Barbara's Bylines

On June 10th, Bill and I flew from DFW-JFK (New York City) to Albany, N.Y. to visit Bill's family and be with his mother, who has terminal cancer.

Even though we stayed close to his mom at her house, we did take a few hours to go to find garage sales, and ride through the beautiful countryside, Upstate New York is all farming and dairy cattle country. They are also having the same problem with the weather we are in Texas. Too much rain and cool weather for a good growing season. Even the strawberries aren't sweet when they don't get enough sunshine.

Several interesting happenings were: hay bailer that we couldn't find here; I picked Rhubarb and made a jello salad with it and also ate a Rhubarb-Strawberry Pie. Rhubarb grows wild there. Our brother-in-law brought in a 'puff ball' to cook. These are of the mushroom family - we have them, only smaller. This was about 10" diameter, we sliced it and deep fried part and fried part of it in butter. Bill grew up eating this way. They told us as long as they were pure white inside it is good, otherwise it is poison.

The 'Peony's' were in bloom. This flower has the most wonderful fragrance I have ever smelled. They make a whole room smell good. Nearly every house has several hanging baskets of flowers as well as flowers all around the house, they water daily with a watering can. When it isn't raining daily.

I found out I talk 'funny'. They teased me about doing the 'warsh', fluffing the pilla' and seeing a pretty 'yella' blouse.

This part of New York is called Leatherstocking Country. When James Fennore Cooper wrote, "Last of the Mohicans", he called the Mohawk Indians in this area 'Leatherstockings! They wore leather warped around their leng to proleather wrapped around their legs to pro-tect them in the woods.

Bill and I walked each day. One evening we walked two miles out to visit one of the nurses' farms. We saw two deer and one racoon as well as wild strawberries. Most all the cattle are holsteins that are milked twice daily usually 5:30 a.m and

Most of the houses are 2-3 stories, all have full basements. I don't know how many Bed & Breakfast are in Richfield Springs, but each one has a neat name and all look very inviting to the traveler.

On my return trip home, Monday, (Bill stayed in NY for a little longer), I was driving along enjoying seeing the green, green grasses of home, and the 'check gauges' light came on. The pickup was getting hot! I pulled over (between Crowell and Paducah) and thank God for Crowell and Paducah) and thank God for Crowell and Paducah), and thank God for farmers! Two very nice farmers stopped and helped this lady in distress. Turns out to be the 'small world' story, Gaylon Tucker knew Judy Hart Renfro in 3rd grade at Paducah and Ronald Gilbert knew Elaine and Boyce Hart when they lived on land he farmed near Paducah!

May and June have been eventful months for Motley County Arts and Crafts begining with the picnic at Roaring Springs Ranch on May 4.

A workshop on oil painting was held at the Senior Citizens Center May 10.

Mrs. Jena Lyles of Hereford taught the class. It was a very good day to paint a landscape of bluebonnets, trees, water, sky with clouds. Many pretty paintings were gratifying. Since bluebonnets are a favorite of most people in Texas, it made favorite of most people in Texas, it made

Senior Citizens Report

by Nora Belle Dunning

The Matador Senior Citizens met on Tuesday, June 23 for their regular luncheon, with 25 people registering. Iris Blevins celebrated her birthday the Friday before playing 88 with Artie, Grace, Addie, Nora Belle, J.W. and Bill. We had a good time but failed to give Iris a spanking.

Due to Ruby not being there, we didn't have a business meeting. We had thought Monita would be back by then and we'd put the regular business off the Tuesday before.

Addie, Nora Belle, J.W. and Bill. We had a good time but failed to give Iris a spanking.

Bro. Gaylon Cox asked the blessing for the noon meal. Roy and Lola, we were so glad to have you back with us. We had been missing you. Monita, we'll be glad to have you back, but hope you are having a good vacation.

I'm sure you know by now we have a different bus driver, Debbie Martin, and she said she needed to know two days before who would be riding the bus. Mary Ann is taking off to be with her children and help little Jasmine more. Mary Ann, we sure will be missing you, as you are so good and kind to all us. We love you very much.

REMOVING MILDEW FROM CLOTHES AND OTHER MATERIAL....

Mildew is caused by molds that grow on anything from which they can get nutrients. Natural fiber fabrics, leather, wood, grout and paper are common places to find mildew in homes. Mildew can cause considerable damage by causing musty odors and discolor-ing or rotting the items it grows on. Mil-dew should be prevented, if possible. If mildew develops, remove it as soon as it is discovered.

If mildew is found on clothing and household fabrics, brush any surface mold off outdoors to prevent scattering spores in the house. Then wash or dry clean the item according to the label instructions.

If stains remain, treat them with perborate (all-fabric) bleach or cholorine bleach, according to the care label instructions. Even if the label says the fabric may be bleached, always test a hidden area to check for color change.

Mix one tablescon of perborate

Mix one tablespoon of perborate bleach with one pint of water as hot as the fabric can stand. Sponge stain or soak item in the solution for thirty minutes. Rinse and repeat if necessary.

Dilute cholorine bleach with water as directed on the container. Never use cholorine bleach on silk or wool. Sponge stains or soak the article for 30 minutes; rinse; repeat if necessary.

Dilute cholorine bleach with water as directed on the container. Never use cholorine bleach on silk or wool. Sponge stains or soak the article for 30 minutes;

rinse; repeat if necessary.

Upholstered articles, mattresses and rugs should be brushed outdoors or vacuumed thoroughly to remove as much energenesses en la constant de la co mildew as possible. If the item is damp, use an electric heater and a fan to dry it.

Sunlight and air help stop mold growth.

If mildew stains remain, sponge lightly with a thick suds and wipe with a clean damp cloth. Get as little water as possible on the fabric while doing this. If furniture fabric cannot be cleaned

If furniture fabric cannot be cleaned with soap or detergent, wipe it with a cloth wrung out in a solution of half rubbing alcohol and half water. Wipe item with a cloth dampened with the solution and air dry in a light, airy place. Thoroughly clean mildewed wood by scrubbing it with a mild alkali such as washing soda, laundry detergent, or trisodium phosphate and cholorine bleach. Use four to six tablespoons of cleaning powder and one cup of bleach to a gallon of water. Rinse well and dry thoroughly. Wood may need to be treated with a wood preservative or painted with mildew resistant paint if mildew has damaged the surface.

Once mildew has been removed, clean and air the house, especially closets and other enclosed spaces. Treat surfaces with fungicides or cholorine bleach to destroy mold spores.

In climates where mildew is common, treat surfaces regularly and keep every thing as clean and dry as possible.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are for people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY:
A sharp tongue is the only edged tool that grows keener with constant use.

Thank You

I want to thank all of you who have been so kind to me since my return from the hospital. I want to thank everyone for the calls, visits and for the food that has been brought in since my return home. Such good friends are always loved and appreciated.

I would like to thank the Eternas Study Club for the scholarship they gave me. It will help me as I pursue my college education.

STEP-PARENTS NEED AUTHORITY

NEED AUTHORITY

Step-parenting isn't easy even when things are going good. One area that's frustrating for step-parents (hereinafter referred to as SP) is having a position of authority with the step-kids. They may be met by skepticism and have to go through a time of proving themselves.

Proving themselves as a worthy "parent" is quite a task. The kids may challege the SP's decisions and guidance, especially discipline issues. Some kids compete with the SP's in virtually everything from sports to attention of the natural parent (herinafter referred to as NP).

The competition is probably an attempt to lower the SP in status.

The source of authority for the SP must come from not only their earning it, but from the NP. This is done by showing support in front of the children for deici-sions that are made by the SP, especially in the area of discipline. If the NP disagrees with the SP, that can be settled in

Officials at Lubbock-based Plains
Cotton Growers, (PCG) say an effort to maitain funding for the Market Promotion Program is now in full swing.

While the House of Representatives has been getting ready to consider legislation that authorizes funding for the program, cotton industry officials have been contacting key Congressmen to solidify support for the program. Consideration of the legislation could begin before Congress' July 4 break.

Opponents of the program portray the MPP as a "waste" of taxpayer money and at the least would greatly limit funding for the program, others want the program completely abolished.

PCG officials are currently working with the National Cotton Council (NCC) and other industry groups to drum up support for the program which has helped increase export sales have averaged $437 million bale mark in 1991 and are expected to say near the same level in 1992. Cotton producers on the High Plains crop is sold in export markets each year.

average of $437 million each year since the MPP began.

PCGExecutive Vice President Donald Johnson says, "The current effort to do away with the Market Promotion Program threatens to reduce vital export markets that serve cotton producers Beltwide."

Opponents of the MPP say the $200 million designated for the program in 2992 would be better spent in other areas. Increases in cotton exports and the expansion of overseas markets for U.S. cotton effectively refute these claims.

LUBBOCK -- Farmers and ranchers receiving notices on deliquent property loans face more stringent restrictions on restructuring applications that in previous years, says Gary Condra, director of the Texas Agricultural Loan Mediation Program at Texas Tech University.

The Farmers Home Administration this month is sending notices to 3,576 Texas farmers and ranchers who are at least 30 days behind in their payments. Approximately 41 percent of the 8,748 active FmHA borrowers in Texas are being targeted. Recipients have 60 days to respond with a proposal for loan restructuring.

"Anyone who receives a notice should not delay in preparing an application for restructuring," Condra said. "Someone who turns in an incomplete proposal on the 60th day will not be given additional time. It is critical that farmers and ranchers not ignore these notices."

If a borrower is 180 days delinquent and does not repsond to the notice, the FmHA will begin the foreclosure process, warned Condran, whose program can help deliquent borrowers reach agreements with creditors.

Progress is Wonderful

The social and political progress which we have enjoyed these last few years no doubt has benefited mankind. We are living in a world that is rapidly improving those things found in the realm of human progress and Progress in the field of medicine, chemistry, metallurgy, space, communications, and other scientific fields has been amazing and marvelous. No sane thinking person would vote to bury our advances and destroy the blessings which have been gained through them. We in fields which we ourselves only discover We have not created them. We are able to improve anything which we ourselves invent. And that is too our credit.

There are so many things in our world over which we have no control. Our efforts will never brighten the Aurora Borealis, or retouch the colors of God's rainbow. All of our efforts can not out-do the beautyof the sunset. We tremble at the tornado and the hurricane. That which is controlled by the Almighty is beyond the up-dating of mankind. The design of the Creator cannot be improved upon by the creatures. Progress is good. The greatest progress we can make in spiritual affairs is to return to the Bible and abide there. "Thy word is truth..." (John 17:17).
