By LAS MEADOR

Significant vistas, New Mexico's souls of men, sit its terraces to such that the blue and seem to rise from the of centuries have out disturbing a primor that sojourns the smolder heart. Time is from the far, blue from the smoke of a train a weary worm on the of space. Empire of Mexico is a caustic and brittle from the cold, bright stars. It the spirit and impalage of thousands. For- e-steeds, crumbling of homes and long- trals are strewn across nding expanse of hills. broken pitchers long their precious nectar something of the tears, the poverty, pain and written in the unhappy ure; the shell of hopes and drying in the sun. stronger than defeat fashioned to tame the of this land still drunk of its own beauty.

First Bale At Flomot

Motley county's first bale of 1944 cotton was picked by C. M. Jones on the Wilburn Barton farm and delivered to the Gilbert gin at Flomot on Saturday, September 2nd, according to a report received by the Tribune.

GINs ARE TUNED FOR NEW STAPLE

"Motley county gins are 'tuned up' for the start of the new ginning season, according to a brief survey made Tuesday. H. C. Duncan, manager of the Farmers Co-operative Society gin here is having some trouble installing his new 10x45-foot, 50-ton truck scales. A large pit is required for the scales in front of the gin's new rock-vener, three-room office building, just completed. The ground was so hard for the past two weeks that the pit could not be dug without repeated 'soakings' with city water. Now the partially dug hole has caught so much rain water that the work can not be completed immediately. However, the new scales are expected to be in operation soon. Another recent improvement at the gin is the installation of Hardwicke-Etter seed scales, which weigh the seed of each bale by the time the ginning is completed.

Conducts Services At Baptist Church

At the conclusion of the morning service, special recognition was given the following Baptist young people, who are leaving within the next two weeks to attend college: To attend Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Don Paul and Ruth Evelyn Keith, and Donald Reeves; to West Texas State College, Canyon, Herbert Smallwood; to Howard-Payne, Brownwood, George Doss; to Wayland College, Ruth Simpson; to Draughon's Business College, Lubbock, Aileen Bloodworth and to North Texas State Teacher's College, Denton, Dorothy Nelson and Frances Seigler. ## School Term Is Started

With a shortage of two teachers in the high school faculty, Matador Independent schools open the 1944-45 term, Monday. A record class of 41 members was enrolled in the Freshman class, Supt. B. F. Tunnell, declared yesterday, while the high school average enrollment was about normal. A total of 134 students were enrolled in high school. Grade school enrollment was slightly above average with 211. Miss Ida Bell Armstrong was elected to teach science in high school at a meeting of the board, Saturday afternoon. Teachers are still needed for Mathematics and English. Mr. Tunnell said that 107 students enrolled are from transfers. All students from Barton and Fairview are transferred here. All high school students from Whiteflat are enrolled here and about 12 Northfield students are enrolled in high school. While the teacher situation is critical in Matador, it is less acute than in some Panhandle towns. Littlefield opened with a shortage of six teachers according to newspaper reports.

Former Residents Victims Of Attack In Arizona Home

The following item was clipped from a Phoenix, Arizona daily newspaper, "Sheriff's deputies and city police Thursday were seeking two Spanish-Americans, about 20 and 25 years old, who forced their way into a residence at 1730 South Second Street, struck a crippled 52-year-old man with a rock and robbed his 82-year-old father of $42 which represented his old-age pension check cashed an hour before.

British Bride of Texan Impressed by Lights

"Those gorgeous lights of New York. You don't know what it means to see lights when you haven't seen them for five years." Such was the greatest impression America has made on Mrs. Thos. B. Forbis, 22-year-old bride of Lieutenant Forbis of Afton, who arrived from England with her husband recently and has been visiting in Matador. The former Margaret Winifred Ashworth is from Sale, a "village" of some 50,000 people near the great cotton manufacturing city of Manchester. She met her husband, who's been serving in the army air corps in England, at a holiday resort while vacationing from duties as a comptometer. But working at a business machine all day was only a part of the duties Margaret has done in England during recent years. Like all other women and girls, she was a member of the Women's Voluntary Society, devoting four nights weekly to various assignments, such as air raid work and canteen work among the soldiers. In crisp but perfect English, so different from the Texas drawl, Mrs. Forbis tells of the great shortage that hit England in 1940, after the fall of France and the miraculous evacuation at Dunkerque of the great battle of Britain in which scarcely an area in all of England escaped the ruthless bombs. When she arrived in New York, Mrs. Forbis went into a shop to make a purchase "just for the fun of seeing the clerk wrap it up." In England, the paper bag scarcity has been so severe that stores have long since cut out all wrapping, whether for corsets or potatoes. Market baskets are the vogue. Nor had the English bride seen any fully fashioned hose, only shapeless rayons, and chocolate candy is as scarce as a pine tree in West Texas. A few people raise turkeys but almost always they're given to the army. One Christmas Margaret's family dined on a tin of Span and potatoes, but they were healthier on their more wholesome and rationed diet, she believes. "We English don't rave about vitamins, like you Americans," she laughs, and they're pronounced "vitt-a-mins" over there. Mrs. Forbis arrived in New York via ocean liner and visited a few days in Chester, Pa., with relatives of her husband until Lieutenant Forbis arrived by plane. In New York she was too busy trying to locate a room to be lonesome, she says, but the Red (See BRITISH BRIDE back page)

Enemy Shell Strikes Death Near Sergeant

AN ARTILLERY SHELL landing in the position of his mortar platoon on May 30, 1944, did not have his name on it or Staff Sgt. Joe Berry Meador, 'ace' reporter for the Tribune would not have posed for the above photograph, made in Rome last month. His game of tag with death was first revealed here in a clipping from a Hooker, Oklahoma newspaper, in which a letter to Mrs. Earl Rahm, mother of Pvt. Robert M. Rahm, one of the two members of the platoon killed by the shell, was printed. The letter was one of condolence and signed by Sgt. Meador.

Postoffice Has Christmas Quiz For GI's Mail

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—When you mail overseas Christmas packages during the next month, the postoffice clerks expect to ask you these questions: 1. Is there any written matter or personal correspondence? If so, the PO says you should enclose an address slip duplicating the "to and from" on the outside of your package. You are allowed to write simple dedicatory inscription on the flyleaf of a book; but no long note of letter-like proportions. 2. Is there any fragile article in the package? You must cushion any breakable object with crushed newspapers or substitute. 3. Is there anything perishable? You can not mail bonbons, fresh fruit or crumbly cookies. 4. Anything inflammable or liquid? Matches can not be mailed, nor anything else inflammable or that must be in a completely absorbent wrapping. The PO begs you to tell the truth about what's in the package, if you expect your service man or woman to receive your gift.

The assault and robbery happened Wednesday afternoon. Deputies said the younger Jones was taken to St. Monica's Hospital where doctors made 18 stitches in a gash above his left eye. The father was not injured. According to deputies, the Spanish-Americans accosted the father and son in front of their home and by throwing the rock forced them into the house. There, while one banished a long-bladed knife near the throat of the dazed son, the other pushed the father to the floor and removed the money. The elder Mr. Jones was one of the early pioneers of this section and will be remembered by many old-timers. He has made his home in Arizona for a number of years.

Relief From Summer Heat In Wake of Soaking Rains

DROUGHT SEVERE; WINDMILL BURNS

Even the old-timers don't remember a season so dry that windmills burned. L. B. (Bob) Robertson has just lost a windmill by fire. The mill, which was located at his stock pens one mile east of Matador is a mass of twisted tin and four blackened stubs are all that remain of the wood tower. No one witnessed the fire. Mr. Robertson used an electric motor and pump to supply water during still periods. He traces the source of the fire to a slack belt on the motor which caused heat sufficient to ignite the oil-soaked platform, resulting in the destruction of the mill, tower, pump and motor. It is the first record of a windmill being destroyed by fire in this area.

Outlook Improved By Precipitation Over Panhandle

SUMMER bowed off the stage in the Texas Panhandle late Monday when additional rainfall cooled the parched earth over a wide front that included Motley county. Official rainfall registered here early yesterday totaled 1.80 inches by the rain gage located at the city wells. Joe Bloodworth of Whiteflat reported more than three inches (unofficial) in his community, at noon Tuesday. More than one inch was recorded at Roaring Springs. Flomot area is reported to have received 1 1/2 inches or more. A heavy storm cloud approached out of the west late Monday which brought much-needed precipitation to farms and ranchers in the western section of the county. Only a shower was received from this cloud in Matador. However increasingly heavier clouds continued to advance from the west. Rain fell in Matador from near midnight Monday night until noon Tuesday.

British Bride of Texan Impressed by Lights

"Those gorgeous lights of New York. You don't know what it means to see lights when you haven't seen them for five years." Such was the greatest impression America has made on Mrs. Thos. B. Forbis, 22-year-old bride of Lieutenant Forbis of Afton, who arrived from England with her husband recently and has been visiting in Matador. The former Margaret Winifred Ashworth is from Sale, a "village" of some 50,000 people near the great cotton manufacturing city of Manchester. She met her husband, who's been serving in the army air corps in England, at a holiday resort while vacationing from duties as a comptometer. But working at a business machine all day was only a part of the duties Margaret has done in England during recent years. Like all other women and girls, she was a member of the Women's Voluntary Society, devoting four nights weekly to various assignments, such as air raid work and canteen work among the soldiers. In crisp but perfect English, so different from the Texas drawl, Mrs. Forbis tells of the great shortage that hit England in 1940, after the fall of France and the miraculous evacuation at Dunkerque of the great battle of Britain in which scarcely an area in all of England escaped the ruthless bombs. When she arrived in New York, Mrs. Forbis went into a shop to make a purchase "just for the fun of seeing the clerk wrap it up." In England, the paper bag scarcity has been so severe that stores have long since cut out all wrapping, whether for corsets or potatoes. Market baskets are the vogue. Nor had the English bride seen any fully fashioned hose, only shapeless rayons, and chocolate candy is as scarce as a pine tree in West Texas. A few people raise turkeys but almost always they're given to the army. One Christmas Margaret's family dined on a tin of Span and potatoes, but they were healthier on their more wholesome and rationed diet, she believes. "We English don't rave about vitamins, like you Americans," she laughs, and they're pronounced "vitt-a-mins" over there. Mrs. Forbis arrived in New York via ocean liner and visited a few days in Chester, Pa., with relatives of her husband until Lieutenant Forbis arrived by plane. In New York she was too busy trying to locate a room to be lonesome, she says, but the Red (See BRITISH BRIDE back page)

Appeal Made For Civilian Workers

Uncle Sam still needs thousands of civilians to repair ships damaged in action.

In an effort to fill this need government red tape has been cut and appointments may be authorized immediately upon application.

Applications for this war work may be made to Stanley A. La Pree, Civic Service Representative at the U. S. Employment Service, 111 W. 8th St., Plainview, Texas, Sept. 4th through 6th.

Men with experience in the skilled crafts who are not engaged in essential work are needed especially at the Puget Sound Navy Yard, Bremerton, Wash.; Mare Island Navy Yard, Vallejo, Calif.; Hunters Point Naval Drydocks, San Francisco and Terminal Island Naval Drydocks, San Pedro, California.

The need is urgent at these Naval establishments and applicants are guaranteed adequate, modern and inexpensive housing and transportation is furnished by the government.

Electricians, machinists, copersmiths, sheetmetal workers, pipefitters, painters, radio mechanics, riggers, riveters, boiler-makers and automotive mechanics as well as helpers are needed to repair battle-damaged ships. "May be the end of the war in Europe is in sight, as General Montgomery says, but we've still got a war to win in the Pacific and all persons not engaged in war work of equal skill should apply at once to Mr. La Pree," said the Civil Service representative.

All appointments made here will be in accordance with the War Manpower Commission's regulations, stabilization plans, and priority referral program.

Mrs. J. A. Groves spent the week-end as guest of friends in Paducah.

HERE'S A CROP THAT NEVER FAILS

BE SAFE...BE SURE...WITH WAR BONDS!

No turn in the weather can wash out your investment in War Bonds. No out-worm or borer or other insect pest can get to them. No market fluctuation can alter their value from day to day. They're one "crop" that never fails!

Yes, if you're looking for a "crop" that never fails, you'll put in an order today for more War Bonds... even if you have to go without something else to pay for them!

5 REASONS FOR INCREASING YOUR WAR BOND PURCHASES

1. The tempo of this war is hitting its highest point. Government expenditures for war are at the peak. MORE MONEY IS NEEDED... NOW!
2. In proportion to WHO HAS THE MOST MONEY, individuals are not buying their share of War Bonds. America must correct this situation.
3. War Bonds provide the farmer and rancher with the financial reserve he may have to survive the ordinary ups and downs of farming as a business.
4. Money will be needed urgently at a future date to replace and repair farm equipment, machinery, and buildings. War Bonds will provide it.
5. War Bonds are the safest investment in the world, return a good rate of interest, are easy and convenient to buy... from bank, post office, retail mail carrier or Production Credit Association.

We Americans pride ourselves not only on knowing how to make a penny now and then, but also on how to keep one. So we get double pleasure out of our War Bond purchases. First, we're backing our men in uniform who are fighting all over the world to keep America safe and free. Second, we are building a financial reserve to meet the inevitable emergencies of such a business as farming. And third, when those Bonds mature, we will have the cash for new equipment and machinery and buildings to help maintain the efficiency and earning power of our farms.

For America's Future, for your Future, for your Children's Future

A Switch in Time saved Nine...

My wife wasn't all joking.

She said that a real new car improvement would be to go easing sideways, right into a cramped parking space at the curb. I said yes—maybe in 1960. There's one swell improvement though, that's here already!—an OIL-PLATED engine! You get that immediately by switching to Conoco Nth motor oil. I don't say it's the only oil; they're not hiring me. But I had this engine OIL-PLATED around 1941. It's still running like a darby, using Conoco Nth oil all the while, to cut down damage from engine acids. If I know what I've read all through this War, the acids made by every engine are liable to cause corrosion inside. That's bad. But acids don't like OIL-PLATING—can't gnaw right through it. It's fastened real close or sort of plated onto working parts that you've got to protect till your new car comes. And even then you'll want the engine OIL-PLATED with Conoco Nth oil, the same as in the car you've got right now.

IN TIME OF PEACE

Phillips chemists and engineers devoted themselves, in the glass-bricked laboratory pictured above, to search for product betterment.

Car-owners reaped the benefit in improved gasolines and lubricants, at prices which represented ever-increasing value for the money.

IN TIME OF WAR, Phillips research activities are sharply focused on the requirements for victory, and the U. S. Armed Forces . . . and you, not as a car-owner but as citizen and taxpayer . . . reap the benefit in improved products, at prices which represent ever-increasing value for the money.

The Phillips airplane pictured above, with its unique test and measuring devices, is also a laboratory . . . a flying laboratory for a Phillips research project. Phillips recently was first to determine the performance of aviation gasolines . . . not in bound test motors . . . but in combat-type engines under actual flying conditions.

PHILLIPS HIGH PLACE in the war production of butadiene from synthetic rubber, 100-octane aviation gasoline, and other petroleum chemicals result of Phillips long years of peacetime research to extend the frontiers of knowledge in hydro-carbon chemistry.

Who can predict what great new benefits will flow to motorists after victory, as the Phillips wartime exploration of the limitations of the chemical production of better things from petroleum gases as well as petroleum?

This much can be predicted with confidence. With the coming of peace, car-owners will reap a vastly improved postwar Phillips 66 Gasoline. In the meantime, whenever you see the Phillips 66 Shield, let it remind you that Phillips refineries are gigantic chemical plants producing weapons for victory.
