winchester should some day darken your door and you were out and your employee had never seen the fellow before. Suppose the stranger would then demand to know where you was, and your employee, after telling him you were out should be told in turn that he (the stranger) was looking for you to puncture your carcass with hot lead, emphasizing the same with a few well rounded oaths, and then staggered out of the place as if to make further search for you. Then your employee hunts you up to forewarn you and is unable to give much description except that the guy was very drunk and carried a big Winchester. Then after hours of suspense in which you take all legitimate means to defend your hide and hair, you learn that the fellow you have prepared to give a hot reception is no other than a harmless, rather windy sign pointer from a neighboring town who answers to the name of Jacobus Leedy, and who wouldn't harm a snow bird.

Has your supposition been following us faithfully?
Well, if it is not exactly clear, you can hunt up the two men most concerned in this incident and interview them. As for the Herald it aims to get what it wants to know from a safer distance.—Terry County Herald.

And Jake says he had a lot of fun. The victim of his rude joke was an intimate friend of many years standing. Jake says that when his friend, who is the proprietor of a cafe in Brownfield, heard that a stranger was hunting him with a gun he hid himself away to an old gin and after barricading him self sent for some artillery and plenty of ammunition. When the people of the town got wise to the joke, a number of them, in company with Jake, went to the gin and surrounded it. When the cafe proprietor discovered that the deadly enemy who was seeking his life was none other than his old-time friend Jake Leedy, he admitted that the drinks were on him but that being nothing handy to drink he and Jake simply smoked it out.

Kentucky Lady Got Well After Taking Cardui.

"I got down in health—suffering from womanly troubles which caused me much pain and worry," says Mrs. Rhoda Canary, of R. F. D. 6, Owensboro, Ky. "My stepmother had taken Cardui when she was in my same condition, so I got to inquiring around among my friends about it and found several women who were taking it at that time.

"By the time I had taken half a bottle (of Cardui), my strength began to come back. I could sit up in bed. . . . "I finished up that bottle and by that time I was able to walk across the floor. I continued taking Cardui for several months and I got well."

RURAL CHILD NEEDS 9-MONTH SCHOOL TERM

Longer Term Needed As Bad As Good Teachers, Buildings, and Schools

Washington, Feb. 17.—As straws show how the winds blow, so inquiries from country people coming into the Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior, show the trend of their thoughts on matters concerned with the education of their children. During the past two weeks there has been an unusual number of inquiries concerned with the minimum and average length of school term in the different States. The inquirers are seeking arguments to present to patrons or school officers in the hope of securing longer school terms in their State or district. Fortunately, more and more States are setting up through State laws a standard minimum term of 8 or 9 months. There are, however, still some States in which there is no such law and in which there are many poor, isolated districts which maintain school 6 or 7 months only. Indeed, reports from a few States show some districts in which schools are open even fewer than 6 months in the year. In considering this matter of the length of school term it is important to remember that the ordinary school organization and expectancy of school achievement is planned with the idea that a standard school term is 9 months in length. Children can not accomplish in 6, 7, or 8 months the full amount of work planned for 9. At the end of the seventh or eighth year of school or at the age of 12 or 13 years when they should be entering high school they become discouraged and drop out of school altogether. Good teachers, good schools, and good buildings are important factors in education but they can not fully compensate for precious opportunities lost through short terms.

Gordan Man In The Chicken Business

J. W. Terry, who resides over in the Gordon community near the Garza county line, came in Saturday to renew his subscription and to put a chicken ad in our want column.

Mr. Terry has gone into the chicken and egg business on a big scale. He has been raising white Leghorns for ten years, principally for home consumption, but this year he really expects to make chickens and eggs a money crop. He now has 375 pure-blood white Leghorns hens and 200 baby chicks. He has the hens mated with twenty-four high-grade cockles, and he is selling both baby chicks and eggs. He stated to the News man that he bought 100 rods of poultry wire with which to build pens for the several flocks into which he will divide his army of chickens.

Mr. Terry also stated that under the supervision of Miss Milie M. Halsey he and wife had canned about 250 cans of beef and pork a d possibly 150 cans of fruit. He bought a steam pressure cooker Saturday to use hereafter in his canning operations and he says he is preparing to "sure-enough" live at home.

T. C. Johnson is another man out on Route A who has decided that he could not do without the Lynn County News any longer and so he came in last week and had his name added to our subscription list. Mr. Johnson is also sending the paper to a relative down in northeast Texas with the hope of inducing the gentleman to come out to a sure-enough good country.

Breckenridge—Porter A. Whaley, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and B. M. Whiteker, exhibit manager of the organization were guests of the Chamber of Commerce Luncheon Club here recently. They had attended the annual banquet of the Olney Chamber of Commerce and were enroute home. They each delivered a short talk here.

Tahoka—Lynn County is to have a County school superintendent. The population of the county has increased to the point that the office has been automatically created.

SICKLY, PEEVISH CHILDREN

Children suffering from intestinal worms are cross, restless and unhealthy. There are other symptoms, however. If the child is pale, has dark rings under the eyes, bad breath and takes no interest in play, it is almost a certainty that worms are eating away its vitality. The surest remedy for worms is White's Cream Vermifuge. It is positive destruction to the worms but harmless to the child. Price 35c. Sold by

W. M. U. Circles Hold Meetings

Monday, February 15, 1926 Circle A met with Mrs. Belton Howell with six ladies present, and had their study lesson Circle B met with Mrs. Shepherd and had their lesson while Circle C met at Mrs. Doak's for their lesson with 7 present.

Now Mrs. Shepherd hadn't suspicioned a thing, so imagine her surprise when Circle A and C came in and she had baked only one cake. You see Mrs. Shepherd had a birthday Sunday and our women wanted to express their love and appreciation of her work among us in some way. Mrs. Briley said she had always heard that "a pocket in a shirt was the handiest thing in the world" so her circle decided a whole lot of pockets would be even handier and they had made "lots of pockets." Circle B and C had tried to bring enough gifts to fill all these pockets. Mrs. Shepherd had kept her given name a profound secret all these months among us so the women had a lot of fun trying to guess what to put with "Valentine" for they just knew that must be one part of it.

Someone brought birthday candles for the cake but no one knew how many to put on any way they put on thirty-six, but who knows whether or not it was enough or two many?

Our next meeting will be at the church. Circle A will render the program. All Baptists women are invited to come be one of us.

SIMPSON MAKES STATEMENT TO VOTERS

"Please say to your readers for me that I will be so busy in court and with the duties of my office for the next six weeks that I will not have time to speak to many of the voters about my candidacy for reelection", was the request that came to us from Sheriff Wesley Simpson Saturday. He expects to try to see every voter in the county before the election, however, and he hopes that the voters will make no pledges until he has time to talk with them. District court met Monday and it will be in session four weeks.

Judge Clarke Mullican of Lubbock was here Wednesday looking after some matter pertaining to the courts. He will exchange benches with Judge McGuire on Monday, March 1, since the Crowley case is set for trial on that date and Judge McGuire is disqualified by reason of having been district attorney at the time of the alleged offense.

The members of the parent-teachers association cordially invite you to attend their meeting at the High School Auditorium next Tuesday afternoon.

The city has been doing some splendid work on the streets with the grader. The bumps have been leveled down and the low places filled in. The grader is being operated by Charles Shook and his work is pronounced good on all the streets graded.—O'Donnell Index.

Automobile Enters Doak Barber Shop

An automobile driven by Dock Johnson attempted to enter the barber shop of Ira Doak Thursday morning but met with some obstructions and failed to make the landing. The two front doors were badly disfigured, the glasses in them being shattered into smithereens, and the big plate glass on the east side of the door was also badly broken. The impact of the car against the front of the building and the crashing of the glass as it fell upon the floor and the pavement produced such a noise that people rushed from adjacent buildings and hurried down stairs to find whether it was an earth quake or a cyclone that had struck. The damage to the building, which is owned by Thomas Bros., is considerable.

The car was driven from the parking place in the middle of the street directly across the street and sidewalk at right angles. We are unable to explain just how the accident occurred.

Little Carrell Boy Dies of Pneumonia

Earl Newton Carrell, eleven years of age, living with his parents in the home of Wiley Curry one mile east of town, died of pneumonia Tuesday afternoon, after an illness of about nine days. He was a nephew of Mrs. Curry, she and Mrs. Carrell being sisters. The family had lived here previously but had moved away and they returned to this country just a few months ago.

Funeral services were conducted in the home, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 and interment followed in the City Cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. W. M. Money of this city. Quite a large crowd of relatives and friends attended the funeral and followed the remains to their last resting place.

The grief-stricken parents and relatives have the sincerest sympathy of a host of friends and especially of all of us who have suffered a similar loss.

Denton Boys Making Records as Boxers

Joe and Jack Denton are both making their headquarters now at Anadarko, Oklahoma, and are still in the ring, according to recent letters received by friends. A letter written by Joe a few days ago stated that he was going to Wichita, Kansas, where he was to meet a noted welter weight. His record, as printed on his statinary, showed that out of 140 fights which he has engaged in he has won 132 of them. We have not heard from his latest bout, but friends here are confident that he won. Joe and Jack were reared here and still claim this as their home, and they have many friends here who are delighted to hear of their continued success in the ring.

Lynn Women Doing Demonstration Work

The women of the Lynn Community are doing Home demonstration work this year under the able leadership of the following officers:

Mrs. Jeff Higginbotham, President. Mrs. W. P. Bussell, Vice President. Mrs. J. R. Bartley, Secretary. Program Committee: Mrs. Jim Brown, Mrs. W. R. Bartley, Mrs. J. C. Fenton.

At their first meeting these ladies canned a beef at the home of Mrs. J. T. Eastridge. Their next meeting will be with Mrs. W. R. Bartley, March 3, when the subject will be Gardens and Poultry.

T. W. Johnson, who lives out on Route A, dropped in Friday and ordered the News sent to his address. Said he got a hold of a copy of the paper recently and read it till he wore it out and decided he would come in and make arrangements to have it come to his home every week. It's going.

A. M. McDonald spent several days here this week visiting his old-time boyhood friend, Bill Thompson. This was Mr. McDonald's first trip to Lynn county but we are predicting that it will not be his last one. Bill Thompson, J. K. Callaway, and others here who knew Mr. Mack down at Coolidge and Hubbard say they are going to persuade the Hill county gentleman sooner or later to shake the dust of Hubbard City off his shoes and come to a real farming country.

The officers of the Parent-Teachers Club urges all members of the club to be present next Tuesday afternoon. They urge others to come and join. Lend them the encouragement of your presence and co-operation, if at all possible. They will appreciate it.

Boyd Rice of Dixie came in and set his figures ahead for twelve months Tuesday and stated that they were still pulling snaps out in his community. It is surprising, he declared, how much cotton there is yet to pick, but the price is so low that not much money is realized for it. If the cotton were of a good grade and the price right, the farmers pockets would be bulging with money. The snaps beat no cotton at all, however.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Brashear are happy over the arrival of a fine little fellow who came into their home at an early hour Monday morning. Grandpa Brashear and Uncle Beal are also happy, at least Grandpa will be as soon as he returns home from the markets. Mother and babe are both doing well.

D. J. Wills who removed to this county from Coryell county came in Friday and had his name placed on our subscription list. Said he wanted to keep posted on county news and had been told that the Lynn County News was a jam-up good paper. We'll try to see to it that he gets his money's worth.

Attend the Parent-Teachers Association at the High School Auditorium next Tuesday afternoon.

Drive out to the high school next Tuesday afternoon, meet with the parent-teachers association, take a look at your school building, and learn something of the work that is being done there.

CAR LOAD LISTERS JUST RECEIVED SINGLE ROW and DOUBLE ROW

Dependable and Durable

The Oliver Nos. 16 and 17 listers have proved by years of field performance that they are dependable and durable and that they completely meet the requirements of the farmer who needs a one row lister.

The Oliver Nos. 16 and 17 are two wheel listers equipped to plant corn, cotton, peanuts and other row crops. True running bottoms characterize these Oliver listers insuring smooth and even furrows. The frame is sufficiently strong to withstand all stresses to which a lister is subjected.

Accuracy of planting is obtained by use of a seeding attachment that will not skip or bunch the seed. The seeding mechanism is driven by a chain operating from the main axle.

Dependable, accurate listing is assured with Oliver equipment.

BULLDOGS TAKE PART IN DISTRICT MEET

margin of score. This victory greatly encouraged the boys and eagerly they awaited the time when they should take on another victim. At eight O'clock Friday night they were to play Lorena. The game was fast and furious with the home boys in the lead at the end of the first half. The few who were on the sidelines from Tahoka were very enthusiastic for the team to win from Lorena quiet. The second quarter started with a rust and lasted for some time with the score very close. Several fouls were drawn by the home boys. In the third quarter Dave drew four which eliminated him from the contest. As Barney walked off the court the pep of the team seemed to be broken a story knew their chances were lessened by the loss of the captain and star forward of the team.

Barney took the place of Dave and did some good work but the boys were unsteady and drew a defeat from Lorena to a score of 28 to 12.

We all feel that the boys did well in the meet. The Lorena team were the final champions of the meet.

The curtain has fallen on the basketball season to give place to a brilliant season of baseball. We have some good material and Coach Bone started the boys working on baseball and track this last Monday.

With the co-operation of the school, the town and the work of the team it is entirely possible to have a real team in baseball.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Briley and their daughter Jennie made a hurried trip Friday, E. M. last week end, returning Sunday night. Mr. Briley recently purchased a quarter section of irrigated land there and they went out to see about it. Mrs. Briley says that while there they inspected a big potato curing plant and that it was really a wonderful sight. Sweet potatoes are raised there in almost unlimited quantities, as well as other vegetables, and the Brileys were much pleased with the country.

Wimberley Is Candidate For Sheriff

T. A. Wimberley, city marshal of O'Donnell, has entered the ring out on the political race track and will do his best to come out a full cent ahead of any of the other contenders in the race for sheriff and tax collector of Lynn County. Mr. Wimberley believes that he has a fast horse and it is said that many of the friends agree with him. He has been city marshal at O'Donnell the past two years, perhaps longer and the office of city marshal in that growing town has come to be an important one. He feels that the experience he has had in ferreting out crime and in dealing with criminals will be quite valuable to him in the performance of the duties of the office of sheriff. He promises if elected to do his full duty and to point to the record as city marshal of the town to show his good faith. He also feels that his town and section of the county ought to have recognition in the election of the official this year, and he calls upon his friends all over the county to render their recognition. He will greatly appreciate the support of every man and woman in the county, regardless of their place of residence, and says that if elected he will expect to serve all the people with fairness and impartiality. We bespeak for his candidacy the earnest consideration of the voters of the county.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to the good people of Tahoka for their quick response to our call for help when our home was being destroyed by fire and for help in saving our household goods. We shall ever hold you in remembrance and hope you will never have to suffer such a loss. N. M. Bray, wife and daughter.
