"Unbelievable" Feat Accomplished Sunday

HALF A BILLION people, all over the world watched television screens showing Neil A. Armstrong, followed by Edwin E. Aldrin, walk on the surface of the moon as a third member of the space pioneering team, Michael Collins, circled the moon in the command ship Columbia.

The world watched the most dramatic moment in the history of man's dreams.

The daring men of space are speeding back to the earth and are due for splashdown in South Pacific today. They bear with them 80 pounds of substance material gathered from the surface of the moon. They are scheduled to go into quarantine immediately upon landing and remain isolated until scientists are positive no possible contamination is contained in the samples from the lunar surface. Government offices and many places of business throughout the nation declared Monday a holiday in honor of the moonlanding achievement.

The world will be watching again today through the medium of television as the astronauts aboard the historic Apollo 11 return to the earth.

Jeanette Day Attends National FHA Convention at Fort Collins, Colorado

Miss Jeanette Day, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Day, returned home Friday from the National Future Homemakers of America convention which was held last Monday through Thursday, July 14-17 at Fort Collins, Colorado. Saturday afternoon Mrs. Day and Mrs. Bennie Keltz accompanied Jeanette, who is Area Treasurer, to Amarillo where she joined other Texas Area I officers and three advisors and flew to Denver. The group spent Saturday night in Denver and attended church services Sunday morning in Trinity Methodist Church. Following the services they toured points of interest in Denver including the birthplace of Mrs. Marnie Eisenhower, the Denver zoo and Colorado state capitol. Area I girls joined other state delegations and rode buses to Colorado State University at Fort Collins, site for the national meeting.

Included on the program for the four-days meet were outstanding speakers, business meetings, fun sessions, idea swap-shops, the introduction of a new four-year

National Program of Work, and the election of twelve national officers for 1969-70. Entertaining at the convention were the Koshare Indians of La Junta, Colorado. The "tribe" is actually a group of Boy Scouts ranging from ages 15-18, who have researched ceremonial dances of Indian tribes and perform these dances all over the world, wearing their own original costumes. The famous "Westerners" of Cheyenne, Wyoming staged a rodeo for the conventioners at the University Rodeo Arena. Approximately 2000 delegates were divided into different workshop groups to plan how to present the new National Program of Work to local chapters of FHA. Miss Day was chosen a group leader, which means she presented ideas of different sections to the group. The youth delegates of FHA plan and conduct their own national meeting and each state delegation has a particular responsibility during the conference. The 119 girls attending from Texas were hostesses for one of the general sessions.

GREEN LIGHT SHINING FOR HOSPITAL

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

A new design has been woven into man's sublime spirit of adventure which has driven him to the threshold of the stars. The impossible achievement is now ready for the archives of history, with his footprints on the pathless surface of the moon.

Decay is a mill that turns slowly and without sound to reduce to dust all the things that mortal hands have created. The pattern of a dream remains at Madrid, New Mexico where a massive coal mining industry once flourished. It is empty now except for a few buildings which are kept lighted by wax from the lamps of tourists. The massive mills are long silent, and the last whisp of smoke has vanished from the tall, rusting stacks. Rows of empty houses face weed-covered, eroded streets, where children once played. The windows are gone and doors swing in haunting surrender to the will of mountain winds. The laughter, the tears and the dreams of a hundred homes have been absorbed by years of silence. Here is the graveyard of an industry where men worked and sweated to provide the need of families; in the decaying homes must be floors on which women once knelt and prayed.

Most of the gold mines of New Mexico are now closed. There is a richer vein of wealth on the highways, which can be dug much easier. Possibly the most productive locations are the Neon-lighted motels which provide luxury that few can afford and everyone demands. The theory, of course, is that the tourist is determined to spend some money, and facilities have been provided to make it impossible for him to escape.

Discontent is a legacy which must be invested with dedicated effort to prevent the heir from becoming a tramp.

Bannisters are not provided on the stairways to achievement, and some of the steps are far apart.

Prairie Fires Strike Again

More valuable range grass has been consumed in the past week by prairie fires. A fire Friday night in western Cottle County was brought under control after it destroyed grass on the Bird Ranch, the J. C. Clary Ranch and some on the Swenson Ranch.

School Dropouts May Get Diplomas

High school dropouts who enter the service may return to get their diploma under the GI Bill according to Jack Coker, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco.

The VA will pay veterans up to $130 a month (if single and they are full-time students—more if they have dependents). Those attending adult evening school will be enrolled at half-time rate.

These payments will not reduce their college or on-the-job training benefits, Coker said.

A number of colleges and universities have embarked on new programs for returning veterans who do not possess a diploma but do desire a higher education. However, such veterans must meet certain qualifications established by the institutions and the VA.

Upon discharge, veterans should file at the nearest VA office for certificates of eligibility even though they may not use them immediately. This will save time when they later apply for schooling or on-the-job training.

The VA Manager also reminded veterans who wish to become policemen or firemen that there are benefits under the GI Bill for these approved courses.
