MAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

My radio sifted out the darkness and the past, a Hawaiian melody that long been buried like crisp yellowed rose petals in the smiling blond girl who that night opened her summer with the song of a moment. A shaft of light on her hair and the gleam in her laughter. She had guessed then, but she had never remembered now, a gentle smile that I loved her. Time crushed the crystal of tortoise shell and with salt, cured and in my heart. Age, a silent, sinister laughter where beyond the haze of cigarette smoke, is pleased his clowning prisoner.

BAPTIST CHURCH ENLARGES SPACE BY NEW BALCONY

Work Started Tuesday is Rushed To Completion to Give Additional Church Room.

As a result of a movement started last Sunday after the morning services by R. E. Campbell, Sunday School Superintendent of the First Baptist Church here, work was started Tuesday on a new balcony to extend across the back of the main room of the present building to more comfortably accommodate the attendance. Subscription and the personal labor of members made it possible to begin work on the improvement immediately. The balcony will provide additional Sunday School quarters and also increase the seating capacity of the church. The large, unused church bell stationed on a scaffold near the entrance of the building has been removed as a hazard because of the weakened condition of the supports. The balcony and improvement will be completed in time for Sunday services.

Actor On Tribune Staff In Picture At Rogue Theatre

Special Hollywood Correspondent Is Featured in Cast of "Thirty Day Princess."

Adolph Faylauer, motion picture character actor, who is special Hollywood correspondent for the Matador Tribune, was recognized by a number of Matador friends last Sunday and Monday as a featured member of the supporting cast in the production "Thirty Day Princess," shown at the local Rogue Theatre. Mr. Faylauer has visited this city on two different occasions. Writing under the pen name of Marshall Fiske, Mr. Faylauer's column, "Hollywood," has created wide interest among readers of the newspaper, which boasts of being the only special Hollywood correspondent. It is doubtful if but few people connected with the motion picture industry have appeared in as many different productions as Mr. Faylauer. He has done freelance work consistently in various productions for the past eleven years. His wide acquaintance at the studios and his keen insight for the interesting in the lives of celebrities have added to the popularity of his writings.

SHERIFF 'SHOOTS UP' STORE WHEN NEW GUN HANGS

Sheriff J. E. Skinner literally 'shot up' the Matador Hardware and Furniture Co. store yesterday morning when an automatic pistol which he had just purchased, failed to function properly after it had been loaded, and discharged six bullets in the building. Sheriff Donovan, a bystander, was slightly injured above the ankle by one of the bullets. Two radios, a table, and a show case were also struck. The last of the seven cartridges placed in the gun jammed and failed to fire. To test the pistol later, Sheriff Skinner drove to the edge of town and again loaded it, which resulted in the entire seven shots being fired with the rapidity of a machine gun.

Bankhead Law IS DEFENDED BY ALEXANDER

Childs Representative Declares Farmers are Behind Measure; Telegram Sent from Matador.

The Bankhead cotton production control law was both viciously attacked and sturdily defended in the Texas House of Representatives Monday. Representative T. H. McGregor of Austin, author of a resolution requesting the United States Attorney General to file suit to invalidate the law, asserted the law "was the most vicious piece of legislation ever crystallized into law in the history of this government."

Two Walk Out In Jail Delivery Here Tuesday

Shibley Cousins Bolt To Freedom While Awaiting Return to Penitentiary.

Bud and Max Shibley, cousins, walked to freedom from the Motley county jail here Tuesday evening at dark, after Bud Shibley, a trusty, had secured the keys from a negro fire cook on claim of authority from Jailer A. A. Tipton and opened the cell door in the Allred, another prisoner in the jail, refused to participate in the walk-out. First alarm of the escape was started by Burrell Tipton, son of the jailer, who, on returning home, met the two men at the yard gate, recognizing the trusty, to whom he spoke, but on account of darkness, did not recognize his companion. Neither of the men answered him. Mentioning the incident to his mother on entering the building, the discovery was made. Jailer Tipton, who had just been talking with Shibley, was attending to evening chores when notified. Deputy Sheriff Jack Robinson was located on the telephone and an immediate search started. The two men, last seen were running toward the east edge of town. Window Bars Sawed. Bars in the jail window had been sawed, supposedly by saw blades furnished by the trusty, and, according to the remaining prisoner, other plans had been made to escape through the opening in case the walk-out plan failed. The two Shibley boys had been brought here from the state penitentiary to stand trial on charges of theft of clothing from Vance Gilbreath, last year. They were awaiting the arrival to return them to the state institution.

Interest in the local team has reached a high pitch and the attendance Friday is expected to be large. A moderate admittance of 15c and 25c will be charged for the game. Gus Bird and Dick Davis have been employed as officials.

NO VIOLENCE IN ESCAPE

There was no violence in the escape of the two men. Bud Shibley, the trusty, with some tobacco in his hand, told the negro girl that Jailer Tipton had said for her to give him the keys to deliver the tobacco, and, although he had not been allowed the keys before, she followed his instructions and paid no attention to the two leaving. Peace officers were notified in adjoining counties but until late last night no information regarding the two men had been received.

"THERE IS GLORY ENOUGH FOR ANY MAN TO LIVE AND DIE A TEXAN."

Hollywood

By
MARSHALL FISCHE
(Special Hollywood Correspondent
To
The Tribune)

Dashiell Hammett's greatest mystery novel, "Thin Man," has finally reached the screen. William Powell plays the part of investigator—although he thought he had permanently retired from the sleuthing business to devote all his time to drinking. Myrna Loy plays the part of his wife. Then as the picture is unfurled before your eyes, this one and then that one, you suspect of the soul murder. Finally the master mind invites all the suspects to dinner and then the guilty one is apprehended. Now it all depends whether or not you care for this type of picture, the puzzling and mystifying. To some it will bore them to death, to those who are not interested enough in trying to solve rebuses, to others it will be most enjoyable for that very reason. At any rate the picture will linger in your memory long after you have seen it, so well it has been directed and presented. I dare say the great majority will like it immensely.

The old saying "accidents will happen" was verified recently, when during the filming of Joe E. Brown's latest picture, "Six Day Bicycle Race," many were injured. The camera man, in order to photograph this stirring scene was seated on the rear end of a motorcycle that was some distance in advance of the spectators. A wheel of one of the bicycles collapsed. In a moment men and bicycles were piled up in a whirling confusion. Up to this writing there have been no casualties, although many were very painfully and some very seriously injured.

During the filming of a comic short, "Donkey Baseball," one of the fiders was thrown by his donkey in such a manner as to break the unfortunate man's back.

In Russia, in former times, a young and beautiful girl was thrown into the excavations of a forthcoming edifice and left there to perish. This was to insure the success of the building in case of its being destroyed by a great evil. This may mean that the above mentioned pictures may prove to be very successful and the money-makers. But the interest was concerned may have an entirely different view on this subject.

ropolitan Grand Opera singer, started something when she introduced excerpts from "Carmen" and "Butterfly" in her latest picture "Night of Love," directed by Victor Schertzinger. In "Enter Madame," the second scene of La Tosca is shown. Elissa Landi playing the Opera Singer and Bonelli, the famous opera star, playing the role of Scarpia. In the box sits Gary Cooper and his light of love, Sharon Lynn, watching the performance. Scarpia is murdered and his body is stretched out on the floor, two candles are placed at his head and a crucifix placed on his body. La Tosca's dress, its long train catches afire, Cooper from his box sees it and jumps on the stage and stamps out the flames. Just at this moment the stage curtain is rung down and hits Cooper on the head—you will see the continuation of that scene when "Enter Madame" comes your way. No doubt, from now on, a treat is in store for music lovers who have not been able to witness Grand Opera, as I think many excerpts, nay, whole operas will appear on the screen.

The other day I saw Ramon Navarro with a large group of his relatives visiting the Huntington Library and Art Gallery at San Marino, a suburb of Pasadena. This estate of the late Henry E. Huntington should be visited by all tourists who come to Southern California, who care anything at all for the finer things of life. When space permits I shall tell you in more detail of the beauties of this place. Suffice it to say that two large buildings stand in about two hundred acres of ground. One houses rare first editions, original manuscripts, letters of famous prominent people, as well as French staturary, Gobelins, tapestries, ormolu, adorned inlaid furniture, and paintings of the Italian and Flemish primitives, carved chests, bronze statuettes, etc. While the palatial home of the late railroad and traction magnate, Henry E. Huntington, contain a superb collection of British portrait and landscape artists, Gainsborough, Reynolds, Raeburn, Turner, etc. Here you will see the world-famous "Blue-Boy" by Gainsborough, "Pinkey," "Sarah Siddons as the Tragic Muse" and many others and as for the grounds, they alone justify a visit to this place. The Cactus Garden, the Rose Garden, the Japanese Garden, the Court of the Roman Fountain, recalling faintly the Tapis verte of Versailles, and the magnificent marble temple shielding the sarcophagi bearing the remains of Mr. Huntington and his wife. This temple has a wonderful approach to it. It stands on a rising knoll overlooking orange groves laden with their golden fruit. The white marble Ionic columns bearing the mosaic lined cupolo, the delicate and superb bas-reliefs on the marble panels must be seen to be appreciated.

After we leave these beautiful grounds and again become an iota in the teeming milling hordes, it seems as if we had left a world of calm, peace and beauty behind us, confined there on the premises of the Huntington estate. It is a cultural treat and one of rare beauty that no one can afford to miss who comes to Southern California.

Government Audits Cattle Purchasing

AUSTIN, Sept. 17.—The federal government's cattle buying program in Texas was halted abruptly Tuesday, it was announced today by C. Z. Crain, head of the commodities distribution department of the Texas Relief commission.

Crain said he was informed of the action in a telegram from George W. Barnes, representative of the Agricultural Adjustment administration at College Station. Cattle have been bought by Agricultural Adjustment administrators over to Texas Relief commission county administrators, who, as representatives of the Federal Surplus Relief corporation have been responsible for shipment of the livestock from concentration points out of the state and to processing plants in the state.

The wire explained that the order was issued to permit AAA officials at Washington to make an audit of all operations. It did not say when the program will be resumed.

Crain hastened to assure ranchmen that all cattle bought by AAA representatives will be re-purchased by the Federal Relief corporation, even though they may not reach government pens for several days. He estimated that perhaps 20,000 head will be so received. These will not be shipped out of state but will be processed for canning in Texas plants. With approximately 2,000,000 pounds of boned meat on storage at Fort Worth and San Antonio, it was believed the 19 government plants in Texas can be kept busy until buying is resumed. There are some 8,000 persons employed at these plants and, with cattle distributed in the fresh meat program, the state itself is able to consume some 3250 head per day.

Crain estimated that between 800,000 and 1,000,000 head of cattle have been bought and that the government has expended approximately $25,000,000 in the program in Texas.

PROSPECT FOR BIG COTTON INCREASES IN EGYPT FADE

Foreign cotton competition is not a threat now to America since the AAA cotton programs started. For more than 40 years foreign countries have been increasing their share in the world's production. Big American cotton crops during that time did not stop the growth of foreign cotton competition, but they did periodically depress the South. Will this foreign competition grow by leaps and bounds now that America has gone in for temperance in cotton production? Or are there other factors which will finally limit the extent to which these countries may expand cotton acreage?

It has been seen in previous articles in this series prepared by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration that India is limited in future big expansion by her need of land for food crops. Egypt is another great competitor worth studying.

Egypt has grown cotton since the time of Pharaohs, yet the largest acreage in any one year was 2,160,000 acres. This is probably just about the limit to the cotton acreage because the country still depends to a large degree upon its local food supply. The acreage in 1933 was 1,877,000 acres, or nearly one-third of Egypt's farm land. The cotton acreage this year is reported less than last. Egyptian cotton is irrigated and yields an average of 400 pounds per acre.

As in India, there is a food supply problem in Egypt. Population averages more than 1000 persons per square mile, or as Americans would say, per section of land. Population is growing at the rate of 200,000 to 300,000 persons per year. This increase will in the long run require for food all the additional land which may be reclaimed.

The price of cotton in 1933-34 in Egypt in terms of Egyptian money (and that is what influences farmers) was from 2% to 21% below the prices of 1932 during the picking season. As in India, it is again seen that high cotton prices in America do not always mean high prices for foreign producers in terms of their own money. There is little incentive to the Egyptian farmer to increase cotton acreage at present. The decline in 1934 plantings bears this out.

Any permanent increase in Egyptian cotton acreage above the all-time high of 2,160,000 acres must involve reclaiming a part of the two million acres of waste land in the country. This reclamation is estimated to cost more than 200 million dollars, which is a large sum of money for a small country.

England has tried hard to promote cotton growing in the largely desert Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. Expensive government efforts have resulted in raising the cotton area from 31,000 acres in 1911 to 325,000 in 1932. The Sudan is a new country with a population of less than six million Arabs and primitive tribesmen. They much prefer to live their own way, caring little or nothing for the ways of the white man. Cotton growing among them has been developed by government compulsion. In most of this country cotton has brought the first real money the natives have ever seen. Since they have little remedy for the government has resorted to a poll tax of about $1 per head which must be paid in more cotton than is needed to get the money to pay the poll tax.

Cotton yields in the irrigated districts of the Sudan (little is grown elsewhere) have gone above 300 pounds per acre, but the cost to the government and the subsidized British companies has been great. In 1932 disease called leaf curl yielded to 135 pounds per acre. The remedy has yet been found for this disease. The British companies, once very confident about future cotton growing in the Sudan, are now less

We hope boys will help us to spread the good news by telling their friends."

Along with the cut in cost, the magazine's publishers are planning a magazine that will continue to set the pace in fiction, the articles and departments. The favorite characters of millions of boys will parade through THE AMERICAN BOY in new stories. The red-and-gold collie, Bonehead, Jim Tierney, the detective, will give the reader many exciting hours in the months to come. TUBERCULARS GET AID
AUSTIN, Sept. 19.—Hospitalization of tuberculars on relief rolls, provided for to the extent of more than $100,000 by act of the legislature, has progressed at such a slow rate that county administrators have been instructed to advise the state office why more applications for hospitalization have not been received throughout the state.

Mrs. Val M. Keating, social service consultant, declared she was sure there are many in need of this care. She emphasized, however, that only relief roll clients afflicted with incipient tuberculosis are eligible to apply for this care.

Although state sanatoriums are crowded, arrangements have been made to care for indigent tuberculars in private sanatoriums, Mrs. Keating said.

Largest Italian Family Sees Fair

It took a wash-tub of spaghetti to feed Mr. and Mrs. Mike Latorra and their nineteen children, who, after a nationwide search, were selected as the largest and healthiest Italian family in the United States and were given a trip to the Fair by the Italian Village. The Fair closes forever October 31.

Fair Indian Art

MOVIE CHATTER

By A. Rogue

Comes another Ken Maynard western to the Rogue this week. It seems as though we are running old Ken as a whole lot lately, but these westerns are getting just plenty hard to get, and when you do get them Ken himself is pretty hard to beat. There was a Metro-Goldwyn-

Mayer salesman here the other day and I managed to buy a few pictures from him, and these pictures are really the cream of Metro's crop, including: "Her Sweetheart," "Treasure Island," "Viva Villa," "Dancing Lady," "Night Flight," "The Prizefighter and the Lady," "Manhattan Melodrama," "Girl From Missouri" and several others of a like character. These are all pictures that the public has been wanting to see, so here they are. Watch for their dates.

Sunday and Monday we have a brand new Paramount (the best show in town—in fact its the only one) entitled "Melody in Spring," with an all star cast, including Lanny Ross, Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland and Ann Sothern. Now believe you me this is going to be a fair little picture; there's plenty of music, songs and wise-cracks in this production. There's bound to be humor in it when that Charles Ruggles and Mary Boland get together, and plenty of music when Lanny Ross and Ann Sothern creep up in front of the microphone. Don't miss this little picture, it will please.

PRICKLY-PEAR PLANTS TO BE USED AS FORAGE

AUSTIN, Sept. 19.—The wide cactus-covered expanses known to the Southwest Texas ranchmen as pear flats may be invaded this winter by relief roll clients seeking sustenance for drouth-stricken livestock.

The prickly pear, rid of its small sharp stickers, is a choice bit of vegetation upon which ranchmen have been known to fatten their herds during winter for many years.

Relief commission officials are considering a plan whereby an army of relief roll clients will go into the flats with pear burning machines, singe the stickers from the plants, and make the pears safe for consumption by the hungry herds.

Meanwhile, officials are seeking thousands of acres of pasture for cattle in acute need, most of them in the extreme western part of the state. Federal Surplus Relief corporation has urged that up to 200,000 head of cattle be pastured but it is doubtful that sufficient acreage for that number can be found in the state, according to C. Z. Crain, head of the surplus commodities department, in charge of the cattle program.

"I want it made clear," Crain said, "that the Relief Commission will not go into competition with the ranchmen in the matter of leasing land. If there is available sufficient pasture at a price we know to be right, we will take it, but if owners begin to raise prices in anticipation of competition between the government and the private livestock owner, we also seeking pasture, then we will get out of this program."

Many counties have been reluctant to offer pasture because they are in the emergency drouth classification and fear they will lose such designation if land is leased for grazing purposes within their borders.

Crain explained that leasing for pastures will in no case have any bearing on the county's drouth classification.

The leasing program also has been made difficult because of lack of grass in North and West Texas. Although there is some grass in South and West Texas, tick quarantine covering many counties will prevent movement of cattle into much of that area.

LARGE VARIETY OFFERED IN STATE FAIR SHOW

DALLAS, September 18.—Girls, grand opera, slapstick comedy, wild animal thrillers, gorgeousness and color, splendor, and a great variety of entertainment is offered in "The Show of a Century," the musical extravaganza booked in the auditorium at the 1934 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 6 to 21, it has been announced here by Otto Herold, president of the exposition.

Modelled upon successful revues, with stars from all parts of the show world, no expense has been spared by Mike H. Barnes, of Chicago the producer of "The Show of a Century," in building his production, and his efforts have been rewarded by the most favorable notices in Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Des Moines and other cities where the huge production has been produced.

Never before in the history of the show world has such stars as Manuel Kink, Enrico Clauso, the Hudson Wonders, the Seven Walkers, Lottie Mayers, the Alanoff Dancers, Willie West and McGintie, Bill Anderson, Florence Tennyson and others been offered to the theatrical world at the extremely popular prices which will prevail in the auditorium at both the matinee and night performances which will be presented daily throughout the 16 day fair.

STATE LEASES GRASS

AUSTIN, Sept. 18.—Nearly 100,000 acres of grazing land for drouth stricken cattle have been leased by R. L. Montgomery, Texas Relief commission representative of the federal Surplus Relief corporation, he announced today.

The land will graze 10,600 head of cattle and was leased at the rate of 50 cents per head, Montgomery said. Government leases
