

San Angelo Mayor Commits Suicide Canyon Bank Looted After Official And Wife Kidnaped

Sheriff And Five Others Held Captive

Couple Carried To Bank, Held Five Hours By Two Men

$13,379 In Cash Taken; Banker Made to Work Combination

BORGER, Jan. 10 (AP)—Two men suspected of participating in the robbery of the First National bank at Canyon of more than $13,000 today were arrested here tonight by police and held until officers from Amarillo could be sent for. District Attorney Edward W. Thompson and a deputy sheriff took the prisoners back to Amarillo.

CANYON, Texas, Jan. 10 (AP)—Two men who robbed the First National Bank of $13,379.61, after blindfolding and gagging the sheriff and five other persons, including two officials of the bank, and waiting almost five hours for the time lock to spring were still at large late today while officers continued their search, under handicap of rain and snow and muddy highways.

Although officers were in pursuit within a few minutes after the robbery occurred at 9:10 o'clock, no word had been received and officers did not expect an arrest tonight.

Going to the home of Levi Cole, assistant cashier, at 4:30 o'clock Saturday morning, the two men forced their way into the house, made Cole and his wife dress and accompany them to the bank, then convinced that the money could not be obtained until the time lock worked, sat down and talked to their captives during a five-hour vigil.

Blindfolded Cole and his wife had been blindfolded with wide strips of adhesive tape, and their mouths had been criss-crossed with the tape to prevent them from calling for help. At the banks, they were bound to their chairs with soft picture frame wire, and left in a cloak room in the rear of the building.

James Cole, brother of the assistant cashier, led himself into the bank at 8:30 o'clock. He was covered with a gun as he entered, taken to the rear door and likewise bound and gagged.

One of the robbers opened the door for Miss Christine Upchurch, another employe, when she arrived about 9 o'clock. She received the same treatment as the others.

W. C. Black, cashier, went to the bank at 9:10 o'clock to find the door still locked, not suspecting anything wrong, he unlocked the door and entered, where he was bound and gagged.

Levi Cole was then taken from the room, and instructed to work the combination on the vault, the bandage having been removed from his eyes.

All cash in the vault was taken excepting $402 in gold, in a sack that was overlooked. As the men fled, they dropped a sack containing $520 in silver. Negotiable papers and records were not disturbed, and the women were told to keep their rings. The captives were not searched.

Many Pennies
Officers were encouraged by the announcement that $20 worth of Indian head pennies were in the loot.

As soon as the robbers fled, the bank filled with persons who witnessed the getaway, and the captives were released. One of the bank officials went to Amarillo for cash to conduct the day's business and to pay off any calls that might be made by depositors. The loot was covered by insurance.

Both men wore masks and mechanist caps, but were well-dressed beneath blue duck jumpers, which were thrown off as they left the bank. One of the men talked with a foreign accent. It was said.

New Legislation Discussed

Moist Weather In Many Sections Of State Continuing

Thick, chilling weather, with heavy fog, a steady fine drizzle amounting to about one-tenth of an inch of precipitation for 24 hours ending last night were followed here by forecast of partly cloudy weather today without much change in temperature. Delays in arrival of buses coming in over highway No. 9 and cancellation of all air mail schedules because of lack of visibility were the chief results of the day's disagreeable weather.

(By The Associated Press)
Moisture much needed by farm lands and pastures throughout the state extended across Texas Saturday from Amarillo on the north-west to the Gulf Coast on the south. An all-day drizzle at Amarillo turned into snow at 5 p. m. and at Vega, 30 miles westward, the ground was covered with five inches of snow. Precipitation at Amarillo had totaled .22 of an inch. Moisture was general over the Panhandle, extending west to Tucumcari, south over the south plains and east to Memphis. Plainview reported .18 of an inch of rain. A slow rain began in Dallas just before nightfall and from reports received, extended across most of North Texas.

Southward, drizzling rain extended to Waco, Austin, San Antonio, Port Arthur, Beaumont, Houston and Galveston, Port Arthur reporting precipitation of .47 of an inch.

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Jan. 10 (AP)—Drizzling rain which continued throughout the day and continued into the night Saturday, along with the forecast of colder weather Sunday, threatened to give the Wichita Falls area its first real taste of winter weather this season. Precipitation totaled .17 of an inch at nightfall.

ABILENE, Texas, Jan. 10 (AP)—Slow rains varying from one-fourth inch to one inch fell over this section of West Texas Friday night and Saturday, and the forecast was for continued rains Sunday. Other points reporting precipitation included Baird, Cisco, Anson, Stamford, Moran, Knox City, Colorado, Sweetwater, Ballinger and Brady.

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 10 (AP)—A heavy blanket of mist has covered this section of West Texas since before noon Friday. Maximum temperature today was 50, minimum last night 40. Roads are slick but precipitation is less than a half inch for the two days.

Chamber of Commerce Banquet Date, Annual Program To Be Framed

Members of the Chamber of Commerce, to whom printed ballots were mailed last week for a vote to elect 10 directors for two-year terms, were urged yesterday by Manager C. T. Watson to mark their ballots as directed thereon and mail them back to the Chamber.

Officials are especially anxious that every individual and firm paying dues into the organization cast a ballot, as this method of selecting directors was chosen to make more certain choices would be entirely democratic.

SHE WANTED TO GO WITH HUSBAND WHEN BANDITS TOLD HIM TO COME ALONG

CANYON, Texas, Jan. 10 (AP)—Relatives of Mrs. Levi Cole say she is ordinarily a nervous woman, but when her husband is in the hands of bank bandits she prefers to go along. "My husband was so nervous I was afraid he would do the wrong thing and get shot, so I asked them to take me, too," Mrs. Cole said. "They wanted to bind and gag me and leave me at home." Mrs. Cole, who spent almost five hours blindfolded, gagged and bound while two men held her and her husband captives before robbing the First National Bank, was calm when the experience was over. "I heard the dog barking, then a few minutes later saw a light shining through a crack beneath our door," she said. "The two men walked into the room, turned a flashlight on us and ordered us to get up and dress, saying they were going to rob the bank. They told us not to turn on a light. When we went into another room to get our heavy coats they went with us. 'That's a good dog you have; he chased us out of the back yard, one of them said. They were very nice and courteous. They said they hated to commit robbery, but that their wives and babies had to eat. They would not let us turn on a light, or light a fire at the bank. It was terribly cold. One of them pulled off a coat and put it around me, and my husband gave me his overcoat, with their assistance. They asked me if I wanted some gum to chew. "It was a long wait, but I was scared only for my husband, thought they might take him with them. Five hours is a long time not to see or talk. "I think those fellows had been watching us two or three days. They were well acquainted with the premises. They opened the door with a file after the dog chased them out of the back yard."

Redistricting May Develop Sharp Debate

Bond Issue Continues Uppermost In Pre-Session Talk

METCALFE TAKES LEAD
Rural-Urban Clash On New Representation Basis Seen

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 10 (AP)—Two questions, one the state highway bond issue and the other legislative and congressional redistricting, occupied most of the pre-session discussion of the legislature as they brooded about House and Senate chambers today. Sentiment for and against these two measures rapidly was crystallizing, indicating that either might cause a serious rift.

From the discussion it also appeared likely that rural and city representation would be at odds on both questions, numerous rural members expressing opposition to the bond issue plan and to the redistricting proposal of Representative Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo, the only one drafted so far, which would distribute representation on a straight 38,000 population basis.

The senate caucus was set for Tuesday with tentative announcement of the president of the senate, De Kalb at the helm of the important senate finance committee and Joe Moore of Greenville at the head of the state affairs committee. Other committee assignments placed Oliver C. Cunningham of Abilene as chairman of agricultural affairs; Walter C. Woodward of Coleman, chairman of civil jurisprudence; Charles S. Cain of Bryan, chairman of contingent expense; C. C. Small of Wellington, chairman of criminal jurisprudence; Margie E. Neal of Carthage, chairman of education.

Projected legislation flew thick and fast wherever legislators gathered. There was considerable agitation for truck and bus regulation that would effectively control operation of these vehicles. Representative J. O. Johnson of Omaha said he would favor a proposal to increase license fees of trucks and buses to where they would actually pay for damage to the roads.

Johnson expressed the opinion a bond issue would pass if presented in proper form and guaranteed the state would have power to place on users of the road and not on owners of real property and would take up outstanding county bonds. He said he would favor the plan if presented in this form, pointing out it would enable the state to proceed with its primary construction and permit counties to improve the feeder roads.

Several members, however, were unqualifiedly against any kind of bond issue and several more said they were maintaining an open mind on the question.

Any move to give the cities additional representation will meet with bitter opposition. Johnson and other members favoring a plan to increase the population of city districts and spread the representation out as much as possible.

Utilities
One of the important measures scheduled for presentation early was a bill to create a public utilities commission to have power to investigate rate structures of all utility corporations. The commission would be a fact-finding body and would have power to determine the items of expense to be used by utilities in arriving at the rate to be charged. It also would be empowered to pass on the fairness of rates.

Renewal of the fight to legalize boxing was seen when arriving members were greeted with copies of a bill to establish a state athletic commission of three members to regulate the art of boxing, sparring and wrestling exhibitions and performances. The bill would allow the commissioners $10 per day and traveling expenses for time devoted to the commission. It would have jurisdiction over all boxing and wrestling matches given by any club, corporation or association with an annual fee of $500 charged for each license. A tax of ten per cent of the gross receipts from ticket sales would be charged by the commission in favor of the state treasury.

Hoover Refuses Senate Request On Nominations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—President Hoover today refused the senate's request for return of the nominations of three of the five members of the new power commission.

The senate promptly voted to replace their names on its calendar of unfinished business. Just how the impasse is to be settled was uncertain tonight. In the eyes of the senate there is no power commission. President Hoover gave notice the three commissioners in dispute — Chairman Smith, Marcel Garzaud and Claude Draper — would carry on under their previous confirmation by the senate.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, notified the senate after Mr. Hoover's message had been read that he would oppose any appropriation for salaries for the three commissioners when the supply bill carrying these funds is taken up by the senate.

To Press
Mr. Hoover followed his brief formal notice to the senate of his decision to return the nominations with a statement to the press asserting he was resisting by his action an encroachment by the legislative on the executive branch of the government. He also scored any attempt to symbolize him as "the defender of power interests if I refuse to allow the senate to dictate to an administrative board the appointment of its subordinates, and if I refuse to allow fundamental encroachment by the senate upon the constitutional independence of the executive."

This statement stirred another row in the senate where Senator Wheeler insisted no one had accused the president of defending the "power trust."

"But," he added, "it would seem now by his actions today that he was attempting to protect those who are defending power interests and punishing those who are diligently fighting for the people's rights."

Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, shortly retorted that "no act existed" for accusing the president of such an attitude. Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, moved that the senate instruct its executive clerk to replace the names of the three nominees on the senate's calendar. He said the senate, in voting yesterday to reconsider the nominees, necessitated such action regardless of the decision of the president. However, he said it would be "entirely futile" in view of Mr. Hoover's position in the row to seek to reject formally the nominees. Walsh's motion carried, 36 to 23.

Message
The president in his message to the senate simply stated he had been advised that the appointments were constitutionally made and the consent of the senate formally given, and that reconsideration by the senate would not disturb the commissioners in their offices.

"I regret that I must refuse to accede to the requests," he said. In his later statement to the press, the president gave his views at greater length and concluded: "I regret that the government should be absorbed upon such questions as the action of the power commission in employment of two subordinate officials at a time when every condition of the country requires every constructive energy."

COURT CRIMINAL APPEALS MUST DECIDE FATE OF MAN CONDEMNED TO DIE WHO ADMITTEDLY DID NOT GET FAIR TRIAL IN TEXAS COURT

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 10 (AP)—Up on the criminal court of Texas, highest criminal appeals tribunal, has fallen the onerous task of deciding whether the state may take the life of a man who admittedly did not have a fair and impartial trial.

Dave Goodwin, illiterate 41-year-old farmer of Bowie county over in the river bottom country near Texarkana, was sentenced to die in the electric chair for the murder of Lloyd Elliott, another farmer in a quarrel over a hog, allegedly stolen.

Ely Comments On Highway Question In Howard County; Would Rush Work But Not Urging County Bond Issues

The state highway department still is anxious to pave highways 9 and 1 in Howard county if the county will vote bonds to raise money for one-third of the cost, minus credit of $225,000 in county funds for money spent several years ago on the topping on No. 1.

That was the statement made here late Friday by Judge W. R. Ely of Abilene, chairman of the highway commission, who stopped for dinner at the Settlers enroute to his home from a business trip to Crane.

But, Judge Ely added, "it is absolutely immaterial to the department whether Howard county votes bonds or not. We have $10,000,000 in federal money and state money to match it, that will be spent by September 1. But, we also have approximately $5,000,000 in county funds in banks to be matched by state and federal aid.

Not Urging
"Therefore," he continued, "we are not urging any county to vote bonds. We will gladly go right ahead with Howard county's program, though, because your highways are so important and have been neglected so greatly in comparison with those of other of the more populous West Texas counties."

He was high in praise of the spirit shown in Andrews county, which voted $200,000 in bonds Thursday to pave highway 137 north and south across that county.

"The business men of Lubbock had a large part in putting the Andrews county issue over," he said. "There are about ten counties on the plains that have already voted bonds. Amarillo will be the center of the 'hot spot' of highway construction for the next two years. "I was greatly disappointed in Big Spring in the recent election. I had figured the vote here would have denoted more interest in highway work."

A. A. Glover Jumps From Sixth Floor

Dependency Over Health and Finances Believed Cause

PROMINENT CITIZEN
Native West Texan Known As Successful Business Man

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Jan. 10 (AP)—Mayor A. A. Glover of San Angelo jumped to his death from the sixth floor of a local bank building at 8 o'clock this morning. A verdict of suicide was returned by Justice of Peace E. E. Gray. Death was instantaneous.

Mr. Glover had been worried for months over ill health and private financial reverses, his friends said. He was vice-president and general manager of the Martin Glover Company and a native West Texan. For years he had been prominent in civic affairs of the city. He was a Royal Arch Mason and a member of the Knights of Pythias. He was a charter member of the Kiwanis Club and for years had served on charity committees of the city. He was a member of the Methodist church. He was chosen mayor of San Angelo in 1929. Mr. Glover was 62 years old.

Survivors
In addition to his widow, Mr. Glover is survived by Clinton A. and Marie Elizabeth, both students in the University of Texas, and another son Eldon G. of San Angelo. Funeral services were set for 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Methodist church.

No one saw the mayor jump. C. A. Meek was loading his truck in the rear of the building and was the first to reach the body. He quickly summoned employes of a nearby furniture store. One of them felt for his pulse and found there was none. They called police.

W. P. Martin of the furniture company, one of the first to reach the body, said: "The back of his head was crushed and blood was spattered everywhere. His glasses bent but unbroken, were lying to one side. His watch had come loose from its chain and was lying nearby."

Sixth Wife Granted Divorce; Cafe Man Says It's Dangerous

FORT WORTH, Jan. 10 (AP)—W. E. Green put six wives to "the test." None of them passed; he told Judge Bruce Young during a hearing in Forty-Eighth district court today at which Mrs. Green No. 6 was granted a divorce. Judge Young philosophized: "This business of getting married after 4 or 5 weeks acquaintance is dangerous. You are taking a chance if you marry after 4 or 5 weeks."

Six Convicts Flee Via Hand-Dug Tunnel

SANTA FE, N. M., Jan. 10 (AP)—Five convicts of the New Mexico penitentiary, who dug a thirty yard tunnel from the bottom of a shaft in a drying kiln in the brick plant to a point outside the outer wall, escaped early today. Warden Ed Swope and former Warden Pat Dugan started a search. The five convicts worked on the night crew to keep the fires going in the brick kilns.

Three Lueders Places Robbed During Night

LUEDERS, Texas, Jan. 10 (AP)—Three early morning "calls" in this Jones county town by burglars who first drove their roadster through the business section on reconnaissance noticed merchandise valued at nearly $300 and $23.85 in cash. The Shipp Drug store was looted of $200 in goods. From the King & Herrick Dry Goods store the burglars took wearing apparel worth $30 to $40. The safe in the Missouri-Kansas-Texas station was robbed of the cash.

Movie Actor's Body Enroute To El Paso

EL PASO, Jan. 10 (AP)—The body of Art Ford, former moving picture actor, who died of poison at Chihuahua City, Mexico, Sunday, will be started today or tomorrow on its way to Los Angeles, Calif., for burial. James B. Graham Post No. 8, American Legion, planned to give the former soldier a military burial in Los Angeles.

The Davis Seaman Post No. 812, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at El Paso, today received instructions from Los Angeles to supervise removal of the body from Mexico. It was uncertain when the body would reach El Paso.

'Don't Be Panicky' Advice Was Vogue Century Ago Says Will

Well all I know is just what amount of night work that was being done. There was also a glut of the Market on Moustache Cups. The Men want buying them like the Producers had thought, they was just letting the old upper lip foliage drain right through the Coffee. It told of the evils of Mass production, that you shouldn't produce faster than the buying power. If I remember I think the Republicans were in them too. And Oh yes, they was going to try and get the Farmer some relief, going to give him some ammunition so he could shoot him some meat to eat. Oh yes, they was going to work on the roads too. The President has just appointed some Commissioners, one to look into and see what the boys are drinking. Now all this was just exactly 100 years ago, so you see every 100 years proves that it will pass away. But it is funny how there is really nothing new under the Sun. I who was glad to get ahold of this old Article for it proves that we have had these things before and lived em down and we can this one. But regardless of bad times we got the Xmas holidays over in fine shape, and the New Years. Biggest excitement over the holidays was "The Young Pioneers" of New York. They put on a Burlesque of Xmas, and the birth of our Saviour, and the Xmas Spirit, that must have been mighty gratifying to their Parents. A Xmas in Russia would just suit them fine. But you just try to pay the fares of any of them and offer to send em, and you would have to call out the Marines. The old Communist preaches his doctrine, but he wants to do it where he is enjoying the blessings of Capitalistic surroundings. He preaches against the Pie, but he sure eats it. Congress adjourned for only a week, so they been back at it again for about ten days. Back at What? Why back at what they back at before? What was they back at before? I dont know but they still back it whatever it was. Some talk of a Special Session after this one is over on March 4th. But its not what you would call by "Popular Demand." Wickersham Committees havent turned in their report yet, so we dont know if the Country is drinking or not, or if so, what? But as soon as they report why we will get that problem straightened out right away. The boys have called him about everything they could think of, and as everybody laughed it off, why they have about decided to let him alone for awhile. McCellar of Tennessee just discovered Xmas week that Hoover had been in England for some time, that about a record for being behind times. Got a nice letter the other day from Barney Baruch. I had about a year and a half ago, just before the crash, sorter half way decided to get a little deal of some kind of stock. Everybody all around me was just rolling so in profits, that it made my little joke telling stimpend seem mighty little. I had never, or havent yet, got a dollar that I didnt tell a joke for, either on stage or paper, so I knowing Barney mighty well, and having a mightly high regard for him personally and as being the last word in business, so in my little talk with him I asked him to invest in his own way a little dab that I thought I could spare. Well I had to naturally tell him something of my affairs, so I told him what I owed, mostly on unimproved Real Estate. Well he liked to have thrown me out of his Wall Street Office. "You owe that much, and you want to take some of your money and buy stocks? Say you go home and pay your debts. Lord knows how long it will take you to do em. But pay what you can of em. You want like this advice, no man does. He dont want to pay his debts as long as he thinks he can make an easy dollar in something else. I wouldnt invest a dollar for you anyhow, things are too high, they dont look good. Now go start paying on your debts." That's the nearest I ever came to owing stock. (I mean outside of a few Horses, and Cattle.) Less than a month from the day I was in his office the Bust came. So every few months he writes me and asks me how I am making out on the debts, and how much I got em whittled down. You know he is kinder the Angel for the Democratic Party, that is if you could call anyone connected with the Democrats an Angel. And he is forever trying to pay em out of debt, so I am writing him, and telling him, that I am just as good a business man as he is. That he cant keep the Democrats out of debt anymore than I can keep myself. So whenever you hear of the Democrats being out of debt I will be too. Copyright 1931, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Louisville-to-Dallas Air Mail Line Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—A new Louisville to Dallas air mail route, announced as a possibility yesterday in connection with the consolidation of Embury-Riddle and Continental air lines, awaits only the legal construction of the word "extension" to be put into effect. Assistant Postmaster General Glover said today the Louisville-Fort Worth route through Nashville, Memphis, and Little Rock to Dallas and Fort Worth had been first on the list of recommendations for extension of the appropriation bill.

How Is Your HEALTH?

Edited by Dr. Iago Goldston for the New York Academy of Medicine

PNEUMONIA VACCINATION

In an editorial comment recently appearing in the Journal of the American Medical Association and dealing with a series of studies on vaccination against pneumonia this statement was made:

"It is to be hoped that these encouraging researches will not be handicapped by premature clinical or commercial exploitation."
Many research studies appear to be promising in the laboratory but prove futile and ineffective when tested in actual practice.

Yet many a medical research project is of inherent interest to the public.

The studies referred to in the above mentioned editorial have been conducted by Dr. Victor Ross of the Board of Health laboratories of New York. The aim of the studies is to discover whether it is possible to make a susceptible animal resistant to pneumonia germs by feeding it with devitalized germs.

Rats have been used in these experiments. They were first fed with weakened or devitalized pneumonia germs and were subsequently injected with from 1,000-10,000
times the number of germs sufficient to kill the ordinary non-immunized rat.

Thus far it has been shown that feeding the experimental animals with weakened pneumonia germs produces within them a resistance against the disease.

While these studies are encouraging they answer but a few of the many problems involved in the attempt to vaccinate against pneumonia.

Thus the studies so far conducted have dealt with but one type of pneumonia can be produced by many types. Also the resistance established in the experimental animals was against systemic infection, and it yet remains to be shown that the lungs, which are the primary seat of pneumonia,
share in this developed resistance
against the disease.

Hollywood Sights

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The talkies are getting along in years.

They're already calling on a sort of "second generation" of stage days to augment the first boy attracted.

Louise Huntington replaced
Irene Chandler in the Broadway cast of "The Constant Nymph" and the latter went to Florida to make a picture.

Helen returned
LOUISE HUNTINGTON, the stage unit came in when came to Hollywood under contract and has established herself as an important member of the younger movie set.

Louise went touring on the stage in South Africa with Harry Green's repertory troupe, and in vaudeville with Kenneth Harlan, and returned to Broadway for more plays.

There she was drafted for her first picture work, which took her to Newfoundland last year, and thence to Hollywood.

FAME IN HOLLYWOOD

An actress was having still pictures made when the publicity man decided it would be a good idea to have John Monk Saunders, the writer, pose with her.

"Do you mind," he asked.

Her eyes twinkled, but she countered, "And who is he?"

"Don't you know—the writer—
author of 'Wings' and other air pictures?" gushed the publicity agent, and he elaborated on the fame of Saunders.

It was not until Saunders arrived that the actress confessed that she knew Fay Wray, not only knew the writer or but was his wife.

NEW STARLET

Marian Marsh, the young beauty selected by John Barrymore as Trilby for his "Svengali," was formerly known as Marilyn Morgan when she was under contract to Pathe.

Aside from a few bits her contract netted her no experience, and she was released.

Her resemblance to Dolores Costello
(Mrs. Barrymore) has made her useful as stand-in girl for Dolores, but this is her first big opportunity in her own right.

Another youthful leading lady to be selected by a distinguished star is Evelyn Knapp, who has scored in "Sinners Holiday" and "The River's End."

George Arliss, who selects his own casts, picked her for his lead in "The Ruling Passion," and Ivan Simpson, character actor who has played with him in talkies and on the stage for years, again has been cast.

Masked Longing

Chapter 1
BORROWED PLUMAGE

WELL, how do you like me?
Vivienne Gray came out of the bedroom. Posing on the three-hold, she turned to display her evening gown from every point of vantage. Jimmy Crane inspected her through a haze of cigarette smoke.

"Hm, I will say that the present mode does reveal the person," he commented.

Straps of brilliant supported the bodice, molded softly her figure.
Dropping his eyes, he observed her ankles, caressed by a chiffon train.
His bilowy foam failed to conceal their trim daintiness.

Vivienne turned to her sister.
"Isn't it perfectly lovely, Aileen?"
"It's darling!" her sister enthused. Curled up on the davenport in black and gold pajamas, she too, made a fetching picture.
"I hope you're not going out in it if anything should happen—"

"Of course I'm going out in it," Vivienne announced.

"But, Viv, suppose you ruin it."
Gallatin will be furious and you'll lose your job."

Vivienne tossed her head. "Sometimes I wish I would. Why Ruth Neall gets $10 every time she's photographed. Twenty-five if she uses the shots for those tooth-paste ads. If Gallatin gets fussy it's just too bad!"

"Attaboy!" Crane applauded.
"You can't go by the label. Clothes can't help looking swanky if they're neatly filled."

"And Gallatin knows it," said Vivienne. "That's why there's money in modeling—if you're really good."

"There's more chance for a model than there is for a chorus girl.
"Well, I'm leaving you, dear pupils to your own devices."

"I'm not so sure the kid isn't right," Jimmy spoke his thoughts aloud. "The public doesn't know it yet, but the theater's on the skids.
Viv's gang is on to that. She'll probably rope and marry some Croesus out of Bradstreet. There was a note of seriousness in his mutterings."

"Who's the characterist this evening?" he asked Aileen.

"Dwight Channing. He's been doing a series of portraits of Viv-for Gallatin's advertisements. He's going to take her picture in that dress-to-morrow. That's why she brought it home with her yesterday."

"You mean she brought it home to wear tonight. I'll bet that gar-ment'll sell for six hundred. She's going to give Channing an eye-full."

"Either Channing or some of his friends. Jimmy I can't help wishing she wouldn't go about with him."

"Why? Channing's not a bad egg.
And his pictures are little short of masterpieces."

Aileen lit a cigarette. "I'll admit he's charming. A little too suave, perhaps."

"At least he's making money. He can introduce Viv to people who can do her a lot of good."

"Or a lot of harm," said Aileen.
"Oh, I don't mean in the usual sense. The trouble is knowing such people only makes her discontented.
I have to laugh at the public's conception of the glamour of the stage. Most of its supposed rewards are confined to the diamond bracelet yams you palm off on the press."

"On my honor as a publicity man they're strictly on the level," Jimmy crossed his heart. "Can it be that you haven't read Peggy Hewitt's diary?"

"Don't I'm serious. Plainly Aileen was worried. "Viv's duties at Gallatin's are bad enough. She sounds her days wearing clothes she can't possibly afford. Now she's like this. What about a breath of air? Suppose we drive on to the Country Club? We can make it in an hour."

"I'd like it," she assented. "But don't count on a moonlit veranda.
I'll try to be diverting, but I just won't be fondled."

In spite of her pert demeanor she was not quite sincere. In the short time she had known him, Vivienne had found Channing delightful. She studied him as they waited for the check boy to bring his hat and stick. She wondered how old he was. His hair was gray at the temples. That was becoming and gave him a distinguished air. Although his expression was serious, the lines of his face were youthful.

"All set," he inquired as he took the wheel and the roadster left the curb.

A raindrop splashed on the tip of Vivienne's nose as they drew up behind the line of cars waiting to cross the bridge. In another moment the heavens seemed to open.
Before they could think of shelter, both Vivienne and Channing were soaked through to their skins.

Rudely, Vivienne realized that Gallatin's new model gown was already a sodden ruin. The wrap she wore was also borrowed from the salon. Aileen's fear of her logging her job might prove to be well-founded. She shouldn't have been such an utter fool! What if Gallatin's ire should put an end to her posting for Dwight Channing! In her exasperation, tears mingled with the rain.

"Quick!" shouted Channing, grasping her arm. "Get into this taxi." By luck, there was a decrepit one parked a few feet away. He bunched her in and slammed the door as he told the chauffeur to drive to his studio. "When it shakes up a little, I'll go back and get the car. Why are you crying?"
he exclaimed. "What's the matter child?"

"Don't! Don't touch me!" She pushed him away. "This darned dress is a total loss—and it doesn't belong to me. It's the one you were going to photograph—"

(Copyright, 1930, by The Macaulay

Evolution, Religion Do Not Conflict, Darwin Not Atheist, Physicist Says

By F. B. COLTON
Associated Press Science Editor

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 29 (AP)— Belief in evolution does not necessarily imply disbelief in religion, Dr. Robert A. Millikan, famous physicist told the American Association for the Advancement of Science tonight.

"Neither evolution nor evolutionists have in general been atheistic
—Darwin least of all," he declared in an address on the occasion of his retirement as president of the association.

The theory of evolution, he said,
tended merely to "identify the Creator with the universe," and to turn attention away from the idea of a being that was outside and independent of the universe and started it moving as one might wind up a clock.

Evolution also raised doubts about the theory that the universe will come to an end through "heat death" when all the heat and energy of the sun and planets has been radiated away into space beyond recovery. Dr. Millikan declared instead, it tends to help support the belief that new energy and heat are being created somewhere out in space to replace that which is lost.

This new energy, he said, is being formed in space among the distant stars, and is falling upon the earth in the form of radiation of "cosmic rays" that are similar in principle to the rays given off by radium, but are far more penetrating.

It is hard to picture just how this process takes place in the cold reaches among the stars, "but acceptable and demonstrable facts do not, in this twentieth century, seem to be disposed to wait on suitable mechanical pictures," he said. "Instead, has not modern physics thrown the purely mechanistic view of the universe root and branch out of its house?"

Experiments just recently made on Pike's Peak that revealed the enormous emptiness of space were offered in support of this theory by Dr. Millikan. He said these proved that the cosmic rays enter the earth's atmosphere in a manner to indicate they have not passed through any appreciable amount of matter on the way from their place of origin to the earth.

This helps to prove, in Dr. Millikan's belief, that the cosmic rays can not originate even in the outer atmosphere that surrounds the stars, but must originate in space so empty that they do not go through matter anywhere near as thick even as the earth's atmosphere.

Studies of babies who ran about on "four legs" like animals instead of creeping were described in an interview by Dr. Alex. Haddick, anthropologist of the Smithsonian Institute at Washington.

He has studied 500 cases of infants, otherwise normal, who rag around rooms and up and down stairs like animals on hands and feet, could climb easily and had a tendency to grasp objects in their mouths. Such instincts he said were continuations of the past experience of the human race and suggests its descent from an animal who lived in trees.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Old Age Pensions

Brownwood Banner-Bulletin:
AMONG the many interesting proposals now being made ready for introduction in the next Legislature is one sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Eagles, and providing for the establishment of an old age pension plan in Texas.
A bill of this type passed the Senate last year, but failed by a narrow margin the House, and its sponsors have been showering propaganda in its behalf upon the members of the next Legislature, according to Austin reports.

The old age pension bill, as tentatively outlined, would set up a system under which the state and county would share equally in the payment of pensions to persons over 70 years of age who have been residents of the state for fifteen years and who have not more than $3,000 worth of property, the rate of pay being $1 per day or $265 per year. Funds for paying the pensions would be taken from the general revenues of the state and of the counties as cared to make it operative.

It is said that several states, including New York, Massachusetts and California, have passed old age pension measures during the past year or two, and that fact is argued in behalf of the Texas proposal. But the idea does not appear to us as a good one, because we do not regard it as the duty of the state to make financial provisions for the comfort and welfare of its elder citizens, or for any other class of its citizens. Old age pensions, mothers' pensions and many similar pension proposals are based upon the theory that the function of government is paternalistic, and that theory is erroneous. The soviet system of government is the logical development of the thing, when it is given practical application.

Farrell-Gaynor Picture Opens At Ritz Theatre Today

'The Man Who Came Back' Title of New Picture; Fans Smile on Reunion of Pair

Dressler-Moran Team Returns In 'Reducing'

The record for an unusual day's work must now go to Marie Dressler.

The laugh requirements of a certain sequence in "Reducing," the new Marie Dressler-Polly Moran Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy which will open Friday at the Ritz Theatre, kept the buxom Marie crawling on all fours one day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. inclusive with time out for lunch and camera changes only.

"And," murmured the comedienne "after I was all through," Chuck Riesner, our director, informed me that the company's compensation insurance covered everything but housemaid's knee!"

"Reducing" is said to get out of beauty parlors the same sort of good, clean fun, its predecessor, "Caught Short," which was the comic expose of the bulls and bears of New York's Wall Street.

In addition to the two co-stars an excellent supporting cast of "big names" includes Anita Page, Lucien Littlefield, William Collier, Jr., Sally Eilers and William Bakewell.

Ramon Navarro At Queen Monday In 'Call Of The Flesh'

Ramon Navarro, in the picture which first brings his voice to the talking screen in operatic song, is surrounded by one of the most elaborate casts he has headed in a long time. In "Call of the Flesh," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer romantic drama with music which will open at the Queen theatre Monday.

Dorothy Jordan, who played opposite the star in "Devil May Care" and "In Gay Madrid," again acts as his heroine in the present story, a vivid drama of the life and love of a Spanish opera singer, the role played by Navarro in the picture. Renee Adoree, who played with him in "The Pagan" and "Forbidden Hours" and won fame as "Melisande" in "The Big Parade," plays the rival sweetheart as a fiery Spanish dancer.

Ernest Torrence is seen as the singer's aged teacher, a former opera star, and Mathilde Comont, French stage actress, appears as another former opera star also aiding in launching the young singer to success.

Nance O'Neil is seen as the mother superior in the convent scenes, and Russell Horton, stage actor, plays a talking screen role as the heroine's brother.

Charles Brabin, who produced "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," directed the new picture. Besides operatic numbers in the opera sequence, Navarro sings several songs by Herbert Stothart and Clifford Grey, including "Not Good Enough for Me," "Just for Today" and "Loving Thoughts of You." He and Renee Adoree also appear in a vivid Spanish dance number.

Onkie Coming To Queen This Week As 'Sea Legs' Star

Jack Oakie, star of Paramount's nautical comedy, "Sea Legs," at the Queen theatre for two days starting Wednesday next, practices what he preaches.

A short time after his elevation to stellar ranking, Oakie answered a question by saying that a screen luminary should save his money, retain the same size hat, and keep his feet on the ground.

At that time Oakie lived with his mother in a modestly furnished frame house just off Hollywood boulevard, and drove a small, low-priced automobile. Today he lives in the same house and drives the same car.

"I figure I've had plenty of luck," says Oakie seriously, "and I intend to make the most of it."

Janet's Marriage Brought On Complications, Now Overcome

Most every informed film fan knows the romance of Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor.

They are not married, not even engaged. Once folks felt they would eventually go to the altar together but Janet married Lydell Peck, a prosperous young San Francisco attorney, who left his profession and attempted to aid in guiding his charming little wife to further success.

When Janet married Charles was heart broken. Both did a good job of concealing their feelings, for it was covertly understood Miss Gaynor was pretty well wrapped up in her young partner of the films.

Fans who saw them in "Seventh Heaven," "Sunny Side Up" and other pictures naturally thought of them as sweethearts.

Soon after her marriage Miss Gaynor fled to Honolulu to escape gossip, and increasing difficulties with her employers—and perhaps, to some extent, to get away from young Mr. Farrell.

What would happen but that Mr. Farrell, seeking refuge from the scenes of his romance, now irretrievably shattered, should book passage on the same boat.

It was, authoritative sources declare, purely accidental. But it was a choice morsel. Folks naturally felt the reunion on the Pacific and in dreamy Honolulu was deliberately planned.

Many months passed before Miss Gaynor returned to work. She was ill and underwent an operation for appendicitis. She walked out on her company because it would not give her roles to which her particularly fragile and child-like charm so admirably mingled with the mature appeal of womanhood adapted her.

Eventually, as is usual, the box office demanded won. Gaynor and Farrell again will be seen together, beginning today and continuing through Tuesday at the Ritz theatre. The picture is "The Man Who Came Back."

Farrell Speaks
In this connection one is interested in knowing how Charlie Farrell reacts to Janet Gaynor. And here is his signed statement of that very thing:

Why do I like to play opposite Janet Gaynor? Because she understands me. She seems to know at times exactly what I am thinking about, and has a reply ready almost before I put a question in words. In playing opposite Janet there is always a responsive note.

It is the "give-and-take" of acting. Keeping us both on mental tiptoe. Alert. Working together for the best possible effects before the cameras and the microphone. Janet and I are friends—real friends. As such, we work as a team. One does not try to "steal" a scene from the other. We work in accord to put it over. Why shouldn't I like to work opposite her? When we play together we rehearse our scenes over and over again. We do not always agree—Janet and I—in our study and our work, but one of her priceless qualities is her ability to see the other fellow's point of view. She grants her fellow player the privilege of having his own opinion. So you can see it is a real pleasure to work with her! One of the biggest factors in her success is her perseverance. When one is working with Janet she unconsciously stimulates one to greater endeavor. Janet always aims at the highest attainment. A person cannot be in her company and not catch some of that spirit of keeping everlastingly at it. And she does it so quietly—so easily. But all the time you know she is reaching out for greater development and before you know it you are right in step with her, eager to put over your best efforts, too.

"GOOD MEALS"

They're advertised on the Classified Page today under "Rooms & Board." Read about those meals NOW.—Adv.

Adventure," to be shown Friday and Saturday at the Queen Theatre, gained her first chance to appear on the stage when her father bought a border town theatre.

From then on she worked summers continuously, dancing and singing under her father's tutelage. That singing and dancing experience is mighty valuable today, as an addition to her histrionic qualifications and beauty.

Most Loved Lovers Return To Ritz; Premier Female Comedy Team Billed

Film fans throughout the country are glad that Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, the lovable young stars of "Seventh Heaven," "Sunny Side Up" and other successes have, after more than a year of separation, joined hearts and talents to form a great picture, "The Man Who Came Back," which opens a three-day visit today at the Ritz. A scene is shown at the top, above. Below is a glimpse of the popular comedienne, Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, as they will appear Friday and Saturday at the Ritz in "Reducing."

De Mille Uses Zeppelin Ball As Spectacle

'Madam Satan' Billed For Ritz, Wednesday, Thursday

"Spectacle," interpreted in terms of striking motion picture sets and costumes, has long been a term specially associated with the name of Cecil B. De Mille, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer producer-director.

With his "Zeppelin Ball" of "Madam Satan," which will open at the Ritz Theatre Wednesday for two days, De Mille feels that he has achieved a worthy ocular successor to the "Cinderella Ball" of "Forbidden Fruit," the Babylonian scenes of "Male and Female," and "The Sack of Rome" in "Manslaughter."

De Mille's current appeal to eyes that love color and charming draped human beings is laid aboard a Zeppelin, the property of Roland Young, comedian of the piece. A meeting on the Zeppelin between Bob Brooks (Reginald Denny) estranged from the wife, Kay Johnson, with a mysterious "Madam Satan," provides the principal plot impetus of Jeanie MacPherson's story. The denouement takes place just as the airship is torn loose from its mooring mast, forcing the guests to jump in parachutes.

In Home
The story starts in the home of Angela and Bob Brooks, who have grown apart from each other, and in the bedroom of Trixie, the other woman. It is from these earlier scenes that the story proceeds to the airship.

On the Zep three special ballet numbers are presented by dance director Leroy Prinz, formerly of Earl Carroll's "Vaniities." These are "The Cat Ballet," the "Clock Ballet" and "Ballet Mechanique," the latter featuring Theodore Kosloff as "Electricity."

Zeppelin Ball
As the ball is a masked one, Adrian, the designer, has carte blanche. Miss Johnson is of course, "Madam Satan"; Lillian Ritz, "Golden Pheasant," and Reginald Denny, an English Yeoman. Others include Edwards

This Week's Stars

Davis, "Henry the Eighth"; Tyler Brooke, "Romeo"; Julianne Johnston, "Emerald"; Betty Francisco, "Little Rolls Riding Hood"; Wilfred Lucas, a Roman senator Song numbers include "Live and Love Today," "All I Know Is You Are in My Arms," "This Is Love," "Meet Madam," "The Beauty Auction" and "Each Little Sin." They are by Herbert Stothart and Clifford Grey, Jack King and Elsie Janis. The story is by Jeanie MacPherson, with dialogue by Gladys Unger and Elsie Janis.

Armida, petite Mexican beauty in Tiffany musical drama, "Wings of Adventure," to be shown Friday and Saturday at the Queen Theatre, gained her first chance to appear on the stage when her father bought a border town theatre. From then on she worked summers continuously, dancing and singing under her father's tutelage. That singing and dancing experience is mighty valuable today, as an addition to her histrionic qualifications and beauty.

CHARM CHATS

by Nancy Earle

Noted Authority and Writer on Health, Charm and Beauty.

Have you met Pansy? Pansy is the young lady who might have been beautiful, but isn't just yet because she still has a few more of her original hundred and seventy pounds than she needs.

But she will be a lovely lady one of these days because she has made up her mind that she is to be rid of the very last pounds that she does not want.

For one thing, Pansy is patient. She remembers (with a sad wailing of her head no doubt) that she was a number of years accumulating all those pounds, or at least many months. And she is giving herself the sportsman's chance. She is going to be as patient in her off-talking as she was in her on-putting. Fair enough, yes?

You see Pansy is a wise lady. She reasons that she wants to take those pounds off for two reasons, and for those two only. Namely, for her health's sake and for her beauty's sake. And she knows she will defeat her own purpose if she hurries.

Her beauty will suffer. Her search of youth will be voided. These first and most obviously.

As those many pounds were being pyramided, the actual area, the actual number of square inches on the surface of the body, was materially increased. This means that the outer skin had to be stretched to accommodate the new volume. The skin was willing enough and very obligingly adapted itself to the gradual change.

Now if Pansy suddenly takes those paddings of flesh away from under the skin it will hang in wrinkles and folds that will add years to her appearance, and a haggard worn look to her that is anything but the loveliness she seeks.

If on the other hand she takes away the under padding gradually (as it was put on) it will be equally obliging and once more adapt itself to the area it is to cover. It will, if given the chance, shrink gently in conformity with the alterations of body bulk, and never show a wrinkle of an aging line.

The care of the face, the skin, is of course a matter which should be carefully guarded during the process of weight reduction. More than the usual care should be accorded it to preserve its texture and to prevent the development of any faint lines or any suspicion of sag to the muscles.

Much of this sort of thing is obviated if the general body tone is preserved at high standard by supplementing the corrective diet with vigorous exercise. Out of door exercise if possible, and specific gymnastics for weight reduction regularly practiced. When the muscle tone of the system generally is vibrantly good, all the muscles of the body including those of the face, show that smooth firm contour that means youth and beauty.

Local care should supplement these benefits, however. A good rich cream applied generously and regularly to the face will keep the tissues lubricated and pliable. This, in beauty terms, means youthful and smoothly beautiful. The ice massage is also beneficial. The ice should be applied for a brief half minute to the skin, but not long enough to chill the tissues definitely. Too long an application is a shock to the tissues which will register upon them unfavorably.

The ice should be wrapped in a thickness of gauze likewise. It should not be applied in direct contact with the skin. Also the ice should be kept continuously in motion. Used thus it exerts a stimulating effect upon the tissues, a bracing effect.

But the chief reason Pansy is so willing to be patient and reduce slowly is that she knows that her health will pay the penalty even a heavier penalty than her beauty pays, if she tries the quick method.

Man Gets Sentence Suspended But Now Faces A New Charge

FORT WORTH, Jan. 10 (AP)—The suspended sentence Andy Lacey won for himself in his mail fraud trial here yesterday probably will not be affected by his new encounter with the law of which he professed such ignorance.

His troubles were not over after he had defended himself in such a fashion that both the court and the prosecutors were wondering today whether the oil promoter was an innocent victim of circumstances or a skillful actor. As he emerged from the courtroom, he was taken into custody by a deputy sheriff on a warrant issued here from Williamson county, where the grand jury had indicted him on a charge of disposing of mortgaged property.

Federal Judge Ritter said he could not determine whether the new arrest will cause the suspension of sentence to be revoked until he has examined the facts in the case.

Ordinarily, he said, suspended sentences are revoked only for misdeeds after the penalty has been imposed.

After spending the night in the county jail, Lacey left in custody of Sheriff Louis Lowe of Williamson county to face the charges against him there.

Man Rescued From Sign Six Stories Up

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Firemen Thomas P. O'Brien climbed to the topmost rung of an aerial ladder, six stories above 5th Avenue and 42nd Street, today and rescued a workman from a building sign to which he had clung for ten minutes.

Reaching the top, O'Brien was forced to hook a scaling ladder to the sign and hoist himself four feet more before he could reach the terrified man. Then he assisted him to the main ladder and brought him to the street where he fainted.

John Kuhl, a sandblaster, and Reier Stip, his assistant, were removing paint from the sign when the accident occurred. As a hoisting pulley snapped, the scaffold tipped and Kuhl was thrown into 5th Avenue, suffering injuries from which he died an hour later. Stip however, clutched at an iron railing as the platform lurched into space and swung himself to the top of the sign, straddling it precariously until help came.

Texan Adventurer Drops From Plane To Yucatan Forest

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Dallas Times Herald said today it had been informed that Capt. William F. Long, Dallas aviator and adventurer, had landed in a parachute in one of the abandoned cities of the Maya Indians in Yucatan.

Captain Long dropped from a plane late Tuesday to explore the ruins and search for treasure left by the opulent Indians. The Times Herald received a wire from the pilot of the plane, whose name it did not reveal.

Packages of food and digging utensils were dropped from the plane in a second parachute. Before next Tuesday, when the pilot said he planned to return, Captain Long hoped to clear a landing site for the plane, with the aid of natives.

"On his ability to coax the aid of the natives depends the success of the explorations—and his life," the story said.

The report stated the pilot of the plane would carry with him on his return trip a noted American archaeologist, now living in Mexico City, and that it should be possible to land, the actual work of the expedition would have begun.

If no landing site is cleared, Captain Long, the leader of a party which left here ten days ago, will have to chance fighting his way back to civilization on a mule or on foot.

Chihuahua Lands Allotted Mexicans Deported From U.S.

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 10 (AP)—Juarez, Mexico, authorities have announced that 90,000 hectares of farm lands in Chihuahua will be divided into ranches of 1,000 hectares each (about 2,400 acres) and distributed among Mexicans deported from the United States.

The plan is being worked out by Governor Andrea Ortiz. The land lies between Chihuahua City and Villa Ahumada, it was said the colony will be named for President Ortiz Rubio.
