TIME LEAVES FRAGMENTS IN OLD GRAVE....

Museum Interested In Unusual Grave

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer
PADUCAH, Jan. 30—A five-gallon bucket full of museum articles was unearthed from a grave eleven miles southeast of Paducah last week by Mack and Clifton Biddy, who were setting traps on a farm belonging to their mother, Mrs. G. H. Biddy. Today, Dr. W. C. Holden, curator of the West Texas museum at Texas Technological college, theorized the grave was apparently that of an Indian boy, probably the son of a Navajo silversmith who was buried about 1870 in an army blanket which formerly belonged to a United States or Mexican soldier. That was Dr. Holden's deduction after making a careful study of the grave site and the articles unearthed. Articles found in the grave included five silver Mexican pesos dated from 1852 to 1863, silver conchas, ornamental bits, metal stirrups, Indian beads, a silversmith's hammer head, buttons from the army overcoat, a pocket-knife, numerous bracelets, remnants of a fine silk handkerchief, baby teeth of a boy probably between 10 and 12 years old, small bones of a skeleton. Mack Biddy loaned the articles to Dr. Holden for the museum where they will be displayed and studied carefully. Dr. Holden said

Census Taker To Start In County Soon

Business Places To Be Visited Within 10 Days

Enumerator for the 1940 business census will start work in Motley County within the next 10 days according to Carroll Smyers, district supervisor of Pampa, who was here making a preliminary survey Tuesday. "It is important," Mr. Smyers declared, "that all business establishments have 1939 figures available when the enumerator calls. It is very important to Matador and Motley county that an accurate report from every business establishment be rendered. It is the yardstick by which we will be measured for the next 10 years. These reports must be surrendered on demand of the enumerator. "An act of Congress requires these reports and a penalty is provided for refusal to give information, or for the wilful giving of incorrect information." Smyers expects cooperation. "We do not expect to encounter any difficulty in this section, knowing the type of people that we will visit. We are confident of receiving complete cooperation. "Reports to the census bureau are secured for statistical purposes concerning the nation's wealth, natural resources and economic assets. These reports are strictly confidential and will not be made available to any other governmental bureau or agency and can not be used for taxation, evaluation or regulation. To Count Noses In April "The population, housing and agricultural census will start April 2. It is expected that four or five enumerators will be needed. They will be selected from Motley county. Mr. Smyers declared that those who were interested in the work should write him at Pampa, Plain, legible handwriting is required of a census enumerator, he declared.

importance of the find hinged on whether it was that of a Navajo Indian as this was the farthest trace east of Navajos. The Biddy brothers retained the Mexican dollars and were attempting to learn their value from numismatists, collectors of rare coins. Grave In Crevice The grave was apparently in a crevice in a bluff originally but had been washed out until it was uncovered and only a few inches below the surface of a huge pile of rocks. Most of the articles found in the grave were in a fair state of preservation with the exception of the skeleton and the clothing. The silver was badly corroded but dates, inscriptions and letters on the dollars were easily discernable. Lack of technical knowledge of the worth of the find by the Biddy brothers resulted in destruction of other valuable information in the excavation. Had they notified an experienced archeologist, the grave could have been uncovered with more care and study and other data may have been secured. Inexperienced and hasty digging after the pesos were found resulted in destruction of some of the material, it was indicated. Looked Like Chest "We found one of the stirrups and it looked like the corner of a

Finnish Fund Aided By $21

The Motley County Finnish Fund Committee reports a total of $21 in additional donations made during the past week. Contributions were received as follows: W. M. Graham, $10; J. R. Moore $5; J. E. Russell $1; F. G. Simpson $1; L. R. Bishop $1 and anonymous $3. Contributions may be made at the First State Bank, The Matador Hardware, or at the Matador Tribune.

Cotton Report

Census shows that 7,109 bales of cotton were ginned in Motley county, Texas from the crop of 1939, prior to January 16, 1940, as compared with 13,730 bales for the crop of 1938. H. J. Marler, Special Agent, January 29, 1940.

ATTENDS FUNERAL

Mrs. A. A. Harp attended funeral services at Mineral Wells, Thursday for an aunt, who died following a recent illness. Mrs. Harp returned home Sunday, after visiting relatives in Kirklund.

Fund Of $130 Secured From County Drive

Estimated Crowd Of 400 Attends President's Ball

With an estimated crowd of 400 attending the President's Birthday celebration held here Tuesday night as Motley county joined the rest of the nation in raising funds for the fight on infantile paralysis, the drive was completed with approximately $130. Half of the money will be sent to the Warm Springs Foundation while the remainder will be kept in this county for needy cases. Mrs. U. L. Willie, county committee chairman expressed her appreciation for the wholehearted cooperation shown thru direct contributions and paid admittances to the celebration held in the Luckett building here Tuesday night. Marvin Patton, secretary for the committee, declared that the pre-sale of tickets netted in the neighborhood of $60 for the fund, while tickets sold at the dance were responsible for the balance. A Spur orchestra was engaged for the celebration. The $130 represents the approximate net proceeds after all expense had been paid, Mr. Patton declared. Shannon Davidson, Pony Express rider who won the Nocona to Oakland contest last year, and who recently returned from Hollywood where he is engaged in motion picture making, attended the celebration.

Lions To Have Visitors At Next Meeting

Boss Lion Henry Pipkin is warning all members to attend the club's next regular meeting to be held at the Methodist church basement Tuesday, February 6, when Deputy District Governor Ed Johnson of Floydada and other members of the neighboring city's club will be present. The program committee is reported to be functioning in perfect condition, with an interesting program promised for local members and visitors next week. It is expected that a full attendance of the local club will sign the register early enough to prevent Tail Twister Henry Ford unnecessary inconvenience in collecting dimes for tardiness.

Two Sections Grass Burned

A prairie fire in the Matador Land and Cattle Company 8-section shipping pasture north of Matador burned an estimated area of 2 sections before it was brought under control, Monday afternoon. The fire was believed to have originated from a fence row on the H. S. Watson farm. Despite the fact that little wind was blowing, ranch employees and the large group of volunteer fire-fighters experienced considerable difficulty because of the high grass and scrub-oak thickets. M. J. Reilly, ranch manager, expressed appreciation for the large number of volunteers who tendered their services to bring the fire under control.

WARM WEATHER AID TO PAVING

The spring-like weather which has prevailed here since the beginning of the week has made it possible for the city street paving project to advance rapidly. Grading and curb work is being done on Main street between the highway and the City Drug Store this week. Digging deep along Matador's main street, the grader has unearthed several interesting articles including many rusty horse-shoes, buggy taps and branding irons.

Seven Schools Meet To Plan Grid Games

Local Girls Win In Cage Tournament

In an exciting final of the Roaring Springs invitation tournament Friday night, the Matador girls won the honors with a score of 9-5. Hugh Gray, coach of the local girls declared the game displayed perfect guarding on the part of both teams. Floydada was the winner in the boy's division of the tournament with a score of 39-28. Flomot won both boy's and girl's consolation honors during the tournament. Playing the Crosbyton girls here last week, the local girls won with a score of 66-12. The Crosbyton girls had been winning with heavy scores over other teams, it was declared. The Matador boy's cage team playing Crosbyton here, lost 18-24.

Matador Is Voted Place With Group At Monday Caucus

Seven schools of District 4-A were represented here Monday afternoon when superintendents and coaches from Spur, Floydada, Crosbyton, Ralls, Lockney and Paducah met with Superintendent B. F. Tunnell and coach Don Martin in the high school. Working on the problem of holidays which will affect the 1940 grid schedule, the executive committee decided on a district schedule after Matador had been unanimously voted to participate with the group this season. The vote was made necessary, Superintendent Tunnell declared, because Matador High School lacked the needed 200 scholastics. It was declared that the district welcomed Matador to continue with the group in what was described as an ideal set-up.

Iron Out Rough Places

In an effort to iron out possible discord, Superintendent Tunnell made the following motion which was approved unanimously: "That a round-robin schedule be played and in event of a tie game, each team would be credited with one half game won and one half game lost. In the event of a tie game, the district committee to arrange a play-off game if possible. In event of three teams being tied in percentage, to flip a coin to eliminate one team with the remaining two playing off but the third team to have an equal share of the proceeds after official expenses had been allowed."

Seven Schools Represented

Representatives of the seven schools in District 4-A who attended the meeting were as follows: Spur: O. C. Thomas, supt., and G. B. Wadzeck, coach; Floydada: (Continued On Back Page)

Poll Taxes Bring Voting Power Normal

A final rush of poll tax payers during the few remaining days ending at 12 o'clock last night brought Motley county's voting power up to normal, it was revealed by Miss Rachel Patton, deputy in the office of sheriff, tax assessor and collector, L. A. Carlisle, late yesterday. A total of 1288 poll taxes and 71 exemptions have been issued for 1939, which permit use during elections of 1940. Poll taxes and exemptions issued in Motley county the past 11 years are as follows: 1929—1,570; 1930—707; 1931—1120; 1932—804; 1933—1346; 1934—670; 1935—1476; 1936—672; 1937—1255; 1938—800 and 1939—1288.

Father-Son Committees Are Named

The following committees have been appointed by Boss Lion Henry Pipkin for the annual Father-Son banquet to be held at the Baptist church Wednesday evening, February 13th: Arrangements: W. M. Joslin, chairman, L. R. Bishop, U. L. Willie and J. P. O'Connor. Program: R. E. Campbell, chairman, Howard Traweck and L. C. Harp. Ticket Sale: D. E. Pitts, chairman, C. A. Pitts, R. E. Campbell, Jr., W. F. Jacobs, Douglas Mesdorp, George Springer, J. D. Cra-ven, J. R. Whitworth, Earl Laughlin and G. E. Hamilton. To Make List of Boys and Arranging Partners: Vernon Doss, Howard Traweck, Wilmer Greene and J. Rufus Emmons. Menu: H. F. Pipkin, L. B. Robertson and Lowell Sharbutt. Music: H. W. Graham. Master of Ceremonies: Norman Harp.

SAVINGS EVENT TO START SAT.

Described as "1940 Savings Event" will start Saturday at the Thacker Supply Company in Roaring Springs according to an announcement made by Melton Thacker, manager of the firm, late yesterday. Mr. Thacker declared that the sale would include a large number of farm and home articles and that exceptionally low prices would prevail. Examples of the merchandise values may be found in an advertisement in this issue of the Tribune.

STATE SECRETARY BAPTIST S. S. BOARD VISITS HERE TUESDAY

G. S. Hopkins, State Secretary of the Baptist Sunday School Board for the past 14 years, spoke before an audience of Sunday School officers and executives at the local church Tuesday night. Mr. Hopkins' talk followed a session of lessons in a Study Course Revival which is being conducted this week at the church. The Board executive accompanied R. E. Campbell home from Lockney, where they attended the monthly meeting of the Floyd County Workers Association, at which Mr. Hopkins had appeared on the program. He was on a tour of this section in the interest of his work.

PLOWING SHOW IS SCHEDULED

A demonstration of the new John Deere tractors will be held by the Motley County Implement Company, Monday, February 5th, W. R. Moffett, manager of the firm announced yesterday. "We will show the models 'H', 'B' and 'A' in actual operation," Mr. Moffett declared, "and invite everyone interested in farming and tractors to be our guests. We will offer free lunch and a motion picture show during our Opening Day. In addition to our plowing demonstration there will be a feed-mill demonstration at the Bobs Oil Well Garage where our implements are located." Mr. Moffett declared that he had received a full car load of John Deere implements, including the new models of tractors and that they are now on display.

LOCAL MERCHANTS ATTEND SPRING MARKET AT DALLAS

Harry Willett, proprietor of the Harry Willett Dry Goods Company was in Dallas over the week end purchasing new spring merchandise for his store here. Mrs. Willett and their daughter Dorothy, accompanied him. Also attending the Dallas market this week was Fay Jacobs of the Matador Variety Store, who drove down Sunday.

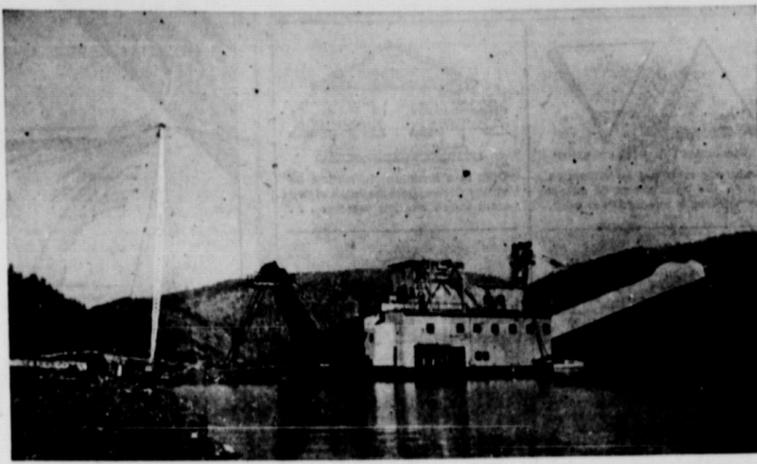

ANCHORS AWEIGH

Business, in Mexico, often flares in the market-place on Sunday more than on week days. My 'release' from the 'Pen' led myself to one of these Sunday markets which were running full blast. I wanted to make a purchases as souvenirs for friends in my own country. In entering about thru the aisles I came across something that appealed to me so I asked the man in charge without showing undue interest—as that would rocket the price—"Quanto cuesta?" (One of three Spanish words). The 'senorita' thereupon informed me that the price would be five pesos. This was my cue to 'act'. "Five pesos?" I examined with pained astonishment "Five pesos?"—with that I shook my head and began to saunter by. I knew she would call me back, and if she didn't, I intended to go back at any rate. Thereupon she loosened a whole avalanche of Spanish—of which I understood not a word—so I returned and offered her two pesos. Now it was her turn to act—she rolled her eyes like Sara Bernhardt in a dying scene in Camille, she nudged her shoulders, I had totally offended her by such low prices for her fine wares. She tried to sell the article to me for four pesos. I shook my head and began to walk away again (not far) again she talked so I turned around and went back. I told her I would purchase one of the articles for three pesos and 50 centavos—another deluge of Spanish ensued—surely I was a monster to want to cheat her like that—her poor starving children—her expressions conveyed to my mind. Then I started to walk away again, when she nudged again and as I turned I saw her wrap the two articles in a piece of old torn newspaper and hold them out to me with a look of expression as much as to say, "there take them—!" By this time I had quite a number of people looking on, enjoying our banter. When I left her she was smiling—all had been forgiven—on at that I felt I had paid her much—half would have been ample. But it was too late now, she held the money and only an aesthetic could pry it out of her hands.

Well, at least, we had both had fun—and what is selling at a market place if one pays the price asked? Bargaining in a market place is the very life of it. The Barranchas de Oblatos There are two small suburbs of Guadalajara that are generally called—The Barranchas de Oblatos and the town of Tequila. The one spells scenic beauty, while the other one is associated with an intoxicating beverage. The Spanish word 'barranchas' means gorges, gulches. On the hacienda of the family of Oblatos located one of these barranchas since the name Barranchas de Oblatos. These barranchas, on first sight remind one faintly of the Grand Canyon in Arizona. The resemblance is, however, slightly. Only in the general topography is it noticed. No glorious, vari-colored strata of rock are in evidence here, nor are they so immense. But the sight of them is arresting, impressive. I stood near the edge and looked over the side. At the bottom of this gorge a little stream ran its course, singing and dancing on its way, in the depths many tropical plants grow in the rich soil. Indefatigable nature is ever at work here—no rest. Erosion and earthquakes caused these barranchas—and when once seen, are never forgotten. They throw a spell on one. Tequila The town of Tequila is noted as the headquarters for the manufacture of the intoxicating drink made from the lower leaves and roots of a special kind of cacti that flourish in this vicinity. The drink is very potent and gives one murderous inclinations. The common tequila is colorless—like gin. A better grade has an amber hue, like whiskey. The orthodox way to drink it is in connection with salt and lime juice. A little salt is placed on the back of the hand, licked off then the tequila is swallowed, followed by the sucking of a small piece of lime. This makes for a more palatable drink, but I drank it straight too and it made but very little difference to me. Perhaps I did not consume enough, because I felt like murdering no one—at least, not at that time. To digress: There are hundreds of varieties of cacti found in Mexico and all prove more or less useful to the inhabitants. They serve as food, drink, and soap is made from one variety, the leaves are often used to thatch roofs and are impervious to rain. In Yucatan, twine, rope, thread and the like are obtained from the fibers of the plant. A parchment is made from the pulp upon which the ancient tribes recorded their tribal activities which are known as 'codices' and this parchment can hold its own

Gold Mining In Montana

Gold-mining operations throughout the United States, as well as in other parts of the world, have been greatly increased in the past few years as a result of the higher price paid for the metal by the United States Treasury and by official purchasers in other countries. World output is now at the highest levels in history, exceeding even the days of the American and South African gold rushes.

Mines long abandoned and other deposits which had previously proved unprofitable due to the cost of extraction are being exploited everywhere. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has made loans of many millions of dollars to mining companies, including those mining gold as well as other metals.

Shown above is the gold dredge of the Perry-Schroeder Mining Company operating on the shores of Hauser Lake about 15 miles northeast of Helena, Mont. The dredge was completed in November 1938 and has successfully been mining gold from the placer gravel deposits which occur in this section. A loan of $250,000 was made by the RFC for the construction of the dredge.

towering miscellaneous contents on my lap after I got seated again, then we proceeded at a slightly more cautious rate. On arrival at the Gran Hotel, I was relieved of my sartorial impedimenta and the porter proceeded to place my tray on his head and my other 'things' he carried under his arm. In this manner I made my dramatic entrance, bringing up in the rear and trying not to look too self-conscious. I can still see some of the guests as they stared at us not knowing what to make of it all.

The Chief of Police and I

That evening I had a call in my rooms from the local Chief of Police who spoke English very well. He seemed most solicitous about my predicament and assured me that I would be properly reimbursed for my loss. His main object in calling was not to have me carry away a bad impression of Mexico and the Mexicans. It ended by our having a drink together and thus sealing the cordial entente between the United States and Mexico.

The next day I shopped for new luggage. Of course in this provincial town I could not hope to duplicate my airplane luggage, the alternative was to find a receptacle large enough to hold the contents of my demolished case. I finally came across an affair of blue-green tin, the edges of which were adorned with black tin generously studded with bright brass-headed tacks. Into this I transformed my various articles of clothing et cetera and it served yeoman duty until I arrived home.

Well after this contretemps, I consoled myself by the fact that Maximilian fared far worse than I did when he stayed at Queretaro. I had lost my luggage, but he had lost his life. So my loss was as nothing.

Queretaro and the Hill of the Bells

Queretaro has many buildings that hail from Colonial times and its historical associations are of great importance in the annals of Mexican history. In the fifteenth century the Otomie Indians founded it, then with the coming of Cortez a century later, the Spaniards captured it. In this vicinity there have been many battles between the various tribes, then between the Indians and the Spaniards. Revolution felt perfectly at home here, with the result, that Mexico eventually succeeded in casting off the oppressive Spanish yoke that she had worn for three centuries. Later on, Maximilian was cornered here and shot by order of the then Mexican President—Juarez. Since that tragedy a comparative peace has ensued after all the centuries of hectic warfare.

The Hill of the Bells

Soon after my arrival in Queretaro, I engaged another cab, nothing daunted by my previous experience—but this time I saw to it that nothing was placed on the running board. I told the driver to take me to The Hill of the Bells, a short distance from the outskirts of this town.

On this hill, against an adobe wall, three men faced a firing squad on the 19th of June 1867; The Emperor of Mexico, Maximilian, and his two faithful Mexican generals—Miramon and Mejia.

Before the coupe de grace was administered, Maximilian distributed some coins to the soldiers and requested them not to mutilate his face, as he wished his mother to recognize him when his body would be shipped to Austria. His last thoughts were of his mother and of Mexico.

Shortly thereafter, a sharp volley of shots rang out reverberating thruout the countryside, and three bodies slumped to the ground, releasing their spirits to find sanctuary in another world where treachery and political chicanery were unknown.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD SUNSHINE INDOORS

Appealing "indoor sunlight" pictures can be made with the simplest cameras. Photo lights may be used to brighten shadows.

"Indoor sunlight" snapshots are easy with box cameras and high speed film. SS, subjects; WW, sunny windows; C, camera; PP, photo lights in reflectors to brighten shadows.

MOST sunshine pictures are made outdoors. But charming sunny pictures can be made just as easily indoors, when the rays of the sun stream through a window. Such indoor pictures are especially attractive when the sunlight is used as "backlighting." The picture above is "backlighted"—the sun comes from a window behind and slightly to one side of the subjects. Therefore, the subjects are surrounded by a bright edge lighting, and interesting shadows are thrown toward the camera. When you make these backlighted pictures, it is wise to use photo lights to brighten the shadows (see diagram). This not only produces a better picture effect, but shortens the exposure. With photo lights arranged as shown, a snapshot can be taken with a box camera loaded with high speed film. Other cameras, 1/25 second at f.11.

Interesting silhouette pictures can be made, too, when the subject is placed in front of a sunny window. If a silhouette is desired, do not use the photo lights or a reflector of any kind to illuminate the shadow side of the subject. With subject against a sunlit window make a snapshot with the second stop opening on a box camera.

Try a roll of "indoor sunlight" pictures. Many charming effects can be obtained, and snapshots of this type have a cheery, homelike touch that makes them treasured possessions. John van Gulder.

with that made of the papyrus of Egypt. The drink—pulque—was discovered by the ancient Toltecs who have handed it down to present times. "Smash Your Baggage, Mister?" En route, by train, to Queretaro after leaving the interesting city of Guadalajara and its environs, I felt an oppressive sensation—as if something sinister was just in the offing. And it was. On arrival at the railway station at Queretaro, I was met by the runner of the Gran Hotel where I had intended to make my temporary headquarters. Two other passengers signified their intentions to do likewise. These two, with their luggage, and one piece of mine, were relegated to the back of the car, while I took up my seat in front beside the chauffeur. There was no place there for my large 'Fortnighter', so in consequence, the runner of the Gran Hotel placed it on the running board and stood beside it holding it with one hand. Then came the time for us to start. The Jehu in charge of the car proceeded, as do all Mexican drivers, at breakneck speed and reckless abandon. We literally flew over the cobbled-pavements, then I heard a loud crash—like an explosion—the car came to a sudden stop. Our car had side-swiped another one with the result that both my luggage and the runner of the hotel were brushed off and thrown violently to the pavement. The bursting of my case had caused the terrific report. As soon as I could, I went to the runner who was moaning on the ground and uttering inarticulate sounds, others then took charge of him and I looked for my luggage, the contents of which were strewn all about in the street. shirts, underwear, hose, souvenirs, pajamas, toilet articles, lay about in inglorious confusion. The first thing that I retrieved was a small monkey carved from a green stone—a souvenir—this lay pillowed on the leg of my pajamas. After that I grabbed right and left and thrust all I could into a tray that had not been completely demolished. The rest I carried in my arms. With help, I placed the tray and its

PARLIAMENTARY PROGRAM GIVEN BY MRS. WILIE

A Parliamentary program was planned and presented by Mrs. U. L. Wilie at a meeting of El Progreso Study Club, Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. F. Springer.

The program stressed the theme of the meeting, "Parliamentary Day", and the quotation was, "The world wears a path to the door of the man who knows."—Emerson. Miss Rosemary Bloodworth, guest performer at the meeting, gave two readings, one of which was a musical reading. In this she was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. R. Whitworth.

Those present were: Mesdames Leonora Luckett, J. R. Whitworth, Joe Bloodworth, U. L. Wilie, J. L. Moore, and Mae McKenzie. Misses Amy Glenn, and Mary Keith.

NEWMANS ARE HOSTS TO CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Newman were hosts Thursday evening to the "Rabbits Foot" Club, with a Mexican dinner, followed by progressive bridge.

A Mexican motif was followed through the dinner course, which was served on fiesta pottery. Colorful cloth-covered the dining table at which the guests were seated, and native craft plants were used for centerpieces.

At the conclusion of the games, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Emmons held high score. The rabbits foot tokens were relinquished to the holders of low score for the men and women.

Guests at the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Meason, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Emmons, Mr. and Mrs. Newman and Mesdames Charlotte Hunsucker and A. L. Fryar.

AT MEETING

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Campbell, Miss Ruby Spears and Lowell Sharbutt drove to Floydada Sunday afternoon, where they attended an Associational Baptist Sunday School meeting.

Week-end visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Beauchamp were Mr. Montt Cathey of Denver, Colorado, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McNabb and daughter of Quannah, Texas.

FASHION PREVIEW

THE bathing suit of 1940, according to the January Harper's Bazaar, will be a double-dazzler; that is, it will shine like a sun reflector and will look wet even at its driest. (Good news for the I-don't-care-to-get-wet kind.) This suit is of blazing sapphire blue.

MRS. CRAVEN IS COMPLIMENTED AT TEA AND SHOWER WEDNESDAY

As a courtesy to Mrs. Vernon Craven, Miss Ruth Groves entertained with a tea and miscellaneous shower at her home Wednesday afternoon of last week. Mrs. Craven is a new resident of Matador, as well as a recent bride. She was before her marriage, the former Frances Turner of Abilene.

Assisting Miss Groves were Mesdames L. J. Barkley, Marvin Patton and Alvin Stearns.

Tea and dainty cookies were served from the dining table, which was laid with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of red stock in a blue vase. Other cut flowers were used for decorations in the living room. A Valentine motif was used in the refreshments service, with napkins, heart mints and candies.

Names registered in the guest book included the following ladies who either called between the hours of 3 and 6, or sent gifts:

Mesdames M. L. Patton, Glenn Dobkins, Eddie Russell, Sam Wilkinson, J. W. Ford, Henry Ford, Tom Newman, T. B. Edmondson, Bill Pipkin, D. E. Pitts, C. A. Pitts, Carl Tardy, W. M. Joslin, T. E. Misses Ruby Spears, Maggie Bryan, Verlin Reeves, Amy Glenn, Rachel Patton and the hostesses.

Club Meets Friday With Mrs. Barkley

The Four O'clock Club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. L. J. Barkley, with two tables of bridge. Six games were played during the afternoon, with Mrs. Jack Edwards as winner of the club high. Mrs. W. W. Clements held second high, and Mrs. U. L. Wilie, guest high.

Refreshments were served to the following ladies: Mesdames Edwards, Clements, Annie Tudor, D. E. Pitts, Wilie, J. S. Stanley, T. J. Daffern and the hostess.

Cold Weather Hikes Cases Of Influenza

AUSTIN—Reports from widely separated parts of Texas to the State Health Department indicate that influenza is on the increase. Recent snows and markedly colder weather account for the upsurge in influenza prevalence, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

Influenza is believed transmissible from person to person through mucous discharge from the nose and throat. To protect yourself and others from contracting influenza or colds, here are precautions to be followed:

Influenza is highly infectious. Practically everyone is susceptible to it. No matter how many times you may have had influenza, you may contract it again. Therefore keep away from people who are sneezing, coughing or sniffing, or who are actively ill with colds, influenza or pneumonia. Keep away from crowded places.

Never use towels, glasses, or personal articles other than your own to which the cold germs might adhere, and always wash your hands before eating.

Keep yourself as fit as possible. Drink plenty of water, eat simple nourishing food, exercise out of doors every day, dress according to the weather, and get plenty of sleep in a well-ventilated room.

If you feel an attack of flu, or even what you may think is an ordinary cold, coming on, go to bed. If the cold becomes worse, send for your physician and follow his directions. A cold can too easily develop into a fatal mistake.

Mocha Halo Cakes Food For Angels

YOU'LL rate your own personal halo when you serve Mocha Halo Cakes—their heavenly flavor comes from strong, fresh coffee used in the making, and when served with hot coffee—the natural accompaniment—it's perfect fare for holiday or just general entertaining. Easier to make than they look—here's how:

Mocha Halo Cakes: 1/2 cup shortening, 1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup cocoa, 1 egg, 2 egg yolks, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/2 cup double strength freshly made coffee, 1/2 cup buttermilk, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Cream shortening thoroughly, add sugar gradually creaming until light and fluffy. Combine whole egg and egg yolks; beat well; add to the creamed mixture. Reserve the two egg whites for the frosting. Cool coffee and combine with buttermilk. Sift remaining dry ingredients and add alternately with liquid to creamed mixture, mixing well after each addition. Bake in oiled muffin pans in a moderate oven (350°) for 20 minutes. Makes 18 medium or 12 large cup cakes.

Frost with Fluffy White Frosting: when the frosting has been put a band of chocolate around edge of the cake. Melt 1 square bitter chocolate with 1 teaspoon butter. Put on with teaspoon pastry brush.

Fluffy White Frosting: 2 egg whites, 1 tablespoon light corn syrup, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup cold water, 1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring.

Place all of the ingredients in a double boiler. Beat with a rotary egg-beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over boiling water; beat steadily with the rotary beater until the frosting will form peaks when the beater is lifted. 7 to 10 minutes. Remove from heat; add the vanilla. Frost top and sides of cup cakes. Makes enough frosting for top and sides of 18 medium cup cakes.

Freedom

FROM MONEY WORRIES...

Perhaps few things contribute as much toward happiness as freedom from money worries. It is true that money will not buy happiness but it will insure satisfaction and provide protection against the inevitable emergencies that confront every home.

Many thousands of small incomes have found that by saving a portion of their earnings, a comfortable bank account is soon accumulated.

Why not start a bank account today and enjoy the freedom it offers from financial worries.

SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPT. HAS BANQUET TUESDAY

The intermediate department of the Methodist church enjoyed a banquet Tuesday evening, served in the church basement. The entertainment was planned as a result of a Bible reading contest, with the losing side furnishing the refreshments. The table was decorated in red and blue, with a centerpiece consisting of a bowl of white narcissus. Crystal candelabra on either side held red candles. The place cards were tiny candles in candy holders, bearing the names of the members and teachers in the department. About thirty of the thirty-eight members in the department, were present, and the following teachers: Mesdames Jim Ford, H. H. Schweitzer, John Russell, Fred Simpson, superintendent; Miss Zona Beth Faulkner and Fred G. Simpson Jr. Invited guests included Rev. W. B. Vaughn and Mrs. Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Whitworth, and Mrs. Fay Jacobs. The program consisted of songs, stories and games. All declared it a very delightful evening.

Old Letters Returned To Writer's Son

Epistles Of Civil War Days Are Sent To G. E. Hamilton

Matador, January 30, 1940 Editor Tribune:

Herewith are three letters written by my father bearing Civil War dates while he was in Lee's army. They were written to his parents and sisters and were addressed to his home postoffice of Subigna, located in northern Georgia. My father having lived in Motley county for many years and having died at Matador in 1927, these letters may be of interest to your readers, especially his friends and acquaintances. The unusual coincidence thru which these letters reached my hands may also be interesting. John F. Cooper, a brother-in-law, who resides near Carrizozo, N. M. sent them to me, he having found them in the possession of a Mr. Childers, living near him. Having known my father, he thought the letters may have been written by him, so he obtained possession of them and sent them to me, Mr. Childers is a stranger to me, but he says he found these letters in an old trunk, somewhere in Central Texas, probably Hamilton county, years ago. Evidently the letters were passed on to relatives by the addresses, to be read as War News, and were never returned. Several brothers and sisters of my grandfather migrated to Texas from Georgia soon after the close of the war, and settled in central Texas; they and their immediate descendants are now all dead, but their posterity was numerous and spread over much of this state, and no doubt these letters were found among the effects of some of them. It seems unbelievable that the son of a Civil War soldier should, by sheer accident, come face to face with letters written by his father more than three quarters of a century ago, and receive them from the possession of a stranger residing 1500 miles from the home of those to whom they were addressed. A time-yellowed envelope, addressed to my father, accompanying these letters makes identification positive, as well as his handwriting, which I recognize. Respectfully, G. E. Hamilton.

Camp near Hamilton's Springs, Va. June 15, 1863.

Dear Lou and Troupy:— As I may not get an opportunity to write you again soon I thought I would write you this evening. From all I can learn I think we will start to Culpeper tonight or in the morning. All the Yankees have evacuated Fredericksburg, and think we will leave here before long if not tonight or in the morning. I have been somewhat surprised in this last move; I thought that we would have been in a fight before now, but there has not been any fighting except a fight that Gen. Stewart had last Tuesday. I don't know anything about the move, but I think the next fight will be near Manassas, but this is only a conjecture of my own. I think our summer's campaign has just commenced with.

We have been laying around for the last seven months without any marching scarcely, but we may look out from this time on until fall. The Yankees came over this side of the river and staid until night before last and then they went back and left some of their men on this side and when day came our men closed in on them and taken about twenty prisoners; these men were left on picket and the pontoon bridges were taken up and they had no way to get back except to swim the river, which some of them done. I am very certain that we will leave here in twelve hours, and I don't know when I will have an opportunity to write you again. I received a letter from Richie and Ana last Thursday evening; they were dated the 4th. Pa had not got home before the letters were mailed. I hear through Ma) Groves that he had got home, but did not state any of the particulars, but I suppose must have been trouble very much as he did not get home as soon as he expected. We have preaching nearly every day; there has been a good many baptized this spring and the soldiers are very strict in attending meeting. I have written all the news; you must write soon. I have not received a letter from you and Troupy in a long time, so you must mend up and write soon to Your brother, J. W. Hamilton.

Camp near Staunton, Va. January 15, 1864

Dear Parents: Being settled once more I will write you a letter. I commenced a letter yesterday but did not finish it, so will commence one from the stump. I have just read one from Cousin John G. Hamilton stating that you passed through Atlanta the 2nd. Inst. on your way home. I received a letter from Georgia on the 17th of December. I have been looking for one from you this week. The day that I left Staunton I marched below Harrisonberg, but did not overtake the rest until next day. We have been as low down the valley as Middle Town, 15 miles this side of Winchester. We have had a fine time with the exception of cold weather. I have been a great deal about my clothing, some of the boxes have been opened. We have not had the chance of sending for them yet. I think we will stay in the valley this winter. Not finishing this letter last night, I will continue.

There has been an order issued by Gen. Lee that all who will get a recruit for his company shall have a furlough of 30 days, and I feel inclined to see how the thing will work. There is two chances for a furlough this winter if I can get a recruit. If I can't get one by the order that I speak of, I think I can get one by June or July, but if I can get a recruit I will have a chance for two furloughs. I want you to make an effort for me, but I don't want Sam to come, I had rather not get a furlough, but I think you can get some one to come; if you do, write me who it is so I can get transportation for him. The order says the recruit must not be a deserter nor belong to any other command (that is Confederate service). I have not got my clothing yet; don't know when I can get it. Three of the Company will start home in a few days on furlough. We are busy making out paroles, so I will close. The weather is clear and cold. Try for that recruit immediately and let me hear from you. As ever, your son, J. W. Hamilton.

Gaines Mill, Va. June 5th, 1864

Dear Parents: It has been nearly a week since I wrote you, and I suppose every days' news increases your anxiety to hear from Virginia. Yesterday the Yankees attacked our whole line, for the first time there has been anything like a general engagement. They were repulsed at every point with great loss. They taken our best works in a place or two, but was retaken very soon again. This morning's paper puts our loss down at 500, killed and wounded, and the Yankees at 6,000 to 10,000. It is rumored here this morning that Sherman is falling back from the fact that Forrest is operating in his rear, very much to his (Sherman's) disadvantage. I gave you all of the casualties in my last letter but for fear you did not get it I will give them again. I observed from the letter I got from you last evening that you have heard of the missing of our company.

In the fight of the 23rd, A. K. Tyler and N. H. White was killed, both shot through the head. Robert J. Davidson, J. P. Jackson and D. M. Saratt was wounded, Davidson, I fear will not get over his, being shot through the right side; Saratt was shot through the left arm above the elbow, and Jackson was shot through the right hip, the ball glancing the bone, from what I can learn, I did not see him myself. We have twenty men with the company, including two officers. I am not well myself today, though I feel better than I did last night and this morning. A. M. Jackson requests that you let his family know that himself and Joe are well, and John is wounded but doing well when last heard from. All the boys whose homes are in the Yankee's lines would like to hear from them, if you can hear from their folks, and send them word that all the boys are well except those above mentioned. The 11th; Virginia is here now, but I have not had an opportunity to go and see Uncle Jesse's boys yet; but as soon as I can I will go and see them. Don't know how they have come out in the fight. Captain Cleghorn was killed in the battle at the Wilderness; have not heard of any other casualties, in that company. I have a piece of silver that I will send Troupy to make a ring. I received a letter from Cousin Bettie Pitts since I come back from home, but have not answered it yet. If you see Uncle Andrew soon, tell him to not despair. I will answer his letter as soon as possible. Write soon to Your son, J. W. Hamilton.

team played Northfield, January 24. Although Whiteflat was defeated, the boys played a very good game. The scores were: Northfield 38, Whiteflat 4.

Highlights Of The Week

We really ought to call this column "lowlights" of the week, because nearly everyone has the "flu" or bad colds and just about half of the pupils are attending.

In the ninth grade, H. L. Morris, Guy Kimbell Jr., James Horace and Elsie have been unable to attend regularly. Five pupils have reported every day except one.

In the seventh and eighth grades the following pupils have been absent: Brown Morris, Grace Laverne Tilson and Beulah Ridley. The weather has been so cold that at noon, recess and play periods have been spent playing games indoors.

The fifth and sixth grades report these absentees: Mary Juanice, Mary Ann, Gid, James, Enos, and Mary Katherine. The fifth grade pupils are making maps in geography, and new pictures are being colored for decorations.

Several from the third and fourth grades have also been absent due to illness. The fourth grade is studying Egypt and making maps.

The reporter for the first and second grade wrote: "Flu—flu—boo hoo—and colds" "Our stove smokes and its too cold to play outside.

"The second grade girls have finished hand-painting flowers and butterflies on a curtain for the book case which the boys built under the windows.

"Art pictures that were voted the best for this month were: "Red Riding Hood" by Roy Ella; "Peter Rabbit" by Melvin Lee; "Three Billy Goats", June Spray; "Rip Van Winkle", H. A. Stephens; "Puss in Boots", Mary Francis; "Rumple Stikin" by Jo Boy Spray.

TO PICK NYA TEXAS YOUTHS FOR SYMPHONY

Completion of the district selection committee to audition Texas youths between 16 and 25 years old for the Leopold Stokowski All-American Youth symphony, to be taken on tour of South and Central America this summer and fall by the famous conductor, was announced in Lubbock this week by A. V. Bullock, NYA district director.

J. C. Kellam, state NYA administrator, had selected D. O. Wiley, director of the Texas Technological college band, chairman, and C. S. Eskridge, in charge of Senior High School's band. Wiley and Eskridge named Joe Haddon, director of Junior High School's band, to assist them.

The Lubbock NYA district of 24 counties must file applications of candidates with Wiley by Feb. 15. He may be addressed at box 1466, NYA office, in Lubbock.

District eliminations will be in Lubbock Feb. 24. Such eliminations will be in other Texas cities, Dallas, Fort Worth, Amarillo, Tyler, El Paso, Laredo, Houston, Waco, Austin, San Antonio and San Angelo.

A state committee will hear further eliminations in Austin March 6, 7 and 8. Regional auditions then will be in eight cities of the United States, where Texas winners will compete with those of other states, and winners will be sent to New York at Stokowski's expense for final eliminations. Candidates are expected to arrange for their own transportation and expenses, and for those of their accompanists, if any, to local and state auditions, but the NYA districts will lend every effort possible to assist.

Youths selected in New York auditions will be given jobs as members of the symphony of 109 persons and will be paid at regular musicians' rate for the tour.

Institute Of Student Opinion MORE JUMPIN' AND JIVIN' WANTED

QUESTION: What do you think about having several more dances in the gym before school closes? Lela Carpenter: Boy, I think that is just a hot idea. Whoever thought it up is really smart. Oneita Kimbell: I think it is a pretty good idea. It would be just grand! Joyce Irby: I guess it would be all right if I could come. Frances Stearns: We just have to have some more dances. I think it would climax the Junior-Senior banquet to have one afterwards. Joyce Daniels: I think it is a nice idea because if the students go there they will not want to go to public dances. Byron Knight: I don't care because it doesn't make any difference to me. James R. Neblett: I think it is all right if the students don't smoke or drink. Glenn Woodruff: I believe it is a very good idea. We ought to have a lot more dances. Juanita Mize: I wish they would! I think they should! I don't believe that there is any harm in it since they are carried on the way they are. James R. Fish: I think they ought to have a lot more of them because the students will probably do it anyway. Billy Tunnell: I think it would be educational—learning the old-time dances and such—and the students would have a lot of fun. Bert Schweitzer: I really think it is a good idea, and I am in favor of it. Elmer Gene Jameson: I think that because our conduct was so good last time and so long as it stays that good that we ought to have some more dances.

HOW TO BECOME A BELLE IN ONE EASY LESSON

Now girls, I know that each one of you wants to be the belle of every ball you attend. It is natural for a young girl to be this way; and if you haven't met with success, something must be wrong with your technique. Maybe you have some slight fault that causes the boys to dislike dancing with you. Read this list of the types of girls that a boy dislikes dancing with. Take heed of each dislike. If you are hit, change your ways immediately. When you do this, I am sure that you will be a social success, the belle of every ball. Here is the list. First. Girls who know that they are going out for an evening of dancing and wear an inappropriate costume; such as a large picture hat or a hat with a quill that endangers ones eyesight at every step. Second. Girls who insist upon cuddling their heads on their partner's chest so that each time he breathes in he inhales a whisp of curl that makes him sneeze. Third. A girl who carries on a conversation with another girl while on the floor, in spite of the fact that couples on all sides are tripping over her and her partner. Fourth. A girl who insists on being the first out on an empty dance floor. Fifth. A girl who has learned a new step and who insists on teaching it to her partner in the middle of the floor or on the sidelines between numbers. Sixth. A girl who promises the next dance and then disappears for at least three sets. Seventh. Girls of the jealous type and keep eagle eyes on their escorts whenever dances are traded. Eighth. Girls who strain at the leash and try to lead their partners. Boys, some of your faults will appear next week.

JUNIOR HEROES RECEIVE AWARDS

Last Tuesday in the study hall the boys who participated in the Junior High School games were awarded belt buckles with a red and black M and the word football on them. The buying of these buckles was made possible by the sale of advertisements on the football schedules. These sales were made by Juanita Mize and Frances Stearns. Mr. Ezzell, the coach of the junior team, awarded the buckles to the following boys who are on the team: Stanley Dan Level, Billie Bishop, Junior Barkley, James Edmondson, W. E. Ballard, G. W. Ratcliff, Alton Marshall, Bill Rushing, Junior Pitts, J. C. Titus, Tuffy King, Jackie Catlin, Billy Tunnell, Franklin Price, James Ed Russell, Elmer Gene Jameson, Glenn Allen, James R. Neblett, and McElton Skaggs, and the two managers, Bert Schweitzer and Pat Sheridan. During the football season the boys won five games and lost five. Two of the games were lost in the last two minutes of play. This is a good record, and we are expecting great things from these boys on the senior team next year.

FOOTBALL FUTURE FOR NEXT YEAR

It would be wise to pause a moment and look over the prospects for a football team in this coming season. We lost some of our best men this year. We will have some freshmen boys that will play next season and a few boys from grade school, but we are more concerned with some of the lettermen left over from last year. They are as follows: Junior Pitts will fill the tackle position this next season. He was a real substitute last year and is expected to do real work next year. Billy Tunnell, who was too small last year to be on the starting line up, is expected to be on next year's line. Billy was plenty rough last season; and if he stays that rough, he will be a great help in the coming season. J. C. Titus, who had too much competition last season to be a regular starter, will be in there next year. J. C. was a great help to the junior team last year and will be important next year. Johnny Allsup, the fastest man in the district, will be in there this next year. He was an all-district man last year. Johnny is a good man on defense and will be at his best this year. Mutt Berryman will be in there this year hitting for the all-district title. Mutt made the second all-district last year, and greater things are expected from him this year. E. A. Day is about the only man on this years squad who has let-

Propaganda for Democracy

Diagram comparing Democracy and Dictatorship. Democracy is shown as a balanced scale with 'Representative Government' and 'Private Enterprise' on the pans. Dictatorship is shown as a scale tilted towards 'Government'. Text: 'Democracy rests not on supermen but on the good sense of many. We work to a hundred-year plan.' 'Ours is a business civilization. Its vitality derives from the union of two great forces working together...' 'What is achieved by our democracy nationally is but the sum of achievements locally.' 'Wealth must be abundantly—constantly—created.' 'Democracy accords all the freedoms—freedom -to speak -to dream -to think -to worship -to accomplish. It thinks of man not as a subject of the state but as a free and radiant being, entitled to health, happiness, the reward of his own initiative.'

WHAT'S WRONG WITH DEMOCRACY? In discussing this question recently, Paul Garrett, Director of Public Relations for General Motors, found nothing wrong with our democracy except perhaps, a lack of understanding of the things it stands for. The only way to correct that, he said, is through more and better propaganda for democracy—propaganda that is honest, that is human, that stirs sound emotions. "Over all the world," Mr. Garrett concluded, "the heart of man is hungry for faith. Man wants to believe he can earn his way to better position. He wants opportunity along with others working beside him, opportunity that is the only true security, to attain all those freedoms our form of democracy stands for, Man longs to know that through and through the plan of American enterprise is threaded his greatest hope for the future." Above are illustrations of excerpts from Mr. Garrett's talk "Propaganda for Democracy."

tered for four years. He is a great help when it comes to passing and punting. He will be doing a lot of this next season. Wiley Kennedy, the big boy who has a lot to show us this coming year, will be there in the backfield. Wiley is fast and can really carry that ball. Phil Green is a boy who made a star in one year. Phil will fill the end position, catch those passes, and hit those men on defense. With all these good men there is no reason why we don't have a good ball club next year.

yond us all, but they were two among many who "howled" Sadie Hawkins Night. (It should be declared a national holiday). Quinn and Tom Nell make a cute couple don't cha' think? They really should get together more often (for the sake of the staff of editors) and let us see their shining faces. Which one is nuts about which is the important question at present. We're positive though that it isn't a unanimous love on both sides because there just ain't no such thing anymore. (Oh, for the olden days of chivalry and romance.) It's agreed that Myrnavae took proper advantage of Sadie Hawkins Day. Why didn't cha' give him a breathing spell, derie, before fore jumpin' him for a date? (Who? Why Bennie of course.) Any other of Mr. Keltz's admirers didn't have a Chinaman's chance, but there's always a next time, gals. Another Hawkins Day couple we were about to overlook was Leroy and Zona Ruth. Zona seems to have conflicting emotions on several sides at present. Which one is her dream man is not known, but maybe she wants to keep a secret. (Heaven help her we find it out.) We girls feel the jolt of a veritable important incident that occurred on the above mentioned day, and (We're tired writin' it.) James Russell Neblett flatly refused the cute little number better known as Oneita Kimball, and so he failed to cooperate properly. James, it's time you stepped out a little. You're really quite handsome you know! Just a puzzle folks: What Boone Mt. got that interests and Thomas.

LIONS PLAN 3RD GOODWILL MEXICO TREK

Plans for the Third Texas Lions Goodwill Pilgrimage To Mexico have been completed, and General Chairman Julien C. Hyer of Fort Worth has announced the itinerary, and is receiving reservations for the trip.

Sponsored by the Fort Worth Lions Club and endorsed by five district governors of Texas, this Pilgrimage has been extended to include not only members of the International Lions Association, but likewise their families and friends, and to members of the general public who are acceptable to the Committee on arrangements. Inquiries, according to Hyer, have been received by the committee from many Northern and Eastern States, as well as from the West as far as California, manifesting much interest in the Pilgrimage this year.

"With foreign and all water travel greatly curtailed," Chairman Hyer reported, "the tendency prevalent among those who travel is to take advantage of the beauty of the climate and the flower season of Mexico just after Easter, and for that reason we are planning our trip this year April 4-15." The trip will originate at Fort Worth with arrangements for South Texas Pilgrims to join the special train at San Antonio, leaving the night of April 4th, arriving in Mexico City, Sunday, April 7th, from which place a daily tour will be made to various points of interest, including Xochimilco, Puebla, Taxco, the Pyramids, and other points of interest. A feature of the trip will be the over-night stay with a dinner-dance at Taxco, the quaint artist colony of Mexico with lunches and banquets participated in by members of the Mexican Lions Clubs and their families. Hyer states that no distinction will be made on the trip between members of the Lions Club and non-members, and all will receive the same hospitality from Mexican Lions and their families.

A special all-expense rate from $129.75 up includes everything except meals enroute and some in Mexico City. Full information is being furnished by the Fort Worth Lions Club to all interested in this Pilgrimage, the reservations being limited to 200. Illustrated folder has been issued and will be furnished on request.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS BOYCE HOUSE (with portrait of a man)

The time is nigh at hand when patriots will begin announcing for public office.

Innumerable manifestos will begin: "Yielding to the earnest solicitude of hundreds of friends"—(probably the only one urging the race in some cases is a brother-in-law who has been contributing to his support)—"I have reluctantly decided to make the sacrifice and run for—"

Memories of Old Rip, the East-

Those Siamese twins, "point with pride" and "view with alarm", also will get another thorough working out.

Everybody will come out in favor of "efficiency and economy." Why doesn't someone—just to be different—come out for "inefficiency and extravagance?" That's what it usually works out at, anyhow.

Of course, every candidate was born on a farm or, if not, he keeps quiet about the subject. They also came of "poor but honest parents". I never could understand the logic of the expression, "poor but honest"; why not, "poor and honest?"

Nearly every candidate will modestly admit he is a "self-made man". I never hear the expression but what I think about the bald-headed fellow who made that claim and a small boy asked, "Then mister, why didn't you give yourself a little more hair?" Of course, the candidate is "clean as a hound's tooth" and "as straight as a string."

Most of them will proclaim a platform committing them to the a job in those "needless departments, bureaus and commissions" and think they have hit upon an idea as new as Columbus' discovery of North America. After being elected, many of those same candidates will try to get into jobs in those "needless departments, bureaus and commissions." Each announcement will pledge the aspirant to "conduct a clean campaign, free of mud-slinging and personalities". However, down near the close, there will be the promise to "let the chips fall where they may."

One thing about W. Lee O'Daniel's campaign in 1938, he gave folks something new with his slogan, "Pass the biscuits, pappy."

But I saw a sign on a cafe the other day that would rival that for a campaign cry: "Thick steaks and thin pancakes."

Do you like to take part in contests? Most of us do, especially if there's the chance of winning a cash prize. Well, the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show—that's in Fort Worth, of course—is offering $25 to the person sending in the most appropriate name for the amusement spot on the grounds. It's a place where refreshing beverages and appetizing food can be obtained; dancing to the music of a "name" band can be enjoyed and there will also be a bright and sparkling floor show. Last year, the fun spot was called "the Roundup." A name with a Southwestern flavor, such as the Burk House, Branding Iron or—maybe—Bum Steer, probably would have the best chance to win and all entries must be post-marked not later than Feb. 9.
