TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Light the candles of tomorrow from the flickering fires of yesterday's hopes. The music of new dreams is tuned to the echo of the past's retreating spurs; an old prayer becomes silt in the passing river of time.

Happiness is a commodity which may be paid for at the time of purchase, or obtained through credit that is secured by a mortgage on the future. Interest is based on the quality of happiness and the length of the loan.

Torn by the wind, the dawn's pink flesh quivered and tried to hide its hurt behind the golden hills of a cloud. The plains were drained of life. Retreating down the trackless path of the sky, the moon sought escape like a betrayed lover. A strand of black smoke beat south from the eave of a distant farm house, and night spilled across the land, flowing over the empty pavement and down the bleak lister ditches, to wash into the esplanade of years, the promises and dreams that had dared to survive beyond the passing night.

New warmth rises from the earth and rouses the sleeping mass to stretch tiny fingers through the brown blanket. Spring measures green dresses for the eaves and white blossoms burst from their secret buds in the old clump of wild plum bushes, and the lullaby of new birth is in the song of the wind.

Driving phantom herds across rolling prairies of Valhalla, old boys make camp at night and other around bright fires that shine through the eons of distance. Spur-scarred mustangs graze in remudas that drift toward crystal water-holes in valleys of the Milky Way. Crossed with the light of stars in their faces, the riders listen in amazement to a new hand in the ranges across the river. They must shake their heads and smile when he tries to explain that a machine is used to rank the yearlings and hold them for the branding iron.

Flourishing in the dust of longed-for tears, the woman's love shed its misery to heedless silence and waited for a footstep at the door. The sound seemed to arise out of slumber or from her heart. When the door opened it admitted the past and compassion for the helpless man staggering from the lash of whiskey. She helped him to the bed and unlaced his worn shoes. The stench of liquor had filled the room before she could remove his clothing and all the covers up to his stubbled chin. She lay quiet and listened to his snoring with a fever on her lips that he had turned out of another night.

One of my personal convictions is being justified as rapidly as time can produce the evidence. I have always believed that men use their age to shield them from work as the shadows lengthen. Natural laziness is apt to affect a man's industry than the advancing years which he is prone to hide behind.

Wealthy and important people require so little to command friendship that its true value may become lost in society's hasty opinions.

Breathing deeply on the side of the great engine waited for the express. The engineer looked from his cab at the steel-tired flanks and rested his hand in the palm of his hand. When the silver streak had passed like a comet, the massive black engine moved its ponderous drivers and the long train of freight cars inched forward. Leaking steam and smoke in its lift, the engine's boiler fires glowed brighter and the thunder of heavy wheels pushed back all the sound. The cargo of needs for tomorrow moved on into the light.

Flomot Prepares For District 4-B Events

Preparations are underway at Flomot, for District 4-B spring meet which will be held there, Friday, March 22nd. S. D. Rattan, Director General of District 4-B interscholastic league, has released the following outline of events which will be held:

Senior Play Enjoyed By Large Crowd

"Brother Goose", three-act comedy presented Tuesday night in the high school auditorium was thoroughly enjoyed by a large attendance who had only praise to offer in criticism of the capable direction, and excellent performance of the cast. Although all characters were declared "perfect", Earline Laughlin as Hyacinth, or "Hy", the little tomboy, whose passion was football, Jolene Bloodworth as Peggy Winkle and John Ketchersid as Jeff Adams, the architect and provider for his orphaned brother and sisters, were cited as outstanding. Others in the mirth-provoking cast included: Betty Price as Carol, L. C. Giesecke as Wes, who, together with "Hy", comprised the family; Helen, the maid who quits, played by Jolene Webb; Eve, a Southern Charmer, Evelyn Shelton; Sarah, a colored maid, Mary Janice Wilkinson; Leonora Hudson, who has just inherited a million dollars, and commissions Jeff to build her a new house — which she hopes he will eventually share with her, ably played by Lou Marshall; Mrs. Trimmer, of the Wee Blue Inn, Wilda Marr, and Truck Driver, who is plenty mad, Billy Slover.

Clyde Lancaster was in charge of stage props, which were declared to be the best ever used on the local stage, and included a complete new job of wall-papering. Properties were donated by Matador Variety and Matador Hardware, with Frank Price donating his motorcycle for use.

Class sponsor, Mrs. Mary White directed the play, with Mrs. J. R. Whitworth in charge of make-up. Girls serving as ushers included: Mary Murphy, Elsie V. Stone, Frances Schweitzer, Nell Webb, Ruby Bostick, Norma Chloe Casey, Billy Frank Skaggs, Ernestine McWilliams, Dorothy Woodruff and Jerry Hays.

Class sponsor, Mrs. Mary White directed the play, with Mrs. J. R. Whitworth in charge of make-up. Girls serving as ushers included: Mary Murphy, Elsie V. Stone, Frances Schweitzer, Nell Webb, Ruby Bostick, Norma Chloe Casey, Billy Frank Skaggs, Ernestine McWilliams, Dorothy Woodruff and Jerry Hays.

Crop Insurance Is Permanent Program

Cotton crop insurance policies taken out this year will continue in effect on crops in succeeding years, Walter L. McWilliams, County ACA Committee Chairman pointed out today.

"From now on, cotton crop insurance will work just like other kinds of insurance you buy in that the policy continues in effect until either you or the insurance company decides to discontinue it," he declared.

"Congress has set up the program as a permanent institution of the government, and in my opinion crop insurance is here to stay."

Mr. McWilliams said that the policy will continue in effect from year to year unless either party gives written notice to discontinue by January 31, except in cases of yield or rate changes when notices must be given by the closing date for signing applications.

Nine applications were received for insurance in the ACA office last week, bringing the total number of policies in the county to 16, Mr. McWilliams reported. Deadline for signing applications is April 25, 1946, although the producer must sign up before he seeds his crop. Applications may be obtained either from authorized sales agents or from the County ACA office.

White Auto Store To Open Here

Opening date of the new White Auto Store, under management of McElton Skaggs has been set for Saturday, March 15, adding another business firm to Matador's steadily increasing business roster.

The new, modern building, adjoining the V. J. Skaggs' grocery store, was completed last week, and merchandise, comprising as large and inclusive stock of auto supplies and household goods as possible at this time, was installed this week, preparatory to the opening Saturday.

McElton Skaggs, owner-manager of the new enterprise is one of the first and youngest of local returned veterans to go into business for himself. Tail gunner of a B-17 Flying Fortress of the 95th Bombardment Gp., he returned home last May after completing 35 missions over enemy territory in Europe theatre of operations. Only 19 years of age at that time, he held the rank of Staff Sergeant. He received his discharge from service, October 16, 1945. His wife, the former Geraldine Brooks of Roaring Springs, will assist in operation of the business.

Supervising the installation of merchandise was Jimmie Ford, of Wichita Falls, assisted by Bill Sudduth, also of Wichita Falls, White Auto Store representatives. Also aiding in the work was Harold Allen, visiting here from Tyler.

Cake and coffee will be served to visitors thruout the day Saturday, Skaggs announced.

Farm Bureau Meeting To Be Held Thursday

Plans have been completed for a county-wide Farm Bureau meeting to be held in the auditorium of the Matador high school, Thursday evening, March 21, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Invitations have been sent to all farm families as well as business men and their families.

CAR OWNERS URGED TO BUY LICENSE BEFORE MARCH 31

As the deadline of March 31 approaches, Tax Collector H. H. Courtney has visions of long lines of impatient motor vehicle owners waiting to register their vehicles during the last few days of March.

He urges all Motley county vehicle owners to get their documents in order and apply early for registration to avoid waiting in line.

Under the laws of Texas, a certificate of title in proper order and the current year's registration receipt must both be presented at the Tax Collector's office before new license plates can be issued.

Assignment Of Title

The certificate of title is the same to a motor vehicle that an abstract is to a plot of real estate," Mr. Courtney points out. "Each time a vehicle changes hands, the assignment of title on the reverse side of the certificate must be completed and application made for a title in the new owner's name thru the Tax Collector's office," he said.

Buyers of used vehicles should insist sellers give an assigned certificate of title and the current registration receipt at time vehicle is delivered. Purchasers of new vehicles should obtain a manufacturer's certificate.

Unless changes of ownership are recorded thru the Tax Collector's office, the files of the State Highway Department at Austin will continue to show the seller as the legal owner of the vehicle. It is to the advantage of both buyer and seller to keep the titles clear.

Out-Of-State License

When a lien against a vehicle is paid, the owner should protect his interest by securing a release from the lien holder and submit it to the Tax Collector with application for a corrected title.

Mr. Courtney appealed especially to owners of vehicles bearing out-of-state license tags, urging them to apply early for registration, since it may require from five to ten days to get a proper Texas certificate of title required before the vehicle can be registered in Texas.

MATADOR VARIETY ISSUES TICKETS FOR NYLON HOSE

Numbered tickets, with corresponding stubs, are being issued by Matador Variety Store to be used in distribution of nylon hose to customers.

Due to the limited amount of nylon which they will receive, the managers expressed this to be the fairest means of distributing them. The tickets will be used in a drawing when the hose are available. Only one ticket is issued to a customer, and the person's name is written on the ticket and on a record kept by the store.

Tribune Ads Pay for the occasion, and each community has been asked to contribute an original number for the program.

A speaker of national importance, as well as state officials, will be present, including President J. Walter Hammond of Tye, Texas, and Marvin Carter of Waco, from the State office. W. R. Tilson, District Director, of Meadow, will also be in attendance at the program.

Messrs. Hammond and Carter will come here from a meeting in Amarillo and from here they will go to Wichita Falls. The meeting here has been arranged in order to secure these men, without breaking into their itinerary, local officials said.

Directors of the County organization, under leadership of L. A. Washington, president, have been working on the details of the program for several weeks, and a full evening of entertainment has been assured. Numbers will be given each adult member, and prizes will be given to the lucky holders of the lucky numbers. Plans are being made for the attendance of several hundred people at the program, which promises to be one of the biggest local events of the year.

Mr. Washington declared that the event will be an annual affair.

COTTON CROP INSURANCE AGENTS NAMED

Determined that every cotton farmer in Motley County will have a chance to take out cotton crop insurance, County ACA Chairman Walter L. McWilliams this week appointed five sales agents to contact the cotton growers.

Authorized agents for Federal all-risk cotton crop insurance in the county are Rufus H. Tanner, Flomot; Fay G. Tipton, Northfield; Walter V. McWilliams, Whitehat; Fred C. Bourland, Matador; and Loyd W. Stafford, Roaring Springs.

Each agent has been assigned one section of the county in which he will personally contact all producers to offer the insurance. If the producer desires, he may sign up for the insurance in the AAA office.

"Even though we got a late start on the insurance program last year we had 255 policies in effect in the county," the ACA official said. "This year I believe we'll have insurance covering at least 325 farms. More and more cotton farmers are coming to realize that insuring their crops is the only way of making certain they'll have cotton to sell."

Applications for insurance must be signed before the crop is planted, he said, and final date for filing applications is April 25.

H. D. Club Women Buy Cooperatively

Cooperative buying was a major project of home demonstration club women last year in the north-central Texas counties known as Extension District 3. An interesting variety of products was purchased in this manner, according to District Agent Ruth Thompson, of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service.

Pineapples topped the list of products bought cooperatively by home demonstration club marketing committees. Eight counties, Archer, Baylor, Cottle, Dickens, Foard, Haskell, Knox and Wichita, report 3,043 dozen purchased in this manner last year.

Looper clip bedsprads, three bath rugs, and three bathroom sets were among the articles made with the 504 pounds of looper clips bought by 48 Knox county families. These resulted from a demonstration given by County Home Demonstration Agent Lucille King.

Dickens County club women bought 710 dozen six-coil spring clothes pins at an estimated saving of $103. They also bought materials and made 18 serving trays. Sixty dollars was spent for millinery supplies including hat blocks. They estimated 100 per cent saving on these purchases.

In Cottle County home demonstration marketing committees bought 25 dozen grape cuttings, three dozen jar lifters, 100 packages of tomato seed, and 12 boxes of scrap leather. Two thousand grape cuttings were bought by Young County club women along with 100 packages of semasen for treating garden seed, 300 yards of down satin, 500 yards of ging-ham, 127 pounds of yarn for rugs, and 35 pounds of tufting thread.

Montague County club women listed their surplus products on bulletin boards in various communities. Resulting sales of berries, peaches, pears, and fryers totaled $1,216.80.

Tomato seed, fibre rush, corn cutters and serving trays were bought cooperatively in Haskell county last year.

Throckmorton county bought cooperatively three dozen jar lifters, 36 pounds of scrap leather, and 500 pint cartons for frozen food.

Fixing Up the Farm

STARTING NAILS AND SCREWS

A SMALL strip of heavy paper or light cardboard can be a big help in doing repair jobs around the farm. For instance, it takes a solid hammer blow to start a nail in concrete, and woe to the fingers holding the nail if there's a miss. One way to avoid this danger is to insert the nail in one end of a card. Thus the nail can be held in place, with the fingers a safe distance away.

Often a screw is too small (or the fingers too big) for easy handling. A similar technique works here, too. Just put the screw through the end of a card or strip of heavy paper and place it where you want it. Tap the screw lightly with a hammer and follow through with the screwdriver.

In both cases, the card or paper can be torn away after the fastener has been well started.

And here's a tip on removing obstinate screws. Apply a little vinegar and allow a few minutes for penetration before using the screwdriver. This method often succeeds when oil fails.

While the Nation Waits

Labor is taking a prolonged holiday in its strike against General Motors with serious effects upon allied industries. Typical of the paralytical results of the UAW-CIO's walkout, which the union ordered despite General Motors' offer of increased wages, are these photos showing: (Left above) Hundreds of railroad cars destined for the Buick Motor Division plants in Flint, including some with unprotected cargoes of sheet steel and other perishable materials; (Right above) construction work on a new Chevrolet plant completely halted; (Left below) parts for hundreds of new cars lie in storage rooms; (Right below) the final assembly line at Fisher Body Division's plant in Flint at a standstill after only a few weeks operation since V-J Day.

Prohibitive Cost Prevents Wide Use of Private Planes

Private planes in which you and the family can fly 500 miles or so for a week-end vacation are still a long way off for the average middle-class American family.

And the principal reason is that the annual cost of operating a $3,000 plane, flown 250 hours a year, would be, including depreciation, $2,620 a year, or $218.33 per month.

This estimate, according to an article in the February issue of Cosmopolitan magazine, is for an airplane you will be able to buy next spring for $3,000, payable one-third down and the balance in twelve months.

"It will take you and three passengers, plus baggage, 500 miles in four hours with comfort and safety—and any licensed private pilot can fly it," the article states in part.

But for such a plane flown a little over 30,000 miles in a year, the cost would be: Depreciation, $1,000; taxes, $30; insurance, $450; hangar rent, $300; routine maintenance, $75; gasoline, $500; oil, including changes, $120; airport fees away from home, $25; personal insurance, $120.

"As of today, then, the strict truth is that ownership of a personal airplane requires the acceptance of certain handicaps, and is in addition a very expensive proposition," the article further states. "The handicaps and expenses are much outweighed by the advantages, and the overbalance is growing greater daily."

CATTLE RAISERS WOULD ABOLISH BEEF SUBSIDIES

Members of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association, which includes many of Motley county's leading ranchers, dislike the subsidy program and other controls, according to a statement released by Holman Cartwright, president of the organization. Blame for the shortage of meat is placed at the door of federal restrictions in the detailed statement.

An excerpt from the statement follows: "It has been no fault of the rangeland that beef production has not been on the same proportionate scale that cattle numbers and cattle slaughter reached. Rangeland produced and marketed the cattle. The fact that governmental restrictions and limitations prevented cattle feeders from following their accustomed course of buying range cattle and feeding them to a finish, thus improving the grade and enormously adding to the tonnage, cannot be charged to the cattle producers. This situation was an inevitable result of the system of restrictions, ceilings, quotas and subsidies installed by the government over the protest of cattlemen. The cattle industry has, so far, consistently maintained an unbroken front on fundamental issues that have affected the industry during the war emergency.

Basically Upsound
Federal officials have now become conscious of conditions which the Government has created, and now, belatedly, fear the ultimate and inevitable

Terracing Doubles Last Years Report

Seventy miles of terraces have been built in Motley County since January first this year, which is twice as many built during the year 1945, it has been revealed by County Agent J. R. Emmons. Aided by Pete Williams of Matador, Mr. Emmons has run three times as many terraces and contour lines this year as any of the past six years. As a result of the increase in terracing, the number of terracing plows and machinery has also increased from 4, last year to 14 this year, not including the county terracing machinery, Mr. Emmons declared.

Terraces have been built by Whirlwind, disk plows attached to tractor, Ford terracing plows, elevator attached to tractor and the county terracing machinery consisting of tractor and grader. Farmers who have purchased terracing equipment can pay for it and make good wages while terracing their land, due to the fact that the AAA pays $1.50 per 100 feet for terraces constructed according to specifications. The most important thing to consider in owning individual equipment is that government specifications for terraces are about one-half as high and one-third as wide as they should be for good farming practices and convenient plowing by tractor, Mr. Emmons pointed out.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Baker and Mrs. R. C. Gravelly of Morton, were visitors here last week in the home of Mrs. Noble Groves, daughter of Mrs. Baker and a sister of Mrs. Gravelly. Miss Chloey Fulfer of Lubbock, spent the week end here visiting her mother, Mrs. W. M. Fulfer.

Frozen food stored in Texas freezer lockers and home freezer units was six times as great in 1944 as in 1942. Texas now has 250 frozen food lockers, averaging 330 boxes.

Experiments at A & M indicate that Kudzu, the soil erosion prevention plant, should be planted only in the eastern part of Texas. It requires 40 inches of rainfall a year.

The Needs For Soil Conservation

One of the purposes of the 1946 AAA program is to assist farmers in soil conservation work for with the depletion of the soil comes the lowering of the incomes of farm families. As the fertility of a farmer's soil decreases through erosion or bad farming methods his income decreases. His dwelling begins to need paint and repairs that he cannot afford. The family wardrobe becomes more and more worn and out of style.

Roy Burleson
INSURANCE
BANK BUILDING
MATADOR, TEXAS

food becomes poorer and less in quantity, resulting in malnutrition, especially for children; sickness becomes more frequent in the family because of lowered resistance. The family withdraws from the social and religious life of the community and finally there is a loss of ambition and the will to work. When this occurs, many of the more resourceful and aggressive among the towns and cities, being attracted by reports of higher wages, easier working conditions, and better living conditions. Their exodus robs the farm community they leave of the leadership these people might have exercised. Those who remain on the farm often become depressed by the seemingly hopeless situation brought on by lowered incomes. They see their soils washing away and sometimes they know what has to be done to stop the loss but do not have the means to do the work.

You may think this picture is exaggerated. For this particular area and at the present time it is exaggerated but if the present trend of allowing our land to wash away continues and we keep mining our soil, such conditions will exist right here in Motley county. The AAA has funds to assist farmers in this county in needed soil conservation practice work. However, a prior approval is required on each practice carried out or no assistance can be rendered. Remember always to obtain approval before institution of any practice and financial aid will be granted if completed practice meet AAA specifications.

Surplus Materials To Go To Farmers

Farmers will have a chance to buy surplus materials according to Charles F. Bramman, assistant Secretary of Agriculture, available items will include wood products, lighting fixtures, tools, paint and other vitally needed building and construction equipment. The Agriculture Policy Committee of the Surplus Property Administration will devote its efforts toward putting farmers on an equal footing with other buyers of surplus goods.

County Wide Farm Bureau Meeting

The Motley County Farm Bureau is planning a county-wide meeting on Thursday evening, March 21st. Entertainment will be furnished by all communities of the county. Many well known speakers will be present, refreshments will be served and prizes given away. This meeting promises to be the biggest thing to happen in Motley County since the Rodeo and Pioneer Celebration of 1940. Everybody is invited and urged to attend.

We must be increasingly productive, more efficient, and must provide useful work for all. We must develop and conserve our natural resources. And we must distribute the fruits of our increased productivity fairly among all our people.

Army Recruiting Stations Furnish Vital Information

Persons seeking information on servicemen's allotments, station, or provisions of army regulations and procedures are requested to go to the nearest army recruiting station and consult the officer in charge. Particularly those desiring to correspond with the war department or the Adjutant General's office in Washington, D. C. or with headquarters Eighth service command in Dallas are requested to allow the Army recruiting service's many branch stations to initiate the matters thru regular channels. This will aid materially in having communications receive attention and will insure receiving the desired action or answer.

Main Army recruiting stations are located in Lubbock and Amarillo with branch stations located in Dalhart, Borger, Pampa, Shamrock, Perryton, Childress, Plainview, and Brownfield.

AIRY PASTRY

"One of the trade secrets in pastry making is rapid cooling and heating," John Lezan, French pastry chef at the Marguery Restaurant, New York City, tells Mrs. Harry Weir. "These custards are hot when I put them into the pastry shells, but the electric fan cools them in a hurry and keeps the shells from getting soggy. Cold vanilla and cold ingredients help too, to make pastry short and flaky."

Yes, she's back at her old job of home-making—that 24-hour-a-day job with no overtime pay.

Mom learned a lot about electric service during the war. She found that stitching up a cruiser and stitching up a curtain are both done more easily and quickly when electricity lends a hand.

And when home-making had to be sandwiched in after war-plant hours, Mom learned that the touch of a finger-tip brought her a dozen willing servants for the cost of a candy bar.

Mom's back in the kitchen. And electric service—always ready, dependable and cheap—is there with her, making her tasks easier, her life more comfortable. Service like that just doesn't happen. It takes hard work and good business management. The men and women in Mom's electric company—and yours, too—make it possible.

PADUCAH

You aren't getting machinery, Mr. Farmer, because

have taken the place of

PRODUCTION LINES

...so don't blame your Implement Dealer!

Your implement dealer had planned and expected to have his display floor filled with new implements and tractors weeks ago. And we had planned to make them—had told our dealers and our farmer customers they would have new equipment and plenty of service parts for the 1946 spring work. And we had hoped to sell these machines at no advance in price.

Real Production Had Started

When the war ended, our organization bent every effort to increase production, with the result that in the last months of 1945 machinery was being built in very substantial quantities. Here are a few figures:

ITEM	NOV. 1945	DEC. 1945
Tractors	7,271	7,432
Combines	2,345	2,526
Cultivators	3,482	3,308
Hay Loaders	209	982
Plows	6,185	6,702*

*Plows are made in our Canton and Chaffinoga Works, which are not on strike. January production was 7,747 plows.

Both your dealer and we were encouraged by this production picture at the turn of the year. But the strike changed all that. As you know, the CIO United Farm Equipment & Metal Workers of America called a strike in ten of our plants, on January 21, 1946.

What Is The Strike About?

Wages are a basic issue. At the time of the strike, Harvester employees were among the highest paid workers in American industry. When the strike began, the average hourly earnings in the ten plants, not counting overtime, were $1.15 1/2. If present proposals are adopted, this figure will be $1.33 1/2 per hour.

When the strike began, negotiations broken off by the Union on the compulsory union membership. The Union has no desire to weaken the Union. It recognizes certain reasonable needs of the farmer. But the Company does oppose unionism. It feels strongly that the employe's membership should be a man's own choice.

Material Costs and Price Reductions

Wages and materials are the great factors in operating our business—together they consume all but a few cents of every dollar the Company takes in. Wages are going to be high—and nobody knows how high material costs will go.

In the face of rising costs, the Company does not see how it can increase wages recommended by the government fact finding board until it has a satisfactory assurance from the government that reasonable price reductions granted to the Company within a reasonable period of time. This matter is of such importance that it will not be discussed but will be covered by future advertisements devoted to both prices and production.

Speaking for our dealers and customers can assure you that no customer is eager than we are to resume production. We are doing and shall continue to do all in our power to bring about a fair settlement as soon as possible.

Flomot Cagers Have Unique Cage Coach

FLOMOT—This is the story of a cowpuncher who has added a side line of wrangling high school athletes and has won ribbons in both shows he has entered. He is W. E. Burleson, who operates a 50-section ranch 20 miles out from Flomot and coaches the high school boys for the love of it.

Small Crop

His team, rangy, spirited youngsters, is chosen from the 70-odd students of Flomot High School who assemble daily from their 180-mile-square district. Flomot itself counts as its population between 80 and 90 persons. With only four and a half teachers in high school, Supt. Dewey Rattan found himself unable to hire a coach for this year.

Team Goes Far

Undaunted, the boys went to Burleson's ranch and asked him to be their mentor. Though not a graduate of Flomot himself, and knowing there would be no monetary returns, the rancher consented to do his best. Last fall, with the assistance of E. J.

Coach Burleson

Hines, he tutored his charges thru 11 wins to a bi-district football championship, as far as Class B teams are allowed to go, his admirers add regretfully feeling sure that if they were permitted, they would have won a state championship in their class.

Nephews Play

Though football practice was carried on in daylight, the hard-wood team has had to do its working out at night. On the first 10 are three Martin boys, one of whom, Herbert, is Burleson's nephew. Another star on the group is another nephew, M. C. Jones, who gave a good account of himself at the regional meet.

Matador Grad

Burleson was graduated from Matador High School in 1933 and attended Tech. He lettered three years as forward on his high school team but did not play in college.

"What do we think of him?" repeated a fellow townsman after the afternoon game. "Why we think he's just about the best there is!"

"Therefore, I shall make the race on none of their possible demerits but will offer my service to this, my home county, in the most sincere and constructive manner that I know how."

"My family has been resident owners of Motley county for fifty-five consecutive years. Here all of us children have grown to manhood and womanhood. Fifteen of my father's children and grandchildren are graduates of Matador High School and eleven of us have served in the armed forces, in time of war. During the first World War, I enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps and served for the duration in that organization. Early in the second World War, I twice offered my services in the armed forces and was twice rejected for military service. I tried to do my part in furthering the war effort by keeping school going during the crisis, by engaging in defense work each summer while school was not in session, by conducting salvage drives and serving as registrar on registration days; by helping the Red Cross and the United War effort, and by putting all of my savings into defense bonds. I hold active membership in the Texas Scholarship Association, the American Legion, the I. O. O. F. Lodge and the Baptist Church.

"None of our family has ever asked for a public office or your hands before, but our record here is well known and on it I feel justifiable in asking for your consideration and support at this time. I greatly appreciate your giving me the same and if I am elected to the office for which I am asking, I pledge the best that is in me to give you an efficient, aggressive and energetic administration."
