

French Premier On Way To Seek More U.S. Aid

NEW YORK (AP)—Premier Rene Mayer of France arrived at Idlewild Airport today enroute to Washington for conferences on American military and economic aid for France and Indochina.

He was accompanied by a large delegation of French officials.

PARIS (AP)—Premier Rene Mayer and a large delegation of top French officials flew to Washington today seeking more military and economic aid.

The government chief carried with him the prestige of victory in a parliamentary money battle on a six-month compromise on French conditions for approving the proposed European army.

Accompanied by Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and Finance Minister Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, the suave, 57-year-old Mayer was scheduled to arrive in New York at noon and to transfer immediately to President Eisenhower's personal plane, the "Columbine," for the trip to Washington.

In their talks with Eisenhower and other U. S. officials, the French hope to arrange for at least 125 million dollars in immediate cash aid. This sum was included provisionally in the 1953 French military budget.

They also want to know how much American aid they can count on for building up their armed forces in Europe and to step up their war efforts against the Communist-led Vietminh rebels in Indochina.

The French government hopes that some kind of long-range program can be worked out for U. S. military aid. Such an arrangement would enable European nations to plan further ahead than is possible with the present year-to-year uncertainty at what the U. S. Congress will do.

Mayer boarded his plane early today after long hours of work on a number of issues, all apparently aimed at strengthening his talking points at Washington.

Ike, Mayer To Discuss 9 Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and his top aides were prepared today to launch a series of important talks with the visiting 36-man delegation of high French officials headed by Premier Rene Mayer.

During a three-day conference beginning today, Mayer reportedly plans to review nine key world problems—and try to line up more American military and economic aid for France and Indochina.

Vice-President Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles head a big welcoming party to greet the French Premier.

In advance of his arrival, responsible American officials made plain their main goal during the talks will be to prod Mayer into pledging faster action by France in approving a long-delayed European army plan.

If this pledge is forthcoming, American officials, in turn, are said to be ready to promise more military aid to help the French fight 50,000 more Indochinese soldiers in the battle against Communist-led guerrillas.

American officials said these are the points which will be the main ones covered during the wide-ranging talks: (1) the European Defense Treaty, (2) Indochina, (3) American aid problems, including purchase of military goods in France by the U. S., (4) relations with Russia, (5) Korea, (6) the Near East, (7) American-British-French plans for economic aid to Yugoslavia, (8) Trieste and (9) trade problems, including the European Payment Union and the move toward economic integration in Europe.

Month Of Mourning For Queen Mary Set; Coronation To Go On

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II today decreed a month's mourning for Queen Mary, thus carrying out the wish of her grandmother that nothing interfere with Elizabeth's coronation in June. Ending the period of mourning after a month will allow plenty of time for pre-coronation arrangements and activities.

Queen Mary died peacefully in her sleep last night at the age of 85.

Elizabeth, accompanied by the Duke of Edinburgh, was among the descendants of Queen Mary who drove slowly up to Marlborough House today. All were attired in deep mourning. Their faces were heavy with grief and they bowed their heads as they walked into Queen Mary's home to discuss funeral arrangements.

Elizabeth and her husband stayed 40 minutes. Other visitors included the Queen Mother Elizabeth, Princess Margaret, the Duke of Windsor, the Duchess of Kent (widow of Mary's fifth child) and the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher.

The Duke of Windsor—Mary's favorite son who renounced the throne in 1936 to marry Wallis Warfield Simpson, an American divorcee, drove up alone. In New York, the duchess said she was greatly distressed by the news of the Queen's death and had canceled all social arrangements. The duchess had never been received by her mother-in-law.

The funeral probably will not be held at Westminster Abbey because of the coronation building work in progress there. The services may be conducted at St. Paul's Cathedral in London or in St. George's Chapel at Windsor Castle. Queen Mary will be buried in the her husband, George V, in St. George's Chapel, ancient burial place of Britain's Kings and queens.

AMARILLO (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet, former Eighth Army Commander of Korean War fame, was to arrive here today for a brief vacation at Gruver, a little town 100 miles north of Amarillo.

Van Fleet was to be met by Coy. Holt, rancher and banker. He'll be Holt's guest at Gruver.

Since returning from Korea recently, Van Fleet has been visiting around the country. He's supposed to leave here Friday morning for Fort Benning, Ga.

Van Fleet Due For Vacation In Texas

Months ago the stern-willed old grandmother, in speaking to friends about the coronation, said, "Nothing must interfere with it. Nothing."

Queen Mary had been ill for more than a month with what her doctors described as a gastric ailment. The exact nature of her illness has not been disclosed.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill gave the hushed House of Commons—and the world—the first news of her death last night.

Holding a single sheet of white paper in his trembling hand, the dinner-jacketed government leader said in a voice breaking with sobs:

"Mr. Speaker, I rise to move adjournment of the House. I have with great regret to make the announcement that Queen Mary has died."

A few cries of dismay from public galleries broke the quiet.

Churchill told the House he would make an address of condolence to Queen Elizabeth today, then ask adjournment for the day "as an expression of our profound sorrow and respect."

In Ottawa, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent announced the death to the Canadian Commons and that House also adjourned.

As Churchill spoke, a solemn attendant a few blocks away posted the fourth and last medical bulletin of the day on the gates of Marlborough House.

Edged in black, it said simply: "While sleeping peacefully, Queen Mary died at twenty minutes past ten o'clock."

Four generations of Britons who knew and loved her as the proud symbol of royalty paid their tribute. Throughout the far-flung British Commonwealth, with 575 million inhabitants, flags were dipped and minutes of silence observed.

President Eisenhower sent his deep personal sympathy and recalled: "Queen Mary was a good, See QUEEN, Pg. 13, Col. 8

House Won't Hurry Up On Teacher Pay

By DAVE CHEAVENS AUSTIN (AP)—The House today beat down an effort to speed committee action on the 66 million dollar school teachers pay raise bill.

The teachers pay battle exploded on the floor a day after the 166 million dollar spending bill streaked through the Senate in exactly one hour and ten minutes.

Minutes after Rep. Lamar Zivley, Temple, tried in vain to force Appropriations Committee hearing on the teachers pay bill, another fight started over the general spending measure.

Rep. Max Smith, chairman of the Appropriations Committee sought immediate rejection of the Senate spending bill in an effort to get it into conference committee quickly.

Opponents immediately attacked Smith's plan as an effort to ramrod the measure without giving members a chance to study it.

Smith denied he was attempting to force anything. Then the House rejected his effort to get immediate action on the Senate money bill, 72-65. That means the question can come up again tomorrow.

The Senate's general spending bill adopted yesterday cut a slightly more generous pattern than the House. Smith and others in the House economy bloc said they had no intention of accepting the Senate measure.

They want to throw the job of rewriting and reconciling the House's 160 million measure and the Senate's 166 million bill into a joint conference committee.

Economy forces in both House and Senate are trying to avoid new taxes. That's the basis for most opposition to the teacher's pay bill—that it would require more taxes.

Zivley, charging that the teachers pay raise bill was languishing in the Appropriations Committee without a hearing, wanted it referred to the Committee on Public Lands and Buildings.

His effort to suspend the rules to bring the re-referred matter officially before the House lost, with 65 members voting with Zivley and 69 against. To pass, it would have required a two-thirds vote.

"Time is running out and it could run out on this bill if the Appropriations Committee chooses to delay it," Zivley said.

Smith said the teachers pay raise would cost 66 million dollars for two years. He said the committee has many other bills calling for spending in addition to Zivley's. Smith told the House he wasn't trying to keep anyone from having a hearing but the committee sought was to get the general spending bills out of the way before taking up the individual money measures.

Zivley said he had tried many times—once in writing—to get a hearing on the teachers pay raise bill but he hadn't been able to get a date set.

Earlier today, Zivley tried to have the House instruct the Appropriations Committee to report immediately on his bill.

That was struck down on the basis it violated the rules.

A huge Senate majority successfully resisted every effort to add more than authorized money to its 166 million dollar bill. It provides money for state departments, colleges, courts, junior colleges and hospitals for the next two years.

With the leadership in both houses flatly committed to no new taxes, it was considered almost certain a conference committee would be named that would stick to the economy line.

90-Day Freeze Power Gets OK Of Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration said today the President would "accept" authority to clamp a 90-day freeze on prices and wages in an emergency but wants no detailed standby economic control law.

Acting Mobilization Director Arthur Flemming delivered to the Senate Banking Committee the administration's specific requests for extension of mobilization powers.

Flemming asked:

1. A one-year extension, until June 30, 1954, of priority and allocation powers sufficient to protect production for the military and atomic programs.

2. Abandonment of the emergency power to requisition and condemn private property needed for defense, and elimination of the requirement that scarce materials be allocated among civilian users, except in special cases.

3. Extension of the authority to aid industrial expansion for defense by loans, loan guarantees and long-term purchase contracts.

4. Extension of rent controls until Sept. 30 in areas which have requested federal ceilings, and until April 30, 1954, in defense housing critical areas.

5. Extension of the government's program to aid small business for one year, as now operated by the Small Defense Plants Administration.

Flemming and his aides were lead-off witnesses for the administration on controls legislation being considered by the banking committee.

Chairman Capewhart (R-Ind) said he hoped Flemming and subcommittee witnesses from the executive departments would spell out clearly what the new administration wants on economic controls.

This includes not only the emergency freeze bill Capewhart is pushing, but also sections of the present Defense Production Act which are to be continued.

Capewhart has discussed his freeze measure with President Eisenhower and has reported the President "is quite favorable" to such legislation but wants Congress to decide whether to initiate it. Eisenhower told a news conference several weeks ago he would not ask for such legislation.

Capewhart's bill would give the President power to slap on price, wage and rent ceilings for 90 days in a declared war emergency. During that period, Congress would presumably decide whether to enact comprehensive controls legislation.

The President has ended all post-Korea price and wage controls and says he does not want renewal of sections of the Defense Production Act covering them. Those sections expire April 30.

However, he has said he wants extension of (1) authority to ration metals and the other scarce materials needed in defense production and (2) authority to curb rents in areas where housing is critically short because of defense work.

Rehearsal Schedule For Minstrel Changed

Rehearsal schedule for the sixth annual Lions Minstrel has been changed this week instead of Thursday evening, the chorus is to meet this evening at the Settles Hotel.

A conflict in dates made it impossible for Harry Plumley director of the chorus, to be at a Thursday session, explained Robert R. McEwen Jr., president. It may be that practice will be moved to the city auditorium on Monday, but cast members should contact McEwen or Jack Y. Smith, general chairman, for that information.

CHARLES E. BOHLEN

Taft And Sparkman Still Backing Bohlen

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reassurance by Senators Taft (R-Ohio) and Sparkman (D-Ala) today appeared likely to remove the remaining barrier to lopsided Senate approval of Charles (Chip) Bohlen to be ambassador to Russia.

President Eisenhower nominated Bohlen Feb. 23. The State Department sought quick Senate confirmation so he could be speeded to Moscow to watch developments in the wake of Joseph Stalin's death. But action has been delayed by the bitter opposition of an admitted small minority of the Senate.

Taft and Sparkman made a three-hour study at the State Department yesterday of a 25-page summary of an FBI loyalty and security investigation of Bohlen, and they were ready to report to the Senate shortly after it convenes today.

Taft said he preferred to consult other members of the Foreign Relations Committee before officially stating his findings. But the Ohioan, the Senate's majority leader, said he found nothing in the summary not reported previously by Secretary of State Dulles. Dulles had termed Bohlen "a good security and loyalty risk."

Sparkman, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, said he is standing by his previous support of Bohlen. The foreign relations group yesterday selected him and Taft to study the FBI report after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) contended it contained much derogatory material.

Taft anticipated a possible challenge in the Senate of failure by him and Sparkman to demand direct access to the FBI "raw" files. These are the original reports of FBI investigators and the contain unevaluated information, including rumors and gossip.

Taft said FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover assumed full responsibility that the summary correctly and completely reflected what was in the original reports of the investigators. Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) told the Senate Monday that summaries sometimes overlook pertinent details.

Sparkman called the information against Bohlen too "thin" to stand up. Some senators have described it as alleging that Bohlen has associated with persons whose morals are suspect.

Senators McCarthy, McCarran and Bridges (R-NH) made it clear that even a favorable report by Taft and Sparkman would not alter their opposition to Bohlen, a 48-year-old veteran of 24 years in the foreign service and a specialist on Russia.

McCarthy and Bridges planned to tell their colleagues they don't believe the nominee should be confirmed because of his policy-making association with former Secretary of State Acheson.

He climbed into a black 1950 or '51 Chevrolet pickup equipped with a radio and drove away. Weber said the man was reported heading south toward McMullen County.

Sheriff Ray Strickland of Jourdanton was summoned by Bell and took over the investigation. Charlotte is about 45 miles south and slightly west of San Antonio.

A shotgun and a revolver were reported stolen in a burglary at Violet, in Nueces County, last night, and it was believed the bank robber might have taken them.

Weber said the robbery occurred about five minutes before he arrived at the bank. The other employees apparently were not aware Bell was being held up.

Bell described the man as about 30 years old, six feet tall and weighing about 160 pounds. The gunman wore a battered straw hat and a light shirt. He had a bandage above his right eye.

"Nobody seems to have noticed what kind of pants he was wearing," Weber said.

Bloody Fighting Is Now In Third Day

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR

SEOUL (AP)—Fighting in a rain of American fire, Chinese Reds broke up a two-pointed U. S. attack today in the bloody trenches of Old Baldy.

At nightfall, the Americans were back where they started, about 125 yards down the bare, windswept Western Front Hill.

The fighting, now in its third day, was vicious and deadly. One officer said the Americans drew Red fire "every time they popped their heads up."

As darkness fell, infantry fighting eased off while the big guns of both sides slugged it out. The Reds swept over Old Baldy Monday night and the Americans have been trying to get it back since.

One American attack force pushed off this morning toward a Red trench network on the northeast and was stopped cold. Another lashed out toward the northwest. A division officer said this one "got close" but was finally ordered back in the afternoon "when the going got too rough."

It was trench fighting, a blaze of close-quarter grenade and small arms fire.

The officer said there are apparently two Red companies on Baldy holding two trench networks. The Americans hold the other.

Associated Press Correspondent Stan Carter reported from the 7th Division that American tanks pushed around the flank of the hill to cut up Chinese reinforcements.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, commander of the Eighth Army, flew to the front today to watch from a forward observation post. He was accompanied by Lt. Gen. Paul W. Kendall, First Corps commander, and Maj. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, commander of the 7th Division fighting on Baldy.

Trudeau told Associated Press Correspondent Stan Carter, "We have no doubt we will retake Old Baldy and soon, but we want to do it in a well-planned operation and not throw away lives."

Kendall showed obvious displeasure before newsmen at the slow progress of U. S. counterattacks. As the two-day battle rocked on, the Chinese clung to three-quarters of Baldy, the Americans fighting uphill from a knob on the southeast corner.

Since the attack began Monday night, the red-dirt peak has been a scene of constant noise, blasts and death.

The Reds were reported taking heavy casualties but so were American and Colombian units of the 7th Division.

A stream of wounded moved to the rear. Helicopters whirled from front to hospitals and back again.

The U. S. Eighth Army said Red bunkers on the hill were taking a savage pounding.

U. S. B26 light bombers started radar-directed strikes this morning, one every 20 minutes.

The Chinese made their move Monday night along a six-mile strip against the hill mass west of Chorwon that guards the invasion route to Seoul.

On Pork Chop, T-Bone Hill and other hills the 3,500 Reds were beaten back in the darkness.

Then the battle came to a head at Old Baldy.

U. S. and Colombian troops, fighting heroically, fell back from the top early Tuesday under waves of Chinese.

Reinforcements rushed to the battlefield.

At dawn today, the Americans counterattacked in the fog and smoke of battle. Some were fresh men, moved up during the night in the rain.

Struggling up the muddy hill, they fought some Chinese in the trenches, man against man.

But in the afternoon the counter-attack stopped under pressure of heavy Red artillery and mortar fire, and grenades from the dogged Chinese locked on the crest.

But in the afternoon the counter-attack stopped under pressure of heavy Red artillery and mortar fire, and grenades from the dogged Chinese locked on the crest.

The artillery fire was the heaviest since the terrible battle for the Kumhwa Ridges five months ago.

Allied officers had no estimates of Red casualties on Baldy, but said they believed the other fighting Monday and Tuesday cost the Reds at least one-third and possibly more of their 3,500-man force.

Communications to Baldy were sporadic.

The Old Baldy fight overshadowed several sharp clashes elsewhere along the 155-mile line.

Bids On 183 Blocks Of Paving To Be Opened By City April 24

Bids will be accepted until 2 p.m. Tuesday, April 24, for paving 183 blocks of Big Spring streets.

City commissioners set the date for opening bids yesterday afternoon after approving plans and specifications for the new pavement.

They also approved a paving ordinance, declaring necessity for the paving, outlining procedures by which contractor will be paid for the work through assessments against adjoining property and warrants being issued by the city.

An emergency was declared and commissioners suspended the rule requiring three readings of the ordinance. Even so, officials estimated it may be June 15 before actual work can be started on the half-million-dollar undertaking.

The paving program, first of such magnitude since 1948, reaches into virtually every section of the city. New paving, mostly in two-block segments, will be extensions of present street surfacing and connecting links between existing pavement.

Considerable preliminary work remains to be performed. After considering bids and tentatively awarding contracts, commissioners must call public hearings on various sections of the program.

These are expected to be completed by June 1, and then contractor probably will require 15 days for signing up property owners.

Completion of paving plans and specifications marked the end of the first big phase of the paving program which has been in the discussion stage for more than a year.

City Engineer Cliff Bellamy and Assistant Dick Collier have been working both day and night for the past two months on the preparation of detailed plans. Engineering field parties also have been tied up for several weeks compiling necessary preliminary information.

In other action Tuesday, commissioners designated First and State National Banks of Big Spring as depositories for city funds during the next fiscal year. Sixty per cent of municipal monies, including active accounts, will be deposited with the First National, with the remainder to be placed in the State National Bank.

Installation of a 6,000-gallon gasoline storage tank at the city warehouse was authorized. Cost of the installation will be about $800. It will permit the city to save about 2.5 cents per gallon on gasoline, by purchasing larger lots, enough to pay for the installation in less than a year.

The commission delayed until next Tuesday the designation of firm to conduct the annual audit of city records. Proposals from Neil Hilliard and Grover Cunningham Jr. are being considered.

tion is binding on the disputants. The House Labor Committee received testimony yesterday from Al J. Hayes, president of the AFL's International Association of Machinists, recommending compulsory arbitration as a method of settling big strikes threatening the nation's health or safety.

Under the present Taft-Hartley law such strikes can be held up by 60-day court injunctions, but there is no method of settling the basic employer-union disputes involved. The committee is considering proposals for changes in the law.

Hayes said that rather than the 60-day injunction method he would allow the President of the United States to name an emergency board composed of public, labor and management representatives to hear the issues and recommend settlement terms binding on both sides.

Moscow Issues New Peace Plea To U.S., Britain

LONDON — Moscow radio made another direct peace appeal to Americans today and offered Britain "peace, co-operation and friendly competition" in trade with the Soviets.

In Bonn, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer challenged the Kremlin to back up its peace talk by agreeing to the unification of Germany and by releasing 300,000 German war prisoners he claimed still are being held in Russia.

The Soviet broadcast to America — part of a stream of assurances of peaceful Russian intentions that began after the death of Joseph Stalin — declared that Moscow is spending so much money on "economic and cultural development" that it could not possibly be preparing for a third world war.

Jet Ace Rests; Appearance At Legislature Set

McKINNEY (U)—After 127 missions in Korea where he bagged 12 MIGs to become America's No. 1 jet ace, Col. Royal N. Baker was back home today for one day of rest before starting a round of homecoming activities that includes an appearance before the Texas Legislature.

Today was "family day" for the Air Force pilot. For the first time in nearly a year, he was reunited with his wife and four little Bakers.

Three of the four Baker children—Page, 8, and her brothers, Bobby, 6, and Benny, 4, were at Love Field, Dallas, to greet their father when he arrived with Mrs. Baker by commercial airliner from California last night.

But it wasn't until after they motored to McKinney shortly after midnight that the family was reunited. Sally, 2, hadn't been feeling well and remained here.

"There's nothing like a Texas homecoming," the soft-spoken 34-year-old ace said as he was surrounded by friends, relatives and a delegation of fellow citizens from McKinney at the airport.

One of the first to greet the returning flier was his 57-year-old mother, Mrs. J. W. Stripes, Galveston.

She said she hadn't worried about her son.

"I knew he would come back safe," she said. "He went through the other war and came back and I knew he'd do it again."

Col. Baker has 399 combat missions in the two wars.

Mrs. Baker, who Friday flew to the West Coast to meet her husband, was glad to learn that his next assignment is not Korea again but Wright Field near Dayton, O.

But before he reports back on duty he has homecoming dates in Texas. Tomorrow he will appear by invitation before the Legislature and April 9, McKinney citizens are planning a county-wide celebration.

Demo Executive Unit To Talk Fund Raising

WASHINGTON (U)—The Democratic National Committee's Executive Committee will discuss fund-raising and organization at a two-day meeting beginning here March 21.

Mitchell said he had appointed three national committee members as members-at-large of the executive committee—Mrs. Lillian Burton, Oregon; James Smith, Alabama, and Paul Butler, Indiana.

Texans, Dutch Rally To Aid Of Kilgore Student

KILGORE (U)—Friends from Texas to his native Holland rallied today to the aid of Robin Groninger, 24, faced with possible deportation.

The blond young Dutchman was told by an immigration officer that the best thing he could do would be to leave the U. S. voluntarily and try to re-enter with the proper papers.

Groninger's relatives in Holland, Gregg County citizens, fellow students at Kilgore Junior College and members of Congress attempted to help the handsome Dutchman.

Some 200 Kilgore College students staged a downtown rally yesterday for the youth and are circulating a petition they intend to send to Washington.

The church where he was arrested Sunday while attending services promptly posted his $500 bond.

Groninger said he came here last Aug. 27 after jumping ship at New Orleans. He has a $21-per-week job as a theater usher which finances his college course.

"The United States," he said, "is all the luxury I need."

In Rotterdam, Mrs. Carla Lahnstein-Groninger, his sister, said she would do all she could to help him stay in the U. S. So did Q. B. Hickman, chair leader at Groninger's church here.

In Washington, Rep. Brady Gentry (D-Tex.) was looking into the situation. There remains a chance special legislation could be passed in the youth's behalf or he may be declared legally admitted, or regulations waived until he finishes the school year.

Groninger told newsmen yesterday that he was engaged to an East Texas girl who told him it would all come out all right. "The Lord will see that you stay in America," he quoted her as saying.

He would not reveal his fiancée's name.

House Group Approves 4 More Stop-Gap Measures On Water

By MARTHA COLE

AUSTIN (U)—Floodgates on water bills opened yesterday and five important ones came out of a House committee.

One sets up the Brazos River Valley Authority, affecting 65 counties along the river watershed from the headwaters northwest of Plainview to where it flows into the Gulf at Freeport.

The four others are among the eight recommended by the Governor's Committee on Water Conservation as stop-gap legislation to help administration of the state's public waters.

The four would give the Board of Water Engineers power to enforce its rules by injunction, authorize it to hire a chief engineer, permit issuance of seasonal water permits and enumerate the uses for which public waters can be appropriated.

The Brazos authority would follow the boundaries of the present Brazos River Water District.

"This has been referred to as the Texas TVA," said Rep. Frank Owen III, El Paso, chairman of a subcommittee that studied the bill. "But it isn't, because the federal government has nothing to do with it."

The authority wants to build three dams as flood control, water conservation and hydroelectric power projects. Proposed sites are Turkey Creek and Inspiration Point in Palo Pinto County around Mineral Wells and De Cordova Bend in Hood County near Cleburne.

Cost of the three dams would be 36 million dollars. In addition, proposed electric power transmission lines would cost five million.

The authority expects to pay for the dams in 40 years, then turn the million dollar profit a year they expect into the state's general revenue fund.

George G. Chance, Bryan, president of the present Brazos district, said the lines would pay for themselves in 33 years, at which time they would be sold to Texas Power & Light Co.

Five of the governor's water bills now have committee recommendation. One approved last week requires written applications for all water permits.

The most controversial will be heard before the committee Tuesday. It would cancel all water permits under which no use of the water has been made in the past 10 years.

When that proposition came up last session, irrigation farmers of the Lower Rio Grande and rice growers of Southeast Texas raised a big howl. They said they had to operate on long-range plans.

A Bible Thought For Today —

Poor laborers once were miserably mistreated. In Christian lands the last fifty years have seen amazing improvement in this regard. The teachings of Jesus of Nazareth are gradually winning against selfishness. "Withhold not good from them to whom it is due." — Prov. 3:27.

Industries Mean Much To Us And Should In Time Mean Much More

This is industries week in Texas—an occasion when our attention is directed to the contribution made to the economy of the state and its communities. While we could hardly consider ourselves an industrial city in the strictest sense of the word, we do possess a lot more of business activity that would logically fall into that category than you might think. There are easily a couple of dozen concerns engaged in taking various raw materials and converting them into finished products. To mention a few—gasoline, asphalt, chemicals, fuel oil, carbon black, pipe, concrete, floor sweep, batteries, bread, soft drinks, ice cream, tured meats, commercial feed, and so on. Just to make a wild guess, there are more than 750, and possibly as many as 1,000, people here who are connected directly with industries. Annually they earn several million dollars in salaries and wages. They generate transportation and sales and have a tremendous impact on business. Perhaps we do not show proper appreciation of them. Nor do we properly appreciate the opportunities that are still open to us. If we may use an example, we should like to cite the industrial pioneering done by Corden Petroleum Corporation. Instead of making fuel oil and gasoline as was the case not so many years ago, Corden now makes a dozen or more assorted products which reach into the chemical and plastic field. Each step has revealed others, and Corden has been alert to develop them. Each step has revealed others, and more and more we are assuming a mildly industrial character. This could be one of the real destinies of our community.

Coal By Pipeline Gives Carriers And Oil Men Something To Ponder

A process of transporting coal by pipeline, just announced by Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co., may completely reverse the adverse competitive position of that fuel and send it booming back into popularity as a cheap source of heat and power. This Consol has been testing for eight months a pipeline in Ohio designed to carry coal from the pit mouth to its ultimate destination. This is done by pulverizing the coal, mixing in enough water to give it a certain fluidity, and forcing it through the pipeline by conventional pumping methods. At its destination this soupy black mixture, called slurry, is dried out and prepared for the furnace, into which it can be blown in its pulverized state like oil. Many industries prefer it that way. The big factor in this new way of delivering coal is the saving in transportation costs. High and increasing freight rates started the search for some new method of transporting the stuff economically. "After eight months operation," says Pitt Consol, "the experimental pipeline project in Ohio has provided sufficient data to satisfy us that transmission of coal by pipeline can be developed economically. The pipeline product is essentially coal in a new form and we are now proceeding to develop the commercial aspects of providing sales outlets for it." Obviously this has disconcerting implications for the railroads, many of which live off coal hauling. It also has an implication of increased competition for natural gas and petroleum. The coal industry has long toyed with the idea of making coal digging a 100 per cent mechanical process, mainly inspired by John L. Lewis' continual demands for higher wages and improved working conditions for miners. With coal digging reduced to a mechanical function, and with the transportation task shouldered by pipelines, we may be in for a new Coal Age. In the long haul, thanks to the virtual inexhaustibility of the earth's coal resources, and delivery has its commercial aspects for a world that is using up its natural resources at an alarming rate.

These Days—George Sokolosky

So Many Have So Completely Lost Sight Of Freedom And Its Values

The war of this century, in its hot and cold manifestations, is for the freedom of the individual man. It is a struggle against slavery—physical, mental, spiritual slavery. In human history, there have been wars over boundaries, wars for trade, dynastic wars, religious wars. In this middle period of the 20th century, we are living through a universal war, affecting every human being on all the continents, for the control of the mind and the will of each individual person. It is the first really total, all-inclusive war in human history. It is a product of an obscure concept of man, a distortion of the natural sciences which would reduce the human species to a thing, a consciousness, soulless, meaningless entity, no different in worth than the cattle of the field, no more dignified than a snake that may be useful if it catches rodents but becomes harmful if it kills chickens. When man is reduced to nothing, slavery reasserts itself. In the 19th century, slavery was abolished as an inhuman institution; in the 20th century, slavery is restored as a system of life, as a destructive competitor with free men. In the political field, slavery has reasserted itself in the reduction of the number of human beings who have voice in the choice of their own government. Fewer countries enjoy a parliamentary form of government in 1953 than did in 1914; in fewer countries is the secret ballot for the election of public officials now in vogue. In a word, the remarkable stride toward political freedom of the 19th century and the first decade of the 20th century was halted by fascism and Sovietism. The one party system has reduced the people's voice to a frightened whisper. It is not an unusual phenomenon in history for governments to seek to establish uniformity of thought within their realms. The most potent force for liberty was the acceptance of the doctrine that the individual could pursue in freedom any line of inquiry and could express his conclusions and ideas without restraint. The limitations, apart from the libel laws, were that the thought should not develop into overt acts, which it did, nonetheless, in the form of vast social and political revolutions that altered the life of the peoples of Europe and Asia. Such freedom of thought is now not tolerated in most parts of the world. Undoubtedly the freest countries remain those in the orbit of the Anglo-Saxon tradition, the United States, Great Britain and the British dominions. Even in those lands, the fears engendered by the co-existence, to coin a phrase, of Stalinism produce a deep suspicion that certain expressions of thought are, in reality, designed to cover acts of subversion. And the horror of it is that the suspicion has a basis of truth. Stalinism not only demanded, in its own sphere, an abject acceptance of the master's views as finally correct, but it employed mechanisms of public opinion to abuse those who rejected its obscurities. Thus, in lands where Stalinism is repulsed, as in the United States, those who do not serve what is dishonestly called liberalism, which has come to mean nothing but a sympathetic approach to Stalinism, have been abused as Fascists, a term how equally incoherent. Even in universities, where objective inquiry and thought is customary, Stalinism has introduced rigidities of intellectual design. For instance, the rejection of the supernatural is not merely a protest against God; it actually works itself into an orthodox acceptance of biological hypotheses as proved truths, the scientist confirming or undeviatingly to accepted dogma as the theologian whom he accuses of superstition. The mind of man is put in an iron vise. The madness of it all is that so many have so completely lost sight of freedom and its values that they have come to believe it to be a melodramatic expostulation. They suborn their minds by such meaningless words as democracy and security which can in no manner be translated into the language of our civilization. In a word, they have spiritually capitulated to the enemy by betraying their own household gods. This is what our present war is about and it is impossible not to repeat that the essence of our resistance to our enemy must be freedom—freedom for the individual, not conformity to the mass or subjection to government.

Riots Are Quelled

JHANSI (AP)—An Indian college official succeeded in turning the tables on students. After 24 had been injured in a riot at Jhansi Medical College, Vice Chancellor S. R. Bhagwat announced he would go on a hunger strike. Since students traditionally launch fasts on the slightest pretext, they were now confronted with a passive resistance campaign by a college official.

Some Women Are Campaigning For Name 'Homemaker,' Not 'Housewife'

NEW YORK (AP)—The question of the hour, ladies, is what do you want to be known as—housewives or homemakers? The most desirable feminine career today is unquestionably marriage. The title most women seek and are proud of is "Mrs.," whether it be Mrs. Jones or Mrs. Throckmorton-Smythe. But a lot of very happily married women are sick and tired of having to list their occupation as "housewife." They like the job but don't like the tag. They feel it doesn't have enough dignity, doesn't describe their important role well enough and invites a sniffling condescension from the snob. "To put it in one lady's words, 'Whenever I have to say I'm a housewife, it makes me feel mousy—and that makes me feel boiling mad, like a lioness. But what can I do? After all, I am just a housewife.'"

Well, some women are trying to do something about it. They are campaigning to erase the word "housewife" from the American vocabulary and replace it with "homemaker."

Among the embattled hausfrau in this case is Mrs. Norma A. Lee of Rutland, Vt.

"I feel that this name (housewife) is not only a most inadequate one, but that it is actually an unjust one," she wrote. "It has a bad psychological effect."

"The very word 'housewife' places the emphasis upon the house rather than the home, and gives the implication a woman is more concerned over dirty tracks on her clean floors than in her child's welfare."

A housewife could be called by a lot of titles—childherder, heart-watcher, matekeeper, heartmate.

Opening Bohlen File May Cause Dulles More Grief

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration operated from the beginning in the belief it had enough votes to beat Sen. McCarthy no matter how he and others tried to block approval of Charles E. Bohlen as ambassador to Moscow. So it treated McCarthy coolly all through his attack, which shifted from Bohlen to Secretary of State Dulles. He began by challenging Bohlen's fitness but wound up challenging Dulles' truthfulness and judgment. In this episode McCarthy was also indirectly questioning the President's judgment since Eisenhower and Dulles, both of whom had known Bohlen for years, had recommended him for the Moscow assignment. But if McCarthy was beaten in this head-on collision with his own Republican administration he can argue that Dulles did not emerge completely unscathed. McCarthy attacked Dulles' truthfulness and judgment so sharply his fellow senators took extraordinary steps to be sure they knew what they were doing before voting for Bohlen. Instead of taking Dulles' word there was nothing in the FBI's report on Bohlen to disqualify him as ambassador, the Foreign Relations Committee sent two of its own members to examine the report and review it for the Senate. Dulles had summarized this FBI report for the committee through three hours of questioning and had stated Bohlen was all right. The committee at the time was so satisfied with what Dulles said that it voted unanimously to approve Bohlen. All that was still needed was full Senate approval. It was at this point that McCarthy began criticizing Dulles. He said there was information in Bohlen's FBI file that would make the senators consider him unfit if they just see the file themselves, instead of relying on Dulles' say-so. It was after this that the committee picked Senators Taft, Ohio Republican, and Sparkman, Alabama Democrat, to look over the report in Dulles' office. Taft and Sparkman told newsmen yesterday, after examining the file they had not found anything that Dulles had not already reported. The point on which McCarthy challenged Dulles' truthfulness was this: He said he understood Dulles' security officer in the State Department, B. W. Scott McLeod, had refused to approve Bohlen after seeing the FBI file. Dulles told a news conference there was no difference between him and McLeod on Bohlen. That statement was an untruth, McCarthy said. But no senator challenged McCarthy to explain how much of his opposition to Bohlen was based on rumor and how much on personal knowledge, although McCarthy kept mixing his statements of

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

One hundred and seventy-six Texans dipped their hands into a jar on this day in 1843 in one of history's grimmest lotteries. The prizes were life or death. Seventeen of the beans were black, the others white. Drawers of black beans were blindfolded and shot, the remaining Texans were marched to Mexico City and some imprisoned there as late as September 18, 1844. Thus ended the Mier Expedition, an ill-fated effort to conquer Mexico following the invasion of Texas in 1842. One survivor of the bean drawing, colorful Bigfoot Wallace, later recounted that he observed the black beans were slightly larger than the white, and that when it came his turn to dip his hand into the jar he fumbled around with the beans until he was sure he had selected a white one. The leader of the force, Ewen Cameron, also drew a white bean but Santa Anna ordered him executed anyhow. The Texans had surrendered at Mier, believing they would be treated as prisoners of war. Three of them managed to escape from Salado, where the drawing was held. Others who had received wounds and were left behind at Mier bribed their guards and also reached Texas safely. The United States minister assisted in arranging for the prisoners' release.

Wild Flowers In This Area Bring On Big Clamor From Other Folks

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

You never know in this business when some simple story turns out to be the very thing that the wires will gobble up and stir comment from all over the country. A case in point is the instance about a decade ago when O. D. Smith gasped in near horror with the realization that one of Mrs. Dora Roberts calves had consumed the family bank roll. "Miss" Dora wasn't a sentimentalist about the calf and soon it was a carcass. Although digestive juices had begun to work havoc on the money, O. D. was able to retrieve most of it and to have it replaced by the Treasury Department. The story of this incident got all over the world and O. D. got mail on it from both sides of the ocean and from as far north as Alaska. Another instance of surprising response was back in 1949 when spring rains brought on the greatest profusion of blossoms this area had seen since the bountiful year of 1941. With Al Jordan of the Soil Conservation Service as my "expert," we sat out hurriedly one morning to identify some of the members of the color extravaganza. The story was turned out hurriedly, and, as an after-thought and to fill a constant plea for little time-less features we call "matters," it was condensed and sent to the Associated Press. Well, the signs must have been right. The Texas papers gobbled it up. Mr. Frank King, the chief of bureau for the AP at Dallas, wrote nice note about how "we are making progress in newspaper writing when we can write understandingly about wildflowers as well as wild wimmen, Communists and atomic energy." Letters came in from all over the country. A busy New York executive sent a clipping out of the story from the Christian Science Monitor and confided that collecting wildflowers, seed and growing them in a garden was his hobby. All this was a little flattering and faintly embarrassing. But it was possible to be coy about nice things said about the piece. The difficulty came, however, when some of my friends began calling and asking if I could serve as a guide for this group or that to study wildflowers. I pleaded a busy schedule, a headache, ingrown toenails and finally had to confess that Al Jordan was the authority, not I. During the week end I looked around in the field at the prospects for best—and virtually the only—showing of wild flowers we have had since 1949. The faintest sort of a start has been made on the strength of a good shower two weeks ago. Wistfully, I dream of another rain to start the parade in earnest. For I'd sort of like to exhibit someone else's knowledge again about red star-mallow, pompadour-mallow, primroses, rock, plains verbena, Indian blanket, gourd daisies, Englemann's daisy, "scrambled eggs," fine-leaved fleasperm, Mexican poppy, American star thistle, the cactus, soap-weck yucca, and that most profuse of all—the tansy aster.

Senate Obstructionists Hurt US Relations With Italy, Others

WASHINGTON (AP)—The trouble the obstructionists have raised over what should have been a routine matter—the nomination of Charles Bohlen to be ambassador to Moscow—is an unhappy omen. It makes abundantly clear the difficulty the administration will have in trying to bring about certain policy changes considered imperative. The President chooses his own ambassadors to foreign lands, and traditionally Senate confirmation has been taken for granted except in instances where the nominee is shown to be obviously unfit. In this case, the appointment of a man pre-eminently qualified has been held up and his usefulness impaired by the ugly insinuations of the Senate snipers, Senators Bridges, McCarran and McCarthy. If this is possible in a routine matter, consider what is ahead should the administration go through with plans to push for a revision of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act. A revision of that controversial law, vetoed by President Truman and passed over his veto, is not just a matter of domestic politics. In fact, the reason why revision is considered so important is found in confidential reports to the State Department on foreign reaction to the law. These reports show that in most Western European countries it has produced a reaction of strong antagonism—and not from Communists, for whom it has been a welcome propaganda asset, but from the elements that have stood by America's side in the struggle between East and West. The immediate peril point is Italy. Intelligence reports show that resentment of the discriminatory clauses in the McCarran Act could be the decisive factor in the Italian elections this spring. Hatred of the law in overcrowded Italy is being exploited night and day by the Communists, who represent the act as one more expression of American race prejudice. This danger was foreseen in a speech delivered in Rome last January by Monsignor John O'Grady of Washington, D. C. Monsignor O'Grady, who served on President Truman's commission on immigration and naturalization last year, said there was evidence that the Communists intended to make full use of the discrimination in the act against Italians. He told the Italian Catholic Migration Committee that this might be enough to tip the balance for the Communists in the months leading up to the elections. It will be the first general election since 1948. Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Christian Democratic—that is to say, Roman Catholic—government has given unwavering support to the North Atlantic Alliance which is the cornerstone of Ameri-

Heater Kills Woman

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—An 85-year-old woman was burned to death in the living room of her home while her husband, also 85, sought help at a firehouse next door. Mrs. Frances Mosher accidentally set her clothing afire when she tripped over a portable oil heater. Her husband, Alfred, tried vainly to beat out the fire then ran next door to Engine Company 14. Firemen quickly put out the blaze but Mrs. Mosher was beyond aid.

Young Sponges Swim In Ocean

Here is another question which has been asked: "How do sponges reproduce?" There are many kinds of sponges, and they have several ways of keeping their families, or colonies, alive. Some sponge colonies send out branches, very much as trees send out limbs. Several individual sponges appear on each new branch. When death comes to the older members of a sponge colony, the members on new branches keep the colony alive. Scientists have studied the life history of various sponges. They have learned that some sponges live for less than two years. Others exist five or 10 years, or even longer. These figures are for individual sponges. A sponge colony is something else; it may keep its life for hundreds of years, possibly thousands! Other sponges produce "buds" which we may compare with the buds of a plant. When the buds of a sponge become large enough, they break off. Currents in the water take them some distance away. As first they are a little lighter than water, and float. Later they sink to the bottom and become fastened there, often to a piece of rock. In due course, the buds grow into new sponges. Still other sponges produce egg cells, and these unite with cells of a different type. At length they grow into larvae. Each larva has tiny "cilia" all around it. The cilia are hairlike growths which move back and forth. With the help of the cilia, a larva—or baby sponge—is able to swim. It moves away from the parent sponge, swimming for a few hours or for several days. At length it settles down and grows up at a distance of hundreds of feet or yards from the starting place. Planning Trip Abroad

Mrs. Tom Good and her grandson, Wade Simpson, ignore the rest of the family as they pore over travel folders and books in preparation for their trip to Europe. They will have reserved seats for the Coronation Parade in London.

Two Excited Over Plans To Tour Europe; To See Coronation Parade

Big Spring will have two excited representatives in London June 2 for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth.

Mrs. Tom Good and her 15-year-old grandson, Wade Simpson, decided suddenly about a month ago that they would take a trip to Europe this summer. Mrs. Good, who lives on a ranch northwest of Vealmoor, says she has always loved to travel, but she has always had a hard time finding travel companions, considering a husband who will hardly spend a night away from the ranch and a daughter who "apparently takes after her father."

But when Mrs. Good mentioned the idea to Wade, she had made herself a deal. He's as enthusiastic as she and is spending all his time poring over travel books and literature.

The two will leave here about May 20 by train for New York, where the main attraction for Wade will be the American Museum of Natural History.

The travelers will sail May 26 on the Queen Mary from New York, arriving in Southampton May 31. From there they will take a boat train to London and will view the Coronation Parade from reserved seats.

As members of a party of 12 on an Arno tour conducted by Mrs. Dorothy Haberyan, the two will make a sightseeing trip of London and take motor excursions to Warwick, Stratford, Harwick and other points.

From England they will go to Holland, touring The Hague and Amsterdam, Lt. Col. S. H. Hoogsterp, R.N.A.F., who as a recent visitor at Webb AFB and who lives in The Hague, has asked the pair to contact him when they arrive there.

While in Big Spring Col. Hoogsterp was a guest at the Simpson Ranch and he promised to personally guide them on a tour of his home city.

In Germany the Big Springers will visit Cologne, Wiesbaden, Heidelberg and Baden Baden, and in Switzerland, Lucerne and Interlaken.

In Italy the tour will take them through Milan, Venice, Florence, Naples and Rome. In France they will see Paris, Versailles, Nice and Cherbourg. In the course of the trip they will spend five days in London, five in Paris and five in Rome.

From Italy they will make a steamer trip to Capri and the Blue Grotto, a huge tunnel-like cave into which a large ship can sail.

John Morley, a recent Knife and Fork Club speaker, will be in Rome and in Amsterdam on the same dates as Mrs. Good and Wade, and he has asked them to call him while at those points for a reunion and so that he may assist them in any possible way.

Both the travelers are eager to see everything they can in all the countries they will visit, but West-minister Abbey and the Crown Jewels hold a top spot on Wade's list once he gets abroad. And Mrs. Good wants some souvenir silver spoons to add to her present collection of about 40.

The tour director has advised them that two young Midland girls, Betty Joe Green and Shirley McCormick, will be in their party. They think this may make the tour pretty much like Old Home Week for the West Texans.

The party will sail July 9 on the Queen Elizabeth on the return voyage. Seasickness? Yes, they've thought about that, but the prospect isn't worrying either of them.

"I've got to go to the doctor next week and get some pills for that," Mrs. Good says.

Girls Urged To Attend GSO Meeting

Young ladies who are interested in joining in social affairs for servicemen are urged to attend a meeting of the Girls Service Organization Friday evening. The meeting will be held at the Servicemen's Center, 112 Runnels Street, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Anne Houser, sponsor for the group, said that girls from 17 years of age and up are invited to participate. A system of hostess nights will be arranged at the Center, and plans set for other social activities. All of these are well chaperoned, and emphasis is placed on decent recreation. Mrs. Houser said.

She pointed out the GSO is a means whereby the young men stationed at WAFB could become acquainted with people of their own age in a wholesome way.

More girls are needed to develop the GSO, Mrs. Houser said, and applications will be accepted at the meeting Friday evening.

MR. AND MRS. N. B. DAVIDSON

Davidsons Give Good Advice To Newlyweds

Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Davidson are well-qualified to give advice to newlyweds on marital happiness. They should be. They celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary Sunday.

"The main thing is to be a Christian," says Mrs. Davidson as she thumbs through her well-worn Bible. "Then you'll understand how to give and take."

"During our life together, I've done most of the 'take,'" she chuckled.

The Davidsons were married in Johnson County in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Davidson, the former Agnes Todd, was not quite 18, her husband was 28.

Mr. Davidson explained how he had known his wife since she was almost 7. Mrs. Davidson's mother, father, baby sister and grandfather all died from pneumonia within a month of each other the year she met her husband-to-be.

"I've told people since then that they can have all their gold and silver, I'll take the Lord every time," Mrs. Davidson commented. "Faith in the Lord was what brought me through the tragedy of those deaths in my family."

The couple came to Howard County 45 years ago and until 1943, they lived on a farm near the Gail Road. Since that time, Mr. Davidson has retired and they are now making their home at 306 NE 11th.

The Davidsons had 13 children,

12 of whom are still living. They are Mrs. Truman Morton, Walter, Rufus, L. J., T. R., R. B., Mrs. Rex Edwards, Mrs. D. L. Knightstep, Mrs. Carl Hammock and Mrs. Maud Nix all of Big Spring. Raymond of Andrews and Henry of Quemado. The oldest child, Mrs. Richard Hill, died several years ago.

In addition, the couple has 24 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

"I was born a farmer," laughed Mr. Davidson. "I've farmed all my life and Mama wants me to get a cow now. But I'm not going to do it."

Have they had many family arguments during their 62 years together?

"We had a little racket over a cow one time," said Mr. Davidson, a native of Marshall County, Ala., as he looked fondly at his wife. "But that's just about all."

The Davidsons, both still very active, are members of the Trinity Baptist Church. Mrs. Davidson enjoys listening to sermons and programs of religious music on the radio. Mrs. Davidson will listen to almost anything, his wife says.

'House Of Death' Gives Up 4 Bodies

LONDON (AP)—Discovery of a fourth rotting female corpse today in a London "house of death" apartment spurred a Scotland Yard hunt for the quiet little clerk who had rented the lodging.

The bodies of three women were found walled up in a pantry in the fourth floor of the building yesterday. The fourth, like the first three still unidentified, was under the floorboards of the same room.

One of the dead women was believed by police to be the wife of the central figure in the general manhunt under way — 58-year-old John Christie, the last tenant of the apartment.

A police post-mortem indicated the first three women found—all between 25 and 30 years old—had been strangled.

Police with shovels and crowbars searched other rooms and began digging in the garden path behind the house.

Three of the women were believed to have been dead several months and the other a few weeks. The new discovery brought to six the number of "violent deaths in the grim house in recent years. A woman and her son were murdered there in 1949.

The bizarre deaths were discovered yesterday by Beresford Brown, a prospective tenant for the Christie apartment. While looking over the place, he found a pantry niche which had been closed off with several thicknesses of wallpaper.

He broke through the paper and was horrified to find the nude body of a woman.

He called the police, who found two more corpses in the niche. Police records revealed that Christie was the principal witness in 1949 at the trial of Timothy J. Evans, who strangled his wife and infant son in the same dingy house.

Evans was hanged for the double murder. Neighbors said Christie, who worked for a truck firm, had a nervous breakdown soon after the Evans trial.

Mrs. Taft Hostess At Party For Mamie

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Robert A. Taft, who might have been first lady if the political winds had blown differently, is hostess today at a big party in honor of Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Sen. Taft will be on hand to greet the President, Mrs. Eisenhower and other guests.

It is the first major entertainment by the Tafts since Mrs. Taft suffered a stroke about three years ago, from which she has not yet fully recovered.

Red Party No Place To Look For Laughs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A radio comedy writer says the Communist party is a dull outfit and no place for a man looking for laughs.

Hearings of the House Un-American Activities Committee were enjoyed yesterday by such observations from Max Benoff, 38, a writer for the "Life With Luigi" radio show.

The committee is conducting hearings this week in continuing its probe of possible Communist influences in the movies and other fields.

Benoff said he attended some Communist party meetings in Hollywood during 1944 but as far as he could remember never signed any card or paid any dues.

"I attended very few meetings," he said. "They were dull. I didn't expect to get laughs everywhere but I didn't get any there."

Committee Counsel Frank S. Tavenner Jr. commented that he had heard Communists were rather humorless individuals. "Well, I never wrote any of their material," was Benoff's observation.

Asked if he had ever read any Communist literature on such subjects as dialectic materialism, Benoff quipped while the committee laughed: "I don't even study books on vegetarianism."

The comedy writer said that after a "baiting" experience with the Communist party he was glad to get out and assumed the party was glad to be rid of him. "I always considered that I was not a member of the party," he added.

Benoff said he had been writing for radio for several years, including such shows as "Duffy's Tavern," but wanted to get into movie writing after coming to Hollywood in 1944.

He said he was invited to a Communist party meeting by Bob Rosen, a Hollywood writer, on the promise that he would meet some "big writers."

"I was glad to meet big writers," added Benoff. "If somebody had said come out to the Republican party and meet some big writers, I'd have gone."

When the writer concluded his testimony Rep. Donald Jackson (R-Calif.) commented: "It seems to me you and the Communist party came out about even. You got no laughs and they got no dues."

Senators Want Van Fleet On Active Duty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Demands that Gen. James A. Van Fleet be kept on active duty came today from Senators Byrd (D-Va) and Hunt (D-Wyo).

The two members of the Senate Armed Services Committee said it would be a serious mistake to let Van Fleet retire this month as now planned.

Riding THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

Cecil Leatherwood, president of Howard County Farm Bureau, says it is very important that all farmers who expect to use Mexican National labor this year come to the Bureau office as soon as possible and make their needs known.

There is always the possibility that the application sent in may bounce back for some change, and Leatherwood wants to make an allowance for plenty of time to get the application approved early enough to get the Braceros in here if and when they are needed, without any delay.

He said the application will be for 3,000 workers this year. He also points out that the farmer, by making application at this time, does not place himself under any obligation at all to take the workers later if a situation develops wherein he does not need them. But the farmer cannot get this labor unless and until his application for them has been approved, and the application cannot be approved until it goes in.

The application form is just about what it has been the last few years, and farmers calling at the Farm Bureau Office, 117 Runnels, can get assistance there in filling it out.

"But," says Leatherwood, "it is most important that this be done just as soon as possible."

Sheriff Jess Slaughter and his deputies are again being congratulated by the cowmen for their work in developing the case of the theft of a steer from the E. O. Hamlin Ranch in Howard County. Charges have been filed and the accused persons arrested.

The theft of the first calf was reported by Clyde Berry of Glasscock County and charges have been filed there in that case.

Slaughter says that if stockmen missing cattle will report the thefts as soon as possible the matter of apprehending the thieves will be made easier. Through the co-operation of the Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association (all of whom are commissioned as Special Texas Rangers) livestock investigations can be immediately extended over the entire Southwest. Officers also point out that a recorded brand burned into a steer's hide makes cattle stealing doubly dangerous—for the man who takes them.

The experience Slaughter and his deputies have themselves had as cowboys is standing them in good stead in investigating these cases, and in bringing these investigations to a successful conclusion.

The Dawson County Conservation Field Day is scheduled for the afternoon of Tuesday, March 11, and the caravan will leave from in front of the Soil Conservation Service office at 1:30 p.m. This office is located at 306 South Austin Street.

The tour is being sponsored by the Lamson Chamber of Commerce, the SCS and other organizations, and individuals. In the course of the afternoon refreshments will be served as a Chamber of Commerce courtesy. Everybody from everywhere is invited to join in on the trip which will include visits to every type of irrigation being used in the Dawson County SCD as well as to winter pastures, summer pastures, winter cover crops of hairy vetch, rye, wheat and barley.

Not only is everybody invited but everybody is also invited to bring along a carload of friends.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson's planning for the future will insist that price supports shall not be used to subsidize inefficiency, nor to guarantee profits—and that they must not be permitted to throw the price machinery so far out of balance that stiff controls will have to be applied later to repair the damage.

Benson's views are outlined by Harold H. Martin in the current (March 28) issue of The Saturday Evening Post in an article entitled "Elder Benson's Going to Catch It."

In this article Martin reports that when the present price supports expire in two years Benson has no intention of trying to toss the farmer back into the old dog-eat-dog agricultural economy of the past.

Benson, it is pointed out, agrees that in a complicated economy such as ours, where business is protected by tariffs and labor is shielded against disaster by minimum wage laws and unemployment insurance, the farmer is entitled to some protection against bankruptcy. But Benson does not believe that the farmer wants, or should have, a government guarantee so high that he is put into the position of working for a federal bounty rather than producing for a free market.

The new Secretary of Agriculture has the most thorough agricultural background of any man who has ever held the office.

This background as farm hand, farm owner, county agent, farm and ranch marketing specialist, Washington lobbyist for agricultural interests and Mormon Church leader is found reflected in his approach to the job of creating a new farm policy.

As Benson sees the problem, the government's job is to teach and educate, not to control, dictate or play Santa Claus. He believes that in times of crisis some control measures are necessary to keep the farmer from going broke, but that they should be abandoned as soon as the emergency is over.

The SEP article tells of the battle generated in Washington by Benson's reshuffling of his department which resulted in a smaller appropriation for the PMA.

"Win or lose, it is certain that the new secretary will fight doggedly for his principles," Martin writes. "He comes from a breed of men noted not only for their piety but for their stubborn defense of what they believe in."

According to reports from Sterling County the sheep population has been reduced by the drought that probably not more than 75 workers from the outside will be needed in shearing operations there this year.

Ranchers feel that their need for this limited additional help will be easily filled, they say.

Here's A Case Where Free Samples Given By Treasury Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was probably the first visitor to the Treasury who asked, "Do you give samples?" Maybe as many as nine out of 10 visitors since have asked.

Thirty-six visitors did get samples yesterday—crisp dollar bills. But it isn't a new policy.

The money came from the personal funds of Secretary Humphrey.

The 36 dollar bills went to Humphrey's grandson, George M. Humphrey II, and 35 of his schoolmates from Lindhurst, O., who are visiting Washington.

The secretary autographed a dollar bill for each of the visitors.

Searchers Find Body Of Youth In Creek

WASHINGTON (AP)—The body of Lester Leigh, 7, object of an all-night search, was found today in the shallow waters of Rock Creek.

Police theorized he had slipped on a steep hillside and fallen into Rock Creek, perhaps striking his head during his fall. Death apparently was caused by drowning.

Fem Bank Robber Put In Hospital

FORT WORTH (AP)—A husky blonde 18-year-old mother—admitted baby carrying robber of two banks—was confined in the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital today.

Police moved her to the federal hospital as a precautionary measure after sobbing Mrs. Helen Mecke attempted suicide in a City Jail cell.

Her infant son beside her, the young woman was captured yesterday by a Motorcycle Officer Paul T. Vaughn about 30 minutes after the First National Bank in suburban Handley was robbed of $1,700.

Later, in a hysterical condition, she admitted to FBI agents and police that she was "Plano Legs," the woman bandit who last Nov. 25 robbed the North Fort Worth State Bank of $600.

The young woman was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Bob Milam yesterday afternoon on two charges of bank robbery. Before her arraignment, she tried to strangle herself with her blouse but jail matrons subdued her and stripped her of her clothes to prevent a second suicide attempt.

"I'm not going to be here to be tried," the sobbing girl told Milam. Later she procured an attorney and entered a plea of innocence.

Her husband, A-1C Roy H. Mecke, a native of New York City stationed at Carswell AFB here, attended the hearing. "No, no, no, get him out of here," the distraught girl said when she saw him.

Mecke rushed to her and she fell into his arms crying, "I didn't want you to know, honey. Oh, honey how could I have done it."

The husband, whom officers said apparently knew nothing of his wife's actions, has been stationed at Carswell since July, 1950. The couple were married a little more than two years ago. She is a Dallas native.

Mecke said his wife lost their first baby and was "terribly worried that something would happen" to the infant police say she had with her when she robbed the Handley bank.

"Plano Legs" entered the bank just before noon yesterday carrying a baby bundled under her arm in a white blanket.

The bandit was wearing the same blue jeans and red scarf she wore in the November holdup. The jeans were rolled about halfway to her knees.

She stepped up to Mrs. G. L. DeVore, cashier, shoved a brown sack at the woman and said, "Fill this sack with tens and twenties, or I'll shoot the baby."

She told the cashier the baby was kidnapped and she cared nothing for it.

Mrs. DeVore handed over the money and the bandit walked to the door while Mrs. DeVore telephoned police.

Officer Vaughn, who had just heard the woman's description by police radio, spotted her car, gave chase and made the arrest.

Officers said Mrs. Mecke used the same method in robbing the North Side Bank. That was a month ago before her baby was born but police said she substituted a doll that time.

A search of her car yesterday produced the money taken from the bank—and a toy pistol.

Segregation In Army Post Schools To End

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today race segregation in federally-operated schools at Army posts will be completely ended by the opening of the fall school term.

It said segregation exists now in only two of these schools—at Ft. Campbell, Ky., and Ft. Benning, Ga.—but these will be on an integrated basis by next fall.

An Army memorandum released by the White House added, however, that segregation exists at schools operated by state authorities on federally-owned property at other posts. This, the memorandum said, presents "complicating factors."

President Eisenhower, in a note to Defense Secretary Wilson, said the Army memorandum indicates Army commanders now are discussing with local authorities the ending of segregation in these state-operated schools.

"If such integration is not achieved," the President said, "other arrangements in these instances will be considered."

Asked what these other arrangements might be, James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, replied he could not add to the President's memorandum.

C-City Club Told Of Security Investments

COLORADO CITY—Guest of the Colorado City Kiwanis Tuesday was Russell Carr of the firm of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane, Carr discussed security investments and told Kiwanians of the early history of the stock exchange located in Manhattan. He pointed out that the Dutch Colony that was to become New York originated as a trading post and not for religious or political reasons as did other settlements in the 13 colonies.

Visitors from Abilene were Mel Thurman, Captain Harper of the Salvation Army, Tom McGeehee and W. R. Mundon.

Teamwork Results In Vital Oil Discoveries

HOUSTON (AP)—Advances in exploration methods and teamwork among oil scientists should assure the U. S. adequate petroleum and reserves for a long period, a prominent geophysicist said here today.

Henry Cortes, Magnolia, Dallas, said increased teamwork among oil-finders since 1940 has resulted in the discovery of important oil and gas reserves.

"Novel or more direct oil finding methods may possibly be discovered or perfected," he said. "It is more probable, however, that the future of exploration geophysics will be primarily in the continued refinement of the present known methods."

Cortes spoke before a joint convention of the Society of Exploration Geophysicists, the American Assn. of Petroleum Geologists and the Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists.

"Advances in exploration geophysics and geology, along with teamwork, should insure adequate production and reserves within the U. S. for a long period," he said. "This is predicted on our nation having competitive free enterprise, which has been responsible for the leadership of this country in oil finding, producing, transporting

Individual Is Key To Better World, Speaker Declares

"We can have the new world we want by changing ourselves," Rev. Clyde Nichols, First Christian Church minister, advised Rotarians Tuesday.

Rev. Nichols said the individual holds the key to a better world, but so far he hasn't been willing to start the reformation within himself.

"It's easier to condemn others, to make alibis and excuses," the luncheon speaker asserted.

"There's enough dynamite in the Sermon on the Mount to turn our lives upside down if we'll only let it. If we will take Jesus Christ seriously and follow Him all our lives will be changed."

"We'll find God—all that we need," the minister told Rotarians. "We have good intentions, but no power. Once we practice Jesus Christ we will find God and power."

In order to have a better world, each individual must be a better person. One must see his own failings and mistakes as he sees those of other persons, Rev. Nichols said.

The minister was introduced by F. H. Talbot, program chairman. Guests at the weekly Rotary Club luncheon were Harold Fisher of Big Spring, A. B. Youngblood of Abilene, Leon Cronk of Chelsea, Wash., E. G. Niblo of Fort Worth, Mo., Rites were said by Chaplain Henry Dunkel. Arrangements were in charge of the Eberly-River Funeral Home.

Senate Bill On Tides May Omit Shelf Reference

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Interior Committee came to grips today with major issues in the submerged lands controversy.

Several senators predicted the committee would come out of its closed-door deliberations with a bill which would give the states ownership of oil-rich submerged lands within their off-shore boundaries but omit any reference to control of the continental shelf beyond state boundaries.

The House Judiciary Committee agreed yesterday on a one-package measure designed to provide for administration of oil and gas development both within and beyond the three-mile limit.

The House bill, to be debated on the floor next week, would surrender to the states the ownership of lands within the three-mile belt, or to the limit of the state's historic boundaries.

It would provide for leasing of the continental shelf beyond state boundaries by the interior secretary with all revenues to go to the federal Treasury, except that the states would be given the right to impose a tax on oil production.

The House bill also would extend state police powers and conservation laws to the continental shelf beyond historic state boundaries.

The Senate committee worked all day yesterday on technical and largely non-controversial language changes in the state-ownership bill introduced by Sen. Holland (D-Fla.). The Holland bill contains no provisions dealing with the continental shelf outside state boundaries.

Votes were deferred on the major controversies, such as the proposal of Sen. Anderson (D-NM) to retain federal control of all off-shore lands and the amendment of Sen. Hill (D-Ala.) to devote revenues from the federal off-shore lands to a program of federal aid to education.

GMC TRUCKS

No other light trucks have all this

YOU don't expect polo-pony agility from a truck in traffic—but the new GMC's have it. You'd like to have passenger-car pace and economy on the highway—and you'll get it from the 1953 GMC's.

For there are two tremendous advances that step the new GMC's far ahead of all previous truck performance:

One: Dual-Range Hydra-Matic Drive*—the fully automatic shift with 3 speeds for traffic, 4 for the open road—available on 19 models throughout the 1/2-, 3/4- and 1-ton capacity range.

Two: a new line of engines of progressive design, with compression ratios of 7.5 to 1 and 8.0 to 1—the highest of any gasoline truck engine ever built. Here's pile-driver power behind every piston stroke—flashing response and better mileage squeezed from regular fuel.

A number of chassis advances too, add to the extra-value features that make GMC's a point for point, the biggest dollar's worth in the light-truck field as well as in the heavier lines.

We confidently tell you—these great new GMC's will do your job better, easier, and at the lowest over-all cost. They have stamina beyond their size, because they're "built like the big ones"—the heavy-duty GMC's that lead the world in sales.

That's saying a lot. But just come in—and we'll prove it.

SW 'CONTRACT' PLAN SET UP

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS (AP)—There'll be the usual big rush for the high school football stars. The college scouts will do the family churning, help the lady of the house with the washing and tell the old man what a great fellow he is to send his boy to Baylor, Texas or whatever the school may be.

But there'll be no "swiping" of the athletes. A boy won't agree to go to a certain college then wind up at another come fall.

The "contract" plan will be inaugurated April 15 in the Southwest Conference. When a high school graduate signs a "letter of intent" joined by his parents he will have to go to that college and no other in the conference if he expects to get an athletic scholarship.

It's limited, too. The period for signing up the boys will be from

Y TO FORM CIRCUIT

The YMCA will supervise a city softball league again this year. Arrangements for the Y league to use the softball diamond at the City Park have already been made.

Persons interested in fielding teams in the circuit can contact Pete Cook at Cook's Appliance Store, Phone 3360, at any time within the next several days.

An organization meeting will be called, probably within ten days or two weeks.

Teams which have already been entered in the league are Western Auto, Cook Appliance and Webb Air Base.

Lasses Crowd Past Andrews

ANDREWS — The Steerettes of Big Spring High School nosed out Andrews, 22-21, in a girls' volleyball game played here Tuesday night.

Neil Glover, Anna Mae Thorpe and Lou Burchett each scored five points for the winners. Alsbrook had seven and Nolan six for the losers.

The Big Spring 'B' team had a much easier time of it, winning, 60-14. Big Spring led at half time in that one, 25-14.

Dean Chate tallied 12 points for the Steerettes, Frances McClain and Nell Harris seven each. The Big Spring club will next see action in the Plainview Tournament this week end.

Girl Tennis Oppose Forsan

The Big Spring High School girls' tennis team plays Forsan in a return match here at 3 p.m. Thursday. The Steerettes recently swept a series from the Buffaloes.

Nancy Smith, Peggy Hogan, Clara Freeman, Bettie Anderson, Dixie Faulkner, Jacqueline Smith, Nita Farquhar and Sue Barnes are among those who will see action for the locals.

Southwest Boxing Tournament Opens

DALLAS (AP)—More than 100 amateur boxers are to start competition here tonight in open and novice divisions of the annual Southwest Boxing Tournament.

Squads from Tyler, Dallas, East Texas State College at Commerce, Carwell Air Force Base in Fort Worth, Fort Worth Panthers Boys Club, Irving and Coolidge will take part.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Pat Stasey, the ex-Big Springer who is now bossing the Roswell baseball club, can field a picket line composed entirely of left-handed hitters, if he so desires.

Wayne Crawford, Buzz Jackson and Stasey are the wrong-handers who could patrol the outer gardens for the Rockets.

Stasey is seeking some right-handed power, though, and may sell either Crawford or Jackson.

AL HANSEN IS LOST TO SMU SQUAD

Southern Methodist University has lost a football mainstay, at least temporarily.

He is Al Hansen, an ex-Oregon high school star, who had one more season of eligibility remaining at SMU. He recently got married and lost his scholarship. Matty Bell's rule that no SMU athlete who holds a scholarship can marry is still in effect.

Al started five games with the Mustangs last year.

DID SOME ONE IN AREA GO SCALP-HUNTING?

It's probable that some one in the area, who had an axe to grind, put the bloodhounds of the United States Golf Association on the trail of the North Texas State College golfers, who recently lost their amateur status.

It is known a group in a neighboring city approached Billy Maxwell with an offer to represent their club in sectional and national wars. He turned them down. The investigation may bring them out in the open.

Big Spring's Bobby Hayes, who is on the Texas A & M freshman track team, recently ran a 2:07 half mile.

He's one of our Aggie Fish trying out for the 880. The others are Carl Wilson, Dallas; Frank Wright, Sherman; and Granville Gleeson, Beaumont.

One of the better looking track prospects in the local high school camp is a freshman who isn't even eligible. Name's James Rollins. He runs the dashes and he's been outrunning most of the sprinters in the Stear camp.

Rollins is from Colorado City. He's a football player who'll be big enough to make his mark on the gridiron before he gets out of school. He'll probably play a lot for the Big Spring B team in the fall.

Incidentally, Buddy Cosby, the Steers' fine defensive griddler, weighs 210 now. He's only a sophomore. He's out for track to keep in shape until spring training opens April 13. Buddy hasn't worked too much on the discus but shows good form in the ring. He'll begin to get distance when he learns the proper way to release the saucer.

Eighteen professional baseball leagues in the country open for business before the Longhorn League does, 16 after the area wheel swings into play.

FLOCK OF NEW RECORDS IN RELAYS IS LIKELY

AUSTIN (AP)—The field for the 26th Texas Relays grew to 861 athletes from 74 schools today and a flock of records appeared likely before the onslaught of an Olympics-sprinkled brigade of stars.

The big news was that Wes Santee, Kansas' great distance runner, would anchor three relay teams. Santee, NCAA champion at 5,000 meters last year and also on the American Olympics team, starred here as a sophomore last season.

Winging Wes will be clean-up man for the sprint medley, distance medley and four-mile relay teams. Santee, who already has done 880 yards in 1:52.5 this season, could make the sprint medley Jayhawk team a record possibility.

Three members of last year's four-mile relay champions—Lloyd Koby, Art Dalzell and Santee—are back. Dalzell and Santee also ran on the distance medley relay that set a record of 10:06.0 last year. The Kansas four-mile team of 1950 set the record of 17:20.0. Kansas made it in 17:21.2 in 1952.

Kansas faces competition aplenty in the sprint medley from Oklahoma A&M, which did 3:27.2 in early season against the Texas relay record of 3:24.0. The Oklahoma Aggies have a top half-miler in Bill Heard.

Quite likely to topple a couple of records is Darrow Hooper, Texas A&M's Olympics star of the shot put. Hooper, second in the Olympics last summer, will be aiming at his shot put record of 54 feet 7 3/4 inches. He already has pitched the 16-pound ball 54 feet 3 3/4 inches this season. He went over 57 feet last year. Hooper also has thrown the discus 165 feet 1 inch. The Texas Relays record is 172 feet 5 1/4.

Brown Case May Get Attention

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Justice says it is investigating charges of violation of the antitrust laws in the field of sports—but is not planning an immediate inquiry into the case of the St. Louis Browns.

The Department also said, in a formal statement late yesterday, it has not ordered an immediate investigation of organized baseball.

The statement was issued after two Maryland congressmen wrote to Atty. Gen. Brownell asking him to look into the refusal of the American League club owners to let the St. Louis Browns move to Baltimore. One of them, Rep. Friedel (D-Md.), said he had been advised by the attorney general's office that a prompt investigation would be made.

The department acknowledged receiving the letters from Friedel and Rep. Devereux (R), but denied that the attorney general had ordered an immediate investigation into organized baseball or into the club owners' action.

Its statement said the representatives "have been advised orally that their protests will be merged for consideration in connection with other charges of violation of the antitrust laws in the field of sports, which have been under investigation for some time."

Michigan State scored against Syracuse this season when the game was only three seconds old. The Spartans tackled Syracuse's Bob Leberman in the end zone on the opening kick-off.

BEAT DALLAS

Houston Bisons Showing Power

By The Associated Press

Two Texas League exhibition games Tuesday were decided in the ninth inning, one in the tenth and another was a run-away after an outfielder was sent in to pitch.

It was typical, hell-for-leather Texas League action.

The Houston Buffs, showing more power with almost every game, rallied for two runs in the ninth to down the Dallas Eagles, 7-5.

Dallas had tied up the game with a five-run spurge in the eighth, but the Buffs came right back with their two game-cinching runs in the top of the ninth. That was all for the Port Arthur fans watching the contest.

At Galveston, pinch-hitter Joe Damato broke up a 3-3 tie game Tuesday night by doubling across the winning run as Oklahoma City edged Beaumont, 4-3.

Damato's blow came in the last of the ninth with two out and two strikes against him.

New Orleans of the Southern Association used a 16-hit attack and took advantage of three Tulsa errors to down the Oilers, 14-7, in a game at Alexandria, La.

Tulsa was leading, 6-5, when they sent in pinch-hitter Frank Brown, an outfielder to pitch in the seventh. The Pelicans got him for one run in the seventh and added eight more in the ninth.

Tulsa will try the New Orleans club again today, probably with pitchers.

In the other game, at Duhedin, Fla., the Toronto Maple Leafs had to go ten innings but beat San Antonio's Missions, 7-5. It was the first loss of the spring for the Alamo City nine.

San Antonio had tied it up with a three-run ninth inning rally.

Besides the Tulsa-New Orleans game scheduled at Alexandria today, there are these others on the schedule:

Dallas at Beaumont and San Antonio vs Toronto at Bartow, Fla.

Texans Are Named On All-American

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Five Texans were named on the 1953 All-American Amateur Skeet Shooting Team named yesterday by Sports Afield magazine.

The team members included D. W. Conway, Clint; Co. C. T. Edwinson, USAF, Austin; Frank Dublin, Jacksonville; Grant Ilseing, Houston, and Mickey Michaelis, Galveston.

Lewis Gordon, Texarkana, Ark. was picked as captain of the 12-man amateur squad.

Cougars Win MV League Award

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The University of Houston, newest conference member, today was announced the winner of the Missouri Valley Conference All-Sports Trophy for the 1952-53 year.

Houston's Cougars, football and tennis champs of the six-team Valley, nosed out Oklahoma A&M for the cup awarded by the Varsity Club of the University of Detroit. The winner is judged on points awarded for team positions in league races.

The Brooklyn Dodgers held undisputed possession of first place in the National League race from June 1st until the end of the season.

HC Advances At Hutchinson

Locals Nudge Sooner State Five, 80-78

HUTCHINSON, Kansas — Howard County Junior College's incredible Jayhawks breezed into the second round of the National Junior College Basketball Tournament by defeating Eastern Oklahoma A&M Aggies, 80-78, in a double-overtime game here Tuesday night.

HCJC doesn't return to action until 9:30 p.m. Thursday, at which time the Big Springers meet the Eastern Arizona Monsters of Thatcher.

Thatcher survived its first test by vanquishing Fairbury, Nebraska, 63-57.

Casey Jones' tip-in in the last three seconds of play turned the tide in HCJC's favor. Bobby Malnes took a long shot and the ball rolled away but Jones was there and pushed it through.

The Jayhawks trailed throughout the bout and caught the Aggies only in the last 30 seconds of the regular game. Trailing 68-64 going into the last half minute, Chuck Warren hit a long one for the Texans and on the Wilburton pass-up, the Hawks stole the ball and Jones dunked it to send the game into overtime.

Wilburton shot back out in front, 72-69, in the first overtime but Malnes hit a free shot and Jones hooked a short one to tie it up.

Jim Howell hit two gratis pitches for Eastern Oklahoma A&M, which were offset by Cecil Hoggard's drive-in shot. Jones put the Hawks ahead with two gratis pitches but flashy Ken Ferguson tied it up at 74-all by hitting from the side.

Shortly after the second overtime period opened, Warren hit a long one, which was balanced by Vester Woodall's shot from outside. Nearly a minute of play remained. HC froze the ball but Eastern took it away and played for one good shot, only to miss. Malnes then cut loose with his famous one-handed shot and Jones tipped it in.

Malnes played one of his best games of the year for HCJC, rapping 20 points. Jones was brilliant. Warren, Don Stevens and Bobby Williams played their usual good games. Cecil Hoggard was outstanding.

For Eastern, Ferguson was tops with 20 points. Tall Jerry Logan had 17 for the losers.

Eastern boasted a seven-point lead at half time and gave every indication it intended to hold it.

Lon Morris of Texas disappointed the onlookers by losing to El Dorado, Kansas, 54-52, after leading for three quarters. Eldorado carried a 20-7 won-lost record into the battle. The Grizzlies had a 60-point scoring average compared to Lon Morris' 80.7 mark.

Tall Robert Burrow of Lon Morris scored 21 points.

In other games, Hannibal-La Grange, Mo., won over Cordia College of Fort Wayne, Ind., 87-74; Brewton-Parker of Mt. Vernon, Ga., kayoed La Junta, Colo., 65-63; Thatcher, Arizona, abashed Fairbury, Nebraska, 63-57, and Decatur, Miss., won over Wahpeton, N. D., 99-78.

Hannibal's two standout performers were Cotton Fitzsimmons, who scored 35 points, and Bill Shuman, who had 34.

Jim Denny counted 28 in leading Mt. Vernon, Ga., to victory.

In games today, first round play will be completed in games between Jacksonville, Fla., and Brooklyn, N. J.; State Tech at 2 p.m., and Moberly, Mo., and Arkansas City, Kansas, at 3:30 p.m.

In the losers' bracket, Lon Morris opposes Wahpeton, N. D., at 6:30 p.m.

Champion play will be resumed at 8 p.m., at which time Eldorado, Kansas, vies with East Central Mississippi of Decatur. At 9:30 p.m., Brewton-Parker, Mt. Vernon, Ga., has it out with Hannibal-La Grange, Mo.

The Hutchinson Gym., which seats about 10,000 was about three-fourths full opening night.

Early Birds

North Texas Golfers Seek USGA Re-Instatement

DENTON (AP)—North Texas State golfers, four of whom lost their amateur standings with the United States Golf Assn. for a trip to Mexico City and two of whom were suspended because they helped teach the game, were due to send in applications for reinstatement today.

Coach Fred Cobb of the three-time national intercollegiate champions was advising the young men to take this course and said he was hopeful that their pleas would be granted immediately.

Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Don January of Dallas, Marion Hickey of Pocatello, Idaho, and Stan Moore of San Antonio were suspended because of a trip to Mexico City made to Mexico City in December to play in the Mexican Amateur although Cobb said January didn't even go. The USGA took the action because the boys did not pay their own expenses. Cobb said that the college paid them.

Bobby Maxwell of Big Spring, Tex., and Ray Ferguson of Breckenridge, Tex., were suspended on grounds they took money for teaching golf to other students at the college. Cobb said this was not true—that they were at North Texas State on athletic scholarships and had merely helped out in teaching a class of 200. "They would have been here whether they helped in teaching or not," Cobb said.

Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., who, while a member of the North Texas State golf team, won the National Amateur championship in 1951, also was suspended. Maxwell, who played on the team last year and made the Mexico City trip, now is in the Army at Fort Hood, Tex. He has a semester to go at North Texas State before getting his degree.

The USGA rule is that a college golfer's expense can be paid when he participates in a tournament sponsored by institutions of learning and the military service. But in the case of a tournament like Mexico City, which is not college sponsored, the boy must pay his own expenses. A boy also cannot teach on the basis of his golf ability and receive compensation for it.

The normal waiting period before the boys can regain their amateur status is two years but the executive committee of the USGA can waive this suspension if it so desires. Cobb was hopeful that it would prevent his team playing in the National Intercollegiate this year. The colleges allow golf scholarships and have no rules against payment of expenses or teaching golf. Cobb said the USGA forbade a boy to go to college on a golf scholarship but that he could go to college and play golf on an athletic scholarship handled by the college like all other scholarships.

The boys can't play in the National Open, National Amateur or similar events sponsored by the USGA, unless their suspensions are lifted.

Byron Nelson, the golf great who lives near here, said he would intercede for at least three of the boys—January, Ferguson and Bobby Maxwell, brother of Billy. Nelson said January was playing an exhibition match at Monroe, La., with him at the time of the Mexico City tournament and couldn't have made the trip.

AT FORSAN

Coahoma, Garden City Enter Meet

FORSAN — Friday's track and field meet here, which will include all events on the Texas Intercollegiate League program, will get underway at 1 p.m.

Forsan has only two sets of hurdles so the timber toppers will have to run against time.

Coahoma and Garden City have already entered the meet and indications are Sterling City and Christoval will compete. Stanton may be invited, too.

Bob Honeycutt, Forsan mentor, will serve as tournament director.

Approximately 15 athletes are out for the Forsan track team.

Best bet for district titles include Harold Hicks, a quarter-mile; and Dan Hayhurst, who excels in most of the field events.

Jesse Overton, a speedy sprinter, will miss most of this week's workouts due to a bad foot but may compete Friday.

Garner Still In Tourney

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Mrs. Opal Riedel, Dallas, and Pat Garner, Midland, headlined the parade of female golfers teeing off here today for the second round of the 1952 Texas Women's State Golf Association Tournament.

Mrs. Riedel, defending champion, met Miss Garner last year in the finals of the tournament.

The championship field was cut to 16 in yesterday's first rounds with Houston and San Antonio each boasting four representatives in the elite circle. No other city had more than one.

The San Antonio stars were Mrs. Harold Weilbacher, Mrs. R. C. Lipscomb, Miss Lesbia Lobo, and Mrs. Philip Kirschner.

Houston's foursome was Mrs. Giddings Rogers, Mrs. Harry Coffman, Mrs. Leonard Keating, who won the 1941 and '47 crowns as Kay Pearson, and Mrs. Earl Gamme.

Midland had Miss Garner and Dallas counted on Mrs. Riedel.

Odessa was represented by Mrs. W. K. Striphing; Baytown by Mrs. M. W. Morgan; El Paso by Mrs. Gene Harding; Pampa by Mrs. Charles Duemel; and Sherman by Miss Nelle Moody.

Eleven earlier flights with 192 more entries held the interest of other women golfers from over the state.

KTXC TO AIR GLOVES BOUTS

Radio Station KTXC Big Spring will air the East-West Golden Gloves fights directly from Chicago, starting at 8:30 p. m. Thursday.

Texas is not represented in the meet, although Pete Melendez of El Paso was a winner in the recent Chicago Tournament. Melendez could not make the trip. Chicago coaches were trying to find a replacement for him today.

The broadcast will cover about 16 fights.

Winners will get to meet champions from other nations.

Morrison Winner Over Airport

Kate Morrison continued unchecked in Ward School softball league play Tuesday, defeating Airport, 11-4.

Jimmy Marin again hurled the Maroons to victory. Payne was on the slab for the losers.

Subia clouted two homers for Morrison, Paradox and Abreo one each.

Perry of the losers hit for four bases.

Longhorns Play Lubbock Today

Coach Roy Baird has taken his Big Spring High School baseball team to Lubbock this afternoon, where the Steers try to win their first game in three starts from the Westerners.

Lubbock grabbed both ends of a double header here recently, 11-6 and 15-8, but the Steers showed to advantage.

This is another in the series of warm-up games, as the Longhorns mark time for the start of the district race April 7.

Baird indicated he would pitch Charley Rose against the Westerners. Raymond Gilstrap and Frank (Red) Long may also see mound action, if the going gets too tough for Rose.

Gilstrap will don the catching harness again. Ted Scott will be at first base, Jimmy Fiero at second, Tommy McAdams at shortstop, Bobby Hayworth at third, either Bobby Phillips or James Hollis at third, Ronnie Wooten in center and Wayne Medlin in right.

Either Carroll Walker or Bill Feris will hurl for the Westerners.

CANDIDATES SPEAK OUT

This is one of the statements being made by candidates for School Trustees in response to an invitation by the Herald...

1. Careful study of existing problems before acting. 2. Fair and unbiased consideration of applications for employment...

3. Use of local talent to teach in local schools, where qualifications, background and personality are such as to justify their selection.

4. Progress, in line with local needs and financial ability of our people. 5. Emphasis on the home, church and school, and the American way.

6. Cooperation and teamwork among board members, teachers and patrons. 7. Participation of all citizens in school matters.

8. As outlined above, I propose to study the problems before us before taking a stand, and when I determine what is the right thing to stand up and be counted.

9. All personnel should be selected on basis of qualifications and experience and personality traits, and degree alone is not a proper basis.

10. I believe in progress in methods and equipment, but will consider the financial side of all proposals before undertaking changes.

11. To these ends, I will work, in a spirit of cooperation, with my fellow members of the Board of Trustees and with all our citizens.

12. Yours Sincerely, H. L. Shiple

Yanks Battle Reds Night, Day From Their Tank On Old Baldy

By STAN CARTER WESTERN FRONT, Korea (U.S.) Caged in their tank for a night and a day, five Americans sweated it out on Old Baldy as dozens of Chinese crawled on top, trying to crack the steel monster with everything from grenades to mortars shells.

Without food or water, the tankers fought back and stuck it out until ordered to quit the damaged vehicle last night.

The crewmen are Sgt. Langedy Lower, Pikeville, Ky., tank commander; Pfc. Roy Thompson of 331 19th St. Port Arthur, Tex., ammunition loader; Pfc. Sylvester Wheeler, Centerville, Md., gunner; Pfc. William E. Sanders, Odessa, Mo., driver, and Cpl. William R. Morris, Princeton, W. Va., assistant driver.

Three of the tankers were in a bunker and two in the tank Monday night when a battalion of Reds overran the position atop Old Baldy.

"We didn't know the Chinks were around until they began shooting at the bunker where Morris, Thompson and myself were," Lowe said. "We came out of our bunker and saw Chinese in front of the bunker next door. They had set it afire and were standing there watching it burn and pitching in grenades. I don't know whether there was anybody inside."

"But then I hollered at them and they let us in," Thompson said. "About five minutes after we got in the tank a Chinese got on top of it and stole our .30 caliber machine gun. About that time I guess it was about 10 o'clock—" made radio contact with the command tank down in the valley." Lowe said they could see about 75 or 100 Chinese through the tank periscope.

"We opened fire with our 75-millimeter tank gun and with our second .30 calibre machine gun," Lowe said. "We got quite a few." Lowe said the Chinese then swarmed around the tank and started throwing grenades. Some climbed on top.

"The grenades warped the two hatches so we couldn't close them," Thompson said. "I took my belt and tied down one of the hatches and we used wrenches to jam the other one down."

Pioneer Now Seeking Permanent Financing

Pioneer Air Lines, with interim financing arranged, was operating its schedules in a routine manner Wednesday and in hopes that difficulties would be solved permanently.

Robert J. Smith, president of PAL, announced the temporary financing arrangements Tuesday.

At the same time, he took occasion to deny that the CAB, which rocked Pioneer to its heels with a drastic mail payment allotment last week, had condemned a shift to Pacemasters from DC-3 equipment formerly used.

The city manager was authorized by commissioners Tuesday to complete the city's part of the arrangements. He said he and R. V. (Skeet) Forestry, streets, superintendent, would decide today when equipment could be made available for removing accumulations of refuse.

Chrysler Corp.
Cuts Prices On Cars, Trucks

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. cut the prices on all its cars and trucks today.

The automobile company, one of the "big three" of the car industry, said the government's abandonment of price controls was a factor in its decision.

It was the first major price change in the auto industry since the removal of controls.

To the industry it came as something of a surprise in view of recent increased manufacturing costs.

The cuts range from $67.50 on four-door cars in the moderate-priced field up to $278.40 on one deluxe model. All cuts are on the factory retail prices at Detroit.

Truck prices also were cut. Chrysler said these average $40.

President L. L. Colbert of Chrysler cited an increase in recent production by his company as compared to production last year under price controls. He said there has been a 32 per cent increase.

"Since the first of the year," Colbert said, "Chrysler Corp. has built 32 per cent more automobiles and trucks than we were able to turn out in the corresponding period last year under government controls."

"Now that higher volume is being achieved and we may reasonably expect it to continue, we are lowering prices accordingly."

Retail purchases from Chrysler dealers are 50 per cent above last year, Colbert said.

9 Men Only 2,500
Yards From A-Blast

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Military men are getting downright chummy with atomic blasts, having ventured safely within less than a mile and a half of one.

Nine daring volunteers who huddled in five-foot trenches 2,500 yards from yesterday's detonation thus were closer than any humans since nuclear destruction hit Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945.

Brig. Gen. William C. Bullock, commander of Camp Desert Rock and military exercise commander, may later be proved right in his claim of last week that troops can survive above ground, lying prone, within two miles of a blast.

It was Bullock who selected four Army, four Navy and one Air Force officer from a group of volunteers for yesterday's close approach. In the civil-defense test last week 1,500 troops and military observers and 20 newsmen were in trenches 3,500 yards from the explosion. Yesterday 1,300 troops were 4,000 yards away.

The second shot of the spring series was from a 300-foot tower on Yucca Flat in the vast Nevada Proving Grounds 65 miles northwest of here.

It was accompanied by expanded Air Force participation, 53 planes in all, including 12 B36 bombers which flew near enough to get a jolt from the blast. A Navy AD2 fighter drone plane, controlled by two mother ships, was flown into the thermal envelope or heat waves and back to land safely at Indian Springs Air Force Base.

An Air Force spokesman said of the B36 crew: "We want the lead crew of bombers which might some day be involved in a real atomic operation to show at first hand what a blast is like. We want to make sure that they don't suffer from buck fever... We plan the same sort of training for crews of other planes at later dates.

The Army and the Atomic Energy Commission exposed sheep, pigs and rabbits to yesterday's explosion, for biomedical studies, but announced no immediate results. The brilliant burst sent up its customary mushroom cloud, which divided and drifted away to the northeast. The AEC said there were no reports of radiation injuries.

Auto Workers
Due To Re-Elect
Reuther, Aides

By GLENN ENGLE
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—It was a far cry from other days today when Walter Reuther and his three top aides in the CIO United Auto Workers faced only token opposition—if any—in their bids for reelection.

As the auto workers international convention went into its fourth day the only question about the reelection of the four head men appeared to be whether the feeble Reuther opposition would put up a candidate to force a three-hour roll call and prevent their choice by acclamation.

The 45-year-old Reuther, now seeking his fifth term as president, was first elected here in 1946. His then-powerful opposition, however, won all the other three offices.

Consolidating his position, Reuther was able to carry his hand-picked slate of Emil Mazey for secretary-treasurer and Richard T. Gosser and John W. Livingston for vice presidents in with him in 1947. The same foursome then was re-elected at conventions in Milwaukee in 1949 and Cleveland in 1951.

The once strong anti-Reuther faction was led by R. J. Thomas, George F. Addes and Richard T. Leonard. Thomas and Leonard now are on Reuther's CIO staff—carryovers from the late President Philip Murray's administration—and Addes is out of the labor movement.

Thomas held the presidency for seven years before Reuther defeated him.

Since their defeat, the Reuther opposition has been weak and disorganized, steadily declining in numbers.

The present opposition, concentrated largely in the big Local 600 at the Ford Dearborn plant, was expected to mobilize its strength for the election of regional directors later in the day.
