

Precautions Outline Made On Pneumonia

Prevalence of colds and pneumonia at this season has prompted Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, to outline generalized preventive precautions against the disease in the hope of reducing its incidence in Texas.

"Most of us know how serious pneumonia is, but not every one realizes that it is particularly dangerous for babies and young children. A child under one year of age who has pneumonia is very much more likely to die than an older child," Dr. Cox warned.

"Through the use of a new drug and serum, doctors and health workers hope to save many lives this year, which would have been lost in the past. The State Health Department is cooperating with the medical profession of Texas in using this drug to best advantage in treatment of pneumonia.

"Improvement in treatment will save many, many lives, but more could be saved if children and adults were protected against contraction of pneumonia in the first place.

"A few simple precautions should be followed: no person with a cold should be allowed to handle or even come close to a baby. The rule should apply to relatives as well as friends. If the mother, or other persons taking care of the baby, has a cold, she should wear a mask and be especially careful about washing her hands before touching the baby.

"Children in general good health are in a much better position to fight off an infection than those not in the best condition. The best and surest way to secure good health for a child is to keep him or her under the regular supervision of the family physician.

"In short, insure good general health by having the child under regular supervision; do everything possible to prevent colds; if a cold does develop, do not use any 'medicines' or 'drops' except under a doctor's orders; if the child seems ill, call the doctor without delay."

UNCLE SAM SENDS OUT SOME CHECKS

Nearly a million persons will enjoy the impressive sum of $14 million dollars during 1940 with the compliments of the federal government. Altho the total may be staggering, the average payment per beneficiary comes to only about $114 for the year.

This is not much security. No one can live on a little more than $2 a week. As the social security system gains momentum, the average will increase. At best, under the amendment effective Jan. 1, the payments are none too high. They are set as liberally as sound finances permit, perhaps even higher. If Congress doesn't increase the payroll tax from 1 per cent each for employer and employee to 2 per cent each in 1942, the security administration is going to find a lot of red ink splattered over its records.

Here, then, is a security pro-

This one-story home embodies many features which will please the average-income family. Its interior arrangement is simple and practical but no more so than the plan of financing under which the home was built. The Federal Housing Administration insured a mortgage on the property for $5,000. This mortgage will be paid off over a period of 25 years with monthly payments of less than $30, exclusive of local taxes and hazard insurance.

tenant Governor and I certainly will not discuss my platform, which provides for a business administration, nor will I say anything about my slogan, which is, 'I hate taxes'. I want to assure the club officials and all members of the club that, under no circumstances would Pierce Brooks, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, discuss his candidacy on such an occasion. Thank you."

Not long ago, against the background of a slaty evening sky, the three tall smokestacks of the power plant at the end of Houston street in Fort Worth stood out like spires of a temple reared to industry—A while back, in driving thru West Texas, I was witness to a beautiful sight: The sun was invisible behind a hill but the west was flushed with brilliant scarlet. Suddenly an invisible hand swept a black smudge across the glowing color as though the painter of the huge canvas had changed his mind. As the car reached the crest and I could see beyond the hill on to the horizon, the answer was revealed: the straight black streak was smoke pouring from a speeding locomotive.

There are scenes of splendor on all sides if we but have eyes with which to see.

The Mexican 'Niagara'

On arriving at the Falls of San Juan Actalan, the first thing that struck me was the color of the water that dashed itself over the precipice. It was the color of coffee greatly diluted with milk—the 'cafe au lait' of the French.

Its dimensions did not at all justify the extravagant claims made for it—calling the same 'the Mexican Niagara'. It is not half as high nor a tite in size and volume of the American Falls. From time to time one sees clumps of vegetation flow over the Falls into the seething waters below. These are the water-lily bulbs so greatly relished by the hogs who do a 'submarine' in order to retrieve their delectable tid-bits. One notices how the falls have progressed in the course of erosion. Great slimy boulders are about, and some of them hang precariously at the very edge of the Falls, while others are not far behind. They look like small islands covered with shrubbery. But all the 'sights' seen are not confined to the Falls proper.

Bill Quinn of the Van Banner has announced for office in his "Quacks" column—in fact, he has announced for five or six places and will narrow it down to one on the last day to file. His announcement is unique in that he admits he was not born in Texas, that he was not born in a log cabin or even on a farm and that he is not married and therefore does not need an office "to feed a wife and unmet hungry kids." He wants to obtain the services of several stump speakers, preferring men with booming voices who are "agin everything."

A couple of entries in the old joke contest:

There is the one about the mouse that got hold of some "corn" and, after a few drinks, shouted, "Bring on that darned old cat."

And there's the one about the fellow with the "morning after" headache who ran a cat out of the room and then explained, "He came in here stomping around."

During the campaign of two years ago, Pierce Brooks was invited to address a luncheon club at Smithville. On the way to the hall, a friend cautioned him not to make any reference to his candidacy. During the course of the luncheon, the secretary reminded Brooks of the club rules against politics. Then the program chairman, in presenting the visitor pointed out that political subjects were forbidden but they would be glad to hear a few words of general interest. Brooks said:

"I am pleased at the opportunity of visiting your club today and will bear in mind that the secretary and the program chairman have advised me not to mention that I am a candidate for Lie-

Whither Away, Pretty Maids?

THESE four carefree lassies were snapped trying out the new sidewalk between the Ford Exposition and the General Motors Building at the New York World's Fair.

So many Fair visitors wanted to take a shortcut across the wide expanse of lawn between the two popular exhibit buildings this summer that the two great motor companies joined in laying this new 575-foot walk for the 1940 Fair. It will connect new side entrances to the two pavilions, which will be opened to help care for the great crowds next summer.

Hardly was the new walk laid before these girls came swizzling along on an exploring trip around the Fair grounds to see what changes are under way. They have all been working at the Fair since the days when it was only an idea and a pile of blueprints. So there isn't much goes on without them seeing and knowing about it.

They were interested in the new wing to be added at the rear of the Ford Exposition, and in the many changes to be made in Garden Court where free band concerts attract great crowds in Fair days. Left to right we see Anne Stone of Seattle, Marjorie Tucht of Los Angeles, Kathleen Cody of Champaign, Illinois, and Georgia Thompson of Texas.

So with a complete picture in my mind of 'cafe au lait' Falls and women and children bathing au naturel, I proceeded on my sight-seeing peregrinations, and asked my driver to take me to Lake Chapala—the "Mexican Riviera."

On and Near Lake Chapala

My first glimpse of Lake Chapala when I had arrived on its shores at the small village of Chapala, was one of great beauty. A vast expanse of sun-flecked glittering waters set amongst the encircling hills. Along its shores I saw many of the summer homes of the Mexican aristocrats.

I then engaged a small naphtha launch for an hour's ride on the lake. As I left the shores and looked back I saw the village of Chapala dominated with its white, double-spired church. It is the church to which the fishermen repair before going out on the lake to fish. There they prey for a good catch and safety in their undertakings. Then one obtains a fine view of the shore line with its summer homes. These homes may be divided into two divisions, the conservative and the ultra-modern. Beside a Moorish-looking place one may see a modern structure in ultramarine with its rows of windows filled in with Venetian blinds. Other colors too swim into view—yellow, pink, pale green—plain surfaces otherwise unadorned. But still the greatest charm is the ride itself—a feeling and tranquility comes over one as we glide on the surface of the scintillating waters, with the hills in the distance.

These waters are stocked with white fish (pescado blanco) than which there is no more delectable morsel.

After my enjoyable ride I went ashore and went to a nearby restaurant standing on a small terrace overlooking the beach. Here I dined on Pescado blanco washed down with some Port wine.

This fish was fried in butter made of goat's milk and looked for all the world like fish-shaped pieces of cellophane that had been fried. I have never tasted better. (To Be Continued)

Virginia Edmondson Becomes Bride Of Mike Hoyle Sunday

Miss Virginia Edmondson of this place became the bride of Mike Hoyle of Roaring Springs, in a single ring ceremony Sunday Morning, January 14, at 10:00 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Edmondson. Rev. W. B. Vaughn, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated.

The impressive ceremony was performed beneath an archway banked with cut flowers and fern. Silver wedding bells were suspended from the center of the arch, from which hung dainty white ribbons tipped with pink flowers. Miss Zella Battey of Floydada played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the couple approached the arch, and during the ceremony she played softly, "Echoes."

The bride wore a dusty pink sheer wool dress, with gloves and hat of a harmonizing shade of dusty rose, and bag and shoes of black patent. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart rosebuds tied with tulle and satin, and she carried a white, handmade lace handkerchief which her mother carried at her wedding. For travel she wore a dress of rust crepe, with tan accessories.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the dining room of the home. The table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, which was served with coffee. The bride's mother presided at the coffee service and Miss Battey and Mrs. Howard Edmondson assisted in serving the guests. On their return from a wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Roaring Springs.

CHILDREN OF GOD

By Vardis Fisher

1939-40 Harper Prize Novel

"A vast, brilliant, rowdy, understanding novel which ought to go fast and far. The best story I have read of one of the most exciting if bewildering episodes in American history."—Carl Van Doren.

Children of God is a magnificent American epic, covering one of the most dramatic, fantastic and least-known chapters in our history. It is the story of the building of an American Empire, and all the passion, suffering, courage and bloody terror which went into its making.

It is the story of the Mormon their strange beginnings, rapid growth, persecution and heroic across trackless Western plains. And it is the story of human beings subject to all the pulls of anguish and triumph that human flesh can endure.

Two Main Figures

It is written mainly in terms of two dominating figures—Joseph Smith and Brigham Young. Joseph Smith, the mystic who was called epileptic, fraud, drunkard, thief, libertine, murderer, but who burned with zeal for a new and better life for his followers. Joseph Smith of the blue eyes and soft heart, tortured all his days by lusts of the flesh. Joseph Smith married to Emma, who had the temper of a hell-cat and the tongue of a fish-wife, and who unwittingly caused her husband to espouse the doctrine of plural marriage which set the country in arms against him and led to his death at hands of a mob.

To Promised Land

Then Brigham Young, the strategist, the man of steel and action, who stepped into Joseph's shoes and led the demoralized Mormons out of the United States, where they were being murdered, pillaged, into the Promised Land of Utah. Brigham, the inspired genius, the practical business man who made the desert blossom. Brigham, who married more wives than he could keep track of, yet who never new what love was until in his old age he met pretty Harriet Folsom, who twisted him around her little finger.

But it is not alone the story of these two men, for the novel concludes after Brigham's death and shows the rapid sequence of events when his strong hand no longer guided his people. It is impossible even to hint at the hundreds of characters and swiftly moving episodes which Vardis Fisher has woven into this colorful chronicle of American life.

Census Man To Ask Personal Questions

Penalty On Refuse To Answer

Enumerators

Don't have a job when census man comes around in the federal government is to want to know why you're not working or not seeking it.

and a multitude of other questions of a personal nature will be asked by the 120,000 enumerators who will take the field April 15 and the decennial nose and information gathered.

you have a bathtub or shower with running water for use or shared with other persons, will be a polite way of asking if you bathe.

will be questions about the value of your home and how much you would get for it if you had to rent it.

Information obtained by the census taker must be kept confidential and cannot be used in any way to the detriment of any individual. All census officials are sworn to secrecy and can be fined and imprisoned for violation. Census records are sent to other federal agencies for their use.

Census enumerators probably will find when they begin making their rounds that it will take the combined knowledge of husband and wife to furnish the detailed information sought in the housing census and to answer many of the questions in the population census. The real work for both the enumerator and the person being enumerated will be in filling out the farm and ranch schedules, which go into details on every phase of agricultural operation.

Census officials estimate that the questions will reach 123,000,000 persons, 33,000,000 dwelling units and 7,000,000 farms. In addition to the usual questions about age, sex, race, size of family, nativity and citizenship of the foreign-born, new statistical knowledge will be developed by questions on education, mass migration, employment, unemployment, occupation and distribution of wages and salaries. Previous censuses merely have separated the literate from the illiterate, but the 1940 census will ascertain the highest grade of school completed to give a complete pattern of the degree of education possessed by the American people.

Questions about employment will permit the tabulators to separate persons privately employed or in permanent public jobs from those on public emergency work and from the unemployed. Hours and constancy of work will be learned, and the jobless will be asked the duration of unemployment. Other questions will show the number of young persons who have finished their schooling in recent years but have been unable to obtain work. From the housing census, the Department of Commerce expects to obtain facts from which to judge immediate needs for dwelling construction, repair and modernization. A comprehensive picture will be furnished of the kind of houses in which America lives from questions on the number of rooms, age and type of the structure, whether owned or rented, the sort of heating, cooking lighting and sanitary facilities.

Healing Dimes and Dollars

Dimes and dollars contributed at the 1940 President's Birthday celebrations to fight infantile paralysis, January 30, will help heal thousands of American children afflicted with the crippling disease. Cities and towns throughout Texas are sponsoring balls and "March of Dimes" solicitations to aid such youngsters, as depicted by Bressler in one of his noted cartoons.

The farm census schedule contains 232 questions. The farm questionnaire will be issued in nine editions for use on a regional basis, each regional schedule inquiring into detail as to crops actually grown in that section of the country. Part of the information gathered by the enumerators will be made public in the fall, but further analysis will continue for about two years. The information will be available not only on a national basis but will be broken down by states, counties and towns for purposes of local analysis and comparison. This will enable communities to obtain accurate information on their housing situation and the income distribution.

DICKENS JUDGE TO WASHINGTON

SPUR, Texas—In an effort to find a way to certify WPA clients to WPA rolls and to talk with Congressional leaders about relief appropriations for the year, County Judge Marshall Formby of Dickens, president of the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association left for Washington, Tuesday. He was accompanied by a committee of six other county judges from Texas. Counties are finding it impossible to certify their relief clients to WPA rolls because the state legislators left no money for such purposes, Judge Formby pointed out. An emergency exists, he said, and the only possible help at this time come from Washington. The counties are unable to aid themselves, he pointed out.

Women, Children---the Aged Little Finland Is Suffering...

War

with all its horror has struck brave, little Finland! While courageous soldiers fight back the Godless red armies, women, children and the aged are wounded, hungry and cold—driven like helpless cattle from their homes—struggling in a mad, frozen world!

A tiny democracy is fighting for the same things you hold dear—home—freedom—peace—the right to worship. They need and deserve your aid. Every dollar will go direct to the purchase of medicine, food, clothing and fuel. There can be no compromise with the fate that has come to these people. Your dollar may save a life. Contribute today—any amount. Leave your donation with either the First State Bank, Matador Hardware or Matador Tribune, or mail your check.

THANKS FOR EVERYTHING

We, the students of Matador High School, join in extending our sincere thanks to the school board of trustees for permitting us to have our long desired dance in the gymnasium. We hope that our conduct equaled your expectations and merits the continuation of the privilege. We realized the circumstances under which the board permitted us to have the dance, and we naturally did everything in our power to help make it a nice affair. We were glad that the restrictions were imposed and we obeyed each to the letter.

To have a dance in the gym has been the desire of almost every student of MHS for a long time. We have thought about it, talked about it, and resolved to prove we are worthy of it.

Everyone is urged to attend as much of the Lion's Basketball Tournament as is possible. The best teams in this part of the State will be there.

John Nance Garner of Texas Lauded in New Campaign Song

DALLAS—A swinging melody and catchy words—in a new song about John Nance Garner, Vice President, has just been published under the title: "Cactus Jack," by the songwriting combination of Rex Lampman and Jack Foy.

Amateur song-writers have deluged the Dallas headquarters of the Garner-for-President campaign with new verses, of their own writing. The song has eight verses; but only four are printed herewith, as follows:

I
 In Texas down by the Rio Grande
 There's plenty of work for a good cowhand,
 There's milk and honey and hot tamales,
 And the sweetest bunch of "O by goshies."
 The sky is wide and high and blue,
 And you say to strangers "how do do."
 There's room to breathe or to bet a stack,
 There's the blue bonnet girls and there's Cactus Jack.

Chorus:
 Cactus Jack, he's a-riding straight,
 Riding straight for the White House gate.
 Don't look away, don't look away,
 You can't look away from Texas.

II
 We'll tell you this about Cactus Jack:
 He's a quick on the trigger or a wisetrack,
 Just as wise as an old homed toad—
 There ain't very much he's never knowed!
 He can hogtie a yeppling quick as you widdle!

If the river ain't dry he'll catch you a fish;
Cactus Jack with his old seegar,
He'll look right nice in that White House car!

III
 We'll tell you this about Cactus Jack:
 He's got no time for a fraud nor a quack!
 And when you see his squre and hat,
 You know there goes a Democrat!
 He can uncork a speech, let freedom ring,
 From America to San Antonio.
 They'll tell you Jack has never been thrown,
 Cactus Jack with his larist,
 He's going to rope the White House yet!

IV
 We'll tell you this about Cactus Jack:
 He's hit the trail and he won't turn back;
 He's a riding high and he's riding straight,
 And he's headed for the White House gate!
 From America to San Antonio,
 They'll tell you Jack has never been thrown,
 He'll hang his hat on the White House rack!

with. After the tomato juice cocktail was served, the main course of baked ham, pineapple fritters, baked potatoes in the half-shell, Boston baked beans, celery, pickles, and hot rolls were enjoyed. Hot chocolate, ice cream, and cake were voted delicious. "Touchdowns" proved to be mints and nuts.

Before the run on the training table began, Tommy Darsey was crowned queen. The band played several selections after which Judy McCoy greeted the guests with a toast, "Do We Have Pep?" Zona Scaff paid compliments to Coach Martin with "That Grand Old Man of the Gridiron." Coach Martin then talked on "Calling Signals," "Between the Halves" with Mr. Greene and Mr. Ezzell added more laughter to the occasion. Mr. Tunnell talked about "That Extra Point."

Then the captains were heard from. Wiley Fulfer gave a toast to Miss Faulkner with "That Forward Pass" Kenneth Simpson—with an eye to the future—gave "To The Future Football Team." After the singing of "Victory," Miss Pep Maker shot the gun for the finish. The rally was over!

The Poet's Corner

The thought for this week is that light cares speak; great ones are dumb—and that's true, isn't it? The poem is one written by our star basketball girl, Eugenia Tilson.

Out On The Western Plains

The coyotes howl to the moon above;

And the dove is calling her true-love,
The wise old owl in the hollow tree
Is telling the world how happy to be.
Thru the trees the wind does pass,
and
Like ladies' skirts, it rustles, across the grass.
The cattle are lowing, and the wind is blowing,
As all nature has gone to rest—
And from heaven has been blest

Por la Escuela

Mid-term exams are over at last. We are certainly glad. They had us awfully busy for a while. Don't forget to cover your text books. One demerit is assessed for each uncovered book.

There'll be some changes made—seems as if. They're at it again—Lela and Bennie we mean. They were together Sunday, and they're wondering how long it will last this time. Of course, everybody knows it's just a friendly association. (too friendly, we're afraid.) Everybody knows more than one heart will "bust" if they keep going together. (Guess who?) Mrs. W. gets so aggravated with us though, it's a wonder she doesn't shoot us at dawn.

This really should go in the funny papers, but since we don't publish a comic sheet we'll have to tell our story here. Alton, believing it time to go sweep out the bank, calmly got up at about twelve o'clock and went down town and proceeded with his work. You should see that your alarm goes off next time and don't forget to wind the clock. (Incidentally, folks, it was twelve at night, not noon.)

BOYS RECEIVE THEIR AWARDS

The students of grade school and high school were called into the auditorium Monday, January 8, to witness the awarding of the football sweaters to those famous Matador Matadors.
 Kenneth Simpson, Johnnie Allsup, W. O. Cox, Wiley Fulfer, Mutt Berryman, Leroy Nelson, Jack Martin, Wiley Kennedy, Raymond Rattan, E. A. Day, Rayworth Tilson, Thomas Bourland, "Red" Titus, Elmer Gene Jameson, Merritt Faulkner, Phil Green Stanley Level, J. D. Payne, W. R. Tilson, J. C. Titus, Junior Pitts, and Billie Tunnell were called to occupy the stage until coach Martin called their names and awarded them their sweaters and a handclasp. After that, each accompanied Jewell McCoy outside to have an individual picture made of himself in his new sweater to go in the annual. (Gee! Don't you envy Jewell?)

Many a damsel's heart beat twice as fast as her hero came forward. Boys, you don't know how much these hearts have beaten or how much these mouths have fought for you in the year gone by. We feel that we have been repaid by your excellent work this year. And to you who will be the Matador Matadors next year, here's success for the future and may you be ever fighting for dear old MHS.

We wish to thank Mr. R. E. Campbell, Jr., for the use of his nickelodeon last Saturday night. Its music was grand.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

Football Banquet Was A Big Success

The Baptist church was the scene of a big pep rally Saturday night. After a rousing cheer, and to the tune of the band's snappy playing, the Pep Maker, Tommy Darsey, led the Peppers, football boys and guests, into the annual football banquet.
 Decorations of red and black crepe paper and balloons added festive note to the rally. Favors of pipe stem cleaner football men proved very amusing, judging from the way they were played Burglars . . .

After making a confession, the boys directed officers to where they had hidden the heavy suit cases.

Charges were filed against the young burglars and they were placed in jail here, but an examining trial can not be held until their parents have been notified, according to County Attorney Howard Traweek.

The boys removed some of the merchandise from the show window of the store and it was believed that they had been attracted to it from the street and planned the burglary.

Making Heroic Defense

Mr. Hoover issued the following statement: "America has a duty to do as its part in the relief of the hideous suffering of the Finnish people. Our people should have an outlet in which to express their undivided and practical sympathy. I have consented to organize a nationwide Finnish relief fund for this purpose.

"I appeal to the American people for its support.

"Finland is not a rich country.

The people have little reserve for emergency. They are making a heroic defense. Air attacks have compelled the evacuation of civilians from their towns and cities. Hundreds of thousands of women and children have been driven from their homes in the middle of the northern winter. Many are, and more will be, refugees outside their own country. Many are destitute. Others are without adequate shelter, clothing and food. This fund is for the purpose of serving these broad needs.

Newspaper Help Asked

"Owing to the emergency of the matter, I have asked an unusual service of the newspapers of the county that they should sponsor the fund in their localities, that they should accept and acknowledge contributions through their columns. I hope the people in each locality will cooperate with and aid their paper.

"A nationwide sponsorship also is being constituted for general conduct of the fund. My former colleagues in Belgian relief have volunteered to undertake the work of administration under the leadership of Edgar Rickard, with an office at the Graybar Building, New York City. Emergency supplies can be obtained in Norway and Sweden pending shipment from the United States. By the aid of the press and the voluntary service of these experienced men, we can move quickly and avoid any consequential overhead expenses.

"I hope those who can afford it will contribute generously. Contributions, no matter how small, are the evidence of our sympathy."

No expenses are incurred in the solicitations and donations are de-

Lions Attend Zone Meeting At Floydada

Twelve members of the Matador Lions Club attended the Floydada club zone meeting Tuesday night, including the following: G. E. Hamilton, John Hamilton, Dr. A. C. Traweek, Sr., C. A. Pitts, Howard Traweek, J. P. O'Connor, H. K. Ford, Boss Lion Henry F. Pipkin, Lowell Sharbutt, Vernon Doss and secretary J. R. Whitworth.

The program included introduction of visiting Lions and guests, vocal selections by Miss Elizabeth Caldwell and Faye Hart, a brief address by Deputy District Governor Edd Johnson and the business session conducted by the zone chairman.

Good Meeting Tuesday

The local club held an interesting meeting here Tuesday after the banquet served by the Baptist ladies in the church basement. Two visitors, T. R. Jacobs of Clayton, N. M., brother to Lion W. F. Jacobs and Leon Anderson of Hot Springs, New Mexico, a former Motley county resident, were introduced.

J. P. O'Connor was introduced and welcomed into the club as a new member.

Mrs. U. L. Wille made an announcement regarding the President's Birthday Celebration, of which she is county chairman. Other announcements were made by Lions Douglas Meador, and J. Rufus Emmons. The program was completed by an intelligence test conducted by Lion Sharbutt, with slightly discouraging revelations.

ductible from income tax statements. Phenomenal evidences of popular response to the Finnish Relief Fund appeal are showing up all over the nation. In Dallas more than $6,000 has been acknowledged in less than two weeks. Walter Wanger, movie producer, has volunteered his entire staff to work with ex-president Hoover until January 15th to help raise funds.

Those persons desiring to make contributions in person rather than by mail may leave them at the office of the Matador Tribune or at the First State Bank, with Mr. Stearns.

It's Fun to Learn 3 R's Now

A modern method of teaching the three R's, typing is being taught fifth grade students in the demonstration school at the Texas State College for Women as a distinct aid to fundamental education. Myron Garner and Dorothy Mae LaSelle of Denton, members of the summer class, were taught by Miss Gladys Dell Poland of Huntington, senior student. Accuracy rather than speed was stressed in the daily typing lessons. Pupils taking the typing course made rapid progress in spelling and reading.

Garner, Leader of Peace Bloc, Crystallized Anti-War Sentiment Throughout the United States

Washington, D. C.—Vice President John Nance Garner more than any other man changed the American attitude toward the European war.

When Mr. Garner returned to Washington for the special session of Congress on September 21, there was a sort of fatalistic feeling that somehow or another the United States, sooner or later, would get into war. Travelers returning from Europe were quoted in Eastern newspapers as reporting that the most frequent question asked of Americans in England and France was "How soon will the United States join us?"

Garner never issues statements to the press, therefore his part in creating the new psychology may not be fully known to the country. But more than forty senators visited the Vice President on the first day he was in Washington.

Here is what he said to them: "The United States is not going into this war. The people are determined that we shall not get into it. We in elective office have got to quit saying that we hope this country can stay out. We have got to start saying 'We are going to stay out.'"

He expressed that same feeling at the White House later in the day when Democratic and Republican leaders met with President Roosevelt. He expressed it again and again as Senators and Representatives called on him later. And in a few days the Garner sentiment was being echoed throughout Washington and it spread to the country.

Garner voted for war in 1917. He believed there was no way to stay out and he still believes there was no way to stay out. He insisted that his only son go to war then.

Marquis James, Pulitzer prize-winning author, in his new book, "Mr. Garner of Texas," tells how it happened.

His son, Tule, had gone to the father's office a few days after the war resolution passed in 1917.

"Son," said Mr. Garner, "how do you feel about going to war?"

"I aim to go, Dad," said the boy.

"I'm glad to hear it—for you've got to go. I couldn't have cast that vote to send other father's boys to war if I hadn't known I was sending my own. And just one more thing: your mother and I will want to hear from you every time you get a chance to write, but promise you'll never ask me a favor. I might be in a position to get it, and I don't want to be exposed to temptation."

No member of Congress got a better understanding of war than Garner. Not only was he a member of the Ways and Means Committee active in the framing of laws for the four Liberty Loans aggregating $18,000,000,000 and the $4,500,000,000 Victory Loan and the emergency tax bills, but he was also President Wilson's liaison man between the White House and the House of Representatives.

Twice a week he went to the White House for long private conferences with President Wilson. The President sent him to confer with the British, French and Belgium missions which came to the United States to discuss methods of waging the war. Garner had for many years been a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives and a student of foreign relations.

In the writing of the new neutrality law it was he who insisted on every safeguard to prevent involvement of the United States in war.

County Gets Hike In Crop Allotment

Motley County has received an increase in the general acreage allotment for 1940, according to Lowell Sharbutt, A. A. A. Assistant. The 1940 general acreage allotment which may be planted to maize, kaffir corn, corn, feterita, hegira, barley, barley-wheat mixtures and other soil-depleting crops is 42,730 acres. This is an increase of 4,210 acres over the 1939 general acreage allotment.

A new phase of the 1940 agricultural conservation program is the provision whereby a farm operator may earn $30.00 or $7.50 times the number of acres planted to forest trees, whichever is the smaller. This is an additional payment above the regular commodity and soil-building payment. The trees and the labor in planting them are to be furnished by the farm operator. The trees should be spaced in a semi-regular 8 x 8 feet spacing and the varieties recommended for this area are these: post oak, honey locust, cottonwood, chinese elm, black walnut and osage-orange. Fruit trees planted will not qualify under this practice, however shrubs will be included when planted in protected shelterbelts.

New License Plates Here

Motley county's allotment of 1940 automobile license plates have arrived and will be offered for sale on February 1, it was announced by Sheriff L. A. Carlisle's office yesterday. The new plates are white background with purple figures. Numbers this year will start at 911-301, instead of the 885 and 886 "county number" on the 1939 plates. Passenger car registration date for 1939 licenses total with more than 30 days of traction remaining. Registrations totaled only 971 for 1938 passenger car plates.

The new 1940 license may be purchased on Feb. 1. They may be used on and are required to be in April 1.
