In Final Minutes Of Grid Contest

Coach Gordon Stevens' Tahoka Bulldogs edged the Hale Center Owls in the final minutes of play last Friday night to defeat the Owls on their Homecoming by a score of 12-10.

The Owls took the opening kick off from Bulldog kicker Jimmy McCord from their own 40 yard line to the Bulldog's 12 yard line before bogging down and being forced to try a field goal which paid off with few minutes lapsing in the game and giving Hale Center a lead of 3-0.

The Bulldogs, not to be out done, took the old pigskin from their own 30 yard line on the very next series of downs to their 49 and was forced to punt. The punt was fumbled on the Owls 21 yard line and recovered by Tahoka. On the next play the Bulldogs took the ball to the Owls 5 yard line. Montemayor then barreled his way to the three after getting the call from quarterback Martin Warren. Warren then scored from the three yard line going over the right side. Tahoka's point after touchdown was no good leaving the score at 6-3 at the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter of action at the Hale Center Owls, Jeffries Memorial Stadium, Larry Durham, Tahoka fullback, with a lot of fancy stepping over the right side ran a 72 yard touchdown, but had it called back on a clipping penalty. Durham also broke loose later in the game on one of his many fine runs of the night but was pulled down from behind. Hale Center scored their final points in the second quarter of play when the Bulldogs gave up the ball on downs on their own 48 yard line. The Owls took the ball over in just eight plays from scrimmage when the Owls, No. 33, Clifford Thomas, darted over from the eleven yard line. The Owls made the point after touchdown leaving the halftime score at 10-6 in favor of the Hale Center Eleven.

Being closely matched neither team scored in the third period and they fought to a standstill until late in the final period when the Bulldogs, getting the ball on downs, marched from their own 22, 78 yards, to paydirt. Robert Montemayor scored from the 14 yard line over right end. The Bulldogs attempted a pass for the PAT but it was no good leaving the final score for the night at 12-10 with the Tahoka team winning.

Outstanding defensive players this past week against the Owls were Robert Montemayor, DeWayne Schuknecht and Johnny Martin. Offensive standouts for the Bulldogs were Reggie Stark, Larry Durham and Gene Walker.

Stevens Bulldogs will play the Plains Cowboys this Friday night at 8:00 p.m. in Cowboy stadium. According to Coach Stevens the Cowboys are plenty tough even though they were defeated last week 61-20 by Farwell. The Bulldogs will have to stop the running of the Plains Cowboys tremendous fullback, John Lowe if they defeat the Plains squad.

The coaching staff at Tahoka High School this year is Buddy Stevens, Royce Shipp, Dean Andrews, Cecil Robinson and Jimmy Boyd.

From coast to coast, cheesecakes are enjoying a popularity boom, and people have become especially fond of the rich creamy kind like this Deluxe Mocha Cheesecake. Jell-O Milk Chocolate Pudding and Pie Filling, instant coffee, and spice are responsible for the lovely subtle flavor, well worth a departure from a diet.

Deluxe Mocha Cheesecake

- 1/2 cup finely crushed graham cracker crumbs
- 1 tablespoon granulated sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- 1 package (3 1/2 oz.) milk chocolate pudding and pie filling
- 3/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1 tablespoon instant quality coffee
- 1 cup milk
- 3 packages (8 oz. each) cream cheese, softened
- 3 egg yolks
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 3 egg whites
- 1 cup (8 oz.) sour cream
- 1/4 cup confectioners' sugar

Mix crumbs, 1 tablespoon granulated sugar, and butter. Sprinkle on sides and press in bottom of greased 9-inch spring-form pan. Combine pudding mix, 3/4 cup granulated sugar, the instant coffee, and milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to full boil. Remove from heat; cover.

In large bowl, beat cream cheese with electric mixer or rotary beater until fluffy. Add egg yolks; beat well. Blend in vanilla, salt, cinnamon, and pudding. Beat egg whites until they form soft rounded peaks; fold into pudding mixture. Pour over crumbs in pan. Bake on lowest oven rack at 325° for about 35 minutes or until center is set when lightly touched. Blend sour cream and confectioners' sugar; spread over hot cheesecake and bake 2 minutes longer at 325°. (Topping should not brown.) Cool thoroughly. Garnish as desired. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Guns and Children

High-spirited Jimmy, a suburban teenager, got a shotgun as a gift from his doting father. When he mischievously pointed the gun at a neighbor one day, his father scolded him—but allowed him to keep the gun.

A few days later, Jimmy tried the same stunt. This time the gun went off, seriously wounding the neighbor.

Could the father be held legally liable for the neighbor's injury? A court ruled that he could indeed. As one judge put it:

"Firearms are so magnetic to the young that a person of ordinary prudence will take preventive measures commensurate with the great harm that may ensue from the use of a gun by someone unfit to be entrusted with it."

Millions of American homes have guns, and the number of injuries is growing alarmingly. Generally speaking, parents are not liable for an accident caused by their offspring merely because they keep a gun in the house.

But they usually are liable if there is enough reason for them to foresee trouble. The law looks closely at the circumstances—as it did in Jimmy's case—to decide if the parents can fairly be held to blame.

This, parents may incur liability by allowing a gun to be too easily accessible. For example:

A man kept his revolver—loaded—in an unlocked desk drawer. One day, his 12-year-old son took it out and began to play with it. Suddenly, the boy's consternation, the gun discharged, sending a bullet into a visitor's leg. Again, the father was held liable for failing to foresee just this kind of mishap.

Another circumstance that might lead to parental liability is their disregard of the local gun laws. For instance, one community had an ordinance against giving BB guns to children. A couple who let their six-year-old son have one, despite the ordinance, were later held liable for an injury to the boy's playmate.

The court said that by violating the ordinance, the parents not only became subject to a fine but also branded themselves as negligent—hence responsible for the accident that followed.

Today's Answer

THE PHILOSOPHER City Problems

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm seems to start out on one problem and wind up on another this week, but that's his problem)

Dear editor: According to an article in a newspaper I found yesterday in a weed patch while I was hunting for a hoe I know I put there either the past spring or the one before, an expert in business management has come out with a plan to eliminate the traffic congestion in big cities, a problem which is about to choke the cities to death.

His idea is to establish a three-day work week. One shift works three 10-hour days in a plant, the other then takes over and works three more 10-hour days, thus giving everybody a four-day weekend.

The way traffic would be cut down, he explained, is that nobody would live in the city. Everybody would have a home in the country, as much as 350 miles away, and drive in for his three days of work, spending two nights in a rented room, which means he's going to have to get up mighty early the first morning to get there on time if he's 350 miles away.

This expert doesn't say, with everybody living off to himself a few hundred miles from his job, where he's going to put the schools. This may be a major hitch because, not thinking far enough ahead, most rural areas have now torn down their one-teacher school buildings. I argued against it at the time.

I admire this man for trying, but the problem of the cities is too big for him. In fact, it's too big for everybody, and is getting further out of hand all the time.

I was checking under my house out here on this Johnson grass farm the other day and discovered that the water pipes have, after 25 years, begun to rust out and will have to be replaced.

Have you ever stopped to think what a city the size of New York is going to do when it finds out its water pipes have rusted out and the entire plumbing system will have to be replaced?

There are some problems in this life too awful to contemplate.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

N.A.C.D. Tells Secretary Hardin "Ox In Ditch"

"Stop . . . and . . . go" policies and budget cut backs are eroding public confidence in the conservation stance of the federal government. This was the theme of testimony presented to Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin at his "listening conference" last week at College Station, Texas, by Richard Longmire of Pauls Valley, Oklahoma, chairman of NACD's Legislative Coordination Subcommittee.

Said Longmire: "The ox is in the Ditch." Our usable supply of water is diminishing. The soil is eroding. Our streams are polluted. Our lakes are filling with sediment. Why are we reducing funds for watershed planning, stopping watershed construction, reducing ACP cost-sharing, stopping Great Plains contracts, and reducing technical assistance to landowners?

"Those of us in conservation believe that a quality environment for each individual in this country cannot become a reality until we have quality and continuity in conservation programs. Landowners, large and small alike, have been puzzled by the stop and go directions coming out of the nation's capital over the past 20 years dealing with conservation."

"Since 1965, funds for watershed construction have been steadily declining. The suspension of contracting is working the severest hardship on watershed sponsors. Millions of dollars of state and local money have been spent with the expectation that watershed projects already planned would be built. Hundreds of landowners have provided easements which because of the lack of funds and the suspension of contracting, are now expiring.

"It is becoming increasingly more difficult, and in some cases impossible, to convince state legislatures that continued support for watershed activities is a wise investment. If state support for watershed work is to continue, there must be corresponding support by the federal government.

"Today here is an opportunity for the Department of Agriculture to create a better environment for all the people. Today might be the last chance for USDA to plan and develop our natural resources for the future requirements of our nation. Today is the time to get the ox out of the ditch!"

Among other statements on resources presented at the hearing were those by E. W. Wehman, Chairman of the Texas Soil and Water Conservation Board; M. W. Scanlan, Jr., President of the Louisiana Association of SWCD Supervisors; and William Cater and Bert Pflingsten of the New Mexico State Association and State Committee.

Past Days In Lynn County

Copied from November 17, 1939

Sheriff B.L. Parker was in Colorado City Monday on official business. On that day, the two men who are charged with burglarizing the Gaignat store here on October 19, entered pleas of guilty to indictments charging the unlawful transportation of stolen property into Mitchell County. There were two cases against each defendant; one involving the guns and radio stolen from the Gaignat store, and the other involving truck tires valued at $200.00 stolen in Dickens County. They were given two years in the penitentiary in each case.

Mr. Parker will go back to Colorado Saturday to bring the men to Tahoka for trial here later for the Gaignat burglary.

The visitors anticipated that it would be a great occasion.

G.C. Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.G. Price of this city, who now holds a position as mortician with a concern in El Paso, was here from Sunday till Tuesday visiting his parents. James Price, who is a student in the Texas Tech, was also here for the same period of time.

Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Kidwell and Mr. Kidwell's sister, Miss Dorothy, are planning to leave Saturday night to visit relatives first in Elk City, Oklahoma, will go from there to Rochester, Texas, to spend Thanksgiving Day with Mr. Kidwell's parents. They expect to return home that night.

Old Mother Nature was evidently in a mood last weekend and sprang a surprise on the people of this section of the state that got her in the big headlines on the front pages of all the daily newspapers. Almost without warning she staged a snowstorm that was almost unprecedented in this section of the country.

Although a high wind was blowing from the north when snow began to fall Friday afternoon, it was not unusually cold and nobody dreamed that one of the worst blizzards in the history of this area was on. But before night, cars were stalled in snowdrifts on all the highways and many of the lateral roads throughout the country and the occupants hunting shelter from the storm in farm houses, vacant houses, public buildings, or any kind of structure that might afford protection.

The snow fell with such density and the wind blew with such fury that great drifts of snow accumulated in an almost unbelievable short time. This accounted for the many cars being entrapped in the snow. Long before nightfall every highway out of Tahoka and all the country roads had been blocked. Practically all the streets of Tahoka and every other town in this section were blocked. In places the drifts were several feet deep.

Wilson School Board Meets

The Wilson School Board met in regular session on Tuesday, September 24, 1969 in the Home-making Cottage. Items of business included authorization to purchase a new 48 passenger school bus, approval to purchase some new physical education equipment for the Junior and Senior High School at a total cost of $332.85, and the approval of Robert Abbe, C.P.A. as the school auditor.

The board was given a report on the number of miles that buses were driven for extra curricular activities during the 1968-69 school year. Buses used to transport athletes and band members to athletic and band contests and other groups on field trips make up most of the total mileage. A total of 6,266 miles was driven on extra curricular trips.

Bill Griffin, County Agent, Says....

Questions arise each year among producers concerning the practice of topping cotton. Is it a paying proposition? Can I gain in lint yield and quality by removing terminal growth? Obviously, there is no pat answer to these questions. Research in several cotton-belt states has generally shown no advantage from topping. In cases where yields were increased, the gain was small. Important factors such as the season, variety and frost date no doubt affect results of this practice. Topping too early causes lateral branches to grow and actually defeats the purpose of topping.

Topping removes excessive terminal growth to allow better sunlight penetration as well as air circulation around lower maturing bolls. Light seems to promote boll development and maturation. Therefore, plants with mature bottom bolls but with immature fruit in rank top growth with no opportunity to mature would benefit most from topping. Yet, even under these conditions, beneficial results are not always assured.

One problem, is that topping will remove some mature bolls that should be kept while leaving some immature bolls that should be removed. In other words, mature and immature bolls are usually not distinctly separated on the cotton plant. On the other hand, little or no advantage can be expected on cotton with quarter size and larger bolls near the top. In fact, reduction in yield can be expected when topping this type cotton.

Another reported advantage of topping is reducing foliage to aid in stripper harvesting. This may be especially beneficial in rank cotton receiving excess water in certain areas of the field. However, most cotton this year is generally not to large due to the hot, dry summer. Therefore, the need for topping is less than in previous years.

Of course, the primary factor to consider is the cost of this practice. Topping costs will range from $2-$4 per acre. This means a yield advantage of at least 25 to 30 pounds of lint is needed for a break-even proposition. So the producer should take a careful look at this practice before considering it. If you can only expect to break even, the time and money can be more profitably spent on other enterprises.

PROCLAMATION

TO ALL TO WHOM PRESENTS SHALL COME:

I, V.F. Jones County Judge of Lynn County, do hereby declare the week of October 5-11, 1969 as FIRE PREVENTION WEEK in Lynn County, for the following reasons:

WHEREAS, the week containing October 9, has been proclaimed FIRE PREVENTION WEEK for the past 58 years; and

WHEREAS the Texas Farm Bureau has been active in rural fire prevention by sponsoring some 1000 volunteer firemen to attend the Firemen's Training School for the past seven years, and by presenting 752 fire prevention demonstrations for 207,000 people in 202 counties, and by paying $75.00 to fire departments who make calls to qualified Farm Bureau member's farms; and

WHEREAS we feel that rural America should be specifically included in FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, October 5-11, 1969, we urge all rural citizens of this county to be especially careful in using liquefied petroleum gas, gasoline and other petroleum products, electrical appliances, as well as oil or gas fired space heating systems; and

WHEREAS consideration should be given to protecting all farm buildings from lightning damage, that all trash is burned in an approved manner, that all heating systems are in proper working order, and that good housekeeping is practiced not only during FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, (which commemorates October 9, date of the great Chicago fire when Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over a lantern) but 365 days of the year; and

WHEREAS the Lynn County Farm Bureau, in conjunction with all fire departments in the county have worked together to emphasize fire prevention and protection in the rural areas as well as in our cities and towns;

THEREFORE, I urge all citizens of Lynn County to join hands in recognizing this special period by working together fifty two weeks a year to more fully realize the benefits of FIRE PREVENTION WEEK. Signed V.F. Jones, Lynn County Judge.

Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5-11

Fire Chief Alton Kelly and Howard Moore, president of the Lynn County Farm Bureau, urge Lynn County citizens to pay special heed to the observance of National Fire Prevention Week, October 5-11.

"We ask that everyone develop good fire safety habits including care with matches and smoking, good housekeeping to rid the home of rubbish and proper use of electrical fuses, appliances and extension cord," the chief said. He added, "Fire killed more than 12,100 persons and cost more than $2.2 billion in the U.S. last year.

Moore said the fall and winter months are the most vulnerable times of the year for rural fires. "When fire occurs on farm or rural property, damage is three to six times greater than in the average city fires," the Farm Bureau president added.

Farm Bureau has two programs designed to help curtail fire losses. The county Farm Bureau, in cooperation with the Texas Farm Bureau, sponsors the attendance of local volunteer firemen to the annual Firemen's Training School each summer in College Station. More than 700 firemen have attended under Farm Bureau sponsorship during the past seven years. Attending from Lynn County this summer was J. J. Raindl.

The state and local farm bureaus also pay $75 to fire departments for fighting rural fires on Farm Bureaus insured property.

In addition to these programs, county Farm Bureaus sponsor a graphic 45-minute fire prevention demonstration. More than 120 were given before schools, civic clubs and other groups by the TFB Safety Department during the past school year. Also, almost 20,000 fire extinguishers have been sold to Farm Bureau members as a continuing program of fire protection.

O'Donnell Lorenzo Fight To 14-14 Tie

The O'Donnell Eagles and the Lorenzo Hornets fought to a 14-14 deadlock last Friday night. The Eagles, led by sophomore tailback Rex Childress and senior fullback Bobby Knight, were outstanding against a much larger and faster Hornet team. The Eagles took the opening kickoff on their own 19 yard line and controlled the ball for 7 minutes and 38 seconds before a dropped pass in the Hornet end zone gave the ball to Lorenzo. At the end of the first quarter the score was 0-0.

With two minutes left in the first half Lorenzo's halfback Billy Ray Lawson took a pitch out and breezed 22 yards for the score. J. G. Hopkins plunged over for the extra points giving Lorenzo an 8-0 lead. Rex Childress then took the ensuing kickoff and returned it 97 yards for a touchdown. Jerry Webb blasted off right tackle for the two points and at half time the score was 8-8.

The Hornets took the second half kickoff but being unable to move the ball had to punt deep in their end of the field. The Eagles took the ball on their own 40 yard line and seven plays later Bobby Knight blasted over for the touchdown. The PAT was no good and the Eagles led 14-8. With time running out in the third quarter the Hornets Billy Ray Lawson again scored on 10 yards out. The kick for points was blocked by Bobby Knight and the score read 14-14. The Eagles are fast gaining a reputation for one of the hard hitting teams in the area and again proved statically they should have won the ballgame. The Eagles will play the New Home Leopards at O'Donnell Friday Oct. 3 beginning at 8 p.m.

Linda Huffaker, CHD Agent, Says.....

Electronic ranges cook foods differently from conventional ranges. But How? Electronic energy in the range is produced by a magnetron, an electron tube with a magnet. The magnetron develops micro-wave energy that cooks food rapidly. When baking with a conventional range the oven heats the air surrounding the food in the oven. Heated air circulates about the food and transmits its heat to the surface of the food and then into the food's interior.

In the electronic cooking process, microwaves produced by the magnetron are diffused in all directions through the oven. This radiant energy, called microwave energy, penetrates the food and causes the molecules to vibrate against each other, creating heat and cooking the food.

The surface of the cooked products and the interior temperatures of foods when removed from the electronic oven are different from those of products cooked in or on conventional units.

The oven air in the electronic appliance is nearly the same temperature as the room air; microwaves do not brown food such as steaks.

These ovens range in price from $400.00 and up. However if "time means money" they are worth the cost. Different bands of electronic ranges cook at different rates of speed but on the average a potato can be prepared in 4 minutes and a one layer cake can be ready in 3 minutes.

Metal pans cannot be used in the oven because of the microwaves, so cook on paper plates, in plastic containers or even on China.

Apply Insecticide With Harvest Aid Chemicals To Kill Weevils

Farmers in Lynn County can be a big help in boosting the High Plains Diapause Boll Weevil Control Program by taking certain steps in conjunction with their upcoming harvesting operations.

If a defoliant or desiccant will be used to speed up harvest, farmers should consider using an insecticide with this material, urges County Agricultural Agent Bill Griffin. This will greatly reduce the number of overwintering boll weevils in the county.

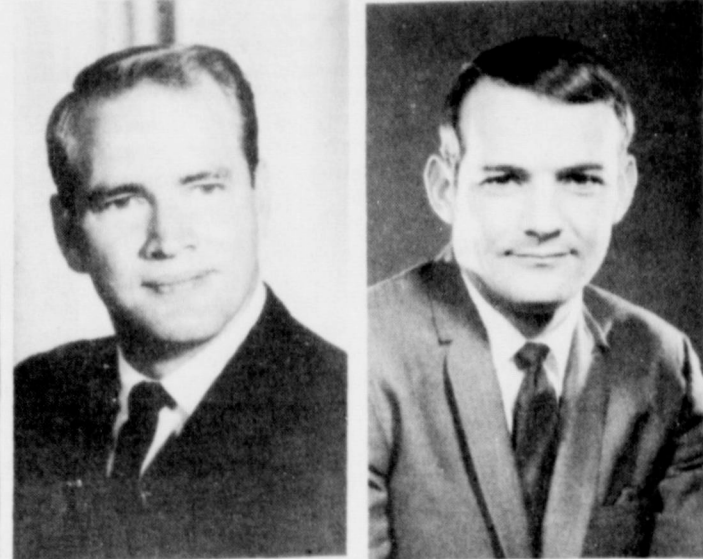

Boll weevils move into other fields or to hibernation sites as their food supply is destroyed, points out Griffin. However, if the weevils are destroyed at the same time the cotton is desiccated or defoliated, the number of weevils which might otherwise overwinter will be greatly reduced.

Cost of adding an insecticide to the desiccant or defoliant may be more than offset by reduced spraying costs the following year, explains Griffin.

For effective control of boll weevils, add one-half pound of methyl parathion or one-fourth pound of Guthion to arsenic acid or phosphate-type defoliants or desiccants. Griffin cautions that these materials should not be used with chlorate defoliants or desiccants.

Stalk destruction immediately after harvest is another important step in reducing overwintering weevil populations, adds Griffin. This practice completely removes any possible food sources for the weevils.
