Need Of Civic League Apparent

Beauty of Town Could Be Wonderfully Improved--Streets Weedy, Yards Untidy and Cemetery Suffering

One of the paramount needs of Tahoka at present is a Civic League. Let us look at the condition of things as they really are and some of the ways in which the deplorable conditions could be alleviated under the auspices of a live Civic League.

To the prospector, visitor and stranger with in our gates we must present a woe-be-gone aspect. There are un-numbered streets and alleys grown high with weeds among which have collected old papers, rags, cans and other unsightly refuse. These places are the best fly breeders and brooders in the world, and fly breeders mean fever breeder, and fever breeders mean an increase in population in our city of the dead, which brings us to another point shamefully neglected.

Our cemetery is an eyesore and a disgrace. There are a score of graves sunken in, the headstones toppling or the headboards rotting away, some of them completely gone. The yard is grown high with grass and weeds and is a rendezvous and hibernating place for all kinds of vermin and reptiles. To think that we will let the graves of those we loved and respected, while alive, and whose memory we should cherish deteriorate to the state of delapidation that now exists there makes us ashamed. Our neglect is simply unhuman—it is brutish. Like the dumb brute when visited by death, we mope around a few days and then forget all about the departed.

It is time we got in line. Slaton has organized a civic league, named their cemetery Belle Vista and pledged themselves to make it all its name signifies—beautiful view. Lamesa also has a civic club who have an AI plan in operation. One day in each month is set aside as 'work day.' Everyone, young and old, who is interested takes their way to the cemetery, as early as convenient, armed with some garden implement and a lunch. As soon as a good number have arrived, work is begun and every one works with a will weeding the yard, straightening stones and heaping up the graves. The work days coming every month there is comparatively little to do. At noon the lunches are spread and a quiet meal enjoyed, after which the finishing touches are put on and the crowd departs for their respective homes. Lamesa has 60 acres in her cemetery, has it enclosed by an iron fence and a well on it. Each church and fraternal order has a plot to themselves.

What are we going to do about it.

PRINTER'S INK

(By W. Holt Harris, Chairman of Mercantile Committee, C. S. A.)

Printer's ink is a great salesman, and it is the cheapest drummer a merchant can employ. It carries the message of the bargain counter to the people, brings the show window to the home and teaches all our citizens an important lesson in economy.

The local paper is the best salesman a merchant can engage. Its services are always available, and thru it opportunity continually knocks at the merchant's door.

No merchant can become a power in business unless he advertises. He cannot hope to draw trade unless he illuminates the pathway to his store with the shining light of publicity. Success does not search for men in dark places.

I do not believe that an arbitrary rule can be laid down for expenditures that would fit every case, but no yearly budget is well balanced that does not contain a heavy item for advertising. Many successful merchants set aside three and a half per cent of their annual sales for advertising and the results prove it to be their best investment.

Some merchants depend on their personality, business influence and their acquaintance in the community to draw trade, and these are desirable factors that every merchant needs, but the price and quality of the merchandise set forth in the local paper in convincing language and attractive style is far more overpowering and far reaching and is the greatest asset a store can possess.

The merchant should make his local paper the right arm of his business and he who fails to do so neglects a great opportunity.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Herring left Wednesday morning for Matador to visit Mr. Herring's mother.

Mrs. Dela Swan and two children, of Avoca, came in the first of the week to visit her sister, Mrs. P. Miller.

While preambulating around the burg one day this week in search of something to fill the columns of this issue of the News we were accosted by a man of a belligerent disposition who asked in no uncertain voice, why in the Sam Douse we had not mentioned his garden and orchard when we were writing up the show places of Tahoka. It is needless to say that we were considerably frightened and lost no time in stammering an apology and assuring him that we would make it convenient to look his place over immediately. But laying all lying and joking aside when we made it convenient to pass by the A. S. Coughran place and inspect Burt King's garden we were surprised at the abundance of vegetable and fruit we saw. Trees laden with peaches, plums and apples, grape vines sagging with the weight of their fruit and garden truck of the best varieties grown to perfection. The key note of success in gardening here is cultivation. Keep a patch free of weeds and the ground stirred and the soil do the rest.

'SOME PEACHES' BROUGHT IN BY W. H. KEETH

Six years ago W. H. Keeth, of twelve miles northwest of Tahoka, bought $8 worth of fruit trees from Shed Weathers, who at that time was representing the Emma Nursery. Only two of these trees have proven to be of any account, but these two—peach trees—that Mr. Keeth thinks are of the Mamie Ross variety began to bear the second year after being put out and have borne good crops each year since, this year being fairly loaded with large delicious peaches. Mr. Keeth brought in four peaches from these two trees Saturday and The News man took them down and got Jack Alley, the postmaster, to weigh them on the government scales and each peach weighed six and a half ounces, the four weighing one and five eighths pounds. These peaches measured eight and seven-eighths inches around and were good enough for anyone to eat. Mr. Keeth says that it is not that we can't raise peaches here, but that we have not yet found what varieties do best here. "Sooner or later," says Mr. Keeth, "every bit of the sandy land where I live will be in fruit orchards, now mark what I say."

A car of flour came in on the Tuesday train for local parties.

J. L. Stokes, County Judge,
Tahoka, Texas

Dear Sir:
Judge G. W. Perryman to all appearances remains about like he was when he came here. He is quiet, gives very little trouble and seems to be contented with his surroundings.

Very truly yours,

There were light showers west of us Wednesday and there were a few clouds past here with more or less rumbling. Here's hopping.

Miss Addie George, of Ralls, enroute from a visit to her parents in New Mexico, spent Tuesday night at home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Lockhart. She took the morning train for Ralls.

Paul Gooch, of near O'Donnell, was a passenger on the Wednesday morning local enroute to Calgary, Canada, whither he journeys in quest of Dame Fortune.

Mrs. J. L. Stokes, of North Tahoka, is now living on her father's farm, eight miles east of Tahoka, the McGonigal farm, and so County Judge Stokes says he is now a countryman. He comes into his office work each morning and returns to the farm in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McGonigal and little Miss Dorris, of eight miles east of Tahoka, left Monday morning for Sweetwater. They have gone to have Miss Dorris treated for sciatic rheumatism, and if she does not improve in a few days they will go to Marlin Wells.

Mr. Marshall, the station agent at Slaton, was telling the conductor on our road the other day that during his vacation, from which he had just returned, he had traveled from Topeka to Galveston and he had seen no place where things looked as well as they do right here at home.

Friday morning of last week Geo. Small, Jr., finished cutting nineteen acres of oats on his farm two and a half miles east of Tahoka; and those who have seen this crop say it will trash from 40 to 50 bushels to the acre. G. W. Small, Sr., who has been over much of the State says this crop is as good as he has seen anywhere.

MAKE THE FARM A HOME

(By Mrs. E. P. Turner, Chairman, Home and Schools, Farmers Life Commission)

The first building a farmer should construct is a home. Let the pig pens, the barn and machinery sheds come next; do not reverse the order. Treat the family at least as well as you treat the livestock. Home is the place where human character—the divine jewel—is formed and we should take as much interest in producing pure character as we do in raising pure stock and the scientific cultivation of the lives intrusted to our care is as important as the scientific cultivation of the land.

The government sends farm demonstrators to teach the farmers how to make the farm more profitable, but why not send home demonstrators to teach us how to make life more profitable? The lives of the farm house wives are at best monotonous, and much freer from suggestion than those of the men who work the field. The work of beautifying the home, adding to it comforts and conveniences, lends itself readily to scientific suggestion. There are many simple contrivances for relieving drudgery that will follow suggestion. The home and the housewife should come first in farming.

CITY BUILDING NOTES

The ship of progress waits for no one.

Shady streets makes life's walk more pleasant.

The proof of development is the doing thereof.

The county fair is the show window of the community.

Commercial activities demoralize the ghost of failure.

Health as well as wealth should be considered in every movement undertaken.

Remorse is never so apparent as the morning after the wasted opportunity.

Good roads are the ties that bind the farmer willingly to the farm with a golden thread.

The golden rule in modern times has often been construed to read, "patronize home industries."

Agriculture is the world's greatest industry, but without transportation facilities it loses half its greatness.

The man who does not find pleasure in commercial development will soon realize that life is a gloomy proposition.

Smoke stacks and big buying bank rolls are assets that will eventually double the population and bring prosperity to the community.

The intelligent farmer would rather own a fair farm on an improved highway than fine land in the back woods where the mud hole is predominant.

Every community in the world has the same unalienable rights and the most important of these are prosperity, development and civic attractiveness.

G. W. King, the liveryman, took the Monday morning train enroute for Jones county. He will spend some time visiting his kinsmen there.

What About Our County Fair?

Its Success Must Lay With The Farmer--The City Will Do Her Part--Mr. Farmer How Is Your Exhibit?

"How about our County Fair," is a question that should be uppermost in the thoughts of every citizen of Lynn county who has the welfare of the county at heart. It is a waste of time to discuss the benefits to be derived from a county fair, as every intelligent person can see the benefit to be derived from bringing the best of the county's production together where the world can see what we are doing. "By their fruits ye shall know them."

The success of our fair lies mainly with the farmers. Will they co-operate with the townsmen? The farmer is the producer and unless he takes care in selecting and preserving his best specimens for exhibition our fair will be a failure—a liability instead of an asset.

That the towns people will put forth every effort to make the Fair a success is an assured thing. The Fair to them has an intrinsic value. Unlike the farmer the merchant gets returns direct from the Fair, and also indirectly when the farmer gets his returns, by the increased immigration and the increased property values.

Now Mr. Farmer we are going to have a Fair and we are going to offer some prize and we want your co-operation to pull off the best county fair on the South Plains. If you haven't anything out of the ordinary, preserve the best you have. We want every farmer to bring in the best he has irrespective of general quality. It is better to try and not succeed than not to have tried at all.

Dear brother:
How the fresh vegetables were enjoyed! The freeze killed our first planting and the English sparrows destroyed the last, so we are without a garden this year.

That was quite a benevolent idea of the Sunday School to think of making the donation. Please express to all our deepest gratitude.

Yours sincerely,

In the Canal Winchester Times of July 17, is a report of one of the most destructive hails of the season. Stones fell in different sizes ranging from the size and shape of a hen egg to irregular hunks three inches in diameter. Nurserymen, truckers and florists were the heaviest property losers, one firm losing $35,000 worth of glass besides the damage sustained by the plants. From the report we draw the conclusion that they don't carry hail insurance in Ohio.

Work for Our Youthful Offenders

By Mrs. D. O. Rosenthal, San Francisco

What shall we do with our youthful offenders? The following: Give them work, find out what their ambitions are, study their characteristics and lead them along the lines that their ambition desires; feed them nourishing foods and keep them to physical development; have them respect themselves through a course of training that will lead, not drive them to acts; put them on their honor, but always keep them employed, not in a work that they would consider arduous, but work so arranged that it will draw out their thought and awaken their interest.

Make the remuneration such that they will be satisfied. Place before their minds the desire to excel and do well what they have to do.

The great trouble with the present system of human affairs is that people are not given the opportunity to be employed. The problem is simple if handled in an intelligent way.

Athletics, pure surroundings, ample nourishment, cleanliness, ambition to excel inculcated into the minds of boys and girls and the question what to do with them is solved.

In addition to the above, teach them to accumulate some portion of their earnings; instill in their minds that the gloss of city life is not as conducive to their happiness and welfare as the country.

Teach them thrift, honesty, sobriety, self-control, energy, efficiency. Make them strong, robust human beings and you have the question solved.

Inadequacy of English Language Is Shown

By John Bulow, San Francisco

When the discussion arose among the Illinois suffragettes about the proper title for women, some being in favor of using "mistress" for both married and single women, while others proposed to use the term "mister," it brought to light in a rather laughable manner one of the inadequacies of the English language.

That there is need of a title applicable to all grown females of the human species regardless of whether they be married or single is quite evident. But to confiscate the term "Mr." or "Mrs." would not be an easy feat, as these titles are held by their present owners by virtue of long possession, and being hard to dispense with they would not be surrendered without a serious struggle.

If it is necessary to annex a title or a prefix already in use, would it not be feasible to adopt the piquant French "madame," which is now being used to some extent by milliners and hairdressers irrespective of their marital state?

It is not likely that the few practitioners who are now availing themselves of it would have any serious objection to its adoption for general use.

When the elevator breaks down the optimist laughs merrily because his office is on the eleventh floor instead of the sixteenth. But everybody knows what the pessimist does in the circumstances.

WHY HE ENJOYED IT.

Sam Bernard, the comedian, was walking down Broadway when a huge crowd attracted his attention. He joined the crowd, to find that it was watching a handful of laborers who were digging a hole in the street.

"Odd, ain't it," said the manager, "how little it takes to gather a New York crowd? Here we are, a couple of hundred of us, breathlessly watching a few men shovel dirt. By the way," the manager added, "that chesty chap in the pink shirt seems to enjoy his job. Look at the showy way he flourishes his shovel."

"Why," said Mr. Bernard, "that's Platt, an ex-a-tor. You see, he never platt to such a large and appreciative audience before."

HIS GETTING OUT PLACE

"What is that?"
"I would like to arrange a program with 'Songs Without Words' rendered by voiceless singers."

"What did you say your business was?"
"Instructor in harmony."
"Hum: There ought to be a wide field for that work."

HORSE SAW HIMSELF AS OTHERS SEE HIM

Produced Wonderment, Chagrin, Anger, Pleasure, and All Other Equine Emotions.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—To see himself as others see him, probably for the first time in an uneventful existence, produced wonderment, chagrin, anger, pleasure, and all the equine emotions combined, in a decrepit specimen of horseflesh which the other day was given its first opportunity to gaze into the limpid depths of a mirror. All of which caused mighty merriment to an admiring gathering of Penn avenue folks and consequent amazement to an astonished driver. It happened when a huge moving van, stalled by a street car blockade, in turn held up behind it the dilapidated outfit of a junk peddler.

Jauntily balanced on the rear of the moving van was a huge mirror.

Nose to Nose With a Brother.

and when the moth-eaten horse following in its wake came to a halt the driver promptly dropped off into slumber. The siesta was not for long. Suddenly there were nervous tremors from his steed. Then agitated quivers. The charger was nose to nose with a brother. He nodded. So did the brother. He twitched an ear in unembarrassed comradeship. A friendly ear twitched in sympathy. Then followed a varied and wierd program of joyous gyrations, some combative, some sportive, all with surprising abandon. It took a frantic manipulation of the lines to break up the happy performance before the mirror was shattered. When the long line of stalled vehicles and street cars again moved on its way, the animated steed was proudly prancing in the wake of his new found friend, who, strange to say, was proudly prancing in perfect union.

$15,000 FOR WEEK'S BOARD

Indianapolis Woman Who Befriended a Tramp Is Remembered in His Will.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Board for one week at $15,000 would indicate that the high cost of living is still soaring, but in reality, the week at $15,000 in question, indicates only the gratitude of a tramp to Mrs. Laura Wilhoite, 537 Holly avenue, for a service she rendered him 21 years ago.

Wearily and dejected, a forlorn looking man approached her door at Franklin, Ind., and asked for a bite to eat. This she cheerfully gave, and allowed him to rest on a lounge just inside her door. While resting, the tramp became delirious and Mrs. Wilhoite was forced to care for him for a week. When he was able to travel the men folks made up a purse and purchased a ticket for him to Chicago.

Mrs. Wilhoite received word the other day from a Chicago law firm that she is really to receive $15,000 from the estate of John Henry Tilson of Chicago, the man she befriended. When the Tilson will was probated one year ago, Mrs. Wilhoite was named as a beneficiary to $25,000 of his $50,000 fortune. Then a nephew of Tilson appeared and began suit to break the will. She compromised, giving him $10,000 to drop his claim.

Since Tilson applied at their home in Franklin for aid, the Wilhoites have separated, the husband now being in Ohio. They have corresponded at intervals, however, and Mrs. Wilhoite has sent him notice of her good fortune. Though she at first said she would not agree to live with him again, a lingering longing was detected in her eye as she looked out toward Ohio.

The Holy Spirit

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D. D.
Dean of the Moody Bible Institute
Chicago

TEXT—"Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed?" Acts XIX, 2 thing to "receive the Holy Ghost." This brings up the whole question as to the relation of the Holy Spirit to the disciple, or the believer in Christ.

1. The personality of the Holy Spirit. We should keep in mind that the Holy Spirit is a divine person. Personality consists in self-consciousness and free will, and that the Holy Spirit possesses personality in this sense is evident from three things: (a) He has the attributes of personality; (b) He does the works of a personality; (c) He has the names of a personality. Speaking of his attributes, there is one which, more than any other, helps to a realization of his personality. His attribute of love, which is referred to only in Romans 15:30. Do you know that the Holy Spirit loves you, as a believer in Christ, with a love in some sense distinct from that either of the Father or the Son? How marvelously near that brings him to our hearts! The Father's love manifested itself in the giving of his Son; the Son's love in the offering of himself upon the cross, and the Holy Spirit's love in taking up his abode in us.

2. The indwelling of the Holy Spirit. This brings us to the second thought, viz. the indwelling of the Holy Spirit. That indwelling was promised in John 14:16-17. He had dwelt "with" the disciples therefore, but he was to dwell "in them" by and by. He had been as a power acting on them from without, but thereafter he was to influence them from within. The promise was renewed again in Acts 1:4-5, where the indwelling was spoken of as the "baptism" of the Holy Spirit. The realization came on the day of Pentecost, when the disciples were indwelt, baptized and filled with the Holy Spirit at one and the same time.

This transaction, however, as far as the first two terms are concerned, was not limited to the church assembled on that day, but applies to the whole church since. Such would seem to be suggested by 1 Corinthians, 12:12-14, where 20 years after Pentecost we are taught that as believers "we were all baptized by one Spirit into one body." What "body" is means if not the body of Christ, the church? And what "baptism" if not that "one baptism" on the day of Pentecost?

3. The filling of the Holy Spirit. But while the first two terms of that transaction on the day of Pentecost, the indwelling and the baptism (which are one) were for the whole church potentially, and for all time, yet the same does not apply to the third, the filling of the Holy Spirit. There is but one indwelling, but many fillings. We gather this from Acts 5:31, where the same persons who were "filled" on the day of Pentecost were refilled on a subsequent occasion. And again, in Acts 6, when men are to be chosen to the office of deacon it must be by those who are "full of the Holy Spirit," as if some were thus spiritually equipped while others were not. It is something corresponding to this, therefore, which Paul has in mind in our text, when he said: "Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed?" The reception of the Holy Ghost on their part resulted in an endowment of power, but in other places of the Acts, notably the fourth chapter, it is seen to have resulted not only in the spirit of power, but of unity and love. It is his that we ministers, evangelists and Christian workers need and that the whole church needs in order to accomplish her mission for Jesus Christ on earth.

How may the fillings of the Holy Spirit be received by the believer on the Lord Jesus Christ? Prayer, obedience and faith seem to be the only conditions, if they may be called conditions. Speaking of 25th, there is a sense in which the gift of the Holy Spirit, i. e., the filling of the Holy Spirit, should be received by as definite an act on our part as that by which we laid hold of salvation through Jesus Christ; but this faith is not likely to be experienced, where obedience is not present. "God giveth the Holy Ghost to them that obey him." Peter says (Acts V.), and this agrees perfectly with the teaching of the Old Testament in Proverbs 1: "Turn ye at my reproof, behold, I will pour out my spirit unto you." Nor is this obedience merely occasional with some great thing, but it is to be usual and common in the little things.
