TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

The prophet should be good or prepared to travel, or perhaps to a fricassee crowd. I will take the crowd with jellied mint. A new poet is restless in the graveyard magazines and its sinister cloak lettered SEP. A few years ago the floundering Post established a policy of refusing to read the material of new writers. This great decision was reached after the Post had been the spawning ground of some of the greatest names in literature for a hundred years. The door was closed and only the established writer was considered. The SEP may be wallowing in wealth but it doesn't show. What does show is a dearth of material which would attract readers (circulation) which would attract advertisers to fill out the flanks of expensive operation.

During the years I worked for wages, a paid vacation was not a part of the salary "package". I am glad, however, because I would have feared to leave my job lest my employers discover they had a surplus name on the payroll.

Modesty lost about half of all that had gained when the mini skirt was introduced to modern airport chairs. A man has got to look somewhere.

Most of us receive credit for achievement which was a fluke of circumstance or an accident which we could not avoid.

Gossip is another way of diverting attention from the purveyors, and often transferring interest from more spectacular conversation.

Even on the streets of the poor, television has taken the old from porch rocking chairs and the children from yards.

The good in people has been needed for personal attest. It is that quality which demands and receives the testimony of others.

There is no spiritual assurance for a man merely because the hell has been scared out of him, but he may take a different view of the hereafter.

Farm Bureau Hits Unicization Plan

Two Farm Bureau leaders testified (June 29 and 30) during Senate subcommittee hearings on migratory labor in the Rio Grande Valley. M. F. (Mike) Frost, TFB secretary-treasurer and state director of McAllen, and Dwayne Bair, Hidalgo County Farm Bureau president, each presented testimony opposing the proposed Senate Bills concerning farm worker.

Frost told the subcommittee in El Paso City that "the unique feature of the employment relationship in agriculture is the vulnerability of the farmer as an employer to any work stoppage on his farm."

"While most industrial or commercial concerns may suffer a reduction in profits as a result of a strike, it is rare for them to be disastrously affected."

"Compare this with agriculture. It is not possible to close down a farm strike. Production must continue in tune with the season. Crops must be harvested when ready."

"If a strike should occur when a perishable crop is ready to harvest, and of course this is the time a strike would be called, this would entail much more than a reduction in the farmer's profits for the year. More likely it would involve (1) a loss of income for the year and (2) a loss of money invested in bringing the crop to harvest state which would run (for fruits and vegetables) $300-400 or more per acre. A loss of this size would bankrupt many farmers."

Power Is Not Equal

"Collective bargaining would not equalize the bargaining power of farmers and workers; it would make farmers subservient to labor union leaders wherever such leaders could establish the practice of collective bargaining."

"The extension of the National Labor Relations Act to the production of perishable farm products would probably result in some temporary benefits to some workers. These benefits would be temporary because farmers would necessarily make investments in mechanization of farm operations to reduce or eliminate their vulnerability."

"Other factors which must be considered is a comparison of return on investment by farms and industry, and the increasing volume of imports of high labor requirement crops from Mexico."

Bair told the subcommittee, "we are now harvesting a crop on our farm for which we are receiving $18 per ton and the harvesting crew is receiving $15 per ton."

"Does this sound like we are taking advantage of these agricultural workers?" he asked.

"We are now finishing a fruit season where the harvesters received more dollars per ton on juice than the grower," he added.

"The point I make is that this type of national legislation is not going to solve our economic problem," he concluded.

AUSTIN, — State Legislators wound up their 60th session here on schedule, despite a hectic flurry of last minute assignments, and left behind a far-reaching record of achievement in many areas.

No one can deny that there were some notable failures. But the accomplishments were impressive.

Here is a random look at some of the session's highlights.

"BUDGET—Lawmakers agreed on $2,400,000,000 in spending ($446,800,000 from general revenue) for 1968, without passing a tax bill. They will come back next year to budget for 1969. Funds provide for substantial increases in all areas of state government, including education, health, general administration and welfare."

"SCHOOL TEACHERS—After requesting a $68,000,000 salary increase program and being offered $55,500,000 by the Senate, teachers finally got $51,000,000."

"STATE EMPLOYEES—These workers came up with their most substantial salary benefits in history. Raises averaged about 14 per cent and ranged up to 30 per cent and more in some salaries.

"MEDICAL—Title 19 hospitalization and medical aid to the needy got a boost of $494,422 to aid in administering the new water rights adjudication act which also is a product of the 60th session."

"EDUCATION—Strengthened Water Pollution Control Board got $13,100,000 for its 1968 operations. An air pollution control measure also became law."

"SUNDAY CLOSING—Lawmakers tightened Sunday closing laws by repealing the "emergency purchase" provisions of the old law.

Key recommendations of Governor Connally which failed to clear the Legislature were proposals for sweeping revision of the state constitution by a 450-member convention and legalized sale of liquor by the drink.

Bill to legalize parimutuel wagering on horse races never came to a showdown vote, but a referendum on the issue was approved for inclusion on next May's Democratic and Republican primary election ballots.

"CONSUMER CREDIT—State's first consumer credit code regulates lending at all levels. Rates of up to 240 per cent on very small loans stirred controversy, but the bill passed by a majority."

"TRAFFIC SAFETY—A major part of Gov. John Connally's recommended highway safety program was approved. It included a new driver's license act, an auto inspection bill and establishment of a traffic program to be administered by the Governor."

"OPEN MEETINGS—Another Texas legislative first, an act to require open meetings of governmental agencies at all levels was signed into law by the Governor who termed it "a great step forward to provide a means whereby the public can be more informed on governmental and public affairs."

"REAPPORTIONMENT—Legislators agreed on both congressional and state House of Representatives redistricting. However, they could not get together on judicial reapportionment."

"WATER—Texas Water Development Board received $1,200,000 more for its operations and completion of a statewide master plan. Texas Water Rights Commission got a boost of $494,422 to aid in administering the new water rights adjudication act which also is a product of the 60th session."

"EDUCATION FUNDS—UTED—Governor Connally approved an expenditure of more than $1,080,000 requested by the Texas Education Agency under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act for special planning in a variety of fields.

Some $67,500 will go to Victoria, Orange, Kilgore, Pleasant, Wichita Falls, Dalhart, Waco, Abilene, San Angelo, Lubbock, Midland, El Paso and Antonio. Bryan and AAM school districts each will receive $25,000.

Money can go for salaries, consultant fees and travel. Grants will be transferred to the board of directors for the Education Service Center in each geographic area of the state.

"SHORT SHORTS—Mrs. Hilda Weinert of Seguin for 16 years national Democratic committeewoman from Texas and also former vice chairman of the State Democratic committee, was honored in ceremonies during closing week of the legislative session and her portrait was placed in the state senate reception room."

House of Representatives processed Friday to attend Texas services for Rep. Ira Kötter of Houston.

Texas retail sales dropped eight per cent in April, according to UT's Bureau of Business Research.

In its hurry to adjourn before Legislature's 140 days were up, Senate passed 200 bills in a single day—most of them local and untested.

"LEGISLATORS' PAY—Both Houses approved—and the people will get a chance to vote on—the proposed constitutional amendment which would raise the salaries of legislators from the current $4,800 to a maximum of $8,400."

Measure, authored by Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton, will be placed on the ballot in the next general election to let the voters decide whether they want to raise the salaries of their representatives and senators.

War Correspondent Ernest Fischer
New Journalism Instructor at WT

A long-time newsman who is retiring from the Associated Press after more than 30 years service, has accepted an appointment as instructor in journalism at West Texas State University for the 1967-68 season.

Ernest G. Fischer of New Orleans, whose service with Associated Press bureaus dates back to 1936, will replace Mrs. Norma R. Foreman, who has been granted a leave of absence for work toward the doctorate at the University of Texas.

Fischer will teach classes in editing and reporting and direct publication of The Prairie, semi-weekly newspaper at WTSU.

A graduate of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, Fischer was reporter, copy editor, telegraph editor and city editor with newspapers in Philadelphia, Washington, Houston, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, and New Orleans before joining the Associated Press in 1936. He was an editor with the Dallas bureau for three years and was reassigned to Berlin in 1940.

While covering the German-Russian front, he was interned as an enemy alien after Pearl Harbor in December, 1941. Fischer was exchanged and repatriated in May, 1942 from Germany. He returned to the Dallas AP bureau, but was sent back to Europe as a war correspondent, with bureaus in London and Vienna.

Spoke in Matador
Before returning to Europe, Fischer made several personal appearances in Texas cities, and was sponsored here by the Matador Lions Club for an address in October, 1943.

Fischer is the author of "The Last Slice," a biography of the late Dr. W. L. Crosthwaite of Waco, and "The Other Shore," a three-act play to be staged in New Orleans this fall by the New Orleans Players Theatre.

He is writing a novel based on his experiences in the internment camp in Germany, and a biography of Robert Potter, first secretary of the navy of the Texas Republic.

It was of his experiences in the German internment camp that he spoke on his visit to Matador.

Another Uncle Zeb Book Now in Print

Carl C. Wood, probably better known to Crop and Stock readers as Uncle Zeb of Plover's Out The Corners fame, is releasing another book, this one containing 48 pages, and like one of the three he has written, is a compilation of his philosophical and/or homespun paragraphs in his column that has been a highly popular part of Crop and Stock for almost the entire 20 years of its life.

Wood, whose middle name is Claude, where he lives, although we doubt there is any connection or tie-in of the name, calls his latest "NOTEBOOK OF UNCLE ZEB." His previous volume of the same kind was "PLOWIN' OUT THE CORNERS," published in February 1962.

An earlier volume, titled "ALONG THE TRAILS WITH UNCLE ZEB IN RED RIVER," came out in 1960. It recounted some of his experiences during vacation visits to the northern New Mexico resort.

Carl Wood makes no pretense of being a "brain" in today's modern segue. He attained his stature not necessarily through schooling, but in the school of hard knocks and through a determination to make life count. As one source expressed it, he went from farming to book-keeping, to banking, to law, to writing, to county judge of his home county and then back to the relative calm and quiet of the ranch for a better general locale.

From Sunshine Magazine, with which we feel sure many of our readers are acquainted, we quote concerning Carl Wood.

"Born in Glen Rose, Texas July 30, 1906, he yielded early in life to his instincts for love of the natural and of his fellow beings. He realized that individual capabilities were extremely limited, and to reach the masses he must use publicity media. His talents multiplied. His aptitude for pithy and philosophic writings found fruition through a column in the local newspaper. Other publications called for it, and it proved to be an inspiring asset to the community and to himself."

NOTEBOOK OF UNCLE ZEB is a saddle-stitched, paper-back book of convenient size that sell for $1. We believe you would enjoy it and that it would be an asset to your home library. Carl Wood's address is P. O. COUNTY AGENT
PALLMEYER SAYS:

Even though swine production in Motley County is limited the following items should be of value to those who are engaged in this trade.

Year-around production has necessitated hot-weather breeding of sows. Summer heat stress has resulted in fewer sows "settled" on first service and smaller litters farrowed by those successfully bred because of high embryonic mortality. This means less profit per sow, and less profit for the producer.

It is critically important to keep the sow comfortable during breeding time and the first 5-15 days following breeding. It is also important to keep the sow comfortable during the entire 114 day gestation period. If producers want to obtain the greatest returns possible from swine production.

Adequate comfort can be provided during this critical period in most shades in combination with fogging or spraying nozzles. Some semi-confinement operations provide 20-30 square feet of shaded area, a concrete floor covered with 3-6 inches of fine sand and a water fogging or sprinkling system. When necessary, fans are used to insure adequate air movement to get needed evaporation and cooling. It costs money, but cool contented sows during breeding and immediately after will pay off in more pups and more profit.

The search for improved mesquite control continues, and according to D. E. Robinson, Spur Experiment Station, a relatively new hormone-type herbicide, picloram, in combination with the well known 2,4,5-T, has shown superior results in mesquite control on West Texas Ranges.

Aerial application tests begun in 1964 boosted mesquite root kills from two to five times that obtained with 2,4,5-T alone. "Picloram, however, is not yet USDA approved for rangeland use, as further testing is necessary."

Cotton insecticides used should be based on actual needs, as shown by periodic inspection of the crop. This will minimize the danger of insects developing resistance, destruction of beneficial insects and predators and contamination of fruits, vegetables and animal feeds.

Copies of the 1967 Cotton Insect guide have been mailed to all producers. This up to date information will provide economical controls, if the rules are followed, and even though the price of cotton is low, a sound insect control program is still profitable.

For those who do not have a copy of the guide, I still have a limited supply available.

Horses, like humans, need periodic checkups if they are to stay healthy and in top performing condition.

Horses should be checked for nutrition, condition of teeth and feet and external parasites. Next go to a veterinarian for a check to show internal parasites and for immunization against the most common diseases.

These include distemper, tetanus, encephalomyelitis (or sleeping sickness) and influenza. Time of the year and the repeat or follow-up injections are very important in the program to be successful.

For example, it is a common practice to wait until a case of sleeping sickness is reported before a vaccination program is started. What if the first case is your horse? Not for 1967 though, as the first case was reported June 19.

Two injections of tetanus toxoid, given 4 to 8 weeks apart, will protect your horse for approximately one year from a disease that is usually fatal. An annual shot will then maintain the horse's immunity, and prevent losses from unnoticed wounds.

New Committeeman Appointed by FHA

Omar Parks of Roaring Springs has been appointed to the three man Motley County Farmers Home Administration Committee. It has been announced by Alfred A. Harrison, County Supervisor. The appointment is for a three year term beginning July 1.

Mr. Parks succeeds W. H. Marshall and will join the other two members of the committee who are H. A. Martin of Flomot, and Edgar O. Lee of Matador. The three member committee serves in an advisory capacity to the County Supervisor and makes determinations as to eligibility for loan advances for the Agency. They are also frequently called upon by the County Supervisor to render assistance in the servicing of loans and the development of other community services.

The Farmers Home Administration does not compete with private lenders in the field of agricultural credit, however, they supplement such sources of credit and make loans on a long-range basis for the development of farms and ranches as well as improvement of community facilities, and provide housing for the rural residents. Harrison pointed out. One of the most important programs is the family-type loan to young farmers in ever-increasing numbers throughout the State. Recent authorizations have given the agency by Congress to make loans for recreation facilities for rural residents as well as financing multiple housing for senior citizens and labor housing associations.

Another of the more extensive loan programs includes that of making loans for small towns and communities for the establishment or improvement of water and waste disposal systems," Harrison said.

Motley County is serviced by the Farmers Home Administration office located at 107 W. California Street, Floydada, Texas. The office hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday except on legal holidays.

OUR COURSE has been mowed and really does look like a picture. The fairways are in good shape since all the rain and green grass all over the fairways makes for good, enjoyable playing.
