Agricultural Booth Secured at Waco Cotton Palace

Lynn County Will Send Splendid Exhibit. Will Be in Charge of Special Representative.

A few Tahoka citizens held a meeting in the lobby of the Guaranty State Bank Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of selecting various committees in connection with the Lynn County agricultural exhibit, which is being prepared for exhibition at the Waco Cotton Palace next month.

Dr. E. E. Callaway was appointed chairman of the meeting and a general discussion was had in regard as what should be done to get together a suitable display.

A. L. Lockwood, president of the First National Bank, was appointed to secure the proper funds to finance the expense incurred in sending a representative with the display and also the printing of literature for advertising purposes.

Messrs. Ben. T. Brown and Boyce Hatchett and Mrs. Frank Weaver were appointed by the chairman to get together the exhibit, which is being assembled at the First National Bank. Mrs. Weaver will look after the fruit and vegetable department and Messrs. Brown and Hatchett other products. We are informed that up to this date not half enough products has been contributed to make a decent display in the booth that has been secured at Waco, and it is urged that every person in the county donate a sample of something that he or she has grown this year, especially it is requested that a good showing of fruit and vegetables be made. Elsewhere in this issue is an appeal to the ladies of the county to donate a generous sample of the two latter named items. The fruit will be returned to the owner where it is possible.

Messrs. M. M. Herring, Frank H. Weaver and R. B. Haynes were appointed as a committee to arrange and prepare suitable literature for advertising the county at large. It is planned to print a sixteen page folder, well filled with half-tone cuts showing the wonderful crops raised and scenes of our public buildings and business houses.

Every town and community in the county has a part in the Lynn county booth at the Cotton Palace, and every person is requested to assist in making it a success. It is not for the benefit of any one person or concern, but for every citizen residing within its lines.

Make an effort to assist the committees in every way possible, to properly advertise LYNN county. Give as you have never given before. Let's put our county in the proper light before the eyes of thousands that will attend the Waco Cotton Palace from all parts of the United States.

Otus Reeves, Vice-president of the Tahoka Oil & Gas Co., was down here Monday from Plainview attending a meeting of the company.

Ben. T. Brown To Remain In Tahoka

In an item copied from the Lubbock Avalanche in last weeks issue of the News referring to Ben. T. Brown having accepted a position with the Rix Furniture Company of that city, we are informed by Mr. Brown that the statement was an error on the part of that paper. He was offered a good position with the firm but decided that it was to his benefit to remain with the First National Bank, of Tahoka. His many friends will be glad to learn of his decision to remain in our city.

50-Cent Cotton Predicted By Brokers

DALLAS, TEXAS, Sept. 22—Fifty-cent cotton is predicted by brokers on Wall Street, according to announcement made today from the State headquarters of the American Cotton Association. In confirming this statement is sighted an extensive statement by Carlisle Rowntree of Rowntree Bros., cotton brokers in New York.

"One factor that has not been considered in many of the discussions as to cotton price is the morale of the Southern farmer," according to Mr. Rowntree. "The majority of them do not know, nor do they pretend to know but little about the effect of the world's visible supply, mill stocks, exports, consumption, census reports, crop estimates, exchange money rates, foreign labor unrest, strike troubles, or any of the economic factors that enter into making of the market.

But they do know that they had a taste of 36-cent cotton last fall, since when none of the cotton goods they use have declined, and that if necessary, they will eat corn bread and hold their cotton until they get that price again. * * * Since the majority of farmers have realized more cash the past few months than ever before out of their grain and other crops, they are in a position to hold if necessary.

"And they will have the help this year of the Southern banker, many of whom realize that they were duped this spring by insistent, pre-conceived, organized bear propaganda, predicated upon the assumption that if the Southern banker got scared, that the spot holders would be forced to sell for cash, which is just what happened in many instances around the 20-cent level.

"Six weeks ago practically all the big operators and interests in New York City were predicting that cotton would hit 40 cents per pound in a few days more. This caused a considerable long interest to accrue, thus weakening the technical condition of the market and making possible for heavy selling to start the break and make the longs run, this additional selling to cause the market to go still lower.

Now while these same interests are putting out a lot of pessimistic dope and figures showing that cotton must decline still further on account of present conditions, they almost without exception believe in higher prices eventually.

"The answer is, there will not be much further decline.

"If each of the 300,000 farmers and merchants in the South would appoint himself a committee of one to buy a contract of ten bales and call for the actual cotton at the time of expiration, there is no limit to the price cotton would sell for.

"The only way to decrease the price of a commodity like cotton is to increase the production, and unless the producer gets a living price over his cost of making the crop, the production will not be increased."

The statement printed in the large daily papers of the East and South further says cotton is sure to go to 50 cents when the channels of trade are opened. The American Cotton Association has been urging farmers to warehouse their cotton and hold for a good price. Cotton warehouses under bonded warehouse receipts becomes splendid collateral for the banks and gives the farmer an opportunity to hold his crop until he can realize for cotton what he justly deserves.

The Texas Division of the American Cotton Association is planning soon a membership campaign in Texas. In the organization of the cotton growers conditions can be bettered. To this end the Association is working.

Walter (Happy) Smith returned to the oil fields Monday, after spending several days here visiting with his parents.

R. L. Jones returned from a business trip to Ft. Worth Tuesday.

Attention Ladies of Lynn County

The Cotton Palace Fair Committee of Lynn county is very desirous of making a good display of canned fruits and vegetables in the Lynn county exhibit which will be shown at Waco. It is urged that every lady in the county bring in a sample and leave same at the First National Bank for this purpose. All fruit in jars will be returned to the owner where it is possible to do so. Let the women take a part in advertising this wonderful country by preparing a nice sample of fruit and vegetables. Show the outside world what a wonderful country we are living in.

The time is short in which to properly prepare the exhibit, and if you will help in this matter, bring in the sample within the next few days.

Continued Rainfall Greatly Damages Feed Crops

Rainfall, amounting to One and Three Hundredths inches, had fallen over Lynn county up till seven o'clock Thursday morning making a total precipitation of four and three hundredths inches within the past ten days.

The continued rains have greatly damaged feed crops in this section, causing the loss of thousands of dollars.

The cotton crop will not suffer to any great extent in so far as the yield is concerned, according to information obtained from those in position to know. Had it not been for the rains, however, several hundred bales would have already been ginned in the county, whereas only two or three have come in to date. As it is the crop will be considerably later than if dry, warm weather had prevailed.

Second Oil Well May be Drilled In Lynn County

Meeting Held By Interested Parties Monday. Steps Being Taken to Finance Proposition.

Last Monday afternoon a meeting was held in the offices of the Tahoka Oil & Gas Co., by several Tahoka and Plainview citizens to discuss the advisability of drilling a new well south of town, and the prospects are good at this time that another well will be drilled within the next few weeks.

The Cowan well has been abandoned and workmen are now engaged in pulling a string of six, ten, twelve and fourteen inch casing, comprising a depth of 2750 feet. This work is expected to be completed by the middle of the coming week.

A private subscription is being circulated to secure sufficient funds to insure drilling the well to the desired depth of 3500 or 4000 feet, and already several thousand dollars has been subscribed by local citizens.

Citizens of Tahoka, as well as Plainview are exceedingly anxious that a new well be drilled.

New officers will be selected and a new drilling crew engaged to put down the well, when the desired means have been secured to insure the carrying out of present plans.

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND SCHOOL TEACHERS SHORT

According to a report of the National Educational Association there will be at the opening of the schools of the country this September 100,000 teaching places without teachers and if these places are filled at all they will have to be filled with untrained and inexperienced teachers who are in the business only temporarily and are using it as a stepping stone to something better. According to the same report, one-fourth of the teachers in the American public schools are under 19 years of age; mere boys and girls without the training and experience to do the work they are undertaking to do; one-fourth have had no more education than that afforded by the elementary schools or through the seventh grade; about one-half of them have not finished high school and only about one-twentieth of them have professional training.

It is estimated that in the Texas schools alone there will be 4,000 vacancies at the beginning of this school year. It is stated that during the past year 4,500 of the best women teachers and 1,200 of the best men in the Texas schools have left the profession. There are hundreds of teaching places in the Panhandle without teachers.

BIG INDUSTRY IS BEING WORKED UP AT RALLS

Ralls Banner.

There is now in process of organization in Ralls a company, to be known as the Continental Stamping & Manufacturing Co., which, should final organization be perfected, and this now seems certain, means more to our town than all the other enterprises we have yet secured.

This company proposes to do all kinds of sheet metal work on a large scale, the object being to cover all the Plains country, and probably all of West Texas, supplying retailers with every conceivable thing needed in this line.

We understand that the main factory building is to be 75x150, of brick and concrete, and work will be commenced on it as early in the spring as the weather will permit.

This building will house the shears and presses. There will be shears for square, oval, oblong, circle and curve work. The monster gap shears will weigh better than 30 tons, and one of the large presses more than 36 tons. Every machine will be equipped with double friction clutch. The entire plant will be steam heated, electric lighted and ventilated.

The promoters also contemplate establishing a galvanizing and enameling factory on the same site as soon as the first unit is done.

The first unit will cost, ready to run, $75,000, and the last two units $50,000. The first unit is to be in operation by October 1, 1920.

When the three units are in operation our town will have one of the largest and most complete factories of the kind in the world, and will go a long way toward making Ralls the city it is striving to be.

This will be the first factory of the kind in the southwest, and one of the most modern and up-to-date sheet and metal stamp mills in the country.

To start with, 75 skilled workmen would be employed, and the pay roll would amount to about $3,000 per week.

WILL URGE INCOME TAX LAW FOR TEXAS

Austin, Texas, Sept. 20.—State Tax Commissioner James A. King has three major recommendations in his annual report, now in course of preparation, the most far-reaching being an income tax law for Texas, largely patterned after the Federal statute, but with many material modifications and exemptions.

"My object is to reach the very large incomes in Texas and compel them to pay a just tax to the State. The law I will recommend will not be designed to get the ordinary salaried and working man. Its purpose will be to reach the incomes of those who are well able to pay the tax and ought to pay the State something on such large amounts. It will not be nearly so far-reaching as the Federal law."

A State Board of Equalization is the second recommendation of the Tax Commissioner. "Texas is away behind most of the other States in this matter," said Mr. King, "for most of the States have a central agency for equalizing the taxes as between the communities. In Texas there is a widely varying percentage of assessment to the real value. It is large in a few counties and goes far down the scale in others. The State Tax Board would be beyond the local influence which often prevent the local authorities from making proper assessments and would enforce the same ratio of assessments in all the counties. It is absolutely needed at this time, in my opinion."

Third and last of the recommendations is the enlargement of the intangible assets tax law to embrace all of the large industrial corporations of the State, including oil producers, oil refineries, pipe lines, interurbans, telegraph companies, express companies, wharf companies, packing houses, street railways and so on.

This is a renewal of Mr. King's recommendation to the Governor made at the convening of the last special session of the Legislature. At present the law reaches only the railroads and bridge and ferry companies.

M. H. WOLFE ISSUES STATEMENT ON TEXAS POLITICS

M. H. Wolfe, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, in referring to the new party movements in Texas, said: "My information from every part of the State indicates that the new political movements in Texas are getting no where. It seems sure that all true democrats will be voting at the same old stand next year. When the average democrat hears barking on the side of the road all he needs to do is to tap up old Beck and Kit and drive right on. Just drive right on with the old ship of state, she is headed in the right direction and the people are in the saddle. The invisible government in Texas has blown up and life is too short to follow dead ducks. That's all."

386 VICTIMS BURIED WITH MANY UNDISCOVERED

Corpus Christi, Sept. 20.—With all relief measures progressing smoothly it was declared today that probably two weeks would find the storm devastated area of Corpus Christi cleared of wreckage left by last Sunday's tidal wave. Search for the bodies of additional victims continued today across Nueces Bay in the White Point section where persons directing the work believed many more bodies will be found under the wreckage on and near the shore.

The only hope officials see of a death list not exceeding 500 is in the probability that there have been a number found and buried in a certain section. The known dead according to the official list compiled by the relief committee stood at 386 today as there were no reports from searchers since last night. Results of today's hunt will not be available until evening.

FARMERS BUY STOCK TO EAT SURPLUS FEED

Snyder, Texas, Sept. 18.—The people here are rapidly restocking with hogs and cattle. C. E. Ferguson has shipped in a car of Jersey cows and calves from Kaufman county. Frank Broomfield and T. W. Gateheart of Dunn, have received by express three registered Holstein heifers from Wisconsin.

Several cars of hogs have been shipped in from East Texas, and were readily bought by farmers who are overstocked with feedstuff.

ABILENE TO BUILD EMERGENCY SCHOOLS

Abilene, Sept. 18.—Emergency buildings will be necessary to handle Abilene's scholastic this year. R. D. Green, city superintendent, says. When the public schools opened Monday there was a big influx of pupils and the rush continues. Over 1,500 were enrolled the first day, of which 430 were in High School. Several classes are without rooms and teachers.

Plans are being made for the construction of enough temporary buildings to care for the overflow.

RAIN, WASHOUTS, DETOURS BLOCK RAIL TRAFFIC

Rains, derailments, detours—these explain late trains into Fort Worth Sunday and Monday.

Rains were reported by the Rock Island east to Irving, by T. & P. west through the oil fields and by the Frisco south to Dublin.

A derailment on the T. & P. west of Fort Worth caused a long delay. The Sunshine Special from El Paso, due in Fort Worth at 2:40 Sunday afternoon, did not arrive until late Monday morning. A derailment in Hill County caused Katy trains from the south to be several hours late Monday morning. Fort Worth & Denver trains ran from forty-five minutes to an hour and thirty minutes late Sunday and Monday, due to a washout at the Canadian River.—Star-Telegram.

Many Cases of Flu Already Reported

Last week I called your attention to the probability of a recurrence of influenza this fall and winter and stated that in the past the death rate grew larger with each recurrence. You were advised to get busy preparing yourselves and your town in anticipation of a recurrence. Since that time reports have reached this department of cases of influenza in three widely separated sections of the State.

While there are many things that have always acted as leading factors in promoting public health work, the dominating impulse should be the desire to prevent sickness, suffering and death, a love for one's fellow man and the desire to do everything possible to add to his comfort and welfare. Civic and personal pride follows closely as a factor promoting public health, for a desire to have the cleanest house and the cleanest town should be the pride of every one.

I am now calling upon you to set aside one day this week as "CLEAN UP AND ORGANIZATION DAY." Do not stop until you have organized your forces and given your town a thorough cleaning. After a thorough clean-up, let us have for our motto "No more trash littered back yards, streets or alleys. No more vacant lots overgrown with weeds and grass. No more pools of stagnant water."

I am asking that all Health Boards call a meeting this week and invite the school boards, the Commercial Clubs, the Civic Clubs, the Parent-Teachers Association, the Physicians and Nurses, and all other organizations interested in problems of health, be invited to participate and at this meeting organize forces, perfect plans for a present clean up, and provide for follow-up workers and emergency demands that may arise.

In anticipation of an epidemic of influenza or one of any other nature, organize your forces, enroll your workers and have everything ready to meet an emergency at a moment's notice.

If your numbers will permit I suggest that the following officers and committees be appointed, and charged with looking after that particular phase of the work:

- (1) A President, or Superintendent of Public Health, with a Secretary.

(2) A Committee to raise funds to meet the demands, present and future.

(3) A committee of follow-up-workers, or Inspectors to see that everything is kept in proper shape after having been put in proper condition.

(4) A Committee on Law Enforcement, to see that all sanitary laws are enforced and all offenders prosecuted.

(5) A Committee on PUBLIC HEALTH EDUCATION. This committee should be composed of Physicians and nurses, who are willing to devote a short time at stated intervals, to giving instructions in public health rules, work and problems.

(6) A RELIEF COMMITTEE whose duty it shall be to see that all indigent cases are supplied with necessary medical attention, food and clothing during any epidemic.

(7) A Committee of VOLUNTEER WORKERS. This committee should enroll the names of all physicians and nurses, trained and practical, who are willing to respond to requests of the relief committee and give free medical attention to indigents who are not wards of the city or county.

Where your numbers will not permit of organizing so many different committees—you can combine duties and arrange so that all the above mentioned features will be taken care of by such a number of committees as you are able to organize.

That old cry of "the town is broke, we have no funds," can no longer be tolerated, especially since the work necessary entails no heavy expense, and promises so much in return.

PUBLIC OPINION is the one influence that knows no restraint, that put into practice that old adage "Where there is a will, there is a way." It is now up to you to create that sentiment, and you can and in the name of interest and humanity, you should do it.

It is your duty to do so, and your towns will be healthier and more attractive by your having done so, and your consciences will be clear by having done your duty toward yourself and your fellow man.

C. W. GODDARD, M. D.
State Health Officer.

KANSAS CITY LIVE-STOCK MARKET REPORT

Kansas City Stock Yards, Sept. 22.—Cattle prices were irregular today, sheep were 15 to 25 cents lower and hogs 15 to 25 cents higher. Buyers, because of the big strike among steel men, started trading in cattle with the idea of lowering prices again, but better demand developed than was anticipated and the day's prices showed the extremes of a shade lower, to 15 cents higher in spots.

Today's Receipts.
Receipts today were 35,000 cattle, 8,000 hogs, 19,000 sheep compared with 28,000 cattle, 10,000 hogs, and 26,000 sheep, a week ago, and 55,000 cattle, 11,760 hogs, and 21,230 sheep a year ago. Today's cattle receipts though short of a year ago, were the largest thus far this year, and the bulk of the supply came from Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas and Colorado. Several shipments were reported from Utah and Idaho.

Beef Cattle.
Trade in beef cattle opened dull with prices steady to a shade lower and closed active and stronger. Cattle that showed as fleshy feeders with quality and good cows and heifers, were steady. Some of the common kinds were weak to lower and sold slowly. Fed steers sold at $14.50 to $16.50. Heavy grass fat steers $10. to $11.50, and light weight grass steers $7. to $9.75. Canner cows brought 4.25 to 5.00, cutters $5 to $5.75 and killing cows $6.00 to $9.25, few above $8.50. Heifers were in moderate supply and sold readily. There was a fairly good shipping demand at $7.50 to $9.00. Veal calves were steady at $9.00 to $17.00.

Stockers and Feeders.
Inquiry for stockers and feeders was larger than a week ago, but not equal to the liberal supply available and prices were quoted steady to strong compared with the low point last Friday. Some of the commoner grades were weak. Stockers, common to fair, sold at $6.50 to $7.50, good $7.50 to $8.50, choice up to $9.00. Feeders sold at $8.00 to $10.25, mostly $9.00 to $9.50.

Hogs.
Demand for hogs was fairly urgent and prices were 15 to 25 cents higher. The top price was $17.70, and the bulk of the hogs brought $17 to $17.60. This is the narrowest spread in prices for some time past. Plain to fair grades in the past week have advanced more than the better grades, and the market now is turning towards the beginning of the winter packing season, when the price range is reduced to a minimum. Pigs and stock hogs remained in active demand at $15 to $17.50.

Sheep and Lambs.
In keeping with lower prices elsewhere, the sheep market here was 15 to 25 cents lower. Fat lambs sold at $13 to $14, feeding lambs $11 to $12. Prices are at a new low level for the season. Killing ewes are selling at $6.25 to $7.25, feeding ewes $4.50 to $5.50. Today's receipts of 19,000 were large from Colorado, Idaho, and Utah.

Health About Gone

Many thousands of women suffering from womanly trouble, have been benefited by the use of Cardui, the woman's tonic, according to letters we receive, similar to this one from Mrs. Z. V. Spell, of Hayne, N. C. "I could not stand on my feet, and just suffered terribly," she says. "As my suffering was so great, and he had tried other remedies, Dr. had us get Cardui. . . I began improving, and it cured me. I know, and my doctor knows, what Cardui did for me, for my nerves and health were about gone."

If you are nervous, run-down and weak, or suffer from headache, backache, etc., every month, try Cardui. Thousands of women praise this medicine for the good it has done them, and many physicians who have used Cardui successfully with their women patients, for years, endorse this medicine. OLD-TIME RULES OF CIVILITY

Undoubtedly Were Taken Seriously in 1675, but Would Seem Somewhat Elementary Today.

There was published in 1675 a curious book called "The Rules of Civility," and one of the things impressed upon the reader is that "being in discourse with a man, 'tis no less than ridiculous to pull him by the buttons, to play with the handstrings, belt or cloak, or to punch him now and then in the stomach; 'tis a pleasant sight, and well worthy of laughter to see him that is so punched, fall back, and retire, whilst the other, insensible of his absurdity, pursues and presses him in to some corner, where he is at last glad to cry quarter before his comrade perceives he is in danger." Further, the reader is informed that "it argues neglect, and to under-value a man, to sleep when he is discoursing or reading; therefore good manners command it to be forbid; besides, something there may happen in the act that may offend, as snoring, sweating, gaping or debbling."

OLD AND NEW WORLD LINKED

Roots of Country's National Life Not Exclusively Planted This Side of the Water.

The American Revolution was unquestionably a great historic event by reason of its connection with the formal institution of a new nation, but the roots of our national life were not then planted. They run back to the first settlements and the first chapters and agreements, nor is the genesis of the nation to be found there; sharp as are the beginnings of our history on this continent, no student could content himself with a conception of our national life which took into account only the events and conditions determined by the people and soil of America. Even in actual relations between America and Europe there never has been a time when the Atlantic has not been an ebbing as well as a flowing tide, and the instinct which now sends us to the Old World in passionate pilgrimages is a constituent part of our national life.—H. E. Scudder.

Cleaning Suits at Home.

Summer suits made of Palm Beach cloth—that is, of strong, plain weaves in cotton that go by that name—are cool and serviceable and they are very popular. But they require frequent cleaning, and cleaning done by professionals has become expensive. The Palm Beach suit is apt to prove a costly luxury unless it can be cleaned at home. The process which follows is about the same as that used by professionals, except that they have special facilities for pressing. But if one has a sleeve board the pressing ought not to present any very great difficulty. Before washing, garments should be run in gasoline to remove grease or oily matter of any kind, allowing them to remain for five minutes. For washing, make a suds of lukewarm water and a good neutral soap. Wash in this suds for about fifteen minutes and rinse three times thoroughly.

After washing, the suits should be carefully examined for remaining stains, such as grease, paint, varnish and stains from automobile seats. Stains of this nature should be scrubbed with a brush and a good quality of soap. A few drops of carbon tetrachloride should be dropped on the stain and worked into the soap.

Fruit stains should be treated with a warm perborate of sodium solution, using one ounce of perborate to a pint of warm water. The spot is immersed in this solution from five to fifteen minutes. Ink stains should be treated with a weak solution of muriatic acid first (ten drops to a pint of cold water), then placed in a warm solution of perborate of sodium until the spot has turned pale brown. Then touch with a crystal of oxalic acid, and rinse. Dye stains are often found on this class of goods, such as red from plush-covered seats on railway trains. This stain yields to perborate of sodium treatment.

After the garments have been rinsed they should be only partially dried before they are pressed. Iron with moderately hot iron on the wrong side and use hangers for both coats and skirts when they are put away.

Veils Return With Small Hats.

The veil is very much in demand for wear with the small hat or the toque, particularly a large square style with a silk hexagonal mesh in black, maroon, beaver, or blue, and a border more or less lavishly embroidered in chain stitching. One of these veils has a hexagonal mesh, bordered with a row of large embroidered pastilles; another has a square meshed foundation in a flet pattern, surrounded by a large Greek border embroidered in silk.

Pretty and Practical Hat.

A practical black hat which may be worn with white summer frocks or with dark costume has a brim of shirred black lace and tulle and a French blue plect ribbon is tied around the crown and made into a small bow across the back. Blue and rose-colored flowers and sheaves of maize-colored wheat give color to the hat.

SILK FROCK FOR A JUNIOR MISS

There is no hazard designing of clothes for girls and misses these days. Styles for the several stages of girlhood, from six to twenty years, are definitive. These are the school years, and designers that give all their care and attention to the needs of the schoolgirl have thought out apparel that is correct for all her activities and occasions. The average busy mother cannot do better than to rely upon these specialists in choosing clothes for her young daughters. They will not suffer by comparisons in school, academy or college (where they must be outfitted for study and for athletics and social activities) with any of their classmates.

The frock of taffeta silk shown in the picture is intended for a girl from eleven or twelve to fifteen years. Taffeta has a crisp quality that makes it especially suited to brightly dresses for junior misses, and this particular frock is very cleverly put together. It has little niceties of finish that make it engaging, while they also play a part in educating their young wearers in the value of details. It is a pretty frock for dress-up occasions.

For a girl of eleven or twelve this model shows the skirt cut knee-length, but a few additional inches are to be added for girls who have entered their teens, the lengthening to be governed by the discretion of the mother. Six inches above the narrow hem there is a deep tuck, two and a half inches wide, otherwise the skirt is plain and gathered to the bodice.

The bodice has a front panel cut in one piece with a shaped girdle that curves into a scallop, making an opportunity for pendant cords ending in little silk balls that match the frock in color. The long sleeves are finished with cuffs shaped to correspond with the girdle. Vertical buttonholes, worked in the panel on the bodice, have narrow velvet ribbon brought through them to make a prim little tie, and there are neat and dainty over-cuffs of white organdie to protect the sleeves at the wrist. There are no many social doings, connected with school or otherwise, that call for anything more pretentious than this pretty frock.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By Mary Graham Bonner

THE WHITE LEGHORN.

"I can lay as many as one hundred and eighty eggs, and so I shall boast," said the White Leghorn of the barnyard.

"I keep roosters away from eating up all the food," said the dog. "I am going to boast."

"I can make believe this stick is a bear," said the small boy. "and when I want to pretend my bear is angry, I throw my stick about. It's a make-believe bear. I can boast, because it is very nice of me to have a good time with such a poor sort of make-believe bear as a stick."

"I can boast," said Mr. Rooster, "for I call the Mrs. Hens to eat very, very often; that is generous of me."

"I can boast," said Red Top, the rooster, "because I often give the other creatures a part of a worm I dig from the ground."

"I can boast," said a bantam hen, "because I stole five chickens and had them as my own."

"That is nothing to boast about," said another bantam, "for I took care of some chickens whose mother had left them. That is something to really boast of."

"Still you enjoyed taking care of us, didn't you, Mother Bantam?" asked the chickens.

"Cluck, cluck, I did," said Mother Bantam.

"And we can boast, for we were good children," said the chickens.

"Mrs. Bantam must want to sit on some eggs," said Mrs. Duck, "and that is why she is clucking. At other times she would cackle. I shall boast of being so smart as to know that."

"We have been hatched up and driven," said two of the pigs from the pig pen. "That shows we're smart."

"And I have seen that the whole family got up," said the rooster, sitting on the fence.

"Without me they couldn't get the good well water," said the pump. "I also can do my boasting."

"We're a handsome pair; we're Miss and Master Calf, good-looking and gentle. We are both of those things," they said.

"We help the farm and are very healthy," said the toads.

"The same can be said of us," agreed the frogs.

"Well, we are really healthy," said the toads.

"And we're really healthy, too," said the frogs.

"I suppose that is so," said one of the toads.

"Of course it is true, goog-a-rum, goog-a-rum, of course, it is true," said the frogs.

"We grow up quickly," said the Pig Weed; "that shows we're generous."

"And we're nice enough to thoroughly enjoy you," said the pigs, grunting and squealing excitedly.

"We do the same," said the Silver Weed. "We grow so quickly."

"Ah, but you do harm to the farmer's plants, just as the pig weed does," said the rooster.

"No matter," said the pigs; "it is far more important that they do good to us."

"Well, if you think so," said the rooster.

"Of course we think so, and our thoughts are right and correct, to ourselves, at any rate," said the pigs.

"Well, you are fed by both those plants, that's true," said the White Leghorn, who had been trying to speak for some time. "But still, those two weeds most certainly do harm to the farmer's plants. There is no mistake about that."

"We're helping the tins of milk to cool," said the buckets of water.

"We're going to cool off the farmer's children after the heat of the day."

"Couldn't have done it if you hadn't us to cool," said the tins of milk.

"That is, you couldn't have done the same good, kind act for the children. We, the milk tins, and the milk inside the tins, are doing the best part."

"Not a bit of it," said Mrs. Cow.

"When you're speaking of milk, never forget Mrs. Cow."

"I hatched in the summer, as I always do," said Mrs. Hen. "I wouldn't make my little ones have to stand the cold of the winter. The spring or the summer is the time I choose."

"Oh, quiet, quiet," shouted the White Leghorn. "Here I started in to boast, and all of you had to do the same thing, and such absurd boasting, too. But, anyway, it has shown me one thing—to hear all the boasts—that none of you come up to me and my one hundred and eighty eggs."

Temporary Expedient.

"What shall we do to remedy the high cost of living?"

"I'll see if I can't get a job to assist in investigating it. Maybe the salary will be enough to help tide us over."

Drew Around Her Think.

"That's a splendid looking cow you drew on that paper," I said to my little niece. "How did you ever come to make it so real?"

"Well," she answered, "I just thought and thought about a cow and then drew around my think."

Used to It.

"Now, children," said the teacher, "what do you call the meal that you eat in the morning?"

"Oatmeal!" promptly replied a member of the class.

Afternoon Frock, New and Piquant

Among the experimental styles which have blossomed out for late summer wear and that hope to survive in fashions for winter, there are afternoon and evening frocks that show much draping of material about the figure. And so long as gowns or suits convey to us that they clothe a supple, youthful and corsetless figure, they are sure of attention. Not that figures are in reality corsetless, or always youthful. But these are the things that must be suggested if the garment is to prove a success. The task of conveying the fashionable outlines lies with the corset maker and the dressmaker, who are very much aided by the softness and limpness of the fabrics used.

One of the new draped frocks for late summer is shown in the picture above, made of silk with a satin stripe. Whether or not it is an import, it has a French flavor, with its rather short, split underskirt and bouffant overwrapery. In the underskirt and overskirt the satin stripe in the fabric runs horizontally, but in the bodice and sleeves the stripes are vertical. All the interest in this frock centers in the management of the fabric, for nothing else is used. The long overdress is caught up in two very deep plaits to form the suggestion of panniers at the sides and a short tunic at the back, and it is considerably lengthened at the left side, where it ends over the split in the underskirt.

The quaint bodice is extended into a basque and joined to the skirt. A square neck and elbow sleeves are finished with full, soft puffs of the silk. A lace chemisette with a falling frill of lace across the front closes the story of this piquant frock which is so unlike its contemporaries. It has a quaint and sprightly style and many of the fibre-silk materials are especially well suited to it.

In the Kindergarten Class

A small boy, newly arrived at the dignity of pants, and a little girl in her new fall coat for school wear, invite the attention of interested mothers. These are children in the kindergarten stage and they are well clothed in the simple and good-looking things that are pictured here.

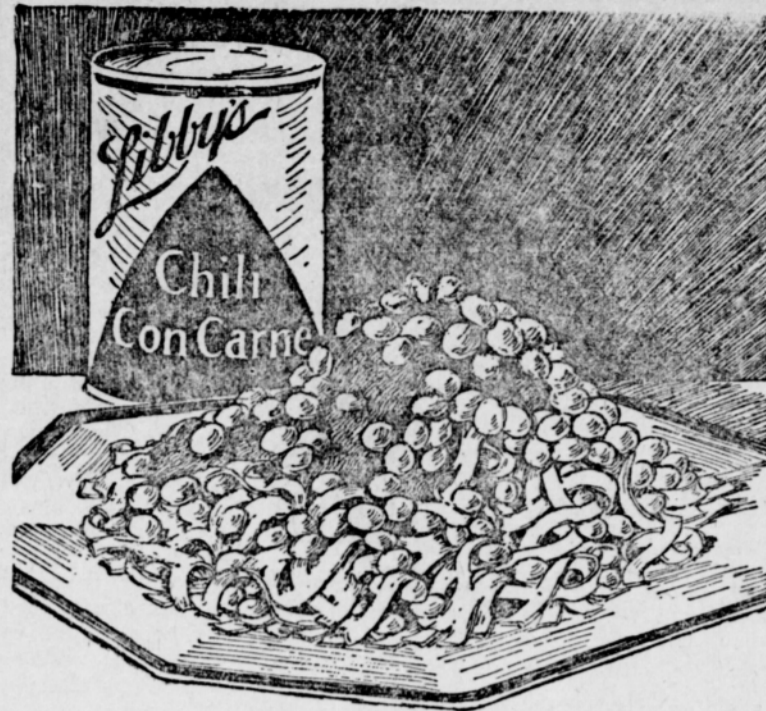

There is hardly a season which enters lacking light woolen coats in black-and-white checks for girls and misses. This one, for a little lady of four years or so, is cut to flare and is knee length. It has large patch pockets, with pointed flaps, that support handsome buttons, and a shawl collar of the checked material. The buttons are the special pride and glory of this coat and three of them serve to fasten it at the front. They are black with a ring of white, to match them to the coat. The over collar and straight cuffs of white pique which lend so much snowy freshness to this smart little coat are, of course, detachable, so that they may be kept clean, and several sets of them take their turn at service while their fellows go to the tub.

The entire suit worn by the little lad is washable. The waist and pants are designed with an eye to easy laundering, made of strong cotton materials and put together to last. In clothes for small boys these are the first essentials after the choice of fabric is made. After these matters are disposed of, design is considered, and it would be hard to find anything more engaging than this snappy little outfit. The short pants turn under at the bottom and fasten with elastic at the knee. The plain blouse is plaited into a wide belt in which long, vertical buttonholes are worked. It has long shoulders and long sleeves and a regulation sailor collar, trimmed with the usual three rows of braid. There are two rows on the sleeves, and on the left arm a very grand and impressive looking insignia. But the crowning glory of this suit, as of the little girl's coat, are the very large and handsome buttons that look more than equal to holding the pants and waist together. The belt laces together at the left side, and a wide silk tie completes the splendor of an outfit which shows its wearer to be a person of considerable consequence in a world of his own.

Tearing Down Old Landmark At Brownfield

F. E. Walters and a crew of workmen began last week tearing down one of the most ancient landmarks of the town. This old building recently known as the Goree store, stood on the northwest corner of the square, and was moved from Tahoka to Brownfield about fifteen years ago. It was first fitted up for a hotel, but later the lower floor was used by J. G. Randal and Ed Ellis for a drug store, and the postoffice. The building was being used for this last purpose when the editor came to Brownfield more than ten years ago. O. T. Halley will use the lumber in the old building for a barn. Madam Rumor has it that a modern hotel building may be erected on these lots in the near future, but we are not giving this last statement for facts.—Terry Co Herald.

Why Not Have A Trades Day In Tahoka?

It has been suggested by a number of substantial citizens in Tahoka and Lynn county that we have a Trades Day on a certain date in each month. People from all over the county could meet here and trade on this day, thereby being a benefit to one and all. The people need a set time in which to mix and mingle together and become better acquainted. Let's set a time for the first Trade's Day.

According to newspaper reports, over six hundred lives were 'lost in the recent gulfs storms, and the destruction of several million dollars worth of property.
