Matador City Council looking into possibility of new businesses

The Matador City Council met for their December meeting, December 14, 2000, with the following members present:

Mayor Rodney Williams, Shane Jones, Fred Parson, Doyle Rose, James Meador, Jimmy Watson, Water Superintendent Steve Barton, and City Secretary Linda Perryman. During open forum, Lance Wells of West Texas Cat of Lubbock, spoke with the Board regarding a scraper. Council went into closed session at this time.

Out of closed session, bills were read and discussed. Motion was passed to pay all bills.

Minutes from the November 9th meeting were read and approved.

Councilman Fred Parson made a motion that the City lease/purchase a scraper from Yellowhouse Machin-

Water Superintendent Steve Barton informed the Council that pump two is being rebuilt. He also remarked that the scraper is working out well and a new pit at the landfill is being constructed. Mayor Williams told the Council that the Landfill permit should take no longer than 14 days to complete. The contract with Glenn Martin Construction was discussed. Mr. Martin will be charged $22/ton for the year 2001; $23/ton for 2002; $24/ton for 2003; and $25/ton for 2004 and beyond for hauling waste into the Landfill.

Mayor Williams briefed the Council on the progress of the Economi-cal Development Board. He told the members that he put the Articles of Incorporation together and sent it to City Attorney Tom Hamilton for review. Mr. Williams stated that the ery. This was seconded by Doyle board is close to being implemented. A water discrepancy on the monthly bill of Don and Colleen Council reviewed the contract Baxter was the next item on the agenda. After discussing this matter, Fred Parson motioned to refund the excess sewer charges only. James Meador seconded the motion. Vote was 4-1. Shane Jones voted against the refund. Mayor Williams briefed the Coun-cil on his meeting with the County Commissioners. He also informed the Council that the Wastewater Permit renewal had been mailed to Texas Natural Resources Conservation Commission. Water Superintendent Steve landfill is full. Mayor Williams discussed the forming and operations of a proposed Economic Development Board with Council members.

Council went into closed session at this time. After returning, meeting adjourned.

The Council met for their January meeting, Thursday, January 11, 2001. All council members, with the exception of Jim Watson, were present, in addition to Mayor Rodney Williams, Water Superintendent Steve Barton and City Secretary Linda Perryman.

Also attending the meeting was Lance Smith of USDA Rural Development.

Minutes from the December meeting were read and approved. Bills were approved to be paid. Mayor Williams presented the Council with a Resolution for the lease/purchase of a 1995 John Deere scraper from Yellowhouse Machinery in Lubbock. Council voted in favor of the resolution. Mayor Williams also presented a Resolution to join the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority. This is the firm that will design and oversee the Region O Water Plan. After reading and discussing the Resolution, DONKEY BASKETBALL — Sean Rose, left, a member of the Outsider's team, and Mrs. Judy Cooper, a member of the Faculty team, found it wasn't so easy to keep their donkey's going in the direction they needed, during last Saturday night's Motley County Donkey Basketball game, held at the school. The very successful event was sponsored as a fund-raiser by the Junior Class.

Motley County ISD to host Shattered Dreams program

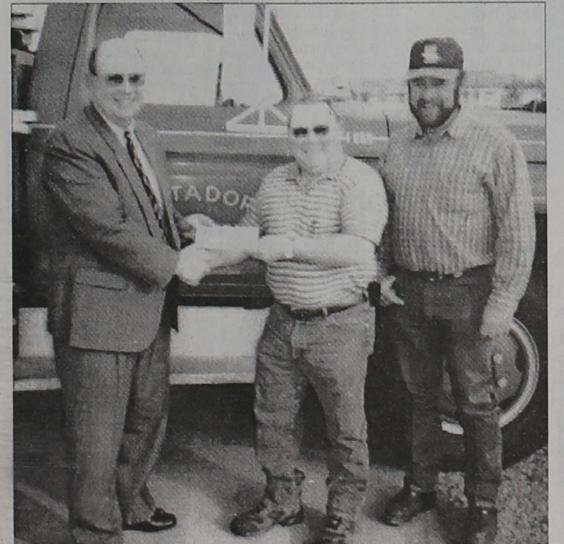

Motley County ISD will host a two-day school based program, "Shattered Dreams." The program, scheduled for May 1, promotes responsible decision making regarding drinking and driving by showing high school students how irresponsibility can end all dreams.

Program coordinator, Kelli Jackson, says, "Over a two-day period, the comprehensive program features a mock crash, mock booking, retreat and assembly." The program requires the active participation of students and parents, educators, and representatives from local law enforcement, local EMS, local fire department and many other segments of the community. The Motley County Tribune and News Channel 34 from Lubbock, will cover the event and the story.

The main activity is the dramatic re-enactment of an auto crash caused by a driver who is drinking. This simulated crash will involve varying degrees of injuries to those student-volunteers involved. Another principle activity is the symbolic trip that an adult volunteer, dressed as the grim reaper, makes every 15 minutes. The grim reaper will walk the halls to the sound of a beating heart and take one pre-selected student volunteer out of class. These student volunteers represent a drinking and driving death that statistically occurs. These students are thereafter known as the living dead.

An overnight leadership retreat for the student volunteers simulates, for the students and their families, the experience of being gone after a death. The next day an assembly is held featuring presentations by medical and law enforcement, school staff, parents and students.

The Shattered Dreams program requires approximately six months to plan and organize and utilizes 15 planning teams. Selected, participating seniors will receive scholarships. The program is being sponsored by the Motley County Hospital Board.

Costumes, set pieces needed for One-Act Play

Rehearsals for the Motley County ISD One-Act contest play are underway. "A Rose For Emily," based on a short story by William Faulkner, is set in the 1930's. The cast, crew and director are currently looking for furniture and accessories that might have been found in the upstairs sitting room of a Southern mansion. Internet research reveals that wicker furniture with padded seat cushions upholstered in dark prints was quite popular. Other styles popular were wooden chairs with padded seats, floor lamps and side tables. A invited to a banquet at First Baptist "love-seat" or two or more chairs Church, Matador, on Thursday, Febwould finish out the set nicely. In addition to furniture other speaker will be Debra Houchgraber, items that are needed include a corn Women's Ministries Consultant for sheller, wooden crates, an old trunk the Baptist General Convention of and period clothing. from Glenn Martin for current sanitation services. After discussing the contract, it was accepted.

Mayor Williams approached the Council about the Shattered Dreams program and suggested that a $200.00 scholarship be provided for the program. Council voted in favor of the scholarship.

Councilman Doyle Rose brought up the subject of building a Senior Citizen's Center in Matador. City Secretary Linda Perryman, was to contact Lance Smith with the USDA Barton informed the Council that the Rural Development in Lubbock to inquire about the possibility.

Council members reviewed the Treasurer's report.

Steve Barton gave the Water

council voted to approve. Lance Smith of the USDA Rural Development office in Lubbock spoke to the Council members about assisted living and nursing home possibilities in Matador. He gave pamphlets to the Council and spoke about the pros and cons of each project.

Mayor Williams gave reports on the Region O Water Plan, the Rolling Plains Special Education Building, the Production Credit Building, and the Rural Development and Grant Writing meetings to be held in Haskell this month.

El Progresso Club met January 11 for their first meeting of the new year. It was held in the Senior Citizens center with the president, Jeanne Adams calling the meeting to order. After the business of the club was transacted she introduced Lucretia (R.E.) Campbell who presented the program on Texas Wildlife, "The Jackalope" and other "harey" facts.

Mrs. Campbell explained that the jackrabbit, all whiskery and grizzled, looks like he could reach for a match from his vest, light his pipe, lean back and tell a few stories Jackrabbits just look that way. Mamma jackrabbit doesn't have time for tomfoolery while raising four or five families a year. A jackrabbit has a tough life. American Folklores, Tall Tales and Yarns, says of the feathered rabbit, that a farmer doing spring plowing dug up a nest of jack rabbits. He put them in his chicken coop. During the dry summer, the hungry chickens ate the fur off the rabbits and the rabbits began to sprout feathers.

Mrs. Campbell told other stories of folklore about the jackalope, before concluding that Douglas, Wyoming is the self-proclaimed capitol of the jackalope. Big Bend rangers keep a straight face when answering ques-tions of the jackalope. Mrs. Campbell said there is also information on the internet about the jackalope, at hhtp:// wwwbackpacker.com/article/ 0,2646,1202-p,00.html

Those attending and enjoying the program and refreshments in addition to Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Adams, were Dorothy Day, Billie Koon, Pearl Patten, Lou Walker, Grace Campbell Jo Ann Dickson, tion the whole painful, humiliating Penny Pipkin and Opal Pipkin.

The Thing Called Sin

Sin is disobedience to the Lord. "For sin is the transgression of the law." (I John 3:4). Simply put, SIN is wrong. Because of the hedonistic lifestyle in our society, many are losing the ability to determine what is right and what is wrong. Rather than accepting the responsibility for living the moral life as described in the Bible, society at large has sought to remove the Christian influence. The results are now seen in the growth of the abortionists, the pornographers, those who provide the filth and violence on television, the rap music which calls for the shooting of police and white people, and the promotion of homosexuality.

Moral issues that should have been settled by the Word of God are turned into political issues and are sought to be settled by a vote of the majority. Somehow it isn't being comprehended that to advocate "safe sex" sends the signal to our school children that immorality is acceptable so long as there is no harmful physical repercussions. As yourselves, "By what right do other people rob the respon-sibilities of parents and use some schools to teach against the values which parents have taught their children? A standard is emerging for our society which is seen in the acceptance of unmarried couples living together and homosexuals seeking a "legal right" to marry and rear up children. We stand in danger today as a nation because we are no longer able to determine what is right or wrong and have forgotten where to find the answer. Every nation in history that has rejoiced God in such matters, for any length of time, has been destroyed. How far are we from that point? No man knows. More individuals need to be learning and teaching what is the Word of God in the matter of morals and ethics. So that once more we might know what is right and what is wrong.

100 DAYS OF SCHOOL - The Motley County Pre-K class is pictured above with the calendar they have been keeping since the first day of school. Class members glued a penny to the calendar for each day of school. Last Thursday marked the 100th day of school, and Student Council members sponsored a 100th day celebration in honor of Pre-K students' efforts. Some of the students showed their talents with 100 basketball throws, 100 push-ups, dribbling the ball and using the student body to make up a 100-person chain. Pre-K teacher, Mrs. Barbara Parks, said, "This was a fun way to count to 100 in many different ways." Mrs. Witcher worked at the Library through the Green Thumb program, and states, "Through the Green Thumb program, working at the Motley County Library, I learned several new skills. I learned library tasks, computer skills, such as making a data base, and Internet access and us-age. I thank the Green Thumb for this opportunity." Librarian Suzanne Abbott, had this to say, "Georgia Witcher has faithfully served the Motley Ccunty Library from August of 1995 through January, 2001. Her help, hard work, and great creativity have been invaluable in the Library and at the events sponsored by the Library. She is the founder of the Motley County Genealogical and Historical Society and she is a member of the Friends of the Motley County Library. While I am pleased that she is using her skills the Motley County Library. While I am pleased that she is using her skills learned here at the Library to advance to a better job, I will truly miss her at the Library. I wish her well in her new job."

A Note of Thanks

We would like to thank everyone for their love and concern during our time of need. We appreciate the visits, phone calls, food and especially your prayers. May God Bless each of you.

Rickey & Naomi Lawrence

The Barton family would like to thank each and everyone of you for your thoughtfulness, your generosity, and never ending support. Over the years each time we have experienced a loss such as this you have, as a community, exceeded any possible expectation of support and love and kindness. Motley County is a place filled with such special people and we feel so blessed to be a part of it.

Joy for a celebration and dedication

by Lula Swim

I have been a member of the Roaring Springs Methodist Church for 70 years and Sunday was the most joyful day. We were so happy to have the Matador Methodist youth along with sponsors to attend our church Methodist church for attending, and service for the dedication of our new we had several from the Full Gospel fellowship hall.

Rev. Monte and Noma Wike ar-ranged such a wonderful dedication Rev. Wendell Horn, Pastor of Methservice. It was a pleasure to me to have our Bishop Max Whitefield here to dedicate our beautiful hall and it also was a pleasure to have our District Superintendent Henry Sally tiful the song "How Great Thou Art" here to introduce our Bishop.

Weldon Butler of Lubbock, former pastors, Rev. and Mrs. Douglas bountiful table of food. It was a joyful Gossett of Lubbock, Rev. and Mrs. Johnnie Williams of Lubbock. They grew up here and it was good to have tiful hall and to know it is paid for. God them come home.

It was so nice of the Roaring Springs Baptist Church to dismiss their church service and come help us to celebrate. Thanks to the Quitaque and Turkey Methodist Churches for dismissing their services and attending, the Matador church.

Longtime Motley County fireman, Don Warren, was honored as the 'Guest of Honor' at the annual Matador Fire Department Christ-mas Party, held in December. Mr. Warren was presented with a plaque expressing the department's appre-ciation for his 30 years of service. In that time, Don has served in almost all of the capacities of the department. For the last several years he has served as state certified Fire Marshall for the department and the County.

Matador VFD President, Craig Turner stated, "Mr. Warren will be greatly missed by everyone in the department."

Those attending the party enjoyed a delicious meal prepared by the ladies. A short review of the year's activities were presented by Rodney Williams, Fire Chief. Mr. Turner gave special thank you to all the wives for their support through-out the year and for their help with the Wildland Fire School.

Also recognized at the party and receiving awards were James Gillespie, Glenda and Rodney Will-iams for their endless support, dedi-cation and the numerous hours dedi-cation and the fine department. The Theman Spirit 'award was pre-sented to Craig Turner, and the "Fire-man of the Year" award was pre-sented to Fred Parson. Finally, the group was visited by Santa Clause who brought gifts for cated to the fire department. The "Here's Your Sign" award was pre-the young and for some who are young at heart.

Motley County Chamber

The Motley County Chamber of Commerce Board met for their first meeting of the new year, January 18. President Jeff Thacker called the meeting to order. Other board members attending were Rodney Will-iams, Sondra Francis, Brent Marshall, Brian Marshall, Marisue Potts and Richard Knowles, and office manager Barbara Armstrong. Board members Wilburn Martin, Dianne Washington and Pennie Pipkin were absent.

First item of business was to read and accept the letter of resignation from Wilburn Martin.

President Thacker informed the Board with his new job he would not longer be able to be on the board. There are four places on the board to fill at this time. A list of possible interested citizens was compiled and members were asked to contact them before the next meeting, which will be held February 1. It was decided at the next meeting new officers will be elected.

Dumont Darsey, creator of the Chamber's website, met with the Board to explain the problems he was having with the Website and CapRock Telephone Company. The Board agreed for Darsey to bring an itemized statement and they will change website companies. The past year's expenditures were reviewed and accepted with the cost-share from the Museum for the office salary and equipment still to be added.

Goals for the year were discussed. One of these goals is for new small businesses to come to Motley County or the expansion of existing businesses using the Enterprise Zone criteria for incentive.

The Chamber was informed that part of a computer has been given to the Chamber/Museum office. It is a

Today I'm at sea; I've lost my com- learned how traumatic it is to move a child pass. It may take some time to get it re- out of familiar surroundings. paired. However, I know where to seek help, and have gone there. There first hurdle was to learn to stay at home alone. When I stood on the porch in the gently falling snow and waved good-bye to Pat, Kathy, and Mike, I thought of the four things Pat had asked me to do for him. "First Mother, is to keep writing your column." The second was to please not make major decisions without first letting him know. That's easy, I'm really tired of mak-ing decisions. The third and fourth, I don't remember right now, but he carries a phone with him, so I can always ask. Kelly mornings while I was in class, and James Rollefson left Wednesday, via Dallas, as she lives in San Francisco, and flies out on campus. It was from her that I learned of San Bruno. Today I wanted to name Honorary Pallbearers, in addition to Masonic Brothers. But that would require mentioning all of Algie's acquaintances. Instead I hope to remember people who helped along the way so that we were blessed with sixtyfive wonderful years together. Bear wit me, because there is no way to evaluate on a scale of one to ten the blessings that come from friends. To be an honorary pallbearer, requires only that the friend does not actually bear the casket. Friends relieved us of that burden as well as many others. Algie always enjoyed being fetched to First Saturday Men's breakfasts at the various churches, and having Buzz Thacker, Corky Marshall, or J.N. Fletcher give him a ride to Lodge, especially at night when deer roam. It was longtime friends who took him to Crosbyton and on next helper that comes to mind. Margato Lubbock. Monte Watson helped him breathe until oxygen arrived And Corky stood by to help me follow to Lubbock. Milton's sonnet says, "he also serves who only stands and waits." Sunday morning found few on call; relatives were all in church. Since we first came to Roaring Springs, the Joe Glen Meredith family has answered many calls for help. Lula Swim is ever faithful, and seems to sense where there is a need. Cleo Watson is a constant inspiration. I think also of the personnel at Graham Supply and Bruce Lefevre who delivers the paper with such regularity. And we can depend on LaNita's and Alexander's friendly service. Others who have carried burdens too heavy for us are Joe Martinez who moves loads and runs the lawn mower since we gave out. And Jimmie Childers is a blessing to many women in the area and an inspiration to us all. We are indebted to others who have helped us earlier over rough spots. During World War II when Algie worked at the Army Base at Childress, I took a sudden notion to use the time he was away to return to college and complete requirements for a degree. That may account for Pat's saying when he left that he didn't want me to make any sudden decisions without consulting him. Walt Clower helped me store appliances, sell furniture that could later be replaced, and set out with James Truman 13; Pat, 4; and Mike, 2, to go back to college. My brother, Jack, had rented a Pueblo for us on the West Texas State College Campus. I remember how cool the Plains weather was compared to the heat below the Cap. We also learned the following winter that one could walk to class in 17-inchdeep snow, provided he could step high enough. At 4 p.m. the afternoon before registration Mike developed a fever accompanied by perspiration. Back to Dr. Stanley at Matador who always deserves honorable mention. He could find nothing ail-

little boys didn't have to have white shoes that needed polishing every night or starched and ironed shirts and overalls, so we changed to brown shoes and striped coveralls. It was she that learned when Mike was four that he picked out tunes on her piano; he didn't "just bank when he played." I also learned there that one doesn't just go out and find enough sand on the High Plains to make a sandbox for kids. We spent several days hunting in every arroyo or low spot, and finally brought home enough sand to be several inches deep in an 8 x 10 frame. The Pueblos were 'faculty row' so we had a sandbox full of kids all day. The Lord "works in mysterious ways his wonders to perform." Our college days as a neighbor to Nellie provided association with a lady of great character.

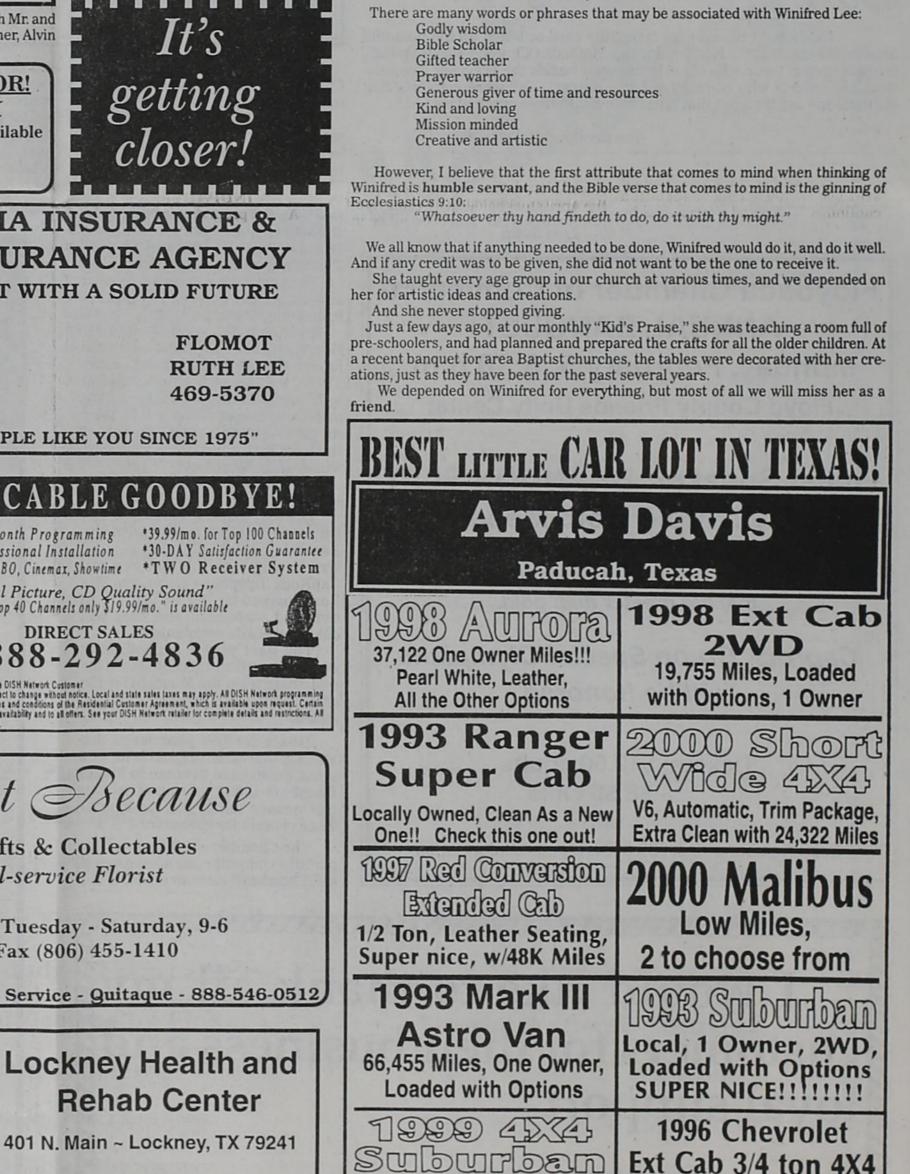

The experience brings us up to the ret Hamilton Cooper was a "lady." About the time she was teaching her grandson Robert Cooper that he might be allowed to use cuss words when out with the men, he would not use them in her house. She was a person I "looked up to" since early days in Roaring Springs, so when I reached my last semester, tired and "out of snuff" from taking a full college load, and found myself facing physics which was frightening enough without the emergence of the atomic bomb, I went to "Mag" Cooper for sympathy. She listened to my whining, then stated firmly, "Rita Groves, if you don't get yourself together and get on back to school, I'll never speak to you again!'

Elaine Hart came one of the first nights I had to stay by myself, and we cried and rejoiced alternately over cereal for supper. Boyce died at Methodist about a year ago. Friends do help. There is no way to call attention to all the people who make life good in this rural area which is one of the "endangered species." When I first saw this little town at dusk one evening on January 17, 1924, and saw the smoke rising lazily from the gins, as I sat in the front of the lead wagon, being drawn by old Ned and Tony toward my home on the land that just circles around the horizon northeast of town, nothing else has ever felt just the same. So Algie's and my gravesites were chosen years ago, so we cold look across Buzz Thacker's cotton patch to our land on the east. ************

Let's not forget Winifred Lee who died in Plainview, January 18. She was one of Matador's busiest citizens, a busy little lady that had been living in the country by herself on the 'home place,' since her husband, Edgar O. Lee, died in 1981. She was a devoted friend of the Library, and cheerfully went about her work in the First Baptist Church, also More about her, and our supportive friends later.

Unharvested factors for 2000 Crop Disaster program

Local lender announces board and staff changes authorized State FSA Committees to establish adjusted unharvested factors for limited number of crops that the production inputs vary significantly depending on the date that the crop is abandoned or destroyed. The Texas State FSA Committee established adjusted unharvested factors for cotton, grain sorghum and peanuts.

For cotton, if your final appraisal was performed prior to July 15, then your adjusted unharvested factor is 70% or a 30% reduction for unharvested acres. The unharvested factor for cotton whose final appraisal was performed after July 15 is 88% or a 12% reduction for unharvested acres.

For Grain Sorghum, if your final appraisal was performed prior to

MOTLEY COUNTY DISASTER CROP TABLE

Listed below are some of the crop yields and payment rates. You must have suffered a 35% loss of production to be eligible. For payment purposes, we will use the higher of the county average yield or your APH. A pilot program under way in 42 Texas Counties could help both agricultural producers and urban homeowners with the click of a camera. The program is called Texas Digital Diagnostics. It involves county Extension agents, the Internet, and a team of Extension specialists. When an agricultural producer or homeowner has problems with a crop or urban landscape, a county agent can go to the location, take a picture, and transmit the image back to diagnostic sites through-out the state. The specialist can send the evaluation back to the county agent who relays the information to the producer or homeowner. The program is free and may be offered statewide by late spring.

WILD COMPANION: WHEEL IDENTIFIES TEXAS WILDFLOWERS There's more to Texas wildflowers than just roadside beauty. Native Americans made tea from one Texas wildflower to strengthen their blood Another was once used to treat rattlesnake bites. These are some of the little-known facts about wildflowers featured in a Texas wildflower identification wheel produced by the Texas Agricultural Extension Ser-vice. The wheel was created to help people identify and learn more about the flowers they see along Texas highways. It features 16 photographs of the most common wildflowers in the state. Both the blossom and the seedling are pictured for each species to help gardeners. Visit agpublicaton.tamu.edu for order information.

TEXAS CATTLE PRODUCERS TURN TO SUPPLEMENTAL FEEDING

Due to cold, rainy weather, Texas cattle producers are turning to supplemental feeding more than in years past. Extension beef cattle specialist Stephen Hammack says muddy, saturated pastures and feedlots are adding to the problem, and the impact on cattle is low body con-dition. He says supplemental feeding is necessary so that cattle meet their nutritional requirements during a time of limited forage. Weight loss can lead to decreased milk production and lowered reproduction. However Hammack says cattle are currently rated fair to good, and the heavy rains could bring plentiful forage in the spring.
