PRICE SEVEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST
By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Gull's leathery wings keep flapping in my ears each time I admit to my conscience that I have broken faith with tradition of the cowboy. Riders in the glittering hills of Valhalla must share my shame like the burden of a friend's betrayal. I have ridden a new saddle designed for comfort; luxury. I have ridden on quilted leather upholstered on quilted rubber at points where a saddle can use a little comfort. Frankly, the experience was a revelation, and I am given to ponder the whims of destiny. Through the development of the automobile which made the horse obsolete, foam rubber was perfected, which in turn has made riding a horse bearable.

Some friends have a divine faculty of being available in that hour when they are most valuable. Much of the silt on the floor of memory's ancient sea has been deposited through the disintegration of frail little dreams that perished silently through the years. The scion of a Florida junk dealer has paid 7-million dollars in personal income taxes before he reached the age of 40. The internal revenue boys could well afford to provide him with a bodyguard, some free medical advice and tunnels under the streets he crosses. Details of the news item did not mention that he has recently been engaged in the cattle and cotton business in West Texas.

It should be said in fairness to our successors that their incendiary activities have been responsible for some of the bridge destruction behind us. Rare, indeed, is the man who has not thought of retreat and found the bridge in flames through the enterprise of those who followed him.

Character is tested for its tensile strength when a deserved rebuke can be assimilated without rancor. Printshops are like hospitals where pressmen serve as obstetricians at the birth of silent words. Their concern is not with parentage or destiny but the duty of a vital moment.

Abolishment of segregation can be accomplished by either of two methods: force or the changed thinking of a nation. It is impossible for the masses to embrace a new doctrine except through an inspired leader or patient teaching. One evidence of culture is indicated by the amount of time a man is willing to devote in the service of his friends.

Keeping up with the Jones' is complicated by a condition which too often finds us traveling in the opposite direction.

Election To Name Soil Board Member
Subdivision Number One of the Upper Pease Soil Conservation District, Tuesday (October 5) will elect a member to serve on the board of supervisors, according to an announcement made this week. The election will be held in this District Court room at 2 P.M.

Subdivision Number One includes all land within the boundaries of Motley county west of Texas Highway 70. Those qualified to vote include all "natural" persons holding title to farm or ranch lands within the area, who have obtained the age of 21 years and are residents of Motley county. Varner McWilliams of Whitfield is the present supervisor.

Shortage of Pickers in County

A once-familiar and welcome request is being made by Motley county farmers. The county has a shortage of cotton pickers. Judge Vance Gilbreath said yesterday he had made an appeal to the Texas Employment commission and estimated that 600 pickers are needed. He said that the cotton in this area is the first migrant pickers find between Corpus Christi and the irrigated Plains. The Plains cotton, however, is hardly ready for harvest. Judge Gilbreath pointed out that the need for pickers will be short-lived unless rainy weather should slow down the harvest. "We are issuing some surplus commodities," he declared, "but we do not release any commodities to people who are able to work. Anyone able to work can find employment."

Gins Are Humming
The county's seven gins are humming. No survey has been made of the amount ginned to date, while one Roaring Springs ginner said yesterday he had processed 135 bales. One Matador gin has run 60 bales through the plant. At present cotton (including seed) is bringing approximately $200 per bale. Due to the continued drought condition, fields are white in almost all county areas. The crop will be short and it is impossible to make a reliable estimate. One Matador ginner yesterday said he believed the county might produce between 8 and 10,000 bales. Altho rain is badly needed in the area, farmers declare that wind and rain would damage the cotton ready for harvest.

Cover Crop Program Scheduled

Despite the continued drought conditions the ASC county committee has readied a cover crop program which will assist farmers in the cost of planting rye, oats and barley, separately or with vetch or Austrian winter peas. The committee announces that federal aid may amount to 80% of the cost of seed and fertilizer (where fertilizer is needed in sandy soil). Rates on legume and grain mixture and fertilizer may be obtained at the ASC office. The crop must be seeded before November 30.

Grazing consistent with good management is permitted, as is the harvest of hay, but crop or stubble must be left on the land until the time seed is normally sown. The crop must not be formed. The crop must not be harvested for grain or seed. Application for the program is made through County Office Manager Tommy Moore. Commenting on the program, James Priddy declared, "we are aware of the need for a cover crop during winter and early spring. I feel this program affords an opportunity for sowing small grain cover on some of our diverted acreage now in grain and sorghum. The cash outlay will be small considering the possible limited grazing, which will be governed by moisture conditions."

Value of present grain sorghum stubble is cited. Farmers are urged to leave as much stubble as possible, with tillage (where needed) being confined to middles. Members of the county ASC committee are Deimont Hays, Ben Edwards and Loyd Stafford.

TO COTTON BOWL
Four Matador businessmen will leave tomorrow for Dallas to attend the Cotton Bowl game between SMU and Georgia Tech. Those making the trip are Elmer Stearns, Doug Pitts, Henry Ford and Mitch Glenn.

Matadors Subdue Buffaloes, 40-13

A stampede of outclassed and outplayed Buffaloes from Petersburg here Friday night dropped the scoring honors to the Matador Matadors, 40-13 in what became a football fiesta. Halfback Dean Martin scored five of the Matadors' touchdowns. Martin scored four times against the Class A team in the first quarter and once in the fourth. His five touchdown runs were for 53 yards, 21 yards, 11 yards, 16 yards and 26 yards. The sixth Matador touchdown was scored by Fullback Arvin Ellithorp, who took the ball down field for several long runs and then went across the goal line from the half yard marker. Captain Stanley McDonough made four of the six conversion tries for the Matadors. Fullback Jackie Young made both of the Petersburg touchdowns, one in the second quarter on a 51-yard run and the second in the third quarter on a 23-yard play. Tackles Richard Bearden and Steve Trowbridge were outstanding linemen for Petersburg and Tackle James Taylor and End Garland Cartwright stood out for the home team. Matadors scored 13 first downs to six for the Buffs. The Matadors are scheduled to meet Vernon B team on Burleson Field tonight. Fans are assured of ample excitement as the Matadors fight to continue their winning streak.

'JACKETS, RANGERS CLASH SCHEDULED

Another six-man football classic is scheduled at Patton Springs Friday night when the Roaring Springs Yellowjackets invade the Rangers' home field. The conference game is expected to attract record attendance. Last week (Saturday night) the 'Jackets took the low end of the score in a tussel with the Oklahoma Cardinals, 31-26. The score happy Cardinals have won every thing to date on their 1954 schedule. They slapped Gore back for 48-6 and trampled Benjamin for 33-6. Bill Beebe, a Cardinal star, picked up a 'Jacket fumble on the midfield stripe and raced to the end zone untouched during the opening minute of the game. Playing on their own field, the Cardinals chalked up another td in the first quarter with a 30-yard pass. Charlie Long brought the 'Jackets to the scoring side with a 20-yard end run. Bob Stafford scored on a 20-yard run and then returned down field to intercept a pass and run it back to the Cardinals 20-yd. line. In the next play he carried the ball to pay dirt. In another series of plays the 'Jackets took over on the five-yard line and Big Bill Woodin (205-pound back) smashed through the line. The 'Jackets threatened again but time ran out. The 'Jackets might have also made a better showing had it been possible for their pep squad to make the trip.

He is in the U. S. Air Force. Mrs. Cotran will be remembered as Elizabeth Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Green of Roaring Springs, with whom she and Ronny have been making their home. Mr. and Mrs. Green accompanied their daughter and grandson as far as Oklahoma City, where they visited relatives a few days before returning home.

2nd Count Cuts Lint Estimates

Continued dry weather has lowered earlier production estimates on tests of eight varieties of cotton conducted throughout Motley county by ginners and farmers. County Agent Bill Palmeyer said the second test revised the yield estimates of lint cotton from 20 to 50 pounds under the earlier estimate. "The reduced estimates have resulted because of dry weather," Palmeyer declared, "which prevented the young bolls from developing." Deltapine variety continues to show the top production with an average of 221 pounds of lint per acre. Following close is Half & Half with 219 pounds. Northern Star is in third place with 202 pounds. Other varieties are estimated as follows: Marvel S. Cluster 171 pounds, Lankart 57 with 140 pounds, Lockett 1 with 139 lbs., Lockett 140 with 137 pounds and Stormmaster with 134 pounds. Individual yields ranged from 63 to 312 pounds per acre. Object of the tests is to determine the most suitable (and profitable) variety for Motley county's conditions.

Judge Charges Benson With Harming Farmers

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has done more to harm the position of the nation's farmers than any other man in high office according to District Judge Alton B. Chapman of Floydada. The charge was made Monday night during a meeting of the Motley-Dickens County Farmers Union local at Roaring Springs Old Settlers pavilion. Chapman said Benson had hurt the farmer by causing the people of the cities to believe the agriculture producers were receiving fat subsidies while they were forced to pay high prices for food and fiber products. He told his audience that the congressmen representing the cities were in favor of 90% subsidy but that their constituents forced them to vote against it.

Community Singing Planned By Group

A movement to start a community "sing-song" is underway and an invitation is extended to everyone in the community (or county) interested in meeting together regularly for the purpose of enjoying an hour or so of singing, to join the group. First meeting is scheduled for Sunday, (Oct. 3) at 3 p. m. at the American Legion building, to discuss the feasibility of the plan. Organization of such a group would in no way conflict or take the place of the Motley County Singing Convention which is held semi-annually. It was announced that a group of local citizens, interested in singing, wish to get together regularly for an old-fashioned community sing-song, and others with a similar interest are welcomed.

Workers Named For 3rd County Survey

American Life Influenced By Clubwomen El Progreso Members Are Told By Guest

Clubwomen exert a definite influence on American life of today, according to Mrs. H. P. Mundy of Shamrock, President of 7th District Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, speaking Thursday before El Progreso Study Club.

First meeting of the club year for the organization was held in the home of Mrs. R. E. Campbell, Jr., and was designated as "President's Day." Following a brief business session with Mrs. L. B. Campbell presiding, she then delivered her "President's Welcome."

A poem of dedication to the late Mrs. L. C. (Jewel) Harp was read by Mrs. G. E. Hamilton. Selected music was provided by "The Harmonists," a group of high school girls; Sue McCaghen, Raynita Dunning, Betty Neighbors, Alice Faye Martin and Christine Green.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. U. L. Wilie.

Purposes Of Club Work
In introductory remarks Mrs. Mundy declared her pleasure at being in Matador because of its history and ranches. She then outlined the purpose and phases of club work, stressing the educational value to the members. She compared the status of women as of 80 years ago with the present era and reviewed the history of club federation.

"Through the years the basic purposes of clubwork haven't changed," she declared. "To enrich our lives through the study of fine art. A man should have a little music, read a little poetry or view a pretty picture each day, so the finer things of life won't be obliterated by his every day affairs. Club work teaches us that education goes on—adult education never stops."

Mrs. Mundy cited religion and youth conservation as other functions of club work and stressed home life. "Home is our bulwark of the American way of life—you are the light of the world," she concluded.

Tea Is Served
At the conclusion of the program, a tea was in progress, with the president, Mrs. Campbell, presiding at the silver service.

Table decorations and appointments blended with the Japanese decor of the home.

A pair of Japanese umbrellas, driftwood and figurines were used for a centerpiece, and miniature umbrellas for favors, dotted the table. Fortune tea cakes were served with oriental spiced tea, and lending atmosphere to the setting were several hanging lanterns.

Pied Pinions

BY MRS. J. M.

"Say nothing, do nothing, be nothing, and you shall escape all criticism."

Although she won't be 3 years old until the 12th of November, Laura Jacobs has a working knowledge of hotels and motels, having accompanied her parents on all their trips, business and pleasure, since her birth. Recently, returning home from the Roaring Springs swimming pool in company with her mother and an assortment of aunts and cousins, she spied the hotel as they drove through the town of Roaring Springs. She immediately advised the company to halt and make reservations so they would have a place to stay during Old Settlers.

We're reasonably sure all the El Progresso members were resplendent in new fall attire when the club met last week to open the current study year. The meeting day being Thursday, it is rarely possible for us to attend a meeting, so we didn't have the pleasure of seeing all the women. We had a pre-meeting glimpse of the president, Vivian (Mrs. L. B.) Campbell, however, and she really looked stunning. She wore a sheath-and-jacket costume of white flannel, with white satin piping, and brilliant sprinkled about the dress yoke. Her accessories were black, and she wore a wide-brimmed hat of black velvet. Vivian has a figure that just naturally does things for clothes, anyway.

Signs-of-the-Season: Groups of people—some in chairs—arranged before the TV set at Household Supply, watching the starting of the World Series... school-chums in groups of two and three strolling home in mid-afternoon... little boys on their bicycles, stopping traffic in the middle of the street... gin fever, worse than spring fever, which accompanies Indian Summer... sultry, smoky days... cover-demanding nights... some wishing it would rain... and others hoping it doesn't.

Lots of hustle and bustle going on about town as various committees shape up plans and arrangements for Matador's Homecoming of ex-students and teachers. Invitation committee has been especially busy, compiling lists and addresses of former residents who attended the local schools. They hope for a big response.
