Cold Storage Locker Room Opens Monday

Floydada Man To Be In Charge Of New Service Here

Residents of this section will be provided with a modern cold storage service, opening at the Leon Independent Ice Company plant Monday, according to J. P. O'Conner of Floydada, who has leased the cold storage department. Mr. O'Conner is an experienced butcher and has been associated with the Floydada cooperative cold storage plant. He will maintain a meat slicing service for customers at a minimum charge and aid in every way to make the cold storage service more satisfactory.

Altho a number of lockers are still available, it is believed that the demand will soon exceed the supply according to the popularity shown at other places. The standard lockers, which are not rented for less than three months, are offered at $1 per month or $10 for a year's contract.

To Keep Fresh Meats

Besides the standard lockers, four medium and four large lockers are available, Mr. O'Conner declared. The large lockers have room for 500 pounds of fresh sliced meat. Besides beef, mutton, pork and game, the cold storage service provides care for dressed poultry and dairy products for an indefinite period of time. Those interested in securing a locker are urged to do so immediately, since the number available is limited, and when the supply is exhausted those hesitating will be disappointed.

Mr. O'Conner declared that he expected to move his family to Matador and make this his future home.

Brothers Visit Bob Robertson

W. H. Reynolds and A. G. Sweeten of Hernietta, Oklahoma, half-brothers of Bob Robertson, visited here for a short time Tuesday. Arriving at 3:30 Tuesday morning, Mr. Robertson declared that they were displeased because the tower of his filling station had been razed which made it impossible for them to see the lights before reaching Matador.

Steel Tower Being Placed At Oil Well

An outstanding West Texas landmark, the tall wooden tower above Bob's Oil Well filling station at the intersection of Highways No. 18 and No. 28 has been razed to the roof of the station. However, night travelers will soon see the light-covered tower back against the sky as it is being replaced by a steel derrick which will be 22 feet higher than the wooden structure.

L. B. (Bob) Robertson, manager of the station and designer of the unique motif which has attracted travelers in this section for the past seven years, declared that the new tower would have a total height of 86 feet. Mr. Robertson said the new steel tower would be constructed in the exact design as the wooden derrick, except the additional height.

Mr. Robertson said that the new tower would probably be completed within the next week or ten days provided the construction is not delayed due to inclement weather conditions, such as high winds which would impair work.

Local Cast Performance Friday Night

Firemen's Benefit Play Expected To Draw Large Crowd

"It will lay them in the aisles," is the opinion of a number of critics who have witnessed rehearsals of "Balmy Mr. Brown," the three-act comedy to be presented by the Matador Volunteer Fire Department at the high school auditorium Friday night. Fire Chief Clay Gilbert, who is also directing the production, said late yesterday that the ticket sale had exceeded expectations and that he believed that crowd might be larger than the seating accommodations would handle.

Over 150 choice seats have been reserved for sale to those wishing to pay a slight bonus for a better view of the stage. The reserved seats are selling at 35c while the remainder of the house is being sold at 20c for adults and 10c for children.

The plot of "Balmy Mr. Brown" by Frederick G. Johnson, is declared to be packed by humorous situation which the well-selected cast is prepared to handle for full value. "It is the funniest play I have ever seen", a local critic said last night, "and I am of the opinion this cast will make history Friday when the play is presented".

The cast includes: Zona Beth Faulkner, Frances Stearns, Albert Rattan, Lucretia Estes, Geraldine Skaggs, Dee Cates, Kara Hunsucker, Virginia Estes, Paul Eubank, Joe Berry Meador and Burrell Tipton.

The entire net proceeds of the play will go to the benefit of the local fire department. The first curtain is at 8:30 p. m.

Quite a number of new books is expected to arrive for the Matador City Library within the next two weeks...

"There is a decided trend towards the improvement of biographies," stated Miss Keith. "Books giving the lives of great people are no longer written in a dry uninteresting manner but are just as enjoyable as fiction, if not more so."

For the purpose of stimulating interest in reading good books, Miss Keith will give a condensation of one of the new library books twice each month, and this will be printed on The Woman's Page.

The library is now in the grade school building, and it is open on Tuesday and Friday afternoons from 2:00 o'clock to 4:00. All readers are urged to take advantage of the facilities offered by the library during the summer months.

FACTS FAVOR FORD

1 The 1939 Ford V-8 is a beautiful, modern motor car. Its 85-horsepower engine gives you economical, well-balanced performance over the entire speed range — and the 60-horsepower engine is even more economical.

2 The structural strength of the Ford car — frame, bracing, axles, body — makes not only for safety, but durability and long life.

3 Ford hydraulic brakes are exceptionally large and strong in proportion to car weight.

4 The Ford car is stabilized for comfortable riding. Its springbase, the distance between front and rear suspension, is 123 inches. Seats are toward the center, perfectly balanced. The car does not bob or dip and can have very little sway.

These four points — power, strength, safety, comfort — are by far the most important essentials in any motor car. They form the basic value of your investment.

With this solid foundation to build on, the Ford V-8 has been made beautiful, spacious, easy to drive. It is richly upholstered and has all the modern features which add to the luxury and pleasure of motoring.

You can see these things when you take a trial drive, but do not forget that the main value is in the things you do not readily see — quality of materials, precision of manufacture, fundamental engineering.

Legendary Figure's Identity Studied

Guerilla Leader Is Believed To Have Been Pastor

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 25.—The Rev. William Clark McCoy, legendary figure who was a hard-riding, gun-toting preacher near the close of the last century, has been dead nearly 40 years, but stories persist that he was William Clark Quantrell, the Confederate guerilla warfare leader, who turned to the pulpit after the Civil War.

These stories were recalled a few days ago when Mrs. McCoy, widow of the widely known Alabama preacher, observed her 90th birthday.

Mrs. McCoy denied—as has she done on many previous occasions—that she was the widow of Quantrell. But the stories will not die.

And some members of the family are inclined to believe that the late Rev. McCoy was really the raider whom the United States would not forget even after the Civil War had ended.

Son Supported Theory

The late Judge John P. McCoy, a son, believed his father was Quantrell and spent many years attempting to prove it.

Mrs. G. M. Davenport, whose husband is pastor at the East Lake Methodist church, says there is no documentary evidence that her father was Quantrell, but adds that there are indications he might have been.

First of all is the similarity of names—William Clark—which was the name of Quantrell, too. McCoy came from Missouri, where Quantrell operated. He is remembered chiefly for his sacking of Lawrence, Kansas.

The Rev. McCoy did not discuss his past life with his wife. But when Frank James was imprisoned in the jail at Huntsville, the Rev. McCoy rode there and insisted on talking with James alone. The James brothers had served with Quantrell.

When the Rev. McCoy returned home, he said Frank James had told him:

"If you can make a preacher, so can I". He had little more to say about the visit.

Both Men Fearless

Mrs. McCoy recalled the similarity of the two men—fearless, daring, determined.

At one time the Rev. McCoy served eight churches in the district, some of them 100 miles apart. By hard riding he sometimes preached at three of them in a single Sunday.

If Quantrell could shoot, so could the Rev. McCoy, who would hang objects up by a string and shoot them down by cutting the string with a bullet.

When referring to himself, the minister said he was a "self-made man, without any education." Yet he was editor of The Christian Advocate in Birmingham for many years; his writings distinguished and his grammar flawless. Quantrell, according to stories, once was a college professor in the East.

The story of Quantrell's life says he was on his way West with his brother. They were camping in Missouri when a band of Yankees killed Quantrell's brother and left him for dead.

Saved By Indians

Indians came to Quantrell's assistance and saved his life. Quantrell then dedicated his life to revenge upon the Northern soldiers. A $50,000 reward was on his head even after the war.

On several occasions, the Rev. McCoy said Yankees "killed his family".

One of McCoy's sons became a bishop, another a judge; two of his daughters married preachers and another a banker.

Today many persons in Alabama believe, as do some of his descendants, that the true story of McCoy's early life—and that of Quantrell—died with the fearless, hardriding, sin-fighting preacher. —Lubbock Avalanche.

Heading Of Public Desires Credited With Chevy's Lead

Because Chevrolet is the world's largest builder of passenger cars and trucks, it must combine in its product those features which the greatest number of motorists demand in their automobiles. This explanation was a highlight of the graduation-week address made by M. E. Coyle, general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division, before the Post-Graduate School of Modern Merchandising and Management for Sons of Chevrolet Dealers. Mr. Coyle's talk, given at a luncheon in the Recess Club, was preliminary to the commencement exercises held May 12.

Explaining the manufacturing policies of the manufacturer which has led the industry in sales for seven out of the past 8 years, Mr. Coyle paid high tribute to the work of the Chevrolet dealer committee whose recommendations from the field play a vital role in determination of plans and programs.

"Chevrolet must continually be alert to public preferences," he said. "I think our success, in large

Accommodating Elephant

This picture was taken, not at a circus, as one might suppose, but in the factory grounds of an electric refrigerator manufacturer. The obliging elephant is balancing its full weight of over four tons on the top of a 1939 Frigidaire to demonstrate the great structural strength of the one-piece steel cabinet. The testers could have accomplished the same result with several tons of bricks, but they found it a lot more fun to use the elephant. The above scene is entirely genuine, and no trick photography of any kind was used.

Hero of Tall Tales

The Beaver is an engineer with marvelous skill in making dams, ponds and houses. In a great many places the American Landscape has been permanently changed by beaver work. Beavers are very important in flood control, and are being released by the government at the headwaters of western streams where their ponds will check the run-off of high water. Beaver fur, used in making high hats, started the exploration and conquest of the northwest two centuries ago. Beavers live largely on the tender bark of small trees, principally of the aspen family. A large beaver weighs 50 pounds or even more. Indians and backwoodsmen have many legends regarding the beaver—that they keep muskrat slaves, such the air out of poplar branches to make them sink, use their tails as awtrows, and although none of these tales are true, the life of the beaver is intensely interesting. The National Wildlife Federation had Lyn Bogue Hunt paint the beaver portrait for the 1939 Wildlife Week stamps.

measure, has been directly due to the fact we have heeded the public's desires. Because we have such a large owner family to satisfy, we have made every effort to offer in our product those features with the widest appeal".

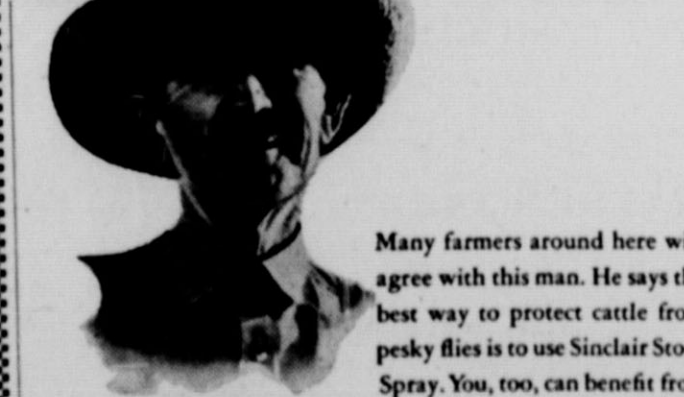

Mr. Coyle sketched to the students Proving Ground procedure, amplifying his remarks with reports of recent impartial tests

Mrs. Smith Injured In Auto Wreck Control Is Lost; Car Overturns Three Times

Mrs. Virginia Smith, owner of the Matador Hotel here, was seriously injured Monday afternoon when her car hit a soft shoulder and overturned three times about a mile south of Amadarko, Okla. The black Buick sedan which she was driving was completely demolished. Mrs. Smith suffered a fractured knee, a severe head-cut, and numerous bruises, besides the shock. After receiving treatment at Amadarko, however, she was able to continue her trip home that night.

Having lived in Amadarko for five years, Mrs. Smith was returning from a business trip to that city. Her son, Jack, who has been attending school there, was driving in another car several miles ahead; and he could not be located until the State Highway Patrol reached him at Altus, Okla. and informed him of the accident.

Mrs. Smith's condition is much improved today, and it is believed that she will recover soon. Jack Smith will remain here for a visit with his mother during the summer vacation.

plete the soil conservation program in Texas", Buckley observed, "and sound progress is desired rather than rapid development". Other members of the State Soil Conservation Board are: H. K. Fawcett, Del Rio; W. W. Cardwell, Luling; V. C. Marshall, Belton; and J. P. Martin, Martinsville.

"One must strive diligently," he continued. "There are no loiters on the highway of life". He urged the students to enter into life itself while they are still in their youth. "You are now in the moulding age," he stated. "Youth presents opportunities that no other age will present."
