RAIL DUST

By
DOUGLAS MEADOR

Little Fellow, your eyes are too in the cold, red dawn; your too wistful as you plod thru dusty dust along the road to brown cotton fields. The can-sake of a cotton-sack across your shoulders is like a wire trapped about your young heart; children are cuddled in blankets, listening to the of their dreams. Other children will awaken to a soft gleaming food inside the of a hot-house world. You curses and smelled the uncovers over your small arms; and a soggy griddlecake and white bacon.

The weight of dragging fleece burrs has yet to bend your back, Little Fellow, and the point-bells will open your chapped lips until they stain the fluff of Small Tow of Destiny, your eyes will see many winter rolls into the middles where ball, your hands will feel the of other dawns and hunger be with you often as the cold blow into your heart, but will not complain with time spring through its grotesque Poverty will allow a few peas; brown pintos, soft in your soup, ground beef beneath of gravy, and the fragrance of chili; some foods bear ishment to the soul.

Standing on the rusting rails of tired, old horses, the discard-engines await the slow acid of decay. It is like a cemetery when they still stand instead of accepting their couches in the soil; the begs to be poured into new bins.

Perhaps at night there is hissing steam in the phantom wind of the subdued sound of copper and darkness above the of cold flues. Perchance there is a roaring of vanished wheels speeding under motionless wheels, and the broken panes of the windows are punched open.
The express engine is still in the vicinity of iron horses.

Fear has often found quarters inside my heart and retains a special privilege which permits me at all hours and without the formality of announcing or explaining questionable arrivals.
Frequently there is a "do not disturb" card on the door and I hesitate to try the lock, except when prompted by necessity.

Not long ago I was obsessed with a fear of symbolism which nurtured one summer when I was youth on the farm, thinking of other things than the duties which had been assigned me. There was a dark green watermelon in the field which early in its life had shown indications of reaching more than average size. I covered it with dried weeds and watched the growth with much impatience.
Thumping it at intervals, I was tempted to break the vine and carry the melon to the shade of the cottonwoods surrounding the house. At last I decided to give it one day more and harried through the next morn-ing's dew; too late. Coyotes had found the melon and broken parts of a green hull still cling to the stems. Seeds were scattered over fresh tracks. I do not know all the reasons which had a part in believing that my life has been, in some way, symbolic of the incident.

Success is not a thing which can be taken away from a man like a jewel that is stolen while he sleeps. Once the mold for his ambition is attained, it is secreted within his soul, and the casts are made at will. He knows the intrinsic strength of his dreams; the grandeur of his vision and how it is a fusing alley-cat shut inside the firm door of his heart.

The truly successful man may lose his properties with the same degree of alarm that obsesses the lost at the loss of its leaves in an autumn wind. Another spring will find more abundant leaves; a stronger tree.

Home is that place to which we return in order to tell our friends of the pleasures we found while away.

The modern automobile is a rolling slave to civilization; its only fault being that it must depend upon man for a brain.

Subsidy Pay Now Reaches $91,661 Here

One Third Balance Payment Expected Within Short Time

Last week $11,932.79 in 1937 cotton subsidy checks were received by County Agent Frank A. Buckley's office for distribution to Motley county producers. This shipment of checks brought the total of cash received to $91,661.02, which is estimated to be approximately two-thirds of the total payment.

A total of 701 work sheets were sent in from this county, for the 1937 cotton subsidy payment. Mr. Buckley declared, which will amount to $146,404.89 when the entire amount has been received. The estimated one-third checks still due, are expected within a very short time.

Compensation for 1937 compliance arrived with greater dispatch than for any during the government agriculture program, with the exception of the 1934 cattle checks, Mr. Buckley said.

Large Payments In County

When the remaining $54,743.00 in cotton subsidy checks are received, Motley county farm and ranch owners will have received a total of $261,804.28 for compliance in the agricultural and range programs during the year 1937.

Besides the cotton subsidy checks, other farm payments amounting to $79,164.93 and range program payments amounting to $36,234.46 have been made to farmers and ranchmen.

The 701 work sheets for Motley county were signed by land-owners and tenants representing 374 farms. The 602 checks received have averaged approximately $150.00 each.

Barber Shop Partnership Dissolved

A deal was culminated here Tuesday which dissolved a partnership of 14 years standing, when Henry Pipkin purchased the interests of his partner, Warren Clements, in the City Barber Shop located in the Sheridan building.

Mr. Clements has purchased the Hossier barber shop in Plainview and will probably move there early next week to assume management he announced yesterday.

Mr. Pipkin will assume complete management of the shop here and declared there would be no change in the personnel, except that another barber would be secured to fill the vacancy caused by the loss of Mr. Clements.

State Game Authority To Visit County

R. E. Callender Of A. & M. College To Speak At Meetings

A statewide authority on wildlife and game management will speak at three places in Motley county, Tuesday, October 13. R. E. Callender, game management specialist with the A. and M. College Extension Service will spend the day observing local demonstrations in game management and meeting with the groups interested in wildlife. The meetings are to be held at Flonot at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning; Roaring Springs at 3:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and Matador at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

Farmers and townspeople are especially invited to attend the meetings where an opportunity will be presented for all to become members of the Motley County Game Management Association.

Organization Active

This organization, which is sponsoring the meetings Tuesday, in cooperation with County Agent Frank A. Buckley, has been very active during the past year in promoting the interests of game and wildlife in this county. Ladies and school children are also urged to attend in order to hear the inspiring address of Mr. Callender.

The association, through County Agent Buckley, has been endeavoring for the past several months to bring Mr. Callender to Motley County. Now that this effort has been successful, it is hoped that all citizens of the county will avail themselves of the opportunities to hear this unique message.

"Altho the date falls in a busy season," said U. L. Willie, vice-president of the association, "surely each of us can spend one hour in this worthy cause."

In addition, to Mr. Callender, it is possible that P. R. Sime, regional game manager with the State Game Commission, will appear on the program. Frank A. Buckley, County Agent, Jim Canon, State Game Warden, and officers and directors of the Motley county association will also be present.

TO NEW POSITION

Charles Boyd, who for the past year has been employed at Simpson's Drug, left Tuesday for St. Augustine, Texas, where he has accepted a similar position.

MATADOR DROPS VICTORY TO SILVERTON

The Matador Matadors lost their first game this season when Silvertown shut them out in a score of 13 to 0 Friday afternoon on the plains town's gridiron. The up-set caused considerable surprise to football fans here who believed the Matadors would come home with the scalp of another victory in their belts. The game was the second conference for the season.

The Matadors are making extensive preparations to recoup their loss to Silvertown when they meet the Spur Bulldogs under the lights at the Jones Memorial stadium Friday night. In order to become more familiar with the conditions of a lighted field, the Matadors went to Floydada last night for practice on the neighboring city's gridiron.

The game with Spur Friday night is expected to attract many from here since it will be the only night game played by the Matadors this season.

Altho Spur is reported to have a strong team, Coach Martin feels that his boys will provide a strong contention, for victory in their third conference tilt.

Service Station Deal Announced

A deal was completed last week whereby John Harris purchased the East Side Service Station from Mrs. Lula Dollison, and has assumed management of the establishment.

In addition to the complete lines of Phillips 66 gasoline and motor oils, Mr. Harris has installed a stock of fresh groceries and a lunch counter where short orders, sandwiches, chili and coffee are served at popular prices.

The name of the service station has been changed to the Harris Service Station. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to visit the business under its new management, with the assurance that a portion of the patronage will be appreciated.

The Harris Service Station is located on Highway 28, three blocks east of Main street.

Omar Burleson Acclaimed By Local Lions

District Governor Addresses Club At Tuesday Luncheon

Omar Burleson, District 2-T Governor of the Lions International, won loud acclaim from the Matador Lions Club for his engaging personality and his brilliant address before the group at the luncheon meeting held in the Methodist church basement Tuesday.

"Good citizens are Lions," Governor Burleson declared, "and by that I do not mean that all good citizens are included in the memberships of the clubs, but I mean that Lions are good citizens for Lionism and Americanism are synonymous—it is a well known fact that the principals of democracy are now on trial in America and a grave danger exists because we have had liberty handed to us by our forefathers—we must carry on supporting the principals of democracy and apathy is dangerous toward a continuation of Liberty."

Enjoys Visit Here

Governor Burleson declared that he enjoyed his visit to Matador and that he had been looking forward to it since receiving the invitation from secretary Whitworth.

A delicious luncheon was prepared by the Methodist ladies and the room was attractively decorated in Halloween motif. Besides Governor Burleson, who was accompanied by Mrs. Burleson, other visitors included: Group Chairman, Lee Vardy and Roy Cooper of Turkey and J. Lynn Mauk of College Station.

Governor and Mrs. Burleson departed immediately after the luncheon for Turkey where Governor Burleson was to meet with the Lions of that club.

In the absence of Lions Sweetheart, Miss Rachel Patton, Miss Mable Jameson, served as pianist during the luncheon.

Farmers Buy Long Staple Cottonseed

The distribution of better planting seed among Motley County cotton producers is going forward rapidly. At the suggestion of county agent, Frank A. Buckley, most of the ginners have made arrangements with some of their patrons who produce quality staple whereby farmers may leave their ordinary seed at the gin and take home the seed of the long staple variety. At one local gin the seed from thirteen bales of pure Acala cotton, ginned for one producer during one night this week, was all taken by other farmers in the exchange plan. The 13 bales of cotton brought from 9.10 to 9.80 cents per pound in the government loan. This is from $5.00 to $10.00 per bale more than the loan value of ordinary cotton.

One ginner at Roaring Springs showed Buckley by actual count that more than half of his patrons grew some Acala cotton this year. Practically all of these producers were highly pleased with the result, he said, and plan to plant their entire acreage in the long staple variety in 1939. Because all of the larger growers produce only this improved variety, this ginner estimated that probably 75 per cent of the cotton ginned in that community this season has been inch or better in staple. Another ginner reported to Buckley that a patron had received 10.75 cents per pound, the highest loan value available, for his Acala cotton.

Ginners in all communities are cooperating and producers in all parts of the county are rapidly changing over to the better seed. Many will purchase certified seed rather than risk the second year run from a neighbor's field. The practice of picking, rather than pulling the bolls, is becoming increasingly popular because it is necessary to protect the staple length and grade and realize full value from the improved variety.

Good Rains Over County

Rainfall which started about 11 o'clock Sunday night and continued thruout the night registered 2.10 inches in Matador according to the U. S. rain gage maintained by J. H. Sample.

Reports from various communities of the county indicated that the rain had been general over this section.

Altho the cotton-picking has been delayed to some extent, the rain was welcomed by both farmers and ranchmen.

Lubbock Gets Texas Press Convention

Lubbock was selected as host city for the 1939 meeting of the Texas Press association at a regular meeting of the executive committee, Friday in Dallas. The convention dates were set as June 8, 9, and 10.

Waco and Mineral Wells bid for the convention, but the committee voted unanimously to accept the invitation of the Hub city.

Dick Shinkle of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce attended and extended the invitation.

Lion Directors Hold Meeting

Directors of the Matador Lions Club met at a 7 o'clock breakfast held at the Texan Cafe Monday morning where a change in Ladies Night plans were announced.

Shallow Grave On Creek Bank Holds Grim Mystery

A human skeleton was found within a block of the Motley county court house here Tuesday afternoon by A. A. Tipton and T. B. Alsop as they started excavation for a small building on north Main street west of the county jail. The bones were covered with from four to six inches of soil and native grass turf and were decayed to an extent which indicated the interment might have been made a century ago.

The small, well-shaped head caused some observers to believe the skeleton might be that of an Indian woman, however this theory was doubted by others who pointed to the height which they declared would be too great for an Indian woman. The skeleton was found face downward, within a few feet from the bank of the small creek which traverses Matador's town section.

Sheriff Investigates

After discovery of the skeleton, Sheriff L. A. Carlisle investigated the bones and the location of the shallow grave but was unable to reach a conclusion since no ornaments, or articles of apparel were found.

A small fracture on the skull indicated that death might have resulted from a blow on the head. A number of teeth in the right lower jaw were found intact and no indications of decay other than that of being in contact with the soil for a number of years.

While further investigation will be made, it is assumed that the shallow grave was made before the town was settled and the bones preserved because of elements in the soil and rapid drying-out after rains.

SIX-MAN GRID GAME OCT. 20

An all-star six-man football game will be held at Spur in the Charles A. Jones Memorial stadium, at 8:00 o'clock Thursday evening, October 20. The game will consist of the best players from the Roaring Springs, Patton Springs, McAdoo and Dickens. Each school is represented by six men.

As a result of a drawing several days ago, McAdoo and Roaring Springs will be teamed together and Patton Springs and Dickens schools will be teamed together. Coaches from the schools are selecting the six-man teams for workouts, preparatory to the matches.

The schools thus far have proved to be of equal strength and the scores of all games this season have been close.

Six-man football is becoming popular with the smaller schools, providing spectacular and exciting entertainment for fans.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

HOBBY PICTURES

Child hobby is full of picture chances. Adult hobbies, too. Picture them as they progress, step by step.

YOU have a son or daughter who is a budding hobbyist, picture his progress. A series of pictures has delightful "story-telling" quality, and will increase memory value as time passes.

Almost any hobby can be pictured. Your young daughter paints or sews, snap a progressive series of pictures at her sketch pad or easel. If your boy builds model planes, snap a series of him busy in his workshop and parts of the new model. Take pictures that show the progress of the job, from the first stick to the completed plane—and its trial flight!

First attempts at golf... first lessons in tennis or swimming... any outdoor sport is full of these picture chances. Picture each stage, and you will treasure these snapshots later.

Take special care with these pictures, to get just the effect you want. For example, in taking the picture above, a light yellow K-1 filter was used on the camera lens, to darken the blue water and sky and make the white clothing and boat sail "stand out." Fast film was used, and reflections from the water made a short exposure possible—1/50 second at f.11. The picture shows careful thought, and proves that the rule "think before you shoot" is worth observing—whether you are taking hobby snapshots or some other kind.

Hobbies grow and expand, and they should be represented in your picture-history of the family. Take plenty of pictures, showing each new phase and development of your son's or daughter's hobby—and begin taking them now, for tomorrow there will be new stages to picture, while today's opportunities will be past.

FIND A COLLEGE TO FIT YOUR DAUGHTER, SAYS WRITER

HAVE you a daughter about to go to college? Then fit your daughter to the college, says Marian Castle, well-known writer, in an article in the August issue of Good Housekeeping.

"The right college," says Miss Castle, "is the one that fits a girl temperamentally and prepares her for her future, whether her future is a career or marriage."

But you have to analyze your daughter well—and then "shop around to find the college that will bring out her personality." Miss Castle—as a help to parents—roughly classifies girls as "career girls," "executives," "girls' girls," "boys' girls" and "nice average girls."

WHICH TYPE IS YOUR DAUGHTER?

Career Girl Executive Type

Girls' Girl Boys' Girl

When anyone asks you to help get the truck load limits raised, ask them the simple question: "What do I get out of it?" Not that one in that blunt question would ask for a personal handout, but rather that the operators of common carrier trucks be made conscious of the fact that the public wants some concession in rates equivalent to the economic factors involved in load limit increases.

With greater load limits the trucks can reduce their rates, unless, indeed, they have not generally been observing the load limits. The time to make common carrier truck owners conscious of the needed rate reduction is when they are wanting and not after they have obtained the load limit increase.—H. S. Hillburn, president of West Texas Chamber of Commerce in the Plainview Herald.—Floyd County Hesperian.

Take, for instance, the "executive" type—the kind that was president of her class in high school and was on all the committees. You might judge, on first thought, that her place would be in a small college where she could continue to be the "big frog in a little puddle." Miss Castle believes no. In a small college she is likely to become "bossy". Instead, says Miss Castle, "she should be dumped into the swift current of a large student body and left to sink or swim." She is the kind that needs competition!

And the "boys' girl"—the big coeducational college is not for her, according to Miss Castle. She should go to a women's college where she will really study and be "forced to cultivate her own sex."

It's good reasoning. And if parents have a three-sided contention with themselves, their daughter's teacher and with their daughter as Miss Castle suggests, there won't be so many unhappy and frustrated college girls in the class of 1942!

What Does The Public Receive?

It is only a matter of time until the unreasonable 7,000-pound load limit on trucks will be raised. The people are ready for it to be done.

We're for the load limit on a basis of scientific limits. The Bureau of Standards and other expert agencies have determined specifications that will make traffic of trucks safe, protect the highways, etc.

There's no sense in a 7,000-lb. gross truck load limit.

But before we espouse at Austin the increase load limit on trucks we want to know what the common carrier trucks propose to do for the public.

Improper Diet Is Cause Of Pellagra

"Pellagra, while not a communicable disease is of concern to the State Department of Health since many people die of it each year in Texas. Pellagra is a disease that is caused by the lack of proper foods. It comes on slowly and may not be recognized until the victim begins to have a sore mouth, stomach trouble, and reddening and scaling of the skin. When these symptoms appear, the disease has been present for some time," stated Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The larger a person has pellagra the harder it is to cure, so one should be on the lookout for the early symptoms, such as nervousness, indigestion, and burning of the feet and hands. The disease may become so severe as to affect the mind.

Pellagra is not contagious. As long as a person eats enough of the right kind of food and is not otherwise diseased, he is in no danger even if he lives with a pellagra patient.

The prevention of pellagra depends upon eating the right kind of food at all times. To make sure that the diet is right, it should always include plenty of milk daily, some fresh meat, and as many fresh vegetables as possible. Tomatoes, whole wheat products, and fresh fruits are especially valuable. Having provided these essentials of a proper diet, the rest may be arranged according to family and personal likes. In this way pellagra may be avoided.

At Waelder Park in Sinton, 30 NYA youths are terracing, filling and landscaping the park area and improving recreational facilities. Youths assigned to the NYA Residential Project at Buchanan Dam have completed one wing of a granite Administration Building and work is well under-way on the remainder of the 11-room structure.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Once when the ball was nearly over the line and the player was very anxious to make a touchdown, he made a play that cost him and his team a penalty. The play was made in the heat of enthusiasm. The mistake was not intentional. Could the result of the play have been foreseen, it would not have been made.

A preacher in his anxiety to put over a proposition in his church let his enthusiasm carry him too far. Statements were made that wounded the feelings of some of the members. Ill will was engendered. No hurt or thrust was intended. It was just a mistake. May we all be forgiven for our mistakes. May we all have the forgiving spirit. All are prone to err. Let us pray one for the other.

We will be happy to see you at church next Sunday.

FIRST BAPTIST NEWS

We can boast another good Sunday School report October 9, but considering the absentees it can be much better. In conference October 2, the church appointed a Soliciting Committee to work with absentees with the hope that we may build up our church and Sunday School considerably. If each church member will do his duty, it can be done to the glory of God and the good of our community.

Rev. W. D. Green from Abilene brought us good messages both morning and evening. Miss Wanda Limer and Mrs. Lem Miller brought the morning devotional program.

To each of our several visitors we extend a hearty invitation to come back and be with us every Sunday. And to you who haven't been to church in several Sundays, we earnestly urge you to come. You are missing some very timely, valuable, and instructive lessons. There are many children in our city who should be in Sunday School.

TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF MOTLEY COUNTY, GREETING:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to summon Elmer Tibbets by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 110th Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Motley County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Matador, on the 2nd Monday in November A. D. 1938, the same being the 14th day of November A. D. 1938, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 28th day of September A. D. 1938, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 1028, wherein Modena Tibbets is Plaintiff, and Elmer Tibbets is Defendant, and said petition alleging that plaintiff and defendant were married on or about the first day of March, 1936, in the county of Motley, state of Texas; that plaintiff is a bona fide inhabitant of the state of Texas, and has been for a period of twelve months, and has resided in the said county of Motley for a period of six months, next preceding the filing of this suit; that while plaintiff was married to defendant she conducted herself with propriety, doing her duty as a wife, and at all times treated defendant with kindness and forbearance. Defendant, in disregard of the solemnity of his marriage vow and his obligation to treat plaintiff with kindness and consideration, within a short time after the said marriage, commenced unkind and harsh conduct against plaintiff and abused her and on diverse occasions defendant was guilty of cruel treatment and outrages toward plaintiff, of such a nature as to render their further living together insupportable, and such acts continued until plaintiff finally separated from defendant on or about the fourteenth day of July, 1937, to never return to him again.

During the aforesaid marriage defendant failed and refused to provide clothes for plaintiff and failed and refused to provide food so that plaintiff was forced to call upon her mother for support. During the aforesaid marriage there were no children born as issue thereof and no property, personal or real was acquired so that no property rights are involved. Prior to the marriage aforesaid plaintiff's maiden name was Modena Graves and she desires that the marriage be dissolved and that she be restored to her maiden name. Wherefore plaintiff prays that defendant be cited to answer this petition; that on final hearing plaintiff have judgement of divorce, dissolving the marriage between plaintiff and defendant; that plaintiff be restored to her maiden name, and for such further and other relief as the court shall deem proper with costs of suit.

Herein I Fail Not, and have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given Under My Hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Matador, Texas, this the 28th day of September A. D. 1938, Jack Robinson, Clerk, District Court, Motley County.

LOS TOREROS...

HOW DO YOU STUDY?

No student is able to make good grades without a certain amount of study; therefore, it is necessary that we know how to study correctly. The most important phase of correct studying is concentration, for an hour of steady concentration is better than spending three hours on something and getting nothing out of it. Then, too, we must discover the most important points in a lesson and concentrate on them, instead of trying to include too much territory. In preparing a lesson, the most effective way to remember is to use notes. Don't try to spell out every word, but use abbreviations frequently, and in this way much time can be saved. Make a note of the important points and learn them!

All time should be used systematically. Do you work on the budget plan? Try it! After reading over a lesson practice self-questioning and don't ever forget to apply your knowledge as soon as possible.

Let us try to learn as much as possible this year, for, after all, we go to school to learn.

Home Ec. Club Is Organized

All students taking home economics this year met on Monday, October 3, for the purpose of organizing the home economics club. The following officers were elected: President, Lela Carpenter; Vice-President, Betty Jo Simpson; Secretary, Kara Hunsucker; Treasurer, Marie Hunsucker; Reporter, Myrnae Barkley.

The president appointed Frances Stearns, Wendell Berryman, and Juanita Mize to serve on the year-book committee. The club will meet twice each month, and different phases of home making will be studied. It will also raise money in order to buy additional equipment for the home economics department.

Science Department

In order for students and patrons to obtain a better understanding of the departments in high school, "Los Toreros" will describe each within the next few weeks.

The first of this series is the science department. Mr. Gray has been at the head of this department for four years. He is a graduate of Lincoln Memorial College and has done about half of his work toward his master's degree.

Affiliated courses taught in science are general science, biology, chemistry, and physics. Two years of science are required for graduation, unless the student wishes to take courses in domestic science, which are taught in the home economics department.

The science department is well equipped for making experiments, and it consists of two rooms, a lecture room and a laboratory. This year a bioscope has been installed, which will greatly aid the students in their studies.

Much Interest Is Shown In Band

Under the able direction of Albert Rattan and Mr. Gray, the band has been progressing rapidly. We certainly do appreciate the work of the directors and members, because the band adds so much to our pep rallies and football games. The members of the band include the following:

Clarinets: Myrnae Barkley and Marion Clements. Cornets: W. T. Marshall, James R. Fish, Glenn Woodruff, James R. Neblett, Bobby Harp, Walter Midgley, Mack Jacobs, George Doss, and Albert Rattan. Saxophones: Frances Stearns, Lela Carpenter, and Bennie Keltz. Trombone: Norman Harp.

We mustn't forget to include our two snappy drummers, Jewell McCoy and Aileen Russell. You are doing excellent work, band members, keep it up!

THIS AND THAT

Listen, girls, for here are the essentials of a good date: 1. She doesn't eat much. 2. She is good-looking. 3. She doesn't eat much.

- 4. She is a good dancer. 5. She doesn't eat much.

The theatre of Matador is probably the most romantic setting in our fair town. We noticed a new couple together the other night. Have you heard? (James Edward and Tom Nell.)

The newest idea in our high school is to form an "Old Maid's Club." We are endeavoring to set aside a room for our sewing and knitting and will raise funds by giving floor-shows on the stage of our local night-club. (No, we're not crazy—just amazed!)

In the course of time, events occur which greatly arouse our curiosity. Betty Jo has been seen with a new flame. Stick with him, Betty, for he has a "swell-elegant" car!

We hope the charming young Romeo of high school will have a fair chance to develop their talent later in their life. What with the song-writing and poetry being circulated, it seems we have an amazing amount of talent. (Ahem.)

Health Dangers To Grid Fans Cited

Gridiron fans should take a tip from football players this fall and protect themselves at games by keeping in good physical condition, the Texas State Department of Health advises.

"The nervous strain brought on by the Southwest's razzle-dazzle style of play, exposure to extreme climatic conditions for long hours in an open stadium and sudden changes in weather are particularly dangerous to football spectators who have been leading sedentary lives indoors," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, warned.

"The healthy person, like the athlete who adheres to strict training rules, won't be kept away from games because of illness. The spectator who keeps fit maintains his 'eligibility' thruout the season. But one who is careless with his health is apt to miss a few games or be out for the season with a cold, influenza or more serious illness. This is particularly true of the late fall games when the weather varies greatly from week to week.

Again using the players as an example, Doctor Cox urges fans to dress carefully for the games. It is a foolish gamble with ill health to wear heavy garments to opening games when the thermometer is hitting 99, no matter what fashion decrees. And late season games necessitate warm clothes and wraps, of course.

Mr. Ezzell: "How is the Treasury Department run?" Mary Beth: "With the help of burros." (bureaus.)

ANCHORS AWEIGH

BY MARSHALL FISKE

"Off Again, Gone Again!"

After a ten minute stop here we were ready to take off once more. In this manner we continued on to Villa Hermosa, Ciudad del Carmen, Campeche and finally Merida, my destination. The most picturesque of all these was the town of Campeche on the shores of the Gulf of Campeche. As we flew over the gulf we got a fine view of this isolated town of grey and old rose. It looked like something unnatural, like an illustration out of a fairy book, an illustration of Guerin, like a city in Never-never land, peopled with strange, fantastic creatures, hobgoblins, faeries and the like, and how beautiful was the Gulf beneath us, a vast expanse of blues and blue-greens, lilac and pale pink tones, a shimmering immensity. It was the roof of another world, the marine world peopled with its hordes of strange and beautiful creatures, its wondrous forms, where a constant battle for survival was going on, where males were fighting for the favors of their females, a world of far more diversified creatures than we know of here on the surface. Soon there after our plane descended for the last time, we had arrived at my destination, Merida.

Capital of Yucatan—

On alighting from the plane I was met at the airport by Count Raphael de Regil, the proprietor of the Itza Hotel at Merida. He subtly suggested to me that my patronage at his hostelry would be acceptable and agreeable to him. I thereupon told him, that although he had met me on my

120,000 SPIES ROAM NATION, WRITERS CHARGE

The tombstones of millions of men of war are the heritage of the modern spy.

When war rages, if he is successful, men die because of the information he has sold their enemy. If he is unsuccessful men die because he failed to provide ranking army officers with the plans and information they so desperately needed.

Never in the history of the world has espionage reached the height it enjoys today. There are 120,000 foreign spies working in America as you read this.

In the August issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine, for the first time, are the real facts of the underground attack being made upon the United States. A retired Marine Corps officer, Donald E. Keyhoe, and John Jay Daly, formerly with the military intelligence division, have completed an investigation of spies covering several months.

On a night in 1937, Federal agents discovered and raided a secret Japanese radio station high in the Wasatch Mountains, a short distance from Salt Lake City, and three Japanese operators were apprehended at the well hidden base. But not one arrest was made! In Berlin three heads would have rolled. In Russia a firing squad would have prepared for three quick volleys. In Japan itself, and in a dozen other countries, death or long prison terms would have resulted.

The amazing leniency of our laws together with our recent "hush-hush" policy of espionage, explains the vast armies of foreign-controlled agents which have overrun the United States and its territories," say the writers of "Web Over Washington" in August Cosmopolitan.

There are more than 120,000 spies in the United States alone according to a high Washington authority and this figure includes agents of several nations, which are bitterly hostile to each other," the authors charge. "At the center of these webs are such varied groups as agents of the Ogpu and the Cheka, Nazi storm-troopers with Gestapo connections, spies linked with the Kimitsu Kyoku, 'observers' of an unofficial system extending to Rome, and agents of other nations. Under the master strategists are thousands of organizers, propagandists, informers, 'message boxes' and potential saboteurs," they write. "To fight this horde America has only a skeleton force." Keyhoe and Daly maintain. "Foreign spies and their sub-agents are outnumbered by counter-espionage by at least twenty to one."

"Known foreign agents are allowed to work in the United States undisturbed, principally because our counter-espionage allotments would not finance a third rate WPA project." "There is a second reason, our peace-time rule," the writers say. "Watch known spies and learn their contacts. With skeleton organizations, our intelligence men would rather spot agents than arrest them—and have to search for inevitable replacements. A number are under surveillance—certain files at the War, Navy and Justice departments would disown spies of various countries. But our few agents cannot keep track of the ever-increasing thousands."

In their sensational article the writers of "Web Over Washington" point out: "Washington is popular with spies—it is notoriously prodigal with information for which they would risk their lives abroad. For a small sum, copies of Com-mittee hearings may be had, giving valuable data on our army, navy, air services and defense plans."

The problem is simple when diplomatic immunity is used as a cloak. Some time ago, an intelligence officer observed a furtive meeting between a traitor-suspect and two attaches of an Asiatic power. He followed, and a wild automobile chase developed. But by the time he caught up with the other machine, the traitor had escaped and the attaches were entering the grounds of their Embassy. By international agreement, all Embassy grounds are "foreign soil" and immune from search. So the officer was helpless, though positive that precious navy documents were within a few yards of him.

Violation of privileges is far from the rule, but when an Embassy does overstep, it has every advantage. Sealed Embassy pouches, though suspected of containing stolen secrets, are inviolate. But the greatest peril from these spy armies is that of sabotage, huge scale destruction of factories, transportation and communication in the event of war. It is time to destroy these webs—before it is too late!

U. S. Navy Lieut. J. S. Farnsworth, convicted spy.

Mati Hari, most famous of World War spies.

Von Bernstoff, headed Germany's famed spy system.

Contour Rows Conserve Water

Contour tillage supported by terraces where necessary, holds practically all the water where it falls on the land and permits moisture to soak into the soil for use of growing crops. Residues and trash from crops provide effective protection from wind erosion. Contour rows in this field on a Soil Conservation Service demonstration project are full of water several hours after a heavy rain.

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, putting up nausea, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of extreme poisonous body waste. Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

WOMAN BLASTS SOUTHERN "CHAIN GANG" IDEA

In a bleak Georgia prison, living by rote and paying her debt to society, is a woman whose spirit has conquered steel bars and iron discipline.

In a letter to Celia Caroline Cole, published in the August issue of Pictorial Review Magazine, the lonely prisoner paints a vastly different picture of Southern penal institutions than that held by the average person.

Celia C. Cole

"I came in to this prison filled with horror and despair, wanting only to end my life as soon as I could," writes the unknown felon. "I am a teacher, and my father was a prominent minister, but he went away from my mother and me seven years ago. Then I lost my position and lived for six years by giving post-dated checks. Finally I became involved and was sentenced to prison for two years."

It was an incredible nightmare. A world turned black for the young woman who had known affluence and enjoyed social position all her life.

"My faith in God was gone, my faith in people, in life, in myself—all gone," she writes. "But now, not quite six months later, I am a new person. I have paid off most of the checks, and when I have paid off the rest I shall be set free."

In an intensely human document, the Southern prisoner describes the miseries and unhappiness of the women in her institution but maintains there is another side to the picture. "The Federation of Women's Clubs decided that something constructive must be done for the erring women of this section," she writes.

"They went to the county commissioners, who are high-type citizens, far-sighted and progressive, so that the women had some real help from them. The important thing, they felt, was to get the right kind of matron for the jail."

And into the dingy prison came a new head, a woman of culture, social position, wealthy, and with a beautiful home. A devoted husband and two almost grown sons encouraged her to take the position. She accepted and immediately started to remodel the women's ward. It was made into an attractive, livable, comfortable place. Cells were removed and walls painted a restful shade of green instead of the cold, usual prison gray.

Within a short time the unknown prisoner will leave her jail home for a new start, rehabilitated by an intelligent penal system.
