Pappy Says His Amendment Good For War Effort

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (29 -Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex.), joining in support of the teen-age draft bill in its final form with his own important amendment eliminated, declared the very fact his propos-al had been incorporated in the measure even temporarily should have a beneficial effect on the war effort.

The O'Daniel amendment had provided that the 18-19 year old youths inducted into the army should have at least 12 months training before being assigned to foreign combat duty. The senate wrote the amendment into the bill when originally passed by that body. The house refused to accept the proviso, however, and in the end the senate yielded.

Commenting on the measure as finally agreed upon, O'Daniel on the senate floor said:

"I have the feeling that the wide spread discussion of this amend-ment has been beneficial to our national war effort, because those in charge of the training must now realize that they alone will carry the full responsibility of properly training our teen-age boys.

"If these boys should be sent into foreign combat duty with less than 12 months' training and meet serious reverses, certainly no blame can be placed on any of the 39 senators who voted my amendment into the bill.
