PRICE TEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

A covey of helicopters passed over noisily the other morning and silenced the calling of a blue quail. It seems like these fantastic birds should be pairing off about this time of year with the approach of the nesting season.

The things that drive men to drink are those which seem more appropriate and convincing as an excuse.

Modesty in politicians is seldom the motive that causes them embarrassment when the light of public attention is focused in the corners. Too frequently they are strewn with garments not worn in the pursuit of public service.

A friend just returned from Southern California, says long beards and long hair have produced an alarming fire hazard. In resenting the establishment, the young crusaders have renounced the use of soap and water to the extent that the fragrance of the sunny land is no longer entirely that of flowers and blooming orange trees.

When ambition cracks its whip some men leap into the harness for the long pull up the hill of achievement, but others, less easily excited, may be reminded to get another pillow and arrange it in the shade.

Ridicule can be like an over-stretched barbed wire that reaches the breaking point and wraps around a convenient victim, unless experience has taught him to step out of its range.

Hope is as essential in the course of a life as is water to the journey of a ship.

A single dollar properly invested in the welfare of others will produce more interest in self esteem than a thousand spent in the supermarket of selfish desires.

SENIOR CLASS OFFERS COMEDY

Matador High School senior class is offering an evening of entertainment tomorrow (Friday) night when they present "The Groom Said No" a three-act comedy by Ruth and Nathan Hale.

Steve Cameron (Mark Hill) returns home after spending two years in the South Pacific, but not to the calm, quiet atmosphere he has so often dreamed of. He finds, instead, that his mother, Mrs. Inez Cameron (Kate Thompson) and Clara Curtis (Billie Stockton) the girl he left behind, have made all arrangements for their immediate marriage.

Pretending to be a psychoneurotic in need of special nursing care, Steve suggests they get his former nurse, Lt. Shirley Anderson (Barbara Slover) to come, as she would be the only one who understands how to take care of him.

The result is a free-for-all between the two girls who are in love with him.

Others in the cast are, Patty Cameron (Judy Marrs), Virgie Cameron (Virginia Green), Will Cameron (Aaron Timmons), Mrs. Sorenson (Wanda Matney), Willie Williams (James Hoover), Mary Alice Smith (June Sandefer) and Ed Smith (Don Cox).

The public is invited to "Come to the play and find out which girl gets the boy."

The play will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Class sponsors Wayland Moore and Glendell Smith are directing the play.

Ranchers Organize To Fight Mesquite

GRAVE CONCERN over the encroachment of mesquite on the rangelands of Motley County, was expressed here Tuesday night, when a large group of ranchers, farmers and landowners met at the courthouse.

Result of the meeting was the organization of a county unit of the statewide Brush Control and Range Improvement Association. Dave Birnie was named chairman, with Vann Francis as vice-chairman and Ward Rattan secretary-treasurer.

Speaker Tuesday night was Jim Barron, manager of the Spur Ranch. He was accompanied by Jim Humphreys, manager of the Pitchfork Ranch.

The BCRIA was established last November by a group of livestockmen to fight one of the state's major agricultural problems—brush invasion of land throughout Texas. Each county has a leader representing the association.

It was explained that BCRIA is a non-profit organization and is not directly associated with any university or company. The goal is to obtain 1 cent per acre, each year, for five years from landowners and other interested individuals and organizations to greatly increase brush control research.

Could Double Production
It was pointed out that eradication of mesquite and other brush in Motley County, could double the rangeland production of cattle, and make working cattle many times easier.

Surveys show that 82 per cent of Texas rangelands are infested with brush, cutting the animal carrying capacity by 50 per cent or more. Despite much research in the past, greater financial help will be needed if the problem is to be solved.

Funds obtained at the county level will be pooled and used to support research and education projects on brush control and range improvement. A project evaluation committee, appointed by BCRIA Chairman John Matthews of Abilene, will approve research projects submitted by universities and other agencies.

A total effort by more than 200,000 landowners in Texas is sought in a drive to beat back the brush invasion of the state's rangelands.

HONORED for ten years of service on Texas Draft Board No. 45 at Plainview, is Raby Webb, above, who received this certificate Sunday night, April 21, from John W. TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

This is error correction time down at the old Internal Revenue Service. Of course many taxpayers get a nice little letter from the computer asking them to correct some little error such as wrong social security number, no W-2's or not enough W-2's, or missing signatures.

In most cases you simply fill out the form that the computer folks send to you and send it back and the computer does the rest. However, communication is a two-way process—Internal Revenue also hears from thousands of taxpayers who forgot to include some item of income or who forgot to take a very important deduction or tax credit that is worth money to the taxpayer.

The good tax folks are always happy to have taxpayers correct their errors, but they insist that "X marks the spot." If you are going to amend your return, please send in a 1040X. This raises the red flag to the tax folks who feed the information to the computer, that you have already filed a return that is incorrect, but here is the correct information.

When the computer gets the 1040X information it usually takes a few thousandths of a second to realign all the wrong information, send you a refund check, give you credit for the extra tax, or even send you a bill. The thing to remember—put it on a 1040X, when you amend or correct your tax return.

AUSTIN—Nine proposed constitutional amendments, headed by a recommended boost in the welfare ceiling from $60 million to $80 million and a $3.5 billion water bond proposition, are ready for an August 5 ballot.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. supervised drawing to determine ballot positions as soon as the legislature cleared the measures.

Here are the amendments as they will appear on the ballot:

HJR 3—to delete obsolete provisions from the constitution.

HJR 9—to authorize a $3.5 billion water revenue bond issue for financing the state's share of a $9 billion statewide water plan.

SJR 31—to raise the present $4,800 a year salary of state legislators to the state-paid maximum level of district judges ($18,000) and give the lieutenant governor and house speaker half the pay of the governor (about $20,000 a year).

SJR 6—to exempt non-profit water supply corporations from taxation.

SJR 8—to raise the public welfare outlay limit from $60 million to $80 million a year.

HJR 7—to raise the constitutional interest rate limit on some state government bonds.

HJR 4—to provide for assistance payments to survivors of volunteer firemen, police and Texas Youth Council employees killed on duty.

HJR 50—to authorize an additional $200 million in Texas Opportunity Plan students loan funds.

HJR 8—to provide for annual legislative sessions.

Voters last November rejected a raise in the welfare ceiling to $75 million (which has resulted in two cuts in benefit payments) and a hike in lawmaker pay to $8,400 a year.

LEGISLATIVE ACTION—Controversial constitutional amendment to legalize sale of liquor-by-the-drink in Texas has been cleared for statewide vote on November 3, 1970.

House voted 101-44 for submission of the issue approved by the Senate last month.

House passed a bill to comply with the federal law and provide mandatory inspection and regulation of livestock slaughtering housed by the State Department of Health. Bill by Sen. Jim Bates and Rep. Rayford Price already had passed the Senate but since the House added two amendments—to define legally "inedible animal product"—and to allow "overtime fees" for inspections—the bill went back to the Senate for approval of the amendments.

House also completed action on its $5.7 billion budget bill, moving it to conference committee to resolve differences with the Senate's $5.8 billion version. Major interest centers on House riders, including proposed withholding of funds for largely-Negro Texas Southern University Law school and a curb on use of helicopters by Department of Public Safety for traffic policing.

Among other major measures cleared by the legislature were:

HB 117, making Texas governmental units (except school districts) liable for damage suits due to negligent acts of personnel.

SB 5 and SB 6 permitting criminal misdemeanor prosecution of corporations for air and water pollution.

CONGRESSIONAL REDISTRICTING—Anticipating U.S. Supreme Court orders that Texas must redistrict congressional districts to "mathematical exactness" after that court ordered the state of Missouri to do just that, Governor Preston Smith asked the Legislature to create a 7-man fact-getting committee and present them to the 1971 Legislature Committee will be headed by Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. and will include three state senators and three House members.

Governor said he had been assured 1970 federal census statistics would be available in November of 1970 on computer tapes and proposed a committee budget of $225,000 which would include data computer rents.

He reasoned that this preparation would enable the 1971 Legislature to redistrict realistically. In case the state is ordered to redistrict before the 1970 census, Smith said the committee would have current information ready for legislative use in a special session.

PUBLIC EDUCATION—A survey of public opinion on proposals by the Governor's Committee on Public School Education, including the controversial consolidation recommendation, was made at the request of Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, and the committee learned that big school districts liked its ideas, but small districts didn't.

Survey showed "substantial support" for the committee proposals among school districts with more than 1,500 enrolled—in which more than 82 per cent of Texas school children are attending, and some support among school districts with less than 250 children, with less than 4 per cent.

Motley County TSTA Local Unit Meets Recently

The Motley County Local Unit of Texas State Teachers Association met Monday, April 21, at 7:00 p.m. in the Matador Elementary School with Mrs. Josephine Hamilton, president, in charge.

Meeting dates and places for the 1969-70 school year were set as Flomot, September 22, 1969; Matador, January 5, 1970; and April 27, 1970 at Roaring Springs. Early publication of the dates may preclude conflicts, it was pointed out.

Three committees to serve the organization for the next term were appointed by Mrs. Hamilton. The Auditing Committee is James E. Norris, Flomot, Charles D. Swift, Roaring Springs, and N. L. Moss, Matador. The By-Laws Committee is Smith Rees, Roaring Springs, Wilburn Martin, Flomot, and Mrs. Grace McDowell, Matador. Those to serve on the Professional Rights and Responsibilities Committee are Mrs. Grady Timmons, Flomot, Arthur L. Fair, Matador, and Tommy D. Wilson, Roaring Springs.

Following the business meeting, Wilburn Martin, who is a member of the District XVII Legislative committee, gave a report on progress of school bills in the legislature. A film depicting problems of teachers and offering some solutions concluded the program. Twenty-four members were present.

IN APPRECIATION

I wish to express my thanks to friends for the nice cards and visits while I was in Richards Memorial Hospital in Paducah. May God bless each of you who remembered me in any way.
