He is equipped to handle wheat with the minimum of delay to growers who desire to rush harvest as rapidly as possible. Mechanical loaders are available to load the grain directly into cars.

Mr. Dobkins declared that he had been assured sufficient crops to handle the county's wheat crop and that no shortage is anticipated, as in other districts where more small grain is produced. Several wheat growers in the county have already started harvest.

Mr. Dobkins' market is located at the Dobkins Gin in Roaring Springs.

Pioneer Cowboy Buried

Another pioneer cowboy of western Texas has left his weary, earthly saddle and gone to the more tranquil range of eternity.

J. A. Sullivan, 58, of Sheridan, Wyoming, was buried in the Matador East Mound cemetery Tuesday afternoon, following his death in the Sheridan Memorial hospital on Wednesday, June 4.

His death resulted from a fall from his saddle on June 2, and exposure for 36 hours before he was found. Suffering a broken neck, the cowboy lived until after being removed to the hospital, 40 miles away. He was employed on a ranch near Lodge Grass, Wyoming.

The body arrived at Childress late Monday night, where it was met by friends and relatives and taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Tom Bynum of Flomot. Funeral services were held at the Flomot Methodist church Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Last rites were conducted by Rev. R. L. Jameson.

Born in Karnes County, Texas
J. A. Sullivan was born in Karnes county, Texas in 1883. He was married to Mattie Hudson, January 20, 1905 and to this union two children were born, both of whom survive. They are Mrs. T. A. Bynum of Flomot and Matt Sullivan of Vermejo Park, N. M. Mrs. Sullivan died February 17, 1909.

Other survivors include Mrs. Etta Tittolson, of Abilene, Mr. Sullivan's sister. Mr. Sullivan was married the second time in 1913 to Allie Gallis and to this union four children were born. They were Mrs. F. C. Sears, James Henry, Albert and Mollie Sullivan.

Tornado Leaves Path Of Death And Destruction In Texas Panhandle

Horses Are Endangered

Sleeping sickness in horses and mule over the county is endangering other animals, according to County Agent J. Rufus Emmons. While the disease is not contagious it is spread by flies and mosquitoes.

Three deaths of horses from the disease have been reported and other animals have been treated. Mr. Emmons advises that animals be vaccinated immediately to prevent the spread of the disease. He said that vaccine sufficient for a year, is priced at $1.35, however, after the disease is contracted, the treatment is much more expensive, usually in the neighborhood of $7.

Four Are Arrested For Theft

Four men were arrested by local officers this week for the theft of a calf from Lem Miller of Roaring Springs. The calf was stolen from Mr. Miller on June 4th and recovered at Snyder, Texas, Tuesday.

H. L. Chaney and Doyle Harris, both of Memphis, are in jail awaiting action of the grand jury on July 28, when J. W. Cagle and his son, J. D. Cagle, both of Snyder, will be charged in connection with the theft.

Local officers who participated in tracing the stolen calf, and arrest of the men charged in the theft, were J. E. Russell, special officer of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association, special officer John Russell and Deputy Sheriff John Stotts.

World's Best Chickens Are Offered Here

Some of the finest White Leghorn chickens in the world are offered for sale by Lewis Newman, manager of the Matador Hatchery. The breed of chickens was developed by James E. Rice, for 30 years head of the poultry science department of Cornell University, and now president of the World Poultry Science organization.

Eggs from the private stock, now declared to be the best and most profitable chickens in the world, cost Mr. Newman 80c each. Some of the laying hens now weigh six pounds each. The eggs were secured last year and the flock now totals over 1,000 birds, offered for sale at 40% discount of regular price.

Regarding the chickens, Mr. Newman said, "To begin this work in the White Leghorn Breed our foundation stock was selected from a flock into which the factors of vitality, high egg production, large size and quality egg production and large body size, have become staple by balanced breeding thru years of careful, scientific mating. We believe the quality of this stock to be equal to the best."

Mr. Newman said that in event a demand does not exist here at present for the pure bred Leghorns, he will distribute most of the remaining flock with the ordinary White Leghorn orders which sell at the hatchery for regular prices. In this manner, he explained that each customer would receive a few of the pure strain, which would improve the general stock over the county. Visitors are welcome to inspect the flock and see the laying records kept during the entire life of the young hens.

Defense War On Hoppers

With army worms partly under control, farmers of Motley county are continuing a strong defense fight against serious numbers of grasshoppers.

Ben Keltz of Whiteflat declared this week that grasshoppers in his section were in greater numbers than he had ever witnessed in Motley county. Other farmers have reported alarming numbers of young hoppers near their fields.

It is believed that due to the past warm weather and abundant rains during the spring, practically all grasshopper eggs have hatched. Farmers are again urged to secure poison at the seed house of the Farmers Cooperative Gin here and continue the fight to save young row crops from the pests.

Joe B. Meador, in charge of the poison distribution, declares that the most effective way to halt the young hoppers, is to scatter the poison mix along fence rows and in weeds near fields where damage may be anticipated.

Young hoppers are more easily killed by poison than after the pests have matured.

Red Cross Material Received

Material for making 100 dresses for girls and 100 pounds of knitting thread were received Tuesday by the Motley county Red Cross knitting and sewing room, it was announced by Homer Sheats, county chairman.

Residents of the county who are willing to donate their work to aid the Red Cross movement are urged to see Mrs. L. R. Bishop or call at the sewing room located in the theatre building. The room is open Wednesday and Saturdays from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m.

Continued Rains Place Shadow On Crop Prospects

Floods, cyclones and electrical storms have taken heavy toll of lives and property in Western Texas during the past week.

A cyclone of unusual force left a path of death and destruction across the Panhandle early Monday morning. Striking first in the Spade community in Lamb county, houses were destroyed and a negro man and his wife were killed, then the tornado moved swiftly to Kress, north of Plainview where D. P. Singleton, 70, was killed and his wife injured.

At Silverton the twister caused property damage and several persons were injured, but no lives were lost. Following a northeast course, the storm crossed Red River and struck the west section of Clarendon where R. E. Drennon, dean of the junior college and high school principal, and his wife were killed.

Historical College Damaged

Damage to property in Clarendon was estimated to amount to over $500,000 and included historic old Clarendon College building and modern brick structure now included in the Clarendon Junior College. The upper stories on both structures were wrecked and equipment strewn over the campus.

One side of a new rock fence on the football stadium was scattered over a half block. Further to the north, five other houses were wrecked.

The storm hit the residential section of the city from the south and swept thru to the north, wrecking all buildings in its block-wide path. On each side, houses, barns and other property were damaged.

The twister apparently bounced thru the area as several of the buildings were merely unroofed, while nearby buildings were completely wrecked.

The Drennon residence, first hit by the storm, was lifted from the foundation and smashed to the ground 20 feet away. Members of the family had to be dug from the wreckage.

City officials expressed wonder that more were not killed or injured as the storm struck suddenly (See STORM Back Page)

Plans Are Made For Singers

F. M. Casey, president of the organization said Monday that a number of outstanding singers will attend the meeting. An outline of the program will probably be announced in next week's issue of the Tribune.

Texas Lint Growers To Receive $23 Per Bale Price Increase

WACO, Texas—Old Man Texas, the oldest and most valuable of our agriculture—has just been long-promised parity by Congress, is looking forward to the most prosperous farm season since the Panhandle to the Rio Grande Valley, and the Piney Woods of East Texas to the western Plains, farmers were last week as Congress passed, and the president signed, the measure fixing government loans on major farm products at 85 percent parity.

The passage of this legislation, mainly the efforts of the American Farm Bureau Federation, which has led a three-year fight on behalf, means that farmers receive full, 100 percent parity for their current production this year. Producers of the basic crops who operate in the AAA program receive at least 85 percent of the market price of their 1941 crops. The remaining 15 percent will be made up by contribution and benefit payments. This is a price designed to give producers the purchasing power in terms of other goods they had from 1909 to 1914.

J. Walter Hammond of Tye, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, who probably had as much to do with getting the measure passed as any other man in this state, pointed to it as an example of what farmers can do if they will only organize to make their voices heard.

Hammond, a practical, successful, Taylor County farmer, made three trips to Washington this spring to join other Farm Bureau leaders in urging Congress to pass the bill.

"If, with only a small percentage of the farmers organized, we can get Congress to do this much for agriculture, just think what we could do if we were fully organized," he said.

"We must not forget that this parity measure is for one year only," he pointed out. "With industrial prices constantly rising, increasing the cost of things the farmer must buy, the need will probably be even greater next year. We must make Congress realize that justice for agriculture should be placed upon a permanent basis.

Claims by industrial interests that the slight boost in prices of raw products will materially increase living costs were most vigorously refuted by the Texas farm leader.

"A dollar shirt, for example, containing less than a pound of cotton, should cost the consumer only about 3 cents more unless industry uses this as an excuse to boost its own margin of profit excessively," he pointed out. "Likewise the rise in the price of bread should be less than one-half cent a loaf."

"Balance this against what the $23 per bale increase in cotton and the 33 cent per bushel rise in wheat will mean to Texas' half million farm families and to everyone else in this state dependent upon agriculture directly or indirectly for a living."

last year. Price of oats, barley and other grains, always affected by the price of wheat, will be correspondingly higher.

Officials of the American Farm Bureau Federation, which has made the parity measure its major legislative project since last December, hailed the recent overwhelming vote in Congress as one of the most notable victories it has ever won for American agriculture in its 20-year battle to give the farmer a fairer share of the national income.

The Farm Bureau is universally credited with being a major factor in the measure's enactment. The vote in the House was 275 to 63, and in the Senate, 72 to 2, showing, Farm Bureau officials said, that Congress at last realizes that the American farmer is entitled to some of the price protection that has been so long given to labor and industry through the protective tariff.

Half Million Members

The Farm Bureau is an organization of farmers, with nearly 500,000 members in 42 states. Besides the parity bill, it has to its credit a long list of other legislation beneficial to agriculture.

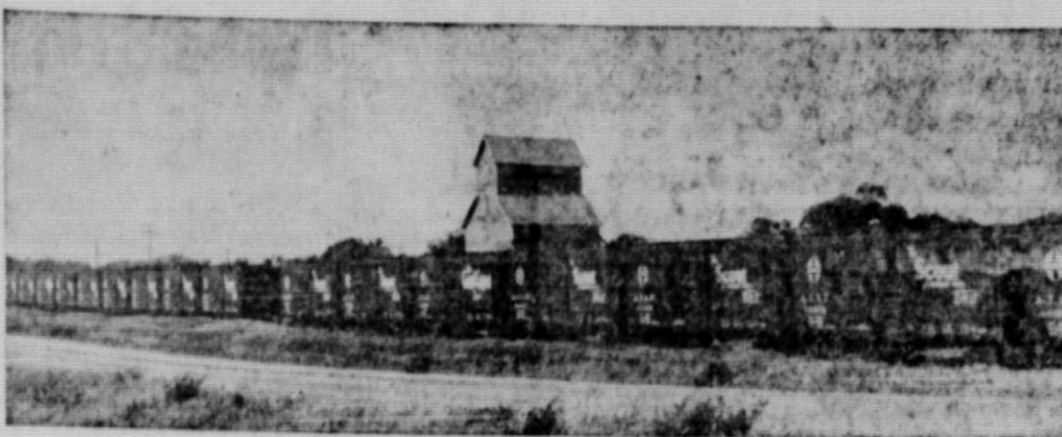

J. Walter Hammond of Tye, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, who probably had as much to do with getting the measure passed as any other man in this state, pointed to it as an example of what farmers can do if they will only organize to make their voices heard.

NEW CARS AWAIT WHEAT HARVEST

These new Santa Fe Railway box cars stored at a country elevator indicate the preparation being made to handle the bumper 1941 wheat crop. The scene is typical throughout the southwest. Storage facilities for the new crop remain a big problem. Terminal elevators remain from 60 to 80 per cent filled with old wheat while a crop of 653,120,000 bushels is expected this summer.

Lubbock Legion To Be Host

LUBBOCK, Texas—Preparations are complete for point conventions of the American Legion and auxiliary of the Fifth Texas division and the 19th congressional district to which Lubbock's Allen Bros. post will be the host Saturday and Sunday, June 14 and 15, according to Chas. Whitacre of Lubbock, 19th district commander.

New Texas Almanac Is Off Press

A book of 576 pages, The Texas Almanac for 1941-42, just off the press, is the largest volume in the long history of this biennial publication of The Dallas Morning News. A number of new features are included in addition to the usual chapters and statistical tables on such topics as agriculture, industry, population, history, soil and water resources, weather, minerals, manufacturing, transportation, wholesaling and retailing, government, education and civic affairs.

Has Texas really had more than six flags? How has the relationship of rural and urban population changed since 1930? When were the tapir, sabre-toothed tiger and camel found in Texas? Who was Governor in 1893? What facilities has MacKenzie State Park at Lubbock? Who won the Dixie Series in 1931? What are the total retail sales of Brady, Texas? These are typical of the wide variety of questions that can be answered from the pages of the new book.

New census figures on population, manufacturing, agriculture, wholesale and retail trade and service businesses are included.

The historical chapter has been supplemented by a number of supplementary topics including a long list of Texas historical landmarks. There are especially complete chapters on highways and parks in anticipation of increased tourist trade in Texas during the next two years. The usual large folded maps, showing railroads and highways respectively, have been brought up to date, and there is an individual map of each of the 254 counties of Texas accompanying the county articles. New developments in Texas, including the defense industries, chemistry, conservation programs, changes in farm and farm tenantry, aviation, new army and navy camps and posts, and political activities are covered.

There are more than 50,000 separate and distinct facts about Texas in this "Encyclopedia of Texas."

Texas oil producers pay more in State and local oil taxes than the producers of all of the seven next largest oil-producing States combined.

While Texas has approximately 53 percent of the Nation's oil reserves, it was able to market only 36 per cent of the total oil production of the Nation last year.

Pied 'Pinions BY MRS. M.

About the only happy people in the world today, are the slaphappy ones. The others are just kidding themselves.

It looks like this country's bound to be "got", if not by one thing, then another. If drought and sandstorms don't get us, the rains, worms, weeds and morons will.

Instead of being blown away as usual, however, we now enjoy the unique experience of being practically washed away, and as one local businessman expresses it, "We never have seen this country fail to make a crop because of too much rain—but we might."

Pity the tired business girl for all the threadbare expressions it is her duty to listen to, as she feebly tries to smile in response to the likes of this: "Whaddya know -", "Working hard, or hardly working?", and that most abused of all, the little blotter number, spoken half-humorously, half-depreciatory, as though the speaker had authored it himself.

I've about given up the idea of a record to perpetuate my voice for the future generations. After numerous attempts to speak with conviction into the mike, it is rather discouraging to be told that your voice sounds like a certain female on the other whose name combines a sweet smelling flower and the break of day.

By the same token in which anticipated pleasures frequently become flat and tasteless in the ashes of realization, likewise are unexpected events often highly pleasurable.

Rev. E. C. Hecksher, who spoke at the Baptist church Sunday evening, in an unheralded appearance, delivered one of the most impressive and inspirational messages ever presented here.

Born in Denmark of wealthy parentage, Rev. Hecksher speaks five languages fluently, having received his education both in America and abroad. His first visit to this land was at the age of 4 1/2 years when his parents brought their children here to occupy their American home.

Because of his Christian belief and his determination to enter the ministry, he left home at an early age with but three cents in his pocket, under the shadow of his father's disapproval and the certainty of disinheritance. In a previous attempt to dissuade his son from the life he had chosen, the father accompanied him on an European tour. Before their return to America, they visited Greenland and it was here that the desire was born in the youth, to become the first Baptist missionary to that country.

The simple, direct manner in which he spoke, and the sincere earnestness of his message, sprinkled with humor combined to hold the congregation's undivided attention throughout the service.

VISIT MOTHER

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reeves of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, have been visiting here during the past week with his mother, Mrs. W. E. Reeves.

Also visiting his mother is Dr. Robert Reeves, of Duke University Durham, N. C., who was accompanied home Sunday evening from Dallas, by his sister, Miss Maisey Reeves, teacher in the Dallas school system, who will remain here during the summer.

HOME ON FURLOUGH

Earl Vaughn, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Vaughn, of Roaring Springs, and Billy Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Sanders also of that place, arrived home Wednesday for a few days furlough.

This is their first visit home since they enrolled in the medical corps in August, at which time they were sent to Denver, Colorado. They are now assigned to the medical department of the air corps.

RETURNS FROM N. M.

LETTERS From ENGLAND

23-11-1940

My Dearest June, First of all, congratulations on Mr. Roosevelt winning the election. We over here followed the whole proceedings with great interest hoping that Franklin would win with all our hearts.

I am very sorry that I have not answered your letter sooner but I thought I might as well wait until I got you a small present and enclose the two together. I am also sending you some autumn leaves. There are only a few and they are a bit dilapidated. Dennis Richard is now over 2 1/2 months and is very sweet. He weighs 12 lbs. 1 oz. and was 7 1/2 lbs. at birth. He has blue eyes and dark hair.

We are having 2 weeks holiday for Christmas, from the 20th. We in England are not making a lot of Christmas this year. The shops are full of presents and decorations. Of course I shall stay in Tonbridge for Christmas. By the way, did I tell you that my mother and baby Dennis are here in Tonbridge quite close? Also my sister Peggy who is 12. She attends my school and is in the first year.

Do you know why my letters are not censored? Because I would dream of me giving vital secrets but you never if I tease you too much. The I am sending is English, though it will not be the same as an American one, it will be you. Well, I will close now but you a very merry Christmas a happy New Year. Au Ma Chere Amie

Each half-cent of the gasoline tax takes "one day's pay from millions of farmers, factory workers and others who already are contributing two week's wages in taxes on their cars," according to Congressman John M. Houston of Kansas.

Gasoline and other automotive taxes collected by the federal and state governments each year are equal to approximately 25 per cent of the value of all motor vehicles operating upon the highways.

Certified: 13,398 MILES ON A SINGLE 5-QT. FILL OF THIS NEW OIL

5 OTHER GOOD OILS OUTDISTANCED 74% TO 161% Impartial test in Death Valley Desert. 6 cars Destroyed to give you Economy data beyond any Quibbles.

U. S. Patent No. 2,218,132 tells exactly what is new about the new Conoco motor oil named

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL

5 quarts of this same new Conoco Nth oil that you can buy today, lasted 13,398.8 miles in a stock coupe—under lock and under scrutiny every minute.

13,398 miles up and down Death Valley. Sand and sagebrush. Lowest land and highest extremes of heat in our U. S. A.

5 other well known oils got the same chance as new Conoco Nth oil. 6 identical new cars were used. Tune-ups, tire pressures, speeds, and all other factors were the same for all—impartially. Engines were under lock. Qualified authorities eyed everything.

The test was simple and stern... Each car got its 5-quart fill of some one competing oil and was run at a 57-mile speed, without added oil, till the engine smashed up. New Conoco Nth motor oil went 13,398 miles. Certified. Not another oil came within 5,683 miles of that and one was outlasted 8,268 miles by new Conoco Nth oil. Certified.

The reasons are straight and simple... New, patented Conoco Nth motor oil contains Thialkene inhibitor, a new synthetic... man-made by Conoco.

Now an inhibition is something that restrains you—checks you. And Thialkene inhibitor checks the effect of poisons always formed in normal engine operation. Instead of "festering," weakening, and passing out, this oil is scientifically prepared to keep its health, so that the engine can do the same—a good way to keep up the oil-level.

OIL-PLATING, too!... Long the keystone of Conoco success, OIL-PLATING comes from another Conoco synthetic... (U. S. Patent 1,944,941). Magnet-like action bonds OIL-PLATING to engine parts, so it can't all drain down—not even overnight.

While you use Conoco Nth, this OIL-PLATING stays on guard against wear in advance! By OIL-PLATING the engine and inhibiting the worst effect of oil pollution, one fill of new Conoco Nth lasted 13,398 miles. Certified.

You'll not put your car through such a third-degree—any more than you keep starting in high gear just because you could. You'll certainly never want to exceed the recommended distance between crankcase drains. But knowing that new Conoco Nth oil lasted 74% to 161% longer than other oils tested, see how seldom you add a quart. At Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station today change to your correct Summer grade of popular-priced new Conoco Nth oil. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

Poultry Raisers Important Notice!

During the months of June and July, the Matador Hatchery, our local RED CHAIN DEALER is authorized to make you a special price on RED CHAIN GROWING MASH.

FOOD FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE

As our contribution to the National defense program, we are making this unusual offer to assist you in developing a fine flock of vigorous layers this fall. Many poultry raisers do not realize the value of better feeding methods for growing chicks, although careful experimentation by leaders in the poultry field has proved that grain alone will not bring birds into early profitable production, and that cheap, inefficient mashes are expensive at any price.

We are, therefore, especially glad to offer you this special price on RED CHAIN GROWING MASH or NUGGETS to encourage you to join the thousands of other successful poultry raisers in following a proved feeding program so that we in the southwest will have sufficient eggs to supply the greater demand that is expected this fall and winter.

STABILIZATION OF EGG PRICES

Better prices are assured the poultry raiser for the next two years, due to the stabilization of prices by the Federal Government... and NOW is the time for you to practice improved feeding methods and use only the best in feeds if you expect to cash in on this defense program.

Draft Your Birds for This Emergency

The call is here! We urge you to tie in with this great program and keep your chicks growing on RED CHAIN GROWING MASH or NUGGETS.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD CHOOSING THE NEW CAMERA

For sharp pictures of fast-moving vacation-time games, you'll need a camera with high shutter speeds. A fast lens is helpful, too, when light conditions are adverse.

ABOUT this time of year — and especially with vacations in the offing — many of us feel the need of a finer camera, with greater picture-taking ability. A fine camera is about as easy to operate as any other, once you are familiar with it. But there is a difference in usefulness between the finer camera and the inexpensive model.

In choosing your finer camera, consider these points carefully, so that you can select a model which exactly fits your picture-taking needs: If you want to be able to take pictures outdoors under all daylight conditions, bright or dull, early morning or late afternoon, choose a camera with a fast lens — an f.6.3, f.4.5 or faster. For night snapshots by ordinary electric light, without "flood" lamps, get a camera with f.2 lens. If "flood" lamps are used, a slower lens will do.

It's wise to obtain your finer camera well in advance of your vacation, and practice using it. Since these fine cameras are precision instruments, see that yours receives proper care. If treated well, such a camera will give long and meritorious service — service that far outweighs its cost. Just ask the camera hobbyist who owns one!

Danger Of Typhoid On Vacation

AUSTIN, Texas—Vacation time is once again at hand, and among preparations for your summer vacation, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges that you include vaccination against typhoid. "If you have not been vaccinated against typhoid fever recently—within the last year or two—go at once to your family physician for the three shots of typhoid vaccine that will protect you against that disease. Don't wait until just before your vacation to be vaccinated against typhoid," Dr. Cox urged.

"Typhoid fever is a germ disease. Water, milk, or other foods that have been contaminated by typhoid germs are the main sources of the disease. A great deal has been accomplished by public health measures to prevent the spread of typhoid from such sources. The protection of public and private water supplies from contamination, the extension of community sanitation, the sanitary supervision of food, pasteurization of milk, and other public health measures have all helped to safeguard the public against the disease. Typhoid is much less prevalent than formerly, but it is still a source of much unnecessary and avoidable illness.

"Another source of danger in the rural areas is the unprotected water supply. You can not tell whether water is safe for drinking purposes even if it looks clean. It is wise to boil water used for drinking purposes in non-urban areas. For the same reason, unless you are certain of the source of your milk supply while on camping trips, you had better boil that also.

FD Asks Johnson To Stay Upon Campaign Trails

AUSTIN, Texas—Pres. Roosevelt today had requested Cong. Lyndon Johnson to continue laying before Texas people in the senatorial campaign the vital issues now facing this country. The president's telegram was in response to one sent him by the congressman offering to return to Washington at once if the President needed him.

Senator, thereby present a convincing Demonstration of our Democratic process at work. In my opinion the people of Texas are entitled to be informed of the issues by the candidates for that office and I can think of no better way to present the issues than through personal appearances by all the candidates. Therefore I suggest that you stay in Texas during the campaign unless conditions change so radically that your presence in Washington is necessary. If that happens I will send for you. Please return immediately after election.

Major Julia Flikke Heads Vast Corps of Army Nurses

If you were asked on one of the numerous quizzes on the radio and in the papers, how many of the 2,400 majors in the United States army were women, you'd probably answer unhesitatingly "none."

But you would be wrong, for there is one, and her name is Julia Flikke. As head of the United States Army Nurse Corp she ranks a salute from all commissioned army officers, and shoulder straps bearing a gold oak leaf. Her varied activities during the past thirty years have won for her the Cosmopolitan of the Month accolade from the July issue of Cosmopolitan magazine in a story related by Gretta Palmer.

Major Julia Flikke

Major Flikke's nursing career began in 1912, Miss Palmer reports, when she was widow Flikke, a plain Wisconsin housewife, childless and full of thoughts. During her husband's fatal illness she observed the useful, satisfying work of a nurse and resolved to become one herself. After finishing a course in Chicago's Adigan Hospital, she took post-graduate work at Columbia University, and promptly joined the Nursing Corps when the United States entered the World War.

Shelterbelt Trees Vary In Height

Observing that there is a great deal of difference in the height of the different species of trees in the same shelterbelt, many people are asking, "How tall will they grow?"

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's local Forest Service official, Marvin Angle, answers some of these inquiries as follows: "In making our observations it must be remembered, first, that the inherent characteristics of different species of trees are such that they should not be expected to grow at the same rate. Second, that in setting up the general scheme of shelterbelts, the Forest Service took advantage of these characteristics.

As a whole the faster growing trees are not as long a lived tree as the slower growing species. The shelterbelts were therefore planned so that each belt would have at least one or two species that would grow rapidly and give early protection while the longer lived and slower growing trees were reaching a height stage that would make a good windbreak. In the meantime the slower growing trees are partly absorbing and dissipating the force of the wind as it is elevated overhead.

STORM . . .

At 5 a. m. when most residents were asleep. The tornado missed the business section of the town, but considerable damage in rural areas was reported.

After leaving Clarendon, the storm was traced into western Oklahoma.

Heavy Rains Here

Continued heavy rains in Motley county caused much damage to crops, farming land and roads over the past week-end.

Matador registered a total of 4.38 inches of rainfall during last Thursday, Friday and Sunday. It has been estimated that damage to county farm to market roads may be in the neighborhood of $40,000.

The official U. S. Rain gage maintained by George Springer showed a rainfall of 3.5 inches Thursday, .63 inch Friday and .25 inch Sunday. It is estimated that probably 75% to 80% of the crops planted in the county will require replanting.

In addition to the rain damage, an electrical storm which struck Matador Sunday night, left the city with out lights for a few minutes and caused damage to electric hot-water heaters in several homes.

Flood At Albany

A flash flood at Albany, which caused a dam to break, took 12 lives Tuesday according to reports received from the stricken area.

Continued showers last night and heavy skies indicated that probably more rainfall is in store for this section of the Panhandle, which is in vital need of sunshine for the next three weeks. The cotton planting season is rapidly reaching a deadline which can hardly be expected to extend later than the first of July.
