Masonry's Public Open House September 22 Opens Doors To World's Oldest Fraternity

Masonry, rated as the world's oldest and largest fraternity, goes on review with simultaneous Public Awareness Open House events set by some 940 Masonic Blue Lodges throughout Texas from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, September 22.

Billy Farley, Master of Matador Masonic Lodge No. 824, has extended a cordial invitation to anyone interested in learning more about the fraternity. The lodge is located at 810 Bailey, noted that while Masonic lore has its roots in antiquity, thus Masonry's claim as the oldest fraternal organization in the world, nobody knows just how old it really is. Legends trace it to the building of King Solomon's Temple in Jerusalem.

He further explains that the organization of Free and Accepted Masons has traces of written record prior to 1717, the year which saw the establishment of Masonry as we know it today...stemming from an influential brotherhood of operative stonemasons.

Farley said the word "free" was prefixed to the name "mason" during the Middle Ages "because possessing knowledge and skills not found elsewhere, these stonemasons were "free" agents rather than bond servants, and thus were permitted to travel from one country to another without restriction." He added that these freemasons constructed many of the renowned cathedrals and other structures of Europe and the British Isles.

After organization of the first Grand Lodge of England in 1717, Farley said that lodges began using the tools of the building trades, like the square, plumb, level and trowel "to symbolize moral virtue." He noted that candidates who seek admission to the fraternity "must do so of their own free will and accord since no one is solicited for membership." He further emphasized that candidates must be of good character, believe in a Supreme Being, and participate in rituals culminating in the Third Degree.

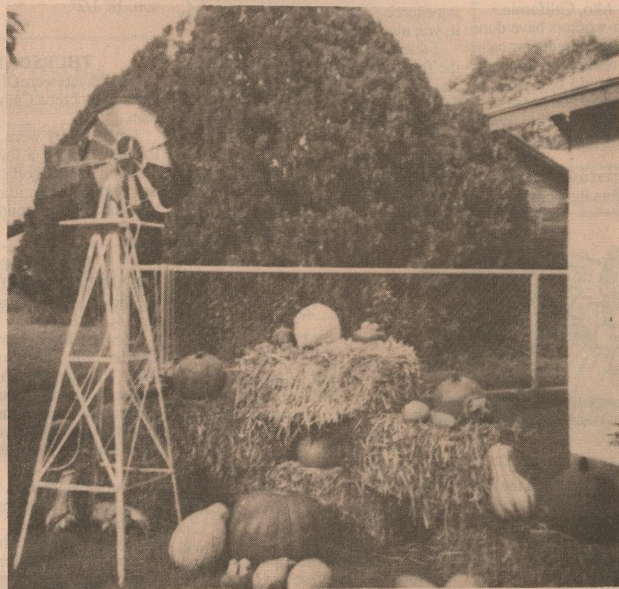

Masons are obligated to obey the principles of brotherly love, mutual aid and assistance, and truth. The emblem of the "Blue Lodge" (symbolic lodge of three degrees) is the interlaced square and compasses with the letter "G" in the center, believed to represent the Deity...the Great Architect of the Universe.

Farley said Masons support members in need, their widows and orphans and maintain homes for their care. The organization also supports medical research and hospitals for crippled and burned children, clinics for youngsters with speech disorders, research projects to find causes for mental illness, programs to prevent blindness, literacy programs to encourage basic reading skills and other charitable endeavors collectively amounting to more than $750 million each year.

For the September 22 Open House, the lodge room will be set up with printed cards giving brief explanations of more significant points of interest, including some of the more prominent symbols used in teaching Masonic philosophy. Members of Matador Masonic Lodge and other associated Masonic groups will be on hand to answer questions.

If you happen to be in another Texas city or town on September 22, Farley suggests that you just ask for the nearest Masonic Lodge you are assured of a cordial welcome.

ANTICIPATING AUTUMN — With the first day of Autumn on Monday, this colorful Autumn arrangement, in the front yard of Dude and Bunny Speed in Matador, reminds us that the beauty of fall along with cooler weather is right around the corner. School Board Meeting Report

The Motley County ISD Board of Trustees met for their regular session on September 11. Gale Stafford was absent.

There was no public participation for the Tax Rate hearing or Open Forum.

Items on the agenda, discussed and accepted, are as follows:

- * Approve minutes, current bills, budget amendments;

- * Appointed Superintendent George Blanch to Education Service Center Regional Advisory Committee;

- * Set date for Tax Rate Adoption, Wednesday, September 18, 7:30 p.m.;

the time needed, this was accepted.

Blanch explained that Paducah, Spur, Patton Springs and Motley County need to form a cooperative for Vocational Agriculture. New federal restrictions for small schools, states if smaller schools could match $10,000, they would receive an extra $10,000 for the Vo-Ag department. Motley would receive close to $5,000 and could purchase a welder and computer, etc., for Vo-Ag use.

Board went into Executive Session to discuss school property. No action was taken.

September's City and County Sales Tax Rebates Running 11% Ahead of Last Year

(AUSTIN) — State Comptroller John Sharp recently sent checks totaling almost $97 million to 1,019 Texas cities and counties that collect local sales taxes, a year-to-date increase of 11 percent over 1990's numbers.

"The Texas economy continues to grow at a slow to moderate rate, and even though we've slowed in response to the national recession of the last year or two, Texas as a whole is still doing better than the rest of the country," Sharp said.

In all, 914 Texas cities received $87 million as their September rebates for a 1991 total of $928.6 million.

This month's payments to 105 counties reached almost $10 million for a year-to-date total of $102 million, an increase of 18 percent over 1990's total at this time.

Quarterly payments to six metropolitan transit authorities and a monthly payment to both the El Paso City Transit Department and the Laredo City Transit Department totaled $144.4 million - a 4.5 percent increase over last September's payments.

The city of Houston received almost $14 million as its September rebate, the largest payment in the state, to bring that city's 1991 total to $154.6 million. Dallas received the state's second largest payment, $8 million, for a 1991 total of almost $92 million. San Antonio's check for $5 million was the third largest in the state for a year-to-date sum of $53 million, and Austin followed with $3.7 million, adding up to $40.3 million for the year. Fort Worth received $2.7 million for a total of $30.1 million this year and El Paso received $2.3 million for a 1991 total of $23.5 million.

Hospital districts in Baylor, Ector and Reeves counties were sent a combined total of $673,732.

September's checks to cities, counties, hospital districts and city transit departments include taxes collected on July sales and reported in August by businesses filing monthly sales tax returns with the state. This month's checks to MTAs reflect taxes reported in June, July and August. Businesses file either monthly, quarterly or annually depending on the amount of sales tax they collect.

Merchants collect the state's 6 1/4 percent state sales tax and any local sales taxes levied in the area and send them to the Comptroller's Office with their tax returns. The state retains its share and returns to cities, counties and other taxing entities their local portion of the sales tax.

All local sales taxes must be approved by area voters. Most local governments use the money for services such as fire fighting, road maintenance and law enforcement. City sales taxes may also be used for local economic development and property tax reduction.

County totals are as follows:

Matador - net payment this period, $1,360.17; comparable payment this year, $1,274.54; % change, 6.72%; 1991 payments to date, $17,493.90; 1990 payments to date, $16,340.54; % change, 7.06%.

Roaring Springs - net payment this period, $795.93; comparable payment prior year, $1,970.03; % change, -59.60%; 1991 payments to date, $11,680.00; 1990 payments to date, $15,026.27; % change, -22.27%.

County total - net payment this period, $2,156.10; comparable payment prior year, $3,244.57; % change, -33.55%; 1991 payments to date, $29,173.90; 1990 payments to date, $31,366.81; % change, -6.99%

Matador City Council Report

The Matador City Council met September 12 at 7:30 a.m. with Mayor Gary Lancaster and all Council members present.

The minutes and bills were read by Seven Alexander, City Secretary, and approved by Council. Outstanding bills for August were for $4,109.00 Water Account and $312.00 for General Account.

Mayor Lancaster opened and read the bids for the street seal coat job from Fred Lipham, Floydada; CJ & K Inc., Midland; KAHN, Lubbock; and Applan, Hereford. After discussion the Council elected to contact the two lowest bids and get more particulars before selecting the company.

Lancaster asked the Council to approve the budget that had been studied. This passed.

Meeting adjourned.

Roaring Springs City Council Report

The Roaring Springs City Council met for regular session September 17, Mayor Joey Thacker and all council members were present.

Minutes were read and approved, bills were discussed and approved to be paid. Frances Walters explained the bill total of $4,267.00 looked higher this month because they had a FmHA loan payment to make.

Walters had complaints from citizens about streets being closed during Old Settlers and the people being charged just to pass through. The Council elected to table this till further complaints rendered.

Mayor Thacker explained that the roof on the school building would be replaced, as Spur/Tex (formerly New Sheild Roofing) was in a lawsuit with the supply company for supplying faulty roofing material to Spur/Tex when they roofed the school. Other roofs in Roaring Springs covered by Spur/Tex had been good and without problems.

Walters had complaints about the danger and appearance of the air conditioner installed in front of the Cafe building. Council elected to inform the tenant of these problems and for them to be taken care of.

Council discussed the theft of the "WELCOME OLD SETTLERS" banners. The two street banners were taken the last night of Old Settlers. These banners cost $275.00 each. The ladies club formed this summer raised the funds to purchase the banners, they have a reward out for the return of the banners, or if they were returned Walters stated there would be no questions asked.

Council adjourned to closed session, no decisions made.

EXERCISE ENHANCES WEIGHT-LOSS PROGRAMS

Exercise is an essential part of weight control for more than just burning extra calories. Regular exercise solves that most difficult problem - making sure the weight never returns.

The most effective strategy for losing weight is healthy eating with lower calorie choices from the basic food groupings combined with a gradual increase in exercise. "The best solution for keeping it off is to keep active," says Peter Wood, Ph.D., Professor of Medicine at Stanford University and Associate Director of the Stanford Center for Research in Disease Prevention, in Palo Alto, California.

Wood and his co-workers have done studies showing that either reducing calories or exercise can result in lost pounds. Reducing calories should be accompanied by regular exercise and occasional reinforcement by a friend or family member. Exercise also results in the following:

- * Temporary increases in resting metabolic rate (the rate the body burns calories), which persist for several hours after vigorous exercise. These increases may offset the natural slowing of resting metabolic rate that occurs when calorie intake is cut.

- * Stress reduction since stress often triggers overeating for some people.

- * When combined with calorie cutting, exercise increases the rate of weight loss. Walking briskly for a half-hour each day burns about 175 calories - a potential 15-pound weight loss after a year.

Whatever the exercise - whether it's racquetball, swimming, bicycling, jogging, walking, or aerobics classes - exercise becomes increasingly fun for people as they become fit. Why not start enjoying exercise and feel better doing it. Try it, you may like it!

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are for people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

This news from Earlyne (Laughlin) Jameson, of her brother, Gary and wife, Rene: "They travel near and far and always carry golf clubs to play at courses over Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, South Carolina, Nevada, etc. Gary and Rene Laughlin of Midland, former residents of Motley County, toured the Big Bend Park and Rio Grande during the Labor Day holidays and played golf on the LaJinto and Alpine Courses. Nine miles out of Marfa, they saw the mysterious lights that are so famous after being televised on the TV show, "Unexplained Mysteries." They were on top of their van with binoculars when three of the lights bounced about 60 yards away and they thought they were going to fall off the van! Then two more lights stayed off and on about 200 yards away. The rest were quite a distance away, but very clear.

Sometimes they were in a group of seven, five or just one. The lights were all sizes, but usually as large or larger than a basketball. They changed colors from white to red and back to white. Some of the lights just hung in air and some dart everywhere. They saw this spectacular sight around 10:15 p.m. They are in Savannah, Georgia, this week at the Hilton Head to play in a golf tournament."

NATIONAL FARM SAFETY WEEK SEPTEMBER 15-21

"Safety Protects Agriculture's Greatest Resource - YOU"

In observance of National Farm Safety Week, the following was adapted from the National Safety Council program packet. For more information, please contact me.

DON'T GET HARMED DURING HARVEST

Harvesting equipment of many kinds will be in the fields. Farmers will work through the blazing heat and not stop until snowfall. Here are some general harvest safety reminders:

Read and always heed recommendations in all instruction manuals. Service and repair harvesting equipment before you start. Check fuel lines, filters and other systems for leaks or potential malfunctions. Because many harvesting accidents occur during the first few days, work with special care while you get the equipment to function properly. Train new or young workers so they know the proper procedures for a safe operation. You've checked the equipment and trained the workers, but did you choose the proper clothes to wear? Remember to wear the appropriate personal protective clothing and equipment for the job and working conditions to reduce the risk of injury and health damage.

If your equipment malfunctions while you work, turn off the power before you unclog or attend to the trouble. Keep shielding on and nonworkers off - especially children. Keep the areas around a combine or stripper engine clean and free of trash, chaff, stalks, lint, and other debris. When you refuel, be careful. Always have fire extinguishers and a first aid kit on board.

If your equipment broke down in the field, could you walk to help? What if you were immobilized by injury or sudden illness? An emergency communication system, such as a two way radio, is important when you work alone or with others because you can quickly call for help when needed.

Take occasional breaks to fight fatigue. You'll have more energy and better concentration, and you can work long hours without so much strain.

The start of the final phase of the 1991 High Plains Boll Weevil Diapause Control Program is close at hand according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. (PCG). Signalling the beginning of the programs control phase was the award of the 1991 aerial spraying contract on September 4.

Aero-Tech Inc., of Clovis, New Mexico was the successful bidder for the 1991 contract. Aero-Tech bid $5.51 per gallon for the first 5,000 gallons sprayed and $4.98 per gallon for each additional gallon acceptably applied.

"The awarding of the contract to Aero-Tech moves our program into a new era," notes Roger Haldenby, Boll Weevil Program Coordinator. He explains that Aero-Tech will be using two turbine-powered Air Tractor aircraft, a first for the High Plains Program.

"The use of the turbine Air Tractor to deliver our spray applications is a significant step forward for the program," says Haldenby. "Each of these planes is capable of carrying enough fuel and chemical to treat 3,000 acres before returning to reload. With the piston-powered aircraft used in the past we were doing well to treat 1,000 acres before running out of chemical or low on fuel."

Report date for aircraft, pilots and equipment is Friday, September 20. Spraying is scheduled to begin the following Monday, September 23.

Haldenby also notes that with Aero-Tech brings to the Boll Weevil Program experience gained on government contracts for the Bureau of Land Management and the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA). Their contract experience includes Grasshopper, Fire Ant, Gypsy Moth and Spruce Budworm control. Aero-Tech has also performed mosquito control programs for several cities, including Plainview and Houston.

The mapping phase of the program was completed in August. Some 2,360 fields, covering around 302,792 acres above and below the caprock, have been mapped.

The survey portion of the 1991 program started on September 5 when 36 two-person survey teams were hired and trained. Initial survey results indicate that the first scheduled application of the year could include as many as 50,000 acres, almost half the total number of acres treated during the entire 1990 program.

Haldenby estimates that the 1991 program could eventually treat as many as 250,000 acres. This would make it significantly larger than last year's 114,265 treated acres, but smaller than the large-scale program conducted in 1988 when 663,311 acres received control applications.

This year's expected increase in treatable acres within the Boll Weevil Program's control zone is attributed to the continuing build-up of weevils on the Rolling Plains. Many producers in Howard County and Scurry County, outside the control zone, are making in-season pesticide applications to control this pest. The control zone covers 8,500 square miles and trap catches along its southern edge confirm the increase in Rolling Plains weevil populations.

In conjunction with USDA, PCG works hard to assure that the program remains environmentally responsible. Operating under an Environmental Monitoring Plan, developed by USDA's Technology Support Staff in Hyattsville, MD, samples of vegetation, water and soil are collected from around the control zone. These samples are sent to Gulfport, Mississippi, for analysis at the National Monitoring Research Analysis Laboratory.

Seventy percent of the funding for each year's program comes from producers and 30 percent from the federal government. The producer funds come from a per bale check-off collected at area compresses. The assessment rate for the 1991 crop is set at ten-cents per bale, down from the 25-cent per bale rate collected on the 1990 crop.

"I fully expect this year's program to be one of the best," states Haldenby. "With the combination of experienced personnel and state-of-the-art aircraft this year's operation should significantly increase the quality and effectiveness of the entire program."

THEN and NOW!

Entertainers, heads of government, even sports legends: all have enjoyed the fun, fellowship and philanthropy the Shrine of North America has to offer.

Harry S. Truman

Gerald Ford

Then: Famous Shriners of the past have included such government officials and heads of state as Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, Hubert Humphrey, J. Edgar Hoover and Warren G. Harding. John Philip Sousa, Clark Gable, Tex Ritter, Danny Thomas, John Wayne, Mel Blanc, Harold Lloyd and Bud Abbott are just a few of the celebrities who have worn the red Fez. Sports legends who have been Shriners include baseball players Ty Cobb and Earl Combes; football players Bart Starr and Ray Nitschke; and auto racers Marvin "Doc" Dee and David Pearson.

Now: Today's famous Shriners include former president Gerald Ford; actors Glenn Ford, Ernest Borgnine, Red Skelton and Roy Rogers; politicians such as Sam Nunn, Jack Kemp and Robert Dole; and astronaut Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin. These and many other famous—and not-so-famous—Shriners contribute to the outstanding work of the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children, which provide quality treatment and care, free of charge, to thousands of children with orthopaedic problems and burn-related injuries.

Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other.

Give Young Wildlife a Break

Wildlife observation is one of the highlights of any summer outdoors excursion. However, this time of year is also the peak period for encounters with "lost" wild babies, particularly deer fawns. Most of the time, though, juvenile wildlife aren't lost at all!

The doe purposely leaves her fawn alone much of the time. The spotted fawn is well-camouflaged and has almost no scent. Remaining in seclusion is its best defense.

To nurse and groom her fawn, the doe remains in the general area and makes periodic visits. Otherwise, she stays away from the fawn's bedding area so as not to attract predators. At about four weeks of age, the fawn is strong enough to follow the doe in her daily movements. If disturbed by humans, the fawn will move, but not very far. If it remains in the immediate area, the doe is quite capable of locating her young one.

Attempts to catch or pet the fawn will drive it farther away. If it bleats, the sound might attract predators into the area. Too much human disturbance can cause the doe to abandon the fawn.

The best course of action is to leave the fawn alone and vacate the area quietly. The worst thing to do is to catch the fawn and take it home. Not only is this illegal in most areas, but few people have the patience or the skill to care for young wildlife.

Even if the fawn lives, it will be a problem as an adult. Grown deer require large pens, and the bucks can be dangerous. Almost every year someone is injured or even killed by a captive "tame" deer. And unfortunately, deer raised in captivity cannot be returned to the wild.

Leave the wild youngsters in the wild environment. If a fawn is obviously orphaned, as evidenced by the carcass of a doe, notify wildlife authorities. The same can be said of other young wildlife. Young raccoons, opossums, skunks and even fox kits must learn to get by on their own. This learning process consists of short forays from their dens, which often bring them into contact with people who assume they are lost. They are not.

Fledgling birds must learn to fly. They do this by fluttering about in shrubs and on the ground. Their parents are usually nearby, coaxing the youngsters along. Very young birds that have fallen from their nests may be replaced without concern. It's an old wives' tale that the human touch will cause the mother to abandon the nest.

Generally the best action to take with young wildlife is no action at all — observe but leave them in their natural world. According to professional wildlife biologist E. J. Wentworth, who deals with many "rescued" animals, "Human interference in the natural process of young wild animals trying to learn to survive does no real good and in most cases causes actual harm to the animals the people are trying to help." ■

We may not meet as often
As we would like, it's true
But there's a place in Friendship Lane
Where I meet in thought with you.

And always, as we meet and chat
As friendly as can be,

Through cloudy days or fair
Whenever I walk down Friendship Lane
I find you waiting there.

HAVING A STROKE

Suffering from a stroke is extremely frightening. However, there are ways to foresee a stroke.

A stroke is a disruption of blood flow to a certain portion of the brain, which is damaged when it does not receive blood with oxygen. Blood with oxygen is needed for the brain or damage will occur.

When a portion of the brain is damaged then a function of the body is impaired.

Clogged arteries also can cause a stroke. These arteries can cut the supply of oxygenated blood to the brain. Another cause of strokes is hemorrhaging. These are extremely serious because brain tissue or clots break loose from the arterial wall and block an artery.

According to Jacqueline Germain, M.D., medical director of Methodist Hospital's Rehabilitation Institute, the warning signs of a stroke are:

- Temporary loss of vision
- Dizziness
- Temporary weakness in the limbs.

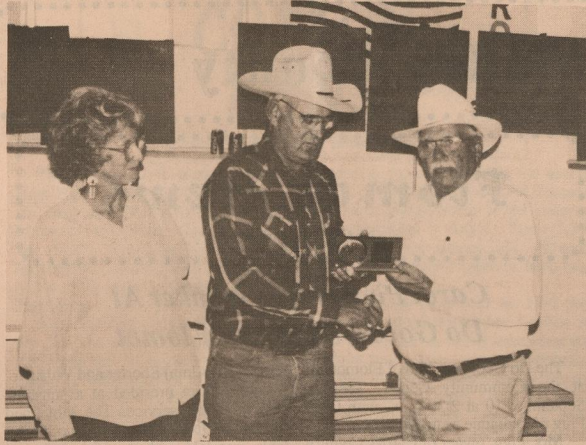

A full stroke rehabilitation program is offered by the Rehabilitation Institute. For more information, call (806) 793-4300.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

SPECIAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 5, 1991

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 114 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize home rule cities having a population of 5,000 or fewer inhabitants to amend their city charters by a majority vote of a city's qualified voters at an election held for that purpose. The amendment makes clear that home rule cities that have declined in population below the population required to initially adopt a charter may nevertheless continue to amend their charters.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment allowing home-rule cities with a population of 5,000 or less to amend their charters by popular vote."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 10 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to authorize the Texas Department of Transportation to expend money, from any source available, for the costs of the turnpikes, toll roads, or toll bridges of the Texas Turnpike Authority, provided that any monies expended from the state highway fund shall be repaid to the fund from tolls or other turnpike revenue.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment mandating the repayment to the Department of Transportation of monies expended to assist the construction, maintenance, and operation of turnpikes, toll roads and toll bridges."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 26 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Veterans' Land Board to invest, as authorized by law, moneys of the Veterans' Land Fund which are not immediately committed to the payment of principal and interest on bonds issued by the Veterans' Land Board, the purchase of lands, or the payment of expenses. Investment of such moneys would no longer be restricted to investments in bonds or obligations of the United States. The proposed amendment would also authorize the Veterans' Land Board to invest, as authorized by law, moneys of the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund which are not immediately committed to the payment of principal and interest on general obligation bonds issued by the Veterans' Land Board for the benefit of the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund, the making of home mortgage loans, or the payment of expenses. Investment of such moneys would no longer be restricted to investments in bonds or obligations of the United States. The proposed amendment gives the legislature power to implement the amendment and to delegate such duties and authority to the Veterans' Land Board as it deems necessary.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to further implement and enhance the administration of the veterans' housing assistance and land programs and to expand the investment authority of the Veterans' Land Board."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 4 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to authorize the issuance of a maximum of $1.1 billion in general obligation bonds. The proceeds of the bonds are to be used to acquire, construct, or equip new prisons and substance abuse felony punishment facilities, mental health and mental retardation institutions, and youth corrections institutions, to repair and renovate existing facilities of those institutions and to acquire, repair, or renovate other facilities for use as state prisons or substance abuse felony punishment facilities. The $1.1 billion is in addition to the $900 million currently authorized by the constitution to be expended on bond issues for facilities of correctional and mental health and mental retardation institutions. The bonds would constitute a general obligation of the state. The bonds and interest on the bonds would be paid from the first money coming into the state treasury that is not otherwise appropriated by the constitution, less any amount in a sinking fund at the end of the preceding fiscal year that is pledged to payment of the bonds or interest.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of up to $1.1 billion in general obligation bonds for acquiring, constructing, or equipping new prisons or other punishment facilities to confine criminals, mental health and mental retardation institutions, and youth corrections institutions, for major repair or renovation of existing facilities of those institutions, and for the acquisition of, major repair to, or renovation of other facilities for use as state prisons or other punishment facilities."

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 39 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow a county, junior college district, or municipality to exempt tangible personal property from ad valorem taxation if: (1) the property is acquired or brought into the state in an enterprise zone to be forwarded outside the state, (2) the property is assembled, stored, repaired, maintained, manufactured, processed, or fabricated in the enterprise zone, (3) the property is transported outside the state not later than 175 days after being acquired or brought into an enterprise zone, and (4) the person who acquired or brought the property into an enterprise zone is a qualified business. A county, junior college district, or municipality may exempt such property by entering into a written agreement with a qualified business that states the duration of the exemption and the terms on which the exemption is granted. Any action to exempt property must be taken before April 1 of the first year in which the property would otherwise be taxed. The term "enterprise zone" means an area that (1) has been designated as such by a state agency responsible for economic development, and (2) has pervasive poverty, unemployment, and economic distress. The term "qualified business" means a business that meets the qualification established by general law, and requires that the qualified business is actively engaged in a new business in the enterprise zone or is expanding a business that is already active in the enterprise zone. An enterprise zone is created to foster economic development in an area of pervasive poverty and unemployment.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the exemption for ad valorem taxes of certain property in an enterprise zone."

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 8 proposes a constitutional amendment that would establish a Texas Ethics Commission with the powers and duties provided by law. The commission would consist of eight appointed members selected as follows: two members of different political parties appointed by the governor from a list of at least ten names submitted by the members of the house of representatives from each major political party; two members of different political parties appointed by the governor from a list of at least ten names submitted by the members of the senate from each major political party; two members of different political parties appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives from a list of at least ten names submitted by the members of the house from each major political party; and two members of different political parties appointed by the lieutenant governor from a list of at least ten names submitted by the members of the senate from each major political party. A major political party is a political party required by law to hold a primary. With the exception of the initial appointees, commission members would serve for four-year terms. A member who has served for one term and any part of a second term would not be eligible for reappointment. The commission would be authorized to recommend the salary of the members of the legislature and may recommend that the salary of the speaker of the house of representatives and the lieutenant governor be set at an amount higher than that of other members. If the commission recommends a change in salary, the voters would be authorized to accept or reject the salary change at the next general election for state and county officers. If the voters approve the recommended salary, that salary would take effect January 1 of the next odd-numbered year; if the voters reject the recommended salary, no change in salary would occur. The commission would set the per diem of the members of the legislature and of the lieutenant governor. The per diem could be raised or lowered biennially as necessary to pay members' costs, but could not exceed the amount allowed as of January 1 that year as a federal income tax deduction for living expenses incurred in a legislative day in connection with a member's business as a legislator, disregarding any federal income tax exception for legislators residing near the Capitol. The commission would have other powers and duties provided by the commission's enabling act (Senate Bill 1, 72nd Legislature, Regular Session). The amendment would also provide that an increase in the emoluments of the office of Lieutenant Governor would not make a legislator ineligible to serve in the office of Lieutenant Governor.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment creating the Texas Ethics Commission and authorizing the commission to recommend the salary for members of the legislature and the lieutenant governor, subject to voter approval, and to set the per diem for those officials, subject to a limit."

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the board of trustees of each statewide public retirement system to invest the funds of the system in such manner as the board considers prudent. The board would no longer be limited to investing the funds of the system in securities.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to allow the board of trustees of a statewide public retirement system to invest the funds of the system in a manner that the board considers prudent."

PROPOSITION NO. 8 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 21 proposes a constitutional amendment that would permit the legislature to create debt by or on behalf of the state if the legislature submitted the debt question to the voters of the state in the form of a proposition and a majority of those voting approved the proposition. The legislature may call the election, by joint resolution approved by at least two-thirds of the members of each house, during any regular session or during any special session if the subject of the proposition is included in the Governor's proclamation for that special session. A proposition must clearly describe the amount and purpose for which debt is to be created and must describe the source of payment for the debt. The amount of debt stated in the proposition may not be exceeded and may not be renewed unless the right to exceed or renew is stated in the proposition. The legislature may enact laws necessary to implement the authority granted by a proposition. A law enacted in anticipation of the election on a proposition is valid if, by its terms, it is enacted subject to approval of the related proposition. State debt that is created following voter approval of a proposition and that is approved by the Attorney General is incontestable for any reason.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the voters of this state to consider state debt questions in the form of ballot propositions that must clearly describe the amounts, purposes, and sources of payment of the debt only after approval of the propositions by a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature."

PROPOSITION NO. 9 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 11 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the commissioner of the General Land Office to issue patents for certain public free school fund land for which there is not a valid transfer of title from either the State or the Republic of Texas to a private party. A patent is a document of title issued by the state. On application to the School Land Board, a person is entitled to receive a patent if: (1) the land is surveyed public free school fund land, (2) the land was not patentable under the law before the adoption of this proposed amendment, (3) the person acquired the land without knowledge of the title defect out of the State of Texas or the Republic of Texas and held the land under color of title, the chain of which dates from at least January 1, 1941, (4) the person has a recorded deed on file in the county courthouse and, in conjunction with his predecessor in interest, has claimed the land for at least fifty years as of January 1, 1991, and (5) the person, in conjunction with his predecessor in interest, for at least 50 years has paid taxes on the land together with all interest and penalties associated with any delinquency. If the applicant is denied a patent, the applicant may file suit against the School Land Board in a district court in the county where the land is located within 60 days from the date of denial. The proposed amendment does not apply to beach land, submerged land, or islands, and may not be used to resolve a boundary dispute. The proposed amendment also does not apply to land found by a court to be state-owned or to land on which the state has given a mineral lease that is in effect when a patent is sought. A patent under this proposed amendment for land within five miles of mineral production shall reserve minerals to the state in the manner provided by law for reservations of minerals in sales to claimants of unsurveyed school land within five miles of production. An application for a patent under this proposed amendment must be filed with the School Land Board before January 1, 1993.

This proposed constitutional amendment is similar to the version of article VII, section 4A, that was in effect between 1981 and 1990. The main difference is that under the earlier version the applicant for a patent to land had to have a chain of title that dated back to at least as early as January 1, 1932.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the commissioner of the General Land Office to issue patents for certain public free school fund land held in good faith under color of title for at least 50 years."

PROPOSITION NO. 10 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 15 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to pass general laws to exempt property owned by a nonprofit corporation organized to supply water or provide wastewater service from ad valorem taxation. A nonprofit corporation would be eligible for the exemption if its bylaws provide that on dissolution, the assets remaining after the discharge of the corporation's indebtedness will be transferred to an entity providing water supply or wastewater service, or both, which is exempt from ad valorem taxation. The transferred assets must be property that is reasonably necessary for and used for water supply and wastewater services.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to exempt from ad valorem taxes certain property of a nonprofit corporation that supplies water or provides wastewater service."

PROPOSITION NO. 11 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 8 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to pass laws to authorize the State of Texas to operate lotteries and to enter into a contract with one or more legal entities that will operate lotteries on behalf of the State of Texas.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing a state lottery."

PROPOSITION NO. 12 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 34 proposes a constitutional amendment that would increase the total amount of bonds that may be issued by the Texas Water Development Board to provide wholesale and retail water and wastewater facilities to economically distressed areas of the state. The proposed amendment increases the maximum principal amount of the bonds from 20 percent to 50 percent of the $500 million amount authorized by article III, section 49-d-7, of the Texas Constitution. The proposed amendment would increase the maximum aggregate dollar amount of bonds that the Texas Water Development Board could issue from $100 million to $250 million.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to increase from 20 percent to 50 percent the percentage of Texas water development bonds previously authorized by Texas voters that may be issued for economically distressed areas."

PROPOSITION NO. 13 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 2 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to pass general laws authorizing Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board or its successor to issue and sell up to $300 million of general obligation bonds to finance education loans to students. The maximum net effective interest rate to be borne by the bonds would be set by law. The amendment would also authorize the legislature to provide for the investment of bond proceeds and to establish an interest and sinking fund to pay the bonds and provide for the investment of such fund. Bonds authorized under this amendment would be paid from the first money coming into the treasury in each fiscal year that is not otherwise appropriated by the constitution, less any amount in an interest and sinking fund established at the end of the preceding year that is pledged to the payment of the bonds or interest.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for the issuance of general obligation bonds not to exceed $300,000,000 to continue existing programs to provide educational loans to students, with repayments of student loans applied toward retirement of the bonds."

Purpose and Providence II

Our Wednesday evening Bible study at 7:30 p.m. here at the Matador Church of Christ seeks to bring to light the providential workings of our Lord in the Life of Paul. Why not join us and see how our great God preserves him alive and enables the fulfillment of Paul's purpose to preach Christ in Rome.

Christ had earlier announced prior to Paul's conversion that His purpose for Paul was to stand before kings and preach (Acts 9:15). It was the providence of God interwoven into the affairs of state and the life of the apostle Paul for two years in jail at Caesarea which we see was responsible for keeping Paul alive and well. God was working out Paul's purpose to go to Rome.

We do not believe that Paul anticipated any more than any other human being the forces which God combined to bring his purpose to go to Rome to a reality. The book of Acts, chapters 26-28, illustrates the interweavings of providence to accomplish the divine purpose in Paul's life and by that history encourages us.

The confidence in Christ's promise to deliver him from evil to accomplish God's gospel purpose was one of Paul's great motivations to obey the Lord (Acts 26:19). Obedience cannot be from the heart without trusting faith in the reality of Christ's promise to be with us, "even to the end of the world." We are not alone!

Social Security Tips

by Mary Jane Shanes

The Social Security Administration (SSA) will seek more detailed information about children who apply for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) disability benefits under a revised standard for determining childhood disability. Information about the child's daily activities will be collected to help SSA determine if a child is disabled under a new regulation that became effective in February.

The new regulation changes the criteria SSA uses to determine whether a child is disabled for SSI purposes. Under the new procedures, SSA will evaluate the extent to which a child's disability keeps him or her from doing things children of the same age can do. Under previous rules, only children who met specific medical criteria were found eligible for SSI purposes. It is expected that the new rules will result in SSI eligibility for thousands of children whose claims may have been denied for medical reasons under the old rules.

Physicians and other individuals familiar with the child's capabilities will be asked to provide information about the child's ability to perform age-appropriate activities such as caring for him or herself, functioning in a school setting, and handling peer relations. This information will supplement the medical information SSA already requests from treating physicians.

Schools will be asked to provide information about academic performance, psychological evaluations, attendance, behavior, and speech and language therapy. The child's teacher or counselor also may be asked to provide information about ways in which the child's disability limits his or her ability to function in an age-appropriate fashion.

The information provided is extremely important. In most cases, SSA's physicians and psychologists do not have the opportunity to see or examine the child. Therefore, the information must be detailed enough to allow them to evaluate the severity of the condition and the child's ability to function.

More detailed information also will be requested about children whose claims for SSI disability benefits are being reevaluated as a result of the court order under the Supreme Court decision in Sullivan v. Zebley.

In mid-July, SSA sent notices to about half a million children who can request re-evaluation of their claims under the Sullivan v. Zebley court order. Those requests, along with new applications received, will result in a dramatic increase in the number and extent of children's school records SSA will be seeking in addition to current medical evidence.

The Agency will work with national educational organizations to assure that they are aware of the change and that SSA will be asking for their cooperation in providing prompt, complete reports. All information provided by external sources is confidential under the provisions of the Federal Privacy Act.

The SSI program makes monthly cash payments to disabled children from families with limited income and resources. Children who receive SSI also are usually eligible for medical assistance and various other social services.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
Michael A. Guido
Metter, Georgia

Pierre Renoir, the great French painter, was afflicted by arthritis. His hands became twisted, and to paint was painful. But he didn't quit.

One day a friend asked, "How can you paint at the expense of such torture?"

"The pain passes," he answered, "but the beauty remains."

So it was with Job. He suffered the loss of health, wealth and loved ones. But he believed that everything was moved by God and for his good.

Not sullenly, but submissively he said, "He knoweth the way that I take: when He hath tried me I shall come forth as pure gold."

Like the artist said, "The pain passes, but the beauty remains."
