Gang Leader Stabbed By Prison Mate

Texas, Who Assaulted Al Capone, Once Played Football Here

James Lucas, whose latest escapade is the stabbing of Al Capone in Alcatraz prison Tuesday, at one time played football in Big Spring. He is well known to police here although he ran amuck of them only on minor charges.

Coming here from Breckenridge in 1928, Lucas played football but did not finish out the school term. Of a short, stocky build, he was nice appearing, not very talkative, but generally disliked by those who knew him. His associates recall he was good at bluffing but guilty of "crawfishing." He was employed at a local ice plant for a time.

After leaving Big Spring Lucas was booked in Taylor and Stephens counties for burglary. He was sent to prison at Huntsville but escaped in 1934. Six weeks later he was arrested after a gun battle with an officer for participation in a bank robbery at Albany.

Placed in the Tarrant county jail, Lucas became overly ambitious and tried the Dillinger "wooden gun" stunt on jail guards but was unsuccessful. The same stunt had failed to work for him in Abilene. He was placed in the death cell for safe keeping.

On Nov. 5, 1934 Lucas and his companion in the Albany robbery were found guilty in federal court at Abilene and given 25-year sentences with an extra five attached for violation of the Dyer Act laws.

An extension of parking time was made in several locations. The commission authorized the parking limit on Third St. between Gregg and Johnson Sts. to be changed from one hour to two hours.

The two hour parking limit was also made to include the following areas: Main St. between Third and Fourth Sts.; two hour parking limit on east side of street; no limit on west side of street.

A two hour parking limit will be granted on Second St. between Scurry and Runnels except in front of the post office where a fifteen minute limit will be in effect on both sides of the street until completion of the new post office building.

A two hour parking limit will also be in effect on Main St. between Second and Third, and on Runnels St. between Second and Third.

The commission passed an ordinance regulating motor vehicle junk yards, and authorized the correction of two tax items because of errors in assessments in previous years.

So. Constitution Group Polled For Candidate Choice

HOUSTON, June 24. (UP)—Members of the southern committee to uphold the constitution—$800,000 strong—Tuesday faced a decision whether they would offer an anti-new deal presidential candidate or endorse another party's nominee.

John Henry Kirby, wealthy Houston lumberman and militant anti-Roosevelt organizer, said members were being polled today regarding their views. A decision is expected before the week-end.

Kirby did not know what action the committee, of which he is chairman, will take. Any third-party candidate would only "furnish the corpse" to uphold Jeffersonian principles, he said.

"We will endorse the republican ticket and Gov. Alf Landon—as Jefferson democrats," Kirby explained his personal views. "We are bound to do what we can to beat Roosevelt. We are not communists. We're citizens trying to uphold the constitution."

Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, central figure at the "grass roots" democrat meeting in Macon, Ga., in January, will not be endorsed by committee members, Kirby said.

Baby Bites Snake

Little Jack Bone (above), 17-months old, made news at Atlanta, Ga., when he bit the head off a grass snake he found in the yard. He suffered no ill effects, however. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bone, wouldn't trust him with another live snake, so Jack demonstrates with a toy one just what he thinks of reptiles. (Associated Press Photo.)

Six Parties Advertising Local Affairs

Groups Leave Early Today To Cover Large Part Of Section

Intent upon giving Big Spring the best publicity it can receive for the Independence Day celebration, a group of local citizens left early Wednesday morning by car on a series of goodwill tours throughout the surrounding territory. The caravans will cover more than 60 of the neighboring towns.

Six different groups of cars, departing in the four directions, are scheduled to cover an area from Fort Stockton to Cisco and from Eden to Lubbock.

Besides leaving posters and circulars advertising the local show, the ambassadors will meet with automobile dealers in the various towns, discussing the Fourth of July beauty parade which will be held here under the auspices of Chrysler Motors and Texas Centennial exposition.

Man Charged With Shooting Brother Of Local Resident

HEMPSTEAD, Texas, June 24. (UP)—Willie McRae was charged Tuesday with shooting C. N. Proctor, 39, slot machine operator, to death Monday night.

Sheriff F. O. Blumberg said McRae had been moved from the Hempstead jail to another jail because of a threat of mob violence.

The shooting occurred in front of McRae's cafe. Mrs. Proctor was across the street in a theater. Six shots were fired, one of which struck Proctor in the chest.

McRae and Proctor were reported to have been at odds over operation of slot machines in McRae's restaurant. Machines owned by Proctor had been replaced by McRae.

Proctor is a brother of Will Proctor of Big Spring.

MESSANGER BOY IS PROMOTED TO CLERK

Franklin Arnold, 18-year-old Western Union employee here, has been promoted to clerk. He was promoted to messenger boy and soon worked up to No. 1.

For months Arnold spent his spare hours studying routine books, bulletins and simplex operation. Recently he was rewarded with a promotion to clerk. Now Arnold has three months in which to qualify as a simplex operator. A good percentage of company employees started as messenger boys.

ARTHUR CUTTEN DIES
CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Arthur W. Cutten, 66, who amassed millions of dollars in 30 years of market trading died here today.

Burglars Loot Bedroom Of Prominent Pair

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., June 24. (AP)—Burglars entered the bedroom of the socially prominent Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Coe at their estate on Long Island's "gold coast" and escaped with jewelry the owners said today was worth more than $400,000.

Coe is the son-in-law of the late H. H. Rogers.

Odessa Man Killed In Car Crash Near Stanton Tuesday

Neck Is Broken, Wife Suffers Serious Injuries

T. V. Johnson, Roswell, N. M., was under guard in a local hospital today following an automobile collision just east of Stanton Tuesday afternoon which claimed the life of C. H. McGee, Odessa driller, and critically injured Mrs. McGee.

Mrs. McGee was in a Midland hospital Wednesday where physicians believe she had a fair chance for recovery. She sustained a broken leg, broken arm and internal injuries.

Johnson was said to be suffering from severe face and scalp lacerations, but his injuries were reported as not being serious.

Makes Investigation
An investigation was underway by District Attorney Cecil Collins Wednesday after it was learned that the car in which Johnson was riding was stolen in Monahan.

Wednesday afternoon no charges had been filed against Johnson but Collins indicated he was checking his story closely. He was in Stanton, Midland and Odessa during the morning gathering details of the crash.

Death came instantly to McGee, his neck having been broken. Mrs. McGee was in such serious condition she has not been told of his death.

The district attorney said that Mr. and Mrs. McGee were bound for Odessa after having been shopping in Big Spring. Their car was struck almost broadside, McGee being pinned under the wreckage.

Saw Crash
O. T. Davis, Carter Chevrolet employee, was driving behind the car in which Johnson was riding when the crash occurred. Davis was driving a new car here.

He said that Johnson apparently started to pass a coupe, swerved back when he saw another car approaching. In so doing he swung back too far and when he saw he was headed for the ditch, cut his wheels sharply. Loose gravel caused the car to career across the highway, plunging into the McGee machine.

W. G. Attaway, telephone cable splicer, and his aides D. D. Patterson and R. L. Cline happened along at that moment, and one of them climbed a telephone pole and put in an ambulance call to Big Spring. At her own request, Mrs. McGee was rushed to a Midland hospital.

Found Under Culvert
Johnson, against his wishes, was taken to Stanton where he refused medical treatment and disappeared. He was discovered hiding underneath a culvert when two boys reported seeing him disappear under the structure.

He told officers investigating the accident that another man was with him in the car and that he got away after the crash. He denied knowledge of the car being stolen from Monahan.

Johnson gave his address to officers as Lyons, Kansas, but told a newspaper reporter he was an oil field worker out of Roswell, N. M. He said he could not remember the name of the car.

Besides his parents, the child is survived by three brothers, Jack, Paul, and John, and two sisters, Mary and Ruth.

Services will be held at 5 p. m. from the Eberley chapel Thursday and burial will be in the New Mount Olive cemetery.

Court Holds Against One Dollar Fee For Congress Candidates

AUSTIN, June 23. (AP)—The supreme court today refused to review the ruling of the San Antonio court of civil appeals that congressional candidates in districts containing one county could be assessed a filing fee of more than one dollar.

Rev. James O. Rail, Townsend plan advocate, Monday appealed to the higher courts on what election fee a candidate for congress in a one-county congressional district must pay after a fourth civil court of appeals sustained a higher fee.

He sought to file in Bexar county district by tendering $1 which Attorney General Will McOrav had ruled if the legal fee.

County Democratic Chairman Will Morris insisted on payment of $1.25 which the executive committee assessed against the candidates for congress.

Escapes May Have Evaded Arrest Again

Officers Admit Desperate Pair Probably Got Through Net

MEXIA, June 23. (AP)—Officers admitted the possibility today that two Reprise farm escapees may have escaped from poses combing the Navasota river bottoms.

Sheriff Will Adams, in charge of the search, said the fugitives, Luke Trammell and Forrest Gibson, who escaped Friday, may have taken an automobile and left the area by some little used road.

The two men apparently eluded on horseback the approximately 100 pursuing officers Monday by slipping into the river bottoms. A new pack of bloodhounds was put on the trail near the Limestone-Robertson county line.

The pair ran into the darkness after being fired upon yesterday by Captain Miller, Sheriff Adams, and police Chief Bob McKenzie of Mexia who sighted a car and ordered its occupants to halt.

Refusing to obey the command, the convicts attempted to speed away but were forced to run when their car became disabled.

RED CROSS ACTIVE IN 40 DISASTERS DURING THE YEAR

WASHINGTON, June 23.—A preliminary estimate of Red Cross disaster relief operations for 1936 disclosed that the organization's trained forces, assisted by chapter volunteers, have been active at the scene of 40 disasters during the past five months.

The number of families affected by the disasters is estimated as 145,000, and some of the major needs met by the Red Cross were food, shelter, clothing, medical care and home building and repair assistance for persons unable to help themselves.

"The scope of our annual experience in relieving the distress of disaster sufferers is shown by the fact that of these 40 disasters three were epidemics, seven were fires, thirteen were floods, one was ice flood, one was shipwreck and fifteen were tornadoes," said Robert E. Bondy, national director of the service.

Statistics quoted cover the five-month period from January 1 to June 1, 1936.

Short Illness Proves Fatal To Infant Son Of Mr. And Mrs. Hood

An illness of eight days Wednesday proved fatal to Earl William Hood, five-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hood.

Besides his parents, the child is survived by three brothers, Jack, Paul, and John, and two sisters, Mary and Ruth.

Services will be held at 5 p. m. from the Eberley chapel Thursday and burial will be in the New Mount Olive cemetery.

Instructor In Medical School To Visit Here

Dr. Reuben Davis Jr., head of the metabolic department of Temple University medical school, Philadelphia, is expected to arrive in Big Spring Wednesday evening.

to spend several days with his father, Reuben Davis, 700 Ayrford street. Dr. Davis left New York by boat June 17th and landed in Galveston Monday evening.

EXTRADITION GIVEN

Veteran Railroad Man Death Victim

R. V. Hart Succumbs To Heart Attack, Rites Today

R. V. Hart, well known railroad man and employee of the Texas & Pacific for more than 30 years, succumbed at a local hospital at 6:40 Tuesday evening. In falling health since the first of the year of heart involvement, Hart entered the hospital a week ago. Physicians despaired of his recovery several days ago. He was 51 years old.

Born in McMinn county, Tennessee, April 17, 1885, Hart entered the employ of the T. & P. at Baird in 1905, and since that time had resided there and at Big Spring. He moved here the last time in 1930 and worked out of here as an engineer.

Rites Today
Funeral services will be held at 5:30 p. m. Wednesday, in a garden at the home, 804 Johnson street—worked with regularly. Rev. R. B. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which Hart was a member, will officiate, and burial will be made in a local cemetery. Arrangements are under direction of the Eberley Funeral home.

Hart was married at Cross Plains in 1907 to Miss Chellie Halesy, who survives. Other survivors are a son, Kenneth; four brothers, A. C. Hart of Big Spring; John Hart, Cisco; Ben Hart, Abilene; and Tom Hart of Bakersfield, Cal.; a half-brother, Charles Ellis of Abilene; and three half-sisters, Mrs. Jodie Huntington of Cross Plains, and Mrs. John Fore of Pioneer.

Relatives Here
All of the relatives will be here for funeral services except the brother in California. Also here were several of Mrs. Hart's relatives. These include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Haley of Cross Plains; sisters, Mrs. Lonnie Ray and Mrs. James Ross of Baird and Miss Eloise Haley of Big Spring; and brothers, Errol Haley of Longview, W. E. and W. P. Haley of Baird; Roy Haley of Cisco, and Carl Haley of Big Spring.

Palbearers will be W. E. Haley, Pat Haley and James Ross of Baird; Ray Haley, Cisco; Errol Haley, Longview, and Carl Haley, Big Spring.

Honorary palbearers will be F. G. Sholte, Charles Koberg, R. L. Schwarzenbach, R. L. Manion, W. H. Powers, Ed Merrill, T. G. Adams, F. E. Wilson, J. T. Cochrane, W. V. Rose, M. D. Davis, A. P. Beckett, Bob Parks, G. I. Phillips, J. M. Allen, and J. R. Copeland.

Ranch Hand Loses Chance To Escape Electric Chair

AUSTIN, June 23. (AP)—Antonio Carrasco, 35, Culberson ranch hand, today lost his last chance to escape the electric chair when the state court of criminal appeals overruled a motion rehearing his appeal.

Barkley's castigation of the "12 long years of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover" set off such loud and long ovations that it was apparent the delegates had not shouted themselves out. Although he spoke for almost an hour and a half, comparatively few left the packed hall.

Striking back at new deal critics, he shouted that "they have wept over the slaughter of a few little pigs as if they had been tender human infants nestling at their mothers' breasts. Their real grief comes from the slaughter of the fat hogs of privilege and plunder which they have fed on the people's substance."

Roosevelt Leaders To Oppose Demand For An Amendment

Threat Of Townsend Plan Issue Fades, Wagner Chairman

PHILADELPHIA, June 24. (UP)—An upsurge in the platform dispute threatened the much-talked democratic harmony today while business replaced the tumult in routine at the small attended third session of the party's national convention.

Interest in all committees, with the conservative wing outnumbered, was focused on demands for constitutional change and endorsement of the Townsend old-age plan which promised to give trouble.

Without waiting for a committee to be set up, platform makers elected Senator Wagner, New York, chairman and to proceed to quick-fire hearings in an upstairs room.

A labor demand for constitutional amendment requiring a two-thirds vote to acquire laws unconstitutional was presented today for the platform makers.

Green Asks Resolution
The resolution was asked by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, but there were indications that strong Roosevelt leaders in control would not recommend the amendment. They were holding rather that the constitution was already broad enough for new deal objectives.

Despite controversial issues, Senator Wagner was harmoniously elected to the chairmanship of the resolutions committee.

Likelihood of major conflict over the Townsend old age pension plan faded as the issue was laid before the platform committee.

Decision of the Washington state delegation to carry the fight to the convention floor was upset when Senator Swellenbach, its resolutions committee representative, said he would decline to serve under such instructions.

Gov. James Allred of Texas today saw possibility that the south might become a "negligible factor" in selecting the party nominees if in the two-third rule is repealed.

Declaring that the rule was the south's protection against "unfair apportionment," he said: "Abrogation in the future might make the south, which never fails to furnish electoral votes necessary for success, a negligible factor in nominating the candidate for which it is to vote. It might have a tremendous significance in the future, though of no importance at this convention."

Empty chairs stood out in contrast to the teeming convention hall scenes Tuesday when Sen. Alben W. Barkley called the convention to order today at 1:17 p. m., eastern daylight saving time.

In a scorching keynote address which held the packed convention hall almost to the man, Senator Barkley of Kentucky launched a heated attack upon the Republican nominees who will face the Roosevelt-Carner ticket in November.

Lashing out principally at Alf Landon, Republican standard bearer, Barkley thundered he was a man who favored printing press money.

After pointing to what he called an "astounding" recovery by the nation under Roosevelt, the Kentuckian criticized some of the anti-new deal opinions of the supreme court as "tortured" interpretations. If a constitutional amendment is necessary, he said, the people would face the duty of correcting "some archaic interpretation" with "calm intelligence."

Barkley's castigation of the "12 long years of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover" set off such loud and long ovations that it was apparent the delegates had not shouted themselves out. Although he spoke for almost an hour and a half, comparatively few left the packed hall.

Striking back at new deal critics, he shouted that "they have wept over the slaughter of a few little pigs as if they had been tender human infants nestling at their mothers' breasts. Their real grief comes from the slaughter of the fat hogs of privilege and plunder which they have fed on the people's substance."

The slabs, said Spence, will be used in the construction of plant tables in the city park.

Twenty-Four Scouts Back From Camp

Large Delegation From Big Spring Remains At Barksdale

Twenty-four scouts returned Tuesday evening from the first camp period of the Buffalo Trail Council at Camp Fawcett near Barksdale in Edwards county.

However, there were still a large number of Big Spring scouts in camp, probably more than from any other town.

Going for the second week were Julian Fisher, Ira Fuller, Howard Peters and Paul Schurrubel. With them were two leaders, A. T. and Orville Bryant.

Indications were that the second week would be the largest of the three camp periods with delegations from Big Spring, Odessa, and Snyder arriving late Monday. Groups were expected from Midland and several other towns Tuesday.

A. J. Stiles, area executive and director of the camp, said that well over 100 scouts would be encamped during the second week and that arrival of more leaders eased the tension from that end.

Besides those who made the trip Monday, these scouts and leaders are remaining for the second week: Robert Delbridge, Billie Koons, Bruce Frazier, George Miller, R. H. Miller, Jack Gary, John and Harry Blomfield, J. L. Woods, Jr., Warren Woodward, Paul Knash, Thomas A. Coffee, Billie Fletchey, Hal Vernon Allred, Robert Hudson, Don and Dick Thomas, Jake Pickle, and Bill Wright.

Those returning Tuesday were Robert Smith, Billy Gene Dyer, Wayne Townsend, Stewart Merrick, Sterling Tucker, Charles Trickle, Jack Rice, Elton Smith, Bill Inkman, Jack Graves, Maurice Howard, Gene Hardy Flevelen, Marvin House, Preston Lovelace, W. D. Cornelison, Leon Pearce, Billy Shaw, Tabor Rowe, Gerald Anderson, Hal Battle, Jack Gates, H. C. Burrus, Carver Kavanaugh, and Herschell Harris.

Mad Baboon Bites Three

Rabies Infected Animal Ends Rampage In Choir Room Of Church

PLACENTIA, Cal., June 23. (AP)—Three persons are under medical treatment as the result of a mad baboon's rampage which ended in a church choir room. The rabies-infected animal was shot.

The animal escaped Sunday. First he attacked Joseph T. Johnson, then headed for the First Presbyterian Church, and bit a girl enroute.

He viewed with alarm the mounting tide of crime, the prevailing undercurrent of communism, and declared that spiritual values went hand in hand with material gains.

Asking if it were true that nations, like humans were destined to grow like human beings, then die eventually, Bickley said he was persuaded that this would not be true if nations maintained an even keel on economic and moral issues.

Rev. Bickley Urges Defense Of Basic American Principles

Anticipating the approaching Independence Day celebration, Rev. C. A. Bickley urged the members of the Lions club to rally around for a living defense of the principles for which the fathers of the nation died.

Around And About The Sports Circuit

By Tom Beasley

A CARD comes from Eddie O'Shea, our wild Irish wrestling friend, Eddie is to wrestle an ex-champ this week in Buffalo, Wyo. Next week he goes to Yellowstone park.

ONE OF the strongest entries in the July 4 softball tournament here will be the Culwell Packers of San Angelo. Culwell has one of the toughest outfits in Angelo. Their entry was received this morning.

HOWARD THOMAS, kingfish in local softball circles, is known as a "heady" player. In a game against Cosden the Settles manager misjudged a fly ball and the pellet hit him squarely on the forehead. He almost made no attempt to play when the ball bounded to third base.

AN 16-INCH trophy, to be awarded the winner of the local softball circuit, is on display at the Jack Frost pharmacy.

DICK TROUT, middleweight wrestler on the southwest circuit, used to work out with All Babe when both were in the navy. All Babe is recognized in most quarters as heavyweight mat champion. "That guy is mean enough to be world's heavyweight champion," Trout commented.

MOST OF the section's best golfers will enter the Abilene tournament instead of the local Munny event, in the opinion of some of the local stars. Akay has finished top-dressing the Munny greens and promises to have them in fine condition for the tourney.

Golf Analyzed

The invention of the chipping iron is one more modern development tending to assist the duffer, but using chipping iron or mashie or midiron, there are rules in playing the chip that hold good despite inventive progress. That is, no factory can turn out a correct finger grip or supply a player with proper hand action.

The chip, or short pitch and run, is a shot good players employ almost as constantly as do duffers. Its importance is illustrated by a recent four-ball match in the Boston district where a player holed three chips to win for his side. Like the putt, the chip calls for great accuracy in direction and distance. It is desired to get the ball close to the cup, so that only one putt will be needed.

Watching Tommy Creavy, one of the greatest chip shot players, make one of these shots, you are conscious of the delicacy of his finger grip and of the free movement of his left arm. A delicate finger grip governs your ability to hit a chip the correct distance. A freely acting left arm is essential to getting good distance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Robb, accompanied by Mrs. M. E. Bennett and Mrs. Sue Hardin, left for Corpus Christi Wednesday morning.

SHELL RAIDERS DECISION CONTINENTAL, 12 TO 7 West Texas Motor, Cosden Golfers Split Even In Sixth Round Match

SMYLIE IS BIG GUN IN SHELL WIN

Manager Tom Smylie was the big gun as the Shell Raiders won their first game of the second half on the Munny diamond Tuesday night. He collected half of the six hits recorded by the Gassers as they decimated the Continental Pipeliners, 12-7.

Numerous errors on the part of both teams left the outcome in doubt until Smylie and his mates rallied for four runs in the seventh and a trio in the eighth. The Raiders started the ball rolling by counting a run in the opening stanza, scored a pair in the second, went through three scoreless frames, and then resumed the parade in the sixth with a marker. After the big seventh and eighth, they capped the victory with a brace in the ninth.

The Pipeliners outthrew the victors, 7-4, but Smylie, pitching steady ball, had the stuff in the pinches to win. Williams was the only man to get more than one base blow, the Continental left fielder coming through with two licks.

'Big 16' Ready For Best-Ball Golf Tourney

Top Prize $1,000 In Play At Toledo Club From June 25-29

TOLEDO, June 24. (UP)—Sixteen of the big names in golf are to tee off at the Inverness Country Club tomorrow for one of the game's most unusual matches. Eight teams will play a round-robin, best-ball tournament, in which no duo will be eliminated, but will meet every other team during four days of play.

Winner of first prize and $1,000 in this, the second annual Inverness Invitational, will be determined by a point system. Points will be awarded for victories in each match. Teams will receive one point for each hole they finish up on opponents. Likewise, they will lose a point for each hole they are down at the end of a match.

Picard and Revolta Team Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., and Johnny Revolta, Milwaukee, last year's champion team, will open the competition when they tee off against Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles, and Craig Wood, Deal, N. J.

The other teams are Jimmy Hines, Garden City, N. Y., and Willie Klein, East Williston, L. I.; Tommy Armour, Medinah, Ill.; Bobby Cruikshank, Richmond, Va.; Denny Shute, Melrose Park, Ill., with Vic Ghezzi, Detroit, N. J.; and Walter Hagen, Detroit, with Ky Lafoon, Chicago.

Following the first afternoon session, the team will play morning and afternoon through June 28.

There will be a prize for each contestant. Following the $1,000 for the winners, is $800 for second place, $700 for third, $600 for fourth, $500 for fifth, $400 for sixth, $300 for seventh, and $200 for the tail-enders.

The historic Inverness course has not been more difficult for the invading professionals, and local golfers wouldn't be surprised to see a best-ball course record of 62 beaten. Par for the rolling 6,529-yard layout is 36-36, for a 71 total.

The Inverness course was the scene of the National Open in 1931, when Billie Burke nosed out George Von Elm in a memorable two-day play-off.

W. M. Taylor was in Colorado Wednesday on legal business.

Gene Venzke Leads Yanks In Pursuit Of The Elusive Metric Mile Crown

KANSAS BOY NOW HOLDS FAST MARK

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor) NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—Few Olympic events have had as fascinating a background, or as many bitter disappointments for your Uncle Samuel, as the 1,500-meter run.

The "metric mile" has held a fix for our lads since those memorable Olympic days when bowler hats were the official style and you couldn't get an American to say a kind word for British athletic officials.

Since "Fearless Mel" Sheppard led the pack home at Shepherd's Bush in 1908, the United States has not produced an Olympic 1,500-meter champion. The books show that milers like John Paul Jones, Abel Kiviat, Norman Taber, Joie Ray, Lloyd Hahn and Gene Venzke did a flock of record-cracking, indoors or out, during the subsequent years, but you will not find any of them listed among the Olympic champions.

A lanky Englishman who is now one of Louisville's solid citizens, Arnold N. Strode Jackson, gave a handsome beating in 1912 to the best set of milers we ever sent to the Olympic Games, and that includes any combination going abroad this year. Ray never had much luck on his Olympic jaunts, finally making his best showing in the marathon in 1928. Hahn was a huge disappointment the same year, despite being given special consideration and not even being forced to qualify for the 1,500.

Four years ago, as most everyone recalls, Venzke, with a 4:19 indoor mile behind him, failed to make the Olympic team. The stocky young man who beat him out for the last place was Glenn Cunningham, who has since then acquired the world indoor (4:06.4) and world outdoor (4:06.7) records. Now the boys have good reasons to fear Cunningham has passed his peak; that Bill Bonthron, the Princeton ace who waged a thrilling duel with him two years ago, won't make a successful comeback, and that again the pressure will be on Venzke. Gene, four years older and a better finisher, should not have another attack of the jitters, such as he had at Palo Alto in 1932. He has regained confidence, seemingly has Cunningham's number after three years of trying, and should be the No. 1 American at Berlin.

Only the final trials will indicate what may be expected of Cunningham and Bonthron. Old campaigners, they have not been wasting their energy on preliminaries, but there are one or two contenders they can't afford to ignore. One of them, Gus Fenske of Wisconsin, was on Don Lash's heels in a 4:10.5 mile this spring. Another, Archie San Romani, Kansas, who won the National Collegiate A.A. title a year ago, has trained intensively for a comeback.

It may or may not be good news to our crack milers that New Zealand's Jack Lovelock is considering shifting his Olympic bid from the 1,500 to the 5,000 meters. Our boys, on two memorable occasions at Princeton, were beaten thoroughly by Lovelock. But the British think they have a runner who can "take" Lovelock consistently in Stanley Wooderson. The fact is Wooderson has beaten Lovelock twice at the mile within the great year, which may be one reason why the feathery-footed medical student is contemplating a change of focus.

Luigi Beccali, from all accounts, is training to defend the title. The black-haired Italian boy showed a terrific stretch "kick" at Los Angeles four years ago. Britain has a running-mate for Wooderson in Robert Graham, 27-year-old Scottish farmer. Australia has high hopes of Gerald Backhouse, whose times have not been so impressive as the manner in which he has won most of his races. He sticks to the British system of "running to win," which has proved effective against our "clock-conscious" foot-racers.

BOMBERS PLAY MIDLAND TEAM

Robert Moore will lead his Brown Bombers against a Midland negro baseball team Thursday at 4:30 p. m. on the diamond east of town. The dusky manager of the local squad announced that Earnest Miller would do the pitching with F. Fierro catching.

Howard Thomas, manager of the Settles Hotel softball team, is back of a movement to stage a district softball tournament here in August, the winners to compete in the state meet at Fort Worth early in September. Thomas has been named commissioner for this district.

Kid Defeats Golf Teacher

17-Year-Old Youngster Learns How To Beat Her Old Man

TACOMA, Wash., June 24. (AP)—Dad taught Joan Mahon, 17, of Tacoma, how to play golf. Now she beats him. The high school junior recently scored a 72, five under women's par, on the 6,050-yard Brookdale course here. On that round she needed only nine putts on the outgoing nine and 11 putts coming home. Miss Mahon is entering as many tourneys as she can this summer.

FRESHMAN TUMBLER

SEATTLE, June 24. (AP)—Eddie Gross, University of Washington freshman, is out for the Olympic tumbling championship. Four years ago when the games were held in Los Angeles, Gross, then a 15-year-old high school sophomore, came within 6-10 of a point of victory.

He was noosed out by the veteran Texan, Roland Wolff. Now Eddie is looking forward to a place on the United States team again. Gross has won the Los Angeles city title, the Pacific Coast crown, and the Far West and National tumbling and long horse events.

MAY BREAK RECORD

BOULDER, Colo., June 24. (AP)—Unorthodox in his form and crude in his takeoff, Gilbert Cruter, slender Negro at the University of Colorado, has it in him to break the world's high jump record, his coach believes. Cruter never jumps for height in practice, so you can't tell in advance what he'll do. In a February indoor meet he caused a sensation by leaping 6 feet 7-8 inches, within half an inch of the world's outdoor mark.

Oilers Dieker With S'water For Series

Henninger May Arrange For Cosden To Play In New Park

Unable to draw enough here to pay for playing equipment, Spike Henninger, manager of the Cosden Oilers baseball team, said today he was attempting to arrange for a series of games at Sweetwater.

The Oilers play R. R. Huddleston's Southsiders at Sweetwater Sunday in a return game, but a baseball park has been constructed at Sweetwater and a promoter named Bryan is dickering with the Oilers for a number of games in his new park. Bryan told Henninger he believed he could draw at least $50 per game.

Bryan would match the Cosdenites against the strongest clubs available in this part of the state. Henninger stated that he was to confer with Bryan again Sunday, and if a deal is made the Refiners will probably play their first game in the new park about the second week in July.

REFINERS IN LEAD BY ONE POINT

The feature match of sixth round Munny League play this week was the clash between Cosden and West Texas Motor golfers. They split the match at 8-3 and Cosden still retains a one point lead. Cosden has a total of 62 points to 61 for West Texas Motors.

Big Spring Laundry team defeated Texaco, 12 to 5. The sixth round Collins-Carter match is incomplete.

The standings: Cosden 62, West Texas Motors 61, B. S. Laundry 47, Texaco 32, Carter 26, and Collins 24.

Kiwanis In Charge Of HD Program At Elbow Barbecue

The members of the Elbow H.D. club are planning a jolly get-together barbecue to be held at the Elbow school house Thursday evening at 7:30.

The Kiwanis service club will have charge of the program. This will be preceded by an old-fashioned barbecue served on the grounds.

The menu will consist of real barbecue, beans, son of a gun, pickles, onions, rolls, apricot pie, coffee and mince. Tickets are on sale at Osterman's drug store.

The proceeds will go toward sending a delegate to the Short Course at A & M college this summer. Everybody in town and in the country who enjoys this kind of good-time supper is invited.

Charles Hahn of Austin is visiting his brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hahn.

Mrs. Donald Uses July 4 For Theme

Mrs. Vernon Mason is Guest For Tuesday Afternoon

Mrs. Bill Donald gave members of the Happy Go Lucky club a pretty Fourth of July party Tuesday afternoon. The tables were centered with flags and small flags on the dessert plate were favors.

The party accessories carried out the three colors of the party motif. Mrs. Vernon Mason played with the club and received a deck of cards.

Mrs. Patton was given a bridge set for high score and Mrs. Stewart a double-deck card case for floating prize.

Members present were: Mmes. J. E. Brigham, G. C. Graves, Ray Patton, J. L. Stewart, Hugh Hendrix, and Byron Housewright.

Mrs. Brigham will be the next hostess.

Six Guests Play With Petroleum Club Members

Mrs. Harry Lester entertained for members of the Petroleum bridge club with a pretty summer party Tuesday afternoon at her home.

Guests of the club were: Mmes. Tom Ashley, Vivian Nichols, Wayne Rice, W. D. McDonald, J. L. Le Bleu. Mrs. Ashley was highest scorer among these.

Members attending were: Mmes. L. M. Bankston, Lee Hubby, Fred Read, Adams Talley, Roy Combs, P. H. Liberty and Joe Ernest.

Mrs. Ernest made high score and Mrs. Liberty second.

Mrs. Noel Lawson, who is now on a visit to St. Joseph, Mo., will be back in time to entertain the club.

Mrs. C. A. Bulot To Leave For Chicago To Attend Family Reunion

Mrs. C. A. Bulot and three children will leave Thursday morning for a month's stay with Mrs. Bulot's parents in La Grange, Ill., near Chicago. Mr. Bulot will accompany them as far as Wichita Falls. His vacation will not come until later in the summer.

In Stamford Mrs. Bulot will pick up the Rev. W. H. Martin, formerly of Big Spring, who will accompany the party as far as Chicago and go from there to Madison, Wis. He will attend a pastor's school at the University of Wisconsin and return with the Bulots to Texas about three weeks from now.

Mrs. Bulot will be present for a family reunion, the first for all the grandchildren.

Mrs. Spence Hostess For Luncheon Party

Mrs. E. V. Spence entertained at the Settles hotel with a morning bridge party followed by luncheon for members of the Tuesday club.

Mrs. Middleton scored highest. Present were: Mmes. M. H. Bennett, J. Y. Robb, R. V. Middleton, Shine Phillips, W. W. Inkman, Tom Helton and C. S. Blomshield.

The group voted to meet in the mornings for the summer months.

Mrs. Percy Bosworth is visiting friends in San Angelo.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Parker are on a business trip to San Angelo.

Crocheted Sleeveless Blouse

By RUTH ORR
Pattern No. 313.
What are your needs, madam? A blouse that's simple to make—cool to wear and quick to finish? If that's your order, here's the model to fill it. It is crocheted in mercerized knitting and crocheted cotton in a lacy mesh, and being sleeveless, it is beautifully cool for the hot summer days.
The pattern covers sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20 years.
The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with diagrams to aid you; also what crocheted hook and what material and how much you will need.
To obtain this pattern, send for No. 313 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address Big Spring Herald, Needlework Dept., Box 200, Station D, New York, N. Y.

Bad Elimination Makes It Easier To Catch A Cold
With the right sort of food and proper exercise, constipation might be rare, but in actual living conditions, how few manage to escape it! Mr. Clyde Martin, of Osa, W. Va., recently very aptly wrote that "constipation is the root of a lot of sickness, but if Black-Draught is taken right it will keep down constipation."

"If I let myself get constipated," he explains, "and my system filled with impure matter, I feel bloated, take cold easily, and feel out of sorts in a lot of ways. I will take about two good doses of Black-Draught. It seems to cleanse my whole system and I feel like doing my work."

Rodeo Plans Are Complete

Stamford Has Everything In Readiness For July Reunion

STAMFORD, June 24—Final preparations are being completed by officials of the Texas Cowboy Reunion for the opening of its seventh annual rodeo and round-up here July 2-4. All buildings, grandstands and corral fences have received a new coat of paint. The ground of the arena has received a anti-soil treatment, a preparation to prevent dust, which is calculated to be one of the most appreciated improvements that has been made this year.

Ornamental trees and native mesquites on the grounds have made good growth in the past 12 months and will furnish some shade to comfort and cool the weary cowboy or other visitors who seek shelter from the sun. A high wire fence has been built on three sides of the 42-acre reunion tract and a steel woven wire fence with four ornamental gates adorns the main entrance. Additional comfort for spectators has been provided by placing foot rests on all seats in the grandstands, and by adding awning-like extensions to the roofs to keep out the sun.

Officials plan to give the patrons their money's worth at all performances. A full cardload of four and five-year-old wild Brahmas steers has just been received for use in the steer-riding contests. There is a herd of 75 strong, kicking cows, with spring calves alongside for cowboy teams in the wild-cow-milking contest to wrestle and contend with. A new string of bucking horses is on hand, too, for the bronco busters to ride or attempt to ride on the case might be.

Aside from purely rodeo events there will be many other things to interest and entertain the visitors, a round of parties and dances will compliment visiting sponsors and other guests. There will be a square dance nightly at the bunkhouse especially for the oldtimers, but the younger cowboys are not barred, and they always join in the merriment. Band concerts will provide downtown entertainment the first day, the grand parade is to be a chief street attraction the second day, and the old fiddlers' contest at the city auditorium will entertain hundreds on the third day.

ROTATION IN OFFICE Down in deep East Texas a candidate for a clerical office bases his appeal for votes on the fact that the man now holding office by election of the voters, has had it eighteen years. He says that in that time the office holder has reared a family of fine youngsters, given them good educations, that they now have good positions—so he thinks it is time this official was supplanted by some other good man, and he believes he is that man.

High Pressure Selling Jim Farley must have had some high-pressure salesmen at work on his convention book. He sold a total of $302,550 in advertising. The republicans also sold advertising in their book, but judging from the list of big business contributions flocking to the GOP campaign chest, the selling was easier.

According to the view one holds toward the purpose of a county office, or any other office paying a salary, that is a fine argument or a poor one. If the purpose of an office is to provide employment for a person then the man holding it these eighteen years has probably had it longer than his turn.

★ Man About Manhattan ★

NEW YORK—Those New Yorkers who can't get away for the summer should take comfort in the report brought back from Texas by a traveler who claims the torrid atmosphere of this town is like a gentle breeze compared to the parched wastes of Mr. Garner's state. There were several of us mopping our brows on one of those floating nightclubs which are wafted up the Hudson every evening after dark, and the newly returned citizen described it like this: "Texas was some warm, despite the fact that the natives didn't seem to mind. I had spots before my eyes 24 hours a day. On one of our side jaunts we went out to a ranch on the other side of Amarillo, where the jackrabbits wouldn't have a care in the world if it weren't for the coyotes, who make it a practice to dine on jackrabbits where and when they can sink their fangs into one."

Suddenly Jim Farley stepped up to the late Sen. Tom Walsh of Montana, permanent chairman. "Tom," he said, "you can't let an adjourn until you get the word from me. Two or three hours anyway. Eddie here is going to take over and keep 'em happy." It was then 5 p. m. And from then until 5 p. m. Dowling forces a continuous stream of theatrical stars and assorted vaudeville. Finally, Senator Walsh, grim-lipped and dour, tapped Eddie on the shoulder. "Young man," he said, "that's very good. Now we'll get back to the business of politics."

Platform Of Virginians Is A Model

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—Democrats of Virginia—perhaps Senator Glass himself—have provided the democratic national convention with a model for a short platform, and it contains a clarifying note or two just such as Glass has uttered in the senate. The model is the same Glass and his Virginians have always provided—the state platform which he has drafted or guided for 40 years or more. The 1936 Virginia platform contained 255 words, less than one-sixth the length of the "short" 1932 democratic national platform. It did not go into detail. It did not mention gold, or F.W.A., or the Passanauquody, or even the agriculture problem. Its framework is important: largely because Senator Glass has been Virginia's representative on the democratic platform committee with but one interruption since 1896. In the 1936 Virginia platform it was written that Virginia democracy "reasserts its devotion to the sound principles been made impermanent, than today."

DIFFICULT CASE

Dirk got quickly into a dressing-gown, and went down.

The Rev. Silas Devine stood in the hall. Beside him on the table lay his overcoat and dark gray hat. Dirk received an impression of height, of iron-gray hair, of a strongly hewn face with dominant nose and high cheek bones.

Despite his black clothes, the Rev. Devine did not look like a cleric. His sun-browned face and lifted head suggested an Indian chief. But his eyes were blue. Blue and anxious and, if Dirk was not mistaken, puzzled.

"Mr. Joris?" he asked, as they shook hands.

"Dirk Joris. My brother is ill in the country. It was I who wired you."

"How is she?" Devine asked, and when Dirk replied that Hope was not so well tonight, added at once, "I'll go up."

Dirk answered that Hope must be prepared, and moved with the caller into the drawing room, motioning him to a sofa. There he sat beside him, replying to his brief and troubled questions regarding Hope's condition. There was nothing that would suggest any lack of touch with Hope up to the moment of her illness, nothing except the visitor's puzzled glance that moved now and then about the room, and came back to rest on Dirk.

Dirk, replying, searched the caller's face for some trace of resemblance to Hope, finding none. Again Dirk was conscious that his paramount desire was to protect Hope, to spare her embarrassment and shock. Enlightenment would surely come in some chance word from Mr. Devine—at least before he would be permitted to go upstairs.

Mr. Devine had not relaxed on the sofa. He sat erect, with head only slightly inclined, listening to Dirk's rather superficial account of Hope's illness. His large hands gripped his knees.

"Of course I don't know your brother."

The remark seemed to leave something unspoken, something illuminated by his next question. "Has she seemed happy?"

"Dirk was careful in his reply. He must not betray her to this man, father or not."

"At times," he answered. "But only at times. Rupert isn't to blame, however. He's been kind, indulgent. Her unhappiness has been due, in part, at any rate, to some estrangement from her family. Naturally you know the details better than I, for she has never confided in me. I thought it might help her to have you come on. That was why I telephoned you."

Mr. Devine bent his bright blue scrutiny on Dirk.

"She didn't ask you to wire?" he said.

"No, I did it, as I say, because I thought you might help her. No physician can."

The Rev. Devine lifted one hand from his knee and put it down again. His frown, the line of his jaw, appeared to have frozen hard. He rose.

"I am stopping at the Pennsylvania," he said. "I shall stay there till there is some change in her condition."

"He walked out into the hall, picked up his hat and coat. He looked at his watch.

"You will keep me advised?" he asked.

"I will not," said Dirk. This man who had flown two thousand miles because he thought Hope had telegraphed him was not willing to walk upstairs to her when he found she had not. He was undoubtedly her father, decided Dirk. A little parent like that around the house might explain any departure of progeny.

"I don't know that she will be able to see you tonight," Dirk said. "But if she will, and you are interested in her condition, I advise you to go up, for if you go away without seeing her, I shall not get in touch with you again."

The Rev. Devine looked away. Something like moisture had sprung into his eyes.

"I am devoted to her." A relentlessly staid voice. "She was everything in life to her mother and me. She knew this. She left us deliberately, taking the path of danger, of rebellion."

His eyes came back to Dirk.

"I have told her that she must give up this path, must come back to find us. We are waiting."

"Waiting," Dirk repeated thoughtfully. "And where does the path she has taken lead?"

A dark fire lit the man's eyes. "To destruction. Destruction of soul and body."

"And you are waiting," Dirk said.

"You are waiting, when she may have reached the end."

Devine looked at him.

"Waiting," Dirk said, "for her to reach the end."

"Mr. Joris?" he asked, as they shook hands.

"Dirk Joris. My brother is ill in the country. It was I who wired you."

"How is she?" Devine asked, and when Dirk replied that Hope was not so well tonight, added at once, "I'll go up."

Lifers Prefer Books On Travel; Short-Term Men Like Magazines

FORT MADISON, Ia., June 24. (UP)—Perhaps due to their narrow environment, prisoners of Iowa state penitentiary spend many of their leisure hours reading travel books of far-away places, a survey of the penal institution's reading habits reveals.

Prison officials note that short-termers usually read for amusement and recreation only. The long-termers turn to more serious non-fiction material, such as philosophy, a check of circulation figures in the prison library discloses.

Literary and news magazines, too, receive the heaviest demand from bank-robbers and lifers, although higher periodical material is available.

More than 8,500 volumes are available to the prison's population. Total book and magazine circulation for each month is near the 12,000 mark. One-third of the total monthly circulation is in books, while two-thirds of the convict library patrons check out current magazines.

The magazine circulation in the prison library runs beyond 7,000 periodicals a month. More than 350 magazines are received by the penitentiary each month.

A fiction catalogue, classified according to author, and a non-fiction catalogue, classified according to subject matter and author, is presented to each new inmate when he is "dressed in." A select group of convicts, appointed by the warden, serve as librarians.

New books are purchased from a fund contributed by sightseers, who are charged 25 cents to tour the Iowa prison. Late books are purchased in inexpensive binding and are re-bound in the prison bindery.

Of the 8,819 books in circulation during May, 1936, fiction volumes led in popularity, with 2,909 being checked out to individual cells. Texts pertaining to useful arts were next in popularity with the convict readers.

With most of the prisoners confined for a long, long time, world travelers' descriptions of tropical Isles, strange places and peoples receive a heavy demand.

Other subjects which found favor with the inmates, in order of their popularity, were history, sociology, natural science, ethics, religion, fine arts and philosophy.

DEPARTMENT STORE SALES SHOW GAIN

AUSTIN, June 24.—Department store sales in Texas during May registered a moderate gain over the preceding month and a sharp rise over the corresponding month last year, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research.

Reports from 85 representative Texas establishments showed an increase in dollar sales of 4.7 per cent over April, 16.9 per cent over May last year, and 12.8 per cent during the first five months of the year over the corresponding period of last year.

Cities showing gains above the average for the state for each of the three comparable periods were Corsicana, Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio.

The percentage of credit sales increased moderately during the month and collections improved considerably over May last year.

Town Moves To Rail Line LAKE ODESSA, Mich. (UP)—Many Michigan towns have boomed and then vanished but few have ever picked up their foundations, moved and then continued to prosper. That, however, is the story of Lake Odessa, which formerly was Bonanza. It moved from its former location in 1887 to be near a railroad.

Carlton Coburn returned Tuesday evening to College Station after visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Coburn. He is taking a course in veterinary surgery and medicine at A. & M.

P. convention which nominated Gov. Landon for the presidency. Mrs. Landon (center) and Nancy Jo and John Cobb Landon met them. (Associated Press Photo) and his works, and the democratic keynote is a paean of praise for Mr. Roosevelt, plus a shower of disparaging remarks about Mr. Landon.

Voters Left To Guess The Party Issues

The Cleveland convention's rhythmic complaint about "Three Long Years" is answered by a staccato of mockery against the republican candidate and managers, engineered by those in charge of the convention at Philadelphia.

Name-calling reaches a new high, the sincerity and even the morality of each side is challenged by the other, and the questions of public policy which might be expected to receive first attention are left backstage.

First Utterances On June 13, as the republican delegates were traveling homeward from Cleveland, democratic chairman Farley led off the democratic attack.

He placed a very low estimate on Mr. Landon's background and experience, and characterized his nomination as "a confession of guilt on the part of the republican party."

"I wonder how the republican leaders keep from laughing out loud," said Mr. Farley, "at the gigantic hoax they are trying to put over on the country."

Twenty-four hours later, republican national chairman Hamilton replied. He charged Mr. Farley with a tendency "to misrepresent everything which is too honest for him to understand," and said this of the president:

"Mr. Roosevelt was so eager for the nomination at any price (in 1932) that he flew to Chicago to accept the platform 100 per cent, and so far as the country knows never glanced at it again."

What next?

Does all of this mean that the campaign is to be fought, after all, on charges of deception, dishonesty, conspiracy and fraud, reaching its climax later on, perhaps, in talk of burglary and horse stealing?

Instead of the epochal struggle over principles expected in so many quarters is the battle to resemble a sort of double-action grand jury proceeding, with the participants on both sides selecting their choicest verbal ammunition from the lexicon of criminology?

Convention time very often is a time of irrational thought and in-temperate speech. Many times in the past political managers have pitched their utterances on a level never touched by the candidates themselves.

It may be so again. At least the country will wait wonderingly and anxiously to see.

Pastor Gives Free Hope LONDON (UP)—The Rev. Cecil Boutton has not had an empty pew in his church since he inaugurated his "flying mission."

To stimulate greater interest in religion he follows his morning service with free flights in a plane, for all members of the congregation. In the afternoon there are combined formation flights and aerobics.

Death Diary Hunted SEATTLE (UP)—Far up the north slope of Mt. Rainier a party of seven climbers pushed forward in an attempt to find the abandoned rucksack of Dalmar Fadden, the boy who froze to death at 13,000 feet on the mountain last January. It was thought the pack contained a diary which would give some clue to the cause of Fadden's death.

Two Million Persons Move Back To Land

Heavy Movement Toward Farms Shown During Past Five Years

WASHINGTON, June 24—Almost two million of the persons on farms on Jan. 1, 1935, lived in cities, towns or villages or other non-farm residences five years earlier, according to a U. S. summary of the 1935 federal farm census released by Director William L. Austin of the bureau of the census, department of commerce. The full extent of this movement to farms, the beginning of which was shown in the census of 1930, is not disclosed by these figures, as the farm census report was limited to only those persons living on farms on Jan. 1, 1935, who lived in non-farm residences five years earlier. Between 1930 and 1935, many others may have moved to farms and had returned to cities, towns, villages, or other non-farm residences before the farm census enumeration on Jan. 1, 1935.

TO PRISON

Boss Shannon, convicted in federal court for complicity in the Urschel kidnaping, passed through here Tuesday in custody of federal agents en route to McNeil Island where he will be placed in prison.

Delay Moving Offices

The pension department delayed moving into its downtown quarters until after the rush job of issuing and mailing the first checks had been finished. It is housed now in rooms of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs state headquarters building.

Procedure Not Complicated

There will be none of the complicated registered mail and identification and signing procedure through which world war veterans have gone in the payment of their bonus bonds. Pension checks will be mailed directly to the eligibles in ordinary first class mail, to the addresses given in their applications. The checks are not subject to any discount, and are cashable immediately at par anywhere in the state. All the old person has to do is to endorse the check and cash it.
