OLDTIMERS MAKE PLANS FOR AUGUST 24

MAIL DUST

... mesa in New Mexico to be a pitiful hovel, by serene snow-capped mountains in which dwelt a toothless old man who was supposed to have supernatural powers of predicting the future. Great automobiles would whine down mountain grades and dusty and desolate roads would abound. Many crossed with silver.

... I paid her one of the dollars I possessed besides my fare to California. My wife had for many months by a fluttering remark: "You are deceived by life." In a few days I was convinced that mine was the lot of a few chosen ones. Everything was in my favor. My position and health were such that the dollar was well invested and her first remark rang in my ears like an enchanted music.

... a few days I walked the streets of a strange and heartless city, a friend, employment or money was hungry and did not seem to sleep. I wished for the dollar I had but the bag who had told me was deceived by life.

... perfected a plan by which I can foretell their own future, the knowledge of which is but was dipped in her muddy stream of life. I merely decide what to do for it. The result will balance the effort you devote. Of course you need a lifetime to do this, but life will be yours if you believe it.

... moon I begin to look for a refuge of home. I may be, it, to me, is a place that shuts out the sacred temple that is against the intrusions and problems of this tenacious through life. Each day is a separate home is the end of the pack is loose and a tranquil peace may be yours.

... meditation I have to remember what I would live differently possible to live it. I am satisfied to see my contemporaries point out much over and different to make some impression so much that I am lost in the change of much drabness at could not justify the change, I have concluded to have the choice of what live my life, I am between depressions.

MOTLEY COUNTY WILL RECEIVE PAYMENTS OF OVER $180,000 COTTON

ACCEPTANCE OF CONTRACTS AND PERMITS TO PLOW UP COTTON HERE SOON

M. P. Leaming, Emergency Agriculture Assistant of Motley county, received word this week that the cotton reduction contracts of Motley county had been accepted.

Mr. Leaming expects to send out permits Monday for the plowing up of cotton, with more complete instructions.

The total acreage of this county at the accepted production, is expected to pay Motley county farmers $180,000. In addition there will be the earned gain on cotton options of $40,000.

Three 8 hour forces are working in Washington to rush contracts back as soon as possible. Checks will be ready as soon as contracts are properly approved by local committees and returned.

All cotton growers are warned not to plow up any cotton until they have received definite instructions to do so.

VACANCIES ANNOUNCED BY U. S. MARINE CORPS

The New Orleans Marine Corps recruiting station, located at 535 St. Charles Street, will enlist a few young men who are graduates from high-school or from institutions of higher learning during the month of August, it is announced by Major P. D. Cornell, officer in charge.

The Marine Corps offers land, air and sea duty. Marines serve in many foreign lands. Sea duty is very desirable for those wanting travel and adventure. During an enlistment one will travel thousands of miles and will have many strange and thrilling experiences.

Men enlisted will be immediately transferred to Parris-Island, S. C., for few weeks preliminary instruction, before going to some school, ship or marine barracks for duty.

Enlistment dates in August will be 1st, 11th and 21st. Application blanks will be mailed on request. Applications filed do not obligate men to enlist, it only places them on list as eligible applicants.

CONDITION IMPROVED

W. N. (Bill) Motes who is in a Quana Hospital suffering with an injured hip, is reported much improved.

Mrs. Motes, returning from the bedside of her husband Monday, declared that the physicians thought it might be possible to move Mr. Motes back here about Friday, where it is believed he may be able to walk with the aid of crutches.

TAKES PLACE

Elroy Norman of Quana has accepted a place with the Q. A. & P. made vacant by the injury of W. N. Motes last week. Mr. and Mrs. Norman will make their home at the Travelers Hotel.

CHRISTIAN REVIVAL HAS GOOD BEGINNING HERE

The revival meeting of the Christian church, being conducted by Rev. Charlease A. Chasteen, pastor of the First Christian church of Quana, has begun in a very auspicious way. The evangelist arrived Sunday afternoon and began the meeting Sunday night with a good and intensely interested audience and is delivering some very strong and highly spiritual discourses. He pitches his work on a highly spiritual plane, and delivers his messages to both christian and sinner. He will announce his subjects from night to night as the occasion and the interest of the meeting justifies. Services at ten o'clock in the morning and eight thirty in the evening. Every one invited to share the good things of the meeting. There has been several conversions and additions to the church in the first few days of the meeting. Enjoy the good tabernacle services.

MR. AND MRS. McDONALD RETURN TUESDAY

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McDonald, who were married in Washington, D. C., last month, returned to Roaring Springs Tuesday afternoon, where they will make their future home.

Mr. McDonald, who left here directly after the termination of school to make a seven weeks tour of the eastern states and Canada with the Omnibus College, was accompanied by Cecil Godfrey of Roaring Springs and Misses Julia Luckett and Lourene Fryer of Matador, all of whom have also returned.

The News wishes to extend welcome to Mrs. McDonald to her new home and also to Mr. McDonald on his return.

EXCURSION FARES

Further low excursion fares are offered by the Quana, Acme and Pacific Railway, to be effective July 21, at all stations on the route to College Station, Texas and return, account Annual Farmers Short Course, July 24-29.

Round trip fare for adults will be two thirds of the current one way fare. No reduction for children over five and under twelve. Same route must be used in each direction.

GOES TO SPUR

W. A. Conn, who is well known here as automotive mechanic and repairman, accepted a position with a Spur concern last week and moved to the neighboring city the first of this week to assume his new duties.

RETURN

B. M. Nelson and family, accompanied by Miss Bonnie Thompson, returned from Temple and Rogers, Bell county, Texas, last Sunday afternoon, after a ten day vacation and visit with friends and relatives.

MODERN SPUR LAUNDRY OFFERS FINE SERVICE SKILL AND EQUIPMENT

THIS SECTION SERVED WITH SAME CLASS OF WORK AFFORDED LARGER CITIES

Water, plenty of pure soft water, is one of the first requirements of a successful laundry, according to Mr. Wilson, manager of the Spur Laundry, which serves Roaring Springs and Matador three days each week. In equipping his modern plant some four years ago, Mr. Wilson invested one thousand dollars in a water softener that supplies the plant from the first boiling hot, snow-white suds, to the ten to fourteen waters that each tub of clothes is subjected. No water is ever used twice.

Each individual laundry is placed in a soft white cotton sack before it starts the journey through the washer, wringer and dryer. It is not opened until these operations are completed. In the wringer, or extractor the revolving drum slings the water out. In the dry tumbler hot dry steam again purifies and dries. Steam heated and air operated presses iron shirts with better shape than the most careful iron presser. Skillful operators direct the modern and expensive equipment with equal pride the high quality work turned out by the laundry.

Pure, clean and white as the driven snow, your laundry is immediately returned to your home. The extremely low rates now in effect have made the Spur Laundry popular with housewives throughout the territory served.

Church Of Christ

Sermon themes for Sunday: "The Universal Conquest of the Christ as Revealed Through Great Commission"—Matt. 28:19. "The Trials of Life"—2 Cor. 12:7-10.

The primary mission of the church in the world is to give Christ's Gospel to the world. Eph. 3:10. Nothing can supercede the preaching of the Word—2 Timothy 4:1. And why is revealed in Heb. 4:12 and Rom. 1:16 and 1 Cor. 15:1-4. So preaching and teaching Christ should be given first place in a program and plan of New Testament churches—read Acts 2:42 and 5:42.

Sunday was day of good attendance and interest. It is gratifying to see a group maintain its zeal despite intense hot weather.

Tentative arrangement for date of our revival is the third and fourth Sundays in August. Evangelist Fitzgerald of Harlingen will talk. The public is welcome to all services.

A consecrated, faithful Christian would not take a quit-claim to all earthly wealth for standing room in heaven.

Every Eden has its serpent, every garden its snakes.

BEN WEST, Minister.

Meeting Here Last Friday Plans Program For Old Settlers Reunion

OLDEST RESIDENTS OF COUNTY TO GET PRIZES

Basket Lunches To Replace Public Table Spreads Of Past Meetings

At a meeting of the Motley-Dickens County Old Settlers Association board of advisors in Roaring Springs last Friday afternoon, it was decided to abandon the former practice of public table spread and resort to the old-fashioned basket lunch, with all participants supplying the noon meal for themselves and individually invited friends. The plan, fostered by the success of the old-time camp-meeting days, was decided as the most suitable for the occasion.

A speedily arranged program was prepared for the afternoon of August 24th, the date of the reunion. The entire morning will be devoted to renewing old friendships.

It was decided by Motley county members at the meeting to offer a worth-while prize to each, the oldest man and oldest woman resident of this county. In another part of this paper will be found more detailed information. This same plan is being offered the oldest residents of Dickens county. Altho it is not absolutely necessary to register now, it will be appreciated by the association. A short sketch of the applicants' life is requested.

President Hale assured members at the meeting that definite arrangements had been made for seats and shade.

POSTAL RECEIPTS GAIN

Receipts of the Roaring Springs post office for the first half of 1933 show a gain of slightly more than 41 per cent over the same period of 1932, according to local postmaster H. L. Goodwin.

Receipts for the first half of this year amounting to $1086.80, while the same half of 1932 amounted to $770.40.

ON VACATION

Mrs. M. S. Thacker and children, Miss Audys Ratliff, Mrs. W. C. King and son, Dale, left Roaring Springs Tuesday morning for Corpus Christi, Texas where they will spend a vacation of some week or ten days.

Miss Lily White and Jas. Hale of Stephenville were Saturday guests of Minister and Mrs. Ben West. Miss White taught in the Roaring Springs school a few years ago and now has a good position in Junior High at Stephenville. Mr. Hale is a teacher in the high school in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hall of Paducah accompanied by Mrs. Gertrude Hoffman were guests of Minister and Mrs. Ben West at the parsonage Sunday afternoon.

How All the People Played a Part In Building Nation's Credit Structure

Banker Describes the Way Loans and Securities of Banks Are Based on the Hopes and Plans of All Classes—Values Dependent on Public's Ability to Meet Obligations

By FRANCIS H. SISSON,
President American Bankers Association in The Forum

CREDIT may be informally described as future hopes, plans and good intentions converted into present purchasing power. The farmer, the manufacturer, the merchant, the home buyer, the purchaser of household goods, the investor and the speculator all borrow at times. They plan to repay with the earnings of their crops, proceeds of the sales of their goods, incomes from their wages and salaries or profits from the resales of their securities at enhanced market values, such as the case may be.

F. H. SISSON

The greater part of these various brms of credit is obtained by the borrowers directly or indirectly through the expansion of the loans and investments of the banks. It is this which creates the notes, securities and mortgages in the portfolios of the banks.
The banks are able to extend these plans because a great many people deposit money with them.

Even under the best conditions the plans of a small percentage of borrowers go wrong through mistakes, hard luck or dishonesty, and the judgment of the banker in such cases is proved by the after event to have been at fault.
The losses caused under such conditions are ordinarily fully met by funds set aside out of the earnings of the banks for just this purpose and do not affect the money of the depositors, who seldom hear anything about such cases.

In the vast majority of cases and in the overwhelming volume of business involved the confidence of the bankers in their customers and the confidence of the customers in their own ability to carry out their plans and obligations to successful conclusions are wholly justified. This is the normal economic situation and it constitutes the conditions under which the use of credit adds to public welfare and progress.

The Faith of the Banks
Such was the structure of hopes, good intentions and common confidence in one another that existed among all classes of the nation's community life when the series of economic shocks began to shake the nation's social fabric in 1929. The people had deposited billions of dollars with the banks because they had confidence in them. The banks had loaned large volumes of these deposits on farm and home mortgages and on notes of manufacturers, business men and finance concerns, and had invested in the standard securities of the nation's corporations, state and local governmental units and the national government itself, because they had confidence in the citizenship and business condition of the nation.

Their mortgage and other loans to owners of farms aggregated $6,500,000, 000. Loans on urban real estate were $4,000,000,000. Loans to individuals secured by U. S. Government, municipal and corporate securities totalled $11-000,000,000. Loans to industrial and commercial enterprises in connection with the production and distribution of the nation's infinite varieties of goods amounted to almost $19,500,000,000.
Investments in Federal, State and municipal bonds were almost $6,000,000, 000, and in various kinds of railroad and corporate securities $11,000,000,000.
These made total loans and investments of $58,000,000,000.

This great credit structure was built while the country was at peace, while the farms and factories were productive, while the nation and the world provided great active markets for their outputs, while the earnings of all kinds of enterprise were large, while the working people of the nation were fully employed, while wages and salaries were steady and generous, while prices of commodities were strong and while the minds of the people were dominated by faith in the future and confidence in one another.

Great Changes Came to the Nation
Then suddenly, almost as if the sun itself had lost part of its vitality, everything changed. Foreign markets failed and disappeared. Industry slack-ened. A rapid drop in all kinds of commodity values set in. The earnings of business fell. Unemployment developed. Wages and salaries went down.
Domestic markets shrank. Fear became general. The securities markets became panic-ridden as the prices of stocks and bonds withered to fractions of their former values. It was the greatest disintegration of human plans, economic conditions and worldly values that history had ever witnessed.

These destructive changes cut right through the qualities and values of the loans and investments, the notes and securities in the banks. Business men and manufacturers could not repay their notes to the banks as due. Many governmental units and corporations defaulted the payments on their bonds.
Property underlying real estate mortgages became worth less than the face of the mortgages. The market values of standard securities became less than the banks had paid for them as investments or accepted them as collateral for customers' loans.

This meant, in fine, that the ability of borrowers to carry out the future hopes, plans and good intentions that I have defined above as the basis of credit, had become impaired to a far greater extent than had ever before occurred in the nation's history. The resulting losses could not be absorbed by the banks alone out of the normally ample funds that had been set aside against the expectancy of a certain inevitable percentage of human plans gone wrong.

Banks Showed All Reasonable Care
It was in loans and investments, whose values thus became so unforseeably impaired, that the banks, in all confidence, in all good faith, in all humanly reasonable care and good judgment had entrusted the billions of dollars of deposits which their customers had entrusted to them.

Those loans and investments were, under all normal conditions, as good as gold itself. Indeed, if the banks instead had filled their vaults with gold bars, and then some unknown cosmic ray had transmuted them into lead, the results would have been scarcely more startling than the depreciation that was caused in the assets of the banks by the unforeseeable economic forces which permeated and debased them.

The inevitable result was that, when the banks urgently needed the money they had entrusted to those assets, so that they could meet the unreasoning demands of their depositors, they could not get it back.

It was not that our banking system and methods were of themselves weak or reprehensible, apart from the rest of the life of the nation, as has so much been made to appear.

It was not that our banks were permeated with incompetency or dishonesty or with lower standards of business ethics than were the other forms of human activity with which their own fate and activities were inextricably interwoven, as, it almost seemed at times, there was a concerted national conspiracy to lead our people to believe.

The great fact of American banking is that it shared fully in the plans and hopes and hazards of the American people,—and when those plans went wrong, the banks carried their share of the burden and suffered their share of the misfortune.

in this country that use motion pictures in their edifices for the entertainment and edification of their congregations?

Lack of promptness in arriving on the set on time costs the studios thousands of dollars a year, but a fine for the offender is contemplated in the future to remedy this condition.

There are spies working on sets to see the new dance formations in musical comedies that their rivals are producing. These new dances are then reported to headquarters and these other companies will then often appear with their product on the screen before their rivals have a chance to show theirs—thus taking all the wind out of their sails. A most strict supervision is maintained now to minimize this condition.

The 'bad lady' is very popular in pictures? I've heard they are more interesting than the good ones. Well, Mae West's last picture "She Done Him Wrong" started an avalanche of pictures featuring the naughty lady. So I predict lavender and scarlet will be popular this fall.

A Business Training Vs. A College Course

Under the present conditions, is it wise to undertake a four-year College Course? A very prominent educator said recently that since the World War the Colleges of the country have been overcrowded with students, with the results that there is now an enormous over-supply of college graduates. Young men and women with even Masters Degrees are walking the streets unable to find employment. They are told by the business men that their Degree is very valuable and desirable to have, yet they must know how to do some specific thing in order to be of any service to them.

A young man or young woman with a high school education, supplemented with a Complete General Business Course, stands a far better chance to find employment than one who has, or will spend four years in College. A four-year College Course equips one for just a very few places, mostly teachers. The records disclose more than fifteen thousand surplus teachers in Texas alone. The same thing is comparatively true in other states. This record is not much inducement to spend the time and money for a college degree and be unable to find employment.

Business is on the upgrade and this means, of course, that we will see a vast improvement in the employment situation immediately. We hope by fall to be placing every one of our students who graduate.

Comparing the chances for immediate employment and the small cost in taking a business course with that of a College Course, and the cost incident to a college course and the slim chance of employment thereafter, we think the odds greatly in favor of a business training.

Good attendance at Sunday school last Sunday. Several were out and they were missed, too. The Union service at 8:30 at the Church of Christ was well attended. Judge Hamilton brought us a great message—timely, brotherly and convincing. Trust each one was aroused to a new sense of obligation and responsibility on the greatest issue before us today—that is the retention of the 18th amendment and the defeat of the proposed beer bill.

Sorry to announce that the Oklahoma Indians will not be with us on Friday night of this week as has been announced.

Railroad Legislation

A RECENT state legislative bill provided that a track man carrying a bell by day and a lantern by night should lead all railroad trains across grade crossings; that conductors must smile when answering questions; that it would be a misdemeanor to serve eggs more than one day old on pullman cars; that trains be required to stop at any time when flagged by hitch-hikers, and that trains crossing rivers wider than twenty-five feet be equipped with lifeboats and life preservers. This one did not pass.
