than ever. Additional buildings have been erected, among them a large agricultural building which will be ample for the agricultural exhibits. Last year it was necessary to use a small building, and the exhibits were too much crowded. All the buildings are also, being painted.

A large number of county exhibits have already been entered, among them Terry, Dawson, Lynn, Crosby, Garza and Bailey and Lamb. These counties realize that the South Plains Fair is becoming more and more valuable to the entire South Plains, and they are co-operating more heartily each year. There will be the largest number of community exhibits entered this year than ever in the history of the fair. Every department will be better filled this year than ever before. Additional facilities have been arranged for the stock department, and many entries are already coming in. In the hog department, the Duroc Jersey and Poland China Associations will hold Futurity Shows, which should interest all hog raisers. The poultry will be housed in the building used for the agricultural exhibits last year. tages. Great efforts have ben put forth to provide amusement for the visitors of the fair. Clark's Better Shows will provide the carnival. An airplane has been secured from the Curtis Airplane Company and this will be seen each day performing all the hair-raising stunts that can be thought of. In addition to the airplane, parachute drops will be made from the plane each day. A fine display of fire works have been secured which will make the night program attractive.

Another attractive feature will be the big football game Friday afternoon. A baseball tournament has been arranged, and the fair management is offering a silver loving cup to the best community baseball team, and a number of teams have already enterd. The entries are confined to communities of a population under one thousand.

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce is offering a fine diamond ring each day, to the Fair visitors. Numbered coupons are attached to the admission tickets, and the numbers will be drawn each night.

This fair has become the fair for all the South Plains country. Each year people from over the entire

Plains, come to the Fair to look over the exhibits and then they visit the
