

Death Results From Car Wreck

A. L. Berryman Is Victim Of Crash On Highway Sunday

FUNERAL SERVICES HERE YESTERDAY

Charlie A. L. Berryman, 25, died early Tuesday morning in a Childress hospital as a result from injuries sustained in a car accident shortly after dark Sunday on the Childress-Paducah highway, about half way between the two towns. The youth's wife, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Berryman, and Miss Freda O'Bannon all of Matador, received injuries but were able to return home with the body yesterday afternoon.

Hollis Revis, 30, Childress, lineman for the West Texas Utilities Company is in a critical condition in a Paducah hospital as a result of the pick-up truck which he was driving colliding with the Berryman car.

Officers who investigated the accident said the two vehicles overturned after the collision when one of the cars attempted to avoid a collision with a third automobile. The name of the driver of the third vehicle was not learned by the officers.

The Berrymans had been visiting friends and relatives in Childress over the week-end and were returning to Matador. The accident happened at a spot about 16 miles from Paducah and Childress.

Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church yesterday afternoon at 3:30 by Rev. W. M. Joslin and interment made in East Mound cemetery.

Charlie A. L. Berryman was born in the Barton community in Motley county August 3, 1914 and died August 8, 1939, at the age of 25 years and 5 days.

He had spent his entire life in the county, attending the Matador high school, and later being employed by the Bishop Feed Store for two years. For over a year he had been employed by the Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Company.

He had been a member of the Baptist church for about five years, having joined during a revival conducted by Rev. A. L. Jordan when he was minister here.

Young Berryman was a member of the Matador Fire Department and fellow members of the department, Clay Gilbert, Dec.

Mr. King and Miss Siepp also furnished special music in morning services at the local Methodist church.

Pianists for the revival have been Miss Rachel Patton, who is regular church pianist, and Mrs. Elbert Fuller, as assistant. Orchestral arrangements have included saxophone by Claude Groves, and violin by Mrs. Groves. Mrs. T. J. Stanford Jr., visitor from Childress, has also furnished xylophone accompaniment during services this week.

With the closing date of the revival set for Sunday evening, Rev. W. M. Joslin, pastor, and officials of the church extend an urgent invitation to everyone to attend all remaining services.

Pioneer Parade To Start Celebration

Former Pastor Rejects Film Career Offers

Fred McClung, who held the pastorate of the local Church of Christ for several months, about eight years ago, has rejected proposals for a screen career, according to news stories appearing in several large daily papers last week.

Minister McClung closed a two-weeks revival at Dickens last week.

Following is the account which was run in the Star-Telegram, Fort Worth.

Fred McClung, handsome young minister of the Highland Park Church of Christ, Thursday afternoon definitely decided against trying out in the "Gateway to Hollywood" contest, an hour after telling Jesse L. Lasky, Hollywood producer, that he would reconsider abandonment of plans for a movie career.

"I am definitely not going to enter the tryouts," McClung said. As the 29-year-old minister left a conference Thursday morning, Lasky said, "I hope his answer is yes, Hollywood needs men like him. He has won my absolute respect."

McClung Wednesday night announced to his congregation that he had abandoned his plans for a movie career after a deluge of protests from them that movies and the ministry don't mix.

Lasky Thursday morning telephoned McClung and arranged an interview.

Two Face Trial For Holdup During '36

Delay Caused By Governor Failing To Transfer Judge

Two Oklahoma men, Glenn Padgett and Sewell Wright, who have been in the Motley county jail for several months since their release from the New Mexico penitentiary, face trial in District Court here charged with the hold-up and robbery of Hubert Taylor in May, 1936. Mr. Taylor was held up and robbed of his car about 15 feet inside the south Motley county boundary after he had stopped to render assistance on a distress signal.

Court was delayed Tuesday and Motley county lost over $100 in jury costs when Governor O'Daniel ignored a certificate of disqualification of District Judge Alton B. Chapman, who was District Attorney at the time of the robbery and disqualified by law. The Governor was asked to appoint a judge to replace Judge Chapman but could not be located Tuesday altho the plea had been made some time before.

Judge C. D. Russell of the Plainview district was secured yesterday and eleven jurors had been selected at noon.

Served Prison Terms

The two men had served 3-year terms in the New Mexico prison after being convicted of a filling station robbery at Ft. Sumner on May 26, 1936. They were in Mr. Taylor's car, being pursued by officers when the automobile struck an under-pass and was wrecked, it is declared.

County Attorney Howard Tra-week declared yesterday that the law provided that when a crime is committed within 400 yards of a county line, the case may be tried in either county.

Equipment In Order For School Term

Numerous improvements have been made at the local schools recently in preparation for the coming school year which begins on Monday, September 4, according to an announcement made by Superintendent B. F. Tunnell.

The furniture and floors of the grade school, including the gymnasium, have been sanded and refinished, and the high school desks and floors have received an additional finishing coat. A new locker system was also installed in the boys' dressing-room.

A modern indirect lighting system will be placed in the clothing laboratory of the home economics department. This was made available by funds donated by the Home Economics club.

The senior class of 1939 provided thirty dollars for the construction of two water fountains that will be placed on the campus within the next few weeks. A bird-bath will also be built in the new rock garden north of the high school.

All library books in the high school library are being repaired. They will also be re-numbered and re-catalogued for the convenience of students as well as to preserve the books.

CITY CLEAN-UP DRIVE SHOWS MUCH PROGRESS

The city clean-up drive sponsored by the Matador Lions Club for this week, is showing much progress, according to Boss Leon Henry Pipkin. The city fire department offered its cooperation early Monday by sounding the alarm and after a crowd had gathered, explaining the drive.

Members of the Lions Club are warned by Boss Leon Pipkin that an inspection committee, composed of himself, Deputy Sheriff Courtney, and Fire Chief Smith will make a tour of the business and residential section after the drive is completed. He said that a report of their findings will be made at the next meeting where accounts with non-cooperating members will be fully settled.

Cooperation of residents not members of the Lions club is solicited before the drive ends Saturday night, in order that the city may be rid of unsightly weeds, trash and rubbish.

Local Saddle Maker Issues 9th Catalog

Master Craftsman Had No Training In Leather Work

The Schweitzer Saddle Company of Matador has recently issued its 9th catalog, a 32-page illustrated book, printed by the Tribune Publishing Company. About 25 saddles are shown, with the illustrations made from actual photographs of saddles manufactured by Houston Schweitzer, Matador's cowboy saddle-maker, who has never seen a saddle made except those produced in his own shop.

All of the intricate designs, cutting, stamping and assembling is the work of his deft hands, completing an average of 50 saddles annually for the past 15 years. Mr. Schweitzer has never had a lesson of any kind in leather craftsmanship.

Yet, where cowboys ride in Arizona, Montana, and as far west as California, his saddles have won favor. In this section of the Lone Star State his stamp on a saddle is recognized as the trade mark of quality material, expert workmanship as good as money can buy.

Interesting History The story of Houston Schweitzer's life and his unusual position as a master saddle-maker, reads like fiction.

He was born on Yellow House canyon, near Lubbock, in 1894, and his mother died when he was 7 years of age. Almost from that time on, he found his own way in the world and at the age of 14 he became a horse-wrangler for the Matador Ranch.

When he was a small boy, he was fascinated with leather and the construction of saddles. The first saddles he ever made were hammered from a 45 bullet and he used large grasshoppers as horses on which to try them out.

Later he made miniature saddles from leather which the boot-makers would give to him. They were complete in detail and stamping and caused considerable interest among his friends as he quit horse-wrangling and became a cowboy on the Matador ranch. Made Own Leather Tools

When he decided to quit the range and become a saddle-maker, his friends tried to discourage him, declaring that there would soon be no more demand for cowboys or saddles, but he had different ideas. He fashioned his own leather-working tools from a nail and pocket-knife and for several years had nothing else. He had no money with which to buy leather and equipment but finally managed to rebuild two saddles, which he admits, were poor jobs. Friends laughed at his attempts at "a trade" other than cow-punching. The compensation which he received from the first two attempts was used to buy material, including a new saddle tree, and the ambitious cowboy made his first full stamped saddle. Within a few days he sold it for $105 and a career was launched. Cowboys besieged him with orders.

Natural Ability The cowboy's genius is evident in the beautiful hand-tooled leather work that has found such wide favor. His natural ability is explained in the fact that he has had no training whatever.

The Schweitzer special saddle-tree, which he designed, is manufactured for him by a firm making saddle-trees and has been a favorite with cowmen for fifteen years. Because he had spent so many years in the saddle himself, he knew how to design a superior tree: one more practical for ranch work and riding comfort.

Describing his early life in Matador, Mr. Schweitzer recently said, "I think I must have lived in every dugout ever built along the banks of the creek here in town."

GRID SCHEDULE IS ANNOUNCED

The 1939 football schedule of the Matador Matadors has been announced as follows: Sept. 15, Crowell, here; Sept. 22, Silverton, here; Sept. 29, Childress, there; Oct. 6, Crosbyton, there; Oct. 13, Spur, here; Oct. 20, Turkey, there; Oct. 27, open; Nov. 3, Ralls, there; Nov. 10, Floydada, there; Nov. 17, open; Nov. 24, Lockney, here; Nov. 30, Paducah, here.

All except four lettermen of last year's team will play again this year. Since Matador is now classed as a class A school, the opposition will be much stronger and the conflicts should be even more interesting than ever before.

Due to a new ruling by the state executive committee, no training seasons may begin until September 1; therefore, there will not be a two weeks' encampment this year as has been the custom. However, Coach Don T. Martin and perhaps several of the boys plan to attend a coaching school to be held at Texas A & M during the latter part of the month.

Young Craftsman Completes Intricate Lamps for Chapel

Creator of these elaborate light fixtures for the Chapel in the Woods being constructed at Texas State College for Women is a student artist, Miss Dorothy A. LaSelle (lower left) of Ennis, who designed them and has put them together herself. She is being assisted by Miss Helen Solberg, a Clifton student, under the supervision of Miss Dorothy A. LaSelle of the TSCW art department. Miss Tate has saw-pierced and riveted these spheres for the Chapel auditorium. She is also making lights for the vestibule and front door, two candle-sticks and the large altar cross. All art work in the Chapel, including the stained glass windows, is being done by TSCW students.

IT WORKED

SHARON, Pa. A barefoot boy in overalls stood by the roadside when the gas throttle broke on the Sharpville fire truck as it raced to a rural blaze.

Precious minutes slipped by as the firemen worked in vain to pair the break.

"Try this," said the boy, unfastening a safety pin which held up his overalls. It worked and a home was saved.

BUTTERFLY INVASION

BERNVILLE, Pa. Small white butterflies descended suddenly upon this town in such large numbers the other day that housewives had to sweep them off sidewalks and porches. Like snowflakes, they fluttered through streets about dusk.

Motorists rolled up car windows to keep them out and the entire citizenry swatted and slapped until they dispersed about an hour and a half later.

Naturalists said the insects were a form of May fly and apparently were hatched in a nearby creek bed after recent rains.

NEW BOOKS

Matador City Library

I know a man who thinks he's poor. But he is rich indeed; he has a chair, a friend who's sure. And three good books to read.

"REBECCA"

"Rebecca" is a brilliant novel of an unforgettable woman, by Daphne du Maurier, the author of "Jamaica Inn." In writing of "Jamaica Inn," John C. Minot said in the Boston Herald, "This is the story that should keep many a reader awake all night. It is well worth the loss of sleep."

"Rebecca" has the same urgency about its story, the same brilliantly created atmosphere of suspense; but it is a novel that is infinitely more moving, more deeply concerned with the inner workings of the minds of men and women.

The principal setting is the great Cornwall estate of Manderley, one of the most famous country houses in England. Rebecca, its glamorous mistress, has been dead for eight months when the story opens—drowned in a sailing accident.

We Meet Rebecca

But through the eyes of Maxim de Winter's young and frightened second wife, the reader comes to know Rebecca, from the tall and sloping "R" with which she signed her name, to the way she organized the magnificent annual costume ball that was attended by the whole countryside. There are dozens of superbly drawn characters. Mrs. Danvers, the housekeeper, is particularly sinister.

To suggest the story in brief compass is impossible. The reader must experience the atmosphere of impending disaster, the exquisite story with its emotion heightened by drama, the surprises, and the superb moment of melodrama.

"Rebecca" is well liked by many readers. It is a book that is different and interesting with a wonderful story. It has been in the city library for some time but is still very popular.

Poultry Cheaper, Tomatoes Abundant, Also Many Fruits

August is a vacation month. Daily schedules are broken and routines are forgotten. It's at this time that housewives welcome short cuts—tricks to keep them out of the kitchen. Thanks to modern food progress there's no excuse for a woman spending hours over the hot stove.

Today entire meals, and good ones, too, can be prepared out of cans, cartons, and bottles. The grocers' shelves are loaded with every variety of ready-prepared food. Chicken dinner, beef stew, chili con carne, and sausage; spaghetti dinner, fish cakes and pork and beans; there's everything from a snack to a banquet waiting to "heat and eat."

Lemons Are Handy

There are some foods which are available all the year around, but which we always associate with hot weather and the summertime. Lemons are an example. Is there anything more refreshing than a clinking pitcher of ice-cold lemonade? The lemon crop this year is large, one of the largest on record. Limes are abundant, too, and fresh limeade is an excellent thirst-quencher.

All good cooks use lemons daily. A squeeze of lemon juice in the salad gives it a lift. A section of lemon with the fish improves its bland flavor. Lemon chiffon pie, an airy gelatine pie, or lemon sponge pie, a creamy custard with a spongy topping; both are delicious changes from the popular lemon meringue pie. Make lemon or lime sherbet for a topping to your fresh fruit cup or an ending to your August dinner. Use up your yesterday's cake with a lemon cream topping.

Peaches Galore

August is a gala month for peach lovers. Supplies are abundant and now is the time for canning. Let the family revel in peaches and cream. Broil unpeeled peach halves carefully in the oven and serve with a dash of orange juice as an accompaniment to roast. Make fresh peach pie an easy-to-make fresh peach cream by adding crushed peaches to the ready-prepared ice cream mix. And don't forget to eat peach shortcake often!

Luscious and Juicy

The tomato season is in swing. Buy them now by basket instead of by the pound. Have a feast of tomatoes. Tomatoes are in favor in winter as well as in summer. They add note of color to the vegetable plate and are always popular in salad bowl.

If you are serving tomatoes raw, be sure to remove the seeds. Immerse for a few seconds in boiling water and the skins will peel off easily. Use tomatoes as basis of main-course salads. Off a bit of the top, remove a portion of the pulp, and fill with well-seasoned cottage cheese which chopped chives have been added. Stuff tomatoes with chicken salad, or tuna fish or fresh crab salad.

Onions Head List

The onion season is at hand. Onions are among the most abundant and useful of vegetables. Over a billion pounds are produced in America. Onions are the list of seasonings and "peppers-up" of flavors but they also serve in a variety of attractive ways. Onion soup is a friendly stand-by. French onion, and onions scalloped with cheese, go well with a steaks. Potatoes scalloped with tomato layers of onion slices a bit different and onion orange salad sounds queer but tastes much better than it seems.

The trustees also adopted the budget for the coming school year, which will begin on Monday, September 4. It includes all school costs and involves an expenditure totaling $34,098.94 compared to a total of $34,217 spent last year.

night told his congregation that he was shelving his plans to seek a movie career because his motives had been misunderstood and because of the excitement and publicity he had created.

Even as Lasky arranged for the interview Thursday a member of the Highland Park church rose to the defense of his pastor.

"As one who loves our pastor, Fred McClung, I say he is a sincere preacher and square. I fail to see why we shouldn't be able and willing to give him up to such a mission and purpose that I believe he has in view," said the member.

"Since some have said that Hollywood is no place for a minister, I say, from all reports, that ministers must be needed there." McClung Tuesday had an audition at the "Gateway to Hollywood" office and left the talent scouts enthusiastic. He was the best prospect they had found so far in the way of a male actor.

The only hurdle remaining between him and Hollywood was the approval of weekend audiences at the Worth Theatre.

Then came stories in Wednesday's newspapers and protests before the congregation.

"I never intended to do anything wrong. Doing wrong and ceasing to preach the gospel had never entered my mind," McClung told his congregation Wednesday night.

"Because of the reactions of many people and the excitement I have changed my mind. I have decided to stay here and preach the gospel.

"I want to thank all of you for your kindness. Do you think I would be doing this if I were not sincere?"

The congregation left the church without a word in reply, and the young minister wiped tears from his eyes.

Memorial Services Thru.

President C. C. Haile said that Memorial services for pioneers who have died during the past year will be held by Rev. G. I. Britton, pioneer pastor of this section, at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, August 24th. The Memorial services will follow immediately after the parade, which is to terminate on the grounds near the pavilion.

Home talent programs by communities in the two counties will comprise the remainder of the program during the two days. Each group will be allowed as much as 45 minutes on the program in which to present its entry. Disinterested judges will select the three winners.

The Bob Dudley Carnival shows have leased the privilege of the grounds with the exception of some concession, during the week of the celebration.

About fifteen pioneers met with President Haile at the pavilion Friday afternoon and outlined the program which will be released in detail within a few days. Mr. Haile named Mrs. Oran Mc Clure and W. B. Starcher of Spur and

RESEARCH WORK TO BE STARTED BY TEXAS TECH.

Impetus to archaeological research of a large section of West Texas was given recently as final approval was stamped on a $16,596 WPA appropriation for such study under the sponsorship of Texas Technological College.

Work will begin immediately on the project in these nine counties of this area: Borden, Crosby, Kent, Lamb, Lubbock, Garza, Hockley, Lynn, and Motley.

Included in the plans for important study are excavation, removal, and restoration items of archaeological nature and collection of dates appertaining to such material.

Ammonett To Play In Game

Thayne Ammonett, brilliant football star from Flomot, left Saturday with former coach Leo Jackson for Houston, where he will participate in a north-south high school game. The all-star clash will take place Saturday, and this week is being spent in training and practice.

Ammonett is recognized as one of the most outstanding backfield men ever to play in class B football in West Texas. He will enter Texas Technological college in the fall and plans to continue to participate in football activities there.

Coach Jackson and Ammonett were accompanied to Houston by "Grandmother" Speer and Miss Melva Jo Speer of Flomot, who will visit relatives there this week.

NOTE OF APPRECIATION

New Law To Allow Full Wheat Sales

The most common objection in Texas to wheat marketing quotas (which won't be in effect this season, anyway) has been erased by an amendment to the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

Made known here last week, the amendment will enable a cooperating farmer to sell all the wheat he produces on his allotted acreage, regardless of how high the yield per acre may be, whenever a marketing quota happens to be in effect.

Until the law was changed, the marketing quota was defined as the normal yield of the farm's wheat acreage allotment. An operator with an abnormally high yield wouldn't have been able to market all his wheat tax-free, even though he may not have seeded more than his acreage allotment.

But as provisions now stand, the marketing quota for a wheat farm would be either the normal or actual yield, depending on which was the greater, of the farm's acreage allotment—plus any carry-over wheat on the farm which could have been marketed without penalty in previous years.

This is the same rule as applies to cotton marketing quotas, Vic L. Cade, Slaton farmer and member of the State Agricultural Conservation Committee, explained.

Before marketing quotas apply, eligible farmers must vote in favor of them by a two-thirds majority. A referendum was called this season because wheat marketing outlook took turn for the better under the fluence of acreage restriction, drouth and the wheat export subsidy program, Cade recalled.

ROCKING CHAIR RACE

DES MOINES, Iowa, Iowa's contestants will not have to race their chairs just sit down in rocking chairs and crocheted.

The contest to find the fastest and best crocheter in the state will be held at the State Fair August 30. The contestants must crocheted steadily for 90 minutes to be eligible for the championship.

Meats And Poultry

Meats are quite reasonable, especially poultry. Broiled or fried chicken is a good selection, summer menus. Veal and cuts are quite inexpensive, chopped beef or hamburger frankfurters or hot dogs are great demand for outdoor cooking.

The assortment of cold meat both fresh and canned, is a cold meat platter, attractively garnished, is a hot thought for hot-weather dining.

RELIABLE GINNERS

I have just returned from the cotton school where I had the opportunity of meeting government men who handle our cotton, and to learn the methods employed by them.

To meet them personally and discuss the prevailing conditions was a pleasure, and it made me more capable of handling your cotton. These men were fair and considerate, and they were interested in doing something for the cotton business.

I have enlarged my cottonhouse in order that I might be able to take care of your cotton—one variety or another. We shall have about forty hours of free classing service on one-variety signers of the cotton program.

If by reason beyond your control, after signing one variety, you must plant some other quicker maturing cotton, you may still have any or all of your cotton classed free of charge.

The class you have returned will be good for sale, or for it will be a true and correct grade and staple of your cotton by the expert classers who are employed by the government.

You may have your one-variety cotton, either California or Watson, ginned anywhere you wish, and hope that all ginner will be ready and willing to do that you receive full cooperation with this program.

I shall have quite a few things to discuss with you when you come to my plant, for there are many facts that you should know concerning the cotton situation.

Our gin is now in perfect condition, so that we can help you to the fullest extent to gain back our standing among the spinners.

We knew that the crop would be small, but at the same time, we knew that you needed every cent you could receive from your cotton; so we went ahead and spent money and put our plant in good shape in order to benefit you.

We do not go back; we build! That is what you need someone who is willing to build and help you build.

We keep machinery up-to-date, and we employ men who are up-to-date on ginning. You cannot lose, you may gain.

I have much to talk over with you. Come in and let me, and let us work out your problems before you are too busy to do so.
