Fate of Farmer In Shadow of Poverty Without Fair Play

The following letter was received today by W. I. Rushing, chairman, Motley County Farm Association. To the County Agricultural Association, Matador, Texas.

Dear Sirs:
The Supreme Court has destroyed the only real program the farmer ever had.

Are farmers going to take it lying down?
Are farmers going to tolerate industrial protection without any protection to themselves?

Will farmers sit idly by and watch prices gradually slump back to those of 1932?

Farmers are on the spot. Farmers can't expect the Government, however friendly to their interests, to supply another program without help.

Criticising the Supreme Court won't help matters. However mistaken you may think the decision it will stand.

Out of the ruin of AAA a new program to give the farmer justice can and will be built, if farmers demand it.

Unless farmers write from North and South and East and West in the determination to secure the blessings of fair play guaranteed by the Constitution, they can count on nothing except a gradual decline into poverty.

These are the sentiments of all farmers who journeyed to Washington to attend the farm conference called January 10 and 11 by Secretary Wallace. That conference adopted a farm platform giving the broad principles on which a new program can be built. For the first time in history every farm organization agreed on such a platform. The Texas farmers sent by the Texas Agricultural Association and Texas Cooperative Council stand solid on this platform. It was approved in general by economists and lawyers. This platform is to be the guide to Congress and the AAA in building a new program.

There are seven points in this platform. Here they are:

1. That the Secretary of Agriculture be empowered by the Congress of the United States to provide for the rental and withdrawal from commercial crop production, at equitable rates, of such land as may be necessary to promote the conservation of soil fertility and to bring about a profitable balance of domestic production with the total effective demand at profitable prices.

2. That the Secretary of Agriculture be empowered by the Congress of the United States to provide for the rental and withdrawal from commercial crop production, at equitable rates, of such land as may be necessary to promote the conservation of soil fertility and to bring about a profitable balance of domestic production with the total effective demand at profitable prices.

3. That the Secretary of Agriculture be empowered by the Congress of the United States to provide for the rental and withdrawal from commercial crop production, at equitable rates, of such land as may be necessary to promote the conservation of soil fertility and to bring about a profitable balance of domestic production with the total effective demand at profitable prices.

4. That the Secretary of Agriculture be empowered by the Congress of the United States to provide for the rental and withdrawal from commercial crop production, at equitable rates, of such land as may be necessary to promote the conservation of soil fertility and to bring about a profitable balance of domestic production with the total effective demand at profitable prices.

5. That the Secretary of Agriculture be empowered by the Congress of the United States to provide for the rental and withdrawal from commercial crop production, at equitable rates, of such land as may be necessary to promote the conservation of soil fertility and to bring about a profitable balance of domestic production with the total effective demand at profitable prices.

6. That the Secretary of Agriculture be empowered by the Congress of the United States to provide for the rental and withdrawal from commercial crop production, at equitable rates, of such land as may be necessary to promote the conservation of soil fertility and to bring about a profitable balance of domestic production with the total effective demand at profitable prices.

7. That the Secretary of Agriculture be empowered by the Congress of the United States to provide for the rental and withdrawal from commercial crop production, at equitable rates, of such land as may be necessary to promote the conservation of soil fertility and to bring about a profitable balance of domestic production with the total effective demand at profitable prices.

ume of such product, or (3) on a basis involving both acreage and volume, and such payments to be conditioned upon the individual farmer having adjusted his cultivated acreage or the commodities on such land in such quantities as may be necessary for the preservation of soil fertility and proper stabilization and maintenance of adequate price levels.

2. That Congress provide adequate funds by appropriations for the carrying out of this soil conservation and price adjustment program.

3. That provisions be made for the levying of reasonable taxes upon the processing of the different classes of livestock and dairy products. Whenever approved by an adequate number of producers and used only in consultation with producers of these products, such funds to be used for the purpose of expanding our foreign and domestic outlets for such products in such manner as would be beneficial to the producers thereof.

4. That all of the valid provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act be retained and strengthened and particularly those relating to marketing agreements and orders of the Secretary of Agriculture; and Section 32 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act as amended, providing for the use of 30% of import duties for the expansion of foreign and domestic outlets for farm products.

5. That the marketing or distribution of all farm products, which may come into the hands of the agency of government administering this program shall be done wherever practicable through farm commodity cooperatives qualified under the Capper-Volstead Act.

6. That the foregoing statement is based on the fundamental assumption that the American market should be preserved for the American farmer and in addition thereto the further expansion of our foreign markets for surplus crops.

7. Many matters of the most vital interest to agriculture are omitted from discussion in this report because of our conviction that it was better for us to concentrate on the single problem of an adequate substitute for the Agricultural Adjustment Act leaving the many great issues including the money question and others for the continuing action and attention of our ever-alert farm organizations.

Get this platform of principle before all your farmers. Get them printed in your newspapers. Hold community and county meetings. Hold meetings with your business men, with civic clubs, with women's clubs.

Let it all result in the greatest deluge of letters and telegrams to your Congressmen and Senators Connally and Sheppard that this country has ever known.

In the meantime, remember that unlimited cotton acreage will wreck your prices next Fall.

Very truly yours,
Texas Agricultural Association

SIDELIGHTS

By MARVIN JONES
Chairman, House Committee On Agriculture

Our tariff system makes a farm program necessary in the interest of the entire nation. Complete and permanent recovery can be had on no other basis.

No one wishes this country to sink back to the depths it had reached in 1932.

The decision of the Court in the A. A. A. case is a far-reaching one.

However, I cannot believe that a national tariff is legal and that a national farm program which merely restores the price balance cannot be made legal.

I cannot believe that the cotton farmers and the producers of other world market crops must purchase their supplies in a higher-priced protective market and that there is no constitutional means by which they may be given an even break.

The greatest fundamental in our system of government is equality in the operation of its laws.

I am sure a constitutional method of putting all our citizens on an equal footing can be found. Certainly in the interest of simple justice the effort should be made. To this task the House Committee on Agriculture is devoting its earnest attention.

Personally I favor a domestic allotment plan linked with a soil conservation and rebuilding program and also including the seeking of new and additional outlets and markets, domestic and foreign.

While proper adjustment is desirable, we should of course produce all the market will absorb, both at home and abroad.

The legislation should be broad and flexible so as to permit different plans for different commodities, thus fitting to each commodity the plan best suited to its peculiar production and marketing conditions.

Such a program will be to the advantage of both producer and consumer.

The Congress added the domestic allotment plan, the soil conservation and market expansion features to last year's legislation. However, as other plans were already in operation, these had not yet been brought into full effect.

Since the domestic allotment, soil conservation and market expansion plans were not involved in the decision of the Supreme Court these were probably not affected; but as they were linked with some of the provisions that were held invalid, it would probably be wise to carry them forward in a new act.

The domestic allotment plan is peculiarly suited to cotton and wheat, but other methods will probably be better suited to some of the other crops. No single plan would be suited to all of the different commodities.

These are merely my own views. Legislation will be worked out by the Congress to accomplish the desired end in so far as it is possible to do so within the limits set out in the decision of the Supreme Court.

"Last Days of Pompeii"
Coming Friday and Saturday R. K. O's greatest masterpiece, "The Last Days of Pompeii", a love story 2000 years old, written for this very hour. Thousands panic stricken, rush blindly to the sea—Pompeii proud and mighty Pompeii, glittering playground of pagan passions—caught in the midst of savage revelry feels mighty doom. Fire in the sky! A city blown to bits Vesuvius in eruption. Don't miss this mighty spectacle. As big as "Ben Hur", mighty as "The Sign of the Cross". And don't forget there's a real surprise for those who come out Friday night.

"Way Down East"
Sunday and Monday another of those good old Fox productions, "Way Down East" starring Henry Fonda and Rochelle Hudson. "Way Down East" is the stirring tale of a young woman in quest of work, who not only finds work but love. The simplicity of it will appeal to your finer senses. Some of you may remember this picture from the old silent days.

MOORE COUNTY FARMER FINDS TERRACES PAY

DUMAS—Terracing is proving a profitable investment for Henry Ham, Moore county farmer, according to county agriculture agent W. K. Cottingham. Henry Ham of the Middle Well community recently reported a return of $6 per acre more from his terraced land than from his unterraced land. "I seeded my terraced land without any preparation of the seedbed since the summer of 1934 while the unterraced land was cultivated twice before seeding," Henry Ham said. "After seeding, the terraced land was cultivated twice while the unterraced land was cultivated four times. "The difference in the cost of preparation of the seedbed and the cultivation of the crop was 52 cents per acre. The cost was greater on the unterraced land." Henry Ham's terraced land produced 250 bundles of feed per acre compared to 150 bundles on the unterraced land. The feed from the terraced land was valued at one-half a cent more per bundle than the feed from the unterraced land because of its having more grain in the heads. The Moore county farmer reported that he got a good stand of feed, following a light rain, on the terraced land; while on the unterraced land, which was seeded two weeks later, the stand was poor because of lack of moisture. According to the Moore county agricultural agent's report, approximately 40 acres of land was terraced on Ham's farm in the fall of 1934 at a cost of 59 cents per acre for fuel and oil and labor to operate the county grading machinery.

Three Cheers for Irene
By Fred G. Simpson
It seemed as if he could never be stopped,
For all those who tried to tackle him flopped.

He has made three touchdowns and then another.
Making holes in our defense was no bother.

At half, coach asked why him we could not tackle.
I said, "His breath's stronger than mackeral."
Jim said, "I have an idea that's keen,
And the first thing is to speak to Irene."

Irene went to the opponents hero' Then she said, "You surely are tired, I know,
Wash your mouth with this and drink a little too.
The next half we made many a long run,
And then finally we really had won
And so then we yelled, "Three cheers for Irene."
She said, "Don't praise me, I gave him Listerine."

Men of War

By Ray Thompson
The pale blue moon was high above,
The sunlight was for them no more
They thought of those who shared their love,
For those brave men were trapped in war.
Now wounded men lay by the fires,
The weary marshal spoke quite slow,
The restless colonel tramped the mire,
The rations in the camp were low.
Their one last place of refuge gone,
These men would fight to see the last,
They loaded guns, they thought of home,
The enemies were coming fast.

A swan song is music only to an enemy.
A liar cannot even believe himself.

Jones: "It seems that everybody is getting married."
Brown: "Yep, the 1 do's is got it."

LET'S MEASURE UP STRAIGHT

on your winter gasoline

If you work your starter only eight or ten times a day, from now till March 21st, that will be 400 to 500 starts altogether. Let's say you only cut your time in half on each start, using Winter Blend Conoco Bronze gasoline. Even so, that's something like saving your battery 250 starts before next Spring!

Right there Conoco Bronze might easily save you the price of a battery, or the fuss and expense of re-charging. Besides, you choke less, with Conoco Bronze, so you will not waste gasoline, or risk the life of your engine. And neither will your oil get so thin that you change it too often—another good saving.

Now Conoco Bronze costs you only the same as a gasoline you might buy for no special reason at all. Then isn't this a fair request: test a tankful of sure-start Conoco Bronze. Continental Oil Company, Established 1875
