Edith Notes

Health in general is good. At present we have the finest prospects for a bumper crop we have ever had. We have two wheat headers running from day light until dark. Since beginning harvesting, the wheat yield is greater than we expected, and will likely yield from 12 to 25 bushels per acre.

Miss Grace Leedy of Tahoka will finish her 7 months school Friday 18th. We are proud to congratulate Miss Grace on teaching one of the most successful terms that has ever been taught at Edith. In leaving us Miss Grace will go to Midway to teach several months. From there she expects to go to Kansas City Mo., to enter the Kansas City Art Institute for a couple of years. 48 pupils were enrolled at Edith this year. We have been informed by one of our worthy trustees that a brick building would likely be erected in the near future about 700 yards east of the present building at the cross roads.

On Friday night, June 11th, the teachers and pupils of Three Lakes school gave quite an interesting and well prepared entertainment at the school-house, thirteen miles west of Tahoka. A large and appreciative audience was present and each number received hearty applause.

This school has enjoyed a very successful term this year under Miss Lucile Nunally. There were several Tahokaites in attendance as well as from many other parts of the county. At the close of the entertainment, ice cream was served free to all present, and each and everyone who partook of the refreshments has a warm spot in their heart for the good people of the Three Lakes neighborhood.

Chamber of Commerce organized in Tahoka

On Wednesday morning, June 16th, a mass meeting was called in the lobby of the First National Bank, for the purpose of organizing a Chamber of Commerce in Tahoka. Quite a large representation of the business men of the town were present.

J. E. Farrow, representing the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, residing in Ft. Worth was present and laid the plans of this organization before the body. At the close of his address something like forty members were obtained for membership in this organization, thus affiliating the city of Tahoka with the largest commercial organization in Texas today.

A director and secretary for the local organization were elected during the meeting. S. B. Hatchett, was nominated and elected director, and R. B. Haynes, secretary.

Such an organization has long been needed in Tahoka and it is with pride that we can tell the world that this little city now has representation in all parts of the United States. Great good will come out of this act on the part of the business men, and all will be repaid ten fold times the amount of cost attached to this organization.

Several weeks ago, Tahoka lined up with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce exhibit and advertising committee, to the amount of $500.00. This county will receive every publicity possible in the northern states during the tour of this organization in these states.

Chicago, Ill., June 12.—Warren G. Harding, United States Senator from Ohio, was nominated for the presidency today by the republican national convention after a deadlock which lasted for nine ballots and which finally forced out of the running all the original favorites.

As his running mate, the convention named Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, up-setting a plan of a combination of the Harding backers to nominate for the place Senator I. L. Lenroot of Wisconsin.

General Wood lost heavily when the Hardin drift began and Senator Johnson, the third of the trio of leaders on the early balloting also went steadily down hill.

Messrs Chas. Tunstall and Jake Leedy have in their possession a few young coyotes, which they are attempting to tame. The young animals were captured and brought to town by Pie Bogard of this city. Acid Stomach Makes the Body Sour

Nine Out of Ten People Suffer From It

It sends its harmful acids and gases all over the body, instead of health and strength. Day and night this ceaseless damage goes on. No matter how strong, its victim cannot long withstand the health-destroying effects of an acid stomach.

Good news for millions of sufferers. Chemists have found a sure remedy—one that takes the acid up and carries it out of the body; of course, when the cause is removed, the sufferer gets well.

Bloating, indigestion, sour, acid, gassy stomach miseries all removed. This is proven by over half a million ailing folks who have taken EATONIC with wonderful benefits. ALL WRONG WAS HER LIVER

Before Taking Black-Draught, Missouri Lady Was Troubled With Constipation, Headache and Bad Taste in Mouth.

Grandin, Mo.—Mrs. Susa Brooks, of this place, writes: "Some time ago I was in a bad fix, with stomach and liver trouble. I did not feel good at any time. I was very constipated, and had headaches from this condition, and had a continual hurting in my stomach, and bad taste in the mouth. Could tell my liver was all wrong. 'I had known of Black-Draught, so decided to try it myself. I began with a large dose or doses, gradually getting to smaller doses. It regulated my bowels, relieved me of the hurting in my stomach, cleaned off my liver and made me feel like a new person.'"

If you get up in the morning feeling as tired as you did when you went to bed—achy, coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, sallow complexion—then your liver has not done its full duty, and your system has absorbed the poisons which your liver should have taken away.

An occasional dose of Theford's Black-Draught will help this important organ to function properly.

Get a package of Theford's Black-Draught liver medicine today. Druggist sells it, or can get it for you.—Adv.

PROTEST MEETINGS HELD IN GALVESTON

CITY COMMISSION RESENTS PROPOSED ACTION OF GOVERNOR HOBBY.

TROOPS NOW READY TO GO

Cope Will Make Survey of Situation Before Final Orders Are Issued.

Galveston, Texas.—By a resolution passed at its regular session Thursday afternoon, the city commission called a mass meeting of citizens to be held at the city hall auditorium "for the purpose of protesting against the contemplated action of Governor Hobby" in sending state troops to take charge of the water front situation here. The resolution was introduced by A. P. Norman, commissioner of fire and police.

Union leaders generally are incensed at the proposed resort to martial law. J. H. Fricke, Gulf coast district president of the International Longshoremen's association, declared that the present strike of dockworkers has been "the most peaceful, law abiding controversy in history."

J. B. Denison, vice president of the Mallory line, merely said that he is "awaiting developments in the situation." H. M. Wilkins, general agent of the Morgan line, had nothing to say.

The city is entirely quiet, no disorders of any nature having been reported.

The city commission sent a long telegram to Governor Hobby in which they said it "would be an insult to the citizenship of this city" to declare martial law under circumstances now existing here.

The telegram sent to the governor by the commissioners set forth that "there is not now and never has been since the present strike of longshoremen was instituted about March 19, any situation existing in this city warranting the exercise by the governor of his constitutional right and power to call forth the militia to execute the laws of the state," and that there is and has been no violation of law that the police authorities of this city have not and will not be able to cope with and suppress."

Austin, Texas.—Adjutant Gen. W. D. Cope in response to orders issued by Governor Hobby to use the state military forces to restore conditions to normal at Galveston, is now in that city to take such action as will be necessary to enforce the laws of the state. Twenty-nine organizations of the Texas National guard, including three machine gun companies at Dallas, Austin and Hallettsville, have assembled in their armories and are waiting for orders to move.

HOUSE VOTES TO REPEAL WAR LAWS

Enemy Trade and Food Control Acts Only Expected in Resolution.

Washington.—All war laws, excepting the Lever food control act and the trading-with-the-enemy act, would be repealed by a resolution adopted by the house, 323 to 3. The only negative votes were cast by Representatives Garrett and Sims of Tennessee and Welling of Utah, democrats.

Approximately sixty laws, conferring broad discretionary authority on the president as long as the technical state of war continues, would be removed from the statute books by the resolution.

MEXICAN ARMY WILL BE CUT IN HALF

Washington.—Reduction of the Mexican army has been started at the suggestion of General Obregon, according to advices received in Washington from the de facto government. General Obregon is quoted as saying that the army would be reorganized and reduced to half its present size.

The organization of a force of rurales to police the outlying parts of the country also has begun, these advices state. Negotiations were opened with Francisco Villa, the rebel leader, to head the new rurales, but Villa is reported to have refused.

Wheat Standards to Continue

Washington.—Continuation of present federal wheat standards has been decided upon. Dissatisfaction comes from central northwest with existing grades for hard red spring and durum wheats. Requests for lowering standards, the secretary announced, would tend to decrease the return to farmers, while advocates of the change argued that the producers would receive more money for their wheat.

Agullar Will Quit Mexico.

Vera Cruz.—General Candido Agullar, governor of Vera Cruz and son-in-law of the late President Carranza, has surrendered to the new government and will be allowed to leave.

McParland Heads Typographical Union Indianapolis, Ind.—John McParland, a member of Local No. 6, New York, has been elected president of the International Typographical union, defeating Marsden G. Scott, who sought re-election.

DALLAS-WICHITA FALLS INTERURBAN ASSURED

ALMOST $7,000 ADDITIONAL SUBSCRIPTIONS REPORTED HOURS IN ADVANCE.

Dallas.—Construction of the Dallas-Wichita Falls interurban is now assured. Six hours before the expiration of the contract with the General Electric company, the $1,000,000 needed to finance the project from Dallas' end was reported oversubscribed by almost $7,000 and additional subscriptions totaling between $10,000 and $15,000 are expected from parties outside the city. The last $3,500 of the $1,000,000 fund was raised by twelve business men.

Mr. Lindsley praises the business men of this city for their enterprise in promoting the interurban line. "I am returning to New York happy over this result," he said. "Dallas citizens have done a notable thing at a critical time. The raising of $1,000,000 in six days for a single enterprise has not, I believe, been equaled by any city in the southwest nor by many cities in the entire country. This determines Dallas' place as a great interurban center. It insures the building of the lines to Greenville and to Terrell as a natural consequence of interurban development. I predict confidently the completion of both these lines within five years."

"By this act we have bound to Dallas with steel the people of a rich and populous country already bound to us by ties of affection and esteem. We increase the value of our real estate by increasing the business which will be conducted in our business houses and the rents which will consequently be paid to those who own business property."

ARMENIAN MANDATE IS REJECTED IN SENATE

President's Plea Is Turned Down By Vote of More Than Two to One.

Washington.—President Wilson's plea for a mandate over Armenia was rejected in the senate by a vote of more than two to one.

Thirteen democrats cast their votes with the united republican membership on the final roll call, and the resolution, which "respectfully declines" to grant congressional authority for the mandate was adopted, 52 to 23, in the form drafted by the republican leaders.

The resolution will be sent to the house and the leaders there plan to adopt it without change. They say they hope for as decisive a majority as the measure was given in the senate.

MEXICAN POLICY IS OUTLINED BY FALL

Washington.—Armed intervention in Mexico, should the new forces in control there show an inability or unwillingness to set up a stable government more friendly toward Americans, was recommended to the senate by the foreign relations subcommittee investigating Mexican affairs.

Should a stable government be established, the committee recommended full recognition be accorded it and that financial assistance be offered by the United States.

Pope Changes Rule.

Rome.—Pope Benedict has issued an encyclical letter announcing that, while he maintains the claim of the Holy See to temporal power, he rescinds the order forbidding Catholic rulers to visit the king of Italy in Rome. It is understood the first monarch to visit Rome under the new conditions will be King Alfonso of Spain. In conformity with this principle, the letter declares the pope "forgives those who during the war distorted his intentions and tarnished his work."

Will Not Submit.

Austin, Texas.—Governor Hobby will not submit to the present special session of the legislature the subject of regulation of public utilities. Definite announcement to that effect was made by the governor following a conference with Mayor Frank W. Wozenrath of Dallas, who is honorary life president of the Texas League of Municipalities and immediate past president of the league, to submit the subject to a special session.

Agricultural Bill Is Signed.

Washington.—President Wilson has signed the annual agricultural appropriation bill, which continues in force the present cotton futures contract, under which trading on the cotton exchanges is carried on.

Panhandle In Mountain Time Zone.

Washington.—Petitions asking that the Texas Panhandle be removed from the central mountain time zone and placed in the standard central time zone were dismissed.

Interurban Will Operate in 1922.

Dallas.—An interurban line between Dallas and Wichita Falls should be in operation within eighteen months after actual construction work is started, according to J. F. Strickland, president of Texas Electric railway. Mr. Strickland bases his opinion on his experience in interurban building. Present plans are to start work in the fall, and if the building of the line progresses satisfactory, the road will be in operation by the summer of 1922.

Kept New Doll for "Company" Days.

Nancy, my little niece's old doll, was looking much the worse for wear, so I sent a daintily dressed dolly to take her place. A week after the presentation of the new doll I called at my sister's and found Betty playing with Nancy, her old love. On asking her what had become of the new one, she replied: "Oh, she's nice for company days, but I like Nancy for plain days."—Exchange.

No Light in Darkness.

The census taker runs up against many amusing experiences. Chief among these are the explanations some people offer for the various answers they make to questions put to them.

One of the census workers in Kansas City asked a woman whether she could read. She answered rather hesitatingly that she could not, and then hastened to explain:

"I never went to school but one day, and that was in the evening, and we hadn't no light and the teacher didn't come."—Harper's Magazine.

News Items from the Terry County Herald

While in Dallas last week, we had a conversation with Robert Forrester and family, who live in that city, and he informed us that they would be headed for the plains this week, as it was too hot there for them. His home is at Wilson, in Lynn county.

The farmers of the plains country are just about up to their usual time with their planting, but the people of central Texas are at least a month behind with their farming. While their corn and feed is larger than on the plains, their cotton is just about like it is here. In fact when we left there last week, they had more cotton in the ground than above it.

Rev. Durham of Gatesville, came in last week and went over to Plains where he received a call from the Baptist church at that place, and in addition will likely accept the principalship of the school at that place. Rev. Durham and family formerly lived at this place and later moved to Tahoka, being pastor of the Baptist church at both places, and has many friends here who will be glad to see him return to the plains. Life Was a Misery

Mrs. F. M. Jones, of Palmer, Okla., writes: "From the time I entered into womanhood . . . I looked with dread from one month to the next. Chauncey M. Depew is a great admirer of King Lardner and delights to relate an anecdote concerning the well-known sport writer and humorist. It was at a club in Philadelphia and a certain gentleman whom the crowd was trying to entice into spending the evening there declared he could not remain because he had promised his wife he would come home.

"I'll fix it for you," said Lardner, and darted into the phone booth. Presently he emerged, shouting:

"It's all right, old chap, your wife says you can stay!"

"How in the world did you manage to bring her round?" asked the amazed man.

"Easy," replied Lardner. "I told her you were roaring drunk and should I bring you home or keep you here, and she said:

"You can have him, Mr. Lardner."

Dove Hatches Chickens.
A novel experience of Mrs. Ernest Hirsch of Pittsburgh has proved a success. Two doves owned by Mrs. Hirsch, after three weeks of waiting, became the foster parents of a baby chicken. Mrs. Hirsch as an experiment placed a full-sized hen's egg under the mother dove. At the time she did not believe the dove would hatch the egg and day by day watched the nest, expecting the dove to leave the nest. However, the birds alternated in sitting upon the egg and finally their patience was rewarded. A "chick" pecked its way out of the shell and immediately tried to get out of the nest.

Age Rapidly.
"Is that a genuine antique?"
"Yes," replied the dealer.
"Why, here's a mark which indicates it was made only twenty years ago."
"We are living in a very rapid age. It doesn't take nearly so long to make an antique as it used to."

BEAUTIFY THE FARM YARD
No Reason Why Grounds Surrounding House Should Not Be Made and Kept Attractive.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

For over a decade the home demonstration agents in the South have been teaching farm women easier and better methods of doing their housework, caring for their families, and conducting home industries. During the past years, they have been teaching, in addition, the beautifying of the farm yard.

The country woman, like every other normal woman, is hungry for beauty, but in the past she has had less of it in her life than her city sister. Too many farm homes inside and out are unattractive, yet beauty in a country yard costs little except effort, for the finest effects can be obtained by the use of native trees, shrubs and vines. A demand for information on the beautifying of the home by the Southern women in the rural districts is the reason that it has been taken up definitely as a part of the extension work in the South. The response and results in every state have been more than looked for.

In Donley county, Texas, an impromptu meeting of this kind recently brought out 38 country women, all intensely anxious to learn what the home demonstration agent could teach them about making the surroundings of their homes more attractive.

The demonstration was given at the home of one of the women who had recently built a new house and who wanted to have the setting for it right.

After Proper Treatment.

The importance of planting and arranging perennial vines as a background on the porches and fences was one point stressed by the extension worker. Instruction was also given in arranging shrubbery so the low-growing kind would be in front of the taller. Where flowering plants were to be used the necessity of planting colors which would harmonize well was emphasized. In fact, an intensive course in landscape gardening on a small scale was given to the women.

Plant Nut Trees.

Suppose that we were to supplant willows and poplars along the roadside with trees which would give us baskets of product worth many dollars per bushel when the leaves were sweet in the fall. It is no more difficult to set out a black walnut than it is to set out a willow or poplar. The first cost is no greater if we set out seedling trees, although, if particularly good kinds of grafted black walnut are set out, the first cost is something more—yet negligible in view of the return. Investment in a nut tree differs from an investment in an industrial enterprise, for the reason that the plant of the industrial enterprise is decreasing in value from year to year the moment after it is completed. A nut tree, on the other hand, is increasing in value from the moment it is set out.

Town Planning.

During the war the housing developments undertaken by the government in the United States, as in England, were very frequently based upon a complete physical plan. This was possible because many of the communities were created in places where no previous community had existed. The field was a virgin one, and the opportunity was not lost. This aspect of the work was always referred to as town planning, the name adopted and used in England. Thus, at the present time in the United States one is apt to find both names used, and it is perhaps well to remember that generally they mean the same thing; but it is also true that their meaning is as yet very far from having acquired a concrete definition.

A SHEPHERD BOY CHOSEN KING

LESSON TEXT—1 Sam. 16:1-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Spirit of the Lord came upon David from that day forward.

—1 Sam. 16:13.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Ps. 2
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Story of a Shepherd Boy

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Kinky Shepherd Boy

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC

—The Road to Promotion.

—YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC

—The Possibilities of Youth.

I. The Lord Rebuked Samuel for Excessive Grief (v. 1).

It was a bitter experience for Samuel to pronounce God's judgment upon Saul. The cause of Samuel's grief was threefold:

1. The wreck of a promising life. In all history, perhaps, a life with greater promise cannot be found, and yet it affords no example of a more wretched failure.

2. A personal loss. No doubt as the spiritual adviser of the king, Samuel found many things to mourn to admire. His removal, therefore, Samuel most keenly felt.

3. Anxiety for the national welfare. Samuel knew quite well that a change of dynasty oftentimes meant severe war and the reign of anarchy. This would very seriously weaken the already weak kingdom. His concern for the people's good was therefore a part of his grief. One can readily see why Samuel should mourn, but as a prophet of God he should not have indulged to excess. The Lord's question "How long will thou mourn for Saul?" has in it a rebuke for Samuel. Grief for others is a sacred thing, but whenever it is carried so far as to interfere with one's duty it becomes sinful.

II. Samuel Sent to Bethlehem to Anoint Saul's Successor (vv. 1-5).

Though Saul failed, God is able to provide a successor who is better than he. Samuel is directed to go to Bethlehem and from among the sons of Jesse choose a successor. Samuel again showed his weakness in expressing his fear lest Saul should kill him if God sends a man on an errand that matters if though a thousand Saul's be waiting to kill him? Even though it means death, if God sends, who dare refuse or offer excuse? God instructed him to avoid publicity by the concealment of his real purpose. Some may question the diplomacy of Samuel, but we must remember that no one is under obligation to tell all that he knows, especially to parties who have no moral right to know. To withhold truth which is necessary normally to tell is duplicity which dare not be practiced. God allowed Samuel to hide his true errand under the cloak of a sacrifice in order to shelter his weakness. The whole matter was already decided; the moral acts were already committed; the issues were already faced. The exposure of Samuel to the murderous hatred of Saul would have only made matters worse.

III. The Method of God's Choice (vv. 6-12).

The elders of Bethlehem were somewhat alarmed when Samuel came. He, in the exercise of his judgment, went from place to place, and at times he doubtless had to deal in severity with the people. He calmed their fears by assuring them that he came peacefully, even to worship God. While the preparation for the sacrifice was being made, Samuel seems to have had the interview with Jesse and his sons. When the eldest of Jesse's sons passed before him he decided that this stalwart young man must be God's choice, but God told him that man lookest on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart. We should learn, like Samuel was obliged to do, that the qualifications in God's sight for workers are inward, not bodily. The one who does God's work must do it by leaning upon him, not through personal strength or endowments. To the utter surprise of Samuel and Jesse, David the shepherd boy was chosen.

IV. Samuel Anoints David (v. 13).

When this strapping of a boy came before Samuel, the Lord indicated his choice. Samuel proceeded to anoint him. This anointing typified the endowment of the Holy Spirit, which is essential for any and all service for God. The preparation which David needed for the office of king was just what he got as a shepherd boy. God's choices are not arbitrary. As king, his responsibility was to defend, feed, and lead God's flock, and this he had learned to do as he attended his father's flock. This promotion of the shepherd boy should be an encouragement for boys of lowly station in life.

If You Want to Be Miserable.
"If you want to be miserable, you must think about yourself, about what you want, what you like, what respect people ought to pay you, and then to you nothing will be pure. You will spoil everything you touch. You will make sin and misery out of everything which God sends you. You will be as wretched as you choose."

The Good and Bad.
To the good the world is very good, to the bad it is bad.

SKIRTS ADOPT MODISH PLAINS

ACCORDION plaits and side-plaits appear to be occupying the thoughts of many designers this season. They are shown in everything, from capes to negligees. In the soft, sheer materials, the thin, supple silks and satins, they are at their very best, and in the heavier fabrics, used for suits or skirts or capes, designers have managed them cleverly. In stripes and plaids, plaits change the lines and predominating colors so that manufacturers of separate skirts appear to be fascinated by them; they give so much opportunity for the exercise of ingenuity. It seems like painting the lily and adorning the rose to change or add anything to some of the beautiful plaids and stripes that appear in silk and wool materials—but it is done, and we have to concede that something of interest is added to the garment made in this way.

One of the skirts pictured here features stripes running across the material laid in accordion side plaits. Odd and fanciful, without plaittings are set on side. They are something like bag pockets, with rounded corners, they hang as if separate skirt. Four balls covered in material make an unusual accent across the bottom of the plait. Its ingenious, too. Its effect at the front, forming two top straps fastening with a ton while the lower ones are finished at the ends of the accordion plaiting has been the designer of the plaid and he has shown his ingenuity any other material in this sets close to the figure with its girdle of silk with far less Egyptian inspiration. The are folded over the belt into into silk ornaments at the

New Departure in Smocks

ALL at once and with one accord, the creators of smocks and blouses seemed to have seized upon tricolette as a promising material for their purposes. Whoever started it uncovered an idea that has flourished from the beginning and has led into several by-paths in apparel. Besides smocks, close-fitting jackets, or bodices, often sleeveless and extended at the front into girdles or sash ends, have made their entry for summer wear, in gay and beautiful colors. Tricolette and other weaves in the same silk fiber, make many of these; they will be rivals of the silk sweater later on and belong among the glorified sports clothes that are entrenched for a long stay and crowding tailored modes for street wear.

Tricolette in one of the most popular smocks is shown here, with a finish of silk fringe at the bottom and embellishment embroidered of flower sprays about the neck and down the front opening. Gray is a favorite color for smocks of this kind and gay colors appear in the flowers, but the smocks are made in many colors. A plain girdle, made of the material, or a silk cord and tassel, matching the smock in color, furnish the best management of the waistline. The neck and short front opening are bound with plain satin and small round buttons, covered with it, add a last touch to a delightful piece of work.

A handsome georgette smock, with all-over pattern in silk embroidery, is used for the dressier model shown in the picture. It is one of many in which georgette, in a dark color, serves as a background for rich embroidered effects and these pretty garments are in high favor for formal afternoon and

HOW WEATHER BUREAU GOT INFORMATION OF BIG VALUE IN AVIATION.

The weather bureau of the United States department of agriculture gathered a great deal of valuable information for army and navy aviators during the war and for mail service aviation since that time by means of a kite to which was attached a self-recording instrument, the meteorograph. Some of the difficulties experienced are shown by an incident that occurred March 16 at Leesburg, Ga. In order to attain the height desired, a number of kites had been sent up tandem. They consisted of strong wooden frames about 7 by 7 by 3 feet. Each kite was covered with about 12 yards of fine cambric and was attached to fine piano wire. They were let out and hauled in by a reel operated by electric motor. Due to a defective splice, four of the kites with about 3 miles of wire broke away and flew about 18 miles before the wire became entangled in a tree. A farmer telephoned the news to the neurological station, but before the party sent out to recover the kites could reach them some negroes had wrecked the first one and stolen the cloth, which was later found in nine pieces in various cabins. The other three kites, when the first one was separated from them, escaped and flew about three miles farther. During the flight, however, the wire became entangled with a boy and a mule plowing in a field. The boy grasped the wire and cut and burned his hands. The mule became so entangled in the wire that the help of three men was required to release him. The three kites were finally caught in another tree which was cut down by another party of negroes, and, in falling, wrecked the second kite, which was dismantled by the negroes. The two remaining kites again escaped, flew about 3 miles farther and landed in one of the tallest pine trees in the region. The third kite had a meteorograph attached which was recovered undamaged. A heavy rain came on, however, and the two remaining kites were broken up and finally abandoned.

How the Town of Tombstone, Arizona, Acquired Its Somewhat Growsome Cognomen.

A prospector's curious sense of humor was responsible for the naming of Tombstone, Ariz. According to James F. Duncan, who went there in 1879 the town was founded in that year by Ed Schieffelin, a mining prospector. Schieffelin called his mine near the site of the present courthouse "Tombstone mine." Duncan said, because the region was full of drab rocks that resembled tombstones.

Tradition has it, however, that Schieffelin's friends frequently rallied him for his faith in the locality, and told him that he would find his tombstone here. After the prospector had made his fortune here, in good-natured irony he is said to have named the town after the fate that had been predicted for him.

Schieffelin was found dead in a log cabin in the state of Washington May 12, 1897. According to his wishes, his body was taken back to his "tombstone" and buried near there. His pickax and other tools were buried with him. Above the grave his friends erected a simple monument, fashioned after the rude manner of a prospector's claim stake—merely a pile of unevenly-shaped rocks.

How Batteries Are Tested.

If you are away from home and have to deal with a storage battery of which the polarity markings are obliterated, here is a simple test that will instantly reveal to you which is the positive and which the negative pole. It is given by Windsor Crowell in the Popular Science Monthly.

Get a fresh potato; cut a slice off one side, and stick the terminal wires into the cut section, about an inch apart. The potato in contact with one wire begins to turn green. This is the positive pole, therefore the other is the negative.

Suppose you have no potato handy to make the test, proceed as follows: Pour a little of the electrolytic solution from the battery into a glass, place both wires in it, well apart, and watch the bubbles rise from them. Many more will rise from the negative side than from the positive.

Why Workers Demand Music.

It is fairly well-known that in certain parts of the world natives refuse to work at roadbuilding and kindred pursuits unless they have the accompaniment of music. The part played by music in sailors' tasks is common knowledge. Less known by far is the role of music in carpet-weaving and its delicate adjustment to the various colors involved. In British India the carpets are woven to a particular tune. The custom harks back to time immemorial. The leader of the group chants the song in a monotonous, quasi-liturgical style, and the song varies according to the color of the carpet, being repeated by all the weavers in a chorus. If the general color of the carpet is pale, the chant is monotonous; if it is a bright hue, the chorus becomes animated.

The misery and depression caused by a bilious and constipated condition of the system can be quickly removed by using Herbine. It purifies, strengthens and invigorates. Price 60c. Sold by Thomas Bros. 394

Pull Together for an American Merchant Marine

The war resulted in the creation of a great marine—10,000,000 tons of American ships worth $3,000,000,000.

Everybody agrees that we must keep this fleet in our seas.

If we fall back to pre-war conditions—when only 10 per cent of our foreign trade was carried in American ships—our goods are delivered in its competitor's wagons. Congress is considering legislation which will keep our war-built merchant marine.

Until this is done the ships we have should not be used to face conditions which, prior to the war, resulted in the decline of our merchant marine to insignificant proportions. This Committee calls attention to these facts as a right solution of our shipping problem is vital to the prosperity of shipbuilding, but equally vital to the peace and prosperity of the nation.

Unconscious Humor.

The teacher of a third-year class during a test in written English requested each pupil to write an original sentence containing the word "character." After much thought one little girl evolved the following: "All the teachers on the third floor have a good character," which, doubtless true, sounded rather hard on the teachers of the other floors.

In another school one of the teachers occasionally appears wearing one of the modern straight-effect gowns confined at the waist by a heavy silken cord with large tassels. One of the boys, writing upon the subject "Our School," referred to his teacher in flattering terms, but being unversed in the artistic as to raiment, finished his paper with the remark, "But sometimes she comes to school wearing her bathrobe."

PAINS NEARLY DOUBLED ME UP

Nothing Helped Me Until I Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Wyandotte, Mich.—"For the last four years I have doctored off and on without help. I have had pains every month so bad that I would nearly double up. Sometimes I could not sweep a room without stopping to rest, and everything I ate upset my stomach. Three years ago I lost a child and suffered so badly that I was out of my head at times. My bowels did not move for days and I could not eat without suffering. The doctor could not help me and one day I told my husband that I could not stand the pain any longer and sent him to the drug-store to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash I could do my own housework. If it had not been for your medicine I don't know where I would be today and I am never without a bottle of it in the house. You may publish this if you like that it may help some other woman."—Mrs. MARY TENDER, 120 Orange St., Wyandotte, Mich.

DEATH WAS NEAR
Florida Woman in Critical Condition From Dropsy, But Doan's Brought Recovery
"Dropsy brought me right down to the shadow of the grave," says Mrs. Ida B. Atwell, 904 William St., Key West, Fla. "For fifteen years I was a hopeless wreck, struggling between life and death. The pains were so severe in my back I screamed in agony. My head ached so severely I thought my skull was being crushed. Black specks floated before my eyes, and I had to grasp the bed to keep from falling."
"The kidney secretions built up and I was scalded and could pass only a few drops at a time. My body bloated. The pressure of so much water on my chest almost smothered me. My feet also swelled and large seas of water hung beneath my eyes. My skin had a shiny, white appearance and anywhere I pressed a dent would remain for hours. I became a nervous wreck."
"A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and oh! I felt so happy when I found they were helping me. Continued use of Doan's completely cured me." Sworn to before me.

THE MAN WHO WASN'T HIMSELF

ROBERT AMES BENNET

COPYRIGHT, BY W. G. CHAPMAN.

"PRETENDING?"

SYNOPSIS.—Alighting from a train at Denver a well-dressed traveler is familiarly accosted by a man about his own age. The traveler ignores the advance. A few minutes later he is greeted as "Will" by an elderly lady and gentleman, who stop their auto to speak. He imagines it a case of mistaken identity and announces himself as "Richard Clinton," on his way to the coast. The couple appear greatly surprised, and learning that he is in town until midnight, the lady, introducing herself as Mrs. Kirkland, and her husband as Doctor Kirkland, invites him to dinner, explaining the action by his truly remarkable resemblance to a friend of theirs. He accepts. At the Kirkland home he meets a young lady who greets him as her fiancée. She is Ellen Kirkland, and plainly is greatly hurt by his assertion that he is "Richard Clinton." At dinner "Clinton" learns that his host is a medical specialist and that he is believed to be Will Lowrie, a young man who had been suffering from a nervous breakdown and had gone east for medical treatment. Lowrie had had in his possession bonds of the value of $100,000, belonging to the bank where he was employed, which have disappeared and of which he has no recollection.

"I have tried to convince you of my identity, but it seems to be breath wasted. My intention was to give you some of the details of my life during the last year or two."
"That would be quite useless. Mama explained that you are suffering from double personality, and I remember papa's once telling me that in such cases the memory often is distorted and confused. But papa will soon cure you of your delusions."
"He shall not have the chance," declared the young man, unable to conceal his annoyance. "I will leave town tonight."
"O-o-oh! . . . But if papa proves to you this evening that you are my—our Will?"
He could no longer resist her insistence. "Very well," he agreed. "I promise to believe the proofs. Will you do the same?"
"Of course! Don't I know already? You, too, will be convinced!"
Radiant with delight, the girl turned to the piano and dashed into a brilliant selection from Chopin. The music covered the sound of the opening front door from the hall beyond the drawing room. Presently a gentleman appeared, unannounced, in the arched entrance of the drawing room.

His gray-brown eyes shone with shallow brilliancy as they rested upon the couple at the piano. Clinton had risen. He stood gazing down at Ellen Kirkland with an air of attentive admiration easy to mistake for something deeper and more serious. Bennet sauntered over to a bookcase. Though he made no noise Clinton glanced along the room and perceived him. The girl, no less alert, raised her head.

"Oh, it's you, Charlie!" she cried. "Then he remembers you?" She looked at the guest, her eyes dark with gentle reproach. "Will! how can you remember Mr. Bennet and not me?"
He smiled ruefully. "A woman unconvicted against her will."
"I am convinced of my Will," she corrected.
Clinton burst into a laugh so infectious that first Bennet and then Ellen joined in.

"My dear," remarked Mrs. Kirkland, quietly entering at the side door. "Good evening, Charlie. What is it you find so very amusing?"
"Such a joke, mamma! It is about Will being himself."
"Will?" queried the lady, with a delighted glance at the guest.
He met her gaze with a semi-comic look. "Miss Kirkland still insists that I am not myself. I certainly will not be much longer, if you join her and Mr. Bennet in trying to convince me I'm not."
"In my opinion," replied Mrs. Kirkland, "it will be as well for Ellen to finish the selection she was playing."
Ellen met her mother's glance, and at once continued her Chopin. She was still playing when her father burst in upon them.

"Good medicine," he commented. "Nothing better than music to stir dormant associations, unless it is odors. Go on. Don't let me stop you."
His daughter began again the passage that he had interrupted. He sat down close beside his wife and looked meditatively at the backs of the two young men, who stood on each side of the girlish musician.
"Will? Will? Oh! Then he has come! Oh!" came a girlish shriek of delight in the hall above.
Clinton had stepped inside, after Doctor Kirkland. Looking up at the turn of the stairs, he caught sight of two little slipped feet twinkling on the steps of the top flight. In a moment their owner swung around the turn and flew down the long, straight lower flight as if winged. The young man had a swift vision of a graceful, animated little form with outflung arms, of a charming little dimpled face, of a pair of starlike brown eyes. Then the vision was at the foot of the stairs.

He drew back with what seemed to be instinctive reserve. Doctor Kirkland frowned and shot a glance from him to the girl. She had not paused. In her excitement she perceived the young man's attempt to avoid her she disregarded it. From the foot of the stairs she darted past the physician to his companion. Clinton continued to draw back. He put out his hands as if to keep her away from him.

"Wait, wait!" he protested. "I must—"

But she had slipped between his hands and flung her arms around him. Her little bosom pressed so close against his coat that he could feel the beat of her joyously leaping heart; the crown of her fragrant, glossy brown hair touched his chin. From between his lapel and tie came a muffled cry of ecstatic delight: "Dear, dear Will!"
"—I say, I—" he stammered, his face flushing crimson. He started to grasp the girl's shoulders, hesitated, and looked appealingly at Doctor Kirkland. "Good heavens! This—she does not realize! You must at once—I beg you!"
The girl flung back her head to beam up into his perturbed face.

"Oh, Will!" she exclaimed. "So that's it! You've an English accent, and you've learned horrid English manners at the same time. You're ashamed to hug me before Tillie and Doctor. You old silly!"
She released her embrace, but it was only to clasp her arms around his neck and hold him fast while she reached up on tiptoe to kiss him. At the touch of her lips his flush deepened and he sought to thrust her away from him. His expression was a peculiar mixture of pleasure and shame.
"Doctor Kirkland," he begged, "you see that unless I use force—you know I am not her brother!"
"Not Will!" cried the girl, and she burst into a merry laugh. "Just listen to that, Tillie. He says he's not Will."

The guest stiffened at the peremptory tone of his host.
"Does it not strike you, sir, that this proceeding is rather odd?" he asked.
"It must indeed seem so to you, Mr. Clinton," replied Mrs. Kirkland. "But my husband will explain on your way down."
"I see," he rejoined, and he stared at the physician, his blue eyes bright with angry suspicion. "You are all under a delusion that I am daft—insane. You have spoken of a sanitarium. I have heard of supposedly insane persons being decoyed into institutions."
"Decoyed! You think I—" gasped the physician. He choked between indignation and mirth, and wagged his plump hand at his wife. "T-tell him—what—why!"
She smiled at the guest with unmistakable candor in her look. "We should have explained the situation to you, at once," she said. "It is true we still doubt your identity. My husband considers that the quickest way to settle the matter is to take you home to your sister."
"Home? Sister?"
"You still—very well, then—to see Miss Amy Lowrie. Your—pardon me—his mother is away, as I believe we told you at the depot. But even though she is not there Amy will be certain to know you."
"She will know me for what I am—an absolute stranger to you all," he qualified.
"Oh, Will, please!" implored Ellen. "We shall see, my dear," soothed her mother. "The moment he and Amy see each other there will no longer be any doubt of the truth."
"Then I shall be glad to go at once," said Clinton. "This misunderstanding is as embarrassing to me as I fear it is distressing to Miss Kirkland. The sooner it is settled the better."
"Do not follow for at least half an hour," Doctor Kirkland ordered the others as he went out with his guest.
At the curb he sprang into the front of his car and motioned to Clinton to seat himself in the tonneau. The moment they were aboard the car shot out into the street and whirled away much faster than the city speed limit.

A light high against the starry, blue-black sky, outlined the dome of the capitol. Doctor Kirkland ran on to within a block of the capitol grounds and drew up before an old brick mansion.
"Here we are," he said, and he started in across the sidewalk without looking about at his passenger.
"Good evening, Tillie," said Doctor Kirkland, opening the screen door.
"I guessed it was your ring, doctor," said the woman with the familiarity of an old servant. "Come right up—and the other gentleman, too. Miss Amy is just—my lands! if it ain't Mr. Will. Well, I never! Looking finer'n silk, too! Well, I am glad to see you home again, Mr. Will! I'll run at once and tell Miss Amy. She'll be 'most tickled to death!"
She left the visitors and hurried back along the narrow hallway, calling breathlessly: "Miss Amy! Miss Amy! Where are you? Lord bless us! Here's Mr. Will home again! Where are you? Here's Mr. Will! Where—?"
"Will? Will! Oh! Then he has come! Oh!" came a girlish shriek of delight in the hall above.

HAD CHRONIC BRONCHITIS FOR TWENTY-SIX YEARS NOW WELL AND HAPPY THIS IS WORTH READING

The experience of Mr. E. J. Touppalik, 1438 Rose street, LaCrosse, Wisconsin, is chiefly remarkable on account of the length of time he was afflicted.
He writes: "I have been suffering with chronic bronchitis for twenty-six years and every winter I would catch cold and become so hoarse I could not speak for six or eight weeks. I could get only temporary relief.
"This winter I was taken with Grip and was in awful shape. A fellow workman advised me to take PER-U-NA. By the time I had used three-fourths of a bottle, the hoarseness was gone, also that tired feeling. I am on my second bottle. Hereafter PER-U-NA will be constantly in my house. It is the best medicine ever put up for the purpose."
For any disease due to catarrh or catarrhal conditions, PER-U-NA is equally dependable. Coughs, colds, catarrh of the head, stomach trouble, constipation, rheumatism, pains in the back, side and loins, bloating, belching gas, indigestion, catarrh of the large and small intestines, are some of the troubles for which PER-U-NA is especially recommended.
PER-U-NA can be purchased anywhere in either tablet or liquid form.

Make a list of your acquaintances and you will be surprised at the number of small men that you know.

PINK BOLLWORM BILL HAS BEEN INTRODUCED

PROVIDES REGULATED ZONES AND IS BASED ON CURETON-WOLTERS MEASURE.

Austin, Texas.—Recommendation of the state provide a fund of $1,000,000 through legislative appropriation to reimburse cotton farmers whose crops may be destroyed because of pink bollworm infestation is included in a report submitted to the joint agricultural committees which report also advocated the enactment of a regulated zone bill as prepared by Attorney General Cureton collaborating with Senators Dayton and Gibson of the committee. The basis of the bill was the former Cureton-Wolters bill which Chairman Marlatt of the federal horticultural board would not consider even for purposes of discussion, warning that its passage would bring on quarantines against the whole of Texas by the federal government and by the cotton growing states.

Austin, Texas.—Governor Hobby has introduced additional subjects to the legislature. One of them provides an amendment to the law relating to delinquent taxes by adding an article providing for bringing suits for delinquent taxes on unincorporated cities and towns.

An act to amend the law providing for the issuance of certain county bonds shall be based upon amount limited by the value of the county was also introduced.

An act to amend the law relating to the celebration of marriage, so as to place additional and proper safeguards around the granting of marriage licenses by those authorized to grant same, was submitted by the governor.

Another was to amend the act relating to the duties, qualifications, term and removal of superintendents of the confederate home, on request of Representative Smith.

Another general law sent to the lawmakers provides for an amendment to the law regulating the use of motor vehicles, by providing that cities of 10,000 population and over may establish safety zones contiguous to railroad, interurban or street car tracks to regulate traffic passing same.

Following the submission of the subject by the governor, Senator Bailey introduced a bill in the senate providing for the bringing of suits for collection of taxes by unincorporated cities and towns.

A bill was introduced by Senator Price increasing the compensation for office services of sheriffs.

Senator Witt introduced a bill providing for the adoption of a child where its parents have voluntarily abandoned it.

Senator Smith introduced a bill increasing the fees allowed county officials in all counties.

An amendment to the law regulating the sale of and defining agricultural and garden seeds and mixed seeds was submitted. It requires their proper labeling, collection of samples and their examination; prohibiting mixture of seeds unless so labeled, denning noxious weeds and foreign matter, providing that certificate of an analysis by commissioner of agriculture shall be prima facie evidence in certain cases and regulating measures of damage, and designating an officer for enforcement of the law.

Representative Miller of Dallas introduced a bill to allow mills, gins, cotton compresses, grain elevators, warehouses and public warehouses, the privilege of extending their commercial and customs brokerage business outside of the state of Texas, limited under the existing law.

In the house a bill was introduced providing that the superintendent of a confederate home shall be a confederate veteran or a lineal descendant of a confederate veteran, and that shall keep a history of the inmates of the home.

Representative Teer presented a bill providing the salaries of county superintendents in accordance with the population from 3,000 with a salary of $2,000 to population of 10,000 and over with a salary of $3,500 as a minimum so a permanent certificate is required before appointment of future superintendents.

Austin, Texas.—Governor Hobby sent a special message to the legislature, recommending the appropriation of $6,000,000 for the cause of education in Texas, and saying that the addition of the state treasury warranted such an allowance. That is but $100,000 less than requested by the general advisory committee on public education in Texas. The governor suggests that $1,000,000 go to the high-institutions of learning and that $5,000,000 be used to supplement the available school fund.

The bill as introduced by Mr. Cox gives the railroad commission general supervisory control of all natural gas pipe lines in the state. The commission is empowered to suspend all rules and regulations of the pipe line companies, and to make and enforce fair and reasonable rules and regulations for transporting, distributing, producing and selling natural gas; to fix the reasonable price for gas, and to apportion the gas between towns and cities and corporations and individuals, and provides for fixing the division of fees between the pipe lines and the distributing companies.

Little Johnnie, while lurching with his aunt one evening, shocked that estimable lady by flicking his spoon clean before putting it in the sugar bowl.
"Johnnie," remonstrated auntie, "stop, that is a dirty thing to do!"
"Oh, don't worry, auntie; it's all right. My mouth is just as clean as anything. Ma washed it out with soap this morning."

CALOMEL

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead!

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just get back and get your money.
If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. You can give it to children, too.—Adv.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It
Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.
Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.
An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.
However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Indignant.
In the corner of a drug store which bears the sign, "C. W. Pugh & Company," the circulating library of a small town is kept.
One day Fred, aged nine, came home very indignant, after returning a borrowed book, and said he would never go to the library again because the man laughed at him.
His mother said: "Oh, no; the man didn't laugh at you. What did you say?"
And Fred replied: "I didn't say nothing. I just said: 'Mr. Pugh, I brought your book back.'"

The Dixie Girls are four vivacious girl entertainers who will present two highly pleasing programs on the third day of our chautauqua.

These girls are as versatile as they are charming, and delightful. They sing, impersonate and play with unusual skill. Individually and collectively, there is the same winsome appeal to their work.

Throughout the program will be woven a charming epic in song and story. The warmth and brilliancy of the good old southern songs, the simple tunes of mother love, home and fireside, are all blended in a program of lights and shadows that will enthrall, lift up and inspire everyone.
