Dump Ground Becoming Very Serious Problem

The Dump Grounds of the City of Tahoka, used by a majority of Lynn County Residents, is becoming a serious problem. Most people using the dump grounds dump their garbage at random instead of using the designated areas.

In a caravan consisting of six cars and a pick-up Saturday, Garland entered a grocery store in Seminole, half of E. L. Short, and presented a lady with one of Mr. Short's cards and asked for her name. The lady replied "All right, Mr. Short, I will vote for you if you will find the Pimental me".

last week the Lynn County News published a story concerning the construction of a Historical Marker on behalf of Quanah Parker. The News received a long phone call from a resident Seagraves who claims Quanah Parker was born in Lynn County and not in Lynn County. Actually, we quoted Mr. Short, who is probably right age to know, but he refused his information from the Highway Department.

DALLAS COTTON LIBRARY -- Looking over part of the fabric display at the new Dallas Cotton Library are L.C. Unfred, Tahoka; Roy Forkner, Lubbock; J.D. Smith, Littlefield; Howard Alford, Lubbock; and Joe B. Pate, Jr., Lubbock. They were in Dallas recently for the Board of Trustees meeting of the Cotton Producers Institute which sponsors Cotton Fabric Libraries in Dallas, New York, and Los Angeles as part of its $10 million program of research and promotion for cotton.

Local Man Is On Cotton Board

Dallas, Texas, July 30 - (Special) - opening of a library where manufacturers and designers can view the latest in cotton fabrics was one of the high lights of the fall meeting of the Board of Trustees of Cotton Producers Institute here today.

The ceremonies at the Dallas Apparel Mart followed a busy day in which the trustees considered recommendations for a wide range of cotton research and promotion activities for 1970.

Representing the High Plains on the 51-member CPI Board are Joe B. Pate, Jr., Howard Alford, and Roy Forkner, all of Lubbock; J.D. Smith, Littlefield; and L.C. Unfred, Tahoka.

The fabric library is the second to open, following enthusiastic acceptance of the initial unit in New York. With the opening of a third library later this month in Los Angeles, designers and manufacturers in the three major

U.S. apparel manufacturing centers will have ready access to the latest in cotton fabrics for the coming year.

According to the Texas trustees, "The new library will serve as liaison between mills and the clothing trade and will afford apparel designers and manufacturers the opportunity to see a cross section of all types of cotton that are on the market without sales pressure."

When a designer or manufacturer expresses interest in a fabric, he is given a card indicating the name of the mill, the sales representative, and the mill fabric number of his selection. A similar card is then mailed to the mill to inform them of the visit to the library and the interest expressed in their product.

In addition to special displays of seasonal fabrics, the facility will offer a permanent index and file on all categories of domestically manufactured cottons along with sample swatches to illustrate fabric construction, staple weaves, and treatise materials. Some 5,000 fabric samples from the spring lines of over 100 textile manufacturers and mills are included in the library.

The new Dallas facility is only one of the many projects supported by the $10-million program of research and promotion. Trustees indicated significant progress already is being realized through research in controlling insects, diseases, weeds, and other problem areas that cut growers' profits or reduce markets for cotton. Giant strides are being made, they stated, on developing improved consumer products. In the area of promotion, they estimated funds are being virtually doubled through cooperative agreements with manufacturers and retailers.

Trustees indicated a deep sense of responsibility in operating a program of this size and stated every effort is being made to insure the most effective job possible. During executive sessions of the meeting, trustees heard an interim report from one of the nation's leading management consulting firms which is conducting an in-depth study of cotton research and promotion programs and CPI's whole market development strategy. The management study will be completed in the fall at which time recommendations on the course of future programs will be submitted to the Board.

New Travel Games For Children Make Getting There Half The Fun

Big Little Games are also convenient for grandparents to have on hand for young visitors to enjoy.

"Are we almost there?" and "What can I do now?" are two questions children's voices will echo all across the country throughout the summer vacation season. For the energetic cookie-set the novelty of no school usually wears off after about three short weeks and mothers are faced with keeping their children busy and amused during their waking hours.

One answer to the problem is taking a family vacation. Although certainly a change of scenery and exciting new experiences help to break the monotony of the summer months, long trips... whether by plane, car, or ship... still offer parents the challenge of making "getting there half the fun".

This year a series of six Big Little Games has been introduced by Whitman, a division of Western Publishing Co., to provide constructive, quiet and fun activity for children while they're going and when they get there. Packaged in little, sturdy, unbreakable, plastic suitcase-like containers, "Peck-em", "Match A Batch", "Guess, What!", "Wacky Wealth", "The Banana Tree Game", and "Risky Roll" have all been designed to be played in a small area with no additional equipment needed.

The brightly colored suitcases measure only 7" x 5" making Big Little Games easy to pack and store and light enough for even the youngest child to carry.

Copied from the November 8, 1940 issue of the Lynn County News:

Ten to one is a big majority, but President Roosevelt carried Lynn County last Tuesday by a vote of a little more than ten to one. He received 2,618 votes while Wilkie received only 255.

West Point is entitled to the honor of being crowned as the banner Democratic box in the county, since it cast 40 votes for the head of the Democratic ticket and not one for the Republican candidate, Wendell Wilkie received just one vote; Roosevelt rolled up 105. There must be one brave but lonesome man living out at Newmoore.

Gordon made almost as good a Democratic showing. It polled 83 votes for Roosevelt and two for Wilkie.

Wilson proved to be the banner Republican stronghold in the county. It registered 43 votes for Wilkie against 209 for Roosevelt.

New Home stands second in the Republican list, polling 49 votes for Wilkie to 219 for Roosevelt.

At O'Donnell Wilkie received 38 votes but Roosevelt rolled up a total of 476, beating the big electric power mogul by a majority of 12 1/2 to 1.

Copied from the March 7, 1941 issue of the Lynn County News:

The sheriff's departments of Terry, Lynn, and Lubbock counties and Frank Mills of this county, special officer for the Caprock Cattleman's Association, have just unearthed evidence of the operations of a cattle theft ring, operating chiefly in Terry county for the past year, and have secured written confessions from four men involved.

The confessions relate almost solely to the theft of calves from the Davison Ranch, formerly known as the Green Lumsden Ranch, lying chiefly in Terry but partly in Lynn county. Complaints have been filed against the four men, some of whom have made bonds.

Perry Sullivan, manager of the Davison Ranch, is alleged to have entered into agreements with the other men involved whereby they should take the calves in trucks, trailers or pick-ups at various times from the ranch to Lubbock and two instances to Big Spring where they were sold.

More than fifty calves are shown to have been disposed in that manner.

Football Meeting Scheduled

Coach Gordon Stevens announced this week that football equipment would be issued to varsity football players August 13 with workouts beginning approximately August 15.

The parents are also invited to this meeting at the South Elementary Cafeteria at 5:00 p.m. Ice cream will be served. All parents and players are urged to attend to get acquainted and visit with the new coach.

MICRO-MESSAGES FOR THE MOON from 74 heads of state plus four U.S. documents are contained on this 1 1/2 inch diameter silicon wafer in a Time Capsule left on the moon by the Apollo 11 astronauts.

The messages were reduced to 1/200th of their original size by a new information technology process developed by the Sprague Electric Company Semiconductor Division, Worcester, Mass.

By etching the micro-messages in an ultra-thin, 4-millionths of an inch, quartz (silicon dioxide) coating on the silicon wafer, a record able to withstand the extreme conditions of space will remain permanently on the moon to signify the historic event.

The Sprague process allows the pin-head sized messages to withstand temperatures over 1800 F indefinitely, something far beyond the abilities of microfilm and other previous micro-reproduction techniques.

Easy Egg Nog Custards

Why weary the family with the same plain old custard when you can give it a flan-like flair? While the feeling may be French, the convenience is strictly American. The prime reason? A canned egg nog that's available year 'round. It requires no refrigeration, so is ever ready on the pantry shelf as a chill-and-serve beverage, for pastries, sauces and custards. In this Borden Kitchen recipe, the custard's crested with caramel syrup. For an adult gathering, add the heady flavor of rum.

Caramel-Crested Egg Nog Custards (Makes five 5-ounce custards)

- |                                  |                             |
|----------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1/2 cup sugar                    | 2 eggs                      |
| 2-1/2 cups Borden Canned Egg Nog | 1/4 teaspoon salt           |
|                                  | 2 tablespoons rum, optional |

In a small skillet heat sugar over low heat until it melts and turns a light, golden brown syrup; stir constantly. Pour about 1 tablespoon hot syrup into each 5-ounce custard cup; let cool. In a medium-size saucepan scald egg nog. Beat eggs with salt; blend well. Pour mixture over syrup in custard cups. Set cups in a 1-inch warm-water bath. Bake in a slow (325° F.) oven 1 hour and 30 minutes, or until knife inserted 1/2 inch from edge of custard cup comes out clean. Remove cups from oven, then from water bath. Cool at room temperature. Refrigerate until well chilled, about 2 hours, or until serving time. Then, carefully insert a knife around side of cup to loosen custard; invert cups and quickly turn out custards and caramel syrup.

Defending Your "Castle"

More than three centuries ago, England's Lord Coke proclaimed that "a man's house is his castle." It still is. Generally speaking, you have a right to repel an unlawful intruder, using as much force as is necessary—including even deadly force. For example:

A home owner, hearing someone pry open his kitchen door in the middle of the night, grabbed a gun and went to investigate. Entering the dark kitchen, he demanded that the intruder identify himself. When the man instead began to move forward menacingly, the home owner fired a fatal shot.

Although brought to trial later on a homicide charge, he was found not guilty. The court said that, considering the threatening circumstances, he was within his legal rights in defending the sanctity of his "castle."

The doctrine is not meant to protect your home merely as a pile of bricks and mortar, but rather as a personal haven of safety for you and your family. Therefore, it applies just as much to premises you rent as to premises you own.

Furthermore, you may act not only against an intruder but also against a visitor who refuses to leave when you tell him to.

On the other hand, you must not in any event use more force than is reasonably necessary under the circumstances. Take this case:

A man talking politics with a visiting neighbor became incensed and asked him to leave. The neighbor arose to go. But he did not move fast enough for his erstwhile host, who speeded him along with a vicious kick. Result: the home owner was held liable for assault and battery. The court said the kick was simply not justified by the circumstances.

Nor may you arbitrarily widen your legitimate circle of defense. In another case a girl's protective father saw, approaching the house, a youth whom he had ordered to stay away. The father opened his front door, stepped outside, and shot the caller in the arm.

Here too the home owner was ordered to pay damages.

"A man's house is his castle," said the court, "but he has no right to go (outside) and attempt to kill a man who has done no act indicating the intention of making forcible entry."

WASHINGTON AND Small Business

BY C. WILSON HARDER

There is the old phrase about seeing the wind and reaping whirlwind.

The truth of this adage is perhaps well illustrated by the so-called race problem now existing in this nation.

And those who have created the whirlwind are the irresponsible politicians who in hunger for votes have promised minorities the moon and aroused expectations far beyond possibility of fulfillment.

There are certain basic rights guaranteed by the constitution to all Americans, regardless of race, color or creed. These rights have now been reaffirmed, but still there is rioting.

And perhaps the most interesting part of the entire mess is that no sooner had so-called civil rights legislation been passed than the noisier adherents of these measures then demanded that they also control U. S. foreign policy as witnessed by the strong anti-Vietnam complexion of the movement today.

There is probably some justification for demanding an end to Vietnam. And assuredly the American foreign policy is quite an enigma.

But on the other hand, the credentials of those who pour into Washington as part of a March of the Poor to make decisions on foreign policy seem open to question.

For after all, it can perhaps be assumed if they have the intellect and ability to decide on such complex problems of American relationship to the world, that same intellect and ability should have somehow lifted them out of their life of poverty in their own home town.

There are ways of helping the poor. The nation's independent businessmen, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business support several bills languishing in the Congress which would be quite remedial.

But they are opposed by many politicians who do not like to see such legislation as the tax incentive plan for rural development by Congressman Joe Evin, Tennessee, or the plowback allowance by Congressman James Corman, California, passed.

The big objection to action in these areas is that they would provide employment opportunities for those who do not want to be poor, and thus eliminate the need for spending billions of dollars to help the unemployed poor who also happen to be voters, and more importantly the poor who actually do not want to work.

And in addition, it should perhaps not be overlooked that there are many wealthy big city property owners who would like to see all taxpayers shaken down under the guise of helping the poor.

They would be quite enchanted to get big movement subsidies to aid them in improving their properties. They too, weep for the poor, and will continue to do so until such times as they, too, can get a chunk of the taxpayer's money.

THE PHILOSOPHER

Moon Olympics 1972

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reacts to the moon trip this week, in his own peculiar way.)

Dear editor:

"Now that we've got the moon, what are we going to do with it?" a neighbor asked me yesterday.

I know this is a question a lot of people are asking but that's because they haven't put their minds to it.

Didn't they see those astronauts striding around up there? Take a step and go six feet instead of three before your foot comes down. Bound out of sight of the camera before you knew it.

Right off, anybody ought to be able to see that's the place to hold the 1972 Olympics.

It'd be sensational. Pole vault 50 feet, high-jump 20, while down here on earth athletes are straining themselves trying to see which one can be first to pole vault a measly 18 feet and high-jump 8. What's the record on earth for the shot put? Less than 72 feet. Up there I figure 200 feet would be a snap.

Furthermore, no contest would ever be postponed on account of rain.

This is just a start. There are other uses for the moon.

Think how easy it'd be to have a crop control program up there.

Also, how could you have an air-pollution problem when you've got no air at all?

Furthermore, you won't catch any cities dumping their sewage into lakes and streams up there.

Having to carry your oxygen in a back pack, think how few people would risk using up their supply singing with a rock-and-roll band. The hollering thus eliminated would justify a large portion of the moon costs.

Think the earth eventually will be paved over entirely with highways? The moon is paved already.

People aren't taking a broad enough view of the moon business. Yours faithfully,

J. A.

Barbeque Fish For Foolproof Flavor

You can recapture that luscious, fresh-from-the-stream fish flavor at home by marinating Booth Frozen Fillets in this special sauce before broiling. Perfect patio fare, barbequed fish is also excellent indoors, broiled on the kitchen range. The secret is in the marinade.

Marinate for at least 2 1/2 hours at room temperature (72 degrees), turning occasionally
1/2 cup ReaLemon bottled lemon juice
6 to 8 peppercorns
1/2 cup water
1 teaspoon worchestershire sauce
1 medium onion, chopped
1/4 cup salad oil
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 dash dill weed

1 dash marjoram

Bright, vivid colors are dominating the fashion spotlight in men's sportswear this spring. Shades of melon, whiskey, vivid olive greens, and bright blues and grays will be most popular, according to Jaymar-Ruby, Inc., a leading slacks manufacturer. Patterns also play an increasingly important fashion role, varying from muted and subtle plaids to bold checks and stripes.

When we move away and we receive our hometown paper each week, it is just like a visitor from home.

I sent the Southland News to the Lynn County News for several years, but stopped doing to some months ago. If at any time you would like for me to start sending it again, I would be happy to do so.

Again, congratulations on your great little paper.

Linda Huffaker, CHD Agent, Says.....

If you plan to buy lace for fall here are some tips:

1. Ask if lace is stabilized for shrinkage control. Lace fabrics are under tension in manufacture. Drycleaning and the steaming in finishing release the fabric causing shrinkage if it hasn't been stabilized. Unstabilized laces may shrink as much as 10 per cent.
2. Note underarm and side seams in lace clothing. Are they ample in width and well finished? Small seams pull out with strain in wear.
3. Observe buttonholes. Unfinished or machine-stitched buttonholes fray readily.

Wood furniture will resemble metal in modern home scenes. A finishing technique using silver nitrate gives wood the appearance of silver, copper, brass, gold or chrome.

It may look like ham, it may taste like ham, but it may be soybeans!

Food technologist recently introduced the ersatz ham along with chicken and corn beef made of protein derived primarily from soybeans. Pork and bacon substitutes are now made of soybeans and lamb is being developed.
