Kirby Campbell and his grandson Britt, apply the "Butterfly" brand of Barbara and Bill Armstrong to one of four branding boards prepared for display at the Motley County Museum. Over sixty-four brands have been burned into wood panels which will be framed and finished by Charley Johnson. Kirby is housebound for a few weeks recuperating from a short stay in the hospital, but is looking forward to visitors, including some of the regulars of the coffee shop clique.

Not to be outdone by her brother and grandfather, Jo Beth Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Paul Campbell of Idalou, proudly displays a branding board featuring well-known and local brands surrounding the head of a Herford. E.A. Day made this outstanding piece for his wife, Dorothy, when they lived in the country, and now presents it to the museum. Brands include the Flying O, Pitchfork, JA, Mill-iron, Double H, Lazy E, Bar D, Rocking H, Cinco, AK, and many others.

County Cemeteries Need For Funds Emphasized By Recent Rains

The prolonged rainy period of May and June, producing as much as 10 inches in different parts of the county, has enhanced as well as hurt the upkeep of the county cemeteries.

Though beautiful wildflowers and grasses have carpeted some of the burying grounds, sand burs and goatheads are biding their time to produce a bumper crop. Through the wet weather, mowers have had a difficult time staying up with the fast growing turf and weeds. In some instances, hard driving rains have caved in some burial sites and sunken others.

Caretakers may need the additional help that families can supply in helping care for their own families plots or in donations to provide funds to properly care for the graveyards. Some have suggested we plan a cemetery work day, a tradition in some communities which is used as a time for families to join together in sprucing-up plots and cleaning-up in general.

The Whiteflat Cemetery has had two scheduled work days, and according to one resident, is in good shape thanks to its good drainage and the hard work of Luther Green and others. The Roaring Springs Cemetery has had the benefit of labor from prisoners at the Spur facility. The Mt. Zion Cemetery near Roaring Springs is currently in excellent shape thanks to the Roaring Springs Community Volunteers who have helped Ossie Lee Brown hoe and spray nitrogen. East Mound has had beautiful blue bonnets but may suffer from a repeat of last year when the sand burs took over.

An excellent way to mark Father's Day on June 21 is to remember that father or grandfather who has passed with a donation to the family cemetery.

For those out-of-town who are unable to help maintain their family plots or those who wish to keep the maintenance funds going in the various cemeteries, your donations may be sent to the following:

East Mound Cemetery, c/o Hazel Donovan, Box 182, Matador 79244

Roaring Springs Cemetery, c/o Mrs. Buzz Thacker, Roaring Springs 79256

Whiteflat Cemetery, c/o H.A. Stephens, Matador 79244

Motley County Teacher and Student Attend 32nd Annual Texas Energy Science Symposium

Motley County Science Teacher, Jeff Piper, Scott Salsbury, and Kit Horne, West Texas Utilities Representative.

Fifty-two outstanding high school students and teachers from West Texas Utilities' service area attended the 32nd Annual Texas Energy Science Symposium at the University of Texas at Austin. The conference got underway Tuesday, June 9th and ended Friday, June 12th.

Sponsored by WTU from Matador were Jeff Piper, teacher, Scott Salsbury, student and Kit Horne, WTU representative.

A total of 500 students and teachers throughout the state attended the four day event. Participants had the opportunity to tour some of the finest scientific facilities available and attend lectures and workshops by leading professionals in the scientific field.

The Symposium was jointly sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University of Texas. West Texas Utilities is one of the Foundation's sponsoring companies and paid for all expenses for the 52 students and teachers that attended from their service area.

The foundation was founded for the primary purpose of conducting the world's first and largest privately financed research effort in the field of energy. The goal of the Foundation and WTU is not research alone, but also to broaden knowledge of energy science in Texas schools and to heighten awareness of the privileges and responsibilities that scientific discovery presents.

There are over 1,000 accredited senior high schools in the state of Texas, and West Texas can be proud of their schools for being chosen to send teachers and students to the Symposium.

Luther Green Retraces Infantryman's March to Memorial for 10th Mountain Division

by Marisue Potts

World War II veteran Luther Green recently visited the site of a memorial highway near Austin dedicated to his World War II fighting unit. "10th Mountain Division Memorial Highway" which runs through Elgin and Bastrop to the state capitol was designated by House Bill 1506 in May of 1991 to honor one of the toughest fighting units of World War II.

The crack unit's rigorous infantry training at Camp Swift in Bastrop County has enhanced with skills learned in the Rocky Mountains, including skiing, military skiing, rock climbing, and loading ammunition on pack mules. Many of the soldiers had been trained at Camp Hale, Colorado, where they learned to live in temperatures as low as 38 degrees below zero and sleep in the snow during the greater part of the winter.

The 10th lived up to its hard-earned reputation gained in warfare against the Japanese banzai attacks in the Aleutians of the far North by distinguishing itself in the remote and lofty crags of Italy where eight strong Nazi divisions had taken strategic hill positions in the fall of 1943.

For even the hardened 10th Mountain Division, Green recalled the fighting was long and costly. After bitter hand-to-hand combat and a prolonged bombardment which reduced stronghold Mount Cassino to rubble, the Allies entered Rome in May 1944, just before the D-Day invasion of France.

For Luther Green, the bittersweet memories of his association with the 10th light division, are symbolized by the crossed sabers on a highway sign in central Texas, and immortalized by the words "10th Mountain Division Memorial Highway."

MHMR Posthumously Honors Judge Whitaker

Judge Boyce Hart, Lucretia Campbell, Beverly Whitaker, and MHMR Board Chairman, W.W. Allen.

Past Motley County Judge, Billy Joe Whitaker was a member of the Board of Trustees of the Central Plains Center for Mental Health Retardation and Substance Abuse for seven years. A framed picture of Judge Whitaker was presented to his wife, Beverly, and to Motley County by Judge Boyce Hart, shown above.

When Judge Whitaker began his tenure on the Board of Trustees he commented, "I want to serve the mentally retarded and handicapped to the best of my ability." According to Board Chairman, W.W. Allen, Judge Whitaker

"Served well and made a significant contribution to the Center."

Lucretia Campbell replaced Judge Whitaker as a member of the Board of Trustees, representing Motley County and according to Chairman Allen, "has what it takes to make a fine Board Member and has already contributed greatly to the success and continued growth of the Center." "Motley County can be proud of the part these two fine people have played in representing their county and those in the area with problems relating to mental health, mental retardation and substance abuse," says Mr. Allen.

State Comptroller Sends June Sales Tax Rebates To Texas Cities And Counties

State Comptroller John Sharp today sent a total of $105.6 million in June sales tax rebates to 934 Texas cities and 105 counties, a 7 percent increase over the payments of one year ago.

Another $142.5 million in quarterly payments went to six transit authorities in the state's largest cities.

Texas cities received $94.9 million, up 7 percent over the $88.6 million they received last June. Counties received a total of $10.7 million in June rebates, a 9.8 percent increase over June, 1991, rebates totaling $9.7 million.

The City of Houston received a payment of $14.1 million, the largest city sales tax rebate for June, down 5.6 percent from the city's $14.9 million in June of 1991.

"Houston's economy remains positive, despite a decrease in the rate of employment driven in part by continued weakness in the struggling oil and gas industry and reduced demand in the manufacturing sector. Both trends are reflected in Houston's 1992 payments to date of $102.1 million, down a fraction from the

GETTING READY FOR HOME CANNING SEASON

As the spring and summer season approaches with its abundance of fresh fruits and vegetables, those wanting to do home canning will want to be sure their equipment is ready and working properly. Proper equipment for home canning is a necessity. One of the major reasons for spoilage of home canned foods is faulty or improper equipment.

Standard canning jars, lids and rings are a basic need. If you wish to reuse canning jars you have at home, check the tops carefully for nicks, cracks or dents. Any with a defect will not do for canning; they will prevent an airtight seal. Standard canning jars imprinted with the manufacturer's name are necessary. They are tempered to withstand the high heat treatment necessary for canning. Mayonnaise, peanut butter and other commercial jars are not made to withstand extreme heat and may break or not seal properly.

Previously used metal lid rings may be reused if they are not rusty or dented. New self-seal lid rings are necessary. Old lids cannot be reused because the remaining sealing compound will not be adequate to make a seal.

The type of canner needed will depend on the type of food canned. For foods high in natural acids, fruits, most tomatoes, pickles and relishes, jams and preserves, a boiling-water bath canner is needed. Commercial water-bath canners (boiling-water bath canners) are available, but one can be improvised with a few pieces of equipment. Any large kettle with straight sides, a tight-fitting lid and a rack to keep jars off the bottom of the kettle can be used. The kettle should be deep enough to hold the jars on the rack upright and still allow one to two inches of boiling water over the top of the jars.

A pressure canner is needed for most vegetables, meats, fish and poultry. These foods are low in natural acids and require a higher heat treatment than is possible with boiling water. Pressure must be added to reach these temperatures. A pressure canner cannot be improvised. Purchase of the pressure canner may be the most expensive initial investment for canning.

Pressure canners come with either a dial or weighted gauge. Those with a dial must be tested for accuracy at least once a year to ensure proper operation. Pressure canners also have to be checked to be sure they are airtight. Gaskets which help seal the edges of the canners and lids may have to be replaced. Canning equipment may be found at hardware stores or the cookware sections of department stores. In some locations, it may be necessary to order equipment from the company itself. Purchasing equipment or replacement parts by order, as well as having canners tested, may take time, so plan ahead.

Other items that are helpful to have on hand for canning are a jar lifter and a funnel, as well as regular kitchen items such as tongs, clean cloths, hot pads, timer or clock, knives, spoons, colander and pans. Because only the freshest produce should be used for canning, it may be wise to arrange for sources of produce ahead of time. Local garden producers, farmer's markets and grocers are potential sources. Because produce at exactly the right stage for canning must be processed immediately, arrange schedules to allow for adequate time. Sources of pickling salt, vinegar, spices and commercial pectin can also be checked out ahead of time if pickles, jams or jellies are desired.

Home canning requires time and patience but it can provide safe, nutritious foods if done properly. The county Extension office may be a source of information for canning questions as well as manufacturers of canning equipment and supplies.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are for people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

A DAD'S GOOD FOR LOTS OF THINGS A MOM CAN'T DO

A father is a useful thing for a kid to have because:

- A father is good for putting worms on a fishhook.
- A father is good for helping you learn to ride a two-wheel bike because he can run alongside to catch you faster than your mother.
- A father is good for getting you drinks of water at night.
- A father is good for telling your great-aunt you don't want her to kiss you in public.
- A father is good for helping you with your homework for about two years after your mother gives up, but not after seventh grade.
- A father is good for explaining to your mother why it's not such a huge crime to tear your pants sliding into second base.
- A father is good for showing you how to tie a tie when your mother makes you wear one.
- A father is good for fixing your wagon and your bike and your car racing set, if your mother keeps reminding him enough.
- A father is good for teaching you how to play catch.
- A father is good for letting you run the power mower while your mother is still saying "Oh-dear-do-you-really-think-he's-old-enough-for-that?"
- A father is good for telling you the meaning of words you don't want to ask your mother.
- A father is good for showing off at Cub Scout dinners.
- A father is good for scary nights when you wake up frightened from a bad dream.
- A father is good for explaining to your mother why you want to get a set of drums instead of taking violin lessons.
- A father is good for an advance on your allowance, especially when he forgot you had one last week.
- A father is good for fixing bloody noses, but mothers are better for bad colds.
- A father is good for carrying you when you are tired and your mother won't stop shopping.
- A father is good for telling your mother that he never ate peas when he was little and he turned out all right.
- A father is good for holding you up so you don't get water up your nose when you're trying to learn to swim.
- A father is good for chauffeuring you when you want to go, especially if you can teach him not to talk much after you are 13 and your friends are in the car.
- A father is good for helping your mother understand why you can't be clean all the time.
- A father is good for keeping your mother happy so she doesn't yell at you so much.

Mental Health

by Ron Trusler

NOTE: Ron Trusler, M.Ed., L.P.C. is Assistant Executive Director Central Plains Center for Mental Health, Mental Retardation and Substance Abuse.

"NORMAL" FAMILIES ARE THREATENED

If there were an association made up of the "normal" families, there would be few, if any, members. We hear about children being damaged because the "normal" family or traditional family is an endangered species.

I agree with Dr. Froma Walsh, Professor at University of Chicago, when he says that "most contemporary families...don't fit the picture of the "normal" family idealized by our society. There is a poor fit between their real life situations and the "Leave it to Beaver" model...of the intact family with father as breadwinner...and mother as homemaker." (Family Therapy News, vol. 23, April 1992, AAMFT).

That type of family arrangement has been labeled "traditional/normal" and sometimes it has been called "healthy", when actually, it only represented middle-class life in the 50's and early 60's. Besides that, it may have not been all that healthy, especially for women. Families are still looking to models like that and if they fall short of it, they feel guilty or that their family is wrong because it is not "normal." Maybe we shouldn't be asking what is wrong with our family so much as asking what is wrong with what is expected from our models.

I am not sure if very many families today fit the picture of what is "traditional." Today's normal family covers a lot of territory: dual-wage earner families, unmarried single-parent, divorced and remarried families. Then I guess we will look at "The Brady Bunch" as being the standard "normal." We will be off and running again following more myths.

Whatever your family make-up is, focus on making that as healthy as possible. If you are single, divorced, remarried, same or one-marriage, adopted, whatever - make your situation emotionally, physically, and spiritually as functional as you want - then you will be normal!

Amy's Anecdotes

by Amy Woolsey

Father's Day is Sunday—it has snuck up on me again. I never know what to get him. He's not the type of person to buy a tie for or any of that sort of stuff. He's just a normal country man.

He's been through alot. Moving into the "big city" of Roaring Springs, having a son get married and then a week from Father's Day (actually 6 days) his daughter will be getting married. That's not too good of a present I don't guess. Maybe, he is getting a new son-in-law.

I love my daddy. He will always be my number one man. Know matter how many times he can make me mad by saying no, I'll always love him.

Dad, I know that this may not be the biggest Father's Day present or the most expensive, but it is from the bottom of my heart.

I love you very much. Thank you for all the love you have given me over the years. You are very special to me. You always will be. I hope you have a wonderful Father's Day! You most definitely deserve it. I love you!! HAPPY FATHER'S DAY DAD!!

The mother said firmly, "If you two boys can't agree, I'll take your pie away." "But we do agree," answered the younger one. "Bill wants the biggest piece, and so do I." "Everyone," says the Bible, "looks out for his own interests." But while selfishness aims for profit and pleasure it loses both, and becomes a successful failure. The real Christian lives for others. His pleasure is to please others. His joy is in giving, not getting. His satisfaction is in serving, not being served. Doing nothing for others is the undoing of yourself. Live for self and you'll live in vain; live for the Lord and you'll live again.

Patton Springs Students Have Party '92 Uh-Huh!

Following graduation commencement exercises on Friday night, May 29, 1992, the Patton Springs High School students and dates "got the right one, baby, uh-huh" partied at the fourth annual substance-free graduation celebration.

The dance began as doors were locked at 10:30 p.m. with all types of music provided by talented Patton Springs ex-student Mike Porter of Dickens who also assisted with the games and activities during the night.

The newest video releases were enjoyed throughout the night along with all anyone could consume of the 18 feet of submarine sandwiches, chips, ice cream sundaes, snacks, and sodas.

Limbo and hula hoop contests hilariously entertained partygoers and on-lookers. The limbo contest was won by Dana Kay Mayfield and David Zepeda. Christy Taylor won the hula hoop contest hands down. The dance contest winners were: Two Step, Jimmy Niblock and Kalico Karr; Waltz, Clayt Bridge and Kalico Karr; and rock, Tiffany Carter.

When the dance ended, the casino opened and fortunes were made and lost as were tickets to be used at the auction later. Other attempts to collect tickets were achieved (mainly by the freshmen) through various activities such as: Basketball free throw game (1st place, Teddy White; 2nd, Clint Hale, and 3rd, Dustin Porter; Drop the clothes pin in the bottle perume); Jan Jones (2 handmade caps); Allene Hughes (Amagram gift); Billie Willmon (visor, tumblers); Diane Whitaker (disc case and school organizer); Brenda Karr (videos); Ruth Roberts (cash); and Patton Springs ex-students (2 caps).

Dickens: Ponderosa Grocery (ice cream, eggs); Circle G Bar-B-Q (2 dinners); Idle Times Movie Rental (2 video rentals); Joyce Edwards (donuts); Payless Pkg. Store (ice);

Spur: Dickens Electric Coop., Inc. (cash); Cap Rock Telephone Co. (colas); West Texas Utilities (cash); Lawrence Bros. Grocery (sundae/breakfast foods); Texas Spur (cash); Dairy Queen (ice cream dishes);

Matador: Texas T's & Floral (t-shirt discount); Guys & Gals (gift certificate); Matador V&S Variety (gift certificate, Clairol Set, tent); Pay-N-Save Grocery, (chips).

Lubbock: Ben E. Keith (turkey); Pepsi Cola Distributors, Adam Castro and David Bender (drinks, frisbees, wallets, sunshades, and caps).

The donations taken up at the Spring Fling on April 24 and the money made from the vest raffle were used to buy the t-shirts, CD player, TV, mall money, camera, and various other prizes. A special thanks is extended to all the members of the communities of Dickens and Afton who donated the delicious varieties of food for the night.

Sincere thanks to the following chaperones: Sue Jones, Janie and Tim Walker, Deloris Barfield, Brenda Karr, Jane Bridge, Willita Burkes, Angie Burkes, Arlene and Billy Wallace, Lily and Bill Dove, Rob Kyle, Gayle Taylor, Polly Brinson, Jan Jones, Donna and Andy Anderson, Tammy Roberts, Jim and Diane Whitaker, Gwen and Charley McMath, Robert Herrington, Barbara Stephenson, Larry McClenny and Angie Brinson.

Farmers Home Administration Guaranteed Housing Loans Are Now Available

TEMPLE -- Neal Sox Johnson, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration in Texas, is pleased to announce that it is now accepting applications from approved lenders such as banks, savings and loans, and Federal Land Banks for Guaranteed Single-Family Housing Loans.

Guaranteed Single-Family Housing Loans are loans whose funding is backed by the support of the FmHA, the lending agency of the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA). They offer opportunities for home ownership to families of moderate and low income who otherwise are unable to afford a conventional loan or credit elsewhere. Guaranteed Loans may furthermore be made for up to 100% of the value of the property, and income is considered as a factor when establishing monthly payments. The Farmers Home Administration is proud to bring the FmHA Guaranteed Housing Program to its neighbors in the surrounding community. In keeping with this commitment, FmHA will work with its approved lenders to ensure that rural citizens have an equal opportunity to fulfill the American Dream of home ownership.

For further information and a list of approved lenders, please contact Larry Clements at 314 Willard Ave. in Spur, or call 271-4562. They will be happy to assist you with your home ownership needs.

Farmers Home Administration, as an Equal Opportunity Lender, makes loans or grants to individuals or groups and guarantees to approved lenders without regard to race, creed, or ethnic origin. Compliments of discrimination should be sent to: Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

$102.8 million sent during the same six month period in 1991," Sharp said.

The $9.2 million payment to Dallas in June was the second largest, down 2.2 percent from the $9.4 million sent the city for the same period last year. Nevertheless, year to date payments of $62.2 million continue to show some improvement, a slight increase over $62.1 million sent the city in the first six months of 1991.

"Eroded consumer confidence and other recessionary woes have resulted in cancellation or delay of many construction projects and dampened demand for manufactured goods. Strong job gains in the government, services, transportation and trade sectors in Dallas have helped to balance losses in other sectors," said Sharp. "Continued growth in services and government employment contributed to the $5.4 million rebate to San Antonio, the third largest payment in June and a 6.3 percent hike over the June 1991 payment of $5.1 million to the Alamo City.

THE FACTS ABOUT "MEDIGAP" INSURANCE

Many Medicare beneficiaries buy health insurance to supplement their Medicare coverage. This extra insurance is commonly called "Medigap" insurance. If you are planning to buy this type of insurance, you should know that there is now a law that protects you from paying for coverage that duplicates your other health insurance.

Since November 1991, it is illegal for an insurance company or agent to sell you a health insurance policy that provides any of the coverage you get from Medicare, Medicaid, or from any private health insurance you already have. This is true even if the new policy would pay benefits without regard to the other coverage.

The sale of more than one Medigap policy to a beneficiary comes under special scrutiny. If you want to replace an existing policy, you'll have to sign a statement declaring you'll drop the old policy when the new one is in place. You'll have 30 days to review the new policy and decide if you want to keep it. If you're eligible for Medicaid, you can be sold a Medigap policy only if the state pays the premium.

For Medicare beneficiaries age 65 or older, the law provides a one-time, six-month period during which you can select a Medigap policy without worrying about being turned down for health reasons.

The six-month period always begins the first month in which Part B (medical insurance) becomes effective for a beneficiary age 65 or older.

During the open enrollment period, a Medigap insurer may not deny you a policy or place conditions on the policy based on your health status, past claims experience, or medical condition. If you are in poor health, an insurer may not discriminate against you by charging you a higher premium than that charged anyone else who enrolls during this period. If you are 65 or older and a new Part B enrollee, it's important to remember that the first six months that your coverage is in effect is your Medigap open enrollment period.

A 1992 "Guide to Health Insurance for People with Medicare" has just been released by the Health Care Financing Administration, the federal agency that runs the Medicare program. This guide describes Medigap coverage and policies. It is available from our office at 201 West 4th Street.

Pre-season expectations for the size of the 1992 Boll Weevil Diapause Control Program have changed dramatically according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers. So far 1992 has gone from having the potential to be the largest in the 29-year history of the program to being relatively small.

The catalyst for the turn-around is the weather. The same rain and cool temperatures that devastated much of the High Plains in the last few weeks have also created an unwelcome scenario for overwintering boll weevils as they emerge from hibernation.

"What the rains have done is to create a situation similar to an enforced delayed uniform planting date," explains Roger Haldenby, PCG Boll Weevil Program Coordinator. "The reduction in cotton acreage, and the delayed start much of the crop will have, makes the climate very inhospitable for emerging boll weevils." Haldenby notes that weather conditions which have so far devastated 700,000 to one million acres of cotton have also deprived boll weevils of a necessary food and reproductive source.

Boll weevils primary food sources are the fruiting squares and small bolls of young cotton. The late start of this year's crop means that the remaining cotton plants will not begin fruiting until later and weevils that have come out of overwintering will starve from the lack of food.

The boll weevil reproduces by laying its eggs in the developing boll, known as a third grown square. It is unlikely that many emerging weevils will be able to survive until cotton reaches this stage resulting in a suicidal emergence that will minimize the first generation of new weevils.

Suicidal emergence occurs when boll weevils come out of overwintering habitat too early and are not able to survive until they can find food and lay eggs that will start off next generation. The opposite situation is known as effective emergence, this occurs when weevils emerge late enough to survive until they can feed and lay eggs.

Haldenby notes that trap catches have increased dramatically in the last week indicating that we are known at, or approaching peak weevil emergence, he explained that all cotton in the PCG control zone, on the High Plains and in the Rolling Plains has been severely set back by adverse weather in the past two to three weeks.

"In almost all areas weevil emergence remains suicidal as the available cotton is not viable as either a food or reproductive source," says Haldenby.

He adds that the delays in getting this crop to a stand could also delay the mapping of cotton acres inside the control zone. Cotton acres inside the control zone are usually mapped beginning the first week of July when cotton fields are becoming easily identifiable.
