By Bob Smith

It's mosquito biting time again. It's also fish biting time. You come out to catch the fish. The mosquitoes come out to bite you. The fish come up to eat the mosquitoes. You catch the fish. Simple, no? No. There's the little matter of competition. The fish are so busy eating the mosquitoes, they don't even see the lure. But the fish are there. If you can figure how to catch them.

C. M. Boles went fishing recently on a lake near Hackensack, Minn. In his party were Jack Haberlein, Odessa, and Bill Kitzman, Midland.

The Colorado Game and Fish commission set opening dates for big game seasons.

The elk, deer and bear season will open Oct. 15 in northwestern and western Colorado north of Disappointment Creek, and Oct. 20 on the eastern slope, in the San Luis Valley and the San Juan Basin.

Three antelope seasons will be held: Sept. 24-26 in Moffat County and South Park; Oct. 8-10 in portions of Larimer and Weld counties; and Oct. 26-28 in northern, northeastern, eastern and southeastern Colorado.

The commission will announce closing dates for the deer, elk and bear seasons later.

More seen at Buchanan (that place is getting popular): Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bates, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bates, Coahoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Echols, Coahoma.

H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission reports plans to utilize the latest $400,000 Pittman-Robertson grant call for permitting controlled public hunting on the migratory bird refuge areas to be established.

He said the main refuge will be located along the Gulf Coast where waterfowl concentrate during the fall hunting season but that some of the money probably will be earmarked for financing white-winged dove refuges in the Rio Grande Valley.

The commission recently moved to qualify for $400,000 in the P-R aid which had to be accepted before the end of the fiscal year on July 1. The commission authorized the $100,000 in state funds to match the federal allotment under the program by which states match the P-R grant on the basis of one dollar for every three.

The P-R is derived from an eleven per cent tax collected on firearms and ammunition and is allocated back to the states on the basis of area and the number of hunting licenses sold. Texas qualifies for the maximum amount.

Dodgen said the refuge-controlled hunting program is part of a plan that has been under way for several years. Wildlife biologists and others have been studying different localities to recommend sites where the money becomes available.

Timely rains have brought promise of a bountiful wildlife crop, says E. A. Walker, director of wildlife restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

The moisture came at a crucial period in the reproduction routine and in most places practically assures adequate food and cover well into the summer.

There were some negative reports. Heavy rains that flooded fields and ruined bird nests. Hail storms caused some damage to quail, mourning doves and wild turkey. High winds wrecked dove nests in some areas.

But, Walker says, quail, and doves re-nest if their first one is lost.

All reports indicate that the Texas wild turkey outlook "is the best in many years." The state's wild turkey stock, largest in the nation, has slumped in recent years like most wildlife species affected by the drought.

Seen fishing at Possum Kingdom dam: M. Hines and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Greasett, Forsan, and Earl Hughes, Big Spring.

Jack Graham and his family headed out Arizona way and what's that do with fishing? The Gulf of California, of course. Jack plans to try his luck at some deep sea angling.

Radar Man's Luck Runs Out

MOUND CITY, S.D. (AP)—Luck ran out for an Air Force radar observer who once lived to tell how he shot himself out of a closed canopy of a jet plane at low level.

Lt. Myron E. Farb, 28, formerly of St. Louis, Mo., and former L-C Donald L. Chapman, 23, La-Crosse, Wis., were killed when the light plane they were flying crashed in flaming wreckage near here.

Farb survived a "one-in-a-million" chance last Feb. 13 when he shot himself out of a jet trainer flying at 1,500 feet. Veteran jet pilots said his chance of survival was one in a million. His only injuries at the time were a bruised head and a broken leg.

Farb ejected himself from the jet plane when the pilot dropped the craft from 30,000 to 1,500 feet. Farb was unable to contact the pilot on the ship's intercom radio and thought something was wrong. He fired the shell which ejects the seat, without opening the canopy, and was thrown through the plastic top.

Insect Survey Reports Planned

LUBBOCK—A new cotton insect survey report will be distributed weekly to the South Plains cotton industry, beginning early in this month, according to W. H. Jones, district agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The report is designed to give a picture of what's happening in cotton fields and to stress insect prevention and control by farmers, he said.

Control recommendations will be based on research conducted at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock and the "Guide For Controlling Cotton Insects" prepared annually by the extension service for the cotton industry.

The initial report is due to be distributed June 9, and each Thursday thereafter during cotton insect season, said Jones. The reports will supply information to farmers, county agents, insecticide company field men and dealers, aerial applicators, oil millers, ginners, newspapers, radio and television stations, commercial insect checkers and others.

Him Pay Through'm Nose, Heap Nickels

SYRACUSE, N.Y. June 4 (AP)—John Big Tree, the Onondaga Indian chief whose nose adorns the nickel, is in trouble with the law.

Chief Big Tree was charged yesterday with driving while intoxicated. Police said it was the first time the 79-year-old chief had been arrested.

The Indian head on the nickel is a composite, patterned after models chosen from various tribes throughout the nation. Big Tree also has modeled for the head that appears on Pontiac automobiles and has appeared in the movies.

100,000-Year-Old Fossils Discovered

NEW YORK June 4 (AP)—A South African cave discovery has yielded fossil evidence that man's ancestors first learned to use tools and perhaps fire more than 100,000 years ago.

Word of the discovery was received yesterday by the Wenner-Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research, with Dr. Raymond A. Dart informing the foundation that teeth fragments of early man have been found in caves along with crude stone tools.

Mrs. Taylor First To Identify Farm

A lot of folks know their Howard County farms — and quite a few do not.

First picture in The Herald's new "Mystery Farm" series appeared last Wednesday, and within a short time, 46 persons had taken a flyer at identifying the farm from an aerial photo.

The farm has been identified, and the owners themselves have appeared to confirm it. Out of the 46 who had a "guess" at naming the farm, 28 of them had it right. Eighteen others named the picture as being of farms all the way from the Elbow community to the Lamesa Highway to the Abilene Highway.

First person to call in was Dorothy Taylor, 510 E. 16th. She reported her identification at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, within minutes after The Herald was off the press — and she was correct. The Herald is mailing Mrs. Taylor two free passes for use in any Big Spring Theatre.

A full story on the first "Mystery Farm" will appear in Wednesday's Herald. And also on Wednesday will be the second "Mystery Farm."

Readers are urged to help identify this picture, as neither the aerial cameraman who made the photos, nor anybody at The Herald knows which picture is of which farm.

The first person to turn in the correct identification, either by phone, mail, or in person, will receive two free theatre tickets. The owner-operator of the farm also will receive two free passes, and in addition a mounted aerial photo of his farm home.

Russ Nuclear Air Power 'Improved'

TORONTO June 4 (AP)—Ralph Campney, Canada's defense minister, says the Russians "have an improved capability of delivering nuclear weapons against North America."

Campney also said space stations and interplanetary travel "may not be so far distant as we now think," considering the miracles of aviation the last 50 years.

Labor Party Leader Quits

LONDON (AP)—Labor party sources have reported that Hugh Dalton, former chancellor of the exchequer, is quitting the party's high command "to make way for younger men."

He has served continuously since 1935 in the Laborite "shadow cabinet," the Socialist's top policy making group from which Labor government is formed when elected.

As chancellor of the exchequer in Clement Attlee's postwar Labor government, he possessed the British economy.

Dalton was reported to have urged other "over-65's" in the Labor leadership to step down, too.

'Live And Let Live' Is Motto Of 'Ma' Ferguson, Political Veteran

AUSTIN, Tex., June 4 (AP)—"Live and let live" is the motto of Mrs. Mariah A. (Ma) Ferguson, now nearing a gentle 80.

You wouldn't think this white-haired great-grandmother, talking sweetly about her grandchildren and her flowers, lived for a quarter of a century in the vortex of a political tornado.

Mrs. Ferguson—twice elected governor—will be honored again by Texans at a Texas-sized dinner party June 13 to celebrate her 80th birthday. And if anybody at the party calls her "Ma" to her face they may regret it. She just plain doesn't like it.

Mrs. Ferguson—"Ma" to most Texans and the nation—was the first woman elected governor of any state, but not the first to take office. Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross succeeded her husband by legislative appointment and was inducted as governor of Wyoming before Mrs. Ferguson's inaugural in 1925.

Always seeking to vindicate her impeached husband and the late James E. (Farmer Jim) Ferguson, she won the office again in 1932 to climax a series of campaigns never equalled for bitterness in Texas' history.

Farmer Jim and Mrs. Ferguson dominated the Lone Star State's political scene from 1914 until they "retired" in 1935. Then she got back into politics for a last try at the governorship in an unsuccessful bid against W. Lee O'Daniel in 1940.

Would she like to get back in politics?

"I'd just love to," she replied quickly. "But don't you dare print that. Some people would take it seriously and this is not an announcement."

Mrs. Ferguson is pleased about the dinner party for 600 planned at the historic Driskill Hotel here, with Gov. Allan Shivers as master of ceremonies. All of her and Farmer Jim's old friends—and a good many of their enemies—will be there to honor her.

How about those old enemies? She was asked.

"I speak to my enemies. I was taught to be polite." Then came the typical Mrs. Ferguson comeback:

"Besides, they've all seen where they were wrong!"

"What's my most pleasant memory of my days in politics? The campaigns, I guess. They were fun. We campaigned the hard way. We got out and saw the people and that's what I liked the best. We were the first to have a sound wagon, but you know my husband with his voice didn't really need one."

Anybody who remembers the Ferguson oratory knows how right she was.

He spoke the language of the crowd he addressed—and most often it was farmers and small town folk.

Jim Ferguson knew how to handle invectives. He could word-whip a heckler, but he could also be persuasive with his golden speaking voice. His wife never tried to rival him when they campaigned as the most unique political team, ever produced in the nation with the slogan: "Two Governors for the Price of One." She said little, stayed in the background, loved to get back home, and let Jim carry the load.

Ferguson himself coined the slogan that was as often used against them as it was for them. He would tell the crowds that turned out to hear them in Mrs. Ferguson's "vindication" campaigns:

"The people of Texas will have

Bar Speaker

John Patterson, Phoenix City, Alameda, was one of the most fearless prosecutors in the South, will speak at the annual convention of the State Bar of Texas in Dallas June 29-July 2. He is to address the section luncheon for the County and District Attorneys, according to Eldon Mahon, Colorado City, chairman. Patterson succeeded his father, Albert L. Patterson, who was murdered in Phoenix City in 1924 after he had run successfully for state's attorney general.

two governors for the price of one.

"I ask you, if your wife were governor, would you get mad and leave home, or would you attack around and help her?"

Ferguson rose from small-town obscurity to the Texas governorship in 1924. During his second term, he was impeached for fiscal irregularities and barred from holding public office. Then Mrs. Ferguson took the stump with vindication of the family name as the war cry. She won the governorship in 1924 after the courts ruled Ferguson could not hold office.

Then she was defeated for reelection in 1928 and again in 1930. But the Fergusons never quit fighting and she became governor again in the campaign of 1932.

For a full 25-year span in Texas politics, you were either Ferguson or anti-Ferguson. There was no compromise, win or lose. In politics you loved the Fergusons or you hated them.

Now all that apparently seems a long time ago to Miriam Ferguson who takes a mellow look back. That's when she said:

"Live and let live. That's always been my motto."

Big Springers Win Area FFA Contest

Two Big Spring boys, Ronnie Burk and Larry Nix, won the right Friday to represent Area II in the state Future Farmers of America State convention in Houston in July.

They were chosen from a field of seven district talent winners at the closing session of the Area II meeting in Odessa Friday.

Ronald Redell, Gall, was selected as the area's nominee for a state officer. Larri Angirus, Anson, was selected as the area sweetheart, and she, too, will be in the state finals.

Officers elected for the area included Nicky Cleckler, 17, Roscoe, who succeeded Bobby Stone, Haskell, in installation exercises Friday; Johnny Grissom, Lamesa, vice president; David Jones, Hesse, secretary; Charles Smith, Meadow, treasurer; Jimmy Barksdale, Fabens, reporter; J. A. mes Suggs, Big Spring, sentinel.

Those named to receive the American Farmer degree, the highest given by the FFA, were Bill Barville and Milburn Wink, Robert Lee, and Monte Griffin, Lamesa. Alternates named were Glenn Reid, Brownfield, and Pinky Caruthers, Sanderson. Only about one lad in every 1,000 members qualifies for this high award.

James A. Gray, San Angelo, extension service sheep and goat specialist, was nominated for the state honorary Future Farmer degree for outstanding wool and sheep work with boys. To Harry Holmes, Iran, went the State Farmer award for the area, and runners-up were Lamar Quade, Rule, and Charles Smith, Meadow.

The Stanton chapter, along with Iran and Stamford, won designation as a Gold Emblem chapter. Stanton had a score of 95.52, and it also had one of the two scrapbooks selected to go to the state meet to serve as a model for record keeping.

Among foundation award winners were Malcolm Tunnell, Stanton, farm electricity; Dale Burnett, Sweetwater, soil and water management; Weldon Menner, Wilson, farm mechanics; Leon Bagwell, Loop, star dairy farmer.

Tops in public speaking was David Smallwood, Fabens, and second went to Johnny Grissom, Lamesa, followed by Arlye Bergstrom, Paint Creek.

The Iran FFA chapter won first place in national chapter conduct-

Weary Legislature Ready To Go Home

AUSTIN, June 4 (AP)—A Legislature that has already given Gov. Allan Shivers many of his major requests and said no flatly on others is about ready to go home, weary, payless and a month late.

Lawmakers took what will surely be their last weekend recess with final adjournment in good prospect sometime between Tuesday and Thursday. The House wants to quit Tuesday, but the Senate may not agree.

Final approval this week of the state's biggest spending and taxing bills put the 54th session in position to go home with its major, must tasks accomplished.

The 1 1/2 billion dollar spending bill gave Gov. Shivers in essence what he asked for in his first message to the Legislature soon after he started his third elective term in January.

The $8 million dollar tax bill gave Shivers what he asked for in that it balanced the budget and furnished money for some highway improvements. Shivers had asked for a 2 cent increase per gallon in the tax on gasoline. The Legislature settled for 1 cent. Shivers had warned repeatedly that 2 cents was needed to keep the state's road system abreast of its development.

It seemed likely today that Shivers would sign the tax bill, which included his suggested boost of a penny a pack on cigarettes. The increase on beer and franchise taxes were strictly the Legislature's ideas.

On some of his other topflight requests, the Legislature has already given Shivers tighter labor laws, major insurance law reforms, improvements in the state hospital administrative procedures, more money for old age and other welfare causes, regulation of the sales of insurance securities, a crackdown on sales of holding company securities not previously controlled by law, tighter and more enforceable narcotics laws, a revised and modern corporation code, and some changes in the water laws.

So far, Shivers' recommendation for a long-range program of water saving by issuance of bonds for local dams and reservoirs has bogged down in failure of the House and Senate to agree on how such a program should be financed. The water bond plan, urged as the key measure in the program, is still alive and just could be worked out if a strong compromise drive is put on.

Veterans land reform legislation also is still dangling.

The lawmakers also turned thumbs down again on congressional and judicial redistricting, which as usual disappeared in political quicksands.

"I speak to my enemies. I was taught to be polite." Then came the typical Mrs. Ferguson comeback:

"Besides, they've all seen where they were wrong!"

"What's my most pleasant memory of my days in politics? The campaigns, I guess. They were fun. We campaigned the hard way. We got out and saw the people and that's what I liked the best. We were the first to have a sound wagon, but you know my husband with his voice didn't really need one."

Beauty Pageant Gets First Entry

First entry for the July 4 beauty pageant has been received and committees named by the sponsoring Business & Professional Women's Club.

Nancy Pittman was the first to be entered, and she will be sponsored by Swartz's. One other sponsor has been signed — River Funeral Home — but a contestant has not been assigned.

Meanwhile, Mrs. James Robert Smith, vice president of the B&P.W., announced the commercial committee, the group to secure sponsors, would be composed of Mrs. Jewel Kaykendall, Wilrena Richbourg, Mrs. Armour Long, Mrs. Raymond River, Mrs. Nell Frazier, Mrs. Beth Leudecke, Mrs. Alma Gollnick and Mrs. Lina Flewellen.

The contestant committee, charged with securing entries of young women, is composed of Mrs. Hubert Johnson, Mrs. Hart

Phillips, Auda Stanford, Oma Buchanan.

Any prospective contestant may contact Lorena Brooks relative to entering by phoning her at 4-6613. Miss Brooks also will make arrangements for measurements and compilation of information about the contestant.

This year the contest for selection of Miss Big Spring and Miss Howard County will be held as usual in the City Park Amphitheatre and will be a prelude to the traditional Independence Day fireworks display by the Chamber of Commerce.

The Webb AFB band will furnish music, and student officers from Webb will be escorts for the contestants. Each of the young women in the event will appear in evening dress.

Net proceeds from the affair will go to the B&P.W. projects. These include contributions to International funds for bringing a foreign student to the U. S., sending an American medical student to some foreign school, and aiding Chinese nursing funds.

They also include furnishing a scholarship to Howard County Junior College to some local high school girl, a scholarship to the state school for the deaf, sponsoring the affairs of the Indoor Sports Club, assisting the North Side Park, and furnishing trophies to top graduates in the junior high school.

'The Lamb And The Lion Shall Dwell Together'

A full grown 8-year-old lioness, named Little Tyke and known for her gentleness, demonstrates an obvious fact — that she is a strict vegetarian by choice at Hollywood, Calif. Little Tyke cuddles a baby lamb as she performs during the filming of a TV show. The lamb is relaxed but keeps an eye on Little Tyke's mouth.

CRITIQUE

By Glenn Coates

Each month, American publishers are devoting an increasing number of their releases to younger readers. A survey of almost any library will show a large selection of "juvenile" books and adequate space to display them.

Locally this is certainly true. At least a third of the available space in the Howard County library is devoted to books for younger folks. There are too many of these titles, coming out to discuss them all. But here are two that seem to represent the better of the lot.

C-City Lake Gains 4 Feet Of Water From May Rainfall

COLORADO CITY — May rains added four feet to the level of Lake Colorado City, principal source of water for the city, and left the reservoir only four and a half feet from spillway level.

Bill Oylar, water superintendent, said this represents an additional eight months' supply of water. The lake contains more than eight billion gallons and will hold over 10 billion when filled.

The city also maintains wells as a secondary source of water. These and the present volume in the lake assure a water supply for about 40 months, at the normal rate of consumption.

Austrians Set Up Howl, Fear Jazz Is Leaving

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Vienna is famous as a music loving city, but many Viennese radio fans fear they are going to get too much Bach and Beethoven for breakfast when the Americans move out. A storm of protest is rising.

Vienna radio listeners face the imminent closure of the U. S. State Department's Red-White-Red station. They will be left with the two stations of the state-run Austrian Broadcasting System. These have a tendency to heavier programs and often play the classics and opera as wake-up music.

A flood of letters to editors and editorials in Vienna newspapers indicates the majority of Viennese do not fancy the prospect. Polls published in the papers recently estimated 78 per cent of Viennese prefer the American-run station.

Red-White-Red was set up in 1945 by the U. S. Army when it came into Vienna and found the Russian Army already controlling the ABS programs. Nowadays the Russians have given up control but insist that ABS broadcast a "Russian hour."

To win listeners, Red-White-Red kept away from overt propaganda. It introduced objective, nonpolitical newscasts and turned to the best in American radio for ideas. American jazz and musical comedy tunes get a good airing on its programs.

Red-White-Red has been costing American taxpayers $600,000 a year. Part of this has been coming back to the U. S. Treasury, for Red-White-Red has been selling advertising.

The State Department has not disclosed its plans for the station. But under the terms of the recently signed Austrian treaty of independence, it must stop broadcasting as soon as the treaty goes into effect. This will probably be some time this summer.

Argentines Get Warning Of Ex-Communication

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina June 4 (AP)—Fighting back against anti-church measures by the Peron government, a group of Roman Catholic priests has warned Argentines that those who help to pass laws restricting the church's rights fall under "the terrible penalty of ex-communication."

The declaration was contained in a statement prepared by the priests to be read in their pulpits tomorrow. Although not an official stand by the Argentine church hierarchy, it was made public yesterday by a high church source.

The government has pushed through the national congress legislation authorizing divorce, dropping traditional tax exemptions on church property and financial support for Catholic schools. It also proposes to separate church and state.

AUTHOR O'CONNOR

Author Gipson hardly needs an introduction to readers of his successful "Hound-Dog Man" and "Recollection Creek." But this novel is for the younger readers. Gipson brings his talents of earthy reality all the way through this fabulous story of Dick, a rooster who came for dinner and stayed to fight Indians and roughnecks.

The book is by no means restricted to the young. Adults should find it entertaining and enjoyable for reading to youngsters not yet able to manage for themselves. Gipson notes in the foreword that he "stretched the blanket" a little in telling this "true" story of Dick, but the result is certainly believable by Texas standards.

Dick is a runt rooster whose exciting life begins when he is selected to join his brothers and sisters in the chuck wagon of a trail gang herding Texas longhorns to Dodge City. Although his family furnished the cowboys with plenty of fried chicken meals, Dick is smarter. He stays on to become a mascot and fighter of Indians and even engages in a barroom fight. This is one of the better current "juveniles."

Gipson lives on a ranch near Mason, and was formerly employed by the San Angelo Standard-Times and the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

another woman's wooden leg, and has gotten a lot of interesting things this way—

This is the dialect, and these are specimens from the phenomenal roster of characters assembled in these 10 stories. The general setting is the South, presumably Georgia, and the places are the highway, the diner, the cheap apartment, the sideshow, the riverbank where the revival is held, the run-down farm, the hayloft.

This is a great stew of breathing, living, festering humankind. Miss O'Connor is a canny and an uncanny writer, no American of her years can match these 10 short stories.

INCIDENTALLY... The ten most popular television programs, according to the latest Nielson ratings, are "I Love Lucy," "Toast of the Town," "Jackie Gleason Show," "Danevangland," "You Bet Your Life," "Draagnet," "Martha Ray Show," "George Gobel Show," "Milton Berle Show" and "Ford Theater."

"The Fall of a Titan" by Igor Gouzenko has been selected for Canada's top fiction award. The Governor General's Medal for 1954 will be presented to the author at the annual dinner of the Canadian Author's Association at Queen's University this month.

Doubleday and Company's highly successful "Image Books" won the first Thomas More Association Medal for the most distinguished contribution to Catholic publishing in 1954. The Image Book label is a new venture in the inexpensive paper back field and sells from 50 cents to 95 cents a copy. Over 25 titles have been published to date with over half a million copies sold. Authors include G. K. Chesterton, St. Thomas Aquinas, John Gogard, and John Henry Newman.

"THE FRONTIER CAMP MEETING: RELIGION'S HARVEST TIME" by Charles A. Johnson, SMU Press, 340 pp. and illustrations, $5.

Author Johnson has written a sort of saga of the old time camp meetings where new friends were made and old friends reunited. The story is said to be the core of life in the early days and the primary entertainment of frontiersmen.

It has long been my contention that the more sordid aspects of "sex" is tearing down American literature. And even in a book like this one, the publisher proudly announces that a church encampment had been a mating ground for fifty years. Apparently the last barrier is down. Even religious books are sold for their sex content!

"I think I'll just pass this one up."

"THE SECRET RIVER" by Marjorie K. Rawlings, $2.50, with illustrations by Leopold Weisgard.

Fine binding and beautiful paper are the exception rather than the rule in children's books. And, among other things, this book can claim to be an exceptional one.

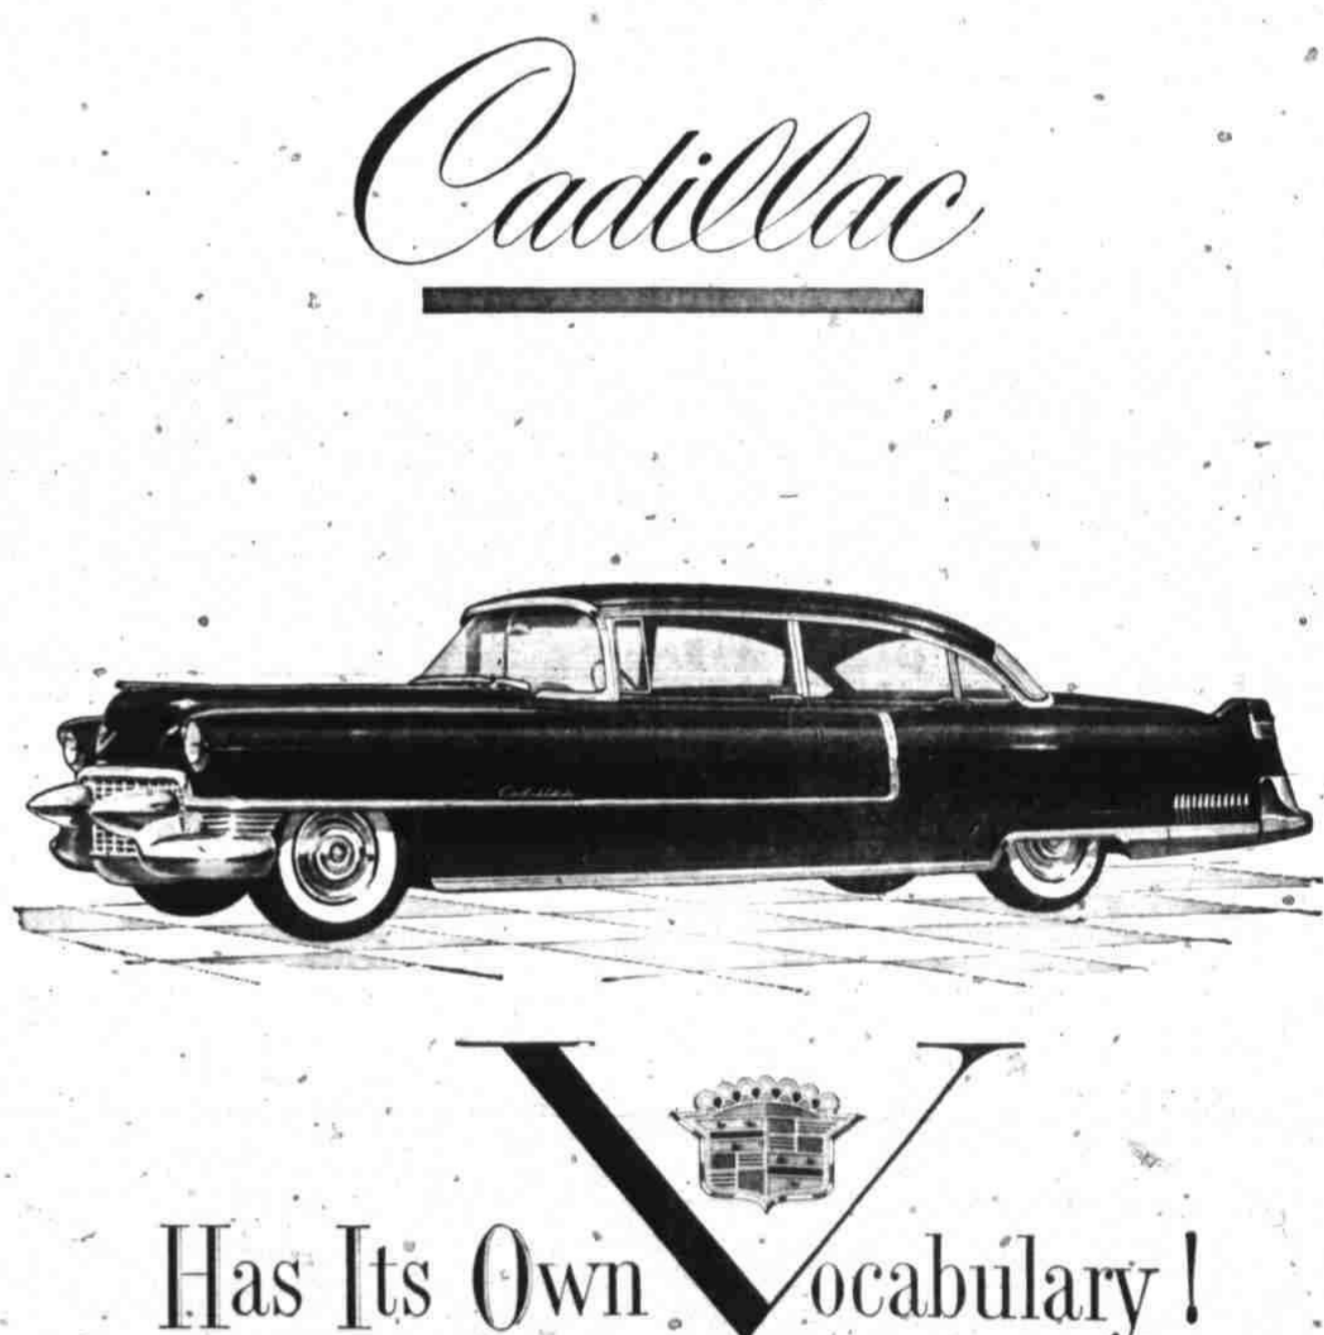

The author is perhaps better known for her best selling novel, "The Yearling."

"The Secret River" is an allegory which has the important feature of meaning something to any reader, regardless of age. Perhaps to call it a "children's book" is a misnomer. But it is simple enough for the youngest reader to understand with an allegorical feature important enough to interest the most distinguished professor of philosophy.

Successful allegories are difficult to come by and ones that really get over the point are even more rare. Combined in this work are drawings which are well worth the price of the book; I suggest you look it over.

Has Its Own Vocabulary!

Over the years there has come into being what amounts virtually to a special Cadillac vocabulary.

Certain words and phrases have so long and so often been used in association with Cadillac that they almost automatically call the car to mind.

When the talk is of motor cars, who can hear the word "prestige" without thinking of Cadillac?

It is likewise true of "distinction"... of "luxury"... of "pride of ownership"... of "satisfaction"... of "comfort"... of "long life and dependability"... of "beauty"... of "impressiveness"... of "value"—and of dozens of other words used to denote superiority.

In a sense, these are Cadillac words—and they actually sound strange when employed in any other connection. Even when used in the promotion of another automobile, they still suggest the "car of cars."

Naturally, words like these can become inseparable only from a product which deserves them. In the case of Cadillac, it has taken half a century of the strictest adherence to the highest automotive standards to win this public approval.

Eternal vigilance is the price of this reputation.

Most people, of course, realize that these wonderful words apply to Cadillac. But too many have not yet personally found out why.

If you are among these—come in and see us today. We will give you the keys to a new 1955 Cadillac—and you'll know in a single hour why Cadillac has its own vocabulary.

You'll know, from personal experience, that when you speak of "prestige" and "distinction" and "luxury" and "pride of possession" and "value"—you are speaking of the Standard of the World.

We have the keys—and the car—and a real welcome waiting for you.

British Strike Plague Ties Up 4 Ocean Liners

LONDON, June 4 (AP)—Britain's strike plague tied up four transatlantic liners today, including the New York-bound Mauretania. There was a hint of violence in the nationwide rail strike rounding out a week with no sign of a peace move. Officials of a nonstriking group at Stockport said that strikers had threatened their men if they continued to run some of the 7,132 trains still operating through this morning. Normally about 35,000 trains run daily. Prime Minister Eden planned to broadcast to the nation tomorrow night in what aides said would be a blunt warning to the strikers before using all the emergency powers granted the government by Queen Elizabeth. He is expected to warn that dire economic troubles and unemployment will follow if the rail deadlock continues. The government moved to use part of its power to requisition dump trucks to move coal to factories and power plants threatened with closing.

Countless thousands are jobless in paralyzed industry as a result of the strike for higher wages by the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, involving four-fifths of Britain's locomotive crewmen. The requisitioning move was the government's first use of drastic powers it obtained when it declared a state of emergency earlier this week. A government statement stressed requisitioning would be used only where too few vehicles could be obtained from voluntary appeals.

The 35,674-ton luxury liner Mauretania was at Southampton with 455 passengers aboard and planning to take on another 345 at Le Havre, France, and Cobb, Ireland. Then 130 of the crew of 545 marched off, demanding a shorter work week. At Liverpool, the strikes tied up the 14,440-ton Ascania, the 27,666-ton Britannic and the 19,39-ton Empress of Australia. Catering staffs and some deck and engine room hands walked off, complaining of understaffing. Fewer than 200 crewmen were involved in each ship but it delayed sailings for more than 2,000 passengers.

The National Union of Seamen called on the strikers to return to the liners. It accused pensioning agitators of whipping up artificial complaints.

Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz), chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, sharply revised his poor-mouth appraisal of last February.

Under the peculiar ground rules of politics, however, Stevenson is not expected to make any formal announcement until fall.

ADJOURNMENT—On the question of whether Congress might meet a July 31 adjournment date, Sens. George (D-Ga) and Ives (R-NY) agreed it could. Both said there would be no great sense in keeping Congress here to get reports from the forthcoming Big Four meeting.

SCANDALS—Air Force Capt. William Wool denied to Senate investigators he took a $50,000 bribe as an armed services procurement officer. He did insist he had falsified his income tax returns.

Wool stoutly denied a suggestion that he branded himself a tax dodger in order to cover up the true source of some $18,000 he kept around the house in a strong box.

Planting Conditions Good In Mitchell, Agent Says

COLORADO CITY — Planting conditions for Mitchell County farmers have been excellent so far this year, according to Jack Burkhalter, Mitchell County Agent. However, he pointed out continuing rains will be necessary for bumper crops this fall.

Burkhalter reported early rains have been in the fields early and late for the past 10 days. "High winds since the rains have covered some of the planting with sand," Burkhalter said, "but altogether, the outlook is good."

Rainfall for the first five months of 1955 totals 6.65 inches as compared with 10.12 inches for this time last year, according to official figures at the Colorado City weather station. However, parts of the county received as much as 10 inches in May alone.

Burkhalter pointed out rains stopped after planting last year, resulting in a short crop.

"The same thing could happen this year," he said. It was estimated by Burkhalter that 74,000 acres will be planted to cotton in Mitchell County.

Police Patrol Car Involved In Wreck

A police car driven by Officer T. L. Steele was in collision with a car operated by John Leslie Hodges, 202 W. 14th, about 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

The accident, apparently minor, was one of two reported Saturday afternoon. It occurred at Sixth and San Jacinto streets.

Drivers of the cars in other collision, at Northwest Fourth and Gregg, were Ruth Livengood, El Nido Courts, and B. R. Doyle, Odessa. The mishap occurred about 2:25 p.m.

Lot Of Good News From Washington

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Some of them had to dig to find it, but a great variety of people got good news out of Washington this week. Taking even such a fiercely argued thing as school segregation—Negroes and their supporters in the fight against the practice rejected that the Supreme Court ordered an end "at the earliest practicable date."

White Southerners who fought to keep the races in separate schools were pleased that the court set no deadline for enforcing its order. Or take a variety of other, less controversial, things—

The postal workers were fairly well assured of a pay raise, even if—as often happens—the raise won't be as much as they wanted. The polio vaccine situation seemed to be straightening out after disheartening confusion.

Republicans who like Ike for 1956 were pepped up when President Eisenhower came right out and said he found his White House job fascinating.

Democrats who like Adlai found reason to cheer: At last their man Stevenson seemed willing and eager for the assignment to throw Ike out.

And for those people who stay nervous as long as Congress stays in Washington, there was new talk of getting the show out of town by July 31.

SEGREGATION—The court was unanimous Tuesday. It said local school officials must work out their own means of ending segregation, but it set no deadline. It did tell federal district courts to enforce, if necessary, "good faith compliance."

Some leaders in the South said they will do exactly nothing to comply. The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People said in New York it foresees anti-segregation action "without delay."

One thing seemed certain: Lawyers won't go hungry.

POSTAL PAY—The Senate voted 78-0 to give 500,000 postal workers a pay increase averaging about 8 per cent, retroactive to March 1. The House seemed disposed to follow suit.

Eisenhower vetted a similar, but somewhat higher bill, May 19 but this time he was represented as willing to go along.

POLIO — Eisenhower said that the double inoculation of first and second graders with the Salk anti-polio vaccine "certainly" will be completed before the polio season peak in August. He said enough certified vaccine will be manufactured within the next 30 days to make sure.

For the Democrats, Sen. Hill (D-Ala) introduced a bill to make free vaccine available to every American child, whether his folks could afford it or not. This went farther than Eisenhower's plan, to give it free to those who couldn't afford to pay.

GOP POLITICS — Eisenhower told his news conference he didn't like "politics" in the derogatory sense the word sometimes implies.

But, he said, he found his position of great authority "a fascinating business." He said there are many things about the work that are "at least intriguing, even if at times they are very frustrating."

That prompted Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) to declare, "I am delighted." To Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) it meant that "The President will be a candidate and be elected again next year."

Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz), chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, sharply revised his poor-mouth appraisal of last February.

PEMO POLITICS —Some Democrats have been saying that if Stevenson wants their presidential nomination again, he'd better quit acting coy.

Well, this week came the word, from a source in position to know, that Adlai wants it. Furthermore, it was said, if the party wants him to run in 1956, he is "willing to give it all he has."

Under the peculiar ground rules of politics, however, Stevenson is not expected to make any formal announcement until fall.

ADJOURNMENT—On the question of whether Congress might meet a July 31 adjournment date, Sens. George (D-Ga) and Ives (R-NY) agreed it could. Both said there would be no great sense in keeping Congress here to get reports from the forthcoming Big Four meeting.

SCANDALS—Air Force Capt. William Wool denied to Senate investigators he took a $50,000 bribe as an armed services procurement officer. He did insist he had falsified his income tax returns.

Wool stoutly denied a suggestion that he branded himself a tax dodger in order to cover up the true source of some $18,000 he kept around the house in a strong box.

Texas Cops Improve Batting Average In Fight On Crime

By The Associated Press
Texas police officers apparently improved their batting average in solving crimes during the first three months of 1955 compared to the same period last year.

A sampling of police records by Associated Press newspapers in major Texas cities reveals that during the first quarter of 1955, police solved 29.01 per cent of all crimes committed in their jurisdiction, compared to 26.13 per cent during the first three months of 1954.

A detailed study of criminal cases in four large cities—Houston, Fort Worth, Dallas and Corpus Christi—indicated an increase in some of the lesser crimes but a drop in major crimes of violence. Houston showed an increase in the total cases, the other cities had a decrease.

Smaller cities participating in the survey generally showed an increase in the number of lesser crimes committed with major crimes running about the same or slightly below those of the same period last year.

Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and Corpus Christi reported a total of 10,361 cases during the first three months of 1955. Of these 3,066 had been solved by arrests and 7,295 were still listed as unsolved.

In the same period last year there were a total of 10,046 cases, of which 2,623 were solved by arrests and 7,423 unsolved.

The figures are only approximate in that some cases, especially those of minor thefts, were later discovered to be unfounded. In auto thefts, cases are listed as still unsolved if the car was recovered but no arrests made.

In the four larger cities major crimes of violence—murder, rape and robbery—dropped from 380 for the first quarter of 1954 to 304 for the same period this year. The number of unsolved cases in this category dropped from 152 to 121.

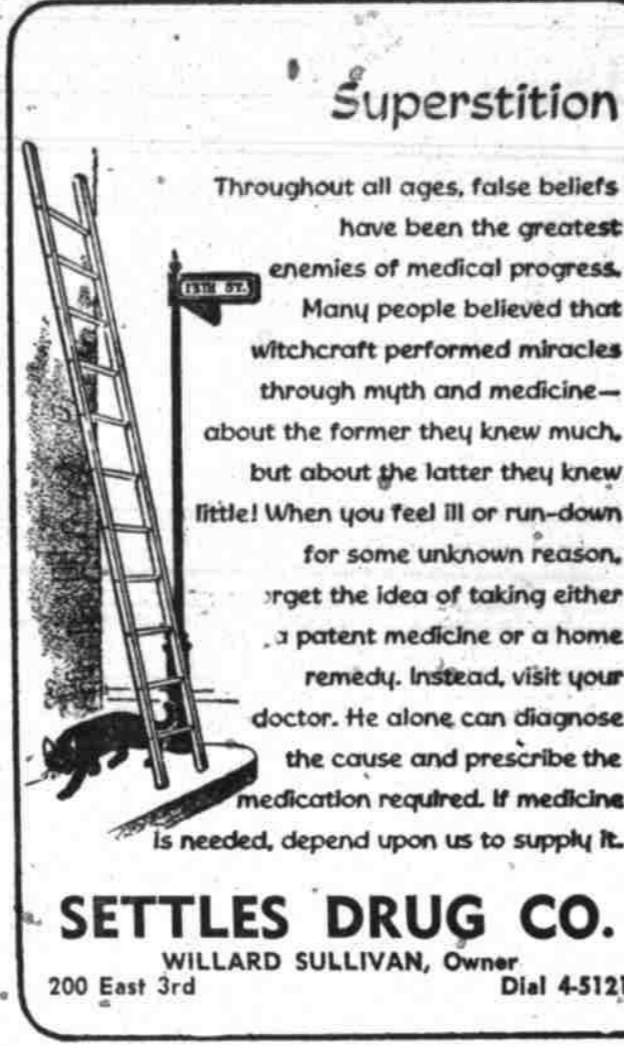

An increase in thefts, both felony and misdemeanor, helped cause the rise in lesser crimes.

Everything Goes

Olson Has Good Chance In Bout

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK June 4 (AP)—Bobo Olson, the middleweight champion, has to be given a good chance against Archie Moore, the somewhat aged 175-pound king, in their title fight here June 22, partly because Archie will have to reduce himself by approximately the weight of one leg to come in at the light-heavyweight limit.

But, sizing up the Hawaiian born batter upon his arrival here to go into serious training for Moore, it was next to impossible to imagine his existing more than a few rounds in the same ring with Rocky Marciano. Bobo simply isn't big enough to stand up under the sort of cobblesstones and heavy-weight champion throws.

Perhaps, as some of the old-timers claim, a puncher such as Bob Fitzsimmons was in his prime could have spotted the present heavyweight champion 20 pounds and laid him among the daisies with one clean blow. That we can only doubt, we know for certain that Olson doesn't pack the sort of punch that would slow Rocky's charge, much less dump him.

I guess I'll have to set a fast pace and stay right on him, throw a lot of leather," he told reporters. "I'll have to watch out for that sneak right hand of his, too."

Conrad Wins British Title

ST. ANNES, England, June 4 (AP)—Joe Conrad, a shy little Texan who never has won a single match in the U. S. Amateur, won the British Amateur golf championship in an angry wind, hail and rainstorm today with a 3 and 2 victory over England's Alan Slater.

The key shot in the rugged fight was on the 27th green. Conrad was sagging badly then, his game was coming apart. The Englishman had pulled back from an all but fatal 3 down deficit and at that point was one down. He was playing superb golf.

Both men were on the green with their tee shots. Slater calmly sighted a 20-foot putt and stroked it in for a birdie two. He must have felt he had squared the match. Then Conrad took his stance facing a 12-footer with a downhill roll.

Again, ticket holders can gain entrance by flashing their ducats at the gate. They can donate toward the drive to keep baseball in Big Spring, if they so desire.

Hill was touched for 11 base hits last night but kept them well scattered. Artesia scored in each of the first three innings but Kosse was air-tight after that.

The game raged along until the eighth, when the Cops put together a walk with a two-base error by leftfielder Bob Herron, an infield out, a fly ball and a home run by Jim Zapp—his 17th of the season—to tie the count at 3-3.

Then, in the ninth, Dan Howard hunted safely to get on for Artesia. Jim Bascom followed with a sacrifice and Bob Herron singled to bring in Howard with what proved to be the winning run.

Big Spring was far from through. Pinch hitter Bob Martin worked Jim Kenasa for a walk and was sacrificed to second by Nick Cappell. Jim Kenasa went in to pitch for Tom Bowford.

Pinch hitter Mario Sabari singled but the ball looked like it was going

Costello Homer Sinks Roswell

ROSSELL, N. M., June 4 (SC)—Two home runs by Tom Costello and one by Jim Zapp propelled the Big Spring Cops to an 8-6 victory over the Roswell Rockets here Friday night. A crowd of 892 paid, attracted to the park by clown Jackie Price, watched the proceedings. Costello clubbed his second home run of the night in the ninth with Floyd Martin on base to give Mike Rainey his fourth mound win of the season. Costello had driven out his first round tripper in the sixth with the sacks deserted while Zapp exploded for his 16th four-base ply in the fourth with a man aboard for Big Spring's first two runs. The homer left him one behind Joe Bauman in the chase for individual honors. Costello, Huck Don, Jack Poppell and Rainey each had two hits for Big Spring. One of Rainey's blows went for three bases. Roswell tied the count at 5-5 in the sixth on a walk and doubles by Stubby Green, Dick Adams and Charley Pruitt. The victory snapped a five-game losing skid for the Cops.

Lopat Baffles Chicago White Sox, 4 To 3

CHICAGO, June 4 (U.S.)—Eddie Lopat and his pitching junk held the baffled White Sox to seven scattered singles today as the New York Yankees overcame costly errors for a 4-3 victory that opened their league lead to four games, biggest of the season. The 37-year-old lefty, gaining his third triumph against four setbacks, was replaced by Tom Morgan at the start of the ninth to face leadoff batter Minnie Minoso. Minnie, who entered the game in the fourth for his first appearance since suffering a skull fracture in New York May 18 on Bob Grim's pitch, fled out and Morgan got the next two in order.

Stan Hack Manager Without Doghouse

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN CHICAGO, June 4 (U.S.)—Stan Hack of the Chicago Cubs is a manager without a doghouse and an imaginative hunch-player with a boyish grin trademark. He is as free and easy going now as he was as a third baseman for 15 years with the Cubs. During this span he became one of the club's most popular players and made his mark with Chicago fans by spray hitting .301 in 1,938 games and averaging .348 in four World Series. Hack is likeable as a person and respected as a former player. Perhaps, this, more than anything else, keynotes his current success as pilot of the Cubs, a 100-to-1 shot to win the National League pennant; but now the talk of the circuit. Hack was destined to advance in the Cubs' organization and it was no great surprise that he attained his goal as Cub manager after cultivating the club's farms at Des Moines, Springfield, Mass., and from 1951 through 1953 at Los Angeles. In March of 1954 Hack was called in to replace Phil Cavarretta at the Cubs helm. The front office detected what was called "defeatism" in Cavarretta's approach to the season. "I nearly fell off my chair when I heard I was the new manager," said Hack. The Cubs finished seventh last season, but Hack last winter polished up a speech for the banquet held in moments between his hobbies of fishing and hunting. It was an optimistic forecast that his Cubs in 1955 would be in the first division. No one took him seriously. Today, with the Cubs bearing Hack out with a sensational start, baseball followers have started asking: "Is Hack a manager or a magician?" As a manager, Stanislaus—his applied nickname while playing for the Cubs—follows the book to the hilt, but he also has imagination where his hunches are concerned. Before the end of April he had switched to his outfield two infielders plus Ted Tappe, a towering rookie out of the Cincinnati chain. He had the nerve to bench Hank Sauer, the high-salaried slugger, and put a raw rookie first baseman, Bob Speake, into left field along with Eddie Miksis, who had been a utility infielder. Both have been doing great. Speake, a .264 hitter for Des Moines last year, hammered five clutch homers to win games. In addition, Sam Jones, a Cleveland castoff, and Warren (Hard Luck) Hacker made the month of May merry by pitching a no-hitter and a one-hitter within nine days. And a converted outfielder, Hal Jeffcoat, caught the spirit by becoming a sensational relief hurler. In between the ever-present smile and a fresh chew of tobacco, Hack said today in New York, where the Cubs are facing the Giants: "This is a young team, and anything can happen. These kids won't scare easily, that I know. Kids have pride, and ours weren't pleased to see those 100-to-1 odds on us in the pennant race last spring. Only the sky is the limit for them. Strong pitching and a stronger defense are our main items."

Racing Season Opens June 11 At Ruidoso

RUIDOSO, N. M., June 4 (SC)—The 1955 racing season opens at Ruidoso Downs next Saturday. Racing will be staged on weekends and holidays only and will continue through Sept. 5. A total of 62 racing days are scheduled. The average purse is due to amount to about $800. The $10,000 two-year-old Quarterhorse Futurity comes up on Saturday, July 16. Last year, the total purse amounted to $8,000. An estimated 700 horses are already on hand here and others are being turned away for lack of stable space. The Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity is carded for Saturday, Aug. 13. Last year, the purse in that event amounted to $6,000. Purse paid to horsemen in 1954 amounted to a robust $296,000 and track men are expecting an increase in that amount. The feature races next Saturday will be the A-1 Inaugural Handicap, which offers a purse of $400 plus five per cent of the mutual handle; and the J. Taylor Claiming Race, in which the claiming price will be $1,000. In all, a dozen races are scheduled on "get-away" day. Twelve races are also scheduled for Sunday, with the feature the Quarter Horse Handicap, with a $500 purse plus the customary five per cent. A sum of $500 will go to the leading jockey of the meet, $250 to the runnerup, $150 to the third leading rider and $100 to the fourth ranking boy. Trainer awards to be awarded include similar prizes for the top four men.

Imports, New Production Hurt Southwest's Immediate Market

By MAX B. SKELTON
DALLAS, June 3 (AP)—A petroleum economist believes the immediate market outlook for Southwest oil is not particularly encouraging. Jack D. Colclough of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas reported this week that if current trends continue the Southwest's share in most major markets now served is likely to be reduced.

Colclough earlier had said the faster rate of growth in imports of foreign oil undoubtedly presents a threat to the expansion of Southwest oil in its No. 1 market area, the Atlantic seaboard states. The Southwest area of New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama last year, he said, supplied the seaboard states 64 percent of their oil. Imports supplied 33 percent.

Between 1939 and 1954, Southwest shipments into the seaboard area increased 75 per cent while imports jumped ten-fold. Colclough said an important part of the increase in imports has been residual or heavy fuel oil, a type Southwest refiners have not actively promoted. He added, however, that regardless of residuals, East Coast supplies coming from foreign oil have experienced a more rapid rate of growth than those from the Southwest.

Mitchell Field Gets New Producer, Two Locations

An oil well completion and two locations were announced this weekend for Mitchell County's Westbrook field.

Fred W. Shield No. 3 Hale is the new completion. It made a pumping potential of 93.84 barrels of oil in 24 hours, gravity of which was 24 degrees. Recovery was six per cent water.

Production zone is from 2,980 to 3,137 feet, and the 5 1/2-inch casing is bottomed at 2,977. Elevation is 2,151. The pay formation was fractured with 29,000 gallons of fluid, and the gas-oil ratio was nil.

Wildcat Venture Makes 167 Bbls. In Ellenburger

Flow of 167 barrels of oil in 22 1/2 hours has been reported at Sun Oil Company's No. 1-D Shannon, Ellenburger discovery in West Scurry County.

The flow was through a quarter-inch choke from perforations between 3,117 and 3,149 feet. There was no water, and tubing pressure was 210 pounds.

Operator was preparing the pay zone with 250 gallons of mud acid Saturday to test further and complete the well as a strike.

National Drilling Is Up Slightly

DALLAS—A total of 2,774 rigs were active in the oilfield of the United States and Canada for the week of May 30, 1955, according to a report to American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Company. This compares with 2,782 reported a week ago, 2,741 a month ago, and with 2,692 in the comparable week of 1954. The West Texas-New Mexico area had 526, a decline of 17 from the May 23 total.

ANOTHER HOT QUESTION FCC To Rule Whether 'Little Inch' Can Carry Oil Products

By CHARLES HASLET
WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—A different sort of question was put up to the Federal Power Commission this week—shall Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. be permitted to change the "Little Inch" pipeline from natural gas to petroleum products?

As part of the question, the FCC must pass also upon the application of Texas Eastern to continue to move its gas from the southwest to the East by extending pipelines between Connellsville, Pa., and Koscusko, Miss., to the Beaumont, Tex., area.

Under its proposal, the company would take the major part of the Little Inch line—the stretch from Beaumont to Moundsville, W. Va.—out of natural gas service and use it for oil products.

Harold Leventhal, an attorney for the large lines, argued Texas Eastern was attempting to "siphon" the entire petroleum transportation market and displace the large lines.

Under its proposal, the company would take the major part of the Little Inch line—the stretch from Beaumont to Moundsville, W. Va.—out of natural gas service and use it for oil products.

Crockett's Famed 'Old Betsy' May Have Been Traded

WHITEWRIGHT, Tex., June 4 (AP)—When Davy Crockett traveled south from the Red River border of Texas to everlasting fame and death at the Alamo, he wanted to travel light. That's why he traded guns with Andy Thomas. And that's how Davy's 14-pound, 5-foot muzzle loader happens to belong to J. P. Darwin, 61, a rural mail carrier. Darwin doesn't know if the gun his grandfather got from Davy is Crockett's famed "Old Betsy." It could be. For carved in the stock with exquisite care is a lone star, Crockett's own handwork. When the Tennessee woodsman decided to come to Texas and join her fight for independence from Mexico, he carved the Texas symbol on his rifle, and had the star inlaid with silver. The silver has long since disappeared, but the star still is bold on the old wood stock. The ramrod is missing from the long rifle, and part of the wood is wormeaten. For years, Darwin kept the rifle out of sight in a closet. But since Davy Crockett has become a national idol for small fry, he's had to fetch it to a handier place for the kids to come and gaze at it in awe. Darwin admits that showing off the gun has become "quite a bother." So he's going to give it to the Daughters of the Texas Revolution. They'll put it on display at the Alamo, the restored old Spanish mission where Crockett and every one of 186 other Texas fighters for freedom were killed in 1836.

Billy Graham Gets Pat On Back From Catholic Weekly

NEW YORK June 4 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham, a Southern Baptist, has gotten a pat on the back and good wishes from a leading Roman Catholic weekly published by the Jesuits. "We rather like Billy Graham," said this week's issue of America. "We also wish there were more like him where he came from." The Jesuit national weekly commented: "We have the impression that he is one of that vanishing race of Protestant divines with whom a Catholic scholar could actually sit down and talk theology. He is evidently intelligent, sincere and genuinely zealous. Undoubtedly he is doing a lot of good among devout Protestants here and abroad." America said huge crowds gathered to hear Graham on his European crusade, not because they seek "a show" as some critics have suggested, but because "millions of Protestants are hungry for God." They recognize a voice which speaks with the unmistakable cent of one who believes in the great doctrines of the Christian faith—the holy trinity, the incarnation and the resurrection. "We wish Billy well in his mission of recalling God to the minds of a secularized world."

Numerous Prizes Planned For Soap Box Derby Victors Here

A large percentage of the boys who race their coasters in the Soap Box Derby here on July 4th will share in prizes:

An extensive list of awards is being worked up by members of the Lions Club, which sponsors the Derby along with Tidwell Chevrolet Company and The Herald.

The champion of the Derby, of course, wins a free trip to Akron, Ohio, where he will compete in the All-American Derby on August 14. There he has a chance at a college scholarship to the extent of $5,000. He also receives here a handsome gold trophy.

There will be special merchandise prizes for boys finishing second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth. And there will be a special prize for the winner of every heat.

Lions committees met this week to arrange for details of the great amateur event for boys. The races will be run at the City Park, with preliminary heats scheduled for 10 a. m. and the final races beginning at 2 p. m.

There will be two classes of races, one for boys between the ages of 11 and 13, the other 13-15 age bracket. Only one champion, however, will be declared for the Akron trip.

Boys are being instructed to have their racers finished no later than July 1, on which day they are to bring the cars to the City Park for final inspections and for test runs on the race course. The racers then will be impounded and kept under a watchman's care until time for the races on Independence Day.

A special party for all the Derby entrants and their Dads is set for Friday evening, June 10, at 7:30, at the City Hall fire station. There will be refreshments of drinks and ice cream, and final instructions will be given all the competitors.

Other special events are on tap, meanwhile, for the boys who carry Soapbox Derby cards. Saturdays, they were guests at local theatres. Tuesday evening, they will be admitted free to the Cosden Cops baseball game, and on June 16, their Derby cards will admit them free for swimming at the City Park.

Lions club members who are inspecting the building of the cars reported that, in the main, lads are building more solid and more attractive racers than last year. Most boys are making good progress with construction. The lads have to certify they are building the racers without actual help, and have to hold expenses down to $10 per car, exclusive of the cost of official wheels.

Business and professional men are sponsoring various entrants, and will help them defray the cost of building the racers.

Pair Held Here For Other Authorities

Two men were being held by local sheriff's officers Saturday for authorities in other counties.

Joe Dell Matthews was arrested for Monahan officers in connection with a forgery complaint, said Sheriff Jess Slaughter. Haskell Chaney was being held for authorities at Kaufman on a charge that he operated a vehicle while his license was suspended.

County School Board To Consider Transfers

The Howard County School Board will meet at 2 p. m. Monday to consider student transfers.

Approximately 150 county pupils made application for transfers from one school district to another. The board must approve the transfers and forward the information to the state to assure correct apportionment of state aid which is based on enrollment.

The board meeting will be in the office of the county superintendent at the courthouse.

Doris Ann Daniel, James Smith Wed

In a formal double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church Saturday evening, Doris Ann Daniel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Daniel, became the bride of James O. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith.

The rites were read by Dr. P. D. O'Brien.

The vows were repeated before the altar that was banked with majestic daisies against a background of palms and flanked by wedding candelabra holding white tapers.

The candles were lighted by Tommy Hammond and Doyle Jenkins who also served as ushers along with Jimmy Fielding.

Jack Hendricks, organist, played the pre-nuptial music and accompanied R. B. Hall Jr., who sang "Melody of Love," "You'll Never Walk Alone," and "Because."

Judy Daniel was her sister's flower girl and wore a yellow organdy frock with a skirt of ruffled lace-trimmed tiers. In her hair she wore a matching yellow ribbon. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Randy Peterson was the ring bearer and he wore a white palm beach short suit and carried the ring on a white heart-shaped satin pillow.

Glenn Smith, Jr., was his brother's best man and Robert Morehead was a groomsman.

Jane Robinson was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Gwen Gafford and Mary Ellen Hayes.

Their dresses were identical of white silk organdy embroidered in yellow over yellow taffeta. Fashioned with strapless bodices and completed with stoles that covered the shoulders, the fitted bodices had upstanding embroidered ruffles over the bustlines. Wide cummerbands of yellow taffeta accented the waistlines. Joining these were voluminous waist-length skirts worn over crinolines. Their headresses were matching bandeaus of looped braid dotted with tiny flowers. Miss Robinson's flowers were yellow

Three Daughters Of J. B. Moseleys Married

Three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Moseley have recently married in ceremonies read by Rev. Ed. Welch.

On May 24 Alta Lea Moseley was married to John G. MacFedries, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. MacFedries of Fairfax, Virginia. The service was read in the minister's home and the bride was attended by her sister, Shirley June Moseley. Her dress was pink and her corsage was of white carnations. Bob Barrett attended the bridegroom.

Both the bride and the bridegroom were graduated from the Big Spring High School and he is employed by the Martin Distributing Company.

Following the ceremony the couple traveled to Carlsbad, N. M. Mr. and Mrs. MacFedries and Richard were here from Fairfax.

On May 28, Jo Ellen Moseley became the bride of William Riley Weatherford at a ceremony at the home of her parents. She wore a blue suit and with it pink accessories and her flowers were white carnations. Bill Turney stood with the couple who went to Lubbock for a wedding trip.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Weatherford attended high school in Big Spring and he is employed by the Martin Distributing Company.

Shirley June Moseley and Bobby Ray Barrett were married on May 29 at the family home.

Miss Moseley wore a pink dress with white accessories and her flowers were white carnations. Her bridesmaid was Rita McClanahan. Johnny Hickson was best man.

The bride is a Big Spring High School graduate and the bridegroom attended the Coahoma High School. He, too, is an employe of the Martin Distributing Company.

Following the wedding Sunday afternoon a reception was held in the family home. The entertaining rooms were decorated with arrangements of pink and white carnations and daisies.

A decorated bride's cake was served with punch by Mrs. C. E. Lawdermilk, Mrs. H. A. Rogers, and Mrs. J. B. Moseley.

Colleen Slaughter And Mrs. Betty Ratliff To Tour

If all the Big Spring people who are planning to visit in Europe this summer could get there at the same time they could really have a Big Spring rally.

Latest travelers to announce their intentions of making the big tour are Colleen Slaughter and Mrs. Betty Lou Ratliff. Both are teachers in Big Spring Senior High School, and they plan to leave here on June 9.

There has been quite a lot of planning and scheming to keep the necessities with the limits, they being allowed one suitcase 28 x 15 and a small handbag 12 x 10. This handicap is being overcome by relying on nylon and dacron materials which are light and require little care. They have also swapped out on the real essential iron and traveler's alarm clock. One takes one or the other.

After Mrs. Ratliff attends the National Convention of Student Councils in Philadelphia, Penn. the teachers will visit with Helen Blount, a former resident, in New York.

They will sail from New York on June 17 for the tour which is slated to last 63 days. They are to sail on the SS Roma via the southern way through the Straits of Gibraltar. The steamer will stop for a few hours in Gibraltar on June 25, then continue sailing along the African and Spanish coastline. One

Three Pre-Nuptial Affairs For Miss Smith

A bridal tea and two dinner parties were complimentary affairs for Jo Ann Smith over the weekend. Miss Smith is to be married to John Franklin Howell, Jr. of Sonora on Tuesday evening.

Friday evening, Sandra Swartz entertained nine couples for a western supper that was served on the terrace at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Swartz. Mr. and Mrs. Swartz assisted in serving the barbecue meal.

Seven hostesses honored Miss Smith on Saturday afternoon with a bridal tea in the home of Mrs. Hayes Stripling. They were Mrs. Stripling, Mrs. Archie Marchant, Mrs. Jasper Atkins, Mrs. Coy Neal, Mrs. Cliff Wiley, Mrs. Jack Roden, and Mrs. Zollie Boykin.

Guests were met at the door by Mrs. Stripling who presented them to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. H. W. Smith, and the mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. John Franklin Howell, Sr., of Segora.

Mrs. Nailley and Mrs. Wiley presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Marchant and Mrs. Atkins displayed the gifts. Mrs. Roden and Mrs. Boykin registered the guests.

The tea table was covered with an imported cutwork cloth and the long centerpiece was fashioned from blue agapanthus and silver-plated plumosus. Service pieces for the table were of cut glass and silver. A floating arrangement of mag-netolias was the decoration for the registry table.

Mrs. Jeff Hanna, of Memphis, Tenn., Nancy Smith, Karen Paul of Garland, Sandra Swartz and Mrs. Ray Adams, all members of the bridal party, assisted in the houseparty.

Thirty-two guests were present for the dinner-dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Strom Saturday evening to honor Miss Smith and her fiancé.

The guests were served in the loggia from a round table that was centered with an arrangement of white flowers. Serving pieces were also white on an aqua cloth. On the terrace where the quartette tables were placed, a wrought iron coffee table flanked with torchieres, held a large lemon-shaped container filled with red roses. Focal point of the garden was the bird bath that was filled with a profusion of white flowers and greenery. Two yellow feathered birds completed the composition.

The tables were laid with cloths of yellow, red and turquoise. Three-toned windbells in the trees furnished music.

Out-of-town guests in addition to the bridegroom and his mother were Mr. and Mrs. Hershell Esell of Midland.

The host couple presented the honored guests with a gift.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stuteville announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Ester Lou, to Leldon E. Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Owens. The wedding is to be on July 2 at the home of the bride's parents.

Smart Brides Now Sew Their Wedding Dresses

By DOROTHY ROE
Every bride-to-be dreams of a fairy-tale gown, fragile and delicate as a cobweb and lovelier than any dress in the world.

Sometimes such a dress comes high, and so many brides today are returning to the gentle customs of yesteryear, and are making their own wedding gowns. Thus they not only save money, but can afford the finest fabrics and can work out their own ideas of their own particular dream dress. For many girls, however, there also is a sentimental reason that goes far deeper than economy.

A fabulous dress, designed for the bride who loves tradition, is a gown with tiers of net floating from a lace bodice. The thrifty bride can plan to remove the lower tier of net after the wedding, making a short summer evening dress.

The dress chosen features a closely fitted bodice which dips to a graceful V in front. Since the effect of a tiny waist depends on having the waistline exactly aligned with your own waistline, be sure to make use of the ruler printed on the pattern for accurate adjustments. Make all alterations right on the pattern before cutting into the lace.

Only 1 1/2 yards of lace is required for the artfully draped bodice, so you can afford to buy the loveliest lace you can find, such as a chantilly-type lace, now available in dacron. When cutting the bodice, leave an extra yard seam allowance, so that you can match the lace pattern when you fasten.

STRAWBERRIES, CARNATIONS AND ROSES, YET—Rosa Timmerman gets a charge out of candies.

Hobby For Making Fancy Candy Beats Handicap Of Being On 24-Hour Call

Does your work make you tense? Are you on call 24 hours a day? Want to know something to do about it?

Rosa Timmerman who is an anesthetist at a local hospital has developed the sweetest hobby to take care of all those questions. She makes candy.

This candy making hobby isn't just the plain old run-of-the-mill kind like fudge, divinity and date loaf but exquisite, daintily colored mints, chews, toffees and crisps.

She has four or five sets of rubber molds that she fills with fondant and the finished product is a beautiful assortment of strawberries, carnations, leaves, roses, shells, and various other shapes. When she wants a particular color combination she takes her artists brush and some food coloring and hand decorates the particular pattern. She recently made over a hundred for a social affair — just because she likes to.

She got interested in the art of candy making when she got some materials at the Stop and Swap Shop in Chicago. As she is on call 24 hours a day there are many hours which she calls "sitting hours" that she spends where she can be reached by telephone. The candy making is one of the most pleasant ways of spending these hours.

Rosa has been cooking one thing or the other since her high school days but the candy molding was begun about six years ago. The molds are of rubber in different sizes and shapes. She uses marzipan (almonds powdered to a paste for the filling of many candies. These she dips in a summer preparation and some in chocolate. If she tastes a commercial product that pleases her she gives it a trial run in her kitchen and while she finally perfects what she started out to make, she frequently develops a new type.

As a young man once said about eating pretty confections, "You eat them with mixed emotions: You hate to mutilate such beauty, but you hate to miss the pleasure of the flavor."

When Rosa wants to try something that will take more time than usual she checks with the hospital. If nothing is coming up at that time she feels free to start. Recently when a nephew was visiting with her, she had to leave him in charge of a pie baking.

While candy making is Miss Timmerman's principal hobby she has others that she pursues. She is starting a collection of records that include Bach, Beethoven and Chopin. These selections are what she describes as "quiet music." They run from the classical to semi-classical. No pop.

Not only does she cook and collect records, she has quite a ceramics outlay and has already started making gifts for Christmas giving. She has made a number of children's drinking mugs along with sets of glasses glazed in gold. She has several pairs of ear screws that she has made to match her dresses.

Check-In Time Set At Boothe Oaks

"Checking-in time" at Boothe Oaks this afternoon from 3:30-5:30, marks the beginning of a real adventure in outdoor living for this area's Girl Scouts. Camp director is Margaret McAdams.

Although many of their meals will be eaten in the beautiful Oates Hall, which is the 40' x 100' mess hall at Boothe Oaks, each unit of sixteen girls will have a chance to do some outdoor "cooking." Swimming instruction will be a daily activity as will the flag ceremonies, hikes, and trail blazing.

The staff of 20 adults will be in training at Boothe Oaks from June 7 through June 11. Camping sessions will begin Sunday, June 12, and run for eight weeks. Two of the sessions will be two weeks in length. Four of the sessions will be one week in duration.

Girl Scout camp provides an opportunity for all girls to share in the responsibility of making the camp a success. The experiences these girls will receive in meeting and learning to live with girls from the 13 counties of the West Texas Girl Scout Council will provide them with training in citizenship and responsibility, as well as many wonderful memories of summer in the outdoors.

Nancy Conway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton W. Conway, is engaged to be married to Charles Richard Gray of Charleston, Ill. The wedding is to take place on July 17th at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Gray of Charleston.

Date Set

July 14 has been set for the wedding of Margie Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cook of Ackery, Miss Cook will be married to Ray Weaver, son of Mrs. Milton Weaver of Lamesa, in a ceremony at the home of her parents.

WEDDING

asters tied with orchid ribbons fashioned into a colonial type bouquet. The bridesmaids carried similar bouquets with orchid asters.

As the organist played the traditional marches, the bride entered on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She wore an original model wedding gown of white imported Swiss organdy, all over embroidered, over taffeta. Designed with strapless bodice, it was topped by a tiny bolero with an upstanding collar and short sleeves. The fitted bodice was embroidered organdy, shirred over the bustline with a scalloped pattern at the top edge and terminated with a small cord at the waistline. The skirt was made of tiers of embroidered organdy enhanced with scalloped edges and continuing to fashion a small chapel length train. The veil was of silk illusion and was joined to the coronet of matching embroidered organdy that was dotted with iridescent sequins and seed pearls.

Her flowers, a white orchid and yellow roses, were atop a prayer book and were tied with a shower of white satin ribbon, love knots and bows.

Something new was the bride's wedding dress, something old was a pin worn at the neck of the bolero and worn by her mother on her wedding dress, something borrowed was a linen handkerchief from the maid of honor, something blue was a garter and she wore a penny in her shoe.

Mrs. Daniel wore a dress of aqua silk, the bodice of which was inserted with rhinestone and pearl dotted lace. With it she chose white accessories, patent shoes and bag.

Mrs. Smith was attired in a dress of natural satin cloth and lace. It was fashioned with a high neck, cap sleeves and was trimmed with rhinestones. The lace extended over the hip-line to give a long torso effect. With it she wore pink accessories.

Both the bride and the bridegroom graduated from the Big Spring High School and attended the Howard County Junior College. She was a worthy advisor of the Order of Rainbow for Girls and is employed by Zale's Jewelry. He is presently employed by the Texas Highway Department. In the fall they will enroll in Hardin-Simmons University where he will study for the ministry.

Following the ceremony the couple, along with their parents, received the wedding guests at a reception held in the church basement.

Barbara Abbott registered the guests in the bride's book.

Mrs. G. C. Davis, Jr. of Lubbock and Mrs. Glenn Smith, Jr. of Odessa presided at the serving table that was laid with a crocheted cloth over yellow. The punch bowl was surrounded with fern and the centerpiece was of yellow gladiolas and carnations. The bride's cake was white. Others in the houseparty were Mrs. H. C. McPherson, Mrs. R. B. Hall and Mrs. Beulah Bryant.

Piano music was furnished during the reception by Jerlyn McPherson.

For the wedding trip to Galveston and San Antonio the bride wore a two-piece yellow pique suit with white accessories and her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Out of town guests present for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Davis, Jr., and Mike, Mr. and Mrs. Early Daniel and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Daniel of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Van Meter of DeSoto; Mr. and Mrs. W. Fry and Helen of Sargentwater; Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Ruffin and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Ruffin of Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Templeton and Nancy; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martin, and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Smith, Jr., and Sharon and Shirley of Odessa.

Following the rehearsal for the Smith-Daniel wedding Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Smith, Jr., of Odessa entertained members of the wedding party with a rehearsal dinner.

The affair was held at the Wagon Wheel and the tables were decorated with arrangements of yellow carnations and gladiolas, the bride's chosen colors.

Home Town Memories Give Warm Feeling

By LUCILLE PICKLE

There's something real comforting about being a native and growing up in the town where you were born. It's nice to remember how the town looked when you were little and it was little too.

Then it's nice to be able to see and enjoy all the improvements that have come with the years. Certainly these have not been the mushroom type, because it has been rather slow. On the other hand, they have been steady.

Those of us who have been here for a long time can remember when Main Street was unpaved and had two or three watering troughs in the center. There were even saddle and work horses that watered there. My granddaddy had the prettiest bay mare named "Babe" that he used with a little one seated buggy. He would hitch her up and bring me home from my music lesson and sometimes let me hold the reins. I remember how long the pieces of horses tails that had been caught in the lot fence at my daddy's house stayed there. This was out of respect to old Dick and Coley, a team used by my father to pull the survey. (It had fringe on the top, too.)

It doesn't seem too long ago that the ice man had his regular rounds with his horse drawn wagon. We always got 50 pounds. All the children in the neighborhood would gather around when he stopped in front of our house and grab the little pieces as they flew when he deftly split the three hundred pound blocks. We had a hole bored in the floor under the refrigerator with a funnel in to drain off the drippings so we wouldn't be bothered by the pan running over.

There came the day when the city fathers decided the growing town should at least have one paved street. Much to my father's disgust the one street that was paved was shaved down. I never did know why, possibly for drainage purposes. That's why we have to climb those steps-down town to get to the stores. It wasn't that way to begin with.

I never had even thought about Big Spring being hilly until some of the family moved to Lubbock and came back here to visit and had to walk home. They complained about climbing Runnels Street. Big Spring may not be pretty to people from towns and cities where flowers grow abundantly and trees are numerous and grass a bother, but maybe they don't appreciate them so much until they don't have them. We natives are so used when the trees we plant grow and the flowers thrive they look 10 times more beautiful to us.

My grandmothers had trees in their yards and so did we. Mostly they were Chinaberry but we did have some fruit trees which bore well. There were several blocks between 700 and 900 Main Street that used to be lined with bearing mulberry. They were beautiful until the berries started ripening and dropping. It was as much as our life was worth to pick one of them up and eat it for according to our mothers death and disaster would surely fall our lot if we touched one. They were wormy and attracted flies on the sidewalk. Everyone concerned was pleased when the trees were removed, much as the shade was appreciated.

I've got on my soap box several times to defend Big Spring and the people who are working for her. The commissioners, the school board members, merchants and even newspaper and civic minded men who know the more they work for the town the better off everyone will be.

I feel like my fellow townsman, "Koidie" Jordan says she feels. She likes Big Spring whether we're in the midst of a depression, sandstorm or real good cloud-floating rain. So do I, and whoever you are and wherever you are from I hope you are the kind to feel the same way about your home town.

The Singer's Suggestions

Marguerite Piazza, star of opera, television and the night club stage, suggests in an exclusive interview with Lydia Lane various ways in which grace and posture can be improved. She also offers success formula.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Grace, Posture, 'Right' Clothes Are Important

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Marguerite Piazza, star of grand opera and television, is currently making a name for herself in the night club field. Miss Piazza has much more eye appeal than most prima donnas and the impact of her beauty, plus her glorious voice, won her enthusiastic acclaim during her appearance at Los Angeles' Coconut Grove.

A regular on the list of the country's best dressed women, Miss Piazza looked very deserving of the honor in a beautifully cut blue suit when I had tea with her in her suite at the Ambassador Hotel here.

"I have always considered appearance very important," Miss Piazza told me. "It requires a great deal of study and observation to perfect it. I try to be familiar with what is new in the fashion world but I would never follow it slavishly.

"For example, at the moment the fashion magazines are filled with loose-fitting jackets which I wouldn't dream of wearing. I had enough of that style when I had my three children. A woman's waistline is much too pretty to be concealed.

"Of course, how you wear your clothes can either add to or spoil their effectiveness. Posture is so important and making gracefully. The ballet training I had as a child has been invaluable. It taught me to use my body with much more ease and grace than I believe I would normally have attained.

"Grace begins with an attitude. You should form the concept that your mind is a puppeteer, controlling your body, the puppet. Walk with a mental picture of your body head erect. Weight balanced so that your walk is a fluid movement. Be conscious of shifting your weight from one side to the other with each step you take, your legs swinging freely from the hips. The wrong way to walk is from the knees down. Walking backward is an easy way to check this bad habit.

"Don't neglect your hands and arms," Miss Piazza advised. "They are part of the posture picture. Nervous mannerisms or awkward gestures intrude. They prevent your making a poised impression."

Miss Piazza told me of an exercise for keeping the hands graceful.

"To make your fingers more flexible, do this," she said, rotating her wrists first in one direction then the other, flinging her fingers wide apart at the finish.

"Another helpful exercise is one that can be done on a washboard. Place your hand parallel to the ridges, stretching your fingers wide apart. Then lift your finger slightly above the grooves, playing an octave up and down, pressing each finger down in the groove. This may sound easy but if you raise each finger ten times you will learn to control and arch it with grace.

"A good arm exercise is raising your arms above your head, leading with your wrists, elbows slightly bent, then floating them down again with fingers relaxed. Watch yourself in the mirror as you do this to check your progress, but don't be discouraged if you don't look graceful the first few times. If you practice this enough the results will soon be apparent."

Miss Piazza mentioned the importance of proper breathing.

"The air is free — take plenty of it," she advises. "Anything you do to develop your lung capacity will contribute to your health. Babies breathe properly but most adults don't. They choke off their oxygen supply by bad posture, strain and tension. An insufficient supply of oxygen results in fatigue and lowered resistance."

We chatted about ambition and getting what you want out of life and Miss Piazza had some very sound ideas on the subject.

"Success and happiness have a transforming effect — everyone is made more attractive by them. The thing is how to attain them. I don't believe there is such a thing as 'overnight success'. Any time anyone pleases an audience and the critics it is the result of talent combined with hard work and concentrated effort. Talent is worthless if you don't develop it to the fullest. I am very grateful to the teacher who taught me to be dissatisfied

'ROUND TOWN'

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Two excited people are Mrs. Walter Moore and Mrs. W. C. Bell who are planning to attend the Golden Jubilee celebration of the St. Joseph's Nursing School in Houston.

They plan to be present at the celebration that will be held the latter part of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tibbels and children are going to Black Rock, Ark., for a vacation visit with his parents. They left Saturday morning.

W. B. Hardy, Jr. is spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Priest. Mrs. Hardy is visiting with her parents in Columbus, Ohio. The Hardys lived here at one time but are now making their home in Lubbock.

Mrs. Florence McNew is expecting her daughter, Mrs. Vernon McKenzie, and Captain McKenzie and the children for a visit. The McKenzies are stationed at Eglin Air Base in Florida. Captain McKenzie will visit here for two weeks while Mrs. McKenzie and the children will remain for a longer stay.

If any Presbyterians know the tag line on the last joke in the Presbyterian Visitor let me know. It was cut off of ours and it sounded like a good story.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Ausmus are glad to have their son, Paul Dean, here to spend the summer with Peacock Military Academy at San Antonio. He has recently received his rating and was appointed to be supply master of the school. He will be a senior and in command of Company B of the Cadet Corps next year.

Brenda Kay Szitar who lives on the Gail Route is back home after being hospitalized in Dallas. She has been in a cast for three weeks. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Szitar.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Carter are now at home in Big Spring at 1203 Settles Street. They had until recently made their home in DeLeon and had been the houseguests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Koutz.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Dowling are planning to move to Midland as soon as they can find a house. Recently their daughter, Nancy, was the honoree for a party at the home of Jane Ann McElrath. The school friends who gathered brought her farewell gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith McMillan left Sunday morning for a two weeks stay in Mexico City.

Mrs. Troy Gifford is convalescing from recent surgery and is able to have company at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

Maj. and Mrs. Roland L. Perkins and children, from the Davis Monthan AFB in Tucson, Ariz. are visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Goldman. After a short visit here they will visit in Dallas and later return here. Maj. Perkins will spend a week in Tampa, Florida, and Mrs. Perkins plans to be here a month.

There are a tremendous number of beautiful and talented people who lose out because they have never learned how to work, and many more who work hard at something for which they are not well suited.

"Once you have an indication that you are advancing toward your goal, you can be pretty sure you are on the right track. Then it's time to study your competition and try to discover the reasons behind their success because reaching the top is never an accident," is Miss Piazza's shrewd observation.

EXERCISE BRINGS BEAUTY

There's no doubt about it — one way to add extra beauty is to add a well-planned exercise routine. And to help you establish a good plan, why not order a copy of leaflet M-5, "Exercises of the Stars." You'll learn when and how to exercise. And you'll improve waist, hips, abdomen, legs and ankles. Get your copy by sending only 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Care of the Big Spring Herald. Be sure to ask for leaflet M-5.

A new organization for women, the Opti-Mrs. Club, was organized Friday evening at a dinner meeting at the Wagon Wheel and officers were elected.

Mrs. James Whitney was named president; Mrs. W. J. Forbes first vice president; Mrs. James Estes, second vice president; Mrs. Joe Hunch, secretary; Mrs. R. P. Nicholson, corresponding secretary; Herbert Vinson, treasurer; and Mrs. Frank Franklin sergeant-at-arms.

Meeting time has been set for the first Wednesday of each month at 7:30 in the evening at the Wagon Wheel. These will be combination business and social meetings.

VA Patient Wins Story Award

Elijah M. Ammons accepts a $25 check and citation from I. G. Sims, manager of the local Veterans Administration Hospital, for his prize story in a Veterans' Writing Contest. Ammons has been a patient at the hospital for about eight months and is a veteran of World War II. He entered the hospitalized veterans ninth annual writing contest. His article, "Restricted," won second place in the "Articles of Spiritual Significance" category and a short story, "Call Me Bill," received honorable mention. Besides the $25 he will receive a year's subscription to Collier's Magazine. Ammons' home is at Miles.

By LA DOYCE LAMBERT
Outdoor cooking — collapsible, portable and disposable — is surging forward in popularity this season. Makers of grills have come up with tricks to make their rigs mobile, light and easily folded into small space. Paper and plastic picnic specialty houses have contributed items to do away with most of the dishwashing plague.

Parents Send Back Medal

LEMONT FURNACE, Pa. (AP) — The parents of an American airman presumed dead in Korea, have restated their belief that their son is a Communist prisoner and have returned his Purple Heart Award to the White House.

Ottley R. Coulter and his wife, Ethel, called the medal awarded to their son, 1st Lt. John R. Coulter, an empty honor. Coulter said his last definite information was that his son was a prisoner in North Korea. The Air Force verified that the airman had been on a prisoner of war list but was presumed dead Jan. 31, 1954, after exhaustive investigations failed to reveal his whereabouts.

In a letter to President Eisenhower and signed by both parents, they declared: "We do not want this medal under the present circumstances. It does not honor our son or its donor."

They also stated that awarding the medal to parents whose sons are still held prisoners "is not in accordance with the original purpose of the medal." The Purple Heart is awarded to servicemen wounded in action or to the next of kin of persons killed in action.

In a reference to orders under former President Harry S. Truman, Coulter continued:

"This medal does not prevent us from realizing that an American President forbade our son from defending himself against attack from the Red sanctuary across the Yalu; that an American President sent our son out to fight under conditions that were unnecessary and more favorable to the Reds than the previous honorable record of our great United States."

Larger models have certain features which would tempt even the most skeptical. They have "hot wells" in which prepared food can be kept warm, wheels mounted on the legs and adjustable fuel boxes.

You don't have to be a chef from Paris to work one of these gadgets. They are as easy to operate as a frying pan — and they are just as easy to clean. As an added convenience, the grills stand about the same height as a stove to eliminate stooping while preparing food.

Nationally, outdoor cooking has become a big business and is expected to become even bigger this year. Locally, several merchants report as much as 30 per cent increase over last year's sales already. Dealers say that the smaller aluminum models are preferred by most customers. This preference is largely because of the light weight, convenience of operation and the low storage space.

Some even come equipped with an automatic turning unit operated by an electric motor which turns at an even rate and will roast chicken or other meats to a uniform brownness. More expensive models feature a sort of Dutch oven with a closed cooking space in addition to the grill kept warm by the circulating heat of the grill fire.

So if you have a hankering to get out of that hot kitchen, you can have a picnic in your own back yard and likely with more conveniences and a great deal more pleasure than your kitchen affords.

IN MARTIN CASES

New Indictments To Be Requested

STANTON, (SC) — New indictments alleging felony theft of public funds will be asked against six persons when the Martin County Grand Jury for the June term of 118th District Court convenes here Monday.

Ralph Caton, Martin County attorney, said the grand jury will be asked to return new indictments against James Herndon, County Commissioner Joe Froman, ex-commissioners Oliver Vaughn and Stanley Lewis, Whit McMorries and M. H. McMorries.

The new indictments would correct defects in old indictments against the sextet, Caton explained. The indictment against Herndon was quashed in 32nd District Court recently on grounds that it was not specific in its allegations. Similar defects exist in indictments against the other five.

The indictment against Herndon alleged theft of "more than $50." Judge A. S. Mauzey ruled that it must be specific as to the sum alleged.

The indictments were charged following an investigation of Martin County's financial affairs. James McMorries, former county judge, also was indicted and has since been convicted in three cases in which felony theft of public funds was alleged.

He is in the state penitentiary serving two three-year concurrent sentences. His appeal of another conviction, in which he received a five-year sentence, has been denied.

The Martin Grand Jury also will be asked to investigate other felony charges, Caton and District Attorney Guilford Jones said.

The grand jury, to be impaneled by District Judge Charlie Sullivan at 10 a.m. Monday, will be chosen from a panel including Gene Clements, Mrs. Lila Flanagan, Curtis Powell, M. H. Nance, George Davanport, Bruce Key, Arthur Wilson, Mrs. T. Lindsay, Steve Church, Mrs. George Lewis, Roosevelt Williams, George Glenn, Mrs. Clark Hamilton, Owen Kelly, Mrs. R. S. Lewis and Mrs. R. K. Rogers.

The Chinese had a wall

Generations slaved away their lives to build it. The wealth of kings and the skill of engineers were poured into its construction. And, when it was finished, it roamed a vagabond course over the mountains for hundreds of miles, like a great grey dragon breathing defiance from every segment of its poised body.

It was a peace-loving nation's way of telling the world that she wanted no more war . . . and the men who built it actually believed it would protect them from aggression.

The Americans have a hydrogen bomb. It, too, is a peace-loving nation's way of telling the world that she wants no more war. And millions actually believe it will protect, not only America, but the whole world from aggression.

The only sure protection against war is the fortress that saves mankind from the evils in men's hearts which foment war. That fortress is the Christian religion. But even our religion is not a sure protection until it reaches the hearts of all men.

Support your church. Help it build the foundations of Peace in your own heart. And with your prayers and your purse advance its tireless efforts to build those same foundations in the hearts of all men.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Jess Talkin

by Jess Blair

The recent rains helped tobacco grass considerably on the Marion Edwards Ranch south of Coahoma, but didn't cause any new growth of the shorter grasses.

"We had some good rains," Edwards said, "but the top of the ground is bare and it dries out quick. We never get much pasture growth here in the summer months, because it's just too hot."

Edwards stopped feeding a few weeks ago, mostly on the strength of the tobacco grass which is on overflow land. He says the ranch south of Lomax has had neither grass nor cattle on it the last two years. On the range south of Odessa they got some fair rains on part of it, and have a little grass there.

Good farm jobs go begging in this area. Bill Williams of the Texas Employment office has nearly a dozen farm and ranch jobs which will pay good wages to the right men. He has one ranch job for a colored couple which pays $200 per month and almost all living expenses.

The biggest demand on farms is also for couples, where the man is an experienced tractor hand. A house and all utilities go with these jobs, and the rate is from 30 to 40 dollars a week. Not every laborer can qualify because the farm owners want experienced men who know something about keeping a tractor going and also have general farming knowledge.

Williams says a shortage of Texas laborers may develop this fall if the weather is normal and crops not too late.

"We can get plenty of braceros," he said, "but native laborers may be in short supply."

A lot of terraces have been plowed down or destroyed by wind the last few years, but they are still needed when the rains come back.

Recently the Soil Conservation Service at Lamesa ran some penetration tests on terraced and un-terraced land. Where the rows ran up and down the hill, the rain had penetrated only a depth of one foot. But on a terraced field of the same soil they found moisture as deep as 30 inches. They figure that extra 18 inches of moisture in the soil may be very important in July and August.

Not many farmers in Howard County have applied for conservation payments on strip-cropping, says Gabe Hammack of the county ASC office.

"Several have signed up," he said, "but probably only a few of them will carry out the practice."

To qualify for payment, the farmer must plant guar, hubam clover, cow peas or sorghum in strips of four to eight rows, with the intervening strips planted to other crops or else lying fallow.

Payment is $1.50 per acre for guar or clover, $1.00 for peas, and 50 cents for sorghums.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee gives some advice which, if followed, would reduce road accidents by at least 60 per cent. They warn motorists not to overload the car where vision may be partly blocked. Don't drive when fatigued. Get a good night's sleep and allow for frequent rest stops on a trip. Have the car checked before starting out, and drive at a sane speed.

"They didn't mention the Golden Rule, but following it is also a good practice. Another one not mentioned but which I always follow is this: Assume the other driver is a darn fool, and watch out for him. If he will think the same thing about me and we both act accordingly, we're not so likely to bash in each other's cars and brains.

There is a safety slogan in the Big Spring High School manual training shop which everyone should memorize. It reads: "Accidents don't just happen, they are caused."

Lawrence Atkins, who rents the Eberley farms in the Lomax community, doesn't depend upon rain

Reds Seek To Slice Red Tape

LONDON (AP) — When the Reds take over, the red tape seems to grow. That impression of Communist Poland is shared by practically every Westerner one meets there.

Red tape, of course, is no monopoly of the Communists. But in Poland, officialdom runs almost every branch of the nation's life. The result seems to be that few persons — at least at the lower levels — are willing to shoulder the responsibility of a simple decision.

Take the experience of a Western technician installing imported equipment for a Polish organization. He found that everything he brought in, had to be checked through three separate storerooms and each part listed by three separate storekeepers before it could be used. Just that took two days.

Or another Western technician, again installing imported equipment. He wanted a simple decision on where to place a piece of mechanism — "something anyone with a bit of common sense could decide," he said.

He had to await the arrival of a delegation of three professors. They argued two hours, and finally agreed to accept whatever the Westerner advised.

The Communists, to judge their own newspapers, are aware of this bureaucracy and are trying to "choke it off." If they succeed, they could prove tough competitors in international trade.

Rita Hayworth As 'Salome'

"Salome" in Technicolor and starring Rita Hayworth and Stewart Granger is the Lyric offering today. Filmed partly in Galilee, the setting of the film is during Biblical times.

Rita Hayworth plays the fabulous Salome and at the height of the picture she gives her interpretation of the "Dance of the Seven Veils" for Herod, as played by Charles Laughton. The dance is performed by Salome to save the life of John the Baptist, played by Alan Badel.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke plays Tiberius Caesar and Stewart Granger is the commander of the Roman legions stationed in Galilee. Both Granger and Rita Hayworth are secret converts of John the Baptist.

Granger appeals to Pilate, played by Basil Sydney, for John's life. The film is an exciting portrayal of the times.

Judith Anderson also stars in the picture as Salome's mother, the Queen Herodias. The film plays through Monday.

DO IT YOURSELF In Attractive Style More Storage Space

I'm sure I can make a positive statement that nobody will refuse: Every home needs more storage space!

It's easy to get your wall storage cabinet pattern. All you have to do is send one dollar ($1) in check, cash or money order, to Bill Baker, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 111, Los Angeles 53, Calif. Be sure to ask for pattern No. 128.

with a little bit more space to keep things.

And I've finally come up with an answer to the problem — a do-it-yourself wall storage cabinet that will give you just the right amount of extra space. And it's good looking, too.

You'll use my pattern package No. 128 for this easy-to-make project. With the package you'll receive exact-size paper pattern pieces (they're just like women's dress patterns — tack them to the material, trace and cut), a complete material list and easy-to-read instructions.

And with the same pattern you'll be able to build as many cabinets as you like. Put one in your hall, kitchen. Or perhaps your living room offers the right place for one.

Another ideal location for a wall storage cabinet is in the yard. You can fasten one on the house near the patio area, and it will offer you just the right place to keep the items you use for out-of-door living.

But I don't have to tell you how to use your wall storage cabinet — I'm sure you've already thought of dozens of things you could put into this unit: toys, books, linen, dishes, etc.

Your cabinet will be big — but not too big. It measures slightly over five feet from end to end. From top to bottom the wall storage cabinet is 15 inches. It's 11 inches deep.

'Son Of Sinbad'

Dale Robertson plays the "Son of Sinbad" at the Ritz today. He is co-starring with Sally Forrest, Vincent Price, and Mari Blanchard in this Technicolor and SuperScope film.

At The Jet

Yvonne DeCarlo and David Niven are both surprised in this scene from the comedy feature "Tonight's the Night" at the Jet. The very humorous film is in Technicolor.

Arabian Night Figures Seen In Colorful 'Son Of Sinbad'

The characters of the Arabian Nights come to Big Spring today in the "Son of Sinbad" at the Ritz. Filmed in Technicolor and SuperScope, the adventure film stars Dale Robertson as Sinbad and Sally Forrest as his feminine interest.

The harem of the Bagdad Khalif. The setting for the film is in the ancient city of Bagdad about the 12th century.

Sinbad is caught visiting the Khalif's harem one time too many and is thrown in prison. But he promises to get the "Greek fire" for the Khalif if in return he can be set free.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Glenn Coates

The forecast for June in screen entertainment looks better than it did for May, and May was "Movie Month." Apparently, the above average film fare here will continue to increase throughout June.

Two pictures of excellent proportions are scheduled for the month. One of them is "Blackboard Jungle" with Glenn Ford and Anne Francis. This film purports to tell the story of juvenile delinquency as described in the best selling novel. And those who have already seen the picture say that it is as good as the book.

And for the kiddoes and grown-ups too, "Davy Crockett" is on the June schedule. Fess Parker has the lead role and here is the origin of the time that you've been hearing lately.

Historical and Biblical times

Crawford Star In Story Of Crime, 'N. Y. Confidential'

"New York Confidential" plays Thursday and Friday at the State and stars Broderick Crawford, Richard Conte, and Marilyn Maxwell.

The crime film is the underdog story of a "big-time" gang in operation with the excitement and thrills that go with the type. Crawford is the head of the gang and hires Conte as his personal killer. Marilyn Maxwell is the girlfriend of Crawford but she falls for Conte.

The two stay apart, however, to keep the gang operating smoothly. Then a big deal comes along and too many people get killed. Crawford is implicated and is about to tell all about the organization to the police. The organization then elects Conte to kill his friend before it's too late.

"Salome" is a return engagement at the Lyric set in early Biblical times. Rita Hayworth and Stewart Granger are the stellar attractions. And especially the Hayworth interpretation of the Dance of the Seven Veils.

She does the dance for Herod to save the life of John the Baptist. There is very good acting in this picture. And like the two just mentioned, it is in color.

Western Romance Offered At Lyric

Jack Buettel and Mala Powers star in "Rose of Cimarron" at the Lyric Tuesday and Wednesday. The color film is about a girl who is raised to live with the Indians. When her foster parents are killed by white men murderers, she sets out to take the law into her own hands. She kills two of the men and is then put in jail by the town marshal.

Later she gets out and aids the marshal catch the gang responsible for robberies and murders throughout the west. Also starring in the picture are Bob Steele and Jim Davis.

'Dance Of The Seven Veils'

Rita Hayworth recreates the Dance of the Seven Veils in "Salome," today and Monday at the Lyric. The Technicolor picture also stars Stewart Granger, Charles Laughton, and Sir Cedric Hardwicke. The picture is a portrayal of the early Christian days in Galilee.

Clifton Webb's Comedy Is The Hit Of 'Woman's World'

"Woman's World" plays tonight and Monday at the Terrace and is a CinemaScope and color production along similar lines as the recent "Executive Suite." Only this time, the women take over.

Gene Autry Back In 'Last Roundup'

Gene Autry is the star of "Last Roundup" starting Thursday and playing through Saturday at the Lyric.

The western melodrama takes place in the Tucson, Arizona of 1860. Autry tries to keep peace between the Indians and ranchers when a water aqueduct is being built in the area. He tries to insure that both sides will benefit from the project.

But a banker steps in to stir up trouble among the Indians so that he will benefit solely from the new water supply. Gene has his hands full keeping the peace and seeing that justice is done. Also appearing in the picture are Jean Heather and Ralph Morgan.

'The Prodigal' Opens At Ritz On Wednesday

A Biblical parable is the subject of the Ritz offering this week in "The Prodigal." The Parable of the Prodigal Son is the basis for the picture and stars Lana Turner and Edmond Purdom. Purdom plays Micah, son of Eli, who engages in wild living with the pagan priestess Samarra, played by Lana Turner.

Later, when he has reason to regret his actions, he is taken back into his father's house with forgiveness. For in spite of his wild life, he refuses to reject his one God Iahh.

Many memorable scenes are portrayed in the CinemaScope and color picture. There is the pagan rites for Baal, ancient god of Fertility, and Astarte, the Goddess of Love. There is the Human Wheel of Fortune, a gambling device which uses twelve beautiful girls as "markers." Other scenes show the sinful city of Damascus, the Garden of Love, and the battle in the vulture pit.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Recently I looked at the little finger of the left hand of five-year-old Bobby Youngman. Last year about one fourth of that finger was cut off, except for a thread of skin.

A letter from the mother of the child told me about the accident. Bobby was letting an older boy shoot a hose at his hand, and happened to stoop near a lawnmower. The stream of water made the blades of the lawnmower turn and the finger was cut.

Hurrying to the scene, the little fellow's father saw that he had lost, or just about lost, the tip of his finger. Mr. Youngman gave first aid and, most important, put the tip of the finger back in place. With his finger bandaged, and seated in his mother's lap, Bobby was driven to the offices of a doctor. Treatment to guard against infection was given. The tip was wrapped so that it would be joined firmly with the rest of the finger.

Looking at the finger months later, I was pleased to find that it had healed completely. Although I studied it closely, I failed to see a scar.

The success with Bobby's finger is only one of many happy victories over troubles of this kind. A few years ago I talked with a carpenter, and he showed me the thumb of one of his hands.

"I came close to losing this thumb," he related. "While using a power saw, I was careless and let the saw run into the thumb. It was cut through, below the lowermost joint, except for a bit of skin. The doctor was about to snip it off, but I asked him to try to save the thumb. The result, as you see, is that I still have my thumb."

The best thing, is to be careful and to keep cutting accidents from taking place. If, however, you lose a finger (or even an ear) do your best to put back the part which has been cut off as rapidly and exactly as you can. Obtain medical help quickly.

If a person waits too long before putting the flesh back in place, all efforts of a doctor to save the finger, or whatever else is involved, may fail.

Grass Seeding Is Started On Junior College Acreage

Land is being prepared for seeding grass on part of the Howard County Junior College campus. The land was native rangeland until last year when it was worked with a tandem disc and a spike toothed harrow to level the ground and to kill the weeds. The next operation planned is the seeding of red top cane on 40 acres of the 77 acre area.

The cane will be mowed as necessary to prevent heading. Next year a mixture of Side oats grama, blue grama, and King Ranch bluestem will be drilled in the cane stubble. Of the remaining 37 acres 32 will be planted to blue panic grass in 40 inch rows. One acre of the following grasses will be planted this year in rows:

Uvalde strain side oats grama, Blackwell switch grass, caucasian bluestem, King Ranch bluestem, and cane bluestem.

The blue panic grass will be drilled with the two-row grass drill that belongs to the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District. The drilling of blue panic grass is the best accepted method of planting. The land must be level for this work.

Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service are assisting the college in the operations.

In this issue: Is There a Young Genius in Your Home?

I was just thinking...

HOW SEDIMENTAL I am. No, that's not sentiment with adenoids. That's me with debris.

I cleaned out a seldom-used drawer last week and it was like an exploration into inner space. I found the corsage my first love brought for the high-school dance, but it looked more like a botanical specimen from the tomb of Tutankhamen.

And there was the button box filled with trophies, a monogrammed hankie from the cavalier in khaki, a withered wild flower left over from a picnic in the park, and a faded watchband from some unsung swain whose name escapes me.

I was housecleaning. I was filled with the spirit of soap-suds. I drew my wastebasket close to the drawer and began.

The snapshots of the trip to Backbone Park? Well, it was fun, wasn't it? And there's the bluff where we lost the lunch basket. And isn't that blur the fox which came across the clearing? Darned if it isn't.

The pockmarked pin my grandmother gave me when I was 10? How I loved it. I wore it even on my party dress.

The locket Jimmy gave me for my 15th birthday? It was so homely I almost cried. It's tarnished and the chain is broken, but...

And here are the crayon sketches Annette made for me. They're so bad I never even had them framed; but, after all, they were her first and she gave them to me. I remember how proud she was.

The bathing suit I wore the summer I met Glenn? It's all faded and I'm sure I'd never be able to squeeze into it now. I was so thin, all elbows and knees, but Glenn thought it was elegant. He told me so that first day.

I cleaned out the whole drawer. I put in fresh paper and I closed it carefully. I don't know when I've had such a good time.

And I didn't throw a single thing away.

As you were saying

HOW TO MAKE PROBLEMS DISAPPEAR

Present-day living forces us to go at such a constant pace that nearly every person is wound up like a spring. Everything must be done in a hurry, even our thinking. This has caused many of us to develop an unconscious, almost-blundering method of doing little things. Actually, the little things in our lives are what make us efficient or inefficient, happy or unhappy.

I have found and practiced a little trick that works. Haven't you felt the spring in you so tight at times that when you start to do a simple thing, it just won't work and you want to throw it about as far as possible? Your house key will not go into the keyhole or the lid for the peanut-butter jar won't fit even though you know it's the right one. These things, inconsequential as they may seem, have happened to me so often that I've felt there must be a way to control my haste and my temper.

Now, every time I find myself so tense that my fingers seem to be all thumbs, I don't count to ten but simply take a deep breath and ask God to help me do the job at hand. I really seem to relax, and the problem that was so irritating almost does itself.—Marjorie Hawks, Sacramento, Calif.

Chivalry Isn't Dead Yet

It was a warm but windy Sunday afternoon, and the business section of the town was deserted. I was standing on a corner wondering what to do while my husband went to see someone. I had on a new Spring hat bedecked with ribbons and flowers. Suddenly the wind snatched it and sent it rolling down the street. I could see it whirling merrily along, but before I could race off in hot pursuit, a car came heading right toward it. I was sure it would be completely flattened, and I wished I'd worn a scarf.

To my astonishment the car stopped and the driver got out. He rushed to grab the hat before it started on the next lap of its journey to destruction. Then he walked over to a forlorn and wind-blown me, bowed graciously, and asked, "Is this your Sunday bonnet?" I thanked him and decided chivalry still lived!—Mrs. Jessie Dyar, Custer, S. D.

The Wisdom of Youth

After rearing four children, I am inclined to believe the oft-heard remark, "Kids know too much nowadays." The truth of it was vividly impressed on me a few weeks ago by my seven-year-old daughter.

She stood in the front yard waiting for the eight-year-old paper-boy who sauntered toward our house with a pal of his. He stopped near her and, for the benefit of his pal, remarked toughly, "Why doncha wait in the house, where ya belong? Your paper'll get there!" Then, with a sneer, he dropped the paper at her feet and swaggered away.

Just as I was about to enter the scene with a hot reprimand for the "toughie," my daughter turned and spotted me. Quickly she put a finger to her lips and whispered happily, "Mama, he likes me more every day. Yesterday he didn't even speak to me."—Mrs. E. R. Kregor, Rock Island, Ill.

Inspiration from an Old Photograph

I have read and re-read all the many magazine articles about dieting. I would read them, nod assent, and resolve to do something about it—someday.

Someday never seemed to come till one day I discovered that the picture of me which my husband carried in his wallet was not of the present-day me with all my excess pounds! No, it was of a thin, trim me as I was when we first met.

That did it. I decided to "picture myself thin." I dug up all the slim pictures of me I could find and pasted them up all over the house. With such a goal before me, I couldn't miss.

I never expected to look quite as thin and young as I did in that courtship picture he carried, but at least he now carries a picture of the newly reduced me. And it doesn't look too bad!—Mrs. R. S. Waco, Texas.

The Well-Trained Father

Friends sometimes tease my husband about being so handy at changing and feeding our baby. They say things like, "Your wife sure has you well trained." My husband replies, "I think it makes for a better boy." It's too bad more fathers don't feel that way. So often I've heard young mothers complain that their husbands never help with the children.

Babies really are fun, and not breakable as some men think. More important, babies need both parents during their tender years.—Mrs. J. R., Nashua, Iowa.

Shrine to a Courageous Lady

by Louis A. Eckl

This is the small cottage in Tuscumbia, Ala., where Helen Keller, the blind humanitarian, was born.

Humanitarian Helen Keller's birthplace in Tuscumbia, Ala., stands as an inspiration to handicapped people everywhere.

Each year thousands of persons visit a tiny cottage on a former plantation in the town of Tuscumbia, Ala. They come there to receive inspiration and faith and perseverance, for this small house was the birthplace of America's First Lady of Courage, Helen Keller. It was there that she was tragically stricken at the age of two with an illness which left her deaf and blind. But she had two valuable assets: an indomitable spirit and a valiant heart. These enabled her to overcome her handicaps and achieve a brilliant career as a writer, lecturer, humanitarian, and philanthropist; but most of all, a living inspiration to other handicapped persons.

Miss Keller's birthplace, called Ivy Green (because of the English ivy which grows abundantly over the plantation's buildings and fences), was built in 1820.

Miss Keller, whose life has been an inspiration to the handicapped, gives a lecture while her interpreter-secretary stands by.

It is Tuscumbia's second oldest house. David Keller, Helen's grandfather, and his bride, Mary, a second cousin of Robert E. Lee, were its first residents.

Visitors to Ivy Green turn in at the old carriage gate and follow an avenue of cedars leading to the house. Quaint and charming, the house is typically Southern. It is bisected by a large hall, and its porch runs the width of the house. The big square rooms boast individual fireplaces, a reminder of a bygone era. Not far from the house itself is the small cottage, once the plantation office, where Helen Keller was born 75 years ago this June 27.

And just as her life will always be an inspiration to the handicapped and afflicted, so too will Ivy Green remain one of our cherished national shrines—a shrine of courage to a courageous lady.

Is There a Young Genius in Your Home?

The child who is slow to learn often gets the lion's share of attention from scientists and educators. But how about youngsters at the other end of the intellectual scale? To make the most of themselves, and their America, they too require more than routine handling; for they are the leaders of tomorrow, and no nation can be better than its leaders.

Aptitude-testing agencies can help you determine if your child is especially gifted.

Like most proud parents, you probably consider your child a budding genius. And you may be right.

America has about half a million gifted children, with Intelligence Quotients of at least 130. They are sprinkled through all our nationalities, races and financial levels.

So whether you're a ditch-digger or a brain surgeon, whether you live in a big city or tiny village, the odds are pretty even that your child may be decidedly above average. But will his abilities be nourished—or wasted?

Hilton C. Buley, president of New Haven (Conn.) State Teachers College, calls America's gifted youngsters the "choicest of our human resources." But like many educators and social scientists, he reports that all too few of our above-average students turn into the accomplished adults they might become.

Urging special schooling for exceptional youths, Mr. Buley declares: "Nothing is more unequal than the equal treatment of unequals. One of our fundamental needs is public understanding that equal educational opportunity for all means special education for some."

But what can we do to see that our gifted youngsters get ample opportunity to advance? Special classes or schools for brighter children are few, and most of them are in a handful of big cities.

Besides, how can we be sure that Junior's precocity at the piano—or on the playground—really means that he's something special? After all, most parents think their offspring are a notch above normal.

How to recognize a gifted child

These days the identification of truly unusual children has become a science in itself. Detailed psychological and aptitude tests can measure not only a student's intelligence level, but also such abilities as expressing ideas, manipulating things, understanding numbers, and seeing the relationship among objects. These abilities point toward the professions in which the youngster will do best and be happiest.

According to Dr. Henry Chauncey, president of the Educational Testing Service, the talents of our young people should be measured early—before environmental conditions limit their growth or lessen their desire for learning.

"In numerous families it is taken for granted that the boy will go to work as soon as he has left high school, while the girl will go to work to find a husband," says Dr. Chauncey. As a result, thousands of young citizens who are good college material never get there, never develop their full potentialities, and never live lives as rewarding as they might.

Lack of money keeps only a minority from attending college. A recent study by the Commission on Financing Higher Education showed that of the top students who did not seek sheepskins, only a third lacked the cash.

Most of them preferred some non-college training, such as mechanics, or were simply not interested in further education. Remember: this comes from what our schools and scientists would call the cream of America's young citizenry!

Talent needs early stimulation

Dr. Chauncey says that it is up to both parent and teacher to encourage our better students during their formative years. "By the time of high-school graduation, many youngsters of initially high capability have been handicapped by the lack of stimulation. Unlike gold which if not mined today is just as valuable tomorrow, talent must be carefully tended from the start."

A good start often is to be found at a pre-kindergarten nursery school. There the talented tot gets a chance to play—constructively—with others, while developing his abilities through games, arts and crafts, dancing, and other activities.

If nursery school is out of the question, it's up to you as a parent to provide paints, paper, hammer and nails, picture books, records—the toys and tools which help build minds and muscles. Equally important are genuine sympathy and a patient attitude for your child's personal penchant, whether it be designing clothes or collecting wild life.

Take his interests and attitudes seriously because they are serious. Keeping up with Junior's expanding information may tax your knowledge, if not your interest; but discovering new things and looking at old ones in new ways are part of the magic of having—or being—a child.

Encourage his almost-savage curiosity regarding the world about us. In answering his endless questions, direct him to fresh paths of inquiry and thought. The public library, museum, and art gallery, the local family agency and guidance center—all can help parents and teachers to build a superior child into a superior adult.

As for school, the bright child may lose interest if the work seems dull. Advancing him faster through the grades may foster his intellectual growth provided he can match his older classmates' emotional and social pace.

If the gifted student is kept with others of his age group, the teacher may meet his special needs by giving him broader, more interesting assignments. While most of the class is studying routine geography, for instance, the more alert pupils may be preparing essays on how geography affects a nation's living habits.

Special schools for young geniuses

Educators differ on whether the above-average child should be taught separately from others his age. Of the 80 high schools in New York City, 20 are specialized, designed to bring together superior students with similar interests. Within its regular school buildings, Cleveland has Major Work Classes for youngsters of elementary age up. These brighter pupils are kept apart from the others during class and study time, but get the necessary social contact in the playground and gym, in athletics and other school activities.

Naturally, special attention may have its pitfalls, too. As Ruth Anne Korey, an assistant principal in Brooklyn, N. Y., declares: "Gifted children often have weaknesses as well as strengths. Special help should be given when there is evidence of subject disabilities, lack of needed skills, physical awkwardness, or personality problems."

If handled properly, however, little Susie shouldn't turn out to be a snob or a stutterer just because she is brilliant. Indeed, the child who has more than her share of brain power usually ranks high physically and emotionally, too; and contrary to popular belief, she's not likely to "burn out" her abilities as she grows older.

Dispelling the notion that "bright children are booky misfits," a recent study by the N. Y. Board of Regents urged schools to meet the special needs of better students and avoid turning them into "grinds." The importance of identifying and encouraging—today—America's leaders of tomorrow is summed up by the title of the study: "Bright Kids—We Need Them."

WITH SUPERIOR TALENTS, IT'S YOUR RESPONSIBILITY AS A PARENT TO SEE THAT THOSE TALENTS ARE NOT WASTED.

Both parent and teacher should give special attention, encouragement, and stimulation to the gifted child during his formative years so that he can fully develop his abilities.

Kindergarten or a pre-kindergarten nursery school provides an ideal chance for talented youngsters to exercise their creative interests.

A cold buffet for a hot Summer day! Here are Family Weekly suggestions—flavors, colors, and textures are designed to blend or contrast harmoniously.

The "something hot" for your luncheon may be piping hot biscuits or yeast rolls; for the dinner buffet, yeast rolls are more suitable. Offer guests a choice of beverages. Iced tea and iced coffee are favorites. Include chilled fruit beverages such as lime-, lemon- or orange-ade or other fruit juice combinations.

THE LUNCHEON BUFFET—Plan a buffet of cooling dishes which will please your guests and reduce the number of hours spent in a hot kitchen.

Try the beautiful fruit salad pictured in the color photo. It's perfectly accompanied by Puff-Pastry Cheese Twists. For dessert—a white or chocolate cake topped with swirling mounds of fluffy, mint-flavored, seven-minute frosting, tinted a delicate pink or green.

Another cooling salad delight is Sea-Food-Stuffed Avocado. Climax this luncheon suggestion with a cooling fruit sherbet or fruit ice and crisp cookies.

Ham Mousse and a tray of assorted relishes—gherkins, plum tomatoes, scored cucumber slices, green and ripe olives, radish roses, cauliflowerets, and spiced crab apples—wonderful! A hot vegetable is in order here: try broccoli polonaise. The dessert—ice-cold watermelon slices.

Plan a jellied veal loaf for your luncheon buffet, and serve minted, notched, carrot slices with it. A salad of cabbage, cucumber, green pepper, and radish slices tossed with salad dressing is a colorful addition to your buffet table. And if you'd like to serve a sensational fruit dessert, prepare chilled poached pears with a scrumptious chocolate sauce.

Chicken salad becomes an elegant luncheon specialty if you blend in finely cut, moist, shredded coconut or freshly grated coconut and white seedless grapes. Serve the salad on chilled crisp greens. Ripe olives and plump, spiced peaches are ideal relishes. Climax this charming buffet luncheon with chilled lemon tarts.

THE SUPPER BUFFET—The buffet is the easiest way to serve supper to a small or large group. Make sure cold dishes are served icy cold. And a chafing dish is a welcome helper for it doesn't add heat to the kitchen. Here are hints.

Summertime is ideal for cold cuts. Arrange them on a large platter and use your imagination to select a suitable garnish. Tossed salad always meets with approval, especially when teamed with slices of pungent garlic bread. Potato salad (hot or cold) will be a favorite. Then for the Ice-Cream Dessert Bar: in your Lazy Susan offer a choice of ice cream, sirup toppings or fruit from which guests can create their own sundaes.

For a leisurely meal on your cool shady lawn, start with tall pitchers of chilled tomato-juice cocktail and fruit juice; bowls of potato chips, pretzels, and a variety of crackers; and a creamy cheese dip. From your outdoor grill come luscious grilled frankfurters (served with all the necessary fixin's, of course). Set out bowls of rosy ripe tomatoes and whole avocados—handy little salads that come in their own serving dishes. Guests can help themselves and, with the knives you provide, cut the avocados into halves and remove the pits. Have a cruet or two of French dressing available so guests can pour as much as they desire into each little avocado cavity. Include spoons for scooping the fruit from the shells. Put carrot sticks, radishes, and celery on crushed ice in a wooden salad bowl. Have a variety of carbonated beverages packed in ice—refreshingly chilled. Dessert—the easier the better, so it's a commercial ice-cream cake roll.

A smörgåsbord—what could be more suited to your Summer buffet? Your chafing dish will keep Swedish meat balls deliciously warm. Sardines, marinated herring, and deviled eggs are a must, as well as a variety of salads. Include tomato-aspic-cream-cheese ring, macaroni salad, cole slaw, and fruit gelatin mold. Add a selection of breads—the crisp Swedish knäckebröd, soft or heavy ryes, and pumpernickel. For dessert—snowy-white blancmange with strawberry sauce is a fitting finale.

Begin your meal with icy-cold Vichyssoise—a hint of the elegant fare to come! Wrap slices of beef tenderloin in bacon before broiling. Fresh asparagus complemented with hollandaise sauce is a perfect companion. Serve celery and olives on ice; skip the usual salad, and delight your guests with grapefruit sherbet. The truly refreshing dessert—pineapple or chocolate refrigerator dessert.

Curried chicken with rice will add an Oriental note to your entertaining. Surround the serving platter with smaller dishes of grated fresh coconut, fruit chutney, crumbled crisp bacon, salted peanuts, finely chopped hard-cooked egg whites and sieved hard-cooked egg yolks, and other condiments of your choosing. The watermelon-pear salad, described in the fruit-salad introduction, is a perfect addition to this menu. Bread sticks are a must. Special praise comes your way when lime chiffon pie is served for dessert.

FRUIT

DELICIOUS

June ushers in the leisurely (and warm) Summer months and with them a colorful abundance of fresh fruits. On an oppressive, sultry Summer day when appetites are at low ebb, what could be more appealing than a chilled fruit-salad plate—attractive, flavorful, and chock-full of nutritive value? Let your imagination soar! Check the fruits available in your market and plan combinations of a few or many. Select them for their harmonizing colors; arrange them simply or elaborately. Reach into the back of your china cupboard and pull out those long-idle bowls and platters—perfect settings for the masterpieces you are about to create. Those fancy molds that have served faithfully as decorative notes on your walls will be just the thing for molded gelatin salads with fruit or frozen fruit salads and desserts. Fruit combinations are limitless and they all blend perfectly with salad greens. Experiment with unusual combinations. For instance, try large chunks of juicy watermelon, smaller cubes of cucumber and pear (unpared). Toss with escarole and a slightly sweet French dressing having a lemon base. It's wonderful!

The finishing touch to your work of art is, of course, an appropriate salad dressing. Have lemon halves and oil (salad or olive) available so that guests can help themselves to just the right amounts of tangy lemon juice and oil. Or mix your own favorite French dressing, using lemon or lime juice to accentuate the refreshing flavors of fresh fruits. Perhaps a more unusual dressing is appealing—fruit- or honey-flavored French dressing, or a fruit-flavored cooked salad dressing or mayonnaise. Try Orange Fruit-Salad Dressing—ideal for fruit-salads.

Your favorite hot bread is a perfect complement to luscious fruit. Hot rolls, biscuits, Melba toast, or a variety of breads complete the salad course. Puff-Pastry Cheese Twists are, of course, the ultimate! Don't let your family miss out on this great fruit festival. Fruit is always in good taste these warm days, whether it is served as an exciting salad or as a delicious and attractive dessert.

Glamour Fruit Salad

Have all fruits thoroughly chilled. Prepare as directed (see Fruit Preparation) and set aside in refrigerator until ready to use.

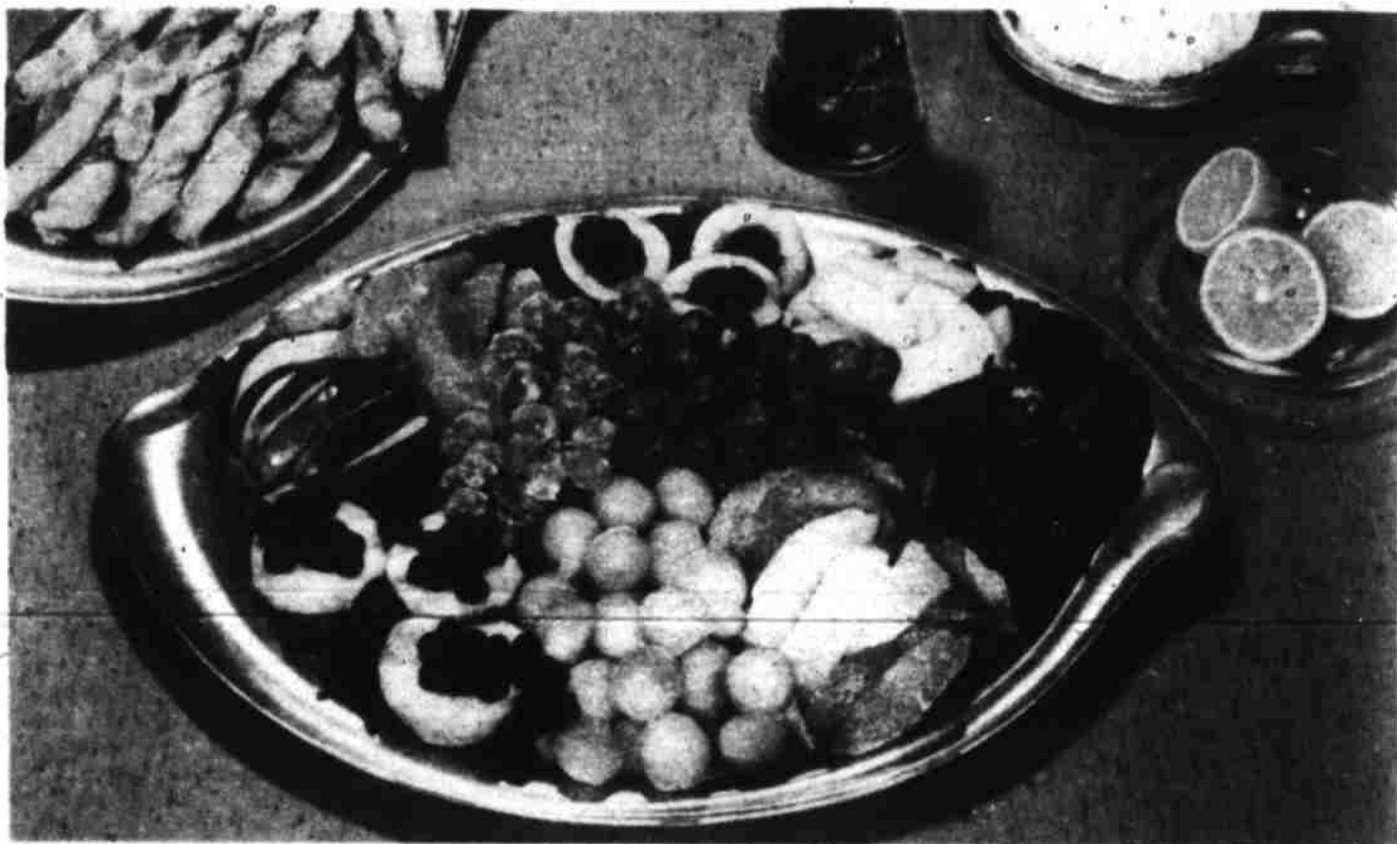

- Orange sections
- Grapefruit sections
- Strawberries
- Blueberries
- Honeydew melon balls
- Cantaloupe melon balls
- Peach halves
- Nectarine halves
- Tokay grapes
- White seedless grapes

For Frosted White Seedless Grapes (optional)—Beat 1 egg white until frothy. Dip small clusters of grapes in beaten egg white. Shake off excess, then dip grapes in a bowl of sugar. Set aside to dry. Chill in refrigerator if desired.

Just before serving, rinse and pat dry with absorbent paper.

With lettuce

Arrange lettuce on a chilled platter. Attractively arrange fruit on lettuce (see color photo). Serve with oil and lemon, or Orange Fruit-Salad Dressing. Accompany with Puff-Pastry Cheese Twists.

An imaginative arrangement will add appeal to fruit. Base your choice on personal preference and seasonal availability.

Fruit Preparation

Apples, pears—Wash fruit and pare, if desired. Cut into quarters and remove cores. Cut into lengthwise slices, if desired. Toss fruit pieces gently with orange, lemon, or pineapple juice to prevent discoloration.

Avocados—Rinse avocados, cut into halves lengthwise, and remove pits. Brush cut surfaces with lemon juice to prevent discoloration.

Bananas—Peel bananas and cut into crosswise slices. Toss slices gently with orange, lemon, or pineapple juice to prevent discoloration.

Blueberries, raspberries—Sort and rinse berries; drain thoroughly.

Cherries—Sort, rinse, and drain cherries. Remove stems, cut into halves, and remove pits.

Grapes—Rinse and drain grapes thoroughly. Cut large bunches into small clusters.

Melons—Rinse melons and cut into halves. With a knife or spoon, remove seedy center. Using melon-ball cutter, carefully form melon balls.

Nectarines—Rinse nectarines, cut into halves, and remove pits. Brush cut surfaces with lemon juice to prevent discoloration.

Oranges, grapefruit—Rinse fruit. With a sharp knife, cut away peel and white membrane from fruit. Remove sections by cutting on either side of the dividing membranes; remove, section by section, over a bowl to reserve juice. Discard seeds, if any.

Peaches—Rinse peaches; plunge into boiling water to loosen skins. Immediately plunge into cold water; gently slip off skins. Cut peaches into halves; remove pits. Brush cut surfaces with lemon juice to prevent discoloration.

Pineapple—Cut off and discard crown (spiny top) and rinse pineapple. Cut into crosswise slices about 2 in. thick. With a sharp knife, cut away and discard rind and "eyes" from each slice. Cut away the core and cut ring-slices into wedges.

Strawberries—Sort, rinse, and drain berries. Remove hull or leave on for garnish.

Puff-Pastry Cheese Twists

Preparation of Puff Pastry requires off-and-on attention for 9 hrs.

For Puff Pastry—Put into a large bowl of cold water and ice cubes or chipped ice
1 cup butter

Work butter with hands. Break it into small portions and squeeze each in water about 20 times, or until butter is pliable and waxy. Remove butter and wipe off excess water. Reserve  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup of this butter. Pat remainder  $\frac{1}{2}$  in. thick, divide into 5 equal portions, and wrap each in waxed paper. Chill until firm.

Sift together into a bowl

2 cups sifted flour

$\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt

With two knives or pastry blender, cut in the reserved  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup butter until pieces are the size of small peas. Sprinkle gradually over mixture, 1 tablespoon at a time, about

7 tablespoons ice water

Stir lightly with a fork after each addition. When blended, gather into a ball and knead on lightly floured surface until elastic and smooth. Cover with a bowl and let ripen about 30 min.

Roll dough on a floured surface to form a rectangle  $\frac{1}{4}$  in. thick. Keep corners square, gently pulling dough into shape where necessary.

Remove one portion of the chilled butter and cut into small pieces. Quickly pat pieces down center third of dough. Cover the butter with right-hand third of dough. Fold left-hand third under butter section. With rolling pin gently press down and seal the open edges. Wrap pastry in waxed paper. Chill in refrigerator about 1 hr.

Remove from refrigerator and place on the board with butter section near top, narrow side toward you. Turn folded dough one-quarter way around, under-open edge away from you. Roll to original size. Repeat four times the procedure for folding, sealing, and chilling, using second, third, fourth, and fifth portions of butter. Each time place dough on floured surface, turn and roll as directed.

With the last rolling, fold near side toward center. Roll gently with rolling pin. Fold in half. Wrap dough in waxed paper. Cover with a damp towel and place in refrigerator. Chill in refrigerator about 2 hrs before using.

To store for several days, wrap dough in waxed paper and place in refrigerator.

For Cheese Twists—Lightly grease two baking sheets.

Grate and set aside

2 oz. Parmesan cheese (about  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup, grated)

Divide the dough into 2 equal portions. Return one portion to refrigerator while rolling out the other portion. Roll dough into a rectangle  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 12$  in.; brush with

Egg white, beaten

Sprinkle evenly over surface one half of the grated Parmesan cheese and one half of a mixture of

$\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon paprika

$\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon salt

Cut rectangle into halves to make two  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 6$ -in. pieces. Cut each half into strips  $6 \times 1\frac{1}{2}$  in. Twist each strip; tuck ends under and press lightly. Arrange the strips on one of the greased baking sheets. Set in refrigerator for 15 min. Repeat procedure, using the remaining Parmesan cheese and seasonings with the remaining portion of dough.

Bake at  $400^{\circ}\text{F}$  15 min. Reduce heat to  $300^{\circ}\text{F}$  and bake about 10 min. longer, or until twists are golden brown.

3 doz. cheese twists

Ham Mousse

Set out a  $1\frac{1}{2}$ -qt. fancy ring mold and a double boiler. Put a small bowl and beater into refrigerator to chill.

Pour into a small bowl

$\frac{1}{2}$  cup cold water

Sprinkle evenly over cold water
1 tablespoon (1 ev.) unflavored gelatin

Let stand about 5 min. to soften.

Combine and beat together slightly in top of the double boiler

2 eggs, slightly beaten

1 cup milk

and a mixture of

1 teaspoon dry mustard

$\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt

$\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon paprika

Few grains cayenne pepper

Place double-boiler top over simmering water and cook mixture, stirring constantly and rapidly, until mixture coats a silver spoon. Remove from simmering water at once. Stir the softened gelatin and immediately stir it into the custard mixture. Stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Cool, then place in refrigerator or chill in pan of ice water until gelatin mixture is slightly thicker than consistency of milk, color is opaque white. (If mixture is placed over ice and water, stir frequently. If placed in refrigerator, stir occasionally.)

Lightly oil the mold with salad or cooking oil (not olive oil); set aside to drain.

Put through medium blade of food chopper enough cooked ham to yield

2 cups ground cooked ham

When gelatin mixture is of desired consistency, mix thoroughly with the ham and a mixture of

2 tablespoons lemon juice

1 tablespoon minced parsley

2 teaspoons prepared horse-radish

1 teaspoon onion juice

Set aside.

Using the chilled bowl and beater, beat until cream is of medium consistency (piles softly)

1 cup chilled whipping cream

Fold whipped cream into the meat mixture. Turn into the prepared mold. Put in refrigerator to chill until firm.

To unmold gelatin, run tip of knife around top edge of mold to loosen. Invert onto a chilled serving plate. If necessary, wet a clean towel in hot water and wring it almost dry. Wrap hot towel around mold for a few seconds only. (If mold does not loosen, repeat.)

17 FAMILY WEEKLY MAGAZINE JUNE 5, 1955

Wake Up and Breathe!

You may eat the most nutritious foods, drink the most healthful liquids, yet be tense and unhappy. Practice these simple methods of muscle relaxation and body alignment, which permit proper breathing, until they are a part of you.

Head & Neck Relaxer (often)

5. Sit straight, eyes closed. Let head fall forward, jaw loose. Inhale through nose as you roll head to right in a circle to center back. Pause, head hanging, jaw and throat relaxed. Complete circle to starting position. Exhale. Force shoulder blades together so head is pulled erect.

How to Relax (every night)

1. When you go to bed at night, have plenty of fresh air. Lie on your back. Yawn and stretch hard, with muscles tensed, arms away up, legs away down. Then let go completely. Close eyes lightly, roll them far back. Relax jaw and tongue. Breathe quietly in your own rhythm.

How to Breathe Deeply

2. Shallow breathing and tense muscles go together. Close mouth, relax throat. Breathe through nose gently, from abdomen. Expand ribs at sides instead of lifting chest. Exhale slowly. Repeat. Don't try to force anything. Deep breathing will become involuntary with practice.

Leg Relaxer (every morning)

4. Lie on your back. Inhale as you stretch each leg down hard in turn, leading with heel. Exhale as you relax. Repeat. (Do this one standing up, too.) Now lie face down. Inhale as you lift each leg in turn (knees straight, starting lift from small of back). Exhale as you relax. Repeat.

Side & Back Relaxer (in morning)

3. When you wake up, lie on your back and inhale deeply as you stretch up your arms. Exhale as you drop them. After a few deep breaths, turn on your side. With your arm bent up toward your head, inhale as you stretch your side and back muscles. Exhale as you relax.

How to Stand (twice a day)

7. Stand against wall—all of you. Now, inhale slowly, stretching head toward ceiling. Hold. Exhale—stand away from wall, feet slightly apart. Inhale as you lift arms to shoulder level, palms down. Hold. Stretch with third and fourth fingers until you feel pull to armpits. Relax, exhale.

Shoulder Relaxer (often)

6. Stand erect. Put arms behind you, backs of hands touching, elbows straight. Inhale and swing arms forward and up, back and down; exhale on downswing. Repeat. Now, put arms at side, palms out. Inhale as you swing them back and up, exhale as they go forward and down.

How to Sit (always)

8. Sit properly on your upper thighs—not your spread buttocks. Keep feet on floor or cross ankles. Never sit with crossed legs. It impedes circulation and throws spine out of alignment. Sitting erect, on thighs, permits you to use small of back for expansion as you breathe.

How to Walk (always)

9. Walk relaxed. Take long, deep breaths. As ribs expand, shoulders go back, stomach goes in—all without effort. Walk with a swing from small of your back. Nothing else is required. Pull buttocks up and in while you stand. This will correct any flabbiness in that region.

I have a hobby which I think is very interesting. I collect animals and stamps. I paint, carve, swim, shoot, skate, and have been a dancer in some of the school plays.

Some of the animals I have had are a black and white goat named Tippy, hamsters, fish, turtles, a rabbit, two dogs, a parakeet called Perky, and right now I have a Shepherd Spitz dog called Rex. He won a ribbon in a dog show last summer for being the prettiest dog in the show.

The Lost Trail

Once, long ago, some Indians found a gold mine and made a trail to it from some place. It was a rich strike and white people wanted the gold mine for themselves. So they tried to take it from the Indians, but it was harder than they thought and a war started. Hiawatha, Lone Eagle, and Bellflower were the only ones who knew where the mine was by heart. But they also had a map.

Meanwhile the war was still going on. All the Indians were taken by surprise and killed, and Hiawatha, Lone Eagle, and Bellflower were with them. The map couldn't be found. Just a few pieces of it were found. The only hope was to find the trail.

Even today people are looking for the lost trail.

Dear Miss Barrows:

I like to look at the Family Weekly. On the outside cover of March 13, three boys were playing marbles. I have marbles but I don't know how to play them. I wish you would please print how to play marbles. I will be watching the children's page to learn how. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Thomas Loeffelholz

Aged 8 Dickeyville, Wis.

(We turned your letter over to Mr. Eckart, who answers it for us.—Editor)

Dear Tommy:

There are many different ways to play marbles. In the game shown on the March 13 cover of Family Weekly, a ring is drawn on the ground, and each player puts some of his marbles in the ring, whatever number that all the players decide upon. Then the players take turns shooting the marbles out of the ring. The "Shooter" must start from the outside edge of the ring, and he must knock a marble completely outside the ring, if he is to keep it. If he hits one out, he gets another turn, and keeps shooting until he misses. Then it is the next player's turn. When all the marbles are out, the one who has the most wins.

Sincerely,

Wally Eckart

3. LAKE into a fragment of frozen water.
4. PAIN into something you do for pleasure.
5. RANGE into a fruit you eat raw.

WHAT ANIMAL IS IT?

by Ruth Dixon

Doesn't this picture look like one of those old, fabulous creatures—half horse and half fish—that you used to see in old fairy books? The gods of the ocean used to drive them. This small fellow is one of the many pipefish. You guess which one. He can escape the big hungry fish in the warm seas where he lives, for he can borrow the color of seaweeds and twine his long tail around them. His bony armor also keeps the big fish from eating him. The mother fish puts her eggs on the floor of the sea; the father picks them up and tucks them away in a little pocket he makes on the underside of his tail. When the babies hatch and are old enough, they dangle from their own tails.

Rules for Contest

Guess the animal's name and color the picture neatly in its true colors. Send within one week to Ruth Dixon, Junior Treasure Chest, Family Weekly, 153 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago 1, Ill. Be sure to send your name, age, and address with your page. Prizes will be awarded to two boys and two girls for the best entries. Try your luck! It's fun!

Good Eating, Those Catfish!

Catching this finny ugly duckling is a popular sport involving a minimum of work and a maximum of good companionship.

THE NIGHT was cool and still and faintly lit by moonlight. Black bayou waters stirred sluggishly as the small skiff, with two men in it, glided to an overhanging bush near the bank.

A flashlight beam picked out a slender line tied securely to the bush.

"There it is," said the man with the light. "Just a little bit closer." With a slight bump the skiff hit land, and the man in front pulled the glistening line from the murky water. At about five-foot intervals, shorter lines hung from the main cord stretched across the bayou. The light picked out dozens of small fish impaled on hooks and dangling from the short lines. "Three baits missing," reported the man holding the flashlight.

With a hand-over-hand motion, he pulled the skiff along the main cord. When he reached a bare hook, he baited it with a small fish. Finally, he switched off the light. "Okay, let's move down to the next trotline." The men were fishing on Dickinson Bayou in Galveston County, Texas.

Catfishing is a popular sport with men and women throughout the nation, but especially in the South. The fish they seek is not a game fish, and he's anything but beautiful. In fact, he's sometimes downright repulsive!

What then is its attraction? First of all, catfish are numerous. More than a hundred species are found from the Great Lakes to Florida, from Maine to California. They are good eating and can be taken without a lot of fancy equipment. Best of all, catfishing must be done at night—with a minimum of work and a maximum of "shooting-the-breeze" around the campfire.

The two men on Dickinson Bayou pulled into shore near a feebly burning campfire. "Reckon we ought to stir up the fire and put on a pot of coffee," said W. W. Gallaway.

He and his friend, W. T. Loewe, had come out that afternoon to select the camp site and to seine for small bait fish.

The fire burned down to a bed of live coals, and the men sipped coffee from tin cups. Now was the time for talk. Easy talk. Philosophical talk.

Finally Gallaway squinted at the moon. "Time to look at those trotlines," he said.

The men pushed off in the skiff. Each trotline was inspected for a cat or lost bait. At the third line the flashlight showed a movement of the bush anchoring the trotline. The fishermen worked their way close to where the line sagged deepest and Loewe grabbed the short cord and pulled. When he could see the thrashing, frantic fish, he carefully worked his hand under the cat's belly up to the gills and pulled him out.

"Not a big one," he said. "About seven pounds." But he was grinning with pleasure.

They stowed the cat in the boat and inspected the rest of the line. That was all; just bait dangling from the hooks.

But the men were content. They had clean air, moonlit water, wood smoke, hot coffee, and good companionship. And now they had their catfish.

by William T. Brennan, author of "Yellow Kid Weil: America's Master Swindler"

WHEN HENRY YANES, Chicago merchant, was shot to death resisting a stickup man the night of June 12, 1950, detectives could find no witnesses; but in the struggle the killer lost his suit coat and his hat.

Detectives Ben Smith and Phil Lauth took them to headquarters where Capt. John Golden, homicide chief, examined them. The coat bore the label of a Loop store. But the hat, a brown fedora, was a common type sold in hundreds of Chicago stores. In the sweat band, Capt. Golden found paper stuffing—half of a comic section from a Sunday newspaper of the day before.

"If we can find the other half of this," he said, "we'll have the killer."

Smith grinned. "Just like in the movies!"

The detectives called at the clothing store whose label was in the coat. The clerk said the suit had been sold for cash. "There's no record of the purchaser unless he had it altered," he volunteered. A closer look showed the coat had been altered!

The clerk produced a big file of tags—thousands of them. "You might find something in there," he suggested.

The detectives searched for hours before they found a record of the alteration and the name of the man who had bought the suit: Douglas Crossley.

When they located Crossley, he readily admitted the suit was his. "But it didn't fit very well and I pawned it," he declared. The pawn ticket, he said, had been misplaced.

Smith and Lauth questioned the pawnbroker, who recalled the suit and said the pawn ticket had been used to reclaim it.

Crossley was questioned again, but he had an ironclad alibi for the time of the murder. Smith took a quick look around, but found no old newspapers.

Discouraged, the detectives returned to headquarters and checked the files. Douglas Crossley had no police record. They were about to give up when Lauth found a record in their files of another Crossley. His first name was Joseph and he lived only two blocks from Douglas, who was his brother.

"Search his room first," Capt. Golden instructed his men.

Crossley was out, but the landlord admitted the detectives to his room. They made a thorough search, but failed to find the trousers that matched the coat.

Then Smith spotted a pile of old newspapers and began rummaging through them.

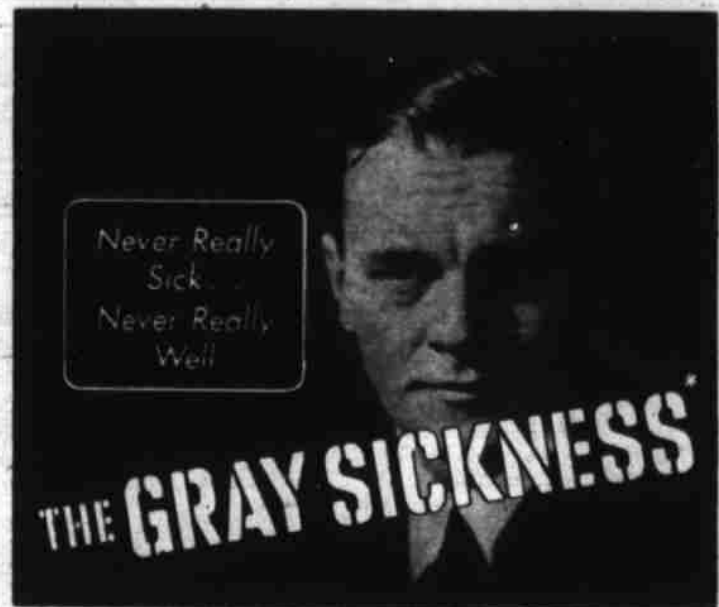

"Here it is!" he exclaimed, holding up part of a comic section.

He unfolded the portion found in the sweat band of the hat and spread it out on a table. With mounting excitement, the two detectives brought the pieces together. The jagged edges fell into place perfectly.

Confronted with this evidence, Joseph Crossley confessed. He said he had found the pawn ticket his brother had discarded and had used it to reclaim the suit without Douglas Crossley's knowledge. He had destroyed the trousers that matched the coat, but had forgotten the torn comic section.

"I always thought things like that happen only in the movies," he said ruefully.

Crossley was convicted of murder and sentenced to 199 years in prison.

big brothers to kids in trouble

Kiwani International has a nation-wide program for curbing delinquency and giving youngsters help when they need it most.

by Hal Levinson

Actively working to combat juvenile delinquency, Kiwanians and members of a high-school "Key Club" get together at a committee meeting to plan a project the teen-agers can do as a service to their school.

TED AND JERRY are both 15. They live in the same low-income neighborhood in Pueblo, Colo., and attend the same school. But there is one big difference between them: for the second time in a year, Jerry has been arrested driving a stolen car.

If you ask, "Why?" Judge Hubert Glover of Pueblo has an answer. "Few youngsters are bad," says the Judge. "Jerry isn't. When his father deserted the family, his mother started drinking heavily. Stealing is Jerry's way of getting even with the world. What he needs is a good home, someone to turn to for advice, to love and be loved."

"Where would he find a home like that?" you ask.

Judge Glover replies: "Our Kiwanis Club has a plan whereby, on my recommendation, they place delinquent or pre-delinquent youngsters in foster homes away from situations—divorce, drunkenness, crime—which drive teen-agers into trouble. Once they're removed from their bad environment, most of them develop into useful citizens."

You've heard about Kiwanis International, of course. There's probably a Kiwanis Club in your town.

What's their interest in juvenile delinquency? Well, one of the major activities of the business and professional men who make up the 3,855 Kiwanis clubs is in the field of youth service. An organization dedicated to community betterment would naturally be concerned over the increase in juvenile delinquency. So, in all parts of the country, these clubs actively deal with the problem.

In Tallahassee, Fla., for example, under a project called "The Marianna Plan," Kiwanis members take responsibility for teen-age parolees from the Florida Industrial School. When a boy is paroled, a Kiwanian meets the bus, gets him a room, helps him return to school and church, then tries to get the boy a job. In some cases, he brings him into his own home. This plan has turned a good many parolees into useful members of the community.

The Kiwanians of San Angelo, Texas, have a "Youths in Trouble" project. A four-man committee, including the principal of the high school, act as parole supervisors for boys released from the state reformatory. The committee not only re-enters teen-agers in high school; it also gets them jobs and helps rehabilitate them.

Kiwanians are aware that the fight against juvenile delinquency has two aspects: rehabilitation after and, more important, prevention before. So you'll find them sponsoring athletic teams, Boy Scout and Girl Scout Troops, and 4-H clubs.

In their own ranks, they underwrite their "Key Clubs," high-school organizations of young boys selected for membership with the principal's approval. The Key Clubs are organized along the same lines as the sponsoring Kiwanis Clubs and perform various school services. They are instrumental in developing teen-agers for future community leadership and serve as a strong force, on the teen-ager's level, against delinquency and vandalism.

The principal of one of Chicago's largest high schools says, "In a few years, our Key Club has attained a place of pre-eminence in school life. I'd hate to lose what they have been giving Sehn High."

There's been little or no publicity given the Kiwanis efforts to combat juvenile delinquency, because that's the way they want it. But their files are full of rewarding stories:

- * In Coshocton, Ohio, they provide counseling service and work with police, schools, and the Probate Court to help children who are "community problems."
- * In Sacramento, Calif., they run a boys' farm for wards of the court.
- * In Wenatchee, Wash., the Kiwanians guide and help youngsters in trouble, particularly those who have lost a parent.
- * Lynchburg, Va., Kiwanians make their summer camp available to children in trouble. They work with the schools and with the juvenile and domestic-relations court on this project.
- * The club in Greenville, Texas, reports that all delinquent youngsters helped by Kiwanis have made the grade. "We never had a bad one," states the club secretary.

"We Build," is the Kiwanis motto, and it's not an empty boast. The future of America depends on our youth. That's why Kiwanis, taking a long-range view, feels it must go all-out to curb delinquency.

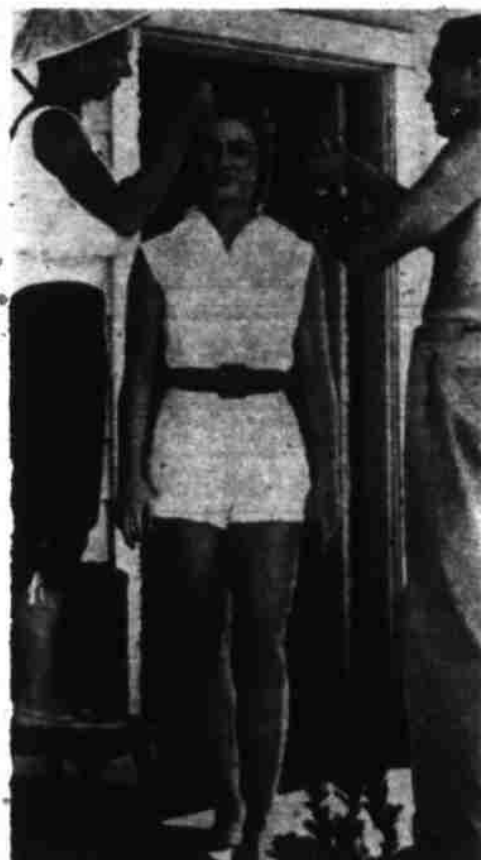

And if you asked one of them what he gets out of this service to his community, he might answer, as did this Kiwanian:

"I had more fun building a fence around that Kiwanis playground than I did on my annual hunting trip. And later, when the local judge spoke at our meeting and said delinquency had dropped 88 percent in the district where we put the new playground... well, it's wonderful to know you've kept some kids out of trouble."

OLD SURREY on a NEW ROAD

by Peer J. Oppenheimer

Make-up artists work on newcomer Shirley Jones, who plays Laurey, the female lead.

THAT OLD SWEETHEART of musical-comedy audiences, "the surrey with the fringe on top," is rolling along a new road: the extra-wide movie screen!

Riding with it is an eight-million-dollar bet that a new face—and a new film process—will give "Oklahoma!" the success on the screen it enjoyed on the stage.

The new face belongs to Shirley Jones, a hazel-eyed blonde from Smithton, Pa., who plays Laurey, the female lead. Shirley was in the chorus of "South Pacific" and "Me and Juliet," but "Oklahoma!" is her first motion picture.

At 12 Shirley began taking singing lessons and later appeared in practically all her high-school shows. After graduation she won a "Miss Pittsburgh" title and with it a scholarship at the Pittsburgh Dramatic Playhouse.

It was on a New York vacation trip a year later that Shirley auditioned for Rodgers and Hammerstein, who promptly signed her to a seven-year contract. The composers doubled their bet by deciding to film "Oklahoma!" not only with a newcomer, but in a new process called Todd-AO.

The movie is the first in the medium developed by a team of scientists headed by Dr. Brian O'Brien. He is director of the Institute of Optics at the University of Rochester and vice president of the American Optical Co.

Hollywood calls Todd-AO a motion-picture milestone because it gives audiences a real feeling of participation in screen action. Its effect is similar to that of Cinerama, but because it uses one camera and projector instead of three, distortion is eliminated and it's far less costly to install.

Sharing the "Oklahoma!" spotlight with Shirley Jones are Gordon MacRae, Gloria Grahame, Gene Nelson, and Charlotte Greenwood. Producer Arthur Hornblow Jr. and Academy Award director Fred Zinneman also helped the old surrey to roll on toward new horizons.

SNAP ON . . . SNAP OFF

QUICK AND EASY WITH SNAP-FLEX FEATURE

Install in a jiffy—remove in a jiffy! Ingenious design—one style fits ALL cars from Chevrolet to Cadillac—1936 to 1955. Special "SNAP-FLEX" feature adapts to any type seat, front or back. Result: You get a smooth, contour-shaped cover that will not ride up or lose shape. The tough, durably tailored upholstery material won't tear or crack like certain thin plastics. Won't stretch out of fit and—most important of all—they're SANFORIZED and will not shrink more than 1/2 of 1%, even after washing or dry-cleaning.
