JAP RIFLE FROM NEW GUINEA IS RECEIVED HERE

H. C. Duncan is placing an order with Tojo for some 31 caliber Japanase rifle ammunition. He has the gun. His son, Cpl. Derward Duncan, with the U. S. Army somewhere in New Guinea, sent the gun as a souvenir. It was covered in a heavy, sticky oil to begs for understanding yet prevent rusting, and shipped by parcel post. It required over $4 postage. Cpl. Duncan, writing his father regarding the rifle, said, "The Jap who owned it won't need it any more." The gun is built similar to rifles used by the U. S. Army during World War 1. The wood about the rifle contains considerable amount of scars, some of which may be burns from cigarette stubs. The bore is about 31 caliber. The gun has been on display at the Saneffortless as a breeze and itary Barber shop for the past few days.

drive to sell $171,000 worth of War Bonds in the 4th national campaign, on Tuesday, January 25th, approximately one week behind the date scheduled for the nationwide drive.

Elmer Stearns, county sales chairman, has been confined to his bed with the "flu" and unable to make plans to start the drive on schedule.

A meeting of the entire county bond selling committee was held in the director's room over the First State bank yesterday afternoon. It was unanimous vote of the committee to dedicate the drive to Lt. Paul Eubank.

Mr. Stearns said, "personally, all the bonds I buy for the duration will be dedicated to Paul. I will initial the margin of each bond, "Lt. E. P. E."

Several county leaders have suggested that the drive be dedicated to the memory of Lt. Eubank. With the beginning of a casualty list it is probable a greater realization of the need for fing our fighters will be brought to the citizenship and that the county's quota will be realized in a shorter time than required for previous drives

Lieut. Paul Eubank Dies In South Pacific Action

IN TRIBUTE ...

18 January 1944

No man can give more than his life to his country, but he who gives it in the full bloom of youth must find greater rewards in paradise. We of mortal clay can offer only homage to an immortal. We can but feel the loss, know the pain of a brand against our hearts, but one of us has known death that hope will not perish from this unhappy star.

We can best pay tribute to Lt. Paul Eubank by being humble in the knowledge of his greatness. He has gone from the country and people he loved, to write his name with the immortals, but his great heart, his sympathy, his understanding are left to us as a precious heritage. His deeds, the simplicity of his spirit and his faith are ours to share with the un-

Paul was more than a Lion. His life was Lionism spreading its value like cool water to a thirsty world. He loved the principals of Lionism so much that he gave his life to their perpetuation. We, as his associates, are charged with the responsibility of carrying on the blazing torch he has left with us. Our burden is but the weight of a feather compared to his supreme sacrifice. To fail him is to defile the faith of a Lion

Young men who were his friends and knew the influence of splendid character, will avenge his death. We of Matador, who share the prevalence of his courage, inspiration and friendship, shall always have the richness of his association.

Three mail sacks pictured above contain Christmas edition of the Tribune, each wrapped in the special wrapper and addressed to the men in the armed service. This picture was made Christmas eve day before the home papers started on their long journeys to the far corners of the world. More than two of the three sacks pictured above were required for papers to the boys in service. The smaller sack in the center is for "California State". All the papers in the sack go to California, which includes servicemen with California A. P. O. addresses. The other two sacks contain papers to servicemen all over the nation and those with New York A. P. O. addresses. Other papers in the two sacks include the Tribune's regular "single wrapper" subscribers.

In addition to the three sacks of Tribune pictured above, the 16-page Christmas edition included two large "city" bundles and bunldes of papers to Flomot, Roaring Springs, Northfield, Dallas, Amarillo, Ft. Worth, Lubbock, Paducah, Whiteflat, Spur and Afton "Friend In Strange Land"

Typical of many appreciative letters which the Tribune receives from servicemen, is this excerpt in a recent letter from Pvt. E. A. Day, somewhere in England. Thanks, Friends

I want to express my appreciation to Motley county property-owners for their complete cooperation in tax renditions. It has been a pleasure working with you. I am especially grateful for the many who came to the office to make their renditions previous to my induction into the armed forces. It has made it possible to keep up with my work and at the same time take care of private affairs in preparation for departure. Again I thank you.
