in excess of $80,000.

Loses An Arm

Hugh Barber, Shreveport, La., road engineer, lost his arm near Hope, Ark., after a storm tossed a tree against his engine cab and mangled his arm. In Texas, a small twister wrecked homes and outbuildings three miles west of Honey Grove; part of the Gainesville baseball park grand-stand collapsed during a storm which uprooted trees there, and a winch uprocted trees there, and a windstorm at Weatherford damaged outbuildings, blew down trees, and whipped orchards.

Elm Creek poured over U. S. Highway 77 at Gainesville, halting traffic. Residents in creek bottoms were evacuated but the sun broke through the clouds in the later afternoon there.

HENDAYE, France—(At The Spanish Frontier)—March 18 (F)—
International brigades of the Spanish government army moved to the front today to check the insurgent sweep into Catalonia.

The foreign fighters for the republic went into the trenches on the castern bank of the Cinca river to reinforce Spanish troops in their desperate stand to hold the rich northeastern corner of Spain.

The insurgents, driving into the largest remaining sector of government territory, were massed on the west bank of the river along a force today was cut to 43 cents per ounce.

MR. JACKSON'S OPINION

$3.85 In removing Dr. Morgan the $1.90 president relied upon an opinion $ .65 delivered by the acting attorney general, Mr. Rob-

Tert H. Jackson, and in order to get at the main question in this controversy one must go back to Mr. Jackson's opinion. Even a cursory reading

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Associated Press is exclusively in two places, "I think I may state it as an unassailable proposition," he says, "that if any of these charges (against Dr. Morgan) is established herein. All right for republication of special dispatches are also reserved.

The doubts that exist in Mr. Jackson's mind stand out clearly in two places, "I think I may state it as an unassailable proposition," he says, "that if any of these charges (against Dr. Morgan) is established, the power of removal ought to exist. Furthermore, the Tennessee Valley Authority, being an executive agency, performing an executive agency, performing executive functions, and therefore in the executive branch of the government, the power of removal ought to be in the president."

This is far from being the lan-guage of a confident man. In fact, Events in Europe and Mexico and it is the over-emphatic language of the Hull-Roosevelt offer of asylum a very uncertain man. It is evident in the United States to political that Mr. Jackson had two doubts refugees from other nations serve to point up the contrast between own government and those of tive agency. He was not at all sur other nations. The St. Louis Post-that the unclear statute of T.V.A. Now if Mr. Jackson is right in claiming that T.V.A. is "an executive agency" and not an independent commission, why did congress provide itself with a special way of removing directors? Mr. Jackson argues that "the legislative history of the Tennessee Valley Authority act contains no such indications" that congress thought the directors was a careless over-concentration that the congress thought the directors was a careless over-concentration to make the provided in the pro that congress thought the directors was a careless over-concentration exercised quasi-legislative or quasi-
