Call For Farmers Mass Meeting

Object of Meeting to Form Permanent Organization to Promote Commercial Interests of all of Lynn County

We have been requested by several of our farmer friends to issue a call for a mass meeting of the farmers of Lynn county and the business men of Tahoka to be held at the court house in Tahoka on the last Monday in May, which is the 26th day of the month, at 1:30 p. m. The purpose of this meeting is to perfect a permanent organization of the farmers and business men into a co-operative association whose aim shall be to promote community interests of the citizens of Lynn County and encourage better cultural methods, and the formulating of plans for a Lynn County Fair.

We are in receipt of a letter from Agricultural Commissioner one containing information in regard to the meeting of the Texas State Farmers' Institute which will be held at College Station, Texas, July 31st and August 1st, also the Texas Farmers' Congress that holds its session at the College July 28-30, 1913. The railroads will furnish free transportation to delegates on the basis of one delegate at large and one delegate for every 25 members of the local or county institute or a majority fraction thereof, provided that none of the delegates come under the classes prohibited by the provisions of the amended anti-pass law.

To avail ourselves of free transportation for our delegates we must meet and elect them not later than the 7th day of June. Therefore let us meet Monday the 26th of this month and enroll as many as we can so as to be able to send several delegates to this meeting for it is of untold good both for those who go and those who belong to the institute and any man or woman may belong to the institute whether an actual farmer or not; all that is needful is for you to be interested in farming, and who in this country is not?

The further intention of this meeting is to make a permanent thing of our Second Monday Trades Day. And the organization of a Lynn County Fair Association, for we must have a county fair this fall, offer premiums for the best displays of field, garden and household products, and the articles that take the premiums at our fair must then be sent to the State Fair. By doing this we will derive permanent and far reaching benefits in the way of publicity and encouraging home seekers to come and settle in Lynn county. Thereby improving our school facilities, our business interests, and our farming interests. For the more people we have the better schools we can have, the more business our merchants will have and the easier it will be for our farmers to combine and ship their produce by car.

Come out to this meeting every one—for numbers count.

LYNN COUNTY PRODUCES MORE PORK THAN USED

C. S. News Service.

The Farmers' Union is inaugurating a "Live at Home" campaign among the farmers of Texas. Mr. Peter Radford, president of the Union, in discussing the subject said: There is no reason why the farmer should buy a dollar's worth of meat during the year, but from such information as I can obtain, the farmers of Texas buy $26,000,000 of pork and its products per annum, to say nothing of the other kinds of meats and supplies purchased that should be raised on the farm. No farmer can afford to buy a thing he can raise, no matter how cheap it may be."

According to the government estimates, the per capita consumption of pork and its products per annum is 100 pounds and the Federal Census Reports on hogs marketed and slaughtered in each county, give a reliable basis for production by counties.

The report shows Lynn county produces 271,200 pounds of pork and consumes 171,300 pounds per annum.

The Farmers' Union is asking that the farmers reduce the cotton acreage and "plant" hogs, raise corn and milo maize, build silos and feed and fatten live stock on the farm and live at home the whole year round.

Lynn is one of the few Texas counties that produces enough enough pork for home consumption.

Jim Hutto, of Edith, gave us a Trades Day dollar Monday on subscription.

It sprinkled a little in Tahoka Tuesday evening and several nice showers fell in the southern portion of the county.

BIG CROW, FINE STOCK IN TAHOKA SECOND MONDAY

THE LARGEST CROWD SEEN IN TAHOKA IN MANY DAYS WAS HERE TRADES DAY. LOTS OF FINE STOCK HERE TRADES DAY SUCCESS IN EVERY PARTICULAR JUNE 9, WILL BE NEXT TRADES DAY

No one can successfully deny that our second Monday trades day was a great success and no one wants to deny it. There are many citizens in Tahoka who have seen great days here before, who have seen large crowds assemble and have a fine time, and who expected a large crowd here Monday; but, we have met no one who had any idea of as large a crowd as gathered in Tahoka on that day. People came in Saturday of the week before and stayed over until Monday; more came in Sunday, and Monday they began to come in by droves before sun up, and kept coming in until the middle of the afternoon; so that there were people everywhere; in the stores, at the homes, on the sidewalks, and the streets and square were full to overflowing. They came in on the trains, in autos, hacks, wagons, buggies, on horse back and on foot, until many exclaimed: "Where are they all coming from?"

The announcements as made in The News were carried out almost to the letter. Many people brought in large and creditable displays of produce and fine stock.

The premiums were awarded as follows: H. M. Larkin, sack of flour to J. N. York for the most eggs (30 dozen) brought to his store. F. M. Sherrad brought in 41 dozen but not to Larkin. C. L. Griffin, for the Radford Grocery Co. a case of New South syrup; J. S. Wells $2.50 in merchandise to J. E. Stokes, for the largest bill of groceries bought Monday. Tahoka Hardware Co. $3.50 horse collar to M. F. Ballew for the best year old colt. C. L. Williams, pound of tobacco to G. R. King for best turkey. First National Bank $2.50 to W. L. Kuykendall for best this spring mule colt. J. E. Ketner $2.00 worth of sugar to A. L. Lockwood for best mule team. Parkhurst Broken Dollar Store $5.00 watch fob to C. R. Strong for best team of horses, also a large sack of salt from G. W. Snider. Tahoka Hotel $2.50 to H. O. Crouch for best sow. Ben

SCHOOLASTIC CENSUS

Be sure to give in your children to the public school enumerator when he comes around so there will be no possible chance for any children to be missed. Mention this matter to your neighbors also for every time a child in the schoolastic age is missed it means just that much money that we lose the benefit of. Kindly remind the enumerator of those of your neighbors who have children in the age limits. This is important. Do it now.

G. W. Reed, of Sanger, accompanied by his brother-in-law, H. T. Twitty, of Lubbock, took the south bound train Friday evening for Lamesa. Mr. Reed has land in the southeast part of Lynn county.

M. M. Anthony, of six miles south of town, handed us a dollar to keep the News coming to him for another year. Mr. Anthony, who is president of the Lynn County Farmers' Institute, is very hopeful for much better

King 2 bales of hay to P. M. Williams for best stallion. Higginbotham Harris Co. $2.50 cash and S. N. McDaniel 500 pounds of coal to J. T. Curb for largest crowd and number of women in one wagon. Hobson, of seven miles north-east of Tahoka, carried off the $1.00 worth of sugar at Larkin's for the prettiest baby. Geo. Short $2.50 cash for best this year colt. W. F. Bigham $10.00 cash for best 20 heads of maize, with M. M. Anthony a close second. T. C. Marshall received $5.00 in cash for best 20 heads of kaffir. M. M. Anthony, J. L. Russell and Jack Alley were the judges and are to be commended for their impartial work. A vote of thanks is due Paul Miller, the Plains cotton buyer for his indefatigable efforts that made such a success of Trades day.

The amusements consisted of the bronco busting, four mile foot race and small boys half-mile foot race. While these were not all that were on the program, it was all there was time to pull off, in fact, many of the people who lived at a distance began to leave before all the races could be pulled off. The bronco busting came first and two little mules were ridden. The first by Carl Beatenbough, who used his quirt to such good ad-

A VOTE OF THANKS FROM DALLAS BOOSTERS

Dallas Tex.—A vote of thanks to the citizens of Tahoka for their splendid hospitality on the occasion of the visit of the Dallas business men, jobbers and manufacturers Thursday, April 24, was unanimously adopted at a meeting of the directors of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce held this week. Members of the party returned home impressed with the growth of Tahoka, with the future of that city, and with the fertility and varied resources of the country adjacent. John R. Babecek, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, pronounced the recent trip one of the most successful in history. He said:

"Tahoka won the admiration as well as the good wishes of every member of the party. The hospitality extended us on our visit there was the right sort. We enjoyed ourselves thoroughly. The business men of Tahoka are live wires, and they have a splendid city and a splendid country surrounding them. It is important that Dallas manufacturers and jobbers get in as close a trade relationship with Tahoka as possible. We deeply appreciate their hospitality and hope to be able to reciprocate in the near future."

J. J. Curlee, of Lamesa, who is traveling for the Automatic Advertising Machine Co. was a second Monday visitor, leaving on the Tuesday morning train.

T. J. O'Donnell, of Sweetwater, came in on the Tuesday evening train on a business trip, leaving for home on the Wednesday morning north bound train.

Miss Grace Leedy, who has been spending the winter with her brother-in-law, Virgil Johns, of Electra, Texas, came in on the Wednesday evening train accompanied by her sister and little niece.

Tom Preston sends The News to his father for another year. Tom, himself, who has been taking the paper while out in New Mexico, says he is so often on the move that a weekly paper can't keep in touch with him, so he discontinues his paper for the present. Some day he will marry, settle down and become a regular subscriber again. Here's wishing.

At the Saturday afternoon session of the Amarillo District Conference at Canyon, the conference went on record as favoring the changing of paragraphs 78 and 147 of the Methodist discipline, affecting the licensing and admission of applicants for the ministry who use tobacco, so as to prohibit further licensing and admission of applicants who use tobacco. At the last general conference, upon vote, the same question lacked only three

To Gravel Streets On The Square

Citizens to the Number of 151 Sign Petition to Have Streets On The Square Graded and Graveled at Once

The County Fathers while in session Wednesday, upon being presented with a petition with 151 signers, decided to appropriate money to grade and gravel the north and west streets on the square from the St. Clair hotel to the First National Bank, and from in front of the Tahoka Hotel to The Fair dry goods and grocery store. It is estimated it will take something like six or eight car loads of gravel to make the streets what they should be. Now it will be an excellent thing for the citizens to get together and have the street west of the square graded from The Fair to the south side of the town section so the farmer may bring in their cotton this fall. This street has washed out until it is very rough and should be fixed up right by all means when the other work is being done.

Everybody get busy and fix up the streets so the farmers will know we appreciate their trade. The commissioners are doing their part and it is up to the citizenship to supplement the work that they are doing. Every body push.

He's Going Away From Here

This man is evidently in a hurry. He is going away from here. You never can get some men into action without a powerful stimulus. You can hardly say this man is having a bully time, although the bull may be. It is all in the point of view.

Anyway, the man is going some, and THAT IS GOOD FOR HIM, or is if he goes fast enough. He has developed a burst of speed for once in his life.

It is good to get into action.

It is good for the individual and even better for the community.

THIS TOWN WANTS TO GET INTO ACTION. That means we as individuals want to get into action for the town. We want to get a move on.

The census shows that this country is increasing in population at the rate of nearly 2,000,000 per year.

These people have to settle somewhere.

WHY NOT HERE?

We may not be able to get the whole 2,000,000, but even a fraction will help.

Why not go after them?

We believe this is a good town else we would not live here.

Why not tell others and let them SHARE ITS BLESSINGS?

HOUSE FLY & CO
General Dealers in Typhoid Fever, Diphtheria, and Other Infectious Diseases, Sickness and Death from Our Infection Warranted to Be Higher than That of Any Other Firm in the Same Line of Business.

Carlestown, E. W.,
May 1, 1911.

DEAR SIR OR MADAM: This is to inform you that we will be at your screen door earlier than usual this summer, with a choice line of summer infections, including Typhoid Diphtheria, etc. Special inducements for babies are offered in a new line of bacteria, insuring long illness and slow death.

We desire to call particular attention to an insidious variety of Bovine Tubercle Bacillus, which we are carrying to your milk supply. This Tubercle Bacillus is warranted to produce large tuberculous glands in your children and slow tuberculosis of the bowels, which we guarantee to be fatal in 20 per cent of the cases infected.

Our firm finds it necessary to the attention of our patrons to results. We GET them. Look at your cemeteries filled with the patrons of the line of products we carry. Visit your hospitals; the beds are occupied by those we infected. Not a city in the country has less—many more—than 10 per cent of its people sick. No other firm can point to so many cases of typhoid or so much illness among babies as we can, as a result of our methods.

Can't you see the advantage we have over hog cholera or pip? Walk through your orphan asylums. Who made the fatherless and motherless children? WE DID.

Every July, August and September we increase the death of babies several hundred percent; we cause babies to die by the thousands. We laugh at our enemies who dole out insect powder, which only gives us a good drunk; and fly poison, which doesn't materially interfere with our business. No one can hurt us until the vault, manure heap, open garbage pail and dirty yard are wiped out. Of course that won't be done right away.

Yours for dirt, disease and death,
HOUSE FLY & CO,
To Madam Careless Housewife;
Mr. Indifferent Citizen.—Life.

UNDERSTOOD ART OF DINING

Gourmet Paid for His Elaborate Dinner, Though at That Time He Didn't Know It.

That skill in the art of choosing a dinner can stand one in good stead was experienced the other day by a gentleman in Liverpool, Eng. It appears that a millionaire from the United States walked into one of the leading hotels in the city and said to the manager: "Tomorrow I want the best dinner that your establishment can produce. I want to show to some friends what England can do in the way of a dinner."

The manager was at a loss to know what to do, but remembering the man who made the art of dining a hobby, he sought him out and said, "Our company will esteem it an honor and a pleasure if you will dine tomorrow at their expense. You will select your own dinner, and all they ask of you is that you will choose the best menu that your experience dictates, regardless of expense."

The gentleman in question accepted the invitation, and next day gave his order for the dinner. It was served to him in the dining-room, and the same dinner was served in the private room to the millionaire and his friends. The latter unanimously confessed that they never had realized to what a pitch of perfection the art of dining could be brought in any English hotel.

HARD TO FIND MORAL HERE

Warden's Little Act of Dishonesty Saved His Life Through Discovery He Made.

A Warsaw bookkeeper named Schneider was awaiting his trial, being charged with fraud. As his health was bad his family sent him many little delicacies unknown to the prison fare, delicacies which, doubtless, his custodian shared. One day, amongst other things, a huge iced cake appeared. The warden's children were fond of cake, so was his wife. They therefore determined to armex half the cake for their own consumption. Their astonishment was great when, upon applying a knife to the dainty, it stuck below the icing and refused to budge.

"It must be baked to a cinder," said Mrs. Warden.

But her husband, suspecting that something worse than careless baking was responsible for the cake's hardness, cut round the sides, and was rewarded by finding a revolver and seven cartridges buried in the paste.

When arraigned before the authorities Schneider confessed that he had intended to shoot his jailers and escape from limbo before his trial.

"After all," said the warden, pensively, when relating the episode, "honesty is not always the best policy. If my wife had not cut into that cake I should have been a dead man by now, for I sleep hard."

Don't Suffer!
 "I had been troubled, a little, for nearly 7 years," writes Mrs. L. Fincher, in a letter from Peavy, Ala., "but I was not taken down, until March, when I went to bed and had to have a doctor. He did all he could for me, but I got no better. I hurt all over, and I could not rest. At last, I tried Cardui, and soon I began to improve. Now I am in very good health, and able to do all my housework."
TAKE The CARDUI Woman's Tonic
 You may wonder why Cardui is so successful, after other remedies have failed. The answer is that Cardui is successful, because it is composed of scientific ingredients, that act curatively on the womanly system. It is a medicine for women, and for women only. It builds, strengthens, and restores weak and ailing women, to health and happiness. If you suffer like Mrs. Fincher did, take Cardui. It will surely do for you, what it did for her. At all druggists.

PRAISE FOR LONDON
 Ex-Congressman Asserts English Systems Superior to Others.
 A. M. Todd of Michigan Discusses Public Services—Have Wonderful Method of Bookkeeping—Co-Operation's Part.

London.—Former Congressman A. M. Todd of Michigan, who early last spring came to Europe to make an exhaustive study of the system in vogue among the public services, with special reference to municipal ownership, has come to the conclusion that the best managed public service systems in the world are those of Great Britain.
 "In France and Germany," said Mr. Todd, according to a London correspondent, "I found much to admire, and perhaps even more to condemn. So far as mere mechanical methods are concerned both countries show many important and valuable improvements, but in nearly every case their organization and management are loose and lacking in system, which of course means a certain increase in the cost of operation and a corresponding decrease in profits. Politics and the necessity for providing places for party supporters may have something to do with this, as in my own country."
 "On the other hand, I have so far been able to find only one point to criticize in the equipment and operation of the various municipally owned public services of Great Britain, and that is the construction of the double decked tramcars controlled by the London council. They are not broad enough or heavy enough at the base for their height, and the danger of capsizing seems to me to be too great. It seems surprising that so few accidents happen, considering the tremendous congestion of traffic in most of your streets. Perhaps this danger is discounted by the superb way in which the cars are handled."

Mr. Todd was particularly struck with the running of the various public departments in Glasgow. "Politics is eliminated there, and the sole aim of the authorities seems to be to give the public the best possible service at the least possible cost. Birmingham and Manchester are much the same in many respects, with only minor differences due to a changed environment."
 "One striking phase of these public service systems of England and Scotland, which I found well worth studying in detail, is the wonderful system of bookkeeping and auditing of accounts. I don't think I ever saw a more perfect method of classifying accounts on so large a scale, where even the smallest item may be traced at a moment's notice, while a balance sheet can be furnished practically on demand. In the published report of my investigations, which will be submitted to the governing bodies of all the principal cities in the United States, I shall recommend the adoption of this comprehensive system of bookkeeping in every public department. This will not be for some months yet, as the volume of information I have collected is very large, and it will probably take me all winter to prepare my report."
 "At the same time I shall start an effective campaign in my own state for the municipalization of all public services along the same lines that I have found in operation here, for I believe no better system of really efficient service could be devised in the present stage of our civilization."
 But Mr. Todd's enthusiastic eulogy does not stop here. He has been particularly struck with another peculiarity of English civil life, the big co-operative concerns which have begun to play a leading part in the British world of business. He says:
 "One institute whose plant I inspected with the most absorbing interest not only manufactures an immense output of superior goods for the markets of the world, but gives profitable employment to thousands of men, women and children under the most wholesome conditions and sanitary regulations. All of them are provided with comfortable homes at reasonable rentals and everything is done to make them contented and happy, while each in addition enjoys a proportionate share in the general profits."
 Moreover, this concern has its own steamship lines for shipping its goods to foreign markets at a minimum expense for freightage and for bringing back supplies of raw materials from its own plantations and forests in Africa and South America. And all of these vast enterprises in one are operated simply and easily, because the principle of co-operation behind it insures a unity and harmony of both purpose and effort for the common profit."

FARM POULTRY
 GOOD HOUSE FOR THE FOWLS
 Should Have Southern Front and Yards May Be Laid Off for Individual Pens if Desired.

A good poultry house may be built after plans shown in the drawing. Such a house may be made any length desired and partitioned into six foot breeding pens, 16 feet deep, which would give 7 1/2 square feet per bird for one male and 12 females. The house should have a cement or board floor and can be so built as to make it rat, wind and rain proof. I prefer a floor of cement, writes William Scott of Abilene, Kan., in the Farmers' Mail and Breeze.
 The house should front south and yards may be laid off for the use of individual pens if desired.

Good for Several Uses.
 Individual pens if desired. This kind of house is also suitable for raising early hatched chicks.
 The upper windows are hinged so they may be swung open at any desired angle or to be hooked up as the weather demands. The lower front is covered with one-inch mesh wire and a drop canvas or windows may be used. The window should be hung so as to swing in at any desired angle. Roosts are placed along the north wall. A single roost running the length of the building and set out two feet from the north wall, may be made to serve the purpose.
 A roost shield for cold weather can be made of a frame the length of the roosts and two feet wide, to be covered with sound burlap on top and sides. Place this frame six inches above the birds' heads and let the burlap hang a foot below the roosts. This frame should be drawn up out of the way each morning.
 If nests are placed low enough not many hens will lay on the floor and it is often considered better still to place them right on the floor. A screen made of burlap so it will almost hide the nests make them more attractive to the hens and helps to prevent egg-eating.

'SULPHURING' THE HEN HOUSE
 Job Should Be Performed at Least Once Every Month—First Remove All Combustibles.
 To burn sulphur in a poultry house first remove all combustible matter. Then put an old iron kettle into a dishpan and place on four bricks in the middle of the house. In the kettle put some cobs which have been soaked in a solution of one part of pine tar to four parts of kerosene, sprinkle the sulphur over the cobs and set on fire.
 Be sure to have everything arranged so as to beat a hasty retreat from the room and close the door quickly as the sulphur fumes are suffocating. Sulphur burned in this manner will penetrate every crevice as well as covering the surface and aids wonderfully in purifying the building and in destroying poultry vermin.
 One pint of turpentine may be added to the half gallon of kerosene as well as the pine tar with beneficial results. Once a month is none too often to burn sulphur in every poultry house.

OIL MAN LONESOME
 Frank Rockefeller Says Brother Is Afraid of Kidnapers.
 Declares Old Associates of John D. Fear Him—Remorseless Business Methods Responsible—Asserts William Is Now the Richest.

Belvidere, Kan.—That brother of mine, John D. Rockefeller, is the most lonesome man in all the world; there is no man who walks the earth that he can call his real friend," says Frank Rockefeller of Belvidere, Cleveland and New York, according to a correspondent.
 Rockefeller is spending some time at his big ranch near Belvidere, where he comes every winter for a few weeks' vacation. He is a brother of John D. and William Rockefeller, and was, for twenty years, general field man for Standard Oil. His 15,000 acre ranch in this county is called "Rockefeller's million-dollar plaything."
 "I'd rather live on a 150-acre western homestead, with a homesteader's usual fare, than live like John D. does in his palaces. He's living in a regular hell. He's the most lonesome man on the face of the earth. He can call no man 'friend,'" continued Frank Rockefeller.
 "John D. has been relegated to the background by all the big business men with whom he once did business. None of them will have anything to do with him. They don't like his way of doing business. Anyway, Brother William is worth 50 per cent. more money than John D. is, but people don't know it. John D. hasn't reinvested his money for many years and is practically out of the game. He has the income of his investments, but nothing more. William invests and reinvests, and today is worth one-half as much again as John D."
 "John D. is fearfully afraid of being kidnaped and held for ransom and he never stirs without his guards."
 Frank Rockefeller is seventy years of age, as straight as an arrow, weighs 217 pounds and is an athlete. Regardless of his appearance while in New York or Cleveland, when in Kansas Mr. Rockefeller looks just like an ordinary Kansas rancher. And he acts like one, too.
 Wall street and lower Broadway would never recognize this man. He purchased the ranch thirty-nine years ago and came out here soon afterwards to take a look at his property. As he neared the sod house he passed under a big cottonwood tree. From its branches three men were swinging.
 "Horse thieves!" laconically said his foreman.
 Then there followed such a vigorous campaign against the rustlers and horse thieves that the Rockefeller ranch was troubled no more for years. But gradually the rustlers returned and the Rockefeller herds began to suffer. On one of his periodical visits to the ranch Rockefeller was given proofs that a gang of "bad" men had gathered on an adjoining ranch and were cutting fences and running off cattle.
 In Ohio and New York Rockefeller's reputation may be that of a peaceful man. But out in western Kansas he is known as a daredevil and as reckless as they make them. He mounted his horse and, unarmed, rode over to the rustlers' ranch. There were fourteen men on the porch as he rode up. The head of the gang was not to be seen.
 "Where's your boss?" demanded Rockefeller.
 The boss came out on the porch. Rockefeller shook his finger in the man's face.
 "I just came over here," he said in an ordinary tone of voice, "to tell you that you are a thief and that if my fences are again cut or a single head of my cattle stolen I'm coming back over and kill you."
 The rustler pulled his gun.
 "That's all right," said Rockefeller. "I am unarmed. But you're a thief just the same. You can shoot now or you can have one of your men shoot me in the back as I ride away. Or you can give me a rifle, take one yourself, get out here in the road and we will shoot this thing out right here."
 The rustler refused and Rockefeller turned his back on the gang and calmly rode away. Not a gun was lifted to prevent his going. And no more of his cattle were stolen, either.

PROFITS INCREASED BY SILO

Dairyman Should Be Ready to Take Advantage of Opportunities to Reduce His Expenses.

(By J. E. DORMAN.)
If a dairy farmer were told that he could roll silver dollars down a hill and then pick up two dollars for every one he rolled down, and this statement was verified by some of his neighbors and hundreds of other dairy farmers in the country, that farmer would stay up nights and roll the dollars. But when told that he could double the profits by the use of the silo he becomes very indifferent and keeps on in the same old rut, feeding dry feed, wasting nearly half of his corn crop and doing a lot of unnecessary work. In these days of close competition, dairymen should be ready to take advantage of every opportunity to reduce the cost of production, and it will be found that it is easier, if the proper methods are used, to do that than to raise the selling price of the dairy products. The results are the same; a large net profit.

In the corn plant about 40 per cent of the feeding value is in the stalk and 60 per cent in the ear. When the ear alone is fed, nearly half of the corn crop is wasted.

Where the dry stalks are fed, at least half of them remain uneaten, while if stored in the silo the loss is almost nothing.

Every dairyman knows that cows will do their best on fresh June pasture. The grass is succulent and palatable and the conditions for a maximum milk flow are ideal. These conditions, however, do not last very long.

The silo comes as near to supplying the ideal conditions as anything that can be found, and it is available every day in the year. It provides a uniform feed for every one of the twelve months.

Highly sensitive dairy cows resent any sudden or violent change in feed, and will show it by a decreased milk flow. The change from fall pasture to dry feed is always followed by a shrinkage in the milk.

In changing from the pasture to the silage, the change is not so great, and often the cows increase the flow of milk when started on silage. Several dairymen have recently made the statement that the increased profits paid for the silo the first year.

PORTRAYED LOOK OF TERROR

Artist Hodler Made Models Sit on Edge of Roof of His Five Story House.

Munich.—Ferdinand Hodler's picture "Das Mutige Weib" (the courageous woman) has been much discussed in art circles, especially in Switzerland, the home of the artist.

The look of terror on the woman's face is lifelike. The story of how the artist got the facial effects, depicting fright and determination, is as follows:

Four models came to his studio to sit for the picture. He asked them in turn to wear an expression such as they would have on jumping into a lifeboat from a sinking ship in a storm. Not satisfied with the results, he took them up to the flat leaded roof of his house, which is five stories high, and placed a chair on the extreme edge. The poor models were dreadfully frightened and each in turn sat wide eyed on the forward edge of the chair, too nervous to look in any direction but straight forward.

He chose one of the women, and took up his easel and rapidly sketched the face and upper part of the figure, though not at all too rapidly for the sitter.

The SILO That Never Falls To Staves

There are some kinds of silos that will not last a life time, and there are others that will. When you get ready to build or purchase a silo we want to explain the construction of the

Common Sense Silo

It is so substantially built that there is no danger of the wind blowing it over, or dry weather shrinking it to the point of falling down. Ask those who have used our make of silos the past few years and see what they say about them. For further particulars see or write vantage that the mule did little but aun. The second one was ridden by Will Patterson, who lost his quirt about the second jump and the little mule pitched and twisted right lively for some time before it began to run. The next thing was the four mile foot race in which there were four entries as follows: Russell Ramsey, James Crie, Joe Barnes and Raymond Weathers. Geo. Small and Dr. Turrentine took the boys out to the starting place, which was in front of the Dyer house, four measured miles from the north-east corner of the square. The race began 15 minutes after four o'clock, right when the day was the hottest, and the thermometer registered 95 in the shade Monday, with but little wind stirring. The boys ran alright for about two miles, when Russell Ramsey, overcome by the heat and dust, took a chill and had to fall out. The other three ran on to the railroad, which is about half a mile from the finishing line, when Jim Crie unable to run longer in the heat and dust, dropped down to a walk and finished in that manner. Joe Barnes ran on to the Higginbotham-Harris lumber yard, two blocks from the finish, when he too could stand the intense heat no longer got into a nearby buggy. Raymond Weathers continued running until he staggered across the line into the arms of his friends who supported him into the Meat Market and worked over him for some time before he recovered from the exhaustion caused by his long, hot, dusty run. Raymond received first money and the honor of being the only one to run the full distance, which he made in 28 minutes. Jim Crie was awarded second money by the judges for crossing the line second. This was the first race of this length that many who witnessed it had ever seen and was the first that any of the participated in. The large crowd who witnessed the finish seemed to enjoy the sport immensely. The half mile race came next with seven entries, who ran from the Hall Robinson residence to the Tahoka Hotel. This small boys race was won by Joe Hickerson and Tom Bald ridge. The saddle pony show finished up the days sports, as the base ball game could not be gotten up as most of the crowd was going home and those who remained to dance were too tired to go to the ball grounds.

BIG CROWD, FINE STOCK IN TAHOKA SECOND MONDAY

All the merchants report a good day for business, some saying it was the best they have had since coming to Tahoka. The crowd all enjoyed themselves to the utmost.

Next second Monday in June being the 9th day of the month we will pull off another Trades Day which will be better and arger even than Mondao was, if such a thing could be possible. Any way we will have a complete change of program in the amusements, with lots of premiums and many big bargains to make it interesting and profitable to all visitors. Come to Tahoka the second Monday in June and you will be shown the time of your life. Watch the Lynn County News for advance announcements, we will have them and they will make both instructive and profitable reading.
