Lynn County Man In Legislative Race

E. L. SHORT
FOR STATE REP.

E. L. Short, Lynn county farmer-businessman, has announced as a candidate for State Representative from this, the 73rd Legislative District, to succeed Randy Pendleton of Andrews, who resigned last week to accept appointment as the Governor's representative in Washington.

A special election has been called for Tuesday, July 22, to fill Pendleton's unexpired term, and if necessary a runoff election will be held August 5. Counties in the 73rd District are Andrews, Dawson, Gaines, Lynn, Martin and Yoakum.

Short, age 43, was born and reared on a farm at Grassland and attended Grassland and Tahoka schools. His education at Texas A&M was interrupted by World War II, when he entered the U. S. Navy and saw service in the Pacific Theatre of operations and China mainland.

He has been farming continuously since his discharge from the Navy in 1946, and the last several years also engaged in ranching, and is partner in an agricultural-related business.

Short is active in church, civic and community affairs. Among his many activities, he has served as county chairman of the Governor's Committee on Aging, county director of iCivil Defense, member of Lynn County Democratic Executive Committee five years, and Chamber of Commerce president two years.

His wife is the former "Dink" Fortenberry, reared a Dawson County farm girl. They have four daughters, three of whom are students in West Texas State University and the fourth is a Tahoka grade school student.

"If elected," Short declares, "I will work and fight for the welfare of our district, people, and our economic conditions. I would take a practical, level-headed look at government financing and favor strong law enforcement at the local level. In fact, I would seek a common-sense, business-like approach to all governmental problems. I believe we need more agricultural-related people in our legislature."

"I invite all voters to investigate my record as a citizen, farmer, stockman, businessman, and concern for the aged and unfortunate. My principal desire for this office is to be of service to this farming, ranching, and oil production area."

Scarcely ever have Lynn county crops been more promising at this time of the year than they are just now. Much of the feed is heading out and is now maturing. An excellent yield throughout the county seems assured.

Cotton, which was already thrifty, has grown as if by magic since the recent soaking rain. Some of it is thigh high and the remainder of it has had a good growth and is fruiting well. Of course cotton pests, destructive hail storms, and even hot wind offer a continual threat to the crop until it has matured but if none of these calamities come the chances are for a very excellent yield.

"Concealed" Weapons

"That guy is so tough," runs an old gag, "that if he puts his hands in his pockets, he could be arrested for carrying concealed weapons."

He couldn't, though, no matter how deadly his fists, because they would not be "concealed." In spite of the fabric covering the pockets, anyone could tell that his hands were there.

For contrast, consider this case: A man arrested with a gun in his pocket argued that it had not really been concealed, because it made a distinct and visible bulge.

But the court decided there was still sufficient concealment to make the man guilty of the charge. The judge said a mere bulge was not enough warning, to an ordinary observer, that the man was armed.

It is this test—obviousness to an ordinary observer—that the law usually applies in deciding whether a person is carrying a concealed weapon. Thus, a gun would not be considered concealed simply because a particular person, looking from a particular angle, was unable to see it. For example:

A man who had a gun openly displayed in his belt was found not guilty of the offense. Even though the arresting officer—approaching from behind—could not see the gun, it was obvious enough for ordinary observation.

And what does "carrying" mean? Does the person actually have to see man, seeing an object nearby, hastily slipped his pistol into an inside pocket. Arrested and brought to trial for carrying a concealed weapon, he offered this defense to the court:

"Carrying" means transporting the weapon from one place to another. I did not move a single step."

But the court pointed out that, although "carrying" could mean "transporting," it could also mean just "possessing." The judge decided to pick the meaning which, considering the purpose of the law, made the most sense—and he found the man guilty.

Soil Conservation Service

Congress has recently approved a bill to extend the Great Plains Conservation Program another ten years. Credit should go to Congressman George Mahon who has worked for its passage and to E. R. Blakney of New Home who was on the Great Plains committee of the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

For information concerning the Great Plains Conservation Program contact the work unit of the Soil Conservation Service or any Water Conservation District.

ment of vegetative cover on rangeland by artificial reseeding, management of a conservation cropping system and use of crop residue, installing pipeline for livestock water, brush control, and proper use of range and pastureland.

To the farm and ranch producers in the Great Plains area of which the Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District is a part, it provides an opportunity to participate in this voluntary cost share program which is designed to save soil and water resources and reduce air pollution from blowing dust.

Since its beginning in 1956 over 200 Lynn County farmers have applied for assistance through the Great Plains Conservation Program. Of this total over 230 have actually entered into contract agreements. This represents over 140,000 acres of land which has been protected by Great Plains Contracts. More than 100 of these contracts are still active.

Lynn County farm and ranch producers have received over $402,000 of cost share from 195 to 1968 and of this amount more than $270,000 has been applied toward construction of terraces.

This year alone fourteen new contracts have been signed for 7,200 acres of land to be protected under Great Plains practices with an estimated cost share of over $60,000. This would add approximately 300 miles to the already existing 1,000 miles of terraces in Lynn County with the majority of these terraces installed as parallel systems.

Practices in the Great Plains contracts include construction of terrace systems, water ways, dams, diversions and wells for livestock water, enlarging, deepening or sealing dams, pits, or ponds; land leveling, installation of irrigation pipeline and reorganization of irrigation systems, establishment of permanent vegetative cover, improve

The 25-volume sets of Funk & Wagnalls Standard Encyclopedia were won this week by: Fay Davis for asking: "Please tell me how Magnetic Hill, near Moncton, New Brunswick, Canada, got its name?"

From a natural, optical illusion. Because of the configuration and coloring of the terrain, a car rolling down the hill seems to be rolling backward toward the top. A giant replica of the horseshoe magnet at the top symbolizes the phenomenon.

Gerald Sutphin, Jr., who asks: "Do Indians have whiskers?" Most physical anthropologists believe that American Indians were originally Mongoloid peoples who migrated from northern Asia—and Mongoloids have no facial hair.

David B. Braunstein, whose question is: "How and when did the word 'tycoon' originate?" It comes from the Japanese word "tai-kun," meaning "mighty lord," used as a title for the Shogun rulers of Japan from the 12th century until 1868.

GIRLS WILL BE GIRLS

Linon is the fabric of the season for girls who want to look smart, dress well and be comfortable—especially in summer! Thanks to lively new fashions in Irish-Loom linen—they can, because linen is to summer what the bloom is to the rose.

What's more, linen takes to color like a duck to water, making possible a wide range of summery shades from the palest pastels to the most brilliant hues. An embroidered eyelet dress of Irish-Loom linen that comes in a rainbow of cool colors has been designed by Adele Martin just for those girls who will be girls.

The elegance associated with linen and the simple A-I line of the dress combine to make it versatile enough for any occasion or any hour of the day.

TEXAS HOG CHOLERA PROGRAM ADVANCES

Texas will advance to Phase 3 of the National Hog Eradication Program August 1, the Texas Animal Health Commission has announced.

Phase 3 is a continuation of immediate reporting of hog cholera outbreaks and more vigorous inspection of garbage cooking and feeding facilities.

Infected herds will be quarantined and premises depopulated healthy animals in a federally inspected slaughter plant. Diseased animals will be eliminated on the premises by burning or rendering under supervision of regulatory veterinarians.

Phase 3 also provides an indemnity payment due to an outbreak. The indemnity is shared equally by the state and U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Maximum indemnities for infected herds will be $100 per head for purebred, inbred and hybrid swine and $80 a head on grade swine," says the county agent. "Payment will be limited to living swine present when a regulatory veterinarian arrives on the premises. Hog producers should report sick animals to local veterinarians to qualify for payments of cholera is present."

Another important part of the program is the ban of interstate shipment of vaccines and vaccinated hogs. A change in shipping rules will halt interstate shipment of modified live virus and inactivated cholera vaccines after July 1. Regulations do not affect use of anti-hog cholera serum. Interstate shipment of hogs vaccinated with modified live virus, or exposed to hogs vaccinated with modified live virus, will be prohibited after Jan. 1, 1970, unless the animals were vaccinated before July 1 this year.

Donald H. Reed has been promoted to District Conservationist. He will be in charge of the office and four employees at Aspermont. He will be working with and in Stone-wall King Soil and Water Conservation District.

Mr. Reed graduated from high school in Holland, Texas and has a B. S. degree in animal husbandry from Texas A and M. He served two years in the army in the Tank Corp or armored division.

Mr. Reed started his career in Tahoka in January 2, 1968. He helped in designing and planning parallel terracing in Lynn County Soil Conservation District. We now have over 1300 miles of parallel Terracing in Lynn County.

Mr. Reed and his family will move to Aspermont by July 27 of this year.

Linda Huffaker, CHD Agent, Says.....

The average household opens from 900 to 1,500 of cans every year. Can opener blades work best at this fast rate when kept clean and sharp. Any type of can opener must be kept clean, because it is to become encrusted with food. This clogs action, is highly unsanitary and can transfer flavor from one food to the next.

When dull blades are forced through a can, metal particles may fall into its content, so both cutting wheels and stationary blades should be kept sharp.

A clean cutter remains sharp longer, too. Wipe blade with a sudsy cloth after use, then remove and scrub in hot suds at frequent intervals.

Electric can openers should never be immersed in water because of motor damage and personal safety, so the cutting assembly must come out for through washing, a factor to consider when buying an opener.

Models with exposed rather than enclosed units are easiest to handle. First unplug the appliance then follow the manufacturer's directions for removing the gears.

Current electric openers—which come in pastels, brushed chromes, woodtones and avocado—are designed with a clean look and deserve to be kept that way.

The cabinet should be wiped off frequently with a clean cloth wrung out of hot soaps or detergent suds; inda does not recommend abrasive cleaners. The cord should be disconnected, pulled taut through a olded damp cloth, then wiped dry before reuse.

SUMMER LUNCHEON FEATURES MOLDED TURKEY SALAD

Summer luncheons call for cool and refreshing menus. For a delightful change of pace from the usual luncheon fare, try this deliciously different Turkey Mousse. Made with Gerber Junior Turkey, borrowed from baby's supply, this attractive molded salad is quick and easy to prepare. Rich in turkey flavor and tastefully seasoned with just enough curry powder, a turkey mousse is an ideal summer dish. Whether you're servicing it to your family or to the girls at an afternoon bridge gathering, it's sure to be a hit—especially with the calorie-counters!

To complete your luncheon menu, team up your Turkey Mousse with brown-and-serve rolls and tall glasses of iced tea. For dessert—scoops of chilled sherbert. With a refreshing meal like this, those hot weather blues are sure to disappear leaving everyone sitting "cool as a cucumber!"

TURKEY MOUSSE

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup cold whole milk
- 1 chicken bouillon cube
- 2 jars Gerber Junior Turkey
- curry powder, to taste
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup undiluted evaporated milk, chilled

Soften gelatin in milk in saucepan over low heat. Add bouillon cube and continue heating until gelatin and bouillon cube have dissolved. Add turkey and curry powder. Remove from heat. Cool. Blend mayonnaise into cooled turkey mixture. Whip chilled evaporated milk until stiff. Fold turkey mixture into whipped milk. Pour into a lightly oiled 2-cup loaf pan. Chill thoroughly until firm. Unmold on bed of salad greens. Garnish with lemon if desired.

Yield: 4-6 servings.

Variation: Pour prepared mixture into lightly oiled 8" x 7" x 2" pan. When chilled, cut into half-inch cubes. These can be used in a chef's salad, or mixed with mayonnaise, chopped celery and chopped green pepper, and used to stuff whole tomatoes for individual salads.

THE PHILOSOPHER
Dangerous Bug

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm seems agitated about a new aspect of the space program in his letter this week.)

Dear editor:
I found an item at the bottom of an inside page in a newspaper out here yesterday that needs the attention of everybody when man's entire program for exploring outer space is examined closely.

According to it, the world's only space woman, that Russian housewife named Valentina Tereshkova who orbited the earth a while back, says women should not have to do housework.

"Women," says Val—"I'll call her Val to keep from stumbling every time I try to pronounce her name—"should be relieved of dull mechanical types of work like preparing food, cleaning house, doing the laundry, etc."

This throws an entirely new light on the whole space program. I have been vaguely suspicious all along about the program, not opposed to it, understand, in fact watching every new flight every time my T. V. set was working, but still wondering whether it would finally prove worthwhile, I mean, spending 10 billion dollars to get a soil sample from the moon when we're not even taking care of the soil on earth like we ought to, but if the space program is going to result in freeing women from household chores, that calls for a hard second look.

Val's notion is that cooking and doing the laundry and making up the beds and things like that should be taken care of by public service, like garbage collecting and street cleaning are.

In other words, Val sees the space program as a way of forcing men to come home to frozen t.v. dinners after standing in line two hours to pick up their shirts at the government laundry office.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.
