TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Death could not be so unkind as to crush the fragile crucible of his dreams for life had tried and failed. Fate had towed the garbage scows of trouble through the blue waters of his harbor and dumped the cargo on the white beach of his hopes. Time had run silvered fingers through his hair and thrown a dash of wistfulness in his eyes, yet there was always an unearthly radiance in the slim sharp features of his face. His voice was soft with a musical modulation that concealed all save the faint breath of happiness that stirred within his soul. It came his way that other's words cut clean and deep to pry the flesh from the bones of his life but he could speak ill of no man. He chose his words with the same deliberation with which a doomed man might select the victuals for his last meal.

Born with the heart of a dreamer, his broad shoulders had been loaded heavily and the whip of reality applied to his back. The path led through the jungles of poverty and across the rock hills of need, finally to a mellow pipe and easy chair at twilight where they found him, dreaming.

It is entirely useless advice but a young man at that delicate stage of life when he begins to manifest interest in furniture store windows and admire cozy-looking little homes, should begin a study of the mothers of all the girls of his acquaintance in order to determine the one he can love the most. Girls are not so very important, the woods are full of them, but good mothers-in-law are at a premium.

The mother-in-law joke is a profane insult to a mother's love and any honest man should no more think of telling a joke on his wife's mother than his own.

Old Tack of the Amarillo-News Globe has awakened the true feeling in the hearts of a nation with Mother-In-Law Day, set as March 5. Started last year, the idea gained nation-wide publicity and will gain greater momentum this year as the mothers of our wives receive their rightful positions in the sun. A MOTHER-IN-LAW IS A MOTHER WHO HAS MADE GOOD.

My own mother-in-law has always been kind and considerate of me and despite the fact that her daughter might have been a little hasty, she conceals her thoughts and treats me as her own son. I could not be mean enough not to love her.

One of the strangest stories in the tattered, unwritten saga of the western cattle country, is told by an old chuck-wagon cook who now prefers to build his winter fires in the great stove of his restaurant kitchen. The day was grey and bleak when in the afternoon the cold north rain began freezing on the fly sheet tied over the chuck-wagon piled high with rolls of cowboy's beds. Numb hands held the reins over the four horses dragging the stubborn load. Water sloshed over the fellows of the wagon wheels in the dim ruts of an old road and the load of provisions shifted under the bed rolls. On the crest of a steep and rocky hill the cook stopped the wagon and stepped to the soggy earth to chain the hind wheels. Glancing at the left fore wheel of his wagon, something gleaming caused him to stop. A silver half dollar, stuck with mud in the center of the iron rim, washed bright and clean.

It was the only money he ever found in his life and he confesses that he almost froze to death watching the wheel grind across the weary miles separating two round-up grounds.

My feeling of appreciation for gifts is always greater than my ability to express my sentiment, but it seems to me anyone is a little reckless to give bill-folds these days. I have received four in as many years and can use only one in which I carry a two year old deposit slip, the stub of a

FIRE BOYS AND CHILD WELFARE TO OFFER PLAY

Three Act Mystery Local Talent Vehicle

"The House of the Flashing Light," a three act mystery play, written by J. C. McMullen, which will be presented at the High School Auditorium Thursday night, March 7th, by the local Fire Department and the Child Welfare Association of Matador, will provide a splendid vehicle for some of the best local talent in Matador.

The play is directed by Jack Bradshaw. Critics proclaim "The House of the Flashing Light" one of the best mystery plays of recent years and production rights were secured only after heavy royalty fees had been paid to the Walter H. Baker Company of Boston, Mass., publishers of the mystery. Particular care has been exercised in the characterization of cast and includes the following well-known names in their order of appearance: Lavina, the housekeeper, Nell Rhea Gilbert, Louise Bashford, the old maid, Ruth Simpson; Clark Richards, a newspaper reporter, Tommy Harris; Jessie Corcoran, a relative, Algine Groves; Stella Faber and Dot Faber, two nieces, Dorene Bradshaw and Pearl Cammack; Mr. Li, a mysterious Chinaman, Clay Gilbert; Pedro, a Mexican laborer, Lewis Williams; Doyle Kelvin, a lawyer, Raymond Davis; Eva Harper, another niece, Rita Nichols; Phyllis, the colored maid, Irene Knight.

Proceeds for Worthy Cause Entertainment lovers of Matador are expected to patronize the performance well since the entire proceeds will be used in the cause of the two worthy organizations. The sponsors, fully aware of the response usually awarded local plays here, have prepared a program in the presentation of "The House of the Flashing Light" that will offer the ingredients of genuine entertainment, color, drama, suspense and hilarious comedy, with capable acting under capable direction. Admission prices are 15c for children and 25c for adults. The play will begin at 7:45 p. m.

Contributions from employees in the various branches of the railroad comprise most of the reading matter. Support of Quanah business men is evident in the attractive advertisements.

WOMENS CLUBS UNITE IN CITY LIBRARY PLANS

Book Shower Begins Local Project

A city library for Matador is rapidly becoming a reality thru the efforts of two local welfare clubs, the El Progreso Club and the Junior El Progreso Club. A book shower held at the home of Mrs. Leonora Luckett by the organization recently was the nucleus of the movement and contributions of furniture and equipment by public spirited business men of the city have furthered the cause.

Quarters have been established in the second story of the former National Bank Building, where the rent has been donated by the owners of the structure.

A small membership fee will be charged until the project is better established when it is planned to offer the use of the books gratis.

Gifts Appreciated

Gifts of books, tables, pictures and other articles which might be used in the library will be greatly appreciated and donors are requested to communicate with either Mrs. M. J. Kelly of the El Progreso Club or Miss Lorene Fryar of the Junior El Progreso Club.

HAPPY HOUR CLASS

The Happy Hour Class met February 24, with three members and two new members, Laveda and Lora Belle Lee. We are very proud to have these two girls to join our class and become workers with us. There were 435 chapters read this month. This has been the greatest amount of chapters read since we started reading the Bible. Three of our members are not christians and the class is praying for them. We would like to have everyone to help us pray for them and those that are not christians. Each one in the class has told who they would like to have different ones to pray for.

We would like to have more chapters read and more members to join us next Sunday. We would appreciate everyone who would pray for our class and those that are not christians.—Reporter.

Chairman Attends Meeting In Lubbock

MANY AFFECTED State Undecided On Next Method Use

State Relief Chairman, Homer Sheats, returning late yesterday from Lubbock where he attended a district meeting of Texas Relief Chairmen, with M. L. Patton, declared that all relief work in Motley county would end tonight as a result of funds being completely exhausted.

Mr. Sheats said the State was at a loss as to the best method to pursue in handling the situation, which it is feared, may become acute before funds are again available, since the entire relief appropriations have been spent. It was his opinion that action of Congress would be necessary before more funds could be obtained.

BANKING EVOLUTION

By R. S. HECHT
President American Bankers Association

R. S. HECHT

BANKING at one time was a private business, but more recently has developed into a profession—a public trust. This change has not come suddenly but is the result of an evolutionary process. Banking has grown and changed with the growth and change of our country.

The banker who has survived the trials and tribulations of the past few years has proven himself a man of courage and ability, and we may well expect him to meet the problems that lie before him with resolution and sound judgment.

Unfortunately it has become the fashion to blame on our banking system all the troubles which the depression has brought. As a consequence we hear much of needed reform of banking by law. No one will deny that certain defects have developed in our existing banking laws which need correction, and that certain abuses were committed which no one wishes to defend or have repeatable in the future.

Before we were bankers more determined than they are today to bring about whatever changes in our banking system are called for by the public welfare.

The Basis of Good Laws
The best results can and will be accomplished by normal processes and gradual adjustments of our present private banking structure—suitably supervised by proper authority—rather than by the passage of still more drastic laws, offering panaceas in the form of more government-owned or government-controlled financial organizations.

Lasting laws relating to any phase of human need are formed and modified in the rough school of practical human experience and are usually the result of sound evolutionary processes rather than of sudden impulses to change fundamental principles.

If we analyze the new banking picture which has developed during the past eighteen months, we cannot help but arrive at the conclusion that evolutionary changes which have taken place in banking, and the economic life of the nation of which it is a part, have justified much of the banking legislation recently passed. As we look ahead and consider the new problems which are facing us we must inevitably come to the conclusion that some further changes in our banking laws will become necessary.

NATIONAL SAVINGS MARK INCREASES

NEW YORK.—The annual savings compilation of the American Bankers Association for the year ending June 30, 1934, shows that for the first time since 1929 total savings in all American banks recorded an annual increase.

A statement by W. E. Spay Ains, Deputy Manager of the association in charge of its Savings Division, in the organization's monthly magazine "Banking," says that savings deposited in banks as of June 30, 1934, gained 3.5 per cent as compared with a year earlier.

"The aggregate is an increase over last year of $742,132,898, the first since the year which closed June 30, 1930," he says. "This is a notable achievement, for the decline since 1930 had been precipitate and all-encompassing. In that year savings had reached the all-time high of $28,478,631,000. A year ago the amount was $21,125,534,000, a loss in three years of $7,353,097,000. This year the figure stands at $21,877,666,000.

"Depositors, too, have gained in number, going from 39,224,742 on June 30, 1933, to 39,562,174 on June 30 this year, a gain of 337,432. Four years ago there were 32,729,432 depositors, or one depositor for each 2.3 persons in the country. Now there is one depositor for each 2.7 persons.
