TRAIL DUST POLITICAL CALDRON SEETHES AT FIRST PRIMARY

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

The man riding the dun, stock-footed horse across the hot sand of a waterless river, learned to pray before the grey came to his hair and when there were no ones on his wind-tanned face. The strange fear that had been born in his heart acclaimed its lineage many summers ago when he sat motionless in his saddle near a dried-up water hole and listened to the pleading bawls of starving cattle tramping the stubborn soil. In the same tabernacle of wide horizons and rolling prairie, others must watch clouds drift forever beyond the territory of searing white rivers that pay seldom tribute to a remote sea. The menacing volcano of the sun is too close to the tops of the high cottonwoods and smokeless coals sift about the roots of singed grass on the flats with the aid of a furnace blowing through narrow drooping leaves. The rider on the drooping horse is firing the smoke-pots of his courage as he surveys the course of a whirlwind squeezed out of the feverish earth and spurring brown dust in the pathway of a trifling thunderhead.

As the rainbow may be a symbol to the mariner, the whirlwind has its place in the plastic destiny of land where men learn to tender supplication for the return of clouds as dykes against the swollen sea of heat. They are the signal fires of imps that guard the treasury of the earth and move in definite paths across the field of conquest, that the vanquished may not lose sight of the victor's supremacy. A wilding geyser of dust, born out of the jesting fancy of some unknown power, spiraling in the sores of fear in hearts that must wait for the fruits of faith.

But the man on the stock-footed horse raises his sweat-soaked hat and wipes his brow with the sleeve of a blue shirt, relieved because the whirlwind is traveling toward the sun. A sign of rain in a country that has lost its secrets and the mystery of its strength to generations who have been afraid, but possessing sufficient fortitude, remain to garner the sowing of their ancestors.

Tucked away somewhere between the bulging sideboards of the past, and crowded close to the frayed plunder of old hopes, there is a gaudy little vase, discarded with never once knowing the splendor of fragrant blossoms. Beneath the dazzling lights of a shop window fringing the shadows of that long-ago night, the vase seemed a part of the wealth brought up in a treasure chest from the dept of some translucent sea. Its purchase resulted, perhaps, from hands being clasped while a boy and girl looked through the window and laughed, as if poverty and early love have any place in the gallery of mirth.

In the fearful light of morning it had become the symbol of an eternal parting, of quarrelsome words and heartache, a thing of pain reflecting in the smudgy mirror beside a few twisted neckties, a worn and empty bill-fold, a key and pocket knife. For years it must have held some hopes in the dusty depths, finally to be smuggled across the frontier of youth and lost to sight and all but seldom memory. It has no place now except with that accumulation of assorted bric-a-brac clinging as barnacles to old hulls plowing slower schedules across the unchanging sea.

We trailed his horse that frosty morning, to a gap in the west fence and the hoof-prints breaking through the crusty soil, continued to point toward the cold, blue hills worn smooth by the constant dropping of the sun as each evening advanced. We rode on back to the corrals and finished feeding the drawn dogies in silence, because there was no use discussing the obvious situation. There was no need to see what of his personal belongings had been left—a worn pair of boots by his empty bed and the new suit of clothes he would never wear, folded in the old suitcase with a new shirt and plain black cravat. Each of us knew that a man can ride too long over the endless prairie trails and hear the wind high in the night sky whistling around the stars, until he is afraid of the sun on his wedding day.

Heated Winds Bake Country In Past Week

Small Damage So Far Drouth Moves In From North

A back-lash of the drouth which has gripped the northern states this summer, struck over the Panhandle last week to rocket the mercury and drive residents to the shade. Accompanying the heat was a blast-furnace wind which wilted crops and brought a brown appearance to the prairie. However, the nights have been cool and crops have recuperated during the absence of the sun.

Cotton Growing

Farmers declare that the weather is ideal for cotton growing and that only in rare cases is any damage resulting from dry weather. Weather forecasts yesterday declared that probable showers would bring relief over this section before the week-end. A brisk east wind yesterday, despite the excessive heat, was indicative of the promised rains, according to local weather prognosticators. Many farmers declare that cotton will endure a week or ten days of the dry weather without great damage.

CHALLENGE OF 2 NORTHFIELD VOTES IS SET

W. E. Thomas To Seek Proof Of Legality Of Ballots

Plans were started yesterday by W. E. Thomas, commissioner of Precinct Number 3, to challenge the vote of two residents of the Northfield community voting in last Saturday's Primary, according to Farris Fish, local attorney. The legality of the two votes will be challenged due to the close balloting of the box which, according to the official count, defeated Mr. Thomas by a margin of one vote, to his opponent, A. B. Simpson. The official canvass of the county Democratic committee Tuesday afternoon conceded Simpson 60 votes and Thomas 59.

Mr. Fish declared the case would be filed in District court and that a date would be set for the hearing, possibly in the near future. The Precinct Number 3 Commissioner's race was the closest in the county and one of the rare cases where a candidate has been nominated by only one vote.

The names of the two votes which will be challenged were not divulged as the plans for the case were being made late yesterday.

It is estimated that attendance will increase toward the end of the week and continue to gather momentum as the revival progresses.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of thanking each and everyone who extended their sympathy and for the beautiful floral offerings during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father. May God bless each of you. Mrs. R. H. Hutto and family

Sam Turner Takes Own Life In Wichita Falls Hotel Room

Local Farmer Found Monday Night Near Used Shotgun

WICHITA FALLS, July 28.—A verdict of suicide in the death of Sam Turner of Matador was rendered Tuesday by J. H. Patton, Justice of the peace.

Turner was found shot to death Monday night in his room at the Stratford hotel, 822 1/2 Indiana. His body was found at 10:05 o'clock Monday night by a porter in the hotel. Investigating officers said he apparently had been dead for more than eight hours and that he had been killed by the discharge of a shotgun. No one in the hotel reported hearing the shot.

Two notes left in the man's room failed to establish his identity definitely, since one of them was addressed "Dear Brother" and the other was a telegraphic form addressed to the First State Bank in Matador, asking the bank to wire $5.

George H. Hodgins, chief of police, investigation that the muzzle of the gun was close to the chest of the man when the shot was fired. He clutched a length of cord in his hand and police are of the opinion it was used to fire the gun. The dead man lay on a blood-soaked bed with a gaping hole torn through his chest and with a shotgun by his side.

The shotgun was purchased at a second-hand store here Monday, according to F. M. Dowdy, detective captain.

According to officials of the Dalton, Hampton and Vaughan Funeral home, Turner's brother arrived in Wichita Falls Tuesday morning to make funeral arrangements. He was to communicate with his mother, who lives in Roaring Springs, before making definite plans.

Funeral At Paris

Funeral services for Sam Turner, 38, found shot through the chest with a shotgun by his side in a local hotel Monday night, will be held in Paris Wednesday afternoon. Two brothers and the widow of Turner, from Roaring Springs, arrived in Wichita Falls Tuesday afternoon and completed funeral arrangements with Dalton, Hampton and Vaughan Funeral home here. Blackeyed Peas Are Highest In Years ATHENS, Henderson Co., Texas, July 28.—Already selling at an average price of $4.50 per hundred pounds, the highest price since the World War, the dried black-eyed pea market touched what is perhaps an all-time high at Murchison Tuesday morning when spirited competitive bidding saw several loads bring $6 per hundred pounds. The high market figure, however prevailed only a short time, the price dropping back to the $4.50 level. Athens is the heart of the black-eyed pea country of Eastern Henderson County.

Extra heavy purchases of peas in the green stage has so reduced the supply of available dried peas that only limited quantities are on hand in this section of the State, local buyers being forced to spread their operations to other sections of East Texas.

LEAVES FOR MARKET

Miss Maggie Bryan, of the Western Dry Goods Co., left Tuesday morning for a visit with relatives in Waco. Before returning home she will stop in Dallas for a visit to the Centennial, and also to attend the market showing of fall merchandise.

Miss Bryan will be joined at market by Mr. T. B. Edmondson and family, also of the firm, who expect to leave the latter part of the week.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON CITY BUDGET

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held at the City Hall, Tuesday, Aug. 11, 1936, on the budget for the city of Matador for the year 1936. T. B. Harris, City Sect'y.

Drive Started To Vaccinate License Dogs

Owners Must Provide Vaccination And 1936 Tags

Following a warning by the Texas Health Department regarding the increased danger of rabies infected dogs over the Panhandle, dog owners in Matador are warned to vaccinate and purchase tags for their canine pets. City Marshal, Jim Smith, received a warning from Lubbock last week stating that three cases of rabies bite are being treated in that city. City ordinances provide for vaccination and licensing of all dogs within the city limits and the same will be enforced until the proper action has been taken by all owners. To Kill Dogs Dogs which are not properly vaccinated and licensed will be killed if it is declared in a notice signed by Mayor G. T. Edwards, appearing in this issue of the Tribune. All dogs, whether kept up, tied or allowed to run loose, are subject to the ordinance. Dogs under six months of age are not subject to vaccination since it is declared that they are immune from rabies.

TEXAS RELIEF COMISH AGAIN AIDS WPA WORK

The Texas Relief Commission will again enter the field of work in providing employment for the unemployed in this and other counties in the state in the capacity of sponsor for the 1936-1937 WPA program according to a bulletin recently issued from Districts 16 and 17, Amarillo office.

An intake office for referral to WPA will be opened in Motley county by August 5th, according to A. W. Long, District Relief Administrator of the two districts which includes 35 counties in the Lubbock, Plainview, Amarillo and Pampa territories. Intake offices will be opened in other towns as soon as possible.

County To Have New Office Open By August 5th

The act creating the 1936-1937 WPA program requires that referrals to WPA be made by some public welfare organization. The Texas Relief Commission has agreed to accept this responsibility. Eligibility for referral is based upon one thing only, the bulletin declares and that is need. The only restriction other than that of need is the case of illegal alien who is not eligible. The new ruling eliminates the requirements calling for former relief status.

No Actual Placement

Mr. Long emphasized the fact that the Texas Relief Commission does not make the actual placement. The procedure that will be followed is that when a person in need makes an application at the intake office, all facts necessary to determine the applicant's actual needs are developed. Following this work a case worker visits the home of the applicant to obtain the information. After complete information is obtained, an adequate budget is developed, income and resource considered. Applications are then either rejected or referred to WPA. The State Relief has absolutely nothing to do with the actual placing of the applicant on a WPA job.

Messrs C. D. Bird and A. B. Echols left Monday for a vacation trip to Pagosa Springs, Colorado.

Mrs. Jerry Birchfield and son Robert, left Monday morning for Phoenix, Arizona, for a two weeks visit with the former's father and brother.

Voters Blast Ticket Away As Many Cast Ballots Saturday

SHERIFF RACE HAS INTEREST

Only Two Places For Run-Off Left In Entire County

Motley county voters will go to the polls again Saturday, August 22 to receive one of the shortest tickets in the county's history after the trimming of candidates made in last Saturday's primary. Only one county place, that of the sheriff's race, and one precinct place will remain, according to the canvassing the votes made Tuesday afternoon. The state ticket will receive an almost equal pruning according to latest reports from the Texas Election Bureau. Perhaps the most spectacular race in the state field was that of Governor James V. Allred who was re-elected by a clear majority over four opponents. Many other state officers leaped clear of the run-off after Mr. and Mrs. John J. Citizen completed scratching ballots last Saturday.

Two Close Races

The two closest races in Motley county were developed in the balloting for county attorney and for commissioner of Precinct No. 3 at Northfield. A. B. Simpson was elected over W. E. Thomas by one vote for the precinct office and C. B. Whitten defeated John A. Hamilton for county attorney with four extra votes. Representative Bob Alexander received 582 votes and his two opponents S. R. Hodges, 389 and L. D. Rees 295, lacking 105 votes having a majority. Congressman Marvin Jones of the 18th District eliminated his opponent with ease by polling 903 votes against John R. Miller's 449.

County Returns

The official county returns after the 10 boxes were canvassed Tuesday showed the following results: For United States Senator: Morris Sheppard, 814; Guy B. Fisher, 90; Richard Bush, 40; Joe Eagle, 55; Joseph Price, 56; J. Edward Glenn 71. For Governor: James V. Allred, 709; Brooks, 52; Fischer, 94; Hunter, 506; Sanderford, 51. Lieutenant Governor: Woodul, 1453. Attorney General: McCraw, 1452.

Chief Justice Supreme Court: Cureton, 1453. Associate Justice Supreme Court: Critz, 1450. Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals: Lattimore, 1458. Railroad Commissioner: Thompson, 448; Hardin, 529; Morris, 114; Johnson, 47; Riger, 25. Comptroller Public Accounts: Sheppard, 806; Terrell, 193; Covington, 124; General Land Office: Hawkins, 388; McDonald, 449.

World's Deepest Oil Well Looms In Louisiana

Abbeville, La., July 29.—Eyes of oil men and geologists were turned on this Gulf Coast town today as drillers prepared to push to completion what promises to be the world's deepest oil well and the maximum penetration to date of the earth's crust, reaching to a depth of almost two and one half miles.

The well, Continental Oil Company's Alvin Hebert 1, has already been drilled to 10,956 feet, with a record "string" of 7-inch casing, or piping, cemented at that depth. Its objective is a virgin petroleum pool in the geologically ancient Oligocene sands, believed to be within drilling reach. Continental Oil Company's engineers on the scene believe the well is in condition for drilling to 13,000 feet at least.

The final push toward completion, beginning this week, will coincide with the 77th anniversary of climax operations on the Drake well in Titusville, Pa., first ever drilled, which was brought in as a producer in August, 1859, at the then record depth of 69½ feet.

Company spokesmen said the Alvin Hebert 1, as it stands, uncompleted, is the deepest well ever drilled along the Gulf Coast, the fourth deepest in the United States and the fifth deepest in the world. The deepest well ever drilled was McElroy 103, in West Texas, which was finally abandoned at 12,786 feet. Other deep wells were said to be: Berry 1, Kern County, California, 11,377 feet; A-Day-Noe 1, Caddo County, Oklahoma, 11,230 feet and Chitorani 1, Ploesti, Rumania, which was abandoned at 11,092 feet. The world's deepest gold mine, on the South African Rand, is 9000 feet in depth.

FARMER'S LIFE

By ED HOLMES

Divine Guidance, or Nature or Good Luck or whatever you wish to call it has sure been good to this farmer here of late.

My cotton was pretty grassy and the rabbits were ruining the good stand of cotton by simply eating it up. I thought I was ruined. Lice began eating on the cotton and I just knew I was ruined.

Well about the time the rabbits thinned out the cotton to the right kind of a stand, there was so much lice on it that the rabbits refused to eat it and began on the grass. The rabbits are good and fat and we will eat them this winter. You see I am killing them and feeding them to the hogs and we will eat the hogs this winter.

Along came a rain at the right time and washed the lice off the cotton. Wasn't that to perfection? We sure do lots of worrying for nothing.

Sure the rabbits didn't eat all the grass and I will not kill all the rabbits. I'll need some for seed to take care of me next year. Only a fool would try to exterminate his friends.

Last week I saw a man plowing 5 rows of feed at a time by pulling two, two-row go-devils and one, one-row go-devil behind a tractor.

Here is part of a conversation that passed between Grandpa Hay and Elmer Daisy. Grandpa says, "This hot weather is about to cure out this Hay."

"It's about to crisp this Daisy too," Elmer replied.

The weather will cool off after this election. You couldn't blame it for getting rather warm if you are keeping up with some of the political races.

May the man that really wants to give the average man a fair chance to produce something and exchange it at fair value for a decent living for him and his family win the races. Some of the Politicians that are coming out in the last days with a lot high powered oratory and misleading statements won't get the job done either according to their past actual records. Again I say get the records.

One of my farmer neighbors that is known to get more work done than any two average fellows has this common report out on him. "He don't have to sleep any, he simply wollers twice a day."

March and April, September and October are the practical months to have your brood sows to farrow. If you have them farrowing out of season and during this hot weather as I have this time, you better watch your step or you will lose some pigs that will mean a lot of money gone.

If you want to be sure to save the pigs, during the last week, feed the sow only one-half gallon of bran per day along with all the water she will drink, and be there when she farrows. About two hours afterwards rope her top jaw behind the tusks as you would around a cows neck, pull her head up high to a post and give her one-half lb. of salts in a quart bottle of warm water. Place a stick in her mouth so she can't bite the bottle.

Why feed a sow six months then through one days neglect lose all the profit?

WIND DAMAGES TO CAVALCADE NOW REPAIRED

DALLAS, Texas, July 27.—The great Cavalcade of Texas, wrecked by a recent windstorm, is running again at the Texas Centennial Exposition. Opening night cured a lot of headaches which had afflicted Exposition officials since the wind turned a spectacular setting into a mass of unidentifiable debris, and caused the Exposition's biggest attraction to go dark for eighty-four hours.

Two thousand workmen, rotating in eight hour shifts, sweated day and night getting the big largest stage, held first performance just three days after the storm, playing to two SRO houses with several hundred extra benches set along the apron of the stage to care for overflow. A midnight performance was necessary before the thousands who had thronged the entrances would consent to go home.

Biggest Attraction

The Cavalcade, biggest attraction on the Exposition grounds, took the brunt of the storm, quixotically enough. The scenery against the block-long stage was ripped to ribbons and scattered from sound room to stables; the thousand odd costumes were drenched when lightning struck the men's dressing room, tearing a three-foot hole in the roof and floor.

Outside of the damage to the spectacular set for the presentation of the saga of an empire, the Texas Centennial Exposition suffered minor casualties, principally damage to the $20,000 worth of flags. All other attractions were ready to go by 10 o'clock the morning after the storm.

I want to thank the voters of Motley county for their loyal support during my recent campaign.

A thing of rare chromatic beauty was seen recently in Los Angeles. It was the Illuminated Movie Pageant given in honor of the visiting Elks here in convention. About a dozen of illuminated floats participated.

The theme of the Warner first National float was "The Soul of Egypt". A divided pyramid had in its midst Cleopatra surrounded by her Court beauties.

Metro-Goldwyn Mayer had a huge fan made of living girls for decoration between the sticks. It would have taken a giantess to wield it.

Beauty and horror in a crimson glow of flame-colored lights represented "The Cae of Curante" from Dante's Inferno.

Then "Milady's Jewell Casket" moved by. Georgeous rubies, pearls, topaz, emeralds, diamonds and sapphires—one color more beautiful than the other—and all blazing forth in loveliness.

And thus passed this pageant of colorful, illuminated beauty—"The Rainbow", "The Venetian Scene", "The Maid of Athens", "The Butterfly Chariot et al". All these passed into the memories of thousands of spectators assembled to illuminate the caverns of their hearts with their rich glowing beauty.

Most homes of certain class are very much alike: over-stuffed furniture, rugs, floor-lamps, books, radios and a few miscellaneous ornaments. But the other evening I visited in a home that was conspicuously different from the general run. It was the apartment of my host and hostess—Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Sharpe in Hollywood. Mr. Sharpe had just returned from a World Cruise and the place was filled with a medley of most interesting and artistic mementoes of his trip.

On one table stood two elephants one, very large, the other much smaller—both carved out of teak wood and hailed from Colombo, Ceylon. Nearby stood two busts, also of wood and carved by the natives of Bali. They represented a married couple while another pair nearby represented a man and woman, both unmarried. Of course I could tell immediately which was which—the unmarried ones had such a calm, peaceful look about them, while the married ones look so grouchy, and stern and forbidding.

Against one of the walls stood a large, exquisitely carved camphor chest with a smaller one surmounting it. Both of these hailed from China—Hong-Kong to be exact. They were masterpieces of art, but very utilitarian in nature. They were the pride of my hostess. Mrs. Sharpe. On opening them a very strong odor of camphor poured forth—but not from common moth balls, but from the wood itself out of which they were fashioned. I am sure no moth will ever molest their contents or could ever withstand its camphory scent.

In these carved chests were many other things of rare beauty. A fine Batik from Java in ivory, yellow and browns. These designs were traced in a waxed surface then tied and dyed. The result was a thing of soft, mellow charm and very artistic. Yards and yards of pale blue chiffon-like cloth was then brought forth, embroidered on the edge with a rich design of darker blue and silver. This material could be made up into a dress such as is worn by the high-caste ladies of Bombay, India, and other parts of the orient.

Another bolt of silk hailed from Japan and was hand-painted, not to mention many kimonos in red, black and jade green silk. All these were embroidered in dragons, flowers with the snow-capped summit of Fujiama in the background. Mr. Sharpe bought for himself a couple of silk dressing gowns. One, the one I felt like stealing, was of a rich brown embossed silk with revers and cuffs in yellow gold. From the Land of the Rising Sun I also saw cloisonne vases, gold lacquered boxes and particularly two cigarette cases. The one represented a design in inland gold tracings of Fujiama. This was on bronzed silver. On opening the case the design could be seen on the other side as if it had been stitched on. The other case was adorned on both sides with an exact replica of a hundred dollar bill—both the obverse and reverse sides. The custom inspector must have been extremely good-natured to have over-looked it, as it is illegal to transport it into this country in as much as it duplicated American currency. It was a rare piece of art—the only cigarette case of its kind I have ever seen.

A Mexican serape in brilliant transverse stripes adorned one of the occasional tables. I also noticed some totem poles from British Columbia and a large Hawaiian doll, which upon being wound up, went through provocatively sinuous contortions of the native Hula-hula dance. On a wall in an ante-room I saw a mask carved out of a cocoonut and the lips were as red as cherries. This object my host regarded as a mascot and it hailed from Trinidad. Another possession that Mr. Sharpe treasured were bags made out of red and black native seeds from the island St. Helena made famous by its famous prisoner—Napoleon. "Longwood" Napoleon's home while here held unforgettable memories for my host and he always in his talks would mention St. Helena.

Fitz Patrick Travelogues in both color and sound were responsible for all these interesting articles I saw that evening, not to mention hundreds of rare photographs and snap-shots from all the various countries visited. Mr. Sharpe was Mr. Fitz-Patrick's right hand man on this movie—educational cruise so fraught with much that was of rare interest. I felt greatly enriched by the things I had seen and heard that evening and considered it a privilege to be their guest.

"THERE IS GLORY ENOUGH FOR ANY MAN TO LIVE AND DIE A TEXAN"

THE TRUTH ABOUT WICHITA

Before the results of Saturday's primary election are as forgotten as the cigar store Indian and the bustle there is a little information The Morning Avalanche wishes to pass along regarding the much discussed standings of Tom Hunter and Jimmie Allred in their home bailiwick.

After the 1934 election, Hunter and his friends apparently got a great deal of solace over the fact that Thomas got the most votes in Wichita county.

During the gubernatorial campaign just happily closed, the story was told all over the state that the "home folks", who should know best, would give the governor the well known razz-berry and again rally round the standard of one of the poorest losers and poorest sportsmen in all Texas political history.

"Tom's home folks know him," said the story, "and what is more, they know Jimmie. And they'll fix Jimmie up in a big way. They'll help him 'out'—all the way out!"

Well, here is what happened in Wichita county Saturday when John Public and his spouse went to the polls.

Of a total of 7,956 votes, Jimmie Allred got 4,383—a clear majority over his four opponents—and Hunter got 2,435 F. W. "Big Fish" Fischer, a former Wichitan who for the past six years has been living in Tyler, got 894 votes from his old neighbors; Roy Sanderford got 227 and Pierce Brooks, of Dallas, got 62.

It so happens that Allred and Hunter live in the same section of Wichita Falls and vote in the same precinct—at the Evens Drug store, box 22. Let's see what happened there.

The Evens box had 245 votes and 175 of them went to Allred. Hunter got 53, Sanderford 12, Fischer 4 and Brooks 1. Does that look like the "home folks" are against the governor?

Of course, all of this doesn't make any difference. Governor Allred is re-elected and is riding the crest of a great wave of popularity.

But since so much has been said about the Wichita Falls situation in the past by the Hunter contingent, The Morning Avalanche thought perhaps the truth might well be brought out.

Even Mr. Hunter must understand by this time that the people of Texas don't want him for governor—and neither do the people of Wichita county and Wichita Falls.—Lubbock Avalanche.

This happened not too recently at a church wedding in a not too nearby town. The young bride walked slowly down the aisle. As she reached the platform before the altar her dainty foot brushed a potted flower, upsetting it. She looked at the stilled church gravely, then raised her large child-like blue eyes to the sedate face of the minister. Then in clear bell-like tones that reached every part of the auditorium distinctly, she said, "That's a hell of a place to put a lily."—R. J. Schutz in the Emington (Ill.) Joker.

Many Thanks!

WILD WEST LIVES AGAIN

Wild and Whoopee Days Enacted in Frontier Centennial

There probably is nothing new under the sun. Electricity existed long before Messrs. Volta, Edison, Marconi, et al, started to fuss with it. There have been wild west shows before... and successful ones. Before that of course there was the real wild west with an arena a million square miles in compass. Now comes a spectacle based on what has gone before but staged with such lavishness and consummate art that one might well believe the old west lives again in "The Last Frontier," one of the outstanding attractions of the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial.

When Billy Rose was engaged as director general of the Fort Worth Frontier, his first act was to set about organizing the biggest and most spectacular wild west exhibition of all time. Some advisors suggested that appeal of such a show passed with the demise of Buffalo Bill. To Rose the suggestion was no dice.

Friday, Thirteenth, Is Her Birthday

Helen Boyd, bass violinist with Jose Manzanera's and his South American orchestra, has been a member of the group since 1932. The Manzanera organization plays daily in the Fort Worth at the exposition in the Texas Centennial Dallas.

Because she was on a Friday, the thirteenth, Helen Boyd, bass violinist with Jose Manzanera's and his South American orchestra, has no fear of the ominous combination. In fact the member of the group which plays nightly in the court of the Ford building at the Texas Centennial in Dallas looks forward to such an occasion of days and dates because in the past many of the finest experiences of her life have taken place on Friday, the thirteenth.

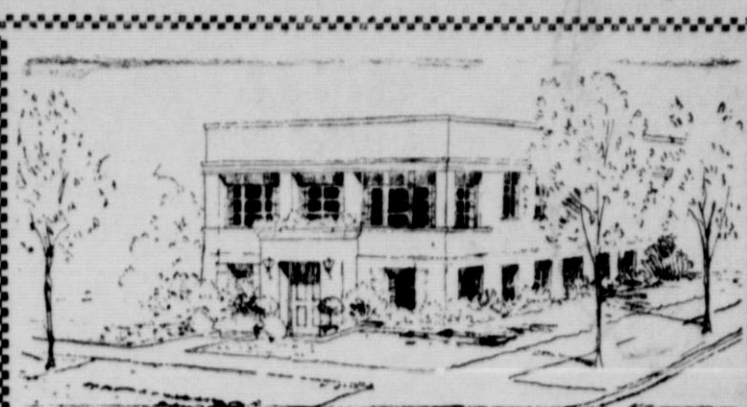

One of the first proofs Helen has of this fortunate combination came when she received, on Friday, the thirteenth, her first offer to broadcast as a violinist. The engagement was proffered by KFSD in San Diego, California. On May 13, 1932, another Friday, Helen's phone rang with an SOS call from a friend who was playing with Jose Manzanera and his South American orchestra. The friend told her the bass violinist had quit suddenly that morning and the job was hers if she wanted it. Weary of playing popular music, she welcomed the opportunity to play the unusual Latin American tunes for which Jose's orchestra is noted.

Allred Receives Centennial Medal

AUSTIN, July 27.—A gold medal, designed and executed by McClelland Barclay of New York, world famous artist and sculptor, has been presented to Governor James V. Allred. The medal symbolizes the spirit of the Texas Centennial.

The medal, five inches in diameter, presents in bas relief a cowboy mounted on a bucking broncho. It bears the words, "Ride 'Em Cowboy" and "Texas Centennial 1836-1936," as well as a Lone Star and the artist's signature.

Barclay asked Governor Allred to accept the medal as a representation of how non-Texans feel toward Texas and toward him. He is well known in Texas, having visited here several times. He also is a brother of Shephard Barclay, bridge expert and former resident of Texas where he was engaged in newspaper work.

Considering how fine this railroad transportation is nowadays, you can't travel any cheaper. Fares lowest in history—substantial savings on round trip tickets. So why not take the train? It's safer. It's more dependable.

You can't beat the improved travel comfort in coaches and sleeping cars. It's a good thing movies don't have such restful seats—most folks would sure fall asleep.

Ever hear about the new Free pick-up-and-delivery of less than carload freight? It's a great convenience to shippers and receivers alike. Western railroads pick up at the door, ship by fast freight, and deliver to door at no extra charge.

Railroad trains are running on faster schedules these days. Seems like the iron horse wants to show these new streamlined diesels that he can step out, too. Both passenger and freight schedules have been speeded up.

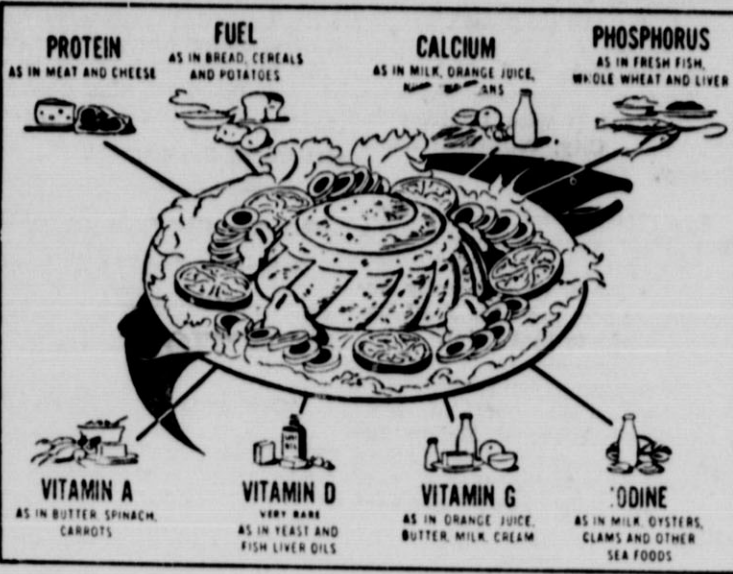

What's more, the railroads believe in "safety first." Last year not one passenger was killed in a train accident on western railroads.

Talk to your local railroad agent. He's full of information about traveling and shipping.

We're proud of railroad achievements, appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.

HERE ARE THE ACTUAL FOOD VALUES YOU GET IN A CAN OF SALMON

Let us market baskets are always sure to include a generous supply of canned salmon. Now, an analysis reveals that a can of salmon contains all of the dietetic values displayed on the above chart. Rich in protein, minerals, and vitamins, this sea-food is ideal for winter menus, and limited budgets.

SALMON MOLD

Soak 2 tablespoons gelatin in 1/2 cup cold water. Then dissolve in 1 1/2 cups boiling water. Cool. Add 1/2 cup lemon juice, the contents of one 1-pound can salmon, skinned, boned and flaked. Chill until beginning to set, then fold in 1 cup mayonnaise and heap in a damp fish mold. Chill until set, unmold on cellophane and garnish with quartered tomatoes.

SALMON CLUB SANDWICHES

Slice 12 pieces bread, 1/4 inch thick, to make 4 sandwiches, three tiers high. Toast bread as needed, making the 4 sandwiches at once. On first slices spread melted butter. Next a crisp lettuce leaf wiped dry. Next, dry portions of canned salmon. Next, place a slice of previously peeled, red ripe tomato. Sprinkle with salt, paprika and mayonnaise. Place another slice of toast on this filling and proceed as with first filling. On top of filling No. 2 place a third slice of toast, spread with salt and pepper, one egg yolk, and sharp knife. Cut each sandwich in two diagonally, and serve on individual plates garnished with lettuce leaf.

SALMON A LA KING

Stimmer 1 can mushrooms, drained and 1 small onion, chopped, in butter. Stir in 2 tablespoons flour. Add 1 1/2 pints milk and 2 egg yolks. Cook slowly until thick and one 1-pound can of salmon, shredded. Add 1 pint cream, dash of lemon juice and paprika. Serve in patty shells or on buttered toast.

SALMON AND RICE CASSEROLE

Mix 3 cups cooked rice with 1 minced green pepper, 2 teaspoonfuls salt and one pound canned salmon, boned, skinned and flaked. Cut off small pieces. Mix with 2 cups thin white sauce and pour into casserole. Bake in hot oven about 25 minutes.

SALMON AND CORN SOUFFLE

Mix one pound canned salmon, flaked, with 2 cups thick white sauce. Add lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce and season. Fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites, and pour half of the mixture into a buttered baking dish. Pour in 1 cup cream, corn, sautéed slightly, then the rest of the mixture. Cover with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a hot oven for 15 minutes. Serve with a pickle relish.

STUFFED SALMON

Place 3 slices salt pork on bottom of flat baking pan, arrange one-half pound canned salmon on it, shaped like a steak. Cover with dressing, and then another layer of the salmon. Put three more slices of pork on top and bake 1/2 of an hour. How to make dressing: 1 cup bread-crumbs, 1/2 cup cracker crumbs, 1 small onion, sliced, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 cup hot water, 1/4 cup melted butter, 1 beaten egg, pinch of sage. Lightly brown the onion in the butter, add hot water, and pour this over the bread and cracker crumbs. Stir in the egg. This will serve 6 persons.

ONIONS STUFFED WITH SALMON A LA MEXICANA

10 medium sized onions; 1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper; salt and pepper; one egg yolk; 1/2 pound canned salmon; 1 tablespoon melted butter; 2 eggs.

BAKED SALMON AND SWEET POTATOES

Bake 6 medium sized sweet potatoes. Mash, season with salt, pepper and butter. Add 1/2 pound of finely flaked canned salmon. Mix all together. Place in buttered baking dish, spread top with melted butter and parmesan cheese. Bake 1/2 hour.

SALMON PIE

Chop 1 cup canned salmon fine, add 2 cups rice potatoes and 1/2 cup milk. Put in 1/2 cup butter. Spread with 1 egg beaten lightly. Cover with 1/4 cup cracker crumbs into which 2 tablespoons butter have been melted and sprinkle with 1/2 grated cheese. Bake until brown.

States is 1,134,486 as compared to 300,000 in Texas.

Large Number On Rolls

Despite this large number on our rolls now as compared to other states the average amount paid per recipient is larger than the average of all states, being higher than the average paid in Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Vermont.

Highest Income

No state in the Union allows assistance to applicants whose income is higher than that allowed in Texas ($360 per year). Many of the other states will not pass assistance to anyone who has a child or other relative able to support the applicant. Texas holds only the wife and husband responsible. Some states that have this limitation are: California, Delaware, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Jersey, Nevada, and Wisconsin.

Higher Age Limit

Six states do not pay assistance until applicant reaches the age of 70 years, they are: Arkansas, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri and Pennsylvania. Finally, many states demand an assignment of property to the state by the recipient as a prerequisite to receiving assistance. Some states specify from 3 to 5 per cent interest on all assistance paid to be deducted from the state of the recipient at death. Some states having this provision are: California, Colorado, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey and Wisconsin.

The States do not pay pensions to all over 65 for several reasons. In one instance, such procedure would entail a huge expenditure of money and it would necessarily pull the average per person down thus causing those in need to get less than under present system. In another instance, one of the phases of the Social Security Act provides for Old Age benefits which in a few years will provide a pension for everyone over 65 with the exception of certain classes. These classes will continue to receive State Old Age Assistance.

WHEN BANK CROOKS SHOW PREFERENCES

The American Bankers Association reports that non-member banks suffer twice the percentage of burglaries and hold-up robberies as compared with members. Member banks display a sign showing that they receive the protection of the association's detective agents, who cause the arrest of from 150 to 400 bank crooks every year, the organization, which is a non-profit body, says.

"Professional criminals often boast of having sense enough to dodge the far-reaching system of man hunting available to members so long as there are other banks without this protection," it says. "They recognize that once on the record of the Association's Protective Department, they must pay for every crime with which they can be identified. Detainer warrants have followed them from place to place so that penal servitude for one crime would not expiate other offenses."

Overheated summer kitchens are a thing of the past with "Miracle Cookery." Thick insulation keeps heat in the oven, where it belongs.

And, in surface cookery, Hotpoint Calrod coils concentrate all heat on the utensil and do not diffuse it into the air of the kitchen. With electricity as the fuel, immaculate cleanliness is possible. Even the bottoms of pans do not become blackened. Imagine spending all day away from home—then arriving just before dinner time to find the entire meal perfectly cooked, ready for serving. In the morning you can make the food ready for cooking, put it in the oven, set the temperature control, set the "Chef's Brain" (automatic timer) for the time it is to begin cooking and the time it should be finished—and then forget it until dinner is to be served. See the new Hotpoint Electric Ranges today.

HOTPOINT CALROD. What Mazda means to light, Calrod means to cookery. Calrod is the name given to Hotpoint's hi-speed sealed-in metal cooking coil which has revolutionized electric cookery. It brings new speed, new cleanliness and new economy to the kitchen.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule ... and adds only a small amount to your total bill?
