SCHOOL SPIRIT SUPPORTS TEAM

By Stella Martin
School spirit is expressed in several organized ways around M.H.S. pep rallies, signs, and football games. Besides these, there is an unorthodox way of expressing school spirit — yelling between classes.

It is not unusual to see a group of girls huddled together in the study hall or in the hall for a couple of minutes and then break apart with a thunderous yelling of "Beat Ropesville," "Cage the Eagles," or some other slogan. This has become a tradition around Matador High School. It helps keep up the spirit during the week, and also urge the boys to work harder at practice. The climax is the pep rally the afternoon of the game.

At the Ropesville Pep Rally, encouraging speeches were given by Coach Barr, John Barnhill, and Larry Bynum. Also, an ear straining skit, entitled the "Whisper Skit" was given by Rosanne Terry, Patsy Green, Melba Spray, Leadell Luckett, Sue Williams and Billie Smith.

1964 Homecoming Plans Take Shape

MHS students are hard at work planning and carrying out plans for the 1964 Homecoming. Decorating committees that have been assigned are: Stands, Faye Lynn Cook, Goal Posts, Jane Briscoe, Building, the Senior Class.

The Bonfire committees are the Freshmen, who will build the bonfire, and the Sophomores, who will make the Turkey. The cheerleaders will decorate the car for the Football Sweetheart to ride in off the field, and Ruth Garnett and Lynda Elliott will be responsible for the paper Matador the boys will run through as they come onto the field. The Brand Staff will print the traditional Homecoming paper. From these plans, it is apparent that the students are looking forward to an exciting and highly successful Homecoming, 1964.

MHS Girls Enroll In Charm School

By Jana Jones
A group of MHS girls has enrolled in a six-week charm course, taught by Mrs. Cora Anderson of Lubbock. The course, held each week in the home of a different participant, teaches basic modeling techniques and hints on personal appearance. The first meeting was held September 26, and meetings have been held on consecutive Saturdays since that date. Although the first two meetings were held in the home economics room at the high school, the last two were held at the homes of Pat Day and Jana Jones, respectively.

Those attending the class are Pat Day, Joanie Barton, Sharlene Berryman, Darlene McAnally, Olivia Campbell, Judy Pitts, Frances Martin, Jana Jones, and two Lubbock girls, Johnnie Wilkerson and Carol Anderson. The girls' graduation exercises will be held in Lubbock, November 7.

The Branding Iron

Mr. Barr, the math teacher at MHS, conducted a poll last week to see which team, Matador or Ropesville, the students thought was the number one team in the area. Needless to say, the Matadors won.

The blackboards at MHS which are customarily decorated with signs saying "All the Way, Big Red," have recently exchanged these spirited encouragements for new ones reading "Goldwater, 1964" or "All the Way with LBJ."

Transistor radios were the order of the week at MHS as the World Series demanded every possible free moment of the students' attention.

MASKED RED RAIDER 'DINK' WILSON

Masked Red Raider 'Dink' Wilson Creates Excitement At Tech Games

(Special to Tribune)
LUBBOCK — Paul Revere's famed midnight ride summoned early colonists to arms. "Dink" Wilson's two rides during Red Raider football games sent Texas Tech fans into a mild frenzy. "Dink," whose birth certificate reads Douglas L., is the slightly built young man who has donned a glittering red suit, vest and cape, and black mask and hat to become this year's Tech Red Raider. As such, he storms into the stadium aboard a jet black stallion just ahead of Raider gridders before each half of the game begins.

Wilson, a junior from Matador majoring in range management, has made the Dean's list two times but you'd never get the impression he is an "egg-head." He looks like and talks like a professional cowhand... which is what he becomes each summer.

Works For Rancher
As a break from nine-months of schooling, "Dink" normally works for a Midland rancher. His assignment is to "break" horses, or tame them so they can be ridden. He claims to have been doing this sort of thing since childhood on his father's ranch near Matador.

"Dink" was tapped to be this year's Red Raider during registration for the fall semester by Dr. Ralph M. Durham, head of animal husbandry at Tech. Though he won't admit it, "Dink" was picked because of his superior ability to handle horses. Charcoal Cody is on loan to Tech from Lubbock western wear czar Bill Price. Cody stood in for the Red Raider's official mount, Tech Beauty, during last year's Texas-Tech A&M game in Lubbock after the Aggies had "borrowed" her prior to game time.

When Beauty died last spring, Cody again filled in. "Charcoal Cody is a real good horse," Wilson says of the mount he rides each week as Red Raider. "He's easy to control and really likes to run."

Favorites At Tech Games
After "Dink" makes his dashing ride before the game begins, he and Cody roam the sidelines and end zones of the stadium in which the Raiders are playing. The horse and rider are favorites of young children attending the games. The Matador native hesitated briefly when asked how he would sign any autograph requests, should they come. "I guess I'd just sign 'em 'Dink' if anybody ever wants one," he replied with a grin.

"Dink's" ringside seat aboard Cody could hardly be called "50 yard line" but it is frequently close to the action. "I like being able to sit that close to the game. The only trouble is that I can't tell how much yardage was made on any particular play," he comments. "Dink's" parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jinks Wilson of Matador. Though his father is currently Sheriff of Motley County, he plans to return to full-time ranching in January, 1965, when his term expires.

"Dink's" first ride as the Red Raider was against Mississippi State in Jones Stadium. This was Cody's second appearance as the Raider's mount.

"I was a little nervous at the barn before the game but at the stadium I was too busy to worry about anything," he admitted. "Cody did a good job and wasn't bothered by the cannon, the band music or the crowd."

Tech Army ROTC cadets signal the start of each half and each Tech addition to the scoreboard with a blast from a 75mm pack howitzer.

As this year's masked rider "Dink" has a busy schedule ahead. He will accompany the Red Raider gridders on all road trips, ride in the Tech Homecoming parade and then make his final appearance at the Tech Intercollegiate Rodeo in April.

REMEMBER WHEN?

"Oh brother, is this contraption ever a monstrosity! Can you imagine finding space to put one of these, or even actually using it? This old 1901 Peck-Williamson water-heating stove and clothes dryer can't hold a candle to the modern, automatic, flameless electric clothes washers and dryers. Besides being completely automatic and flameless, they save so much time and energy. The electric dryer alone saves 3 hours weekly of the housewife's valuable time which she can spend with her family and clothes come out so soft, fluffy, and easy to iron, there's no telling how much time is saved just on the ironing board.

Sixty-three years sure makes a lot of difference. Visit your electric appliance dealer or the nearest WTU office."

SUNDOWN ROUGHNECKS ARE FAST AND LIGHT

By Gary Campbell The Matadors hold a 17-pound weight advantage over the Sundown Roughnecks when they meet at Sundown Friday night. The Roughnecks do not have an impressive won-loss record but most of their losses have been by small margins. They are small and fast.

The team's halfback Jimmy Morgan is a good runner with above average speed, and also carries the bulk of the passing game. The other halfback, who runs the split back position, is Jim Gray, a 145-pounder, with good speed.

Fullback Ronnie Popejoy weighs only 145 but he is a hard runner. Dub Holly is the quarterback and weighs 153.

Largest man on the team is right tackle Terry Williams who weighs 180. He is the best lineman and a fine blocker.

Sundown's offense is run primarily from a split T formation. The defense is a 4-3-3 with a "monster" who shifts to the strong side.

Marvin Patton and his brother Houston Patton of Wichita Falls visited in Albuquerque, N. M. several days the past week with their sister, Mrs. Bess Hennen, who is ill.

Again, many sincere thanks for remembering us in so many ways.
