RAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

A nation we accept change as a necessary accessory of progress and adopt customs to satisfy our conveniences with a minimum of thought to cause and effect. In the blinding sunlight of our new way of life we have developed an eagerness for new things and new ways. We pump new energy into our strong pinions of progress. In instances it is easy to assume the new necessity with a convention, a new theory or a custom, which brings us a theory or a new invention. As the baby-sitter been so arriving at the port of destination westward, they called children and the ones cared for the younger.

"TOREADORS" GET TWO INVITATIONS TO AREA PARADES

The "Toreadors," Matador's colorful drum and bugle corps have received two invitations during the past week to take part in area city parades. Santa Rosa Round-Up at Vernon, May 7, has invited the band to appear in its parade ceremonies and the Cattle-King Horse and Colt Show at Paducah April 20, has extended a similar invitation. The announcement was made this week by directors Albert Rattan and Ward Rattan. Officers of the organization said the benefit pancake supper scheduled for April 20, may be changed to a different date if conflicts with participation in the parades.

Residents Attend Funeral For Niece

Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Welling and family, together with his aunt, Mrs. Lela Gomer, of Panama, attended funeral services at McCamey Tuesday of last week for a niece, Donna Diane, 27-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Welling, who died of polio. The child, a twin, was stricken in August, and had been a patient in the polio center in Nashville, Tenn., since December. She died there Saturday, about 1:00 a. m. Besides her parents, she is survived by her twin brother, Donald Raymond, an older brother, Bobby, 9, and a sister, Elaine, 6.

Spencer Sullivan of Spur has accepted a position with Modera Cleaners, and assumed duties Wednesday. Mrs. Sullivan and their son, Charles David, 10, will join him here to make their home as soon as they can locate an apartment.

CITIZENS' RIGHTS

It is possible that I have been presumptuous in announcing for the office of mayor of the City of Matador the citizens of this community have every right in their tax money for $1,200 of their tax money during the services of a mayor during the next 24 months. It is their money, their city. On the other hand if the majority of the people feel that the office of mayor is one of civic duty rather than political import, the city election Tuesday provides a vehicle for their wishes. Perhaps the interest that the issue arouses in voting is more important than the issue. My announcement is not based on the demerits of anyone. I sincerely believe every citizen owes his community (especially if it is a small one) a duty that he is capable of performing. I do not believe it is possible to place a price tag on duty, on love or on friendship. It is my conviction that the token payment of $10 per month set for members of the council should apply to the mayor; that he is merely chairman of the council board (Mayor Lewis Eady of Turkey receives a salary of $8 per month, the same as other council members).

LIFE OF THE PARTY IS ONE ACT PLAY BY EIGHTH GRADE

A one-act comedy, "The Life of the Party" was presented by the eighth grade, Friday at 4:00 p. m. in the High School Auditorium. In addition to the grade school pupils, many visitors were present, and all declared it to be one of the most enjoyable programs they ever attended.
Wilbur Maxwell (played by Ed D. Smith) kept the audience in stitches with his teenage antics, and especially while tormenting his sister, Betty Lou (Carolyn Pohl) who is giving her first party. Naturally, since she wants her party to be a success, she does not invite Wilbur. He is carefully confined to the living room while the fun goes on in the basement. Although he is requested to help make punch, he is not allowed to taste it.
Dad Maxwell (Leonard Glasscock) is upset because he has a headache and can't sleep because of the noise of the party. Mrs. Maxwell (Linda Beth Seigler) sends him to bed with the promise that she will send Wilbur up with the sleeping medicine. Wilbur, being himself, makes the logical mistake. He puts the sleeping medicine in the punch and takes the carbonated water to his father. Laughs come thick and fast as the guests start dropping off to sleep. Betty Lou is heartbroken as she keeps filling the guests with the punch to keep the party going.
When Dad comes in with the carbonated water, they realize what has happened. Wilbur is accused. He confesses his mistake, and, being Wilbur, escapes punishment because he is the only one who can think of a way to waken the houseful of sleeping guests.
Connie, the Maxwell's eldest daughter was played by Jan Barton, and the guests were: Bernadine Smith, Edna Williamson, Mary Brown, Helen Walding, Judy Martin, Daphne Lynn, Jack, Jimmie Irwin, Bob, Carl Thompson; Frank, Harry Hamilton; and Cliff, Riley Rigby.
Committees at work included: Property—Carl Thompson, Bill Martin; Billy Ray Nivens, Pete Chambliss; lighting and curtain: Thomas Edwards and Clinton

Burns, stage manager and assistants: Andy Fish, Billy Crenshaw and Butch Renfro; prompter, Barbara Lane, and programs: Kay Hattan, Verna Watkins, Robin Darsey and Gary Jenkins.
Mrs. J. E. Edwards directed the play.

Here...
you'll find a Faith to live by...

It's quiet inside. Quiet with the peace of centuries, for this is God's House.

Within these walls, the worries which loomed so large outside become less fearsome... for the first time perhaps you see them in their true perspective. If this alone were the reward of Faith, it would be enough. But there is more.

Faith is a source of strength, a reservoir of power that helps you meet the needs of every day. By worshiping with your family each week at your church or synagogue, you're giving them a measure of security no amount of money could buy. The Faith to hope... to grow... to live by.

Boys Ranch Makes Preparation For Easter Activities

It takes a lot of egg coloring for Easter at America's First Boys Ranch, Amarillo, Texas.

The 221 Ranchers prepare for their egg hunt by boiling and decorating 600 eggs.

This is quite an occasion at the Ranch. Staff members get up about 3 a. m. Easter morning to hide the eggs over the Ranch and then after their sunrise services at 6:30 a. m., the boys quickly scatter to all parts of the Ranch for the search.

There will be several prize winning eggs hidden and it is quite a thrill to a boy to find a special egg.

The impressive early morning Easter services are held at the foot of a hill topped by three crosses. The non-sectarian Chaplain conducts the service and the boys join in with songs.

The boys take the crosses down every year and put them up again near Easter Sunday because as they say, "We wouldn't want to have the crosses up at Christmas time which is the time of Christ's birth and the crosses signify his death."

Easter means something else at Boys' Ranch. It might be called a testing of the brave. One of the traditions which has never been broken regardless of the weather is the opening of their swimming season on Easter morning. A few times in the past the boys have had to break a thin layer of ice on their lake, but they always keep this custom. They look forward to the opening of the swimming season as it is one of their favorite activities at the Ranch.

PIED PINIONS

By Mrs. M.

Some natural talent is brewing in the eighth grade and we wouldn't be surprised if one of next generation's comedians isn't growing up right in our midst. After all, they do originate somewhere, and some day some of us will be saying, I knew him when. We have reference to Ed D. Smith Jr.

As we heard several say, all that Carolyn Pohl and Ed D. had to do during the play which the class presented Friday, was to be themselves.

Their teacher, Mrs. J. E. (Marge) Edwards seems to have the knack of discovering and developing ability in her pupils. We heard however, that she was mighty discouraged at the final rehearsal on Friday morning, and was as surprised, and pleased as the audience, at the way the youngsters performed.

Incidentally, Marge (short for Marguerite) is one of the few people we know, who can wear a scarf gracefully, and keep it in place so that it doesn't ride up around her ears, as our own usually does.

Orchids to Mrs. A. L. Fair,

Homemaking teacher, and her FHA girls who earned State Degrees which they will receive at the state meeting in Fort Worth next month. Their mothers too, deserve much credit for encouragement and assistance.

Orchids also to Mrs. L. D. Wikerson and her music pupils who received high rating at the Interscholastic League chorus contest held in Levelland, Saturday.

Church and Sunday School at the usual time. Then what is better than a cozy room and an afternoon of leisure with one's own family? Outside, the snowflakes clutter the air and settle slowly down as though reluctant to lose their identity in the great white mass already shrouding the landscape. Still no chance of a plane and letters but we can picture the scene in the homes of our many stateside friends, and it is sufficient.

Though the day brings into sharp relief the vacant chair at the dinner table we are not unduly forlorn. The warmth of the friendship of these people and the fact that they feel that they need us here and do depend upon us a lot is like a balm in Gilead. One woman said to me, "So good to see light up the hill. No light in that house, village not be happy." (The school is on the side of a hill and a little above the main part of the village.) In so many ways they are like children but then it seems that I remember words like these "except ye become as little children, maybe I can lose some of my 'cocksure' ways and become like them."

At 7:00 p. m. the Sunday School program and another Christmas tree—the community tree. I received a pair of bedroom slippers with oagruk soles, spotted hair seal sides, unborn seal ruff and reindeer lined, with beadwork on the toes. I also received a hand carved wooden spoon. I am so proud of both, because they are real native craft. R. W. got a pair of hand knitted gloves of which he is proud but that, of course, is an art they have learned from the white man.

December 26, 1955, Monday
Today at three o'clock the village feast. The council tried to get reindeer meat from Golovin, but had no luck so we are having pastries, cakes, coffee and what have you. The supplies for the native store have not yet been flown from Nome so the council came to me and borrowed eight dozen eggs. Now I taste like my Thanksgiving experience with seal oil, but I didn't want to be rude and ask Mischa Charles, bless his heart, came to my rescue. He said that seal oil from a properly butchered seal and rendered immediately was good. I believe that was the difference—just the same as the difference in fresh clean lard and old, rancid lard.

Tonight from seven-thirty until eleven the village grown-ups played games in the school rooms. My sides still hurt from laughing. Maybe I split them. I have heard of side-splitting laughter. Two of the men chose sides. We are to keep the same sides all week. At the end of the week the side which has lost the most games has to entertain the others with an impromptu program. Surely hope that I am on the winning side. R. W. is on the other side and I am anxious to see his song and dance number.

December 27, 1955, Tuesday
Loaded all day. Tried to write letters but wasn't in the mood. Thought about the reports I needed to make and about the grades I needed to put on cards but the thoughts weren't strong enough to break through my lethargy and move me to action. Played games again tonight. I've heard of fat and forty. Tonight I experienced it. I just wasn't built for games of speed. Puff Puff!

December 28, 1955, Wednesday
Thoughts must have been a little stronger today. They moved me enough to get the family wash done. Had finished and made comfortable arrangements at the kitchen table to do some paper work when I heard the plane. No more accomplished today but what an exciting good time was had by all. Papers, letters, Christmas greetings, packages and two films but still no package from Matador Lions. Maybe we will have Christmas for this year next year—who knows?

We had a show tonight instead of games. "Tarzan Triumphs" Everyone commented on how good the show was. The receipts taken in were enough to pay for both films so announced that we would have another show tomorrow night and it would be free to all the village. Smiles everywhere. Think I rate right along with Tarzan and Ma Kettle now—and no disparaging remarks from the States. That's high ranking here!

December 29, 1955, Thursday
Hurried the covers up on the beds after a ten o'clock breakfast. Gave the floors a swish and a promise with a broom and again settled myself at the kitchen table—this time to write letters. No such luck! Up the path came a Mr. and Mrs. That they had come for a reason was evident, but these people are sometimes slow to state their business so I waited. Finally the wife said,

"We have problems for you."
"Oh."
That's all and we sit for a while longer. Curiosity is killing me so I try to start the conversational ball rolling by a funny comment.

"I'll be glad to help you if I can, but I'm not very good in arithmetic."
"Not arithmetic," was the serious rejoinder.

"Oh," seriously ejected this time.
We gaze at each other for a while longer.

"Personal problems," she repeated.

I perceive from this repetition that she doesn't care for the four little listening ears in my living room, so I invite them to my office at the other end of the building.

All seated in consultation formation she calmly handed me a letter. It is from the principal of Mt. Edgecumbe school concerning their daughter, Jane.

I had helped to get enrolled there last September. The contents stated that he was sending her home because she was five months pregnant and that the man involved was our fifty-two year old mayor and head of the Elim village council. I was shocked. Not so much at the What but at the Who involved. I gave my heartfelt sympathy said a few ugly words about the man and supposed that that was all. Then they calmly exploded the real bombshell! They wanted me to call a council meeting without the mayor, get some action from them, then get on the radio and call the U. S. Marshall and have the man arrested and tried for statutory rape. Now the

Former Residents Of County Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary At Portales

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Howard of Portales, N. M., former Motley County residents, recently celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary with open house at their home at 1243 North Abilene street.

They were married March 14, 1906. On their anniversary proper, members of the family were present to celebrate the occasion and on the next day, Thursday, the Howards held open house for their friends.

The five of their six children attending were Mrs. Tullie Pistole, (Lena) of Cee Vee, Texas; Mrs. Leon Clubb (Geneva), San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. Leonard Gillespie (Clare), Las Vegas, Mrs. Roy Howard, Alamo, and Mrs. R. B. Ransom. Three of their 12 grandchildren and three of their seven great-grandchildren were also present. A daughter, Mrs. Norman Horn of Norman, Ark., was not present.

Out of town relatives present included Mrs. Howard's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rucker of Childress, Mr. and wife of the guilty man is a very fine woman and a sister to the girl's father. This thing was fast shaping up as a bad situation and mentally I began watching my step.

I called the council members, newly elected and outgoing and put the bee on their backs as to what kind of action should be taken. They all agreed that the complaint should go in to the Marshall at once but put the bee right back on me to formulate and send the message. In as few words as I knew how, I wrote a notice and passed it around for them to read. They read silently and nodded their heads, so I adjourned the meeting and tuned in the radio. I made connections with Nome immediately and as I read the script of the telegram I wondered how many villagers were listening. Some have short wave bands on their radios and can listen on 3385 which is A. N. S. transmitting frequency.

Couldn't collect my wits enough to write letters after this so worked on lesson plans.

Famous bulletin from Mobilgas Economy Run

FORD WINS IN ECONOMY TOO!

V-8 WINS CLASS A

In this year's Economy Run a new Ford V-8, with Fordomatic, was the official victor over every car in its field, with a winning average of 47,363 ton-miles per gallon. This means that the sturdier, heavier Ford carried more weight, with greater gas economy per pound than any car in its field.

The winning Ford was a regular-production model taken right from the assembly line. It was no different than thousands of '56 Fords you see on the road and in dealer's showrooms. This proves that Ford, the Performance, Style and Safety leader, leads in Economy, too! That adds up to four big reasons why the '56 Ford is worth more when you buy it, while you drive it, and when you sell it, too!

The "ton-mile" formula is used by neutral officials to insure equal chance for all cars in each class, regardless of size or weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by the number of miles traveled, divided by number of gallons of gasoline consumed.
